Upwards of a hundred delegates from local tribes over the state were in attendance and were entertained by Waxahatchie Tribe No. 9 of Clanton, at a basket picnic on the County High School Grounds Tuesday. The provisions were ample, and the crowd was bounteously fed.

Many prominent men of the state were here, including R. E. L. Neil, Wm. Smiley Smith and Great Inchoonee, Jeffries of Atlanta, the supreme officer of the Order of Red Men in the United States.

The business session of the Council was held Tuesday at the High School auditorium. The election of officers for the next year resulted as follows: W. J. Armstrong, of Clanton was elected Great Prophet.

B. B. Morris, of Langdale, was elected Great Sachem.

Name of the man for Great Senior

Sagamore not obtained.

J. E. Robinson, of Clanton, was elected Great Junior Sagamore.

Local Red Men felt honored by the coming of the Great Council to Clanton, and it was with just pride that Waxahatchie Tribe No. 9 nobly responded to the call and came to take care of the visitors.

The next session of the Great Council goes to Anniston.

POSTMASTER ROBINSON ELECTED GREAT JUNIOR SAGAMORE

Postmaster Jas. E. Robinson is a dyed-in-the-wool "Red Man." He is one of the best workers in the order in the state, and as a reward for his efforts in behalf of the fraternity the Great Council here Tuesday elected him to the office of Great Junior Sagamore of the State of Alabama for the ensuing year.

Mr. Robinson's friends both within and without the order are congratulating him for the honor conferred on him.

Noted Preachers Coming Here

"BIG BILLY RAY" AND HIS PARDNER TO PREACH HERE

Revival at Clanton Baptist Church.

A revival meeting is to begin at the Baptist Church in Clanton next Sunday, the 2nd of June. The above cuts represent the preacher and his song leader, who will conduct the meeting. Two pianos have been put upon the rostrum of the church and a large choir of young people is practicing nightly with some new song books provided especially for this meeting.

Rev. Judson Martin, a brother of our fellow citizen, Jno. D. Martin, will conduct the singing and assist in the preaching.

Rev. W. J. Ray, who is in charge of the meeting, has been here before, and large crowds attended the services. It was necessary on a former occasion to move from the church to a larger auditorium in the court house and it may be necessary to do so again.

Rev. Ray, popularly known as "Big Billy Ray" wishes to come here again as he believes he has a special message for our city and the neighborhood. It is expected that his preaching will receive a wide spread hearing.

ANNUAL SINGING AT SALEM HELD NINETEENTH MEETING

The nineteenth annual singing at Salem was held on last Sunday, and it is believed that it proved to be the most successful meeting yet held.

The house was called to order by Chairman T. L. Robinson at 10:00 a.m. by singing song No. 1, "I'm Going Home," and prayer was led by Bro. S. M. Yates. Bro. T. L. Robinson was reelected Chairman.

The chairman appointed a program committee for the day as follows: S. M. Yates, Elmos Raines and J. P. Cagle.

Directors were placed on program for the forenoon session as follows: Jessie Jones, J. M. Dye, R. T. Grant, Lee Robinson. After a recess of fifteen minutes singing was resumed and led by O. L. Devaughn, J. E. Raines, L. F. Cleckler, J. W. Cagle, J. M. Dye. Organists for the forenoon were: Lee Robinson, J. M. Dye, C. H. Robinson, G. W. Culp, Hamos Dye. An intermission was given for dinner, and we are sure that everybody enjoyed a bounteous dinner.

The leaders for the afternoon were: W. M. Devaughn, H. C. Collins, J. L. Gore, L. T. Grant. After a recess of fifteen minutes singing was resumed by H. C. Collins, R. A. Smith.

The closing song, "God be With You Till We Meet Again," was sung by the chairman, and the meeting was dismissed by Bro. Leman Jones in prayer. The next meeting was announced for the Fourth Sunday in May, 1919. We are sure that everybody had a good time singing praises to God.

J. W. CLECKLER, Secy.

MCDONALD WILL CONTINUE AS HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

We are glad to announce to the people of Chilton County that that sterling Christian gentleman and prince among teachers, Prof. H. C. McDonald, will continue as Principal of the Chilton County High School.

No greater blessing could we ask than that this noble man be forever spared to us, that our town and county may continue to enjoy the wonderful light that is cast out among us from his Godly character and luminous life.

We wish that every county in the State had a school principal like him—but we do not wish it enough to give him up and allow him to go elsewhere.

FARMERS MEETING AT CAPITAL

Hon. Clarence N. Ousley, assistant secretary of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will confer with the farmers and business men of Alabama, at the Sidney Lanier High School in Montgomery, on Monday night, June 3, at 8:15.

Judge Reynolds has received a notice of the conference from the State Food Administration, and is requested to urge an attendance at the meeting from this county.

Mr. Ousley is one of the best informed men of the nation and understands the agricultural problems that face the South in particular. He will discuss especially the shortage of farm labor and its remedy.

It will prove worth while for a dozen or more of our citizens to attend this meeting, and Judge Reynolds urges that somebody from Chilton be present.

A prominent visitor to Clanton Tuesday was Hon. R. E. L. Neil, a former newspaper man of note in this state. Mr. Neil was here in attendance at the Great Council of Red Men of Alabama. He is now in the U. S. Navy as paymaster on one of Uncle Sam's fighting ships.

TILLEY SAYS THEY WERE NOT PAID FOR SERVICES

The Union-Banner is in receipt of the following letter from Hon. John S. Tilley, which explains itself. We publish it at the request of Mr. Tilley: Montgomery, May 25, 1918.

Dear Editor:

I have just heard that the report has been circulated in your county that the Liberty Loan workers received compensation for their work. I wish to say that not one penny of compensation or commission is paid by the government in this work. I happen to know that the County Chairman for Chilton has not been reimbursed for his actual expenses and that he has declined to receive reimbursement.

From our knowledge of people, it is hardly a surprise that some of them find it possible to believe that others can devote their time and energies to an absolutely unselfish service to their country, as was done by the Liberty Loan workers, whose success reflected such credit on Chilton County.

Yours very truly,
JNO. S. TILLEY, Zone Chm.

THORSBY ITEMS

Thorsby over-subscribed her Red Cross quota by fifty per cent. Having over-subscribed her Third Liberty Loan by three hundred per cent, and having pushed the drive for the Girls' Dormitory Fund almost to two thousand dollars mark, the people of Thorsby feel that they are learning some of the blessings of giving.

A Service Flag containing fourteen stars was dedicated at the Congregational Church on Red Cross Sunday, May 19th.

Rev. John F. Gable of Clanton, spoke at Bates Hall Sunday night, May 19, in the interest of the Y.M.C.A. drive for workers and the Red Cross. Mr. Gable was accompanied by Mr. J. B. Atkinson of Thorsby, who spoke briefly about the Y.M.C.A. work.

Rev. Arnold Nelson who spent a year in Thorsby recently as pastor of the Swedish Lutheran Church, has returned to Thorsby for the summer, as acting pastor of the church.

Mr. Raymond Carlson, who has been attending Augustana College at Rock Island, Ill., has returned home for the summer vacation.

Do not forget to bring your dinner and attend the Closing Exercises of Thorsby Institute next Thursday. The morning program will begin at 10:30 and the afternoon program at 2:30. It is hoped that all former students of the Institute will be present as far as possible, and that the families of Thorsby and the surrounding territory will plan to bring their dinners and make the day a real "Community Day."

Rev. James Davenport of Robbins, Tenn., preached at the Congregational Church Sunday, May 26.

Rev. J. M. Graham of Thorsby, has entered the Home Service Branch of the Red Cross with Headquarters at Camp Jackson, S. C.

Captain and Mrs. Hutchinson of Birmingham spent Sunday, May 26 at their farm near Thorsby.

Mr. F. A. Gullede of Verbena, made a business trip to Thorsby on Monday of this week.

There will be preaching services in the three churches of Thorsby on Sunday, June 2nd.

The music recital on Tuesday night of next week, and the Junior Class Program on Wednesday night, will be well worth attending. Both programs will be given in Bates Hall, and will begin at 8:00 p.m. There will be no admission charges.

The Republican party is a WIN
THE WAR NOW party. We are in the war and we can come out of it only as conquerors or as conquered, victorious or dishonored, as an independent or subject nation. Our lives, our homes, our institutions, all that Washington fought for and Lincoln died for, are at stake. Our only way out now is to FIGHT IT OUT for the simple cause of AMERICA and AMER-ICANS. We must, as John Hancock said, "hang together or hang separately." The man who in public or private life subordinates this cause to any other consideration, no matter what, or who FAILS IN THE FULL, DEVOTED AND EFFICIENT PER-FORMANCE OF HIS DUTY to the nation, is a traitor to himself, his family, the republic and the right.—

THORSBY INSTITUTE
COMMENCEMENT

The closing exercises of the twelfth year of Thorsby Institute will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. There are no graduates this year, but the program will not be lacking in interest.

Special interest will center around the exercises of Thursday, which will be largely patriotic in their nature.
The school Service Flag, which contains over forty stars will be dedicated and the occasion will be an inspiring one. The exercises will be held during the day-time, beginning with an address at 10:30 a.m., by Hon. Sydney J. Bowie of Birmingham.
There will be a basket picnic on the grounds in which all are invited to share, followed by the formal dedication of the Service Flag, and the patriotic program participated in by the young people of the school and community. A number of former students are expected to be present to renew acquaintances and express their regard for their "alma mater," and a very pleasant time is in store for all who come.

A tennis tournament will be held beginning Tuesday afternoon and lasting through Wednesday, a team from each class contesting for the championship of the school.

On Tuesday, June 4 at 8:00 p.m. will occur the Commencement Recital of the music department, the program for which is as follows:

Song, Springtime, Alfred Wooley—Girls' Chorus.

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN

The National Republican is a weekly newspaper of nation-wide scope, published at Washington, D. C., in the interest of the Republican party in the United States. It is a splendid paper and should be read every week by every man in the country who believes in Republican party principles.
We have a clubbing arrangement with the paper and will be glad to send it to anyone who wants it. Read it and keep up with the G. O. P. in the United States.

DO YOU ENJOY LIFE?

A man in good physical condition is always certain to enjoy life, while the bilious and dyspeptic are despondent, do not enjoy their meals and feel miserable a good share of the time. This ill feeling is nearly always unnecessary. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets to tone up the stomach, improve the digestion and regulate the bowels is all that is needed. Try it.

CAMPAIGN TO FIND ALL PROPERTY OF ALIENS

Montgomery, Ala., May 28, 1918.
(Special)—The Alabama Council of Defense, at the request of the national alien property custodian has started a campaign to find every piece of property and all money in Alabama owned by persons residing in enemy countries or by corporations incorporated in enemy countries, or by persons living in countries allied with the enemy. It has called upon every person who knows of such property or money to make an immediate report to the county council of defense or the State Council of Defense, in order that it may be confiscated and held until the end of the war. Only in this way can enemies be prevented from using this property and money against America and her allies.

Enemy-owned property includes all kinds of property, tangible and intangible, money, chattels, securities, land, accounts receivable, etc., belonging to the enemy. If the property is held in the name of another—by dummy or in trust—it is enemy property, provided the beneficial interests belong to an enemy.

The term "enemy" includes every person now living within and every company incorporated within Germany, Austria-Hungary, and all territory occupied by armed forces of the Central Powers. The term "ally of enemy" includes every person now living within and every company incorporated within any of the allies of Germany and Austria-Hungary. Residence and not citizenship is the determining factor. Germans, Austro-Hungarians, Turks, etc., residing in the United States are not regarded as "enemies" or "allies of enemies." Germans and Austro-Hungarians held by the war department are "enemies" and their property should be confiscated. Americans residing in Germany, Austria-Hungary or in territory occupied by the enemy are included in the term "enemy" and Americans residing within Turkey or Bulgaria are regarded as "allies of the enemy."

Every person who knows of property or money owned by persons mentioned herewith will aid their country by making an immediate report to the county council of defense or to State Council of Defense," said Lloyd H. Hooper, Chairman.

STATEMENT FROM MR. L. H. BEAN

Jemison, Ala., May 29, 1918.
Editor of The Union-Banner:
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir:

Will you allow me space in your paper to say a few words in regard to a report which has been rumored and circulated over the county on me?
It has been rumored that I accused the agents in the Liberty Loan campaign of receiving a per cent of what they collected as a compensation.

I have learned from government authorities that no agent receives any compensation or salary whatever for work done for the Red Cross or the Liberty Loan. I regret that some of the people of our county have been worried by not understanding me, but I hope that this statement will be sufficiently satisfactory to all who may have been put to any trouble whatever.

Yours very truly,

L. H. BEAN.

MR. HAYES WRITES IN REGARD TO CANDIDACY

Clanton, Ala., May 27, 1918.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a small space in your paper for a few words to the voters of Chilton County, in regard to my candidacy for the office of County Commissioner.

I have been requested to make announcement of my platform; but will state that I have no fixed platform.
In the event of my nomination and election, I promise to be governed in my official actions by my very best judgment of all matters that may come to hand for disposition from time to time, endeavoring always to render the greatest good to the largest number of people, consistent with the principles of justice and right.

I am farming and am very busy with my crop. Therefore, it will be impossible for me to canvass much before the primary. But I wish to say that after the primary, if I should be honored with the nomination, I will endeavor to do my full share to secure the election of our entire ticket in November.

With these few remarks, now, I am willing to submit the matter to the judgment of the people of the county, and cheerfully await their decision at the ballot box.

Respectfully,
J. W. HAYES.

With its Old-time Fury*No Let-Up In Its Torture.

Pretty soon you will be reaching for the liniment bottle again, for the millions of little pain demons that cause Rheumatism are on the war-path. Winter weather seems to awaken them to renewed fury.

But your Rheumatism cannot be rubbed away, because liniments and lotions cannot reach the disease. It is in the blood, and only a remedy that goes deep down into the circulation, and routs out the disease germs, can rid you of this disabling disease. S. S. S. has given some wonderful results in treating Rheumatism. Being a purely vegetable blood remedy, it purifies the blood of every germ, and thus removes the cause of Rheumatism. Get a bottle to-day at your drugstore, and start on the right treatment that will get results. Free advice about your case can be had by writing to Medical Director, 26 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Evergreen, 3 miles west of Verbena.
T. J. Williams donated one cow which was sold at auction at Clanton May 25, 1918; sold to Judge Reynolds for $35.00. He donated her back to the Red Cross and resold to J. H. Roberts for $35. Mr. Roberts gave her back and she was sold again to J. B. Downs for $25.00, and returned to Red Cross after which Judge Reynolds bought her the last time for $17.50. The cow brought in all $112.50. W. W. Fox was auctioneer, and gave his services free to the Red Cross War Fund.

RED CROSS DAY IN CLANTON SATURDAY

Last Saturday was the biggest day Clanton has seen in a long time. The program that was prepared and executed under auspices of the Local Red Cross workers for Chilton County produced an occasion of the most splendid interest and enthusiasm.

To start off with, right soon after noon the big parade of automobiles, men, women, boys and girls marched through the streets all decorated with flags and banners, and it was not long until the great crowd was immersed in excitement brought on by the appearance in the sky of two army aeroplanes from Montgomery.

As the two machines circled many times above the city, doing the various aerial stunts, they were greeted with cheers from the spectators. The entire town all decked with banners and flags, and the big parade in progress excited such curiosity from the flyers that they landed out in a big field a mile from town and came in to take a look at the festival.

They got here and found everything working like the dicens for the Red Cross. Mr. Fox was on a table in front of the court house conducting an auction sale of those articles of one kind and another that had been donated to the Red Cross work by various citizens.

The auction sale started off with bids on a cow that was given the committee by Mr. Williams of Verbena. The cow sold to Judge Reynolds at first for $35. He gave her back to the Red Cross. She sold next time to Mr. Jim Roberts at $35, and he gave her back. She sold next time to J. B. Downs for $25, and he gave her back. She sold next time to Judge Reynolds for $17.50, which was the final sale of the cow. So the cow brought considerably over $100 for the Red Cross. Many other articles which had been given were auctioned for cash by Mr. Fox.

The ladies of the Red Cross made and sold ice cream throughout the afternoon, realizing a nice little sum. Little girls went all over town carrying collection boxes, and secured a goodly amount.

After the program in town was over a large number of people went out where the aeroplanes landed, and witnessed them in their ascension to make the return to Montgomery.

Mr. H. B. Oliver and S. L. Gibson in charge of the finances raised by the Red Cross drive of last week were on hand all the time and doing their part toward the success of the drive. They have been busy since Saturday checking up and getting their reports made out. Elsewhere in this issue will be found a complete list of persons who contributed in any way to the cause, and opposite their names will be found the amount which they gave.

Everybody is proud of the way the people of the county took hold of the Second Red Cross War Fund drive. They certainly did themselves proud. We can all rest well now for having done our duty fully.

JUDGE C. B. TEASLEY, whose platform is gaining support for his candidacy for governor.

HIS RECORD IS A GUARANTEE OF FAITHFUL SERVICE TO THE PEOPLE

1872. Born at Pine Level, Montgomery County, Ala., near the County line, on August 31, 1872.

Attended the public schools of that village until 15 years of age.

1886. Engaged in mill work and farming until August, 1887.

1887. At the age of fifteen moved to the City of Montgomery, and was employed as clerk until 1892.

1892. Attended Eastman's business college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

1893. Entered the public service in January, 1893, as clerk in the office of Tax Collector, and rendered continuous service until 1913.

1902. Was Chairman of the Board of Registrars. The new Constitution was upheld by the Supreme Court of the United States in suit filed against this board by negro after being refused registration.

1906. Elected State Senator from Montgomery County and served until 1909.

1908. Elected Tax Collector without opposition.

1909. Resigned from the Senate to qualify as Tax Collector.

1912. Re-elected Tax Collector without opposition.

1913. After serving one month of his second term he resigned to accept appointment to office of Judge of Probate, by Hon. Emmet O'Neal.

1914. Elected Probate Judge for unexpired term, without opposition.

1916. Re-elected Probate Judge for term of six years without opposition.

1918 candidate for Governor

RECORD AND PLATFORM OF JUDGE CHARLES B. TEASLEY CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Judge Charles B. Teasley is making great strides in his race for governor. His campaign has astonished the old time politicians and his show of strength is a revelation to all. His platform is one which appeals especially to the voters of the rural communities. He is not depending upon prejudices of the voters, but is appealing to them on the ground that he is a practical, self-made man, can render the state a service in working out the problems which have thrown the state in debt.

HIS PLATFORM IS IN THE INTERESTS OF THE MASSES OF THE PEOPLE.

To the People of Alabama:

After mature consideration I have decided to become a candidate for Governor, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary to be held on the second Tuesday in August, 1918. The motives influencing me in reaching this conclusion are: First, to gratify a natural ambition to be the Chief Executive of my native State, and, second, the confident hope and belief that I may be of assistance in working out the many great problems which will confront our people during the next four years. In this connection I submit, for the consideration of the democratic voters of this State, my views upon what I consider the more important matters which will demand the attention of the next administration.

TAXATION

The question of taxation directly affects a larger percentage of our citizenship than possibly any other subject to legislative action, yet it is given but little attention in political campaigns. The result in the past has been that when the Legislature assembled it had little or no information upon this question, and consequently continued all revenue matters until the last of the session. In the meantime it proceeded to pass extravagant appropriation bills, and when the time arrived to consider the revenue bill the only object in the minds of the members was raising taxes to meet these appropriations.

Every attempt at equalization has resulted in increased taxes, until the taxpayers regard their dealings with the government in the relation of Plaintiff and Defendant, each assuming an antagonistic attitude towards the other. This condition is due to the fact that the people have lost confidence in their State government, and feel that they are not receiving benefits in proportion to the burdens imposed. This antagonism will not cease until the people shall have become convinced that they are getting value received for taxes paid. The Federal Government will for many years exact from the people a large part of their incomes to pay the extraordinary expenses of the present war. Any raise in State taxation would mean almost bankruptcy to property owners.

If elected Governor, I will recommend and urge the Legislature to pass an act extending the present tax values for a term of eight years instead of four years with the right to revalue under certain conditions as now provided by law. By doing this the expenses of the county tax boards would be reduced materially and they could give their attention to property which is now escaping taxation. It would also prevent extravagant appropriations during this period, and would restore the confidence of the people.

The Legislature should provide for a small tax of 15 cents per hundred on all transfers of property recorded in the Probate office to be distributed in the same proportion as the mortgage tax. This would be a just tax and would reimburse the several counties for the expensive records to be kept for this purpose, and would assist in maintaining the courts which are open to enforce the rights created by these transfers of property. The revenue from this source would aid materially in reducing the present floating debt. A small increase in the mortgage tax on long term mortgages, to be paid by the lender, would also produce some revenue for this purpose, and would not be any hardship, as these mortgages are exempted from other taxes.

The Mining Department should be self-sustaining. A small license tax should be levied on operators to pay this expense. The banks are assessed to maintain the Banking Department, and there is no good reason why other departments should not be self-sustaining also.

There are more than $200,000 delinquent franchise taxes due the State, with no effective machinery to enforce collection. There are also more than a quarter of a million of dollars due on lands bid in by the State for taxes. Legislation should be enacted providing for the prompt collection of these amounts and all other uncollected revenue.

All wealth, corporate or individual should be required to contribute its just proportion to the burdens of government, and be entitled to and receive the equal protection of the law.

The county franchise tax on corporations should be uniform and prorated among the several counties in proportion to taxable values. Under existing law the county making the lowest levy receives the entire tax, which is unjust to others required to pay a license tax.

Ways and means should be provided to meet promptly all obligations of every character due by the State. The Governor should be given authority to make a temporary loan to pay the floating debt, same to be paid out of current revenue. This can only be done by a vote of the people, but is absolutely necessary to place the State on a cash basis.

FEE SYSTEM

All officers, State and County, should receive a stated salary fixed by a general law, with allowance for help sufficient to conduct the offices in a satisfactory manner. Only sufficient fees to defray the salaries and expenses should be collected from the people. This would avoid the necessity of Constitutional amendments and place all officers on a uniform scale throughout the State.

SCHOOLS

The terms of public schools should be uniform throughout the State. At present the terms of rural schools vary from 83 to 160 days. Every white child in the State should have an equal opportunity of an education regardless of residence. Appropriations out of the general fund should be made to meet this situation. The University, and other high institutions of learning, should be fostered but not at the expense of the common schools.

PENSIONS

Confederate soldiers and their widows should receive liberal treatment at the hands of the State. No pensioner, after being entered on the roll, should be stricken therefrom until after personal service and an opportunity of being heard. The Legislature of 1907 deprived all pensioners of nine months' pay, amounting to approximately $600,000. This amount has been to the credit of the pension fund since that time and will remain there until the Legislature passes an act providing for its distribution. While a member of the Senate from Montgomery County, I passed a bill providing for a distribution of this fund, but it failed in the House on account of final adjournment. If elected Governor I will not only suggest, but will urge the Legislature to pass an act correcting this injustice.

CONVICTS

This department produces a revenue to the State of more than $1,500,000 annually. If all the convicts were worked on the public roads, this amount would have to be provided for by additional taxation, which is impossible at this time. They should be placed on the roads gradually. This State received last year $104,000 from the Federal Government for road building, which will be increased each year by the same amount until the fifth year it will receive $500,000. A like amount must be furnished by the State or the several counties before this fund is available. Convict labor can be used in payment of the amount due by the State, and in this way the number of convicts to be used on the roads can be increased each year without cost to the State as the maintenance will not be more than 50 per cent of the value of the labor produced. This work should be distributed among the counties on some equitable basis.

The public school lands containing coal should be developed and operated with convicts. This would withdraw convict labor from competition with free labor, and would produce a much larger revenue than mining coal for private interest. An arrangement of this kind would relieve the general fund and produce large revenue for the schools.

LOCAL OPTION

Local option, which means nothing more nor less than the right of the people to govern themselves, is a cardinal principle of our party, without which democracy could not survive. My convictions are in thorough accord with this great principle. Notwithstanding my personal views on this question, I realize that this is not the time to inject into a political campaign issues which tend to inflame the passions and prejudices of the people. I therefore favor the retention of the present prohibition laws, but oppose any amendment which will prevent any citizen of this State ordering a reasonable quantity of liquor in a legitimate way for his private use. This question should, at some opportune time, be submitted to a vote of the people for final solution.

FEDERAL PROHIBITION AMENDMENT

Congress at its last session passed a resolution submitting to the several States for their ratification or rejection, an amendment to the Federal Constitution, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. Regardless of what the verdict of the people may be upon this question as a State issue, it is inconceivable to believe that a liberty loving people would vote to surrender their rights as free and independent States. In adopting this amendment we surrender to the Federal Government the enforcement of our criminal laws which our forefathers reserved as inviolate. We are now giving in untold millions our blood and treasure to free the world from the dangers of centralized power. If we surrender the blessings reserved to us by our forefathers, our efforts in this great world conflict will have been in vain.

LABOR

Labor is necessary and essential to the upbuilding and development of the resources of our State. The right to organize for its mutual benefit and protection along legitimate lines cannot be questioned. A just law providing for arbitration between employer and employee would in my opinion help the labor situation.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

The jurisdiction of the State Board of Health should be extended over mining camps and other places where large bodies of men are housed on company property.

REFORM SCHOOLS

The reform schools are doing a great work and should be given every assistance by the State. It costs less to reform than it does to convict, and the good women engaged in this noble work are entitled to our aid and encouragement.

APPOINTMENTS

All appointments by the Governor should be only until the next general election, in order to give the people an opportunity to elect their own public servants. These appointments are now made for the unexpired term, with the exception of judicial officers.

CONCLUSION

The suggestions above set forth, if adopted, will furnish ample revenue to run the Government on a sound business basis, and at the same time produce a surplus annually to liquidate the floating debt.

If the policies as outlined are endorsed by the voters, legislation along constructive lines will be necessary to make them effective. Representatives in accord with the wishes of the people on these matters should be elected to the Legislature in order that the several departments may work in harmony for the general good.

In order that I may be free and unhampered in the discharge of the duties of the office, in the event of my election, I will manage my own campaign, assisted by secretaries, to whom I will be under no political obligations. I will not solicit nor accept campaign contributions from any source whatsoever. The legitimate expenses of the campaign will be paid out of my own resources, so that if I am elected, I will be in a position to act upon all matters without fear or favor in the interests of the people.

Having an abiding faith in the wisdom and judgment of the people, I am content to leave my cause in their hands.

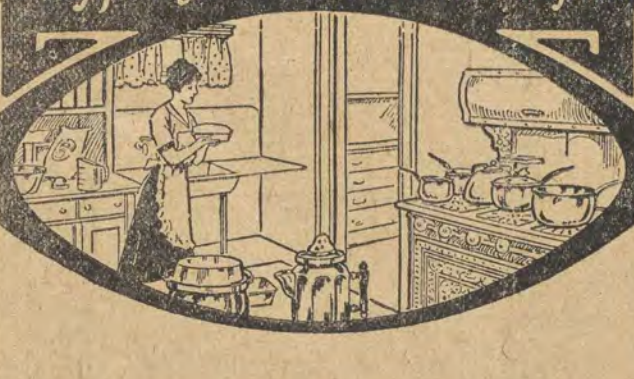

If elected to this high office, I promise to render faithful service and safeguard every interest of the State. Respectfully submitted,
CHARLES B. TEASLEY.

WADES WEEKLY LETTER

The condition of the wheat crop in Alabama is much better than last year and indicates a general increase in yield. The acreage planted to wheat is fifty per cent greater than that planted last year. The increased yield per acre together with the increased acreage indicate an increase in yield of a million bushels or twice the amount of wheat as was grown in the state last year.

Let me insist on the farmers who have wheat to harvest, that they get their harvesting machinery in the very best condition and avoid waste to the greatest possible extent. It is important that a clean harvest be made and all the wheat saved for the cash value it represents. But by far the greatest reason for saving all the wheat is to assure an adequate supply of wheat bread for the American people and to accumulate a surplus sufficient to take care of our army and the Allies in Europe. It is the first and fundamental asset in winning the war.

Save Wheat Seed.

It will be necessary for the people of the South to further increase their acreage next fall, and indications are that they will be willing to do so. This will be necessary for the patriotic and safety reasons already mentioned and for distribution by production rather than by transportation. This will relieve transportation facilities for other necessary purposes. A large supply of Southern grown wheat should be saved to be used for seeding purposes to meet the desired increase in acreage that will be sure to come. The acreage planted last fall was shorter than it would have been on account of the shortage of Southern grown seed. Alabama with her increased acreage and probable two million bushel yield will only produce about thirty per cent of her wheat bread supply this year. This is positive and sufficient proof of the necessity of saving the seed and increasing the acreage this fall.

Farmers, for yours and the nation's sake, do not allow a head of wheat to go to waste that can possibly be saved. Your diligence in this matter means for the assurance of sufficient bread for your families, our army, and Allies, and the triumph of the Allied Armies in the titanic struggle for world freedom.

Save Rye, Clover, and Vetch.

Considerable rye, clover and vetch seed are bought and planted in Alabama each year. Most of the rye is generally saved but clover and vetch are allowed to go to waste, and no chance is afforded for increasing the acreage without sending out of the state every year for seed. If farmers in other states were as negligent about saving seed as we are, then there would be no place where seed could be obtained. This is one more evidence for our lack of thrift. It will be good business to save enough clover and vetch seed for your own use and some to sell, if you can possibly spare the time. We know and appreciate the strain under which most farmers are laboring, but if you can and will do the things which we have mentioned, now is the time to begin thinking and planning for it.

J. A. WADE, Com. of Agr.

APPRECIATION FROM

MR. S. L. GIBSON

Through the Clanton Union-Banner I wish to offer my sincere gratitude to H. B. Oliver of Verbena, Cashier of the Second Red Cross War Fund drive, for his tireless and accurate efforts in keeping account of money and pledges gathered in Chilton County the past week. Mr. Oliver's job has been and is yet a very big one and I speak for the county in saying that a safer and more accurate cashier could not have been chosen.

I also wish to thank Mrs. Lida Jones for her noble and unselfish work in making the drive a success. Mrs. Jones, who has the confidence, love and respect of nearly every family in the county, has worked earnestly for several weeks and has done more to educate the people of the rural districts in Red Cross and other war work than any other person in the county.

Prof. J. L. Johnson as Chairman of the Clanton District, has proved himself a patriot indeed by his zealous work in the drive. After closing his school work he remained in Clanton a week for no other purpose than to help Chilton County raise her quota. Prof. Johnson, with his committee of ladies and gentlemen of Clanton, almost raised half of Chilton's quota in the Clanton district.

I wish to thank Grover Walker, Guy Higgins, Judge Reynolds and other speakers who traveled far to place the work before the citizens of various localities.

We owe the beautiful parade of last Saturday to the earnest work of Mrs. Napoleon Johnson and her committee of Clanton ladies.

I hereby offer my sincere gratitude to every sub-chairman in each community in the county, and every worker who helped make the drive a perfect success, and I trust that no one in the county who took part will be so unpatriotic as to feel the least displeased that I have failed to call their names in this feeble offer of gratitude for bringing Chilton over the top. I will try to publish the names of all sub-chairmen next week.

We also offer thanks to the First State Bank for giving the front of the bank building for County Headquarters. Mr. White and Mr. Williams kindly gave all possible aid in carrying on the work.

D. I. Deramus of Verbena, as Secretary, not only did the corresponding for the drive but furnished the stationery and postage.

In military engagements, the success of a great drive is credited to wise generalship, but in Chilton's drive the past week, I as county chairman, have had the easy job or soft snap. I have been the figure head of the boat, but the successful voyage is the result of the steady, tireless pull of sub-chairmen, their committees and the cashier.

S. L. GIBSON,
County Chairman.

Rheumatism causes more pain and suffering than any other disease, for the reason that it is most common of all ills, and it is certainly gratifying to sufferers to know that there is a remedy that will afford relief, and make rest and sleep possible. It is called Chamberlain's Liniment.

Auto Trucks

I have installed a Federal Truck for hauling lumber and logs, and also have secured the agency for this truck for this territory. I am getting splendid results from this truck, it doing the work of ten mules and five men. Would be glad to demonstrate it to anyone wishing same. Any one wishing to buy may see

QUALITY IN GROCERIES

Our constant effort is directed toward securing Groceries that shall possess that subtle something that for want of a better term, we call QUALITY.

Food may be perfectly pure, wholesome, and healthful, and still not possess that peculiar distinction that sets it in a class by itself for QUALITY.

If you would be known as a person of discriminating taste in eating, come to the store that cultivates that taste. Your appetite may be cultivated till it asks and demands the best, or it may be depraved till "any old thing" will answer.

Money Unbanked is Money Unsafe.

Every day the want-ads in the newspapers tell the story of money that vanished because people carry sums in their pockets and purses which they ought to deposit in bank. Money kept about the person is in constant danger of loss or theft; money hidden away is in most cases stolen or destroyed. Countless instances prove that Money Unbanked is Unsafe. Remember this bank will protect your money properly and we cordially welcome you to deposit your money with us.

The Till Boll Weevil Catcher

From the information we have on the merit of the Till Boll Weevil Catcher we are convinced that if the farmers will begin using them when cotton is five or six inches high and continue until the plant is too large to pass through the Catcher, and go over the crop at least once every ten days, cotton can be grown successfully and profitably. It is estimated that one man using a Catcher can destroy more Weevils in the same length of time than twenty men can destroy picking the weevils off by hand.

We have only a very few and if you expect to buy one, please write or phone us at once so we can get more of them from the factory by the time they are needed.

The price is $7.50, and judging by the experience of farmers in other sections you can double the yield of cotton by using them as directed.

Mrs. H. A. Harris, wife of Sheriff Harris, has been seriously ill for the past week. At the time we go to press she is still in a dangerous condition. The many friends of the family hope for her recovery.

Walter Gillespie attended the State Republican Committee meeting in Birmingham last Friday.

Rev. W. J. Ray, a celebrated Baptist evangelist, is coming to Clanton to try to wake up the Baptist people here to a sense of their church duty. We welcome him and hope he may succeed in his mission. We need a religious revival in Clanton and may be Bro. Ray will be able to arouse us. But the people have an important part to play in the awakening. The preacher can lead us to water but he can't make us drink.

ZONE SYSTEM FOR ARMY'S PURCHASES

TERRITORY HAS BEEN ALLOTTED TO EACH OF THIRTEEN GENERAL SUPPLY DEPOTS.

ORDNANCE EQUIPMENT READY

Every Soldier Leaving for France Has Been Fully Outfitted—American Merchants Take Over the Interests of German Fur Men.

(From Committee on Public Information.) Washington.—A zone system for the apportionment of purchases throughout the United States and to facilitate distribution has been established by the quartermaster department. Territory has been allotted to each of 13 general supply depots. The general supply depot quartermasters are charged with the duty of ascertaining the manufacturing possibilities of their zones. On the basis of reports along this line forwarded to the acting quartermaster general, food and equipment for troops at the different camps will be purchased within the zone in which the camp is located.

Formerly nearly all of a particular class of supplies was purchased through a single general supply depot. Other articles were obtained through other supply depots. Manufacturers in sections distant from the particular supply depot buying their goods were at a disadvantage, and were unable to compete with rivals nearer the point. Under the new system most classes of supplies will be purchased through each of the 13 depots, and manufacturers will be able to transact their business through the depots nearest them.

Each general supply depot quartermaster besides ascertaining production facilities within his zone is instructed to recommend to the quartermaster general's office the employment of such producers as are in his judgment qualified to fulfill contracts. Each depot is expected to keep informed as to market conditions and spot goods located in that zone, and when shortages occur submit recommendations for purchase of articles which may be obtained within the zone.

Purchases are to be made after advertisement by open competitive bidding when time will permit. In emergency cases competition is desired whenever possible. The record of bids received and awards made will be open to public inspection.

The army ordnance department has thus far met every demand imposed by the new program for overseas shipment of American troops, according to a statement by the department. Despite the great acceleration in the sending of American forces to France, no infantryman goes abroad ship without a United States model 1917 rifle (modified Enfield), bayonet, belt, haversack, pack carrier, bandoleers, bayonet scabbard, and full mess equipment.

Tonnage is today a limiting factor in the shipment of ordnance material overseas, especially because of the present necessity of increasing the transport of infantry regiments.

Sufficient supplies of artillery—French 75-millimeters and 155-millimeters and American heavy railway artillery—are already in France to meet the present demand. Sufficient machine guns are also immediately available for American forces in France.

A Canadian order in council provides that no person, with the exception of manufacturers of flour, bakers, confectioners, wholesale or retail dealers, or persons living at a greater distance than two miles from a licensed dealer, shall hold or have in his possession or under his control more flour, made wholly or in part from wheat, than is sufficient for his ordinary requirements for a period not exceeding 10 days.

Anyone living at a distance greater than two miles and less than five miles from a licensed dealer may hold or control flour made wholly or in part from wheat up to an amount sufficient for his ordinary requirements for a period not exceeding 30 days. Anyone living more than five and less than ten miles from a licensed dealer may have sufficient for his ordinary requirements up to 60 days, while a person living more than ten miles from such a dealer may have sufficient for his ordinary requirements for a period up to 120 days.

Any wholesale or any retail dealer licensed by the Canadian food board may not hold flour made wholly or in part from wheat in excess of a quantity sufficient for his ordinary trade requirements for a period exceeding 60 days.

The regulation regarding sugar parallels this save in the last clause. Manufacturers, wholesalers, or retailers may not have more sugar than is required for a period exceeding 45 days.

The Swiss federal government has by decree fixed the maximum price at which farmers may sell cattle for slaughter as well as the prices at which various qualities of butchers' meat may be retailed. Farmers may demand no more than 23 cents per pound for first-class fat beef cattle. The price applies to cattle sold on the farm. If sold in a city or other distant market cost of transportation may be added.

With the exception of sirloin and fillet cuts, retailers may ask no more than 40 cents per pound for beef.

Arrangements are being completed by which the interests of German fur men, amounting to several millions of dollars, will be purchased by American merchants and the money thus paid turned into the treasury.

Before the war broke in Europe, according to a statement issued by the alien property custodian, the trade of American furriers was practically nothing but a collecting and shipping agency for the Germans. Almost every pelt taken by American trappers went to Leipzig before it could be sold. Although London was the world's market, three-quarters of the fur shipped to London from America, Russia, and even China, went to Leipzig for dressing and dyeing.

The Leipzig dressers and dyers were recognized as the best in the world. Each year after the fur was prepared and German merchants had fixed the price, Americans were allowed to purchase as much as three-fifths of the year's output for manufacture into garments, but in so doing they were forced to pay the original cost, expense of dressing and dyeing, a big profit to the Germans, and a 30 per cent duty, before the furs were returned to America.

The war deprived Germany of the chance to purchase fur in London, and limited the supply from America—now also entirely cut off.

According to the Leipzig correspondent of a Christiania newspaper, the Leipzig spring fair showed exhibits of many substitutes and surrogates which have been placed on the market in Germany. Descriptions of some of these have been received by the United States chamber of commerce:

A surrogate for pepper is offered for sale which, judged only by its appearance, seems almost the same as real pepper. The color, odor and taste have been surprisingly well imitated.

A tea is shown to which the name of "German tea" has been given. It is prepared from any one or a combination of a great variety of plants, from strawberry leaves to linden blossoms. It is said to taste very much like genuine tea, but even a half dozen cups will not produce the stimulation caused by a single cup of real tea.

There are any number of surrogates for marmalades. Most of them are prepared from garden vegetables instead of from fruits, with a minimum amount of sugar.

Substitute soap is offered for sale, which is said to have been prepared from the oil in berries and from pumice stone. It lacks, however, the one main characteristic of soap, that of working up into a rich, creamy lather; otherwise it is very good. Substitutes are also to be had for laundry blueing.

Substitute bicycle tires are sometimes made of two concentric iron rings with small springs between them. They are very serviceable on asphalt pavements, but are not exactly as noiseless nor as easy riding as genuine rubber tires.

A large number of articles offered for sale had been prepared largely or entirely from paper—coarse working clothes for men and women, blouses, aprons, and other fabrics. There were paper belts which seemed capable of driving heavy loads.

Many artificial and substitute leathers were noticed. Brass and copper articles were not seen, and attempts were made to place substitutes on the market in the form of plated wares.

A committee on public information representative in London says:

London has never heard of a baseball season before, but will get its chance this year when the American baseball league gets its schedule of games well underway. There are eight American and Canadian teams recruited from various organizations stationed in London, with games scheduled for each Saturday during the summer.

The thousands of American soldiers who may pass through London, or be invalided or stationed here, are in a fair way to be made to feel that England is the next best place to home and that English hearts are kept warm for them.

"Make England the Sammy's blighty," is the way the English press puts it in urging readers to entertain the American troops. "Blighty" is the war word for everything the soldier wants in intervals of his fighting work: the place where friends, recreation, and homelike comfort await him.

The Weekly Dispatch recently called for suggestions for a public entertainment to be offered American soldiers and an instant response made thousands of dollars available for amusements and entertainments. The idea that found greatest favor, however, was to throw open the homes of the nation to the Sammies.

An officer commanding an American squadron operating with the British fleet has reported on a late inspection and speaks in high terms of the present state of efficiency in which he finds both ships and men.

"Vessels show the most gratifying improvement in battery and fire control," he said. "Our ships are smart, spick and span, and have been recipients of many high compliments from British flag officers."

Prior to the war the treasury prepared approximately 150,000 checks annually for the payment of interest on registered bonds of all loans, the issue of these 150,000 checks being distributed through the year. In the May payment of interest on registered bonds of the second Liberty loan more than twice that number of checks were prepared.

More than 2,000,000 members of American fighting forces are now insured by the United States government.

MR. W. F. DESHAZO WRITES IN REGARD TO MIDDLETON

Maplesville, Ala.

Editor Union-Banner,

Please allow me space in your valued paper to say a few words in reply to Mr. Stanford, as regards Mr. Middleton for the Legislature.

I am personally acquainted with Mr. Middleton, and, like Mr. Stanford, think he is a nice gentleman. But I do not agree that, if he were sent to the Legislature, he would not do the farmers justice. And in regard to a farmer going to the legislature, that would be all right, if we could find an old "red neck" with the ability. Now, if we should find one with the ability, would he have the time to spend to fool with this office, as it only about pays a man's expenses while he is in Montgomery? And how many of the farmers of Chilton County would like that kind of a job? I for one would not. And again, in regard to justice to the farmer: My opinion of Mr. Middleton is that all the farmers need to do, would be to let Middleton know what we want, and he would go after it. As a farmer, I am perfectly willing to risk my part with Middleton, and I would like to hear some more of the voters express themselves on this important question.

Hooray for Middleton!

Yours very truly,

W. F. DESHAZO.

FOR A SPRAINED ANKLE

As soon as possible after the injury is received get a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and follow the plain printed directions which accompany the bottle.

LOST—One Nickel Case Watch. Finder will please return to Downs Hardware Co., and receive liberal reward.

Dewitt Easterling, an apprentice seaman of the United States Navy at Norfolk, Va., is at home on sick leave for thirty days. He has been sick a good deal since entering the navy, but is looking well again now.

John Armstrong, soldier, of Montgomery, was in Clanton Sunday.

Clyde Davis has resigned as Editor of the Clanton Press and taken a job at Sheffield. Mr. F. B. Ticknor succeeds to the management of the Press.

REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE TO MEET IN CLANTON JUNE 1ST

Notice is hereby given that the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County will meet at the court house on Saturday, June 1 at 11 o'clock, a.m., for the consideration of any business that may properly come before the body. All members of the Committee are urged to be present.

H. A. HARRIS,

Chairman.

GET A CANTROLLA

Anyone wishing a copy of the "Cantrolla" can secure same by sending 57 cents to Willis Lowe, Business Manager, Clanton, Ala.

A considerable number of the Chilton County soldiers from Camp Wheeler are at home on furlough this week. This is thought to be their final visit home prior to overseas duty.

Corporal Kin Vinson M. of Camp Wheeler is at home this week.

NOTICE—MARS HILL

On Friday, the 7th day of June, all persons interested in the Mars Hill Cemetery will meet and clean off same.

Yours,

C. W. LANGSTON.

CAUSE OF HEADACHE

By knowing the cause, a disease may often be avoided. This is particularly true of headache. The most common cause of headache is a disordered stomach or constipation, and may be corrected by taking a few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets. Try it. Many others have obtained permanent relief by taking these tablets. They are easy to take and are mild and gentle in effect.

PLEASANT HILL

In addition to the annual singing at Pleasant Hill Church on the Third Sunday in June, the following program will be rendered:

9:30, a.m. Devotional Exercises by I. O. Retherford, followed by class singing 30 minutes.

10:00. Our dead, Robert Cost.

10:15. The moral effect of Memorial Day (paper), Miss Virgie Davis.

10:30. Loyalty to the Flag, W. H. Conway.

Solo, "Across the Bar," Miss Genie Collins.

"Nearer My God to Thee," by seven little girls.

11:00. Memorial Sermon by Rev. S. M. Adams.

11:45. Decoration of the Cemetery by the Congregation.

12:00. Dinner.

1:30. How to cultivate a Christian growth among the people, by Judge L. H. Reynolds.

The singers will entertain the audience the afternoon with music from the latest books. Come and bring your books and baskets.

E. L. SMITH, Pastor.

FOR SALE—Oscola Velvet Beans, the kind that don't sting. Black-eye peas, each at six cents a pound. Texas seeded Ribbon Cane and Essex Dwarf Rape.

THE RED CROSS PIG

Mrs. Duncan has lost her red cross pig. She paid $11 for him at the auction sale last Saturday, and he got out of the pen and left. He is a little spotted fellow about five weeks old. If anybody can locate him, it will be an appreciated favor to notify Mrs. Duncan at the automobile shop in Clanton.

CLUB MEETING SATURDAY

By previous call, the club boys of the county met at the court house last Saturday morning. About fifty members were in attendance.

Addresses were delivered to the boys by Judge L. H. Reynolds, Mr. J. C. Ford of Auburn, and Mr. W. H. Conway.

Record books for the year's work were given out to those who had not previously gotten them. Mr. Conway states that he now has some record books on hand to give to any member applying for them.

Dr. Upchurch went up to Birmingham Tuesday in his Buick Six, and came back with a big new Franklin.

Why Suffer?

Mrs. J. A. Cox, of Alderson, W. Va., writes: "My daughter... suffered terribly. She could not turn in bed... the doctors gave her up, and we brought her home to die. She had suffered so much at... time. Having heard of Cardui, we got it for her."

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"In a few days, she began to improve," Mrs. Cox continues, "and had no trouble at... Cardui cured her, and we sing its praises everywhere." We receive many thousands of similar letters every year, telling of the good Cardui has done for women who suffer from complaints so common to their sex. It should do you good, too. Try Cardui.

REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

The Executive Committee of the Republican party of Chilton County met at the court house last Saturday morning pursuant to the previous call of chairman Harris, who presided over the meeting. Secretary J. B. Atkinson was at his post of duty.

No business of particular importance was to come up, and the meeting was short. A few routine matters were taken up and acted upon.

The committee promulgated an order for a primary election to be held in the county on the 13th of next August, for the purpose of nominating candidates to fill the several county offices at the general election in November.

Hon. J. Osmond Middleton introduced a stirring patriotic resolution which was adopted by vote of the members present. His resolution is particularly appropriate at this time. It is produced elsewhere in this issue of the Union-Banner.

After filling some vacancies which have occurred on the county committee the meeting adjourned to meet again on the 15th of August.

Committeemen from only two beats in the county failed to attend the meeting.

OBITUARY

On Saturday, June 1st 1918, the beautiful spirit of Miss Balzie Baxley made its flight into the great beyond.

Balzie was 19 years of age. She was sick for a long time with tuberculosis. All that loving hands could do was done for her, but still the Lord saw fit to call her home.

She was a faithful member of the church. The community has sustained a great loss in having to give her up. To know her was to love her. As a friend, in school, church and at social affairs she was always ready and willing to do any thing that she could.

Weep not, dear ones, we know it is hard to give her up, but if we will live as she did we will all meet her some day where there shall be no more parting; but where there will be joy forever.

She leaves to mourn for her a loving mother, one little brother and a host of relatives and friends.

Weep not, loved ones, for the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh. Funeral services were held at the residence after which the remains were laid to rest in Liberty Hill cemetery.

COUNTY PROBATE COURT

The following cases were tried and disposed of in the county court by Judge Reynolds Monday:

R. L. Coody, charged with Sunday gaming; plead guilty and fined $10.00 and costs.

Lee Traywick, charged with violating prohibition laws; continued to the first Monday in July.

Willie Cooper, vagrancy; continued by defendant to July court.

A. W. Coleman, charged with abandoning wife; continued to June 10.

Stella Haywood, charged with petit larceny; continued to July court.

Lewey Sharpe, charged with vagrancy; continued to June 10.

R. J. Patterson, charged with violating the prohibition laws; plead guilty and fined $50.00 and cost; also 60 days hard labor.

J. W. Davis, charged with violating the prohibition laws; plead guilty and fined $50.00 and costs.

S. S. CONVENTION

The Sunday School Convention of the First District will meet at Providence church in the afternoon of the 3rd Sunday in June. Program as follows:

3:00 (New time) Devotional exercises by Rev. Job Reynolds.

3:15. The place and power of the County Sunday School, by Rev. M. C. Crumpton.

3:55. Need of leadership in the country Sunday School and how to supply it, by J. B. Northcutt.

4:30. Hearing from the Schools and writing up District chart.

Adjourn.

Rev. Champion will fill the District Presidents place at this session.

AUTO BURNED ON STREETS

An automobile on the street near the post office caught fire last Saturday morning, and in a few minutes that which was once a pretty little car was only an ugly collection of scrap iron.

The machine belonged to Mr. Frank Allen of Tuscaloosa.

After the car had burned up the city hose was turned on and the fire was extinguished readily.

Many people witnessed the scene.

B. L. Cobb of Jemison was in Clanton Monday attending County Court. He brought along a couple of subscription to The Union-Banner.

REVIVAL HERE IS STIRRING CLANTON PEOPLE THIS WEEK

The revival services of the Clanton Baptist Church are stirring the people of Clanton up considerably.

Rev. W. J. Ray, the conductor of the services is one of the greatest preachers we have ever had here. He preaches the sound gospel and tells the truth about sinners. It may be truly said of him that he hews to the line and lets his chips fall where they may.

Such a preacher is worth hearing, and the people seem to realize it from the way they turn out to his services. He began the meeting in the Baptist church, but has moved to the court house in order to be able to accommodate the great crowds.

The singing is splendidly rendered under direction of Rev. Judson Martin.

ROBERT JONES IN FRANCE.

A. E. F. May 6, 1918.

Mr. W. C. Jones, Jemison, Ala.

Dear Brother:

Will write you a few lines to let you hear from me. Well Columbus, I have just received three letters from home, and was awful glad to hear from you all. This leaves me fine and in good heart.

Yes, we are fighting the Huns some, but I tell you they are some H-L. I have been to the trenches three times, and Co. D. has not lost a man yet. If we had enough Alabama boys the Huns would be up against a knot.

No one can tell about this war; how long it will last, but I don't see how the Germans can fight much longer.

Well, I will close. Hope to hear from you soon.

Your Brother,
ROBERT JONES,
Co. D. 167th Inf. A. E. F.

RED CROSS AT FAIRVIEW

A Red Cross Chapter has been organized at Fairview, the first rural Chapter in the county.

Joseph Popwell is the chairman and Mrs. G. W. Culp secretary.

The work starts off with a good membership and promise of a splendid accomplishment.

WARNING

All boys are warned against wearing a Boy Scout suit or any part thereof, unless the wearer is a duly certified scout member. Some violations of this character have occurred and this warning is issued in order to prevent anyone getting into trouble.

W. O. RICH, Scout Master.
Clanton, Ala., June 5, 1918.

PROF. JOHNSON RE-ELECTED

The Board of Trustees for the Clanton Grammar School has very wisely re-elected Prof. J. L. Johnson as Principal of the school for another year.

Mr. Johnson has made a record of thorough satisfaction in his former service with the school, and the Trustees are fully warranted in retaining him as Principal.

As an upright Christian gentleman, Mr. Johnson stands well with the people of the Town, all of whom will be glad of the action of the Trustees in retaining him in the important place which he has so admirably filled.

MOUNTAIN SPRINGS

There will be an all day singing at this place on the third Sunday in June.

The books to be used are Harp and Harmony. Everybody come and bring your books and a well filled basket and let us all enjoy the day singing praises to God.

We, the undersigned voters, endorse Mr. J. Osmond Middleton for Representative.

REPUBLICANS ARE PATRIOTS

Resolution so Declares as Adopted by Republican Executive Committee in Session Here Last Saturday

Who says that the Republicans of Chilton County are not loyal and patriotic citizens? We insist that anyone who would try to create the impression that Republicans here are not loyal and patriotic are thereby dealing in an insidiously false unfounded fabrication of actual conditions. You have only to open your eyes and take a fair and square manly view of things to see that the Republicans of Chilton County are willing to, and are standing by the Government in this critical time. We ask you to read the following resolution as one instance of Republican loyalty:

Whereas, the United States is now one of the belligerents in the great world-war, and has cast the strength of its armed forces upon the side of the Allies in order that liberty and humanity might be saved to the world;

And Whereas, in this hour of the nation's supremest crisis, we are deeply sensible that it is the prime duty of Americans everywhere to stand squarely with and by the government for the triumph of our arms; that, with that great American patriot, Theodore Roosevelt, we realize but one supreme duty "to fight the war through to a finish, to a knock-out," and

Therefore, Be it Resolved, by the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County, Alabama, in session assembled at Clanton on this June 1st 1918, to the end that this supreme duty may be accomplished, and on behalf of the two thousand Republicans of Chilton County, we pledge to the Government our loyal and unstinted allegiance.

The above resolution was offered to the Committee meeting of Republicans here last Saturday by Hon. J. Osmond Middleton. It was read and adopted and we are sure that nothing could ring truer of patriotic Americanism than these well-chosen words.

And too, there is plenty of evidence of the loyal sentiment of the rank and file of Republicans throughout our county. Look over the list of Red Cross and Liberty Loan subscribers and see if you don't find Republicans enrolled there.

Then think of the absurdity of a few jackasses around here who have lately made themselves ridiculous in the eyes of all decency by trying to show up the Republicans as a disloyal and unpatriotic element. Its a shame on our county to have to put up with such rotten stuff.

GOVERNMENT WANTS TO BUY
BLACK WALNUT TREES NOW

The government needs large quantities of Black Walnut with which to make gun stocks and propellers for aeroplanes.

The location of these trees, names of the owners, size of the trees and the price is greatly desired.

Anyone in reach of Clanton who has one or more black walnut trees on his property and will dispose of same to the government is requested to notify W. O. Rich, whereupon the Boy Scout organization will make the proper report to the government regarding the trees.

President Wilson has called upon the Boy Scouts to locate these trees and make reports on them to the proper authorities who will take up matter of purchases.

SOLDIER WRITES HIS MOTHER
ON MOTHERS DAY

Dewey Giles a Clanton boy with the army in France, wrote his mother a letter on Mother's day, assuring her that she is still remembered. He said: "Dear Mother: I will write you a few lines to-day as it is Mother's Day. It is Mother's Day not only in the United States, but over here also. This leaves me doing fine. Tell everybody hello for me.

"With much love I am as ever,

"Your son,

LIGHTNING DAMAGE AT HOME OF COMMISSIONER WALDRUP

Last Sunday night the barn at the home of Mr. S. E. Waldrup near Jemison was struck by lightning, which did considerable damage to the buildings, and killed one of his fine milch cows. Mr. Waldrup stated that when the bolt struck it set fire to a basket of cotton and it was a narrow escape from having his barn and building destroyed by fire. One of Mr. Waldrup's sons was shaken up by the stroke.

COUNTY PAPERS THANKED BY RED CROSS OFFICIALS

The Union-Banner is in receipt of the following letter from the Chairman and the Treasurer of the Second Red Cross War Fund:

Verbena, Ala., June 1, 1918
We desire to express our appreciation to both county papers, The Union-Banner and Clanton Press, for promptness in handling matter passing to the public from those engaged in Red Cross as well as Liberty Loans so far as we engaged in the latter, and although this work was without compensation we found the management at all times ready, willing and even anxious to do their bit with all courtesy.

"We are grateful for the service."

MORE ABOUT FLOUR AND WHEAT RULES

This week we have some more correspondence between Judge Reynolds and the Food Administration. For the benefit of the people of the county we are publishing the letters in order that they may see what has been said.

The matter of farmers having their wheat ground into flour is of particular interest at this time. Judge Reynolds has taken this matter up, as will be seen from the letters below, and will soon have a ruling from the government authorities for the farmers to go by.

Judge Reynolds Letter.
"Hon. Ralph D. Quisenberry, Montgomery, Ala.

"Dear Sir:
"In reply to your letter of May 25, will state that our County has a great deal of wheat being harvested, and I think we can get along very well without buying any more flour until the new crop comes in.

"I want to say here for the people of this County if it is necessary for us not to buy any more flour, in order that the boys might be fed, we are ready, willing and anxious to eat corn bread and let the boys have the wheat.

"I wish you would write me at once what the regulation is on having wheat ground where it is raised by a farmer. Is there any

100 PER CENT PATRIOTIC

On last Monday morning while Judge L. H. Reynolds was holding county court, Mr. Doggerel, an agent of the Department of Justice, was searching the Judge's home to determine whether or not he was complying with the food Administration requirements.

Of course as every person in Chilton county knew, the detective found the Judge complying with the law.

There was no one of the family at home but Mrs. Reynolds and Miss Winnie. The Judge knew nothing of it until noon when he went home.

OH, FIE!

A natty army officer of the "swivel-chair corps" was escorting his red-lipped, iris-eyed divinity down F Street in Washington recently. His boots were cordovan of the very latest cut, his spurs glistened in the sunlight his shoulder-bars gleamed like stars.
He certainly did look too sweet for anything. Coming up the street was a tall chap whose face showed traces of recent tan, and on whose left arm was the V-stripe for six months foreign service. As he passed the scented dandy and his lady, he saluted with the left hand. This gave Percival a chance to show off his authority and having noted in A. R. that only the right hand should be used in saluting, he proceeded to read the riot act to the soldier. When the dainty creature had quite worn himself out with his verbal "over the top" stuff, the soldier turned slightly, showing an empty right sleeve. "Sir," he explained, "I have recently been invalided home after losing my right arm in the trenches at Toul, which is my reason for using the left hand to salute." And then the color of that tender young safety-first officers face was what he himself would probably have described as a "bwicky wed." His blue-eyed baby was observed to drop his arm instanter.

GRAND ARMY GRATIFIED

The pension bill introduced by Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, and reported by him as an amendment to the general pension bill passed by the House, is receiving the enthusiastic support of the members of the Grand Army. The mail of Senators is filled with copies of resolutions adopted by Grand Army Posts throughout the country, urging favorable action for the Smoot bill. The measure provides a pension of $30 per month for all soldiers who served 90 days and who are now on the pension rolls or may be placed there hereafter. There is no age qualification for the rate of $30, but if a veteran is 75 years old and has served six months he will get $32; one year, $35; one and a half years, $38; and two years or over, $40. There is no apparent opposition to the bill, as everyone agrees that pensions should be raised to correspond with the increased cost of living. It is anticipated that the measure will pass the Senate before the adjournment of the present session.

ALL AGREED

The unanimous vote by which the vocational rehabilitation bill for our crippled soldiers passed the Senate should be a matter of gratification to all good citizens. It is a further proof that, regardless of party lines, legislation manifestly necessary in the winning of the war or to improve the condition of our fighting forces, will be enacted. Republican opposition to unwise provisions in certain war bills is and has been constructive and not factious, and when a measure like the vocational reeducation bill, drawn in the interest of humanity and efficiency, comes up for action it immediately gains the support of Republicans, regardless of the politics of its author.

MATCH-MAKING ABROAD

The tariff commission, which jumps from pianos to shoe buttons, and locomotives to manicure sets, in its desultory study of the tariff, estimates the output of American matches in 1917 to have been 28,805,000 gross.
It finds that our greatest competitors are Sweden and Japan, the latter country having multiplied her sale of matches to us 1917 over 1914 by about 40, while Sweden doubled her exports to us during the same time.
The commission says that "Sweden's proximity to Germany gives her an ample supply of potash, and her nearness to Russia gives her advantages in the acquisition of suitable wood for the match stick, while Japan is both a producer and an exporter of potash, and has an abundant supply of match stick wood and cheap skilled labor." It is also conceded by the commission that labor is cheaper in foreign countries; that about 22,000 people in Japan are engaged in the match industry, 73 per cent of whom are women, while but 30 per cent of the employees here are women.

Now the tariff commission is on record as declaring that "differences in the rate of wages have comparatively little to do with trade," yet that "cost of production is the central factor in determining competitive conditions." It is pretty hard to assimilate those two statements, but they have been made by members of the commission.
Furthermore, the attitude of the commission is that where any competing country has any special advantage in manufacture over us in the production of a commodity, we should give up its manufacture in this country as a bad economic policy, and purchase from the country or countries possessing the special advantage. In this instance both Sweden and Japan would appear to have special advantages over us with regard to supplies of potash, and an abundant supply of match stick wood, while Japan has it on Sweden in the matter of cheaper labor, a factor on which the commission finds itself undecided as an advantage of any sort. Anyhow, it stands to reason that the commission to be consistent, should recommend that we give up the manufacture of matches in this country and get our supply from either Sweden or Japan.
This will entail the dismantling of not less than 26 plants, capital $12,000,000, value of products, $12,000,000, value added by manufacture, $7,000,000, and chase 2,000 wage earners into other occupations. This is Tausigian idealism as applied to the
"made in America" programme.

DIGNIFYING DENTAL CORPS

Representative Leonidas C. Dyer of Missouri is much gratified at the inclusion in the Naval Appropriation Bill, as a Senate amendment, of practically the exact language of a measure he introduced some time ago for the organization of the Dental Corps of the Navy. The purpose of the provision is to place the Dental Corps on the same plane with the Medical Corps of the Navy. Appointments, promotions, and rank in the Dental Corps are to agree with relatively similar positions in the medical branch of the naval service, a principle that has been fought for for years. Mr. Dyer is urging the House conferees on the bill to accept the Senate amendment without contest.

GROWING SOY BEANS
TO GET THEIR SEED

By E. F. Cauthen.

The many uses to which the soy bean is now put make it a crop worthy of consideration by farmers who cannot grow peanuts successfully. The price of seed will doubtless continue to be good for a long time.

Some of the leading varieties for seed production are Mammoth Yellow, Hollybrook, Black Beauty, Ebony, and Wilson. These varieties have ranked highest in yield at the Alabama Experiment Station. They require from 120 to 150 days to grow and mature seed.

Probably the most important variety to plant in Alabama is the Mammoth Yellow. Its seed are extensivelly used for food purposes and for oil.

Soy beans will grow on almost any kind of soil, but do best when planted on a loamy or clay soil that is well drained and has an abundance of humus. Very poor soil will not make a profitable crop.

The land should receive about the same preparation and fertilizer as for cotton. Rows may be made from 36 to 40 inches wide. They may be dropped like cowpeas at the rate of 20 pecks per acre, or sowed in a shallow drill slightly below the surface, or on a low bed. They should not be planted when the ground is very dry or wet.

The implements used in cultivation of cotton will be suited to the cultivation of soy beans.

The beans should be harvested when about three-fourths of the leaves have fallen and the pods have turned yellow. Where the area is small, they may be cut with a scythe or cradle and put in small piles to dry. If the area is several acres, they can be cut with a mower or self-reaper and put in small piles to cure. As soon as they have cured, they should be threshed or put under a shed.

They may be threshed out with a flail or run through a chain thrasher that has been properly speeded down.

For a lame back apply Chamberlain's Liniment twice a day and mas-

OUR AIR FIGHTERS PLAY A FAIR GAME

AVIATOR F. P. MAGOUN RELATES AN INSTANCE OF THEIR REAL SPORTSMANSHIP.

ONE FLYER'S LUCKY ESCAPE

American Infantryman Has Advantage
Over the German in His Ammunition Equipment—Finger Prints of German Alien Females to Be Taken.

(From Committee on Public Information.)
Washington.—A committee on public information representative in London says:

There are no better sportsmen in the world than the allied aviators, and American aviators now fighting in Europe always play a fair game, as they learn it from the allies. F. P. Ma-goun, a former Harvard student, now a member of the Royal Air Force, recently wounded, tells how the lives of German observers escaping from balloons have been spared.

"We caught three Hun balloons above the allied grounds in a mist, which prevented their gunners seeing us," said he. "It was a cinch. You should have seen them hustle out their parachutes and abandon the balloons.
As they came falling down through the air we circled about closely but, of course, didn't open fire, as that's against the rules of the game. As soon as they touched ground they took cover like rabbits."

Magoun is the only American in his squadron, having joined in February of last year. He has bagged five German planes. While carrying bombs for low attack in the recent offensive he received a bullet through his left arm, but managed to return to his own lines. Magoun tells of a companion in his squadron who had one of the luckiest escapes during the war. He was put out of action 1,000 feet in the air when a bullet perforated his gasoline tank. He was rendered unconscious by the fumes and his machine took a nose dive to earth, but he escaped without a scratch.

A section of the Royal Air Force operating in the Ypres salient has lost its only American member, who had been with the squadron only ten days when he went on a bombing raid at low elevation. He was hit by a machine-gun bullet and his plane fell in flames. He was taken prisoner.

The efforts of newspapers to promote good feeling between the people of England and the thousands of Americans received official backing when Sir Randolph Baker, member of parliament, offered to take charge of the American troops welfare department of the British government. His plans contemplate a continuous program of healthful recreation in every American rest camp and training camp in England. Special London theatrical companies will be sent out. An organization known as "Sammy's Blighty League" is being formed.

The American infantryman in the expeditionary forces carries 200 rounds of ammunition in the pockets of his light canvas web belt and his bandol-eers. The German soldier has only 120 rounds, and 30 of these are in his knapsack. To secure them at a critical moment he must lose valuable time.

The American web belts, according to the war department, are far superior to the German leather bandol-eers. They are not affected by prolonged rains nor torrid weather. The manufacture of these belts is one of the most intricate of the operations in the textile field. United States army belts are made almost entirely of cotton.

The exact weight of the 220 rounds carried by the American soldier in France is 12 pounds. With the Springfield rifle 23 aimed shots can be fired each minute. Firing from the hip 40 shots can be fired a minute. The new United States model 1917 (modified Enfield) does even better.

The registration of German alien females, to begin Monday, June 17, and end Wednesday, June 26, will be conducted in cities or municipalities having 5,000 population or over by the police officials. In communities having a population of less than 5,000 the registration will be handled by postmasters.

In general the plan of registration is the same as that followed in the registration in February of German alien males. Each person who must register will be required to register her finger prints. This method of identification is also used in the military and naval services of the United States.

Boy scout organizations are active in locating black walnut trees. Black walnut lumber is needed by the war department for use in making airplane propellers and gunstocks.

Enough heavy Browning machine guns for instruction purposes have been shipped to every National Guard training camp and National army cantonment in the country where troops are in training. Heavy Brown-ings for overseas training have been shipped.

Light Browning rifles sufficient in number to equip the machine-gun units of more than four army divisions have been manufactured, and overseas shipment of one half has begun.
The other half of the output goes to army divisions in this country.

At every training camp in the country plans of the commission on training camp activities have been carried out to provide athletic facilities for the men. Baseball heads the list in popularity, and full equipment has been placed in the camps. More than 70,000 baseballs and 3,000 bats have been sent. At Camp Lewis, Washington, there are 16 baseball fields in use.
Practically every company in each camp division throughout the country has its team and there are company, battalion, regimental and inter-regimental leagues.

Every form of track athletics occupies the attention of men training at the camps. As many as 800 men have taken part in divisional contests, and track meets have been witnessed by more than 20,000 spectators.

Where facilities permit, instruction in swimming is given. Men are first given land instruction and then sent into the water. Tennis courts have been built in every camp, one having 40 courts, and the sport is rapidly gaining in popularity. Through the generosity of golf clubs located near the camps, the demand for golf courses is partly being met. Polo matches are frequently held, and competition for places on the teams is keen.

There is a list of 137 occupations where the demand for men in the war department constantly exceeds the supply.

A pressing need exists in the army for men experienced in handling mules, and before all future needs are met a recruiting campaign may become necessary. No difficulty has been experienced in getting men who can buy and handle horses, but blacksmiths are scarce.

There is a constant demand for butchers, and cooks are greatly needed. In several technical branches, particularly the engineers, men for the higher positions are plentiful, but the workers for the ranks are scarce. Experienced mechanics, especially those familiar with automobiles, are always in demand.

More interpreters than can be used have been applied for positions with the war department, and applications for commissions as army chaplains are also in excess of the need. The excess totals thousands in each case. Clerks for general work are plentiful, but there is demand for specialists. At present there is a surplus of dentists and pharmacists.

Deliveries of the 8,000 motortrucks recently ordered by the motor transport service of the war department are to be made between August 1 and December 1. These trucks, known as "Class B Standards," will have a capacity of from three to five tons, and will be distributed as needed through the various branches of the army. Ten thousand of these class B standardized trucks have previously been ordered and are now in process of manufacture and delivery.

Under a new agreement the army will handle all mail for the expeditionary forces after it leaves United States ports. The post office department will deliver the mail to military authorities at the port of embarkation in this country and receive it from them at a port in France for dispatch to the United States. The domestic money-order service to the troops will for the present at least, continue under the direction of the post office department in France.

The first Porto Rican laborers to reach the United States under government auspices will be at work upon government contracts within a month.

The employment service of the department of labor has already found employment for at least 100,000 of these men as common laborers on construction work at Norfolk, Newport News, Baltimore and vicinity. Arrangements are now being made by the department of labor to provide proper housing for these men.

Women between the ages of twenty-one and thirty-five who have had a high school education or its equivalent will be eligible for admission to the army school of nursing, arrangements for which were recently made by the war department. It is intended to start several schools in selected military hospitals. Unless otherwise specified, applications should be sent directly to the army school of nursing, office of the surgeon general of the army, Washington, D. C.

"Keeping Our Fighters Fit—For War and After," is the title of an official book issued by the commission on training camp activities, describing the athletics, mass singing, social life and other recreations of men in army and navy camps. The book tells of the theaters, the work of the Y. M. C.
A., Knights of Columbus and other organizations associated with the commission in welfare work, and gives details of life in the camps.

The two picnic acid plants to be built at Little Rock, Ark., and Brunswick, Ga., contracts for which have been completed by the war department, will cost approximately $7,000,- 000.

Men of selective service age who leave the United States to evade military duty will have to stand trial on charges of violations of the selective service act when they return to the country, according to the department of justice, even though they do not return until after the war.

The department has at hand information from which complete lists may be prepared of all men who have left the country to avoid service, says a recent statement authorized by the attorney general.

Manufacturers using sugar, except to make essential food products, have been on strict rations, the United States food administration announces, in order to assure sufficient supplies for home canners and the commercial manufacturers of preserves, jams, and other foodstuffs regarded as essential.
The restrictions went into effect May 15, and limit the consumption by manufacturers of the less essentials, particularly confectionery and soft drinks, to 80 per cent of last year's requirements.

Manufacturers of nonedible products will be forced to go entirely without sugar.

Included in the class with confectionery and soft drinks are condiments, soda water, chocolate, candies, beverage sirups, fruit sirups, flavoring extracts, chewing gum, sweet pickles, wines, cereals and invert sugar. Those who entered the business or increased their capacity after April 1, 1918, however, will be cut off entirely.

Manufacturers of essential foodstuffs will be permitted to buy sufficient sugar to meet their full requirements.
In this class come preservers and packers of vegetables, catsup and chili cause, fruits and milk, manufacturers of jam, jelly, and preserves, tobacco and explosives, apple butter and glycerin, ice cream (not including sherbets and water ices), druggists (for medicines), and producers of honey.
Ice cream is put in the preferred class.

American prisoners of war in Germany are entitled to receive and send letters, money orders, and valuables, and parcel post packages weighing not more than 11 pounds, when intended for international mail, free from all postal duties.

Mail should be addressed to the prisoner of war, giving his rank, the name of the prison camp where he is held, if it is known, followed by "Prisoner of War Mail via New York." All such mail should also bear the name and address of the sender.

Parcel post packages for prisoners of war in enemy countries may not be sent by organizations or societies, and only one package a month may be sent. If more are received the one apparently from the prisoner's next of kin will be forwarded and the others held in New York pending communication with the senders, with whose consent such excess packages may be sent to other prisoners of war who had received no packages during the month. Lacking this consent, the packages will be returned to the senders.

Only the following articles may be included in the packages: Belts not made of leather; hair, hand, tooth, shaving, and shoe brushes; buttons;
hard candy; cigars and cigarettes;
combs; crackers and biscuits; gloves not made of leather; handkerchiefs;
pocket knives, needles and thread;
pencils and pens; penholders; pins;
pipes; safety razors and blades; shaving soap, powder, or cream; shirts and scarfs; shoe laces; smoking or chewing tobacco; toilet soap; socks; sweaters; tooth powder, paste or liquid mouth wash; towels; underwear; personal photographs; periodicals published prior to the beginning of the war.

Letters and packages will be subject to careful censorship.

Military instruction under officers and noncommissioned officers of the army will be provided in every institution of college grade which enrolls for the instruction 100 or more able-bodied students over the age of eighteen, beginning in September, 1918. The necessary military equipment will, so far as possible, be provided by the government. There will be created a military training unit in each institution. Enrollment will be purely voluntary.

The enlistment will constitute the student a member of the army of the United States, liable to active duty at the call of the president. It will, however, be the policy of the government not to call the members of the training units to active duty until they have reached the age of twenty-one, unless urgent military necessity compels an earlier call. Students under eighteen, and therefore not legally eligible for enlistment, will be encouraged to enroll in the training units.

The London Economist for February places the total gross debt of Great Britain at 5,678,600,000 pounds ($27,- 626,000,000).

The French minister of finance in presenting the budget for 1918 estimated the public debt of France on December 31, 1918, at 115,166,058,000 francs ($22,227,000,000).

The public debt of Italy at the end of 1917 is estimated at about 35,000,- 000,000 lire ($676,000,000).

The debts of the central powers are estimated as follows: Germany, $25,- 408,000,000; Austria, $13,314,000,000;
and Hungary, $5,704,000,000.

Our own public debt is now around $8,000,000,000, but more than half of this amount has been loaned to the allies. It is estimated that of the total net expenditures of the United States for the fiscal year 1918, exclusive of our advances to the allies, more than one-half will be defrayed by taxation, according to the treasury department.

Only members of units of the senior division reserve officers' training corps, now in attendance at various educational institutions maintaining such units, will be eligible to attend the one month's course of training to be held from June 3 to July 3 at Plattsburg barracks, New York; Fort Sheridan, Illinois; and the Presidio at San Francisco. There are 120 colleges maintaining these units, from which 6,500 students will be selected.
Those who complete the course of training will not be eligible for commissions.

IMPORTANT THINGS FOR THE DAIRYMAN

By J. P. Quinerly, Dairy Specialist, Auburn, Ala.

If you are thinking of milking cows next winter, plan now for the following three things without fail:

1. SHELTER is the cheapest feed.
Cows that are protected from the cold wind and rain will require less feed for maintenance and will produce more milk than those that are not housed.
An expensive barn is unnecessary in Alabama to insure good results. In fact a cheap shed open to the south with racks for hay is an ideal arrangement. With access to such a shed, the cows will not have to be kept tied up in the barn any night.

2. SILAGE is necessary for dairying. Do not listen to the man who knocks silos—he hasn't got one. There is no cheaper or surer way to keep up the milk flow in winter or during dry periods than with silage which is "canned pasture." Any man who is milking ten or more cows cannot afford to be without a silo.

3. LEGUME HAY was never so important to the dairyman as now.
At the present prices of protein grains
we must look to other sources for protein and it cannot be found as cheaply as in legume hay—alfalfa, cowpea, soy bean, and clover. With all the silage she can eat and much legume hay along with a plenty of water and good shelter, the average cow needs little if anything more than a few velvet beans can supply. We must learn to use more roughage if our cows are to make satisfactory profits.

USE OF NITRATE OF SODA

By D. J. Burleson, Agronomist for Extension.

The scarcity of nitrate of soda, as well as its high price, makes it all the more urgent that it be used in such a way as to get the best possible results. It should be remembered that the improper use of nitrate means a decrease in the production of food and feed, which are so badly needed in the prosecution of the war.

Nitrate of soda readily dissolves in water. It may, therefore, be taken up by the roots of plants and almost immediately after an application to growing crops. For this reason nitrate gives best results when applied to a crop which has already reached a stage of growth at which it can make immediate use of the fertilizer.
If nitrate is applied at the time of planting a considerable part of this fertilizer may leach out of the soil before the plants are large enough to use it. Of course this is not true of cottonseed meal which must begin to rot before its nitrogen is available, nor is it true of acid phosphate which becomes fixed in the soil and does not leach out.

The best time to apply nitrate of soda to corn is when the plants are about three or four feet high. If application is delayed beyond that stage the corn may not get the full benefit of the fertilizer. From 50 to 100 pounds per acre is a moderate application. It may be applied by scattering on the surface of the ground as a top dressing, when the leaves are dry.
The ideal weather conditions are found soon after a rain when the indications are that it will not rain again soon.

240 POUND PIGS

With corn above 50 cents hogs eat their heads off very quickly. The hog that takes two or three months to get on full feed never brings you a profit.

When you are ready to put your shoats on feed, begin with the B. A.
Thomas' Hog Medicine. Use regularly and watch your shoats round out into fat hogs in nine months—hogs going well over 200 pounds and as high as 240 pounds. Figure the average feeding and you will see why the B. A. Thomas medicine is a good investment. Try feeding out your hogs on this plan and if you are not more than pleased, we will refund the cost of the medicine.

LIST OF MEN WHO REGISTERED WITH LOCAL BOARD JUNE 5TH.

George Curtis Speer, Maplesville.
George Stanley Cooper, Clanton.
Wilson Judkins (col) Clanton.
William Otis Vance, Cooper.
Joseph Eugene Gore, Birmingham.
Henry Popwell, Clanton.
Jason Hutchinson Turner, Pletcher.
Watson Jones, Verbena.
John Clifton Dansby, Verbena.
David Collins, Maplesville.
Walter Pickens (col) Clanton.
Judson Lafayette Adams, Coopers.
Henry Solomon Skipper, Jemison.
Joseph Arnold McDowell, Clanton.
Perry Glass, Jemison.

The above list, consisting of 133 names, was secured at the office of the Local Board at six o'clock Wednesday evening. There may have been a few who registered later than that time, as the law required the Board to remain open as late as nine o'clock for the purpose of registering any who might be that late in coming.

The Doctor Away From Home When Most Needed.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like pain in the stomach and bowels, colic and diarrhoea require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned.
The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. J. F. Gable, Pastor.

The Ray-Martin revival meeting which was begun at the church on last Sunday has been moved to the court house on account of the large crowds which could not be accommodated.
Rev. W. J. Ray, the preacher, is digging deep into the hearts and consciences of men and women, and is laying foundations for real Christlike character.

It is considered fortunate that the meeting is going on just at this time as political strife is quite warm, and some personal enmities have been engendered. The prayer of the church people is that God will work His miracle of conversion in the hearts of many who are prominent, and avert the more serious consequences which sometimes follow political recriminations. Clanton's good reputation is suffering some from newspaper notoriety. Personal enmities will not settle political issues.

Rev. Judson Martin, who is leading the singing, has a choir of about 20 voices, accompanied by two pianos, a violin and a cornet. The music is inspiring, and he sings an uplifting solo at each service. Increasing congregations are attending the services and soon only standing room will be left.
It is hoped that the meeting will be continued until a genuine revival of religion is apparent.

COAL CONSUMERS MUST BUY WINTER SUPPLY NOW

Consumers must buy their winter supply of coal during the Spring and Summer for storage if production is to be maintained at a maximum and the country enabled to avoid a serious coal shortage this winter.

Chronic Constipation.

Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits and take lots of outdoor exercise, you may be able eventually to overcome
it entirely. In the meantime use the most mild and gentle laxatives.
Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are easy and pleasant to take, and most agreeable in effect.
Give them a trial.

The Joy Of Coming Motherhood

A Wonderful Remedy That is a Natural Aid and Relieves the Tension.

The expectant mother revolves in her mind all we understand by destiny. And it is of the utmost importance that her physical comfort be our first thought.

There is a most splendid remedy for this purpose, known as Mother's Friend. It is applied over the muscles of the stomach, gently rubbed in, and at once penetrates to relieve strain on nerves, cords and ligaments. It makes the muscles so pliant that they expand easily when baby arrives and pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less.

Mother's Friend is for external use only.
It is absolutely safe and wonderfully effective.
It enables the expectant mother to preserve her health and strength and she remains a pretty mother by having avoided the suffering and danger which would otherwise accompany such an occasion. Every nerve muscle and tendon is thoroughly lubricated.

Mother's Friend is prepared by the Bradfield Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. They will mail you an intensely interesting "Motherhood Book." Write them to send it to you, and in the meantime send or phone to your druggist today for a bottle of Mother's Friend.

Every woman should aid nature in her glorious work. Mother's Friend makes it possible for you to do so, and should be used regularly, without fail, night and morning.

RESULTS SHOWN OF MANY TESTS OF CORN AS MADE AT AUBURN

Variety tests of corn at Auburn covering a period of twenty-two years show that some varieties lead or are among the leaders every year. These leading varieties are not the very early nor the extremely late ones; they are intermediate, requiring from one hundred thirty to one hundred forty five days from date of planting to time of fully ripening.

The type of plant is closely related to yield. When the varieties are classified into groups according to the number of ears per plant, it is noticed that the group having a tendency to produce two or more ears per plant leads in production and that it is followed closely by a medium prolific group and less closely by the non-prolific group.

The relative number of ears and nubbins that a variety produces is largely an inherent character of the variety, but it may depend upon the seasons, fertility of the land and other factors. In the eleven years that Marlboro was tested, it never grew ear and nubbins so large that it did not require one hundred thirty-eight or more to shell a bushel of grain. On the other hand, Shaw, a large ear variety, never produced ears and nubbins so small that it required over one hundred ten to shell a bushel.

Averaging the average yields of the prolific, medium prolific, and non-prolific varieties of each year, grown at the Alabama Experiment Station covering a period of eleven years, the prolific varieties yielded thirty-four bushels, medium prolific 33.1 bushels, and non-prolific 31.6 bushels per acre.

The large ear varieties have a large er per cent. of cob and husk than most prolific varieties. The average percent of grain on shucked ears and nubbins is about 82. Many of the prolific or medium prolific like Mosby, Hastings, Sanders, Alexander, Whatley, etc., have 85 percent. of grain or more, while some of the large ear varieties have less than 80.

The question is often asked, "What is the best variety to plant?" In the table of yields covering eleven years, it is noticed that the leading variety
one year may not lead the next year, because conditions favorable for it may not prevail. However, those varieties that have led or have been among the leaders a number of years can be recommended.

Among the most productive varieties of each eleven years, in the Alabama Experiment Station tests, Hastings and Mosby each were included six times; Sanders and Alexander prolific each five times; Unimproved Henry Grady three times; Weekley, Garrie, and Improved Henry Grady each two times; and Stone, Shaw, Davis
Poor Land, Jackson Red Cob, Coker E1, and McGregor each one time. Results of these tests are being published in bulletin No. 200 of the Alabama Experiment Station.

Don't Let Catarrh Drag You into Consumption

Avoid Its Dangerous Stage.

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and the hawking and spitting and other distasteful features. The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and removes the germs of the disease from the blood. Get a bottle from your druggist today, and begin the only logical treatment that gives real results. You can obtain special medical advice without charge by writing to Medical Director, 27 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.—Mrs. Minnie Phillips, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days. I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go. I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle. I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

NOW WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Gives Her Another Grand Opportunity—Secretary McAdoo's Message to the Patriotic People of State.

Alabama has jumped to the forefront in war activities. In the Third Liberty Loan drive she was a leader among the states in the sixth federal reserve district. In the second Red Cross war fund campaign she gave approximately a million dollars more than her quota of $450,000. Certainly, the citizens of Alabama should feel proud of these records, which show that the state is awake to the war.

The next opportunity Alabama will have to make a record for patriotism is in the great drive for War Savings Stamps, which has begun and will culminate on the 28th day of June in thousands of patriotic gatherings in every state. This drive in Alabama has been very carefully planned by Crawford Johnson, State War Savings Director, and the County Directors and there is no doubt that it will be a splendid success, as the people of the state recognize the War Savings campaign as one of the greatest and most far-reaching of all war activities.

The idea of the drive is to get every citizen to pledge himself or herself to purchase at different periods all during the year 1918, a specific amount of War Savings Stamps. The United States government is calling upon everybody to do this. Read this message from the Secretary of the Treasury and do your duty:

A Message From Secretary McAdoo. Secretary McAdoo has authorized the following statement:

"It is essential that the American people economize and save in order to make available to their Government the money indispensably needed for the war and to release supplies and labor required for the production of things necessary for our own military forces and for the military forces of the nations associated with us. One of the best methods of bringing about this result is for everyone to pledge himself to economize and save and to purchase, at definite periods, a specific amount of War Savings Stamps, thus giving concrete evidence of his support of the practice of War Savings."

"To achieve this object there will be conducted, under the direction of the Treasury Department, and with the strong endorsement of President Wilson, a campaign for pledges, culminating on June 28th, when loyal Americans throughout the country will be asked to commit themselves to this program."

"The progress of the war demands constant and increasing sacrifices. We are sending our young manhood to represent us on foreign battlefields, where they are called upon to sacrifice not only their personal comfort and material interests but their lives as well. It is appropriate, therefore, for the American people who are privileged to remain in safety and comfort at home to consider their sacred obligation to support our gallant men and to pledge themselves earnestly to save and economize in order that our soldiers and sailors may have the food and clothing and the arms and ammunition without which they cannot fight."

"To the end that this intensive campaign may be most effective, I earnestly bespeak the co-operation of all the organizations and institutions of the nation which, through their influence and active support, can further this work. It is desirable that the attention of the entire people be centered on their obligation to pledge the Government this kind of support for the winning of the war, and with this object in view, that June 28, 1918, be observed as a National War Savings Day."

"With adequate preparation for a National War Savings Day on June 28th, I am sure that the American people will be glad to participate and to pledge themselves to become war savers, thereby giving concrete evidence of their devotion to their country."

A PATRIOTIC SCHOOL.

From Huntsville comes the report to State Director Crawford Johnson of the War Savings committee that $20,000 worth of Baby Bonds were bought by the school children out of an enrollment of 1,600 pupils. In sending in his report, Superintendent R. C. Johnson of the Huntsville school writes:

"If I do say it, we have done more than we have talked; and I am hoping to pass this little word along, because the children and teachers who have worked so zealously deserve some recognition of this spirit of patriotism."

TUSCALOOSA LEADS.

Tuscaloosa city ranks first, and Tuscaloosa county second among the cities and counties in Alabama in the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps to April 6th, according to figures recently made public at a conference of county directors in Birmingham, which was attended by Mr. J. T. Horne, director for this county.

The per capita subscription of Birmingham, Tuscaloosa's nearest competitor in the State, was $2.04, while that of Tuscaloosa was a little over $6; or three times as great. The other cities of the state are even farther behind Tuscaloosa's fast pace.

The total subscription of Jefferson County on April 6 were $270,620 or $1.18 per capita. The total subscriptions of Tuscaloosa County, which was second to Jefferson, were $52,057, or $1.10 per capita of population for the county.—Tuscaloosa News.

Food Facts

NEWS OF THE WEEK

From State Food Administration

MONTGOMERY, ALA.

HOOVER'S LATEST APPEAL.

Everyone should carefully think over this message which the ministers read to their congregations all over the United States last week.

Washington, D. C., May 15, 1918.

"Dear Sir: The confidence of the United States Food Administration that the people of the country would respond enthusiastically and wholeheartedly, upon presentation of the facts, to any necessary requests for reduction in consumption of food has been fully justified. We have demonstrated our ability not only to think together but to act together. This response of the people is the reason for the present appeal."

"Our work is not yet complete. In spite of the encouraging results of our efforts, in spite of the fact that our exports of foodstuffs are constantly increasing and are approaching the minimum requirements abroad, the need for renewed devotion and effort is pressing. While all of the requirements of the Food Administration should be constantly observed, there are certain matters which I desire to stress at this time."

"In the case of meat and meat products, the necessities for shipment abroad are very great. Whereas the allied consumption has been reduced to an average of about one and one-quarter pounds per person per week, we are today enjoying an average of about three and one-quarter pounds per person per week. This division is inequitable. An understanding of these facts will justify our request that the consumption of all meats, including poultry, as nearly as possible, be reduced to two pounds per week per person over four years of age."

"In the case of sugar, we are embarrassed by the necessity of using ships for carrying our soldiers and feeding the allies and in consequence we must use sugar with great economy. We must emphasize the importance of canning and preserving on a large scale among our people this summer and our available sugar must be conserved for this purpose."

"But the situation with regard to wheat is the most serious in the food supply of the allied world. If we are to satisfy the minimum wheat requirement of our armies and the allies and the suffering millions in the allied countries, our consumption of wheat in the United States until the next harvest must be reduced to approximately one-third of normal. It is inconceivable that we should fail in this crisis. For each of us who can personally contribute to the relief of human suffering, it is a privilege, not a sacrifice. All elements of our population cannot bear this burden equally. Those engaged in physical labor need a larger bread ration than those in sedentary occupations. Because of the constant daily employment of women and the lack of home baking facilities, many households in urban centers require a food ration already prepared, such as the bakers' standard Victory Bread loaf. Furthermore, we must constantly safeguard the special requirements of children and invalids."

"To meet the situation abroad and to prevent serious suffering at home, it is imperative that all those whose circumstances permit shall abstain from wheat and wheat products in any form until the next harvest. It is realized and deeply appreciated that many organizations and some communities have already agreed to follow this plan."

"It is hoped that you will communicate this to your organization and your community, urging those whose circumstances will permit to join with us and take this stand."

(Signed) "HERBERT HOOVER." The Agricultural Department, Washington, publishes a free pamphlet, "Canning Vegetables in the Home," which will prepare you this summer to prevent food shortage next winter. Write for it.

WHAT ENGLAND IS DOING.

Further restrictions against the use of meat have been put in force in England, according to word received by the United States Food Administration. Only two coupons for butcher's meat can be used per week, instead of three as has been done since the country was rationed and the distribution put under the card system.

Another coupon may be used, but only for bacon, fowl or other food not classified as butcher's meat. Four coupons are included on each card. As originally planned, three of them could be used for butcher's meat, each entitling the holder to a ten-cent purchase, while the fourth was for meats under other classifications. The new restrictions, however, cancel one of the cards. One may still be used for fowl, rabbit, venison, horseflesh, etc., while only two may be used for beef, pork, mutton and other meats of that character.

The British meat shortage is being felt more severely than at any time since the war started. That the shortage is not confined to meats, however, is shown by the fact that effective control of the milk supply is already being considered in order to meet a possible greater shortage later in the year and that some sections of English labor are favoring extensions of the compulsory rationing system to bread, cheese and tea.

IGNORANCE OF THE LAW NO EXCUSE.

Ignorance of the law is no excuse for violations of the Food Control Act or rules and regulations promulgated in pursuance of it. It is the duty of dealers to inform themselves immediately of all regulations and to comply with them without official notice. No plea of failure to receive official notification of any regulation or ignorance of the law will be received.

Take Care of Your Tires

America's greatest need is for ships—more ships.

Every available vessel is being utilized in government service.

Many ships that have been carrying rubber from Sumatra and Brazil have been taken for active transport duty. The number now left to bring rubber to this country is extremely limited.

This will necessarily force a temporary curtailment of tire production.

So, make the most of the tires you have.

Use good tires.

Take good care of them. Keep them in perfect repair. See that they are properly inflated.

Increase their mileage by careful driving. Keep out of car tracks and away from bumps. Don't scrape the curb or apply brakes too suddenly.

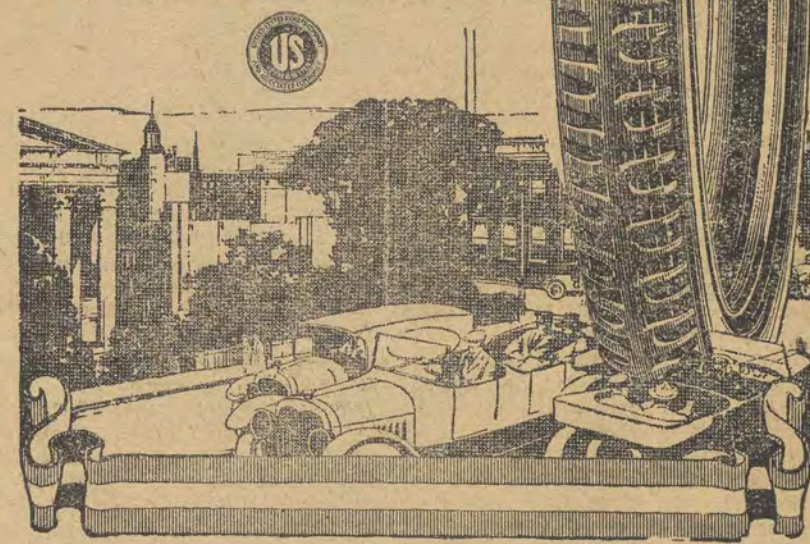

Get every mile your tires have in them.

Only in that way can you be assured of your car's continuous service—and remember, your tire is a vital war-time necessity.

So again,

—take care of your tires.

United States Tires are Good Tires

The Till Boll Weevil Catcher

From the information we have on the merit of the Till Boll Weevil Catcher we are convinced that if the farmers will begin using them when cotton is five or six inches high and continue until the plant is too large to pass through the Catcher, and go over the crop at least once every ten days, cotton can be grown successfully and profitably. It is estimated that one man using a Catcher can destroy more Weevils in the same length of time than twenty men can destroy picking the weevils off by hand.

We have only a very few and if you expect to buy one, please write or phone us at once so we can get more of them from the factory by the time they are needed.

The price is $7.50, and judging by the experience of farmers in other sections you can double the yield of cotton by using them as directed.

GERMANS START NEW OFFENSIVE

MAKE INITIAL GAINS ALONG A TWENTY-MILE FRONT BUT FRENCH STOP THEM.

AMERICAN LIST REACHES 7315

U-Boat Sinks Pinar del Rio Off Maryland Coast — German Escaped Prison in North Alabama.

London.—The plight of the Germans at the Belgian submarine base of Zeebrugge, in consequence of the measures taken by the British navy to blockade the port, is even more serious than has been believed heretofore. Photographs just taken from airplanes show that the entrance to the harbor is rapidly silting up, and that accordingly the British effort to close the channel is being reinforced by nature.

London.—A Belfast steamship, torpedoed at night by a German submarine while bound from England, has reached an Irish port, badly damaged. Three of the crew were killed by the explosion of the torpedo. No fewer than four torpedoes were discharged by the submarine. The vessel was maneuvered so adroitly, however, that three of them missed their mark.

Washington.—Casualties among the American expeditionary forces thus far reported by General Pershing, total 7315, the war department announced. Deaths in action, and from wounds, diseases, accidents and all other causes number 2927, while 4046 are missing in action, including men held prisoners in Germany.

With the American Army.—While the Americans in the Montdidier region were subjected to a heavy bombardment no infantry attack against them developed during the first phase of the new battle. The Americans are waiting and ready for whatever may happen. They will resist to the utmost any onslaught against the front they are defending.

London.—That battles can be won in the end only by the army which takes the offensive is the significant declaration made by General Foch, commander-in-chief of the allies, in an article in which he discusses the problem of the soldier and the way to victory.

Paris.—The official announcement that another phase of the German offensive was opened was interpreted by the public as having a hopeful aspect. The point was made that the latest attack is on a front of only 15 to 18 miles, compared with a front of 50 miles for the first offensive this year on March 21, and of 25 miles for the attack along the Aisne on May 27. This is regarded as an indication of diminution of the power of the attacking masses.

Washington.—The American steamer Pinar Del Rio was sunk by a German submarine 70 miles off the coast of Maryland. One of her boats with the captain and 17 members of the crew is missing; another with 16 men has landed on the Virginia coast.

A brief dispatch to the navy department announcing the sinking did not say whether the ship was shelled or torpedoed. Hope is held that the missing boat either has been picked up by some passing vessel or will turn up at some point along the coast. The Pinar Del Rio was a freighter of 2504 gross tonnage and it is assumed here she was in the coastwise or West Indian trade.

Paris.—In a new thrust, directed at the sector between Montdidier and Noyon, the Germans have succeeded in gaining ground along about a 20-mile front to a depth of about two and a half miles at certain points. The fighting was very heavy and the French offered a powerful resistance to the multiplied efforts of the enemy and finally succeeded in checking the advance, particularly on the two wings.

St. Louis.—Mordecai L. Moses, 76 years old, former mayor of Montgomery, died here. Moses was elected mayor of Montgomery in 1876.

Washington.—Ray Rushton of Montgomery, has been appointed federal director of the public service reserve of Alabama.

Gadsden.—Mrs. G. H. Mathis, Gadsden's woman farmer, will take the platform for the Redpath Chautauqua.

Athens.—The eleventh annual session of the North Alabama conference, Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, convened at Athens College Monday night.

Oneonta.—T. B. Russell, one of the most prominent attorneys of this city was carried to Birmingham to face charges of "attempting to cause insubordination and disloyalty."

DRIFT OF POLITICS

(From the National Republican.)

"There is no question about the Republicans winning a victory in West Virginia this year," observed Clarence C. Hood, a lawyer of that state, at the Raleigh. "If there had been any doubt, it was removed when former Senator Clarence Watson announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for senator to succeed Senator Goff. Until Major Watson announced his candidacy former senator Chilton had no opposition for the Democratic nomination, and had he been permitted to run unopposed the Democrats would have been united in the election. Now, however, the fight between Watson and Chilton is sure to produce intense rivalry, which will in all probability lead to factional differences, with the result that when the election comes there will not be the united front to oppose the Republicans that there would have been had Chilton won without a fight. I am not in the confidence of the Democrats, but it is my judgment that Watson will win the nomination."

Col. Roosevelt has adopted a policy of hands off in the fight which Merion E. Lewis, attorney-general of New York, is waging against Gov. Whitman for the Republican nomination for the governorship in the September primaries. "I am taking no part in any local contest," the Colonel told in the New York Sun, when asked concerning his attitude toward the Lewis candidacy on his return from his western trip. The war, Mr. Roosevelt said, was engrossing his attention at present to the exclusion of pretty much everything else.

In the Illinois senatorial campaign, three men are now candidates for the Republican nomination. Representative George E. Foss of the Tenth Illinois District, has entered the contest against Medill McCormick, at present congressman-at-large, and Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago.

The Republicans are going to make great gains all through the west in the congressional elections, according to Col. Archie M. Stevenson, Republican leader of Colorado, prominent in numerous national conventions and other Republican gatherings, recently at the Willard. Col. Stevenson made a trip through the west, going as far as California. In his opinion the Republicans will control the next House of Representatives. "In many of the western states the Republicans will elect Republicans where Democrats now occupy seats in Congress," said Col. Stevenson.

"If the voters of 'Uncle Joe' Cannon's Congressional District could have their way, they would send him back to congress without opposition of any sort," remarked J. O. Wright, a lawyer of that section of Illinois, a few days ago at the Willard. "I mean to say that the Democratic opposition to the former Speaker is so slight that it is probable that Democratic organization would fail to name any candidate against him. But under the Illinois primary law the name of a Republican cannot go on the Democratic ballots, and the Democrats will have to put up somebody."

The wife of Sheriff Harris continues seriously ill this week.

Mr. E. M. Pinecard, former Mayor of Clanton, is at his home here this week spending his summer vacation. Mr. Pinecard is now a traveling salesman in the State of Texas.

A MOST PATRIOTIC DONATION TO THE RED CROSS WAR FUND

Judge Reynolds is in receipt of a donation to the Red Cross that appears to carry with it the purest patriotic motives. We do not question the utmost patriotism of all donations that have been made to the Red Cross; but knowing as we do the circumstances surrounding this incident, it seems that none represents a greater patriotism. The following letter to Judge Reynolds accompanied the donation:

Judge L. H. Reynolds:—Will you give to the Red Cross this money for me? There is no one up here to represent the Red Cross, so I am sending it to you to deliver for me. Please do this and I will be thankful. I send $1.00 for J. C. Prim, $1.25 for M. J. Prim, and $1.00 for Alma Rayborn.

Respectfully,
Mrs. M. J. PRIM.

Randolph, Ala., June 8, 1918.

Judge Reynolds makes the following reply to Mrs. Prim:

Clanton, Ala., June 11, 1918.
Mrs. M. J. Prim, Randolph, Ala.
Dear Mrs. Prim:

I have received your post office money order for $3.25 for the Red Cross and I am sending it to Mr. H. B. Oliver, Verbena, Ala., Treasurer for the county and asking him to send you a receipt for the money.

I want to congratulate you on this donation and I believe it is the most patriotic donation to the cause that has been made and I hope that this $3.25 will be the means of relieving some poor, wounded boy in France. I wish all our people would do their duty as I feel like you have.

Yours very truly,

L. H. REYNOLDS.

REV. RAY PREACHED AT SOLDIERS' HOME

The evangelist, Rev. W. J. Ray, and his singer assistant, Rev. Judson Martin, who have been conducting revival services in Clanton for the past two weeks, went down to the Soldiers Home at Mountain Creek Wednesday afternoon to render special services for the benefit of the old veterans. A large number of people from Clanton accompanied the preachers, several automobiles being employed to make the trip. It was a rare treat for the old soldiers to have an opportunity to hear such a splendid preacher.

ADDITIONAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO ARMY RED CROSS FUND

Since last report, I have received donations to the Red Cross War Fund amounting to $74.05. Of this $51.15 represents "Little Sand Mountain," Mrs. Stella Shoults and Mrs. Ida Walker, Local Chairman, Lawley, Ala. $22.90 of these collections from sundry parties, payment on pledges and direct donations.

In the Midway report some time ago, $2.00 of the amount credited to S. B. Powell should have been Charles Cooper and Lewis Dennis $1.00 each. I can not ask our county papers to furnish space from week to week giving list of contributors—those paying on pledges or otherwise. I shall keep a record, however, that is open to all interested.

Yours truly,

H. B. OLIVER.

Squire J. J. McDowell of Route 2 was in Clanton Saturday. He called at our office and gave the Editor a nice lot of fine red June apples. We thank our good old friend for remembering us and invite him to call again.

POPWELL WANTS MIDDLETON FOR CO. REPRESENTATIVE

Clanton, Ala., June 8, 1918.
Editor Union-Banner:—

I have observed what has been said in your paper in regard to sending Hon. J. Osmond Middleton to the Legislature from this County. As I am so favorably impressed with the idea, I wish to add my public endorsement to the proposition.

I regard Mr. Middleton as worthy and well qualified for the place. He is a tried and true friend of the people of Chilton County, and I believe we could safely trust the affairs of Chilton County in the State Legislature in the hands of Mr. Middleton. Respectfully,
E. C. POPWELL.

NEGRO BOY KILLED BY TRAIN

Last Saturday just after noon Homer Williams, a negro youth about 12 years old, was killed by a railroad car at the crossing of the Main Street in Clanton. The boy was riding in Mr. Potts' auto delivery car, which was being driven by Mr. Potts himself. As the crossing was reached, a car on the switch was approaching the crossing. The driver intended to cross ahead of the car, and did without any danger, but the negro thought the cars were going to collide and jumped from the auto. He landed on the railroad track. Before he could get out of the way the heavy railroad car had passed over his body. He lived only a few minutes after the occurrence. Had the boy stayed in the car with Mr. Potts, he would not have been hurt.

IMPORTANT NOTICE! JUNE 28, 1918 PROCLAIMED National War Savings Day

President Wilson Calls Upon Loyal Americans To Pledge
Themselves To Save and Invest in War Savings
Stamps To The Limit of Their Ability
On Or Before June 28.

THE GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA ISSUES HIS PROCLAMATION
NAMING JUNE 28 AS NATIONAL WAR SAVINGS
DAY IN THIS STATE

Meetings Will Be Held In Every Community On That Day To Secure Pledges To Buy War Savings Stamps.

Pursuant to the appeal of the President of the United States, the call of the Secretary of the Treasury and the proclamation of the Governor of this State, I, War Savings Director for Alabama, acting under the authority of the United States Treasury Department, have called all tax payers and wage earners to meet on Friday, June 28, to pledge themselves to buy War Savings Stamps. In rural communities and the smaller towns and cities, meetings will be held in the school houses at 2 p. m.

The school officers will conduct the meeting in each school house, keeping a record of the proceedings and reporting the names of all persons present and the amount of War Savings Stamps subscribed for by them. The names of absent persons, and those who refuse or neglect to subscribe, with their reasons for so doing, will also be reported.

War Savings Stamps (which are United States Government Bonds the same as Liberty Bonds), can be paid for during any month in the year 1918, but it is intended that subscriptions will be signed for them on June 28.

The price of each War Savings Stamp depends upon the month during which it is bought. During June each Stamp will cost $4.17. In July each Stamp will cost $4.18, and so on, one cent more each month during 1918. On January 1, 1923, the Government of the United States will redeem all War Savings Stamps at $5.00 each, no matter during which month in 1918 they were bought. They cost less during the early months in 1918 than during the later months because the person who buys earlier has loaned his money to the Government for a longer time than if he should buy later.

By way of illustration, note the following table:

Cost of War Savings Stamps During June, July and August, 1918.	Cost in		Cost in and Are Worth
	June	July	August	on Jan. 1, 1923
1 Stamp.....	$4.17	$4.18	$4.19	$5.00
20 Stamps.....	$83.40	$83.60	$83.80	100.00
50 Stamps.....	208.50	209.00	209.50	250.00
100 Stamps.....	417.00	418.00	419.00	500.00
200 Stamps.....	834.00	836.00	838.00	1,000.00

The law provides that no person can hold in his own name War Savings Stamps exceeding $1,000 maturity value. War Savings Stamps, however, may be purchased for other members of the family, including minor children.

The money invested in War Savings Stamps is not a gift, or a donation, but is a loan to the Government. It will all be paid back with 4 per cent. compound interest. If, because of some serious financial reverses, or calamity, it should be necessary to get your money before January 1, 1923, you may do so by giving ten days' notice to any Money Order postmaster, in which case you can get what you paid for the Stamps, with interest to date of payment. The Stamps are free from all State and local taxes; when registered at the postoffice they are insured against loss; they are backed by all the property in the United States; they cannot fall in value below the price you pay; they are as convenient and as well paying an investment as has ever been offered by our Government.

A definite quota of War Savings Stamps has been assigned each school district and community, which will be announced at each meeting on June 28th. The Government of the United States expects all the citizens of every school district and county to subscribe for its quota and to pledge themselves to save and economize to help win the war.

It is to be hoped that the subscriptions taken at the meetings in your county will show you and your neighbors to be loyal Americans to whom our Government, in this hour of need, does not call in vain.

CRAWFORD JOHNSON.

Alabama War Savings Director appointed and acting under the authority of the Secretary of the United States Treasury.

WADE'S FARM LETTER CORN CHEAP AND MEAL HIGH

Something is radically wrong between the corn crib and the kitchen. Corn is quoted on the markets in Alabama at one dollar and thirty to one dollar and fifty cents per bushel and hundreds of farmers have corn for sale who are unable to get buyers at these prices. At the same time meal is being sold at retail in Montgomery and other cities as high as seven cents per pound, which is at a rate of three dollars and thirty-six cents per bushel.

The customary price for milling has always been eight pounds of corn of the difference between the weight of a bushel of corn and a bushel of meal plus the cost of the sacks. We are informed that some commercial millers in the state are buying corn at one dollar and fifty cents per bushel or less and selling the meal at two dollars per bushel. If the value of the toll is added to a profit of fifty cents when the total mill profit is eight cents per bushel less the cost of sacks, to make the situation still worse, it appears that dealers in the cities are another dollar per bushel for their profit for selling the meal in six and twelve pound paper bags. These conditions and figures vary to some extent when applied to different communities, but in some communities and in most of the cities they are approximately correct.

In view of the fact that we are forced by federal law for patriotic purposes to eat corn bread, which is absolutely right that we should, and in view of the fact that Alabama has a bounteous supply of corn to feed her people until the new harvest, the consuming public should demand of the authorities, whose duty it is to administer the law, that this gross profiteering on meal be stopped. The toll is sufficient profit for milling corn. Twenty cents per bushel for sacking and ten to twenty per cent is enough for retail profits. On this basis, the retail price of meal should not exceed fifty to fifty-five cents per peck or two dollars and twenty cents per bushel.

I have talked to the U. S. Food Administrator for Alabama, who assures me that he is heartily in favor of any movement to stop speculation in bread material and to reduce the enormous margin between the price of corn and the price of meal. I have discussed the matter with several county food administrators and find that the prices of meal vary from the exchange of a bushel of meal for a bushel of corn as practiced by the small rural mills under an agreement with the food administration to seven cents a pound or at the rate of three dollars and thirty-six cents per bushel in some of the cities. The county food administrators in these localities were consulted and stated that commercial meal was being purchased by wholesalers at three dollars and eighty-five cents per hundred pounds. They assert that they have no knowledge of retailers selling at a rate equivalent to seven dollars per hundred pounds. They have no way of finding it out unless the people who are made to pay these prices would report it to them. This, they should do, if they want protection. The fact that these charges do exist is evidenced by a score of charge tickets now in our possession which were picked up from residences by inspection of this department.

We are not after persecuting anyone. Our contention in this matter is purely to raise the price of corn or lower the price of meal in the interest of the stomachs and purses of the common people with whose loyalty and help we must win the war. I know of no speculation that approaches nearer to crime, than to exact excess profits from the bread of a patriotic people who are bending every energy and making every sacrifice to help the government win the struggle for democratic liberties and world freedom. Let the people demand that the laws regulating profiteers be rigidly applied to the Kaiser's allies who speculate on the bread of sacrificing patriots.

J. A. WADE.

PRESIDENT BUYS ALABAMA BULL

ANIMAL AND AUTOGRAPHED BILL TO BE RESOLD FOR RED CROSS BENEFIT.

TRANSMISSION LINE FINISHED

Military Police Get Results in Keeping Montgomery Dry—Will Mine Coal Under Carbon Hill.

Birmingham.—President Wilson purchased the grand champion Red Cross bull to be auctioned off here July 2, and immediately autographed the dollar bill he paid for it and mailed it. The grand champion bull and the dollar bill will both be sold at auction. The act of the President, it is believed, will give impetus to an event that is already assuming national importance, and result in bringing to Birmingham for that event a large number of breeders of thoroughbred cattle from all over the country.

Sheffield.—The 90 miles of transmission lines from the power plants of the Alabama Power Company in Walker County, which have been in the course of construction for the past several months to be used by the government nitrate plants, are completed. These lines have been built on H-frame structures and will have a carrying capacity of 110,000 volt. With the completion of this line, the first step in the elaborate government program for the Muscle Shoals developments has been taken, and having completed the line the power company is now building a 30,000 kilowatt extension to the Warrior River reserve steam plant, thus establishing a second terminal, which is to be completed by October.

Montgomery.—The Alabama Supreme Court affirmed the dissolution of the temporary injunction granted by the Circuit Court of Walker County to the town of Carbon Hill against B. D. Leith. The town filed a bill to enjoin Leith from mining and removing coal from under the streets and alleys of the town. The Supreme Court, in affirming the decision, said that there was no evidence to show that the streets and alleys were caving in as alleged. The effect of the decision is to give Leith the right to proceed with the mining of coal.

Birmingham.—Coal production in Alabama is steadily falling behind the figures of last year, and unless there is a decided change in conditions and before it is too late, not only will the expected increase over the figures of 1917 fail to materialize, but there will be a loss in the total output for 1918, compared with 1917 figures. Various causes are being given for the loss in production, the principal one being the loss of time by a large number of mine employees during the last two and even three days of each week.

Montgomery.—The effectiveness of military police in enforcing federal, state and city laws has been illustrated in the United States Court here, where more than a score of prohibition cases, "made" by the military authorities have been tried and convictions obtained.

Anniston.—Major Raymond De Cernowitz and Lieutenants Pierson, Legraucher and Deyen, Adjutant De Remunson and Sergeants Siminiet and Smadry, members of the French military mission who have been stationed at Camp McClellan as instructors for the men of the Blue and Gray Division for the past several months, have been recalled by their governments leave shortly.

Montgomery.—Allotments of local boards of Alabama for 205 men who will be sent to the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for training and 144 men who will be sent to Baton Rouge, La., for training June 15, were completed by the state military department.

Greenville.—Joe Gibson was instantly killed by lightning and his four brothers were struck by the same bolt and slightly injured. The five were ploughing when a rain came up and they left their ploughs and went to a cotton shed nearby, and here the fatal bolt struck.

Tuscaloosa.—Relatives have received information from the navy department that John Paul Jones, former baseball and football star at the University of Alabama, and a practicing attorney at Birmingham before the war, is in a navy hospital at Brooklyn, suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Sheffield.—United States government officials in conjunction with the city officials of the tri-cities of Sheffield, Florence and Tuscumbia, are initiating drastic measures in these towns as a means of checking and protection against the operation of enemy aliens in this district. Registration is now required of all new comers.

It may be something of significance that a Roman Catholic leader of Germany has been elected to the head of the Reichstag.

About the only ones we have heard express any doubt as to the lasting influence of the revival in Clanton is someone who did not attend it.

One or two young fellows in Clanton seem to think that the Main Street of the Town is intended for use as a race track on Sunday. They at least make that kind of use of it.
Where is the speed limit ordinance?

It don't do any good to circulate such lies about a republican officer as the one circulated about Sheriff Harris of Chilton County. There are too many good, honest Democrats in Alabama to let such a filthy, dirty slandorous lie go by. Such tactics smell bad in the nostrils of an honest man, be he Democrat or Republican.
—Collinsville Courier.

The Collinsville Courier makes some observations in regard to the recent rumors about the Sheriff of Chilton County. We print what the Courier says in another place in this paper, and wish to commend what is said as being the truth of the whole matter.
The Courier Editor believes in telling people about their meanness, and that is a mighty good thing.

Many people in Chilton County who came here from Coosa are interested in what has been said in newspapers recently in comparison of Coosa county citizens with citizens of other counties. It is an argument that seems to us worthless and unfounded. There is not enough difference in the people of Coosa and other counties to even be noticed. So, what's the use to waste columns of space trying to prove that which in itself is evident to anyone who can see daylight.

The nation has been at war with Germany for more than a year, and in all that time not one single thing that Theodore Roosevelt has said or done has been a help to the Government or to the nation's prestige or to its war-making.—Anniston Star.

No, not a single thing; he only has five sons in the trenches and would be there himself had not politics been in his way. You fellows can howl and rage at Teddy; you can growl and gnash your teeth; you may throw all the mud at him you can get your hooks on, but when a man gives five sons to fight for his country and offers his own body as a target for German bullets, all the growling and mud-slinging you and all the rest of your bunch can do, will have just about as much effect on him, or his reputation and character as the gentle evening zephyr does when wafted against the face of Lookout Mountain.
You will hear from your Uncle Teddy again, one of these days.—Collinsville Courier.

WILL THEY STICK?

The work of Rev. Ray in Clanton for the past few days has brought about some very desirable effects.
It has brought some of us to a realization of the desperate course we have been pursuing, and has caused bitter enemies to lay aside their differences and reconcile themselves like men.

We hear some who look askance at what has been done, asking "Do you reckon they mean it? Do you reckon they will stick to what they have done and said?"

As for us, we want to say that we believe what has been done was accomplished through Mr. Ray as the agent of the Almighty God to save our town and county from a shameful calamity. And what God hath joined together, let not man put asunder!

It takes MEN to do what has been done by some in Clanton in the last week, and we believe, God helping them, to be men enough to do what they have done, he will help them to be men enough in future to live according to their actions of the recent past.

THE PEOPLE OF COOSA COUNTY

The Editor of the Rockford Chronicle last week indulged in a long laborious effort to prove that the people of Coosa County are as good and intelligent as the people of any other county. To us it seems that his efforts were entirely wasted; for knowing the people of our neighbor county across the river as we do, we do not feel it at all necessary to employ any course of reasoning to determine their good qualities. Anyone who has ever been among them can readily observe that they are equal to any people in the state in intelligence and those qualities of cleverness that constitute a highly desirable element of citizenship.

There are in Chilton County many people who came here from Coosa County, and we say without any hesitation that they are as good citizens as we have in our domain.

The Chronicle reflects to some extent on the accredited assertions of Sheriff Harris regarding the people of the county. Now, Sheriff Harris himself is a man who came here from Coosa. He is well acquainted with the people of that county, and we are sure he knows and recognizes that the citizenship of Coosa is as creditable in every way as that of any other county.

What the Chronicle should remember is the fact that those daily newspapers which so recklessly fanned the flames of rumor in connection with this whole matter concerning Sheriff Harris, indulged for too extensively in coloring the situation. They misrepresented Sheriff Harris in every phase of the situation, and they misrepresented that part of the occurrence relating to the Coosa County situation. Sheriff Harris knows the people of Coosa as a whole are not to be classed as the papers gave him credit for classing them. What he said applies to only a small element that is in the county. We have Sheriff Harris's word that he did not make the statements that were broadly applied through the daily papers.

One day last week the Birmingham newspapers contained a long article telling of the arrest of the Sheriff of Chilton County by Government authorities, for incompetency, irregularities while acting as chairman of the Chilton County Exemption Board, protecting slackers, deserters, etc. The next day these same papers admitted that the whole was a lie. At the time the dirty lie was printed, Sheriff Harris was in the interior of the county chasing slackers and deserters. The explanation of the whole thing is that Sheriff Harris is a republican, and the action is on par with that of the De-Kalb County Grand Jury that indicted Sheriff Hixon for a jail delivery, although every one of his predecessors since the new jail was built had had a jail delivery and the grand juries had not said a word. The whole secret is that Harris is a Republican and that Hixon was a Republican.— Collinsville Courier.

Reports from Montgomery state that the slacker situation in Chilton County is not as bad as was thought, and that the Sheriff of the county is not in collusion with any slackers and has not been arrested by the federal authorities. Rumor has been busy in the matter, and as usual, has made a great thing out of some few examples of slackness on the part of Chilton citizens.—Mobile Register.

It is a shame that newspapers will print any such dirty lies about a man as the one carried in last week's papers about the arrest of Mr. Harris, and had he not been a republican sheriff, they would have never been printed. What must the people think of a low-down, dirty skunk, who for political reasons would start such a tale?—Collinsville Courier.

ENDORSES MR. DUKE

Clanton, June 4, 1918.

Dear Editor:

I would like to say a few words in your paper in regard to Mr. A. D.
Duke as candidate for Commissioner of the Second District.

Mr. Duke is a quiet man and has not been in the county but a few years but has not offered his services to the public before. As he is a stranger to quite a number of our citizens and as I know him well, would like to say to the people of Chilton County that I have been knowing Mr. Duke all my life and never knew aught against him. He has been a quiet, peaceful and religious man ever since I can recollect. He is a man who has succeeded well with his home affairs and is a man who believes in economy, and I believe if the people were to elect him to the office, that he would look well into every thing that came before the body and cast his vote for the betterment of the county.

So, knowing Mr. Duke as I do, and all votes that are cast for him in the primary, I assure you, will be appreciated by him. G. H. MASSEY.

INTERNAL REVENUE LICENSE

Birmingham, Ala., 6-1-18.
Hon. H. A. Harris, Sheriff Chilton Co.
Clanton, Ala.,

Dear Sir:

The following U. S. Internal Revenue Licenses have been issued to your Chilton County, in the month of May, 1918: No U. S. Internal Revenue Licenses were issued to your county in May, 1918.

I hereby certify that I have carefully examined the record of the Collector of Internal Revenue and the above is complete and correct.

Yours very truly,

SAM P. JONES,

Sworn to and subscribed before me this first day of June, 1918.

J. B. Mosley, Notary Public.

LETTER FROM W. J. HENDERSON TO HIS FATHER AND MOTHER

A. E. F. via New York, May 12.
Dear Father and Mother:

Will write you all a letter this morning. This leaves me feeling fine.
Hope you all are well, and sure hope you have received the letters I have been sending you. I haven't received any mail since I came over here. I would be glad if I could hear from you all. I am sure I have some mail somewhere in France but we have been moving around so much since we came over that it is hard to keep track of us. I haven't received any money in almost three months but one doesn't need very much money over here.

We see but very little fruits and candy, but have lots of rain. I don't think we have very much summer in this part of the world; haven't seen any at all yet. We are getting plenty to eat at this camp. Hope we will get to stay here for we have never staid very long in a camp. All the work is much harder than usual, but I can give account of that for I have not done any work since I came over. I don't mind the work so long as I can get plenty to eat like we do here. I would like to tell you all about the different places I have been to and what all I have seen, but haven't time. Wonder if Sam has ever come over yet. When you answer this, be sure and let me know and I will try and locate him; although I hope he doesn't have to come. Mother, I know you will be glad to hear that I don't drink any, although we can get all kinds of strong drinks. I am not going to touch a drop. I am going to live a pure life while I am over here.

Mother, your prayers are guiding me, and I have a sweet little girl in Oklahoma that I expect to see some sweet day, and you can bet I am going to live a clean life. We have good preaching in the Y. M. C. A., and everything that will make a soldier enjoy life.

Well, I must close. Would like so much to be with you all today. Give my love to all. I hope to hear from you soon. Am sending you a little book to show you that we are observing mother's day in France.

So good bye to all.

W. J. Henderson,
19th Det. Engrs. R.Y., A. E. F., via N. Y.

DEATH OF FREDA PETERSON

People of Thorsby and vicinity were grieved to learn of the death of Miss Freda Peterson Friday morning, June 7th. The funeral services were held at the Congregational church on Sunday morning at 11:30 and burial took place in Oak Grove Cemetery.

Alfreda Charlotte Peterson was born in Thorsby June 19, 1900. Her home has been in Thorsby throughout her entire life. She became a member of the Congregational Church in September, 1916, and was a faithful member of the Christian Endeavor Society and the Queen Esther Class of the Sunday School. She was also a member of the Camp Fire Girls of Thorsby, to which organization she was especially devoted. Her companions in this organization acted as pall-bearers for her funeral. Her brothers, Herbert Peterson from Pratt-ville, and Clifford Peterson from Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich., and her sister, Mrs. Vera Peterson Hoskins from Birmingham, were present for the funeral. Her oldest brother, Arthur L. Peterson, a Sergeant in the Base Hospital unit No. 36, now is in France.

Her was a long struggle against disease, but through it all, in her own quiet way, she exercised a helpful influence, inspiring others to a more cheerful bearing on life's burdens.
The funeral was very largely attended and the casket was completely covered with floral tributes from her many friends.

Chronic Constipation.

Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits
and take lots of outdoor exercise, you
may be able eventually to overcome
it entirely. In the meantime use the most mild and gentle laxatives.
Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are easy and pleasant
to take, and most agreeable in effect.
Give them a trial.

OBITUARY

On last Wednesday night, June 5, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Billingsley of Mobile County, and took from them their darling little girl, Eunice.

Little Eunice was three years old.
She was sick only eight days with Colitis, when God called her to rest.
Little Eunice was a very sweet little girl.

Weep not dear ones, for she is resting.

THORSBY NOTES

Fred Carter, who is a sailor on the U. S. S. "Connecticut" and who has been across the Atlantic a couple of times, spent a few days last week with his parents in Thorsby.

Mr. Clifford Peterson, accompanied by his wife, reached Thorsby Sunday morning from Camp Custer, near Battle Creek, Mich., having been summoned by the death of his sister, Freda.

Rev. J. M. Graham, who is now engaged in Home Service Work for the American Red Cross, with headquarters at Fort Oglethorpe near Chattanooga, Tenn., was home for Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

With the closing of school there was a general exodus of teachers and students for their homes for the summer. The following are the summer plans of the teachers as far as announced: Miss Clark has gone to Kirkville, Mo., where she will take further work. Miss Hoopes will be in Y. M. C. A. work in Columbia, S. C. Miss Slayton will be at her home in Hillsdale, Mich. Miss Jenkins will be with her parents in New York City. Miss Angell will be with her sister in Rhode Island. Miss Payne will be with her people near Nebraska City, Neb. Mrs. Nottage, after attending summer school at Auburn, will be in Thorsby for the balance of the summer. Miss Morris returned to her home in Grinnell, Iowa. Prof. Williams will remain in Thorsby for the present.

Rev. Frank E. Jenkins, D. D., who is now serving as associate secretary of the Committee on Moral Aims of the war with headquarters at 105, 22nd St., New York City, was in Thorsby last week for the commencement exercises of Thorsby Institute, of whose Board of Trustees he is President.

Miss Ida F. Lockwood, a graduate of the Mt. City Business College, Chattanooga, Tenn., arrived in Thorsby last Tuesday to take the position of office secretary and instructor of shorthand and typewriting in Thorsby Institute.

Miss Luella Winslow and Miss Agnes Gerald, who have been attending Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., are at home in Thorsby for the summer.

The Institute Library will be open on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons during the summer from five to six o'clock, with Miss Lockwood in charge. Wednesday afternoons from four to five will be the "Story Hour" for the children of the community, at which time Miss Lockwood will either tell or read a story to the children. Some new war books have been received for the Urie Williamson Memorial shelf.

Mrs. J. L. Winslow and Mrs. C. T. Rogers attended the Commencement exercises of Piedmont College at Demorest, Ga., returning to Thorsby on Tuesday of last week. Mrs. Rogers was accompanied home by her son, William, who graduated this year from the Academy at Piedmont, and who will spend the summer with his parents in Thorsby.

Mr. A. E. Regan of Selma is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Foss this week.

Mr. Hamilton Warner, Jr., of Montgomery was in Thorsby last week on a visit to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Horn.

The Doctor Away From Home When Most Needed.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like pain in the stomach and bowels, colic and diarrhoea require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life.

WILL PUT MORE MEN IN THE FIRST CLASS

TWENTY-EIGHT PER CENT OF REGISTRANTS IN ALL THE COUNTIES MUST BE IN CLASS ONE.

MONTGOMERY, June 11.—Reinspection of the classification rolls of thirty-three counties with a view of placing 28 per cent of the total registrants in class one was ordered by G. J. Hubbard, Adjutant General of the State, following instructions from the Provost Marshal General. The war department stated that the average of registrants in class 1 has been found to be 28 per cent, and that any county having less than this per cent must be scrutinized closely.

In Blount and Winston counties the number of registrants in class one has fallen below 15 per cent, while in the following counties the number is up above 15 per cent and below 20 per cent: Cleburne, Colbert, Franklin, Jackson, Lawrence, Randolph.

Counties whose percentages are above 20 per cent but below 28 per cent and which must be reinspected: Chambers, Cherokee, Chilton, Clay, Coffee, Coosa, Cullman, Dale, DeKalb Etowah, Fayette, Geneva, Green, Henry, Lamar, Lauderdale, Lee, Limestone, Madison, Marshall, Perry, Pickens, St. Clair, Tallapoosa, Autauga.

Local Boards also were informed by the state military department of a complaint from the war department against the action of the local boards in placing persons in deferred classification because they claimed that they should not go into combatant branches of the army. Every person who claims to be a conscientious objector and who has been deferred because of this claim will be placed in class one.

HARRIS DID NOT MAKE STATEMENTS ABOUT COOSA CITIZENS

Clanton, Ala., June 12. Editor Union-Banner:—Please allow me a few words in your paper in regard to what has been circulated in the newspapers recently, purporting to be statements which I made to news papers concerning the citizens of Coosa county.

All I have to say is that any and all such inferences or assertions which would convey the idea that I made any such statements as have been accredited to me are false and without foundation. I gave out no interview to any daily paper in any way concerning the citizenship of Coosa county, and did not say the things which the daily papers attributed to me.

I am well acquainted with the people of Coosa county, and I know them as a general rule to be good honest law-abiding people, and anyone who says that I have ever made a statement to the contrary, is stating an absolute falsehood.

I felt like making this brief explanation of the affair because I notice that a newspaper in Coosa county has taken up what the daily papers reported that I said, and indulged in a severe criticism of me for those things which I did not say.

Respectfully,
H. A. HARRIS,
Sheriff of Chilton County.

John W. Henley of Maplesville was a visitor to Clanton Monday. Mr. Henley has been engaged in the saw mill business, but he says he has about forced to shut down on account on the draft taking so many of his men to the army.

With corn above 50 cents hogs eat their heads off very quickly. The hog that takes two or three months to get on full feed never brings you a profit.

When you are ready to put your shoats on feed, begin with the B. A. Thomas' Hog Medicine. Use regularly and watch your shoats round out into fat hogs in nine months—hogs going well over 200 pounds and as high as 240 pounds. Figure the average feeding and you will see why the B. A. ### COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES THORSBY INSTITUTE

The commencement exercises closing the 12th year of Thorsby Institute, extended through Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The music recital on Tuesday evening was well attended and showed faithful and painstaking work on the part of both pupils and teacher.

The Junior Class program on Wednesday night was a new feature of the commencement exercises and one which thoroughly justified itself. The members of the class proved that, although they had not yet completed their high school work, they had already developed a great deal of skill in original thought and public speaking. Especially was this true of the work of Rasco Maddox in his essay of "Civilian America." The dramatic sketch which closed the program was entertaining and well-rendered.

The tennis tournament for the championship of the school aroused considerable interest. The Freshmen defeated the Sophomores Wednesday afternoon, and won the championship by defeating the Juniors on Thursday morning. Odie Lee Arthur and Almon Graham represented the Freshman Class while Agnes Leary and Henry Erdahl upheld the honors for the Sophomores, and Lois Abernathy and Sumner Gerald for the Juniors.

Rev. Frank E. Jenkins, D.D., president of the Board of Trustees, gave the commencement address Tuesday morning, emphasizing the necessity of a thorough preparation before the taking up of life's tasks. After the address the young women who had reached certain standards in gymnasium work during the year each received an official "T" pin as a reward. Miss Lois Abernathy having reached the required three points for three years in succession was awarded one-half unit toward graduation requirements.

Ruth Gerald, having had a perfect record for punctuality and attendance during the entire year, was given public recognition.

Announcement was made of the fact that Miss May Stoddard will return to Thorsby as a member of the faculty again this coming year, and that special emphasis will be laid upon athletics for young men the coming year. Negotiations are already under way for securing the equipment of military rifles for use in military drills at the school. Announcement was also made that a course in shorthand and typewriting will be offered for the coming year, with Miss Ida F. Lockwood, a graduate of the Mt. City Business College of Chattanooga, Tenn., as instructor.

After the dedication of the Service Flag, containing forty-four stars, a patriotic program was rendered, emphasizing the ways in which all can join in the service of their country. Rev. J. M. Graham, who was at home for the day, spoke of the Home Service Work of the Red Cross for the benefit of the families of the soldiers, in which work Mr. Graham is now engaged. Mr. W. H. Conway, County Demonstration Agent, spoke briefly of the need of producing and conserving as large quantities of food as possible for the sake of helping win the war. Veterans of both the Blue and the Gray were present and joined heartily in the exercises, showing their loyalty to our united country.

A goodly number of former students, including several graduated, were present and enjoyed the privilege of renewing former acquaintances.

The community dinner on Thursday was a very enjoyable occasion, in spite of threatening showers, and helped to cement the bond of community friendship and fellowship. The Helen Keller Literary Society disposed of ten gallons of ice cream, netting between $9 and $10 additional for dormitory fund, making a total of $80 toward that fund which has been raised by the Society within the past six weeks.

Watch Your Blood Supply, Don't Let Impurities Creep In

Pure Blood Means Perfect Health.

The average druggist has handled hundreds of medicines in his day, some of which have long since been forgotten.

But there is one that has been sold by the druggists throughout this country, for more than fifty years, and that is S. S. S., the reliable blood medicine, that is purely vegetable. Many druggists have seen wonderful results accomplished among their customers by this great old medicine, and they know that S. S. S. is one of the most reliable blood purifiers ever made. Keep your blood free of impurities by the use of this honest old medicine, and if you want medical advice, you can obtain same without cost by writing to Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 28 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught, Relief From Headache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.—Mrs. Chas. Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Theodor's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty regular until the liver acted well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Theodor's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit. If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Theodor's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Theodor's the original and genuine. E 79

NO MORE NITRATE OF SODA FROM GOVERNMENT

Jemison, Ala., June 10, 1918.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me to say through your paper that I am informed by the United States Department of Agriculture that they will not be able to deliver any more Nitrate of Soda in Chilton County for this season.

I regret very much that some applicants have not received the nitrate ordered, but as all know, the department accepted the order in its entirety and expected to be able to secure the necessary ships to make complete deliveries until a very recent date.

It was under the instructions of the department that the first shipments was delivered to those asking March and April deliveries in their original applications. Therefore, you will see that no one in our county was responsible for some not getting any of the nitrate ordered.

To those who have spaced their corn with the expectation of using the nitrate, it will be necessary for you to secure cotton seed meal, tankage or top dresser and apply at once or to re-space the corn in order that the best yields may be obtained.

All who have not received part or all of the nitrate subscribed for may have their money refunded for such part as not delivered, by calling upon J. N. Dennis at the court house. Bring the receipt he gave you when you paid in the money.

Let me urge all farmers to rush the planting of such crops as cow peas, soy beans, peanuts and velvet beans. A good acreage in the above legume crops will materially lessen our need for nitrate another year.

Again expressing my regrets, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

W. H. CONWAY, Dem. Agt.

FOOD FACTS

The United States Food Administration

RICHARD M. HOBIE
Federal Food Administrator for Alabama
Montgomery, Ala.

BULLETIN NO. 57

To Ginners and Seed Merchants.

Under a proclamation of the President of the United States, dated May 14, 1918, the amount of cotton seed that a person may handle without a license was reduced from 150 tons to 20 tons.

All ginners who gin yearly between September 1st and August 31st enough cotton to produce therefrom 20 tons of cotton seed will be required to procure a ginner's license. This applies to private as well as public gins.

All person who buy yearly between September 1st and August 31st 20 tons of cotton seed will be required to procure a seed merchant's license. If a person purchases cotton seed from tenants or renters and uses the cotton seed as seed, the person receiving the seed must be licensed in calculating whether or not he has raised himself or by hired labor need not be counted.

Certificate Number Three.

Certificate No. 3 is valid thirty days after date of issue, which means that neither the consumer nor the retailer may use the same after the expiration of the thirty days. By signing this certificate and surrendering it within the thirty-day period to a flour miller or wholesaler, the retailer may purchase the same amount of flour delivered to the consumer, which amount is stated below paragraph four of the certificate.

Attention is called to the ruling that no family in Alabama should purchase more than 48 pounds of flour per month, where the certificate Form No. 3 is used. The same ruling should apply to all families in the state who purchase flour. In the first place, six pounds of flour is a liberal allowance. Further, the situation with regard to wheat is the most serious in the food supply of the Allied world. Many of the hotels and thousands of families in the United States have voluntarily agreed to abstain from wheat and wheat products until the next harvest. We understand that the counties of Marengo and Perry in this state have voluntarily agreed to use no wheat until the next harvest. We are therefore, of the opinion that no family in our state should use more than 48 pounds of flour per month.

Separate Accounts Kept.

The attention of manufacturer using sugar is called to the fact that certificates to buy sugar issued from this office bear the stamp "Statement A" and "Statement B."

Certificates stamped "Statement A" are issued to buy sugar for use in making beverage syrups, candy and less-essential articles. Certificates stamped "Statement B" are to buy sugar for use in canning or preserving and in making ice cream.

It is not lawful to use sugar purchased with certificates marked "Statement B" for making beverage syrups, candy and other less-essential articles. When your supply of "Statement A" certificates has been used you must discontinue the use of sugar in making articles for which this form of certificate was granted.

This means that you will have to keep separate accounts and a separate stock of sugar when engaged in the manufacture of the essentials and less-essentials.

It is important that these instructions be complied with.

Return Sugar Certificates Promptly.

All wholesale and retail dealers selling sugar should be careful to follow the rule which provides that the certificates taken up by them must be returned at the end of each month to the Sugar Division, Alabama Food Administration, Montgomery, Ala. The number of certificates returned on June 1st indicate that many dealers have not followed this rule. It is absolutely necessary that these certificates be returned promptly and every dealer to take notice of the fact and act accordingly.

Sales of Mixed Flour.

All sales of mixed flour by the retailer, must be made in accordance with the Federal allowance of not exceeding six pounds per person per month. Retailers must sell not more than one-eighth of a barrel of mixed flour to any town customer at any one time and not more than one-quarter of a barrel to any country customer at any one time.

Shall We Spoil a Good Job?

Unfortunately, reports have been circulated in Alabama and other states that there is no further need for the rigid wheat conservation measures that have been in effect. This report has been labeled untrue and dangerous by Mr. Hoover and every Food Administrator in the nation. In a message sent to the people of Alabama by Mr. Hoover, he says:

"Every aspect of the wheat situation both present and prospective, intensifies the need for the greatest possible limitation in the American consumption of wheat and wheat products. If present restrictions should be in the slightest degree relaxed it would result in serious want for the people of the allied nations before the new crop can reach the market."

"The Food Administration estimates on the first of June a total available supply until the new harvest of about fifty-six million bushels. Of this, thirty million bushels must be exported, before new wheat is available for export. If we are to maintain the absolutely necessary shipments to our army and the Allies, that leaves about twenty-six million bushels for domestic consumption for the next two months. Normal American consumption is something over forty million bushels a month, so that the most liberal consumption at home should be only one-third of normal."

"The new harvest will not be generally available in flour until the middle of August or early in September, although in the extreme south it will be somewhat earlier."

"At a meeting of the Federal Food Administrators in Washington, representing all forty-eight states, it was the unanimous view that even if the harvest does prove abundant it will be the first duty of the American people to place every grain they can save into storage as against possible bad years ahead. In consequence there should be no anticipation of unlimited wheat bread until the war is over."

"Some of the most inconvenient restrictions can no doubt be modified with the arrival of a large harvest, but if we are honest with ourselves we will maintain restrictions requiring the use of some substitutes in both domestic and commercial bread."

The people of Alabama are urged not to undo the splendid work they have done in wheat conservation at this critical time. It is absolutely necessary that every person who can possibly do so, eliminate the use of wheat entirely until September 1st and after that date use it as sparingly as possible. The prospects of the new crop should not lead us into the idea that we can relax our efforts at this time in the slightest degree.

When the new crop comes in the rules may be relaxed somewhat but as Mr. Hoover points out, it will be the part of patriotism and wisdom to continue to save a fair amount of wheat in order that we may lay up a surplus. As soon as it is safe to relax the present rules, the people will be notified of that fact, but until that time we must remain firm in our determination to save every pound of flour possible.

Lest We Forget To Do Our Part.

"They say, who have come back from 'over there' that at night the troubled earth between the lines is carpeted with pain. They say that death rides whistling in every wind, and that the very mists are charged with awful torment."

"In this renaissance of our country's valor, we, who will edge the wedge of her assault, make calm acceptance of its hazards. For us, the steel-swept trench, the stiffening cold—weariness, hardship, worse. For you, for whom we go, you millions safe at home—what for you?"

"We shall need food. We shall need care. We shall need clothes for our bodies and weapons for our hands. We shall need terribly and without failure, supplies and equipment in a stream that is constant and never-ending. From you, who are our resource and reliance, who are the heart and hope of that humanity for which we strive, must come these things."

The Till Boll Weevil Catcher

From the information we have on the merit of the Till Boll Weevil Catcher we are convinced that if the farmers will begin using them when cotton is five or six inches high and continue until the plant is too large to pass through the Catcher, and go over the crop at least once every ten days, cotton can be grown successfully and profitably. It is estimated that one man using a Catcher can destroy more Weevils in the same length of time than twenty men can destroy picking the weevils off by hand.

We have only a very few and if you expect to buy one, please write or phone us at once so we can get more of them from the factory by the time they are needed.

The price is $7.50, and judging by the experience of farmers in other sections you can double the yield of cotton by using them as directed.

WAR SAVINGS DRIVE ON WITH A RUSH

STATE COMMITTEE CONFIDENT ALABAMA WILL GO "OVER THE TOP" JUNE 28.

THE QUOTA MADE EASY

By Distributing It Among the School Districts Reasonably and Equitably.

Birmingham, Ala., June 18.

That June 28th, National War Savings day, will see Alabama "over the top" on her quota of war savings stamps, is the confident anticipation of Crawford Johnson, director of the national War Savings Committee for the State of Alabama, and his associates on the committee.

For a time Alabama lagged in the buying of War Savings Stamps, but the field agents of the war savings committee who are covering all sections of the State are writing to headquarters that a wonderful change is taking place in the sentiment of the people.

The State Awake.

They are now awake to the fact that a war savings stamp is a real government bond, more attractive in some respects than other government bond issues and that the purchase of these "Baby Bonds" (so-called) is a patriotic duty as well as a sound investment. These agents report that the people in the strictly rural sections are becoming as enthusiastic over the war savings stamps as the dwellers of the larger cities and towns. This is not surprising, after all, in view of the splendid record made by rural Alabama in the Third Liberty Bond and Red Cross war fund drives.

County Directors Active.

The activity of the county war savings directors, and their committees, is also a source of much satisfaction to the central committee. Almost without exception these county directors are throwing themselves heart and soul into the campaign and report their organizations in fine shape and working like beavers.

The call for literature, posters and advertising matter from county chairmen has greatly exceeded the anticipations of the state director, and the clerical force at headquarters is taxed to the utmost to meet the demand.

More Than a Million Postcards.

Incidentally and as illustrating the enormous amount of printing which the campaign for the month of June entails, it is announced that state headquarters is sending out 1,200,000 post cards carrying the Governor's proclamation and a summons to the recipients to appear at the designated places in their school districts on June 28th, there to pledge themselves to buy war savings stamps at specified periods during the remainder of the year to the limit of their ability.

The quota of war savings stamps for Alabama, by the way, has been apportioned by the state committee among the school districts (there are upward of 5,000 districts), and each district is told that it is expected to complete its quota on June 28th. The school district's quotas have been carefully worked out by experts at state headquarters with a view of making them equitable, and the quotas are being sent to the districts for review by local equalization committees.

This Makes It Possible.

It is believed this method will make it possible for every school district to raise its quota and thus enable Alabama to come up to the expectations of the national War Savings Committee and win the commendation of President Wilson and the whole nation.

It should be understood, however, that the war savings committee and their workers are securing as many pledges as possible in advance of the official pledge day and are meeting with distinct success on that line. These advance pledges will be announced at the meetings and are expected to have a very stimulating effect.

RULINGS OF THE U.S. FOOD ADMINISTRATOR HOOVER

NEW SUGAR RULES

Federal Food Administrator Hobbie is today issuing instructions to all retail merchants of the state which still further limit to amount of sugar to be sold to a purchaser.

Readers are ordered not to sell more than two pounds of sugar at a purchase to town and city customers; and not more than five pounds at a purchase to rural customers.

This order is made necessary by reason of losses of sugar by submarine attacks and difficulty of obtaining shipping to bring in Philippine and more remote sugar. Its purpose is to provide for an equal distribution of available sugar so that there may be no shortage in any communities. Housewives are urged to reduce their domestic consumption as much as possible and in no case to exceed three pounds per month per person.

The following instructions have been received by Judge L. H. Reynolds, County Food Administrator for Chilton County, from the United States Food Administration at Montgomery, Ala.:

"Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1918.

To all County Food Administrators: Effective immediately, sugar should be sold to town and city customers in not more than two (2) pound quantities, and in the rural sections in not more than five (5) pound quantities.

Due to the submarine losses of sugar and ships, and to the difficulty of obtaining ships to bring sugar to the United States, more conservation of sugar is needed, and the above regulation must be strictly carried out.

Certificate No. 6, to purchase sugar for canning and preserving purposes, is still in effect. The Food Administration requests that all who use sugar for canning or other purposes, to do so as sparingly as possible.

Please publish the above ruling in all your county papers, and also use other means of publicity.

Yours truly,

Thos. Bragg, Ex. Secy.

"Montgomery, Ala., June 15, 1918.

To all Dealers in Food Supplies in Alabama:

Effective immediately Sugar should be sold to Town and City Consumers in not more than Two Pound quantities, and to Rural Consumers in not more than Five Pound quantities.

Due to the submarine losses of sugar and ships, and the difficulty in obtaining ships to bring sugar to the United States, more conservation of sugar is needed, and the above regulation must be strictly carried out.

Certificate Form No. 6, for women to purchase sugar for preserving and canning purposes only, is still in effect. The Food Administration requests that the women of Alabama use sugar for this and all purposes as sparingly as possible and without any waste whatever.

Your attention is called to the ruling that this certificate must be mailed by the retailer in one week to the Federal Food Administrator for Alabama, at Montgomery, Ala.

We are counting on your assistance in helping save sugar.

License to Handle Cotton Seed.

Under a proclamation of the President of the United States, dated May 14, 1918, the amount of cotton seed that a person may handle without a license was reduced from 150 tons to 20 tons. All ginners who gin yearly between September 1st and August 31st 20 tons of cotton seed will be required to produce a ginner's license. This applies to private as well as public gins.

All persons who buy yearly between September 1st and August 31st 20 tons of cotton seed will be required to produce a seed merchant's license. If a person purchases cotton seed from tenants or renters and also receives cotton seed for rent, the amount he receives as rent must be included in calculating, whether or not he handles 20 tons a year. Seed that a person raises himself or by hired labor need not be counted.

There is no charge for this license and application should be made to the United States Food Administration, Law Department, License Division, Washington, D. C.

Licenses For Poultry and Egg Dealers Effective June 1st, 1918, the United States Food Administration, requires all poultry and egg buyers, merchants, hucksters and dealers, who sell to dealers or others than the consumer, to take out license. A retailer or other party who sells only to consumers is not required to secure a license. There is no charge for this license, and application should be made to the United States Food Administration, Law Department, License Division, Washington, D. C.

Until complete regulations governing the purchase of eggs under license are received, those subject to license, as above set out, shall purchase eggs only on a sound, candled basis, and make payment for only edible eggs. A statement shall be given each customer from whom eggs are purchased, showing the number of good or edible eggs and the number of inedible or bad eggs.

Note: Under the laws of the Pure Food Bureau, of the State of Alabama, Department of Agriculture, a retailer or other party who sells to consumers or otherwise, must sell only sound, edible eggs.

Federal Food Adm. for Ala.

DISTRICT MEETINGS TO BOOST WAR SAVINGS STAMP SALES

People Will Gather at Every Schoolhouse in Chilton County on June 28, to "Go Over the Top" in the Purchase of War Savings Stamps—Buy all You Can.

Chilton county has made a splendid record in the support of all the calls made upon her by the Government for financial assistance in the prosecution of the war. She has bought more of the Liberty Bonds than was her quota. She has oversubscribed her allotment in the Red Cross work. And in many other ways she has answered the call of our country with readiness.

We are now asked to buy a definite amount of the Government's War Savings Stamps. What will our answer be? It cannot be anything other than this same readiness, willingness and gladness to do even more than what we are asked to do. WE MUST SUBSCRIBE OUR ALLOTMENT.

In accordance with the nation-wide plans of the Government, Hon. Lawrence F. Gerald, Chairman of the W. S. S. Campaign in Chilton county, has called meetings of the citizens of every school district in the county, to be held at their respective school houses, on Friday, June 28. The purposes and plans of the meetings are fully explained in the following letter from Mr. Gerald:

WAR SAVINGS MEETINGS
TO BE HELD ON JUNE 28

The people of this county and every county in Alabama are expected to purchase during 1918 a definite amount of War Savings Stamps.

In order to distribute the allotment equitably among the various parts of the county, a quota has been assigned for each school district, the amount of which will be announced at the opening of the meeting in each school house, on June 28th, 1918, at 2, p.m.

At this meeting the people of each district will be called on to pledge themselves to buy these War Savings stamps during the remainder of 1918, to the limit of their ability.

Every adult resident of each district is summoned to attend this meeting and to fail not. In order to raise the total amount for this county, it will be necessary that each school

BEEFLESS DAYS

Federal Food Administrator R.M. Hobbie has received the following telegram from the U. S. Food Administrator:

"The demands for beef for our army and the allied armies and their civil populations for this summer are beyond our present surplus. On the other hand we have enough increased supply of pork this summer to permit economical expansion in its use. It will therefore be a direct service to our armies and the Allies if our people would in some degree substitute fresh pork, bacon, hams and sausage for beef products.

We request all hotels and restaurants not to place on their menu or serve boiled beef more than two meals a week, beef steak more than one meal weekly and roast beef more than one meal weekly.

We ask householders not under any circumstances to buy more than one and one-quarter pounds of clear beef weekly or one and one-half pounds, including bone, per person in household.

The public will realize that the changing conditions of production from season to season, the changing situation in shipping and therefore of the markets available to the Allies and the increasing demands for our growing army with the fluctuating supply of local beef in France, all make it impossible to determine policies for long periods in advance.

We have recently asked for economy in all meat consumption. We wish now to emphasize further reduction of beef by the substitution of pork. It is anticipated that it will hold good until September fifteenth and the co-operation of the public is most earnestly requested."

(Signed) HERBERT HOOVER.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. E. C. Maye, the Pastor, will preach two special sermons next Sunday, 23rd. At 11:00, a.m. the subject will be: "Who are the Real Soldiers?" If you fill the bill you will be at church and find out who are the real soldiers and who are not. At 8:30, p.m. Rev. Maye will use for his text: "The man who put off Salvation until Death looked him full in the Face on the Cross, then he realized he was a lost thief, and cried out to Jesus for Salvation." There are others who are stealing, and who should cry out before it is too late. Are you giving God His share or stealing His share like this thief on the Cross?

ALL DAY SINGING AT POPLAR SPRINGS CHURCH

There will be an all day singing at Poplar Springs Church the 5th Sunday in June, (30th). Everybody is invited to come and bring well filled baskets and your new 1918 books.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH— THE "BIG BILLY RAY" REVIVAL

A great religious awakening came and Clanton has been revived in a manner unknown for years. To many of us it seems providential that just at a time when he was needed "Big Billy" Ray was available for a protracted meeting. Our local disturbances were appearing upon the front pages of the daily papers and it was highly time that some oil be poured upon the troubled waters.

After Bro. Ray came and was greeted by full houses on Sunday, June 2nd, for many had heard him when he was here nine years ago, the place of meeting was transferred to the courthouse and seasons of a great spiritual power began to be manifest. Soon in private and in public men who had been at outs for years began to make up and agree to let by-gones be by-gones.

The reconciliation of personal differences is not yet entirely complete, but the labors of our leading citizens are going to continue until misunderstanding, mistrust and prejudice shall be done entirely away with and Clanton will progress spiritually, morally and commercially as never before.

Near the close of the meeting Bro. Ray introduced a new feature in revivals by persuading the congregation to provide a "pounding" for the two resident pastors, which was equally divided by the presidents of the two Ladies Aid Societies; and further he called the Baptists into conference and got them to pledge an increase of $300 per year on their pastor's salary, with a recommendation to the Methodists to do likewise. On the Sunday following the meeting (June 16) the Baptist Church received into fellowship 11 members by letter and 13 for baptism. It is probable that the latter will be baptised on next Sunday afternoon, but where is not yet decided.

BYRON PATTERSON WRITES TO HIS MOTHER AT HOME

Mr. T. F. Patterson of Verbena hands us the following letter from his son, Byron, in the service of Uncle Sam. He writes as follows:

May 21st, 1918.

Dear Mother: Will you write me a few lines to let you hear from me. I am doing fine at present—nothing to complain of, unless it is because I can't see you and the rest of the home folks when I want to, but mother, I guess you have become aware of the fact before now that it is a real necessity that I am away from you.

I know that you understand that I am away on a just cause, and if I should be killed on the battlefield my short-lived life would not be lived in vain, but mother, I never think of that. If nothing worried me more than that does I would comparatively be at ease, for I have had more than one tour in the trenches and it is not anything to compare with what an inexperienced person would think, for I have heard the remark made many times that I had rather stay up here than back at a rest camp.

Mother, I have heard from my allotment that I made to the Peoples Savings Bank at Clanton I requested them to make deposits payable to your check in case of my death, only I also have a ten thousand dollar insurance which I have written you all about before, but I don't know whether you have received the letter or not as you have failed to get some of them. I made it out to papa and in case of his death Velma will receive the remainder. The reason I did this it takes 20 years for the government to pay it up at $57 per month, and I am most sure that the family will always work together and use any funds, you should draw on my account to the best advantage of all. Write soon to your loving son,

DR. MATTHEWS DIED AT HOME OF HIS DAUGHTER

On last Sunday Clanton was shocked by the news of the death of Dr. E. A. Matthews, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wimberly, at Reform. The doctor had been sick for a few days, but it was not thought to be a serious ailment. On Sunday morning he was seized with a spell of vomiting and afterward as his wife left the room for a few minutes, she heard him fall to the floor and returned to find him lying dead.

The body was brought to Clanton Wednesday and buried in the Clanton Cemetery. For many years Dr. Matthews was a prominent physician and banker of Clanton, and he had many friends in the county who will learn of his death with sadness and sorrow.

THREE SCHOOL DISTRICTS TO VOTE ON TAX RAISES

Three school districts in Chilton County will vote on the proposition of increased taxes for school purposes on July 15th. The three districts calling for the election are Clanton, Union Point and Verbena. If a majority in these districts vote for the raise, the additional levy will be made as specified only on property in those districts.

Wallace C. Edler of Thorsby was here attending to some business matters last Friday. As usual he brought along a new subscription for the Union-Banner. We are grateful for Mr. Edler's continued interest in the paper.

MEET AT THE COURT HOUSE ON SATURDAY

COME AND LEARN ABOUT WAR SAVINGS STAMPS AND WHY
WE SHOULD BUY THEM.

Prominent Men From Birmingham To Be Here and Deliver Addresses On Subjects Pertaining to Winning the War.

There is to be a meeting in the court house in Clanton on Saturday, June 22, at 2:00 o'clock, P.M., in the interest of the sale of Baby Bonds. Mr. Crawford Johnson, State Director War Savings Committee, and Mr. Frank Willis Barnett of the Birmingham Age-Herald, will speak.

Mr. Johnson is one of the most prominent men of our state and he will give the people a great deal of information that will be very interesting to them.

Mr. Lee Heath's son, of Marbury, who has just returned from the trenches in France, and who has taken the scalps of three Germans, will be here to tell of some of his experiences in the trenches. Mr. Heath is quite young, being only sixteen or seventeen years of age, and he comes wearing a Cross of Honor given him by one of the highest officers in the French army in token of his bravery.

I want to say just a few words in the interest of the sale of the Baby Bonds, which I consider one of the best investments that our people can make. The government will sell them to you from $5 to $1000, but no person may own more than $1000. The government pays you interest on them and yet on ten-days notice to any post master he will take them up and pay you your money for them. You may register, without charge, at the post office, and should they get lost, you will get your money back the same as if they had not been lost. Our county has gone over the top in both the Red Cross and Liberty Loan Campaign, and now all the government asks of us is to loan them our money and guarantees the return of it any time we want it. We must go over the top this time.

Remember we are in the most terrible war the world has ever heard of, and we must do our part—we are going to win, justice is on our side—and the sooner we all do our part the sooner we will win, and the less of our boys will be killed.

We, that are at home with our people, following our usual avocations in life, are having a great deal better time than the boys that are fighting in the trenches and we cannot afford to let them suffer for one minute for the want of something to eat or to wear. It is our government's duty to see to it that we furnish them all they need, for they are fighting for our liberty. To win the war means freedom and liberty, and lose it means our slavery. Of course, we are going to win, and if everyone will do his duty the burden will not be so heavy.

I hope everybody that can will come to the meeting Saturday; we especially want the ladies and children to come. I wish every person in our county could hear Mr. Johnson explain the situation of the war.

Mr. L. F. Gerald, our County Chairman is going to do all he can for the sale of Bonds, but he cannot do it all. He will have an assistant in each school district, but even with this they cannot do it all. We must all do our duty!

I have Baby Bonds in my office for sale, and I shall be glad to sell them to anyone who desires to purchase. A $5 Bond will cost $4.17 in June and 1c advancement for each month later than June.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

ENDORSES MR. MIMS

Clanton, Ala., June 19, 1918.

To the Voters of Chilton County:

As it will soon be time to change and elect more officers to transact the business of "Old Chilton" I think it prudent for every true citizen-voter to awaken and begin to think of how our county is going to degradation and ruin, and then think once more who is causing it to do so. Of course the first thought would be "our officers." So I think it best to elect a set of good commissioners who will respect the white as white and not as black; therefore, I want to say a few words in behalf of Mr. J. M. Mims, whom I think is a man that wants to see our oppressed citizens come out from under bondage and have a county like she was some few years ago. He is a man of unsurpassable character. Of course you will hear the old cry that he will be too saving with the funds. Please do not be confused with the silly idea that he has not sense enough to spend a dollar when something is needed. Now awake and study it over well and on the day you go to cast your vote remember to vote for the man who will appeal to your personal affairs.

Yours very truly,
R. M. BENSON.

W. R. King of Lomax was here Monday and renewed his subscription. He said he wanted the Union-Banner to "spread itself" this year. We don't know what might be meant in "spreading ones self"; but we will try to make a paper that will please our people.

The Sylacauga Advance says Talladega selectmen were sent to Camp "Severe." Don't you s'pose that they found it true to its name when they got there?

The purchase of war savings stamps affords the man of moderate means the best opportunity to help his government finance the great war plans.
There are not many people in Chilton County who cannot buy some of these stamps. We ought to be glad to buy them, and show that our county is with Uncle Sam and against the Kaiser.

That justly famous and well-known candidate from Stumps Hills, by name
the Hon. Thomas Jefferson Dorminey, was a visitor at the Union-Banner office Saturday. From all reports it now looks like the next Commissioner from the First District will be Mr.
Dorminey.

One fellow who got smart and undertook to "tell on" Judge Reynolds, proceeded to spit out a long list of things (framed up by his own ingenious mind) which he figured would at once land the judge in jail. These he sent up to headquarters at Birmingham, closing by saying that 75 per cent of the people of Chilton County would listen to what he (Reynolds) says. The authorities at Birmingham decided pretty soon that if Judge Reynolds stood so well down here he ought to be complimented rather than persecuted. So straight away he was summoned to come to Birmingham and assist in plans to bring the War Savings Stamps Campaign to a successful close in Chilton.

LET IT BE PAST

If it were not for bringing up unpleasant memories, we would proceed to tell the Clanton Press a few things this week. But the past has been buried and The Union-Banner would not be guilty of doing or saying anything that would revive the old contentions and bitterness.

We, instead, wish to join in with those who have promised to lay aside their enmities and congratulate them, and help them to remain true to their promises.

The people of Clanton and Chilton County must be united, working in harmony with each other, so that our full duty in this critical time may be fulfilled.

Let the past be past now, brothers, as you have said you are willing to do. That is the manly part to play.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

The attention of the readers is called to the many advertisements contained in this issue on War Savings Stamps. There have been so many activities to "Help Win the War," in all of which Chilton has "gone over the top," that there are many people who are not as well posted and who have not done what they should in the War Savings Campaign which is now on.

War Savings Stamps were issued for the small investor. To reach every home in America that everyone might do their part to make this country a safe place for decent people to live in. Were it not for the fact that the investment which any one man can have in these stamps is limited to $1,000, they would have been over-subscribed long ago. They are the best investment offered by the government—better than any issue of Liberty Bonds.

They bear a higher rate of interest, and they can be cashed at any time. To the end that the country may "go over the top" in the sale of War Savings Stamps, the President of the United States and the Governor of Alabama have designated June 28, as War Savings Day in every school district in Alabama. There will be held on that day in every school district pledge meetings, at which meetings the War Savings Stamps will be explained, and every person is expected to pledge himself to buy during this year, War Savings
Stamps to the limit of their ability.
We are informed by Mr. Lawrence F.
Gerald, County Chairman, that the arrangements have been made for a meeting in every school district in the county, and that as far as is practical, in addition to the party conducting this meeting that a four-minute man will be sent to each school district in county.

We most earnestly ask that every citizen of this county attend the meeting in his school district on the 28th and pledge himself to purchase War Savings Stamps to the limit of his ability, and to fail not, and to always remember that this is not a gift or a donation, but that it is the best and safest investment offered to the people of the world today, and that every stamp purchased helps the cause of freedom and the many Chilton County boys over there.

Chronic Constipation.

Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits
and take lots of outdoor exercise, you
may be able eventually to overcome
it entirely. In the meantime use the most mild and gentle laxatives. Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are easy and pleasant to take, and most agreeable in effect.

War Savings Stamps

War Savings Stamps are a direct loan to Uncle Sam. Nothing can lessen their value. They're always at par. They pay you well, though that isn't half so important to you as what money does for our soldiers "over there." Back them up. Keep food going to them. Keep their clips full of cartridges. And shoes on their feet.

Boys, get out and sell W. S. S.—and send our soldiers over the top with the go-get-'em feeling that comes from knowing you will see that they get what is coming to them.

War Savings Stamps cost $4.17 each on June 28—and pay back $5.00.

IN MEMORY

On Monday afternoon during the terrific thunder storm a severe shock of lightning struck and instantly killed Moses Easterling, son of Mr. W. J. Easterling, who resides about 5 miles east of Clanton.

Mr. Easterling and his son were in the field hauling oats when the crash came killing his son and a mule, but only slightly injured him and his other mule. Both mules were hitched to the same wagon, but the other mule was uninjured.

Young Moses was a boy of sterling character and high ambition to accomplish things worth while.

He was seventeen years old, and had been a consistent member of the Methodist Church two years, and was very loyal to his Sunday School. He leaves a father, mother and several little brothers and sisters to miss his smile and presence through life.

He was laid in the silent cemetery at Walnut Creek to await the coming of the glorious day.

Why should we mourn for friends like this,

When their soul takes its flight?
For he is safe in heaven's bliss,
Where all is pure and bright.

When shadows dark o'erwhelms our soul
And shadows here beset the way,
Just trust the one who has control,
For He'll lead to a brighter day.

Our friend is only sleeping
Then why be sad today,
For in God's eternal keeping
His soul is safe for aye.

When the dead shall be raised
And loved ones reunite
To say "Farewell" no more.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Messer, who was pastor of the church when Moses turned from the ways of the world and gave himself to Jesus.

He did not fear death, as these words he spoke at home to his father and mother the day of his death: "I am ready to die when God shall call me."

PATRIOTIC CELEBRATION FOURTH OF JULY

WE WILL HONOR OUR BOYS AT THE FRONT WHO ARE FIGHT-ING THE BATTLES OF LIBERTY FOR US AT HOME.

The undersigned committee of the Council of National Defense for Chilton county desires to call the attention of the people to the proclamation of President Wilson and the Governor, urging that in each county patriotic celebrations be held on July the 4th, in honor of our boys now fighting for their country's cause.

All Beat and District committees appointed immediately after the meeting on April 28, 1917 are requested to convene and perfect arrangements for appropriate celebration of July the Fourth.

This Committee is arranging for a celebration at Clanton on the Fourth, and it is hoped that the entire county will take part in it. Additional committees from over the county will be announced to help in this celebration. Simplicity will be the keynote of the celebrations.

Respectfully,

Wm. M. ADAMS, Chairman.

You Stayed at Home Invest for those Who Went

June 28th is Patriots' Pledge Day---the day the government calls upon you to give a new pledge of loyalty; new proof of your will to win; new evidence that your dollars as well as your hearts are behind the men facing the Hun on the martyred fields of fair France.

National War Savings Day

Friday, June 28th

On that day you will be asked to sign a personal pledge to buy War Savings Stamps.

War Savings Stamps pay you well, though that isn't half so important as what your money does for that boy---maybe your own---"over there." Back him up. Keep food going to him. Keep his clips full of cartridges. And shoes on his feet.

Let's send our boys over the top with the go-get-'em feeling that comes from knowing we are pledged to see that they get what is coming to them.

Sign your Pledge of Patriotism by agreeing to buy W. S. S. on National War Savings Day.

The Doctor Away From Home When Most Needed.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like pain in the stomach and bowels, colic and diarrhoea require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life.

DRIFT OF POLITICS

Although the next "big show" in the Indiana political circus will feature the Democrats who will assemble at Indianapolis on June 18 and 19 for their state convention, arrangements were made this week by the Republicans to hold a big "side show" in the way of a powwow in the twelfth district on June 13 and 14. The meeting is to be held at Crooked Lake and the leading politicians from all sections of Hoosierdom are showing considerable interest in the gathering, which will not only include business sessions but ample amusement as well. Jack Henley, Secretary of the State Central Committee, in speaking of the district meeting, said: "The twelfth district gathering will be the final one of its kind until the campaign drive opens in August. A number of the Republican nominees selected at the state convention last week will be present at Crooked Lake, and the indications are that we will have a splendid turnout. The party in Indiana is in fine shape; every congressional district has shaped its plans for the fall drive and we can see nothing but a sweeping victory at the polls next November. The rest of June and July will be rather quiet, but in August our organization will be further perfected."

There was renewed interest in the United States senatorial race in Michigan last week over the announcement of Police Commissioner James Couzens of Detroit, that he would not be a candidate, giving as the principal reason the fact that as an officer of the Ford Motor Car Company, which has many contracts with the government he is unqualified. There is no existence an act of Congress which forbids any person elected to federal office being in any way connected with a concern doing business with the government.

Fred M. Warner, former governor of Michigan, has made formal announcement that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. The primaries are to be held August 7.

"It is apparent that Governor Whitman will win re-nomination at the hands of the Republicans," remarked E.S. Lother, of New York, at the Willard. "It is also clear that the opposition to Governor Whitman is going to redound to the advantage of the Democratic candidate for governor, whoever he may be. However, the Democrats themselves are in doubt as to a candidate."

James M. Cox, Dayton newspaper publisher and Democratic governor of Ohio, has announced his candidacy for re-election at the November election. Frank B. Willis, of Delaware, former governor, announced his candidacy for another term as governor on the Republican ticket.

Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, was endorsed by Michigan Democrats in conference at Detroit and urged to "become our party candidate" for United States Senator. Ford is a free-trade Democrat.

Judge Selden P. Spencer, chairman of the district appeals board of St. Louis, has entered the race for the nomination for the United States Senate on the Republican ticket. John S. Leahy of St. Louis, who filed for the nomination, withdrew. He said when he filed that he would not contest with any one for the senatorship. E.E.E. McJimsey of Springfield, who was talked of for the nomination, will not enter the race.

Congressman Geo. E. Foss starts for the Republican nomination for the United States Senatorship, he says, without any relationship, expressed or implied, with any of the existent Cook county Republican factions. "I depend upon the people themselves," Mr. Foss said in issuing his formal declaration of his candidacy.

In the opinion of many up-state Democrats in New York the "dark horse," whose entry in the Democratic race for governor, has been foreshadowed of late, is Oliver Cabana, Jr., a wealthy manufacturer and gentleman farmer who lives in Buffalo, and has the backing of James J. Fitzpatrick, the Democratic leader of Erie County. Mr. Cabana's name is new in politics, but just at present it is on the lips of Democrats all through the western counties of New York.

W. R. K. Stanford of Lawley was here Monday attending to some business.

240 POUND PIGS

With corn above 50 cents hogs eat their heads off very quickly. The hog that takes two or three months to get on full feed never brings you a profit.

When you are ready to put your shoats on feed, begin with the B. A. Thomas' Hog Medicine. Use regularly and watch your shoats round out into fat hogs in nine months—hogs going well over 200 pounds and as high as 240 pounds. Figure the average feeding and you will see why the B. A. Thomas medicine is a good investment. Try feeding out your hogs on this plan and if you are not more than pleased, we will refund the cost of the medicine.

It is more than duty, more than Patriotism---it is a PRIVILEGE to buy War Savings Stamps.

Why You Should Buy Them.

- 1st. The United States Government guarantees to pay your money back.
- 2nd. The United States pays 4 per cent interest on War Savings Stamps, compounded quarterly, which amounts to almost 4 1-2 per cent—greater rate of interest than Liberty Bonds.
- 3rd. You can purchase any amount at any time during 1918, to suit your convenience.
- 4th. The money paid for them will help win the war and keep our soldiers fed, clothed, armed and protected—keep our country safe for democracy.
- 5th. If at any time you need the money invested, you can cash them at your post office, giving the Postmaster ten days notice, the only penalty being a slight reduction in the interest rate—this is a feature no Liberty Bond has.
- 6th. Because it is not a gift or contribution—it is, in fact the best and safest investment in the world to-day.

THEREFORE, INVEST IN WAR SAVINGS STAMPS TO THE LIMIT OF YOUR ABILITY, AND THUS LET CHILTON COUNTY "GO OVER THE TOP" WITH WAR SAVINGS STAMPS AS IT HAS IN ALL OTHER MATTERS. MAKE YOUR PLEDGE ON JUNE 28TH, TO THE LIMIT OF YOUR ABILITY.

Buy All You Can!

Teach the Children Thrift

Don't hide away the baby's pennies in a toy bank. Put them to work. Invest in Thrift and War Savings Stamps, and watch the investment grow.

Baby Bonds are the best investment for the baby.

Let your children learn what it means to have money out at interest. Teach them patriotism. Make them feel that they, too, can do something for their government.

When their War Savings Stamps, bought from money they otherwise would have wasted, come due five years from now, the little folks, then grown larger, will thank their lucky stars that they had parents who taught them thrift.

Ugly, Unsightly Pimples Are Signals of Bad Blood

Give Heed to the Warning.

Pimples on the face and other parts of the body are warnings from Nature that your blood is sluggish and impoverished. Sometimes they foretell eczema, boils, blisters, scaly eruptions and other skin disorders that burn like flames of fire.

They mean that your blood needs S. S. S. to purify it and cleanse it of these impure accumulations that can cause unlimited trouble. This remedy is the greatest vegetable blood purifier known, and contains no minerals or chemicals to injure the most delicate skin.

Go to your drugstore, and get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and get rid of those unsightly and disfiguring pimples, and other skin irritations. And it will cleanse your blood thoroughly. If you wish special medical advice, you can obtain it without charge by writing to Medical Director, 29 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

THORSBY NOTES

Ruth Gerald is visiting her brother in Clanton this week.

Mrs. J. Lefstead entertained for the ladies of Thorsby Thursday of last week. A large number were present and thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon.

Mr. Norton who has been confined to his home on account of sickness, is able to be out again.

Miss Lois Abernathy returned to Thorsby Sunday afternoon and is the guest of Miss Lorena Graham.

Miss Amy Payne, girls dormitory matron at the Institute the past year, left Monday to spend the summer with her parents in Nebraska. Miss Lola Horn accompanied Miss Payne as far as Fort Scott, going on from there alone to Denver, Col., where she will make her home with her mother.

Miss Lorena Graham entertained a number of her friends Monday evening with a "slumber" party, honoring her guest, Miss Lois Abernathy.

Lieut. C. M. Woolley of Camp Sevier, Greenville, S. C., will come to Thorsby Thursday of this week to spend a ten days furlough visiting home folks and friends.

Mrs. C. N. Peterson and baby are visiting Mrs. Peterson's mother at Prattville this week.

Prof. Williams and family left Sunday evening for Birmingham to be gone for a month or more.

Mrs. Nottage is attending Summer School at Auburn.

Miss Agnes Leary has issued invitations for a party to be given Friday evening of this week, an event to which the young folks are looking forward with pleasure.

Mr. Philip Horn of Clanton, accompanied by his wife and son, Leroy, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Horn.

Mr. Clifford Peterson returned last week to Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Michigan.

There will be preaching at the Congregational Church next Sunday morning, and at the Swedish Church on Sunday evening.

SHILOH CHURCH

There will be an all day singing at Shiloh Church, near South Calera on the Fourth Sunday in this month, June 23. All lovers of music are cordially invited to attend and bring well filled baskets.

Dinner will be served at the church yards.

The purpose of this gathering is to organize a large class to be taught this summer by some efficient singing teacher, who has not been selected.

C. C. ELZY, Supt. S.S.

J. G. Billingsley of Thorsby was a visitor to Clanton on Monday.

ARTILLERY NEARLY ALL IS MOTORIZED

AMERICAN ARMY TO GO FURTHER IN THIS RESPECT THAN HAS ANY OTHER.

NOTIFYING OF CASUALTIES

How the War Department Informs Relatives of Killed and Wounded Soldiers—Radio and Buzzer Operation Taught in 600 Schools.

(From Committee on Public Information.)

Washington.—Motorization of field artillery will be carried to a greater extent in the American army than in any other army engaged in the war. Not only will a far greater amount of motor equipment be provided in proportion to the strength of the army, but it will be used for work where armies now in the field depend solely upon horse power and man power.

The ordnance department has succeeded in developing such types of tractors that, exclusive of the heaviest field artillery mounted on railroad carriages, all American artillery will be motorized, with the exception of some of the three-inch gun batteries. The problem of motorization of field artillery is a difficult one, which explains why it has not been carried out to a greater extent than has been the case with the armies that have been fighting in Europe for the last three years. The possible output of tractors for the transport of field artillery in the United States is practically unlimited, whereas the supply of horses is at present limited and is becoming more so each month.

Relatives of soldiers named in casualty lists forwarded from France ordinarily are notified within 24 hours after receipt of the lists, according to a statement authorized by the war department. A "statistical division," with a staff of officers and a corps of stenographers, gives all its time to the maintenance of files of soldiers' names and addresses. This division notifies relatives.

A copy of the roster of each contingent sailing to join the expeditionary forces is filed in card index fashion, each card bearing the name of one soldier, his organization, and the name and address of parent or other relative, or friend designated by him to be notified in emergency. When a casualty list is received from General Pershing each name cabled from the American expeditionary force is listed with the emergency address on file in the card index. As rapidly as the new list with emergency addresses is built up the telegraph clerks get duplicates. These clerks already are supplied with blank telegrams which require only the relative's address, name of sender, nature of casualty and the date, and filling in the blank spaces they get the telegrams off as quickly as possible. In addition to maintaining the telegraph blanks for the sake of speed the statistical division is supplied with sets of form letters to be filled in and mailed when further details are available.

While relatives are generally in receipt of information within 24 hours after the cables are received, delays are sometimes due to clerical errors caused by the fact that names must pass through so many hands in France and in America, incorrect emergency addresses turned in by soldiers, removal of families to addresses other than those listed, and the occasional necessity for cabling back to General Pershing to verify a name or to obtain an address.

Aside from these four causes of delay the only reason for the failure of relatives to receive word at once is military consideration. General Pershing may, at his discretion, withhold a casualty list until he is positive it will have no military value to the enemy.

Through the operation of repair shops for clothing and other articles, a considerable saving in reissue of new equipment has been made at army camps. One camp quartermaster estimates the issue of new clothing has decreased one-third, and of shoes 40 per cent.

At a base repair shop for clothing an average of 2,831 garments were repaired daily during the first 18 days of May. In addition to the work done at base repair shops, many thousands of garments are repaired at camp shops, one shop being located at each large camp.

During April nearly 170,000 pairs of shoes were repaired in army repair shops. At present practically all hat repairing is done by contract, the price varying from 50 to 90 cents per hat.

This work is in charge of the conservation and reclamation division of the quartermaster corps, which has been in operation only during the last four months.

The food administration is making a careful survey of the national ice situation in order that it may be prepared to meet any sudden shortages in particular communities. The destruction of ice plants by fire, breakdown of machinery, or the exigency of the weather may at any time cause a serious shortage.

Incomplete returns from 25 states show that nearly 3,400,000 women have registered for war work under the woman's committee of the council of national defense.

The demand for specialists in the army is increasing daily. Mechanics and technicians of all kinds, including radio and buzzer operators, are needed by the signal corps.

In nearly every large city the federal board of vocational training, through local school authorities, has established schools of radio communication where men of draft age who have not been called may receive a preliminary course in the operation of radio and buzzer instruments. There are about 600 of these schools where instruction is given, usually in the afternoons and evenings. It takes about 200 hours for a student of average ability to obtain a speed of 20 words a minute, sending and receiving.

Electrical engineers and men with good fundamental training in engineering or physics are particularly in demand for signal corps work. Men of satisfactory qualifications are given three months' training in special schools, and have every opportunity to take examinations leading to promotion.

Men who have had experience as electrical repair men, wiremen and mechanics are also desired for assignment to special schools and later to field organizations.

When the five new regiments and 19 battalions of railway engineers now being organized are put on duty there will be 50,000 Americans engaged in railroad construction and operation in France.

After the United States entered the war one of the first requests transmitted to this government by the French mission was for assistance in strengthening the French railways. Nine regiments of railway engineers, whose organization was started before General Pershing sailed, were in France by August, 1917. Six of them have been engaged in construction work, building and rebuilding railways, building docks and rearranging terminal facilities. The other three regiments have been engaged in operation, and some of the railway troops have been on the fighting line. The additional troops will be used partly for construction and maintenance and partly for operation.

A total of $160,000,000 has been spent on railway materials alone. Included in the purchases are 1,727 locomotives, 22,630 freight cars and 359,000 tons of steel rails.

Reports are reaching the children's bureau of the department of labor from the hundreds and thousands of women who during the last 60 days have been weighing 5,000,000 children of America, and the way in which permanent poverty menaces the healthy growth of the children of the nation is being revealed as a result of the weighing and measuring campaign.

Workers have been so much aroused by the conditions revealed that they request information regarding follow-up work. Many of the families are described as being pitifully poor. One mother had a new baby wasting away for want of milk. The mother was told to drink one quart of milk a day herself and to give one quart a day to each of her six children. Milk is 16 cents a quart, and the family income $15 a week. The women writing to the children's bureau said they did not know how to solve the problem.

The children's bureau has been compelled to reply to such reports that federal appropriations are available only for the families of men actually in the military or naval service.

Nearly 157,000 negro soldiers are now in the National army. Of these 1,000 are line officers holding commissions of captain and first and second lieutenants. There are about 250 colored officers in the medical and dental reserve corps.

The army now includes two divisions of colored troops, which when fully constituted will include practically all branches of the service; infantry, engineer, artillery, signal corps, medical corps and service battalions with men technically trained in all branches of scientific work.

There are now openings in the veterinary corps for negroes skilled in veterinary and agricultural work. Arrangements have been completed to send negroes registered but not yet called to schools and colleges this summer for training in radio engineering, electrical engineering, auto mechanics, blacksmithing and the operation of motor vehicles.

Scores of firms throughout the United States have been penalized for violations of rules of the food administration. In some cases licenses to operate have been suspended; in others, contributions to the Y. M. C. A., Red Cross, and other organizations have been accepted in lieu of suspension of license.

Among the more numerous violations are sales of flour without substitutes; refusal to accept delivery of foodstuffs previously ordered; operating without licenses; excess sales of sugar; carrying more than a normal 30 days' supply of sugar; failure to use the proper amount of flour substitute in bread making; and profiteering.

Next to the aggregate number of subscribers, perhaps the most striking feature of the third Liberty loan was the support given it by the farming and rural populations of the country, according to a statement by the treasury department. Not only did the farmers purchase liberally of the bonds, but the rural communities as a rule were more prompt in completing their quotas of the loan than the larger cities. More than 20,000 communities in the United States subscribed or oversubscribed their quotas, many of them on the first day of the campaign.

PROCLAIMED

National War Savings Day

President Wilson Calls Upon Loyal Americans To Pledge
Themselves To Save and Invest In War Savings

Stamps to The Limit of Their Ability

On Or Before June 28.

THE GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA ISSUES HIS PROCLAMATION
NAMING JUNE 28 AS NATIONAL WAR SAVINGS
DAY IN THIS STATE

Meetings Will Be Held In Every Community On That Day To Secure Pledges To Buy War Savings Stamps.

Pursuant to the appeal of the President of the United States, the call of the Secretary of the Treasury and the proclamation of the Governor of this State, I, War Savings Director for Alabama, acting under the authority of the United States Treasury Department, have called all tax payers and wage earners to meet on Friday, June 28, to pledge themselves to buy War Savings Stamps. In rural communities and the smaller towns and cities, meetings will be held in the school houses at 2 p. m.

The school officers will conduct the meeting in each school house, keeping a record of the proceedings and reporting the names of all persons present and the amount of War Savings Stamps subscribed for by them. The names of absent persons, and those who refuse or neglect to subscribe, with their reasons for so doing, will also be reported.

War Savings Stamps (which are United States Government Bonds the same as Liberty Bonds), can be paid for during any month in the year 1918, but it is intended that subscriptions will be signed for them on June 28.

The price of each War Savings Stamp depends upon the month during which it is bought. During June each Stamp will cost $4.17. In July each Stamp will cost $4.18, and so on, one cent more each month during 1918. On January 1, 1923, the Government of the United States will redeem all War Savings Stamps at $5.00 each, no matter during which month in 1918 they were bought. They cost less during the early months in 1918 than during the later months because the person who buys earlier has loaned his money to the Government for a longer time than if he should buy later.

By way of illustration, note the following table:

	Cost of War Savings Stamps During June, July and August, 1918.		Cost in and Are Worth
	June	July	August	on Jan. 1, 1923
1 Stamp.....	$4.17	$4.18	$4.19	$5.00
20 Stamps.....	$83.40	$83.60	$83.80	100.00
50 Stamps.....	208.50	209.00	209.50	250.00
100 Stamps.....	417.00	418.00	419.00	500.00
200 Stamps.....	834.00	836.00	838.00	1,000.00

The law provides that no person can hold in his own name War Savings Stamps exceeding $1,000 maturity value. War Savings Stamps, however, may be purchased for other members of the family, including minor children.

The money invested in War Savings Stamps is not a gift, or a donation, but is a loan to the Government. It will all be paid back with 4 per cent. compound interest. If, because of some serious financial reverses, or calamity, it should be necessary to get your money before January 1, 1923, you may do so by giving ten days' notice to any Money Order postmaster, in which case you can get what you paid for the Stamps, with interest to date of payment. The Stamps are free from all State and local taxes; when registered at the postoffice they are insured against loss; they are backed by all the property in the United States; they cannot fall in value below the price you pay; they are as convenient and as well paying an investment as has ever been offered by our Government.

A definite quota of War Savings Stamps has been assigned each school district and community, which will be announced at each meeting on June 28th. The Government of the United States expects all the citizens of every school district and county to subscribe for its quota and to pledge themselves to save and economize to help win the war.

It is to be hoped that the subscriptions taken at the meetings in your county will show you and your neighbors to be loyal Americans to whom our Government, in this hour of need, does not call in vain.

CRAWFORD JOHNSON,

Alabama War Savings Director appointed and acting under the authority of the Secretary of the United States Treasury.

The Till Boll Weevil Catcher

From the information we have on the merit of the Till Boll Weevil Catcher we are convinced that if the farmers will begin using them when cotton is five or six inches high and continue until the plant is too large to pass through the Catcher, and go over the crop at least once every ten days, cotton can be grown successfully and profitably. It is estimated that one man using a Catcher can destroy more Weevils in the same length of time than twenty men can destroy picking the weevils off by hand.

We have only a very few and if you expect to buy one, please write or phone us at once so we can get more of them from the factory by the time they are needed.

The price is $7.50, and judging by the experience of farmers in other sections you can double the yield of cotton by using them as directed.

NUMBER 13.

HONOR CHILTON BOYS WHO ARE IN THE UNITED STATES ARMY

Patriotic Program Being Arranged for All-Day Celebration
At County High School on July the Fourth—There will be Dinner, Speaking, Music, Etc.

Principal Feature is to be to Honor
Our Boys in the Trenches.

Every man, woman and child, is urged to be present at Clanton on July 4th for the purpose of celebrating the day which made this government a nation of free people, and for the further purpose of waiving to our Chilton County boys now in the trenches on their way, a message of kind words, good cheer and greeting. Our government at Washington, thru the Council of National Defense, appointed by our President, calls upon every citizen to make the 4th of July of this year an occasion to offer to our soldiers patriotic encouragement and support.

It is recommended and suggested by the Council of Defense that instead of the usual barbecues on such occasions, a simple frugal basket dinner be served by our good women—a basket well filled with vegetables from the home garden and with bread from the corn crib will meet the patriotic requirement of Uncle Sam. It is suggested that wheat bread be cut out as much as possible in order to save it for our soldiers. It is recommended by the Food Administration that meats such as beef, pork and mutton be used sparingly.

An appropriate program consisting of songs, speeches, recitations, music and other entertainment, both for the forenoon and the afternoon, will be rendered. A community singing in which every one will be expected to take part will be held on the grounds. It is hoped and expected to have a brass band from one of the army camps. A speaker or speakers versed on the war conditions will address the people.

Every man who is now a member of the national army by virtue of the draft and who is yet at home, is certainly urgently and earnestly requested to come to Clanton on that day and bring his folks and a well-filled basket. Every citizen has an interest in commemorating this particular 4th of July. Every mother, every father, every sister, every brother, every wife, and every sweetheart of a soldier or of a man or boy who is to become a soldier in Chilton County, is each constituted a committee to be present and aid in commemorating the fourth of July as a day long to be remembered.

Merely to enlist interest and to give publicity to this occasion, the following list of names are suggested to serve as committees in the different sections of the County. Each committee is urged to give publicity to this occasion and to call on and name other neighbors to aid in making the occasion one long to be remembered in our county.

Publicity Committee—All ministers and school teachers and Revs. S. H. Herbert, E. W. Butler, J. D. Hughes, Buttram, W. O. Phillips, A. L. Foshee, T. J. Deason and W. J. Rudnick.

Advisory Committee—Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Harvey Chandler, Mrs. H. C. McDonald, Mrs. W. D. Spigener, Mrs. J. O. Middleton, Mrs. B. E. Jones, Mrs. W. W. Fox, Mrs. B. G. Smith, and Mrs. Lida Jones.

Johnson, Mrs. Walter Popwell, Mrs. S. D. DeLoach, Mrs. C. N. Parnell.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

You are cordially invited to come to Bruce's Grove on July 4th and spend a day of pleasure.

Everybody come and bring a well filled basket—one mile north of Clanton. Music, Dancing and other amusements.

The Doctor Away From Home When Most Needed.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like pain in the stomach and bowels, colic and diarrhoea require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life.

Mrs. P. G. Manes, Mrs. Stella Shoults, Mrs. John Foshee; Mrs. W. C. Dyer, J. H. Mitchell, T. J. Milling, Mrs. Hamp Foshee, Misses Mitchell, Gregg and Weaver; Mrs. S. E. Norton, Mrs. N. L. ### IN MEMORY

Mrs. Amanda Langston, wife of the late R. J. Langston, died in June at her home near Fletcher. Her remains were laid to rest in Mars Hill Cemetery near her former home. She lived to old age, and was a good lady. The writer can remember her in her youthful days, and we know her children will deeply feel her loss. But let them be consoled with the fact that their mama has escaped the unparalleled distress now on the nations. With her dark night of weeping is over, and joy comes in the morning of the approaching beautiful day when the loved ones will all come back again—the restitution of all things, the sweet by and by. The beautiful land of the Olive and Rose, the new heavens and new earth, where universal peace will prevail. "There the dead shall rush from the tomb, And the living to health be restored, And away from all sorrow and gloom They'll be led by their life-giving Lord."

DON'T SELL THE EARLY HATCHED PULLETS

Th number of eggs that will be produced next winter will depend very largely upon the care given to the early hatched pullets, says Ira G. Shellabarger, Poultry Extension Husbandman at Auburn. These young pullets should be given the very best of care and so that they may develop into healthy, vigorous stock by fall and begin laying at an early age.

Coops that the young birds sleep in should be cleaned out regularly and all precautions taken to keep them free of lice and mites. Lice and mites are the poultryman's most serious handicap, and they can be entirely overcome if the coops are cleaned regularly and standard disinfectants used occasionally. It is also well to dust the fowls occasionally with some insect powder, or grease them on the head and under the wings with a small amount of lard.

Even with the high price of poultry at this time the farmer should not be tempted to dispose of his early hatched pullets. It would be a good plan, however, to put the cockrels on the market when they weigh one or more pounds.

It is our patriotic duty, however, to keep the early hatched pullets on the farm to produce as much feed this coming fall as possible. Eggs are good substitutes for meat and with good egg supply this fall the farmer can help very materially the meat shortage.

Mr. Shellabarger has recently been appointed by the Federal Government as Poultry Husbandman for Alabama, with headquarters at Auburn, and those interested in poultry can secure bulletins and dairy information by writing to him direct.

OAT AND CORN-FLOUR BREAD

Loaf bread that can be sliced and served cold or toasted is often wanted. Try this conservation loaf:

2 cups rolled oats (ground).
2-3 cup corn flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon salt.
3-4 cup of milk.
2 eggs.
4 tablespoons corn sirup.
2 tablespoons melted fat.
Mix the melted fat, liquid, sirup, and egg. Add the well-mixed dry ingredients. Bake as a loaf in a moderately hot oven for one hour or longer. Nuts or raisins may be added if desired.

This will make a good bread for the Fourth of July.

ALL PREACHERS NOTE!

On next Sunday you are expected to urge the people of your churches to come to Clanton on July 4th and participate in the patriotic celebration, in honor of our boys in the army. This is to be a day worth while and every body should come and help make it a success.

The Committee in charge will give everybody something to do. Come and let's give a day to honoring the brave boys who are fighting for us. We want the day to be one worthy of a place in the history of Chilton.

Come to Clanton on July Fourth.

STOUGHTON BICE HAVING BIG TIME SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

Interesting Letter written to His Father, Mr. J. Bice, Telling of Some Thrilling Incidents He Has Witnessed Over There.

An interesting letter has just been received by Mr. J. Bice, from his son, Stoughton, a member of a military band, with the U. S. Army somewhere in France. From what he says, the boys over there are not having such a dreadful time as we might think. He writes as follows:

Somewhere, May 28, 1918.

Dear Father:
Have just this minute received a letter from you, and enjoyed it very much, although am rather surprised at you not hearing from me more often than you do, for I write to you very often.

I received the box of smokes you sent me and have written you twice since that time. I can't understand why my mail never reached the states.

No, the Germans haven't got me yet, and I don't think they will either. My duties do not carry me directly into the front line, so if I get my gas mask on in time and dodge a few big shells, everything will be all right.

We rehearse every morning and play a concert in the afternoon. We have played concerts when the roar of the artillery was shaking the very ground underneath our feet and at the same time an air fight going on overhead. I certainly wish you could see a real air fight. It beats all for excitement I have ever seen, except a good old game of baseball.

Our division has a laque (ball) and only regimental teams participate.

We had a great day here last Sunday. Three bands, several boxing bouts, singing, story-telling, etc. Oh! we don't have to fight all the time. Uncle Sam believes in his men having a good time.

Kell, father, I am enjoying the best of health, plenty to eat and lots of beer to drink. I'm fatter than I have ever been before.

Here's hoping you're all O.K., and enjoying life. Regards to all my friends and love to the family.

Your loving son,
Stoughton M. Bice,
167th U. S. Inf. Band,
A. E. F., France.

RUBEN SMITH DIED IN B'HAM

The body of Ruben C. Smith, age 26, was shipped from Birmingham to Clanton Monday afternoon. The young man died Sunday from injuries received when an ammonia tank exploded at the Alabama Packing Company's plant, where he was employed.

He was the son of Mr. J. P. Smith who lives near Liberty Hill Church. The deceased is survived by a young wife.

He is well known in Chilton County and had many friends who will receive the news of his death with sorrowful hearts.

Mr. S. M. Pate has resigned his position with the Peoples Savings Bank here, and gone to Warrior to work for the Alabama Power Co.

HON. J. OSMOND MIDDLETON FOR CHILTON COUNTY REPRESENTATIVE

Announces a Platform of Loyalty to the Government in Prosecuting War Aims, Linked with a Pledge for Patriotic Service.

Clanton, Ala., June 27, 1918.—
TO THE PEOPLE OF CHILTON COUNTY:

I am a candidate for Representative in the Legislature of Alabama from Chilton County, subject to the action of the Republican primary to be held August, 13th, 1918.

Loyalty and Patriotism are my platform planks.

I believe in the conservation of every force and every energy for the triumph of our arms in the great world-war. To this end, I favor the nation-wide prohibition of the liquor traffic, and, if nominated and elected, I will support and vote for the prohibition amendment to the Federal Constitution.

I sincerely hope that this campaign will be without the heat and acrimony of former campaigns in this country. Our country's peril is too great to permit ourself torn by political strife. The Commander-in-chief and navy of this United States has said: "is Adjourned." To that let us all say, Amen! hands in one grand, supreme effort to crush Protrocracy and thus save liberty and civilization world. United we will stand by our boys who are fighting and dying in the trenches of France and Let preparedness be our watch-word; win-the-battle-cry.

I am deeply grateful for the many manifestations of support that have come to me from every section of the county, and I shall do my best to merit a continuance of this confidence.

Faithfully,
J. OSMOND MIDDLETON.

DAIRY CATTLE COMING IN BY THE CAR LOADS

Auburn, Ala., June 25, 1918.—
The dairy business is increasing quite rapidly in the vicinity of Selma. As is well known the dairy industry is very little in Alabama amounting to very little until the coming of the boll weevil. The folks in the vicinity of Selma, since the coming of this pest, have gone into the dairy business on a considerable scale.

Just a few days ago Mr. J. P. Quinler, Dairy Husbandman of the Alabama Extension Service, returned from Salem, Ohio, bringing six car loads of registered Jersey cattle for the patrons of the Selma creamery. Mr. Quinler was accompanied by Mr. William Hardie, the Extension man for the Selma Creamery. The cattle were very carefully selected and tuberculosis tested.

These gentlemen were able to buy cattle at very reasonable prices, on account of the acute labor shortage in Ohio. While we have a labor shortage in the South, it is nothing to compare with what it is in Ohio, according to Mr. Quinler.

These cattle were sold at cost to the patrons of the creamery. Any man owning cows and selling cream to the creamery could buy as many more cattle as he already had on hand giving 36 notes to a local bank, one coming due every two weeks, interest at 6 per cent. Payment of these notes is taken from the creamery check.

The cost of the cattle varied from $125 to $225, averaging about $150. In the six cars were 13 head bulls, around 30 heifer calves, and 89 mature cows. All of these cattle came from the Winona Cow Testing Association, which is known far and wide for the high class cattle product.

This is the third trip Messrs. Quinler and Hardie have made to Ohio for the Selma Creamery. The first time, they brought one car load of 28 grade animals, the second time, only one car load was brought, but these were all registered. The fact that they brought six car loads on their third trip indicates how well pleased the patrons of the creamery were with the selections of these men.

These cattle were sold within a radius of 20 to 25 miles of Selma.

WALTER GILLESPIE IN THE RACE FOR SHERIFF

ISSUES SHORT STATEMENT TO PEOPLE OF COUNTY CONCERNING HIS RECORD AS DEPUTY SHERIFF.

Clanton, Ala., June 26, 1918.

To the voters of Chilton County:

In another column of this paper you will find my announcement as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, subject to the action of the Republican primary on August 13th, 1918.

In making my announcement and asking the people's support for this office, I do so fully realizing the responsibilities that this office carries with it. I have served as chief Deputy Sheriff since Sheriff Harris assumed charge of the office in January, 1915, and I feel that with the experience that I have had as Deputy Sheriff, that I can properly discharge the duties of this office. And should I be elected I shall use my best efforts to properly discharge the duties of the office without fear or favor, and see that all laws are fully executed.

I shall conduct a clean campaign, without any mud slinging and shall endeavor to be elected Sheriff of Chilton County on my own merits and not on the demerits of anyone.

I have at all times in the past given my aid and assistance to the Republican party and its nominees, and have at all times done all that I could for the success of the party.

I invite a careful examination of my official acts since I have been deputy Sheriff of this County and of my political record in the past.

After a careful investigation of my record and the things for which I stand, if you can see your way clear in supporting me for this office, your vote and influence will be highly appreciated. However, if my opponent be the choice of the people, I shall do all that I can to elect him in November.

W. H. GILLESPIE.

MRS. E. ROBINSON, SR., DIED ON LAST TUESDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Jane Robinson, wife of the late E. Robinson, Sr., died at her home 6 miles east of Clanton on Tuesday night. Her lifeless body was found in her bed on Wednesday morning. She had died peacefully some time during the night.

The deceased lady was a most beloved woman and had lived to mature age. She is the mother of John M. and James M. Robinson, well-known citizens of Clanton, and E. Robinson, Jr., of Beat 16.

This year is no time for wasting a day and money and food at the old firesome kinds of Fourth-of-July celebrations. If you are to celebrate, come to Clanton and help out in the big patriotic celebration in honor of the soldier boys.

PORTER PLIER KILLED IN FRANCE ON JUNE 18TH

FIRST CHILTON COUNTY MAN TO BE KILLED IN BATTLE WITH THE ALLIES IN FRANCE.

A telegram from Washington was received Tuesday afternoon by Mr. Charley Plier, stating that his son, Porter, had been killed in battle in France on June 18.

The young soldier was a member of the Rainbow Division, and was one of the first to go to France. He was 21 years old, being killed on his 21st birthday. He volunteered in the army and was with the boys on the Mexican Border campaign, later going across to France.

Young Plier is the first Chilton County boy to be killed in battle.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS SELLING RIGHT ALONG

GOOD START WAS MADE AT THE MEETING HERE LAST SATURDAY. SUBSCRIPTION COMING IN WELL.

The speaking at the courthouse on last Saturday was attended by a large crowd of representative citizens of Chilton County the capacity of the court house being taxed to the limit.

Senator Frank S. White and Frank Willis Barnett delivered patriotic speeches which were well received, and Hon. Crawford Johnson, State Director W.S.S. made a talk on War Savings Stamps. At the conclusion of Mr. Johnson's talk he called for pledges from the audience offering to purchase $1,000 worth of stamps in Chilton County if ten citizens would take a like amount. In response to his offer twelve parties pledged themselves to take the limit—$1,000. All told the pledges at the meeting totaled the sum of over $15,000.00.

This showing speaks well of Clanton and Chilton County and we desire to say in this connection that while it is very good, there are many others in the county that can take the limit—more people than would at first be thought. When it is considered the number of Chilton County men who are giving their all for the cause of liberty, it seems that certainly every man would be willing to lend his money to the United States Government on the best security and the best investment ever offered.

The man who fails to do what he can is fast becoming an exile among his fellows—fast losing the respect of his fellowmen and the yellow stripe is showing more clearly day by day.

We are happy to say that Chilton has but few of such men, but there are a few of them everywhere, and we here call on them to get right and change their color to RED, WHITE and BLUE, or we now serve notice on them that they will be, in the eyes of their fellow citizens, branded with their true color.

Let's pull together for the 28th.

The Ladies Committee headed by Mrs. N. S. Johnson, which has been engaged in a canvass of Clanton for War Savings Stamps had up to Saturday night reported pledges and sales of stamps in the Clanton School District of about $25,000.00. This one-half of the quota of this District, and as the committee has covered only a part of the District, it seems that Clanton will "go over the top" with room to spare.

Mr. Lawrence F. Gerald, County Chairman for War Savings Stamps, announces that arrangements have been made to hold meetings in every school district of the county on the 28th of this month. As far as possible a four minute man will be placed at each meeting and it is thought that in most instances the supply will equal the demand.

In addition to the men appointed to hold these meetings and the four minute men the executive committee of the county is doing active work to make this drive a success.

The members appointed to the committee so far are as follows:

Dr. R. B. McNeil, Jemison, W. C. Edler, Thorsby, S. L. Gibson, Verbena, T. J. Henderson, Mt. Creek, Rev. J. C. Buttram, Maplesville, Mrs. W. C. Dyer, Stanton.

It is hoped that everyone will attend the meetings of the 28th and pledge to the limit of their ability.

people all torn and divided by poli-

a cocked hat when they had once looked over the great crowd that greeted them at the court house and felt the pulse of our people a bit.

PLEASING AN EDITOR

Some folks think editors are a hard thing to please, and sometimes the case might be one involving more or less truth. But when a fellow has once been an editor he can pretty well guess what it takes to bring a smile to the ink-smearing face of one of the craft.

For instance on last Saturday Mr.
Wallace C. Edler of Thorsby, who used to be the editor of "The Union" before its consolidation with "The Banner," came down to Clanton and brought the present editor a box of the finest kind of big luscious Japanese plums. No one but an editor can tell how much we appreciated the present.

Not only the editor "comes in"
on such occasions. The "devil" always gets his share too. And his appreciation of such is measured only by his great ability to eat them.

GIRLS CLUB WORK

The canning season will soon be here, and it is our patriotic duty to let nothing in garden or orchard go to waste. It should be either canned or dried.

In view of the great demand that will be made on us for food supplies of all kinds this winter, and the uncertainty of these demands being met, especially in canned goods, every housekeeper and club member in the county is urged to can at least one hundred cans in tin besides what they will can for home consumption. This will work no great hardship on any one, yet if it were needed would go a long way toward supplying the market, should there be a shortage.

We are fortunate enough to have the cans in our county, and this could be easily done.

The shortage in sugar can be met to a great extent, by using one-third corn syrup in light jellies and preserves, also in cake.

Ribbon cane syrup can be used in canning black berries and in making jam. It does not make a standard product but can be used well in the diet as a substitute.

There are recipes for using all substitutes on file in the office of the County Home Demonstration Agent, and may be had for writing for them.
The shortage of envelopes has made it impossible to mail out all literature as it comes into the office, but may be had by calling for it.

We must do our duty at home as well as the boys are doing theirs on the battle lines. Help feed them!

NOTICE OF ELECTION

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in School District No.
15, at Verbena, Ala., on Monday, the 15th day of July, 1918, to permit the qualified voters of said School District to vote for or against a tax of twenty cents per one hundred dollars on the taxable property of said School District. If a majority of all the qualified voters voting at said election vote for the proposed tax of twenty cents per one hundred dollars on all the taxable property in said School District, the said tax shall be levied for the years 1918-'19 and 1919-'20, and it is to be used exclusively for school purposes in School District No. 15.

L. H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate

Riley Robinson of Beat 16 was in Clanton on Wednesday.

Judge S. M. Adams spent last Sunday in Birmingham.

AS OTHERS SEE US

When Bobby Burns uttered the poetical prayer yearning that we had the power to see ourselves as others see us, he expressed an untold desire which if fulfilled would materially alter every human heart in the world.

Our lives would be interesting indeed if we could view them through the perspective held by others when they look upon us. But since we have not this inhuman power, it is interesting for us to have the other fellow's opinion brought to us when he has looked us over and given his opinion.

Hence we are glad to quote the expressions of the Rev. Frank Willis Barnett in the Birmingham Age-Herald of Monday, as he makes some observations on his visit to Clanton last Saturday. He no doubt saw us and our county and town in a light that none of us have or ever will see ourselves. And what he says about us is somewhat interesting and encouraging to say the least of it.

His report of the Clanton trip is as follows:

Now, I had been hearing conflicting reports about Chilton County. Word had gone out that it was not coming up to the scratch in war work. The trouble was attributed to a number of things, but the consensus of opinion put it at the door of politics.
For years Chilton has been a fertile field for the politician, but I am glad to state that the leaders of both parties seem to have agreed that the thing to do is to win the war and have the political game as an ante-war amusement.

Crawford and the Hon. Frank
S. White, who happened in by accident had the pleasure of dining in the hospitable home of Judge Reynolds. It seems the senator was motoring through the country. He made a ten-minute opening speech at the courthouse, where Crawford and I had been billed to speak. It was purely on patriotism. He made a political speech later to quite a crowd on one of the street corners.

Now, for more than a year I have been going out on various occasions to speak in many towns throughout Alabama, but I unhesitatingly say that we were greeted at Clanton with one of the most representative audiences that I have ever had the privilege to address. It was Saturday afternoon and many farmers were in town. A number of merchants left their business and came out. I saw quite a sprinkling of professional men in the crowd, and there were many ladies.

L. F. Gerald was the chairman of the meeting and introduced the Hon.
Frank S. White and Crawford Johnson, but when it came my turn to be presented it was done by Rev. E. C.
Maye, the Methodist pastor, who is very much alive on the Thrift Stamp proposition. I suppose the chairman got him to introduce me to show that not only the politicians had burned the hatchet, but that the denominations were living together in harmony.
Dr. J. F. Gable, the Baptist pastor, was present and happy over a good meeting which had just closed in his church. If the politicians and the churches pull together there is slight chance for friction.

Now, Crawford Johnson is somebody. He slipped off in the morning out to the power plant on the Coosa River and got nearly $1500 subscribed from a handful of men.
At the afternoon meeting he sold $16,000 worth, and the good work is just started. I know that both the leading men and women in the town and county have made up their minds that they are going to see to it that the people understand the necessity of buying Baby Bonds, and have outlined a progressive campaign.

INTERESTING LECTURES

Mr. Reimer of St. Joseph, Mo., visited Waldruns School House and lectured to a large audience on the 21st inst. His first subject was, "The World has Ended. Millions now living will never die," showing the present world, age or disposition ended in 1914, that a new world or age is now on. With it comes a new order of things, new government, new order of agriculture, education, travel, surgery, business, religious work, domestic life, national affairs, journalism, health, child life—in all things.
And while millions have died and millions will yet die, but millions now living will enter the new order and never die if they will repent and reform. Man will learn his lesson in the present world distress, gladly welcome the new order and conform to its rules and never die. In the meantime the church will be glorified and share in the great work of uplifting all who will be saved.
His second subject was restitution of all things.

Mr. Reimer is a young man of fine intellect, a forceful speaker.

RULES FOR FARMERS WHO GROW THEIR OWN WHEAT

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a letter from the State Food Administration in regard to farmers who grow their own wheat. There are many who grow wheat in Chilton county who will be interested in the facts conveyed in the letter, hence we are glad to publish it in full as follows:

"Editor Union-Banner:

"We were unable before now to reply to your letter in regard to the amount of wheat farmers could have ground at any one time due to the fact that the Washington Authorities had not ruled on the matter.

"We are just in receipt of a telegram from Washington permitting us to announce that farmers who grow wheat are now allowed to have ground at any one time, sufficient wheat to produce a three months supply of flour. Also the basis of farmers growing their own wheat is now twelve pounds per person per month for use of their households and tenants.

"The use of substitutes on the present basis is still in effect.

"Trusting that the above will be satisfactorily to you, we remain,

Yours very truly,

THOMAS BRAGG,

Executive Secretary.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. J. F. Gable, the pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church, announces a series of services on the Ten Commandments, to be delivered one each Sunday, beginning with the first on next Sunday morning, June 30. At night the subject will be "The Sin Against the Holy Ghost."

The Commandments will be discussed in the morning on alternate Sundays, and at night on the intervening Sundays. Thus, the first will be June 30th in the morning and the second on July 2nd at night; then the third on the morning of July 14th, and the fourth at night on July 21st, until they are all gone over.

Next Sunday morning the first will be discussed from the viewpoint of "Religion, and the Nature of the God with Whom it has to do."

As the baptismal pool in the church cannot be used, notice is hereby given that the ordinance of baptism will be administered in the creek near Gore's Bridge on next Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. It is hoped that all the candidates for baptism will be present on time and prepared. About fourteen have been approved up to date, and others who will come prepared may be approved at the water.

A Fifth Sunday Meeting will be held at Pates Chapel, near Thorsby, on next Saturday and Sunday.

The wife of Sheriff Harris is still in a Birmingham infirmary and is improving slowly.

All Traces of Scrofula Cleansed from the Blood

Impurities Promptly Wiped Out.

If there is any trace of Scrofula, or other impurities in your blood, you cannot enjoy the full physical development that a healthy body is capable of until your blood has been thoroughly cleansed and purified of all traces of impure matter.

S. S. S., the wonderful old purely vegetable blood remedy, has no equal for removing the last trace of Scrofula and other blood taints, and there is no case that it does not promptly reach. S. S. S. will thoroughly cleanse and remove every disease germ that infests the blood and give you new life and vigor. It is sold by all druggists and you should get a bottle and begin its use to-day. Write a complete history of your case, and you can obtain expert medical advice free by addressing Medical Director, 30

MT. NEBO SINGING SOCIETY

The Mt. Nebo Singing Society met at Mt. Nebo, last Sunday, June 23, with an extra large class and a number of hearers, all of whom we were proud to see.

The singing was opened with song by Mr. Samuel Henley, who acted as chairman during the absence of the regular chairman, Mr. S. A. Henley.

The chairman directed a short lesson while the program committee arranged the program.

The directors for the afternoon were Messrs. Sam Culp, Eugene Williams, Blanco Durbin, Olen Culp, William Cox, Aurelius Culp, and F. I.
Popwell, ten minutes each.

We also had an interesting quartet rendered by Messrs Jake Henley, Sam Culp, F. I. Popwell and Blanco Durbin, assisted by Misses Everree and Ada Williams and Belle Popwell and Mrs. Eula Culp.

The singing was closed with song
by the chairman and prayer by Prof.
Popwell.

We cordially invite all singers and lovers of music to come and be with us on the second and fourth Sundays.
OLLIE CHAPMAN, Secy.

FOUND.

A large pink cameo brooch was found across the street from the court house. The owner can get same by applying to the Union-Banner and paying for this advertisement.

We Set Tire Standards

Why is it that United States Tires are setting new records for mileage and serviceability?

Why is it that the sales of these tires are constantly mounting by leaps and bounds?

The answer is found in the factories where United States Tires are made.

Standards of construction for these tires are higher than ever before known in the tire industry.

Makers of tire fabrics tell us that the standards we have given them for United States Tire fabrics are higher than any previously known.

Likewise through every process of construction from crude rubber to finished tires—we have set new and higher standards everywhere.

These standards work out on your car in the practical economy demanded by war-times.

United States Tires will raise any car to higher efficiency.

There is a type to suit every condition of service.

The nearest United States Sales and Service Depot dealer will cheerfully aid in selecting right tires for your requirements.

WILL TEACH DRAFT MEN WHO CANNOT READ

STATE COUNCIL OF DEFENSE IS TAKING STEPS TO RELIEVE AN ALARMING SITUATION IN ALABAMA.

Montgomery, Ala., June 25, 1918. With the knowledge that five thousand and white men of Alabama already drafted into the army cannot read and write, and that ten per cent or more of those subject to draft are illiterate, the Alabama Council of Defense and State Illiteracy Commission have started a state-wide campaign for the teaching of all illiterates who are awaiting their call to arms. Prof. A. F. Harmon of Selma has been placed in charge of the work of organization with offices with the State Council of Defense, and ten well-known educational workers of Alabama have a ready volunteered their services during vacation and will assist in the organization of the state.

Ignorance is the greatest enemy now working within the lines of the American army. Convinced of this fact, the state council and illiteracy commission will trail it as they would an enemy spy. Happiness of the men depends upon their being able to write home, to receive letters from home and to read newspapers, magazines and army orders. Abundant stories have come from American army camps supporting the belief that the eradication of illiteracy will mean more to the American army than any other one development. When illiteracy moves out efficiency moves in. The men must be able to read sight leaves on rifles in order to be good marksmen. An illiterate man cannot do so.

Army orders are posted daily in company streets. To an illiterate they mean no more than a proclamation written in a foreign language. Oftentimes even privates must receive and send written orders. At all times a soldier should be able to study the manual of arms and other army literature. These facts and many others show that where illiteracy is efficiency cannot be.

J. M. Robinson, probate judge of Covington County, has been so impressed with the campaign in his county, he has urged every probate judge in the state to take an active interest in the work. Under the plan of the organizers, each county will have a county manager who will work under a central committee which will be composed of the chairman of the county council of defense, the county superintendent of education, the judge of probate, the county health officer, the home demonstration agent, the farm demonstration agent, the county high school principal and in some instances the city superintendent of education and a representative of the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs yet to be appointed.

Those who have already volunteered for the task of organizing the state are E. M. Shackelford, president of the Troy Normal School; C. W. Daugette, president of the Jacksonville Normal School; C. W. Brock, president of the Livingston Normal School; Prof. J. T. McKee, of the Florence Normal School, Raleigh W. Greene, president of the Moundville Normal School, W. R. Harrison, superintendent of the city schools of Opelika, and S. R. Butler, superintendent of education of Madison County.

Judge Robinson's letter to the probate judges, a succinct statement of the results that may be accomplished in a few weeks, follows:

"You are, I am sure, familiar with the purposes of the emergency campaign that was launched several weeks ago among the illiterate registered men of the state. Perhaps, you feel as I did at first, that the plan was not practical and that reaching these men was not possible. However, the central committee appointed me to assume the responsibility of this work in Covington County decided to put forth the effort and I as chairman have endeavored to do what I could.

"I wish to say that up to date the results have far exceeded our expectations and I feel that the campaign has in many ways been worth while. Something over one hundred of our own men are now studying and we have received quite a number of letters from men who five weeks ago could not write their names. I believe that through this undertaking the people of the county are being impressed as never before with the importance of educating the boys and girls.

"I have been informed that while the Alabama Illiteracy Commission initiated the campaign, the State Council of Defense is now taking up this work and enlarged plans are being made to the end that every county in the state be reached.

"Having been in close touch with the work in Covington County and realizing the good it has done, I wish to say that I believe it is worthy the loyal cooperation and support of every judge of probate in the state. I feel that it furnishes the opportunity for rendering a genuine service."

BIDS WANTED FOR BUILDING A HOUSE AT THE POOR FARM

Notice is hereby given that I will let a contract for building a house at the county poor farm, and to add to one of the county houses already at the farm, July the 15th, 1918. The county will furnish all material. I reserve the right to reject any and all bids. Plans and specifications can be seen at the Probate office.

L. H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate, Clanton, Ala., June 18, 1918.

It is more than duty, more than Patriotism---it is a PRIVILEGE to buy War Savings Stamps.

Why You Should Buy Them.

- 1st. The United States Government guarantees to pay your money back.
- 2nd. The United States pays 4 per cent interest on War Savings Stamps, compounded quarterly, which amounts to almost 4 1-2 per cent—greater rate of interest than Liberty Bonds.
- 3rd. You can purchase any amount at any time during 1918, to suit your convenience.
- 4th. The money paid for them will help win the war and keep our soldiers fed, clothed, armed and protected—keep our country safe for democracy.
- 5th. If at any time you need the money invested, you can cash them at your post office, giving the Postmaster ten days notice, the only penalty being a slight reduction in the interest rate—this is a feature no Liberty Bond has.
- 6th. Because it is not a gift or contribution—it is, in fact the best and safest investment in the world to-day.

Buy All You Can!

THEREFORE, INVEST IN WAR SAVINGS STAMPS TO THE LIMIT OF YOUR ABILITY, AND THUS LET CHILTON COUNTY "GO OVER THE TOP" WITH WAR SAVINGS STAMPS AS IT HAS IN ALL OTHER MATTERS. MAKE YOUR PLEDGE ON JUNE 28TH, TO THE LIMIT OF YOUR ABILITY.

TO THE HEADS OF FAMILIES OF CLANTON SCHOOL DISTRICT 65:

This is to notify every family in School District No. 65 of Clanton County, that a representative of the family is expected to attend the War Stamps Meeting at the Courthouse at 2, p.m. on Friday afternoon, June 28. Absentees will be noted.

L. F. GERALD,

What Will Be Your Answer?

Many American ships with many American lives are at the bottom of the Atlantic, victims of the German lust for blood.

Our boys are going "over there," through a sea of hostile submarines, to fight that you and I at home may be safe.

But we can do something. Germany said to us, "You cannot cross the ocean with your men! You cannot fight us, because you cannot reach us!" What shall our answer be on June 28?

June 28th National War Savings Day

Let every man, woman and child join in an answer that can be heard from one end of Germany to the other—an answer so clear, so strong and so true that it may have a far greater effect than any of us can imagine, on Germany's future policy.

Let this be our answer—let every man, woman and child in this great land of ours pledge himself to buy as many War Savings Stamps as he or she can possibly afford. Let's show German autocracy that instead of undermining our morale, sinking our ships and killing our men only stirs us to action.

If every American buys one War Savings Stamp on June 28th it will add 425 million dollars to our war fund.

But that is not enough. We must pledge five times that. Our quota for the nation is two billion dollars, to be raised through the sale of War Savings Stamps this year.

Let's strike another telling blow to the Kaiser on June 28th by taking up every dollar of that two billions.

PATRIOTIC CELEBRATION FOURTH OF JULY

WE WILL HONOR OUR BOYS AT THE FRONT WHO ARE FIGHTING THE BATTLES OF LIBERTY FOR US AT HOME.

The undersigned committee of the Council of National Defense for Chilton county desires to call the attention of the people to the proclamation of President Wilson and the Governor, urging that in each county patriotic celebrations be held on July the 4th, in honor of our boys now fighting for their country's cause.

All Beat and District committees appointed immediately after the meeting on April 28, 1917 are requested to convene and perfect arrangements for appropriate celebration of July the Fourth.

This Committee is arranging for a celebration at Clanton on the Fourth, and it is hoped that the entire county will take part in it. Additional committees from over the county will be announced to help in this celebration. Simplicity will be the keynote of the celebrations.

Respectfully,
Wm. M. ADAMS, Chairman.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

State of Alabama, Chilton County.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in School District No. 44, at Union Point School House on the 15th day of July, 1918, to permit the qualified voters of said School District to vote for or against a tax of thirty cents per one hundred dollars on the taxable property of said School District. If a majority of all the qualified voters voting at said election vote for the proposed tax of thirty cents per one hundred dollars on all the taxable property in said School District, the said tax shall be levied for the years 1918-'19 and 1919-'20, and it is to be used exclusively for school purposes in School District No. 44.

HON. CRAWFORD JOHNSON SPOKE OUT AT LOCK 12

Last Saturday morning Hon. Crawford Johnson of Birmingham, accompanied by Lawrence F. Gerald, County Chairman of the W. S. S. Campaign, and other county workers, went out to Lock 12 to speak to the employees of the Alabama Power Co., in regard to War Savings Stamps. The little town out there gave the speakers a good reception and started off well in their subscription for War Savings Stamps.

The Till Boll Weevil Catcher

From the information we have on the merit of the Till Boll Weevil Catcher we are convinced that if the farmers will begin using them when cotton is five or six inches high and continue until the plant is too large to pass through the Catcher, and go over the crop at least once every ten days, cotton can be grown successfully and profitably. It is estimated that one man using a Catcher can destroy more Weevils in the same length of time than twenty men can destroy picking the weevils off by hand.

We have only a very few and if you expect to buy one, please write or phone us at once so we can get more of them from the factory by the time they are needed.

The price is $7.50, and judging by the experience of farmers in other sections you can double the yield of cotton by using them as directed.

240 POUND PIGS

With corn above 50 cents hogs eat their heads off very quickly. The hog that takes two or three months to get on full feed never brings you a profit.

When you are ready to put your shoats on feed, begin with the B. A. Thomas' Hog Medicine. Use regularly and watch your shoats round out into fat hogs in nine months—hogs going well over 200 pounds and as high as 240 pounds. Figure the average feeding and you will see why the B. A. Thomas medicine is a good investment. Try feeding out your hogs on this plan and if you are not more than pleased, we will refund the cost of the medicine.

Chronic Constipation.

Perhaps you have never thought of it, but this disorder is due to a lack of moisture in the residual matter of the food. If you will drink an abundance of water, eat raw fruits and take lots of outdoor exercise, you may be able eventually to overcome it entirely. In the meantime use the most mild and gentle laxatives. Strong and harsh cathartics take too much water out of the system and make a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are easy and pleasant to take, and most agreeable in effect. Give them a trial.

LEONARD HARRIS DOING WELL

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a letter from J. Leonard Harris of the United States Navy. He is stationed at present at the U. S. Submarine Base, at Coco Solo, Canal Zone. Mr. Harris volunteered in the navy last December. He is well pleased with his situation and is liking sailor life fine. He has many friends in this county who will be glad to hear from him.

Keep Faith With Your Boy "Over There"

When your boy was so little that all the world was a foreign country to him, he trusted you to take care of him.

You sent that boy to school and to play and on your little errands, and with implicit faith he did your bidding.

Now we have sent your boy or your neighbor's boy out-into a foreign land, into terrors that we cannot even know--and his faith has not faltered. He knows we will do our part, and we know he will do his.

Are we keeping the faith? Are we scrimping and saving and giving to help our boys do the thing that humanity has asked of them, and to help them come back to us sane and whole?

MEDAL OF HONOR TESTS ARE FIXED

GENERAL PERSHING TELLS HIS OFFICERS WHAT DEEDS ARE TO BE REWARDED.

ARMY STORE'S LOW PRICES

Soldiers in France Can Buy Many Things Cheaper Than in This Country—New "Overseas Cap" Added to American Equipment.

(From Committee on Public Information.) Washington.—These tests are applied to cases recommended for the medal of honor, according to instructions issued as a guide to officers by General Pershing:

Men who have performed in action deeds of most distinguished personal bravery and self-sacrifice above and beyond all call of duty; so conspicuous as clearly to distinguish them for gallantry and intrepidity above their comrades; which involve risk of life or the performance of more than ordinarily hazardous service, the omission of which would not justly subject the person to censure for shortcoming or failure in the performance of his duty.

The distinguished-service cross is awarded for gallantry in action to anyone who may distinguish himself in action by extraordinary heroism in connection with military operation against an armed enemy, under circumstances which do not justify the award of the medal of honor.

The distinguished-service medal is awarded for exceptionally meritorious service to the government in connection with operations against an armed enemy.

Prices quoted for June on merchandise in the huge general stores operated by the quartermaster corps in France show that members of the expeditionary forces may secure goods at prices lower than retail prices in effect in this country.

June quotations are: Half-pound package chocolate, 11 cents; can of cherries, 24 cents; can of cocoa, 14 cents; pocket comb, 6 cents; can of corn, 10 cents; shaving brushes, 15 cents; tooth brushes, 12 cents; can stringless beans, 10 cents; bottle ginger ale, 9 cents; can plum pudding, 32 cents; standard $5 safety razors, $1.75; pair shoe laces, 3 cents; can talcum powder, 5 cents; pound cut-loaf sugar, 10 cents; spool cotton thread, 4 cents; two-ounce package smoking tobacco, 7 cents; hand soap, 1 cent; can lobster, 25 cents; shaving soap, 4 cents; bottle Worcestershire sauce, 20 cents; linen handkerchiefs, 16 cents; pint bottle olives, 23 cents; can green peas, 10 cents; shoe polish, 9 cents.

Although the men are issued ample rations the quartermaster stores are opened to the enlisted men for the purpose of permitting them to add to their menu or to satisfy individual desires for dainties or delicacies. The highest grade of merchandise only is carried in stock so that the men may be sure of having the best, whether in rations or extra supplies.

Meats, groceries, fish, vegetables, notions, toilet articles, smokers' articles, and scores of miscellaneous items are included in the published price lists. These lists are made available to each company and purchases may be made either for cash or on credit.

Among the staples to be found in these chain stores are: Fresh beef, ham, bacon, turkey, potatoes, rice, hominy, beans, onions, coffee, tea, sugar, cheese, cocoa, butter, and evaporated fruits. The canned fruits and vegetables include: Apples, peaches, apricots, pears, cherries, currants, pineapples, prunes, asparagus, sweet corn, tomatoes, mushrooms, sweet potatoes, spinach, squash, turnips and beans. Included in the list of canned meats and fish are: Lobsters, oysters, salmon, mackerel, cod, sardines, shrimps, herring, deviled crabs, sausages, tongue, turkey, deviled ham, corned beef, corned-beef hash, roast beef and mince.

For the man with a sweet tooth there are: Jams, jellies, preserves, raisins, apple butter, maple syrup, molasses, cranberry sauce, citron, nuts, candy, etc. The smoker may purchase smoking tobacco and chewing tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, pipes, cigarette papers and matches. The incidental needs of all the men are supplied with razors, combs, brushes for all purposes, buttons, soap, shaving sticks, shaving mugs, mirrors, razor strops, shoe polish, shoe laces, toilet water, talcum powder, tooth powder, witch-hazel, towels, handkerchiefs, pocket-knives, needles, thread, candles and playing cards.

In one army camp there are 55 battalion baseball teams, besides the headquarters, staff, brigade and division teams.

More than 800 penalties for violation of rules and regulations governing licensed dealers in foodstuffs have been imposed during the past ten months by the food administration. About 150 companies and individuals have been ordered to quit business in licensed commodities for a limited or unlimited period, and over 500 have voluntarily made a money payment, usually to the Red Cross, or have temporarily abstained from doing business rather than risk calling down more drastic penalties.

The "overseas cap" now being issued to soldiers in the expeditionary forces matches the uniform in color, has a very low crown, and has no brim or peak. It is so made that it may be folded and carried in a pocket.

When American forces entered the trenches it was found that the brims of their campaign hats interfered with sighting through trench periscopes and that in the cases of tall men the high crowns could be seen above the parapets. The new cap is so low that it permits the men to move with practically the same freedom as when they are hatless. The trench helmet can be worn over it.

Only soldiers who have been with the expeditionary forces wear the cap. According to reports from France new regulations provide that officers shall wear their insignia of rank on the cap, and enlisted men place on it the button prescribed to be worn on the left side of the collar of the service coat.

The total cost for National army cantonments was $140,726,473, according to a statement by the war department. The National Guard camps cost $38,375,272.

Emergency work to provide for soldiers in this country and to provide buildings for the manufacture and storage of army supplies both here and abroad undertaken by the construction division of the army, which has been executed or is under way and in prospect up to June 1, will cost about $1,170,619,000. This total is exclusive of three operations costing $106,000,000, under the direct control of the ordnance department.

Up to June 1 the construction division had completed 53 jobs, at a total cost of $202,250,000. It has 244 operations under way, which, when finished, will cost about $270,369,000. Preparations are being made to start work on 117 new operations which are expected to cost $700,000,000.

Two out of every 1,000 men in the army have to have their shoes made to order. In several camps entire regiments have had their feet measured, and hundreds of drawings were made of odd shapes and sizes. At the present time the army uses between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 pairs of shoes a month.

Facts brought out in tests seem to prove that men in the present army are larger than those serving in previous wars. Not only is this shown by the larger sizes of shoes called for, but by the larger sizes of outer clothing that is being required. Records in the quartermaster corps show that a size larger, on the average, is being demanded in blouses, shirts and breeches than have ever before been used.

As a result of the studies at the front, methods have been developed whereby more than 80 per cent of the wounded, who originally remained at the military hospitals for months, are now cured and returned to the forces in three or four weeks. In order that army surgeons stationed at camps, cantonments, and other military hospitals in this country may thoroughly understand the latest treatment of war wounds, the army medical department has had established special classes of instruction to which are sent selected officers who, upon completion of their courses, return to their own hospitals and instruct other surgeons in these methods.

"Duty to one's country does not end on the parade ground, nor even on the battlefield, but consists in doing everything in one's power to help win the war," says an order issued by General Pershing, a copy of which has been received by the war department.

"To write home frequently and regularly to keep in constant touch with family and friends is one of the soldier's most important duties. Mothers and fathers will suffer if they do not hear often from sons fighting in France. In the present large companies it is not possible for officers to write letters for their men, and every man must do it for himself."

Applicants for commissions as first lieutenants in the engineer corps, according to a statement by the war department, should be between thirty-two and thirty-six years of age and for commissions as captains between thirty-six and forty-two. The engineer corps is conducting a campaign for 2,000 more commissioned officers, the examining board making a tour of the principal titles of the country to make examination readily available for applicants.

The $120,000,000 allotted for the plants is expected to give the government a smokeless powder production capacity equal to all other American plants combined. In construction of the plants it was found necessary to build a new town on each site to house the employees, and approximately 9,000 different buildings were erected. Streets were put down and sewerage, power plants constructed, and stores and hospitals built. Approximately 35,000 men worked on construction and about 30,000 will eventually be engaged in the actual production of powder.

Thousands of women are employed in the United States gas-mask plant. They are acting as inspectors and are engaged throughout the entire process of manufacture, according to a statement from the gas defense service. Hundreds of girls have been trained in the special art of sewing the face pieces. Each separate step in the assembling of the mask is done by women workers, until the mask is completed, the last inspection is made and the final product is ready for shipment overseas.

BOYS WILL ENROLL IN U. S. BOYS' WORKING RESERVE

Montgomery, Ala., June 24, 1918.—Eight thousand boys of the high schools, district agricultural schools and public schools will be called upon by the U. S. Boys' Working Reserve and the Alabama Council of Defense to enroll themselves for work in the fields during the harvesting period this fall. Preliminary plans have already been made and all problems connected with the work will be solved before the end of the summer.

A conference at tended by Governor Henderson, Dr. Chas. C. Thach, president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Lloyd M. Hooper, chairman of the State Council of Defense, W. N. Reed, state director of the Boys' Working Reserve, Spright Dowell, state superintendent of education and others was held this week and work was started on the scheme.

Boys must be utilized this fall if the state's heavy crops of corn and other foodstuffs are harvested. Foreseeing a labor shortage, the State Council of Defense and Federal Director Reed, of the Boys' Working Reserve have decided to work out plans now for the use of boys. A scheme will be provided whereby those who go on the farms during the harvesting season will not lose their standing in their studies.

The committee planning for the boys will assure parents and relatives that they will be sent into sections where the surroundings are good and where proper protection may be afforded.

THORSBY NOTES.

At a business meeting of the members of the Congregational church on last Sunday the resignation of Rev. S. H. Herbert as pastor was accepted and a unanimous call extended to Rev. James W. Davenport of Robbins, Tenn., to become pastor of the church. Rev. Mr. Davenport spent a Sunday in Thorsby not long ago and preached both morning and evening. His messages were much enjoyed by all. It is expected that Mr. Davenport will accept the call and begin his pastorate August 15th.

The lure of high wages is drawing the young men of Thorsby to Warrior river. Almon Graham and Sumner Gerald left on Monday of this week for Gorgas, Ala., where Edward Howard, Lawrence Lefstead and others from Thorsby are already at work. These young men expect to return in September to resume their studies at Thorsby Institute.

Miss Nolia Robinson of Albertville spent the week-end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Robinson.

Messrs. W. C. Elder, D. J. Flummer and S. H. Herbert attended the War Savings Stamp rally at Clanton Saturday.

Senator Frank S. White, who is a candidate for re-election to the Senate, opposing Senator Bankhead, was in Thorsby for a short time last Saturday.

Miss Grady Margaret Bynum will spend a month with her mother in Thorsby.

There will be preaching services at the Swedish Lutheran Church next Sunday both morning and evening. Preaching at the Congregational Church in the morning. Sunday School and Young People's Societies in all three churches at the usual hour.

The Ladies' Guild meets on Thursday of this week with Mrs. Robert Johnson.

Earl Mead, who has been night operator at Helena, has been transferred to Jenison, which makes it possible for him to be with his parents in Thorsby each day.

Prof. C. M. Williams, who has accepted a position with the Standard Oil Co., of Birmingham, for the summer, spent Sunday in Thorsby.

Don't forget the meeting at the Public School House Friday, June 28th, in the interest of the War Savings Stamps campaign. Mr. W. C. Elder has charge of the arrangement for this meeting and an interesting time is assured.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Warner and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Warner of Montgomery, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Horn, of Clanton, were in Thorsby Sunday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Horn.

NOTICE

To those who are interested in the Cedar Grove Cemetery are requested to meet on the 11th day of July for the purpose of cleaning it off. H. H. HAYES.

FEEDING SOLDIERS ON THE TRANSPORTSMESS OFFICER OF THE VESSEL MUST PROVIDE 210,000 MEALS
AT SEA.

SOME OF THE 180 VARIETIES

Money Instead of Merchandise Should Be Sent to the Troops in France—
Dental Corps Can Care for 5,000,000 Men.

An account of how soldiers are fed at sea is given in the daily newspaper published on a transport:

"Outside of providing 210,000 meals at sea, the mess officer of the ship has very little to do. Very little.

"He is only called upon to provide, by the regulations, 180 different varieties of food. That's all. Every try to order 180 different things to eat? Yet this is the authentic list.

"The food needed to feed several thousand men at sea ranges beyond the glutton's dreams. You get the answer in the ship down below the water line, where 7,290 loaves of bread have been baked in one day, and where you stumble over every variety, from 60,000 pounds of beef to 132,000 eggs, or a compartment of brick ice cream in a ten-degree-above-zero vault.

"And if this doesn't suit, you can bump along into 49,324 pounds of potatoes, 7,100 pounds of ham and bacon, 7,800 pounds of butter, 9,200 pounds of sugar, and 61,500 pounds of flour.

"If you can't get a meal out of this you can fall back on 4,600 pounds of sausage, 3,000 pounds of sauerkraut, 26,000 pounds of apples, 19,800 pounds of oranges, and 4,200 pounds of onions. And this leaves out 1,600 pounds of jam and 9,400 pounds of lima and navy beans."

The original order that the approval of a regimental or higher commander was necessary before packages might be sent to members of the expeditionary forces has been modified so officers with the rank of major and higher may approve shipments. The approval of a company commander is not sufficient.

The question of the shipment of parcels to France first came to the attention of the war department when the commanding general of the expeditionary forces cabled that congestion of such articles had reached such a point that French railroads were unable to handle the load. A board appointed by the secretary of war and the postmaster general examined 5,000 sacks of parcel-post mail, and found that the articles being sent not only, in the main, were absolutely unnecessary, but undesirable. The investigation showed that the amount of such mail had reached a total of 500,000 pounds a week, and was steadily increasing.

Relatives and friends, according to a recent statement by the war department, will find they often can do a greater service to soldiers by sending them money for the purchase of articles. Tobacco is now being supplied as part of the army rations, and merchandise of nearly all kinds may now be purchased in France through the huge general store established by the quartermaster corps at lower prices than charged by retailers here.

The dental requirements of an army of more than 5,000,000 men can now be met by the present force of the dental corps of the United States army. Examinations have been closed and no further additions will be made to the corps for some time. The number of dental officers has expanded since war was declared from 58 to 5,810. Commissions were offered to 5,467 dentists in all parts of the country, and all but 271 were accepted.

The average number of tooth fillings in the army ranges from 225,000 to 250,000 a month. Special dental infirmaries have been established in the camps and cantonments, to which newly inducted soldiers are sent for examination shortly after arrival in the camps.

A school for dental instruction has been established, where 85 officers are assigned each month to take the two months' course.

The box-car situation is better at present than it has been at any time during the last three years, according to advice received by the department of agriculture from the railroad administration.

On May 1 box cars began to move into wheat territory, and wheat-carrying roads are expected to have on their lines more than the normal amount of cars owned by them. Cars are being parked in wheat-loading territory, which was impossible last year. The railroad administration will continue to move cars into wheat districts as long as there is any indication that additional cars will be needed.

JUDGE REYNOLDS CALLS ATTENTION TO NEW RULES OF FOOD ADMINISTRATION THIS WEEK.

Editor Union-Banner:—I wish to call attention to the new rules of the State Food Administrator which you are publishing in your paper in this week's issue.

Those rules governing ginners and seed dealers and hardware dealers in securing licenses should be noted particularly by all concerned.

The new ruling on flour which permits farmers who raise their own wheat to have a years supply ground at one time at the rate of twelve pounds per person per month will be of particular interest to the many farmers in this county who are concerned by the ruling.

The new rulings on sugar are also published, and all merchants are requested to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

I am sure the flour ruling will be satisfactory to all wheat growers and I hope that Chilton county farmers will plant the largest wheat crop this fall that they have ever planted.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
County Food Administrator.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The pastor, Rev. Jno. F. Gable, baptized eleven candidates in the creek near Gore's Bridge, last Sunday afternoon in the presence of a large crowd of witnesses. These are a part of the number who professed faith in Christ as their Savior during the Ray-Martin meeting held in the first half of June. Three or four more are to be baptized at a future time. As it was found impossible to repair the pool in the church building a movement is on foot to build a new one. It is expected that other fruits of the meeting are yet to come.

The prayer meetings of the church are being well attended, and the Sunday School is doing an expounding work along all lines. It will probably buy a piano in the near future.

Next Sunday morning, July 7th, is the time for the quarterly communion service, and it is hoped that the membership will be present to honor their Lord.

At this time the pastor will probably preach a sermon on what is meant by "eating the bread and drinking the cup of the Lord unworthily," and try to allay the fears of certain timid ones who refrain from the ordinance almost habitually, because of the saying that "he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh condemnation to himself."

At night the Second Commandment will be discussed from the viewpoint of "Materialism Supplanting God, and its Consequences." Present day idolatry is as real and as fearful in its results as that denounced by Jehovah at Sinai.

SINGING

Last Sunday Union Springs, in the western part of the County, had a great day—an all-day singing in the old books. The singing was opened by the President, Mr. Conway, who appointed the secretaries of the Christian Harmony and Harp and Harmony Conventions as committee of program. There was about a dozen directors present. The audience was very large. The people seemed to enjoy the day quite well. Many old favorite compositions were rehearsed by the class.

It was common to hear the people express themselves as glad to be there. The following resolutions were adopted: Resolved that we tender our thanks to the people of Union Springs for their abundant hospitality and kindness and hope to meet with them again. Closing song by the president. Committee.

PREVENT HOG CHOLERA

The B. A. Thomas Hog Powder has a record of 95 per cent cures of Hog Cholera. If you feed your hogs as directed, you need never fear hog cholera nor any other hog disease; and the directions are very simple, just about what you are doing, plus a few cents worth of B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder in the feed twice a week.

Usually, though, cholera gets in before we know it. Then it requires close attention to each hog—each hog must be dosed—and if you will dose them as directed, you will save better than 90 per cent. If you don't, the B. A. Thomas medicine costs you nothing. We, not some distant manufacturer, pay your money back.

SECURE FEDERAL LICENSE

Under a proclamation of the President of the United States, dated May 14, 1918, the amount of cotton seed that a person may handle without a license was reduced from 150 tons to 20 tons.

All ginners who gin yearly between Sept. 1st and August 31st, enough of cotton to produce therefrom 20 tons of cotton seed will be required to procure a ginners license. This applies to private as well as public gins.

All persons who buy yearly between Sept. 1st and August 31st 20 tons of cotton seed will be required to procure a seed merchant's license. If a person purchases cotton seed from tenants or renters and also receives cotton seed as rent the amount he receives as rent must be included in calculating whether or not he handles 20 tons a year. Seed that a person raises himself or by hired labor need not be counted.

Persons in need of ginners or seed merchants licenses can secure same by writing to the License Division, Law Department of the U. S. Food Administration, Washington, D. C.

THE CORINTH SINGING

Editor Union-Banner:

I would like for you to print the program of Corinth all-day singing, if you please, which is as follows:

Opened by A. L. Robinson, who was elected chairman. T. L. Robinson was named Secretary, and the program committee was C. D. Hughes, Arthur Beard and Alonzo Vinson.

The following leaders were on program: W. M. Devaughn, Lee Robinson, Arthur Beard, J. W. Cagle, T. L. Huett, A. L. Robinson, H. C. Collins, J. E. Raines. And the hour for dinner having arrived, the large crowd was bountifully fed.

After noon was a quartet by Lee Alfred, Jasper and Jim Robinson, which was given an attentive ear, and especially enjoyed by everyone.

Alfonzo Cocker and J. R. Robinson conducted, which was followed by intermission and then a quartet by Lee Robinson, H. C. Collins, Alfonzo Cocker and Arthur Beard, which was much pleasure for the people to hear. Alpheus Jones directed a few songs.

The organists for the day were: H. C. Collins, Lee Robinson, Arthur Beard, Mrs. Fannie Connell, Miss Elra Steel. Mr. W. M. Devaughn gave us another splendid lesson, and Mr. H. C. Collins was given the opportunity of singing a few good old selections for the people, which everyone enjoyed most highly. The service was closed in prayer by Rev. E. A. Norris, asking that God might bless and shield us from danger until we were spared to meet again to send songs of praise to the most high and living God.

Respectfully,
L. D. HUGHES.

SUPPLY OF FLOUR GROUND NOW

Negotiations have been under way for some time by food administrator to secure exemption for the farmers of Alabama from the stringent rules of the national food administration concerning the use by farmers of wheat grown on their own plantations.

We are glad to make announcement to the farmers of Chilton County that Mr. Hobbie has succeeded in his efforts to get the farmers who grow their own wheat exempted. He has made the following announcement for publication:

"We have received from Mr. Hoover authority to announce to all County Food Administrators that farmers who have grown their own wheat may if they will, at once have ground a full year's supply of flour on the basis of twelve pounds per month per individual, for themselves, their tenants and wage hands. This exemption from the general rules is made to encourage wheat growing in Alabama and applies only to the farmer who has grown his own wheat."

UNION SPRINGS

Owing to the unsettled condition of things and other causes, we note a great falling off of local correspondence. Nevertheless, we will try to interest the Banner readers in local matters for a few moments.

Crops in the western part of the county thus far promise a yield equal or nearly so to preceding years; of course the next few weeks can bring radical changes for better or worse.

We learn that one of our boys Corporal Newt Atchison, at Camp Wheeler, has accidentally had both arms broken. That is bad but that it is not worse is a chance for gratitude.

Mr. John Weeks, the Randolph photographer, and family attended singing here Sunday.

We had a fine rain here Sunday night.

Ice cream suppers are all the go here now.

Mr. J. P. Barnett, that sterling citizen of Thorsby, accompanied by his beautiful daughter, Miss Regant, were here Sunday.

Colonel Atkinson and our genial candidate for Sheriff, Mr. W. H. Gillespie, of Clanton were welcome visitors here Sunday. Mr. Gillespie was meeting his many friends. Everything is quiet over here politically.

Messrs. T. J. and T. C. Jackson of the famous Lomax music class, came over for the singing.

Music has a superior drawing power. Nothing else can interest so many at once. The finest compositions is, as said by Hon. Morgan D. Jones of Dadeville, but an infinitesimal piece of music. To hear music complete we must explore the realm of the universal both present and future. We say future, yes, beyond the present dark night of the groaning creation who can comprehend the music of the dominion of earth's coming kings?

Messrs. Bernie and J. E. Cobb were welcome visitors here Sunday.

We hear some boll weevil talk occasionally.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers of Jemison came over Sunday.

We note in our musical gatherings some draw backs, one is lethargy, we gratify our appetites to the full, the lethargy overcomes body and mind and we are no good. How long will we continue this? We must awake or keenly feel the results. Some of us don't wear out our books which proves we are not studying. Lethargy again. We are living in a sifting time in all things, when the good features of Mason, Hastings, White, Walker and all composers of music will be preserved and the imperfect forgotten. Why we have noted insignificant men assail great students of prophecy and biblical thought, just thinking themselves deeper in the mire of selfishness and ignorance. Where are they today? Almost in oblivion. While those grand characters they assailed are rising higher and higher enlightening the world.

In some parts music people are awake and doing something. We had better be.

Mr. John W. Hayes, one of our candidates for commissioner, was among his many friends here Sunday.

Mr. Editor, if our communication is too voluminous, just use scissors or waste basket.

KINCHEON

Editor Union-Banner:—The people are about done laying by corn. They are laying by cotton, sowing peas and watching the water melons as they are getting ripe. We are going to have to have a time when our huge crops are ready to harvest.

Crops are fine through here. Health is very good and every thing looks prosperous.

The winning of the war is all the talk.

Mt. Nebo Singing Class came to Shiloh Sunday to entertain the people of this vicinity with their song service. It was fine, and if anyone wants to have good song service, call on Sam Henley, chairman, and tell him to come and bring his class, and the work will be done to a finish.

Clanton, June 30.—The Woman's Missionary Society of the Prattville district, Chilton county, held a district conference at Verbena June 27-28. Mrs. J. C. Jones of Clanton, district president, presiding, and a very helpful session was held.

The conference opened Thursday night with a magnificent and inspiring sermon by Dr. E. C. Mayes of Clanton, on the important subject of "Proportionate Giving."

Mrs. Hobbie was present and gave a very instructive message on the subject of Missions generally. Mrs. Francis and Mrs. Dalborge and Miss Jones of the Scarritt Bible school, gave splendid talks.

Mrs. J. C. Jones, the district secretary, made a very encouraging report of her work in the district.

Verbena proved herself a most delightful host.

ENCOURAGE WHEAT GROWING

In our opinion Mr. Hobbie of the State Food Administration has accomplished something recently that is of the most immense advantage to farmers of Alabama.

His efforts to secure exemption for farmers in our state who grow wheat from the rules of the national food administration have been successful, and our farmers will now be permitted to have ground at one time a whole year's supply of flour for their families on the basis of twelve pounds per person per month. This is also made to include tenants and wage hands.

This exception to the rule was made to encourage the growing of wheat in Alabama, and we are certain that it will be taken by the farmers in the true sense for which it was intended. Under favors from the national food administration Alabama should agree to raise all the wheat she needs and promise not to have to call upon any of the other states for flour.

Farmers in this state can raise as much flour as their individual needs demand, and since the food administration has left the way open for them they should get busy now and grow their wheat or do without biscuit.

We are of the opinion that if the food administration could devise any plan which would guarantee that the South would raise her own flour and not draw upon any of the Western States, they would regard it as well worth putting into effect.

MRS. BELLE BAXLEY DIES AT TALLADEGA SPRINGS

The body of Mrs. Belle Baxley, who formerly resided near Liberty Hill Church, was shipped to Clanton last Thursday afternoon from Talladega Springs, where the lady had been for several weeks for her health. She was the mother of the late Fletcher O. Baxley who died in a Colorado Sanatorium a couple of years ago, and the wife of T. J. Baxley who died some eight years past. Mrs. Baxley was staying at the home of her mother, Mrs. Hall, at the time of her death.

This is the third member of this immediate family that succumbed to the same disease within the past few years, a daughter, Balzie, having died only a few weeks since.

The only one remaining of the family is a little boy about twelve years old.

The remains were laid to rest in Liberty Hill Cemetery on Thursday afternoon late.

Tomorrow is the Fourth of July. Let all who can come to Canton and help in the celebration in honor of the Chilton County boys who are in the service of our country. It is a most patriotic celebration. A large crowd of people is expected to be here.

Rev. Job Reynolds of Dry Valley, father of Probate Judge Reynolds, was in town Monday. The old gentleman says he is still feeling lively and is able to get about his farm in spite of his age.

Harry Kanjutzky, prominent Clanton merchant, was run over by an automobile driven by Lucien Bean of Jemison on Monday morning and was slightly injured. Mr. Kanjutzky was walking across the street in front of his store when the car came around the corner at the public well and struck him before he saw it. It was a narrow escape from a serious injury.

NOTICE OF ELECTION

State of Alabama, Chilton County. Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in School District No. 15, at Verbena, Ala., on Monday, the 15th day of July, 1918, to permit the qualified voters of said School District to vote for or against a tax of twenty cents per one hundred dollars on the taxable property of said School District. If a majority of all the qualified voters voting at said election vote for the proposed tax of twenty cents per one hundred dollars on all the taxable property in said School District, the said tax shall be levied for the years 1918-19 and 1919-20, and it is to be used exclusively for school purposes in School District No. 15.

A FEW WORDS FROM OUR FRIEND, J. N. SCOTT

Editor of Union-Banner:—Here I come again for a little space in your good old paper. We are all getting along fine around here but meat is getting scarce, as the season for ground hogs and rabbits has played out and we haven't time to fish.

But Mr. Editor, you ought to be here to help me cut bee trees and eat honey. We are having plenty of it right now.

You doubtless have heard of instances where men got too big for their breeches. That is the case with me. I am getting so fat till my old woman is taking the bands off my pants and making them bigger; and that is not all either—she is having to make them longer in the legs. I cannot tell you why this is necessary right now. Will explain when I see you again.

Well I have been patiently watching the columns of the Union-Banner to see who is going to be candidates this time for the various county offices. I see we are going to put on our studying caps to select a man out of that big bunch for commissioner in the second district. There is a number of good men out for that place.

It looks like T. J. is going to have an easy voyage in the first. If I were down there I would make that old Stumps Hill billy go to some other place besides Clanton some times. I would give him an interesting round, and it would not be long till he would be going about with his pockets stuffed with campaign cigars to give to the voters.

I was glad to see the announcement of Hon. J. O. Middleton for Representative from Chilton. I think we could not beat it for I have always known him to be a friend of the farmers.

I am glad to see Judge Reynolds remain true to the people who supported him in the past. A life of honor is better to leave behind than millions of wealth laid up, and a bad reputation.

We have got two good men out for Sheriff. They have both been deputies through this administration, and have shown what they are. Let us study the situation this time and elect good men and not get any traitors in the bunch.

Well, Mr. Editor, I must close for this time. If you get more plums than you can make use of just send them up here in the mountains where there is nothing like fruit. If any of you good old Chilton people have more peaches and apples than you need I would like to have them.

Fill our paper full of good news, Mr. Editor and let'er come every week without fail.

Yours for success,

J. N. SCOTT.
Maylene, Ala., July 1, 1918.

THE OATH.

I will not drink from a German cup,
Or eat from a German plate;
I will not deal with a German man,
All foul with German hate.
I'll use no drug with a German name,
That's grown on German land;
I'll eat no food and drink no beer,
If made by a German hand.
I will not use a German tool—
Razor or knife or saw;
I will not trade with a German shop,
That lives by a German law.
I will not sail on a German ship,
Where German songs are sung;
I will not breathe where God's clean air
Is soiled by a German tongue.
I'll not forget those awful deeds,
To girls and little boys;
No more I'll hang on Christmas trees
Those blood-stained German toys.
I will not take a German's word,
He'll break it if he can;
There is no love in a German heart,
Or faith in a German man.
This is my oath; when war is done,
I'll swear to keep it true;
And since I know you feel the same,
I'll pass it on to you.—Ex.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Jemison, Ala., July 2, 1918.—Whereas, on the 17th day of April, 1918 the Allwise Master saw fit to call from our midst Bro. B. F. Rogers, and whereas, Bro. Rogers was a faithful member of our Lodge, a consistent member of Center Hill Baptist Church, a good citizen, an affectionate husband and father, true to his friends and kind to his neighbors, Therefore, be it resolved by Bro. R. Ward, Lodge 164 I. O. O. F., 1, that we commend the example of this life to all with whom he came in contact; 2, that we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family. May God in his infinite mercy comfort and protect the widow and orphans and care for them by His power and His love; 3 that we send a copy of these Resolutions to each of the county papers and to the bereaved family, and also spread a copy on the minutes of our Lodge.

Committee.

MONTEVALLO FLOUR MILL

The latest ruling of the U. S. Food Administration, just issued, allows wheat growers to grind at one time all the wheat they wish. You are also permitted to use 12 lbs. flour per month for each member of the family. We are getting from 40 to 45 lbs. flour from each bushel of wheat, and it will pay you to drive to our mill. We will buy all your surplus wheat at market price.

Bring plenty flour sacks. You will need them.

WAR NEWS DIGEST

Special attention is being given by the medical department of the army in all camps to cleaning up spots where mosquitoes and flies breed. In some cases it has been necessary to dig channels in streams, drain swamps, and put in elaborate ditching systems to clean up stagnant pools and streams. In cases where it has been impossible or impracticable to drain swamps and do similar work, there has been installed a system for keeping slow-moving streams and still bodies of water covered with oil. At all points within the camp where there is the slightest possibility of mosquitoes or flies breeding daily spraying of oil is done.

Arrangements have been completed with the federal public health service to carry out a similar program in the territories adjacent to the camps. The health service has agreed to fill bogs, open streams, and drain swamps, and continue the oil spraying for a distance of 1 mile around each camp.

Special precautions have been taken to prevent the spread of disease by flies. Instructions were given on the disposal of materials that were likely to become breeding spots. Arrangements were made to protect all food from flies. With this end in view, all buildings in which food is prepared or stored were screened. Entrances to the buildings have been vestibuled. An average of 6,000 flytraps have been placed in each camp. More than 22,700,000 square feet of screening has been placed in all camps.

To assist in meeting the present shortage in unskilled labor restrictions have been temporarily removed on the importation of Mexican labor to be used in certain occupations. This step supplements the order by which the department of labor has arranged to bring Porto Rican laborers into this country for work on government contracts. It is estimated that 75,000 islanders can be brought in while transportation is available.

New regulations on the subject of Mexican labor contain rigid provisions to prevent any attempt at exploitation on the part of prospective employers. Wage rates current for similar labor in the localities in which the admitted alien is to be employed are assured, as well as good housing and sanitation conditions.

The quartermaster's department is now supplying gas-proof food containers to the soldiers in the zone of operations in France. These containers prevent seepage of gas into the containers and guard against contamination of the food. The men carry their emergency rations in the containers and all food brought up to the trenches is carried in the new tins.

After the food is packed in the containers they are hermetically sealed. It is planned to use paraffin for sealing, as it settles in the crevices in such a way that it must be cut before the lids can be taken off. It can be applied by running the containers through a paraffin bath.

Because the supply of tin is limited and there may not be enough to supply the needs of the army the quartermasters' department is experimenting with the wax paper box. Tests made show that these boxes meet all conditions satisfactorily. The tins and boxes both are vermin and water proof.

There are now 42 theaters, which cost over $500,000, in operation in camps and cantonments throughout the country. Nearly 100 vaudeville acts have been brought from the large circuits to play in these theaters only; about 50 acts have been secured from Chautauqua and lyceum bureaus; 35 comedy companies are playing in these theaters exclusively. Some of these are original New York companies, playing the summer season only, with expenses reduced about two-thirds.

The camps have been divided into two circuits. In one the Liberty theaters seat 3,000, in the other the houses are smaller, having a capacity of about 1,000 each. It takes from 14 to 25 weeks for a production to be staged in each house of either circuit. "Smileage" books, sold throughout the country under the direction of the commission on training camp activities, contain coupons good for admission to all attractions in camp theaters.

Forty-six societies representing 22 nationalities of foreign-born citizens are planning monster celebrations, pageants, parades and speech-making in the principal cities of the United States for July 4. Represented in the groups are Armenians, Assyrians, Belgians, Chinese, Czech-Slavs, Danes, Dutch, Finns, French, French-Canadians, Germans, Greeks, Hungarians, Italians, Japanese, Lithuanians, Norwegians, Poles, Portuguese, Russians, Romanians, South Slavs, Swedes and Swiss. In May these societies appealed to President Wilson to issue a proclamation calling upon all native Americans to unite with the foreign-born in observing the national holiday, and plans for the many celebrations developed after the proclamation was issued.

Three temporary office buildings, providing working space for 6,250 persons, have been built in ten weeks in Washington, D. C., by the construction division of the army, without the employment of a contractor. One, a three-story structure, 491 feet long, 280 feet wide, with a floor space of 270,000 square feet, was ready for occupancy 24 days after the first spadeful of earth was turned.

The Itching and Sting of Blazing, Fiery Eczema

Seems Like the Skin Is on Fire. There is a harrassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only allay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source. The source of Eczema is in the blood, the disease being caused by an infection which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for all so-called skin diseases is S. S. S., for this remedy so thoroughly cleanses the blood that no impurities can remain. Get a bottle to-day at any drugstore, and you will see results from the right treatment. ## CORPORAL BERT H. WALKER WRITES TO FATHER AT HOME

Mr. C. T. Walker of Lawley, Ala., sends to the Union-Banner a letter from his son in France, a Chilton County boy:

June 11, 1918.—

Dearest Father:

Your letter was received today, and was so proud to read a letter from you. I am so glad you have good health, hope this little note will find all well at home, as for myself am as fat as a pig. I am very thankful for the good health I have had while here in France. I have been lucky so far.

I will finish paying for my liberty bonds in July. I have five which will mean $250.00 to me if I have good luck to get back. I can save money, and dad you just bet your life I am saving for a rainy day. I hope I can pay you and mother for what you have done for me.

I am hoping and trusting that you will reap a big harvest this fall.

Tell sister I was so glad to get the letter from her and will be so glad to get the picture from Allie.

I guess you can see in the papers what the allies are doing for the Hun. Well, as news is scarce, I will close. With love to all,

Your son,

VOTARIES OF UNIFICATION IMPERIL OUR SYSTEM

Brilliant Young Lawyer Delivers Able Address to Classmates of University of Alabama on Danger of Federalization

WARNING: Vote for candidates for the Legislature pledged to uphold our Constitution

(Mr. John W. Rish, formerly of Abbeville, but now of Tuscaloosa, was elected class orator by the 1918 law class of the University of Alabama. The following is his address before the students as delivered at the recent commencement exercises.)

Mr. President, Members of the Law Class,

Ladies and Gentlemen:
Science tells us, there are two great forces which govern our planetary system. One, the centripetal, is the force of the sun, which exerts a magnetic sway upon the planets, the tendency of which is to draw the planets into its fiery embrace. The other is the centrifugal force, which inclines the planets to leave their true orbits and fly off at a tangent.

But, so complete is the reaction; so perfect the equipoise between these two great forces, that the planets veer neither to the right nor to the left, but continue to move onward in their respective spheres.

This is an admirable illustration of the two great forces which control our governmental system. One, the Federal Government, spreads forth its mighty arms until they encircle the territory of every State. The other, the State, has an inclination to extend its authority until it dominates every governmental function, which effects its domain on its citizens. But, here again as in the planetary system, we find such complete reaction, such perfect equilibrium, that the two governments, for nearly a century and a half, have continued to move onward in their ordained spheres.

The pages of history bristle with the rise and fall of strong centralized nations. And the fathers, who wrote our Constitution, were who were not to heed those pathetic warnings. With wisdom almost Godlike, the Constitutional Convention took as its hypostasis this profound thought: Not by the consolidation of function, and the centralization of power, but by their distribution is good government best secured.

Consequently, or unconsciously, the convention took man the masterpiece of God's Creative Genius, as the model of perfectly distributed powers. And after this structure fashioned this great government, God endowed man with a brain, and gave to it the supreme control over his relations with his fellow-man. He also endowed him with a spinal cord, to which he gave the exclusive control over the local activities of the system. So, the convention, by the constitution, created the Federal Government and gave to it the supreme control over national affairs—the affairs where one nation comes in contact with another nation. It also, by the same constitution, recognized the states, and reserved to them the exclusive control over local affairs. Because the fabric of the parts change more rapidly than the fabric of the whole, and a true democracy must reflect the will of the people. Dean Swift, says: "In all reason all government without the reflected will of the people is the very definition of slavery."

What Are Police Powers?

The powers reserved to the States are commonly known as the police powers. Chief Justice Taney, of the Supreme Court of the United States, defining these powers, said: "Police powers are nothing more or less than the powers of government inherent to every sovereignty; that is, the power to govern men and things." But possibly a description of these powers will serve our purpose better than a definition. It is the powers of government which effect the individual, his rights, his liberties, and his happiness.

To make stable the lines of demarcation between the Federal Government and the States; to discourage encroachment, by either upon the function of the other; and to more completely safeguard their blood-bought liberties, the convention wrought the most wonderful system of checks and balances found in any government of the world. As a check upon the Federal Government, it was given, only, enumerated powers—powers especially delegated by the constitution; and as a further check the constitution says: "The enumeration in the constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people." And, again: "The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited to the States respectively, or to the people." As a check upon the States, are the restrictions of the First Article, 10th Section of the constitution. As a further check upon the reserved powers of the State, we find these provisions in the constitution: "No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of a citizen of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor to deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the law. To balance one government against the other each was given certain powers, distinct within themselves, and with obvious lines of separation.

Why all this vast array of checks and balances, if governments never overstep their bounds nor encroach upon the liberties and freedom of its subjects? Limited time demands that I refer you, for your answer, to the bloody pages of history; to the shell-torn realms of Russia; or to Germany, and Austria-Hungary, upon which the darkness of midnight has descended, in the form of a centralization that has transformed human beings, Godlike, in form and feature into veritable beasts, hated of every civilized nation of the globe.

It is one of the most striking peculiarities of the Anglo-Saxon race, that there is never much danger to their liberties in case of an open attack. The real danger always lies in their over-confidence, and lack of watchfulness, which has at many times allowed their liberties to be stolen away while they slept. Nor has this apathy, yet, been overcome by the descendants of the Anglo-Saxon race. England, supinely slumbered, while freedom's most relentless antagonist was, at her very door, preparing for the final struggle with liberty. And it was not till fair Belgium, lay crushed and bleeding in the agonies of death, that she could arouse her sleeping subjects from their slumber. But even this did not arouse the American Nation. They were not awakened till many of our fair women and helpless children slept beneath the lashing waves of the Atlantic ocean.

The Enemy Within.

History has sounded the tocsin, and the framers of the constitution had it emphasized, by the sad experience of a hundred battle-fields, that the enemy of freedom and liberty does not always advance from the exterior, but; that the gradual and imperceptible encroachment of government is its favorable ground of approach. It was to protect this approach and to safeguard the liberties of unborn generations that the fathers handed down to us, with the blessings of the age, our present form of government, guaranteed by a constitution, the design of which is to protect the autonomy of the States with the same vigilance as the national government. That instrument, in all of its provisions, looks to an indestructible union of indestructible States.

The fundamental principle of democracy, the right of local-self-government is now being attacked, from without by the German vandals, and from within by the votaries of unification. The former by open attack, so we need have no fear. The latter, by a gradual and imperceptible encroachment, which like the poison gas upon the battle field of Europe, because of its insidiousness is to be looked upon with extreme apprehension. These votaries of unification, who have drifted back to an ancient and false theory of unity, to a trust in an undivided sovereignty as a panacea for all of our ills, come to us today elegantly arrayed in the robe of temperance.

They ask us to support an amendment to the constitution, which prohibits the manufacture, or sale of alcoholic beverages within the United States. Certainly on the surface, that appears to be a very harmless proposition, and readily finds response, in the feelings of every temperance man, therein lies the danger. It is the business of every propagandist to couch his meaning in language that will disarm suspicion, and the centralizationist is no exception. But, let us remember, we can try this case, only, on what weapons, which will result from such a radical change in our government system.

Destroying The Equilibrium.

Let us consider, a few of the most palpable changes its adoption will bring about, and their effect upon our system of government. In proportion to the power we take from the centrifugal force and add to the centripetal force, we destroy the equilibrium and endanger the planetary system. In proportion to the power we take from the States and place within the keeping of the Federal government, we destroy the equilibrium. And do we not also threaten the existence of our dual form of government? When the police powers are taken from the States as proposed by this amendment and given to the Federal Government, it invests congress with power to legislate upon a subject which is now exclusively within the domain of the States. It permits Congress, not only to extend its legislative powers, but to completely supersede the legislatures of the respective States, so far as prohibition is concerned, for the constitution and the laws of the United States, where it has jurisdiction, are the supreme laws of the land. And where there is a conflict between State and Federal law it is the State law that must give way. It authorizes the Federal Government to create a code of municipal for the regulations of the morals of the State of Alabama. It lets the Federal Government into the domain of local jurisprudence. It overrides the balances, and nullifies the great system of checks found in the constitution. We search the system, in vain, for a check upon the Federal Government, in the exercise of this amendment. It leaves the liberties and freedom of our people, and future generations exposed to the unrestrained oppression of a strong, centralized Federal Government. By its adoption we completely revolutionize the hypostasis upon which this government was founded. We say, the fabric of the parts must not change more often than the fabric of the whole. We say, not by the distribution but by the centralization of powers and the consolidation of function is good government best secured. It is a complete abandonment of the fundamental principle of democracy, local self-government, States rights and State sovereignty.

The "Votaries of Unification."

But the votaries of unification and centralization tell us it is not a complete, only, a partial surrender of the police powers, State sovereignty, and local self-government. Think of it! The long suffering Southland, the home of Thomas Jefferson, John C. Calhoun, Robert E. Lee, and Stonewall Jackson making even a partial surrender of those immortal principles to which it gave birth, and for which she has sacrificed so many of her brave sons! But, is it only a partial surrender? Who doubts, that if the Federal Government is once called upon to enter the field to apprehend, and punish the petty vices, as authorized by this amendment, it will be long ere effort will be made to further extend this police power? If it is the opening wedge, the advance guard thrown out to take and hold position in the campaign against the powers of the States. The plan of battle is complete. This amendment is soon to be followed by another authorizing woman suffrage, by Federal authority. Then attention will be given to secure uniform rate legislation, uniform marriage and divorce laws, uniform distribution of estates, situated within more than one state, all through the action of the Federal Government. And the apex of the dream of centralizationists, will come in the form of a commission form of government for the States, commissioners appointed in Washington City. My friends, this sounds absurd, in a country whose battle cry is: "Make the world safe for democracy," but its absurdity disappears when we consider that the only abiding line of demarcation, between the State and Nation, is threatened with obliteration.

We were told by Christ in Biblical times, that a divided-house could not stand. Mr. Lincoln told us a nation could not live a part of its territory slave and a part free. What is it, in the feverish, high wrought age of the twentieth century that will enable the States to live with a divided police power? Physical Science teaches, that no two bodies can occupy the same space at the same time, likewise political science teaches, that no two governments can exercise like jurisdiction over the same territory at the same time.

Patterson's Battle Cry.

Gentlemen of the law class, the battle-cry was sounded a few weeks ago, in the city of Tuscaloosa, by Mr. Patterson, in these words: "We want a strong centralized nation, a nation with a national policy, and a national spirit, with State lines obliterated, except for a few purposes." The issue is clear, we are called upon to defend, or abandon, local-self-government. Prussianism raises its horrid head in Alabama, today. Shall we send it back to mold and rot beneath the crumbling thrones of Europe, or invite our own destruction by welcoming it to our midst?

It is not for the human tongue to instill the sense of independence in a people, that is the work of nature, a generous nature, that disdains tame submission to encroachment. Dame Nature, has indeed, been generous with you gentlemen of the law class and methinks, as I look into your faces, I see reflected the grim determination to accept the challenge, and I hear the shout "Alabama, Alabama, we will aye be true to thee." If sink Alabama must in the vortex of centralization that threatens to engulf our common country, may she be the last to go down, and even in sinking may she uphold the high-born charter of liberties unstained and unsullied above the roaring waves of unification. Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet. Lest we forget! Lest we forget!

FOOD FACTS

The United States Food Administration

RICHARD M. HOBBIE
Federal Food Administrator for Alabama
Montgomery, Ala.

Hoarding.

What is hoarding?
Storing away more than the food supplies needed for a reasonable length of time.

Why do people hoard?
Because they fear that a shortage is coming and wish to protect themselves, even though it be at the expense of others.

What are some of the evil effects of hoarding?
It raises prices; it imposes a heavier burden on those already doing their utmost; it throws out of joint the distribution system; it results in waste where there are no proper facilities for storing.

What is the moral wrong of hoarding?
It is selfish, cowardly, unpatriotic. Why is hoarding unnecessary?
Because the government is protecting the food supply.

Is there any law against hoarding?
Yes. In the Food Control Act.

Is there any punishment for hoarding?
Yes. The Food Control Act provides fines of not more than $5,000 and imprisonment for hoarding of food by dealers, manufacturers, or householders.

How is the dealer punished for hoarding?
His license is revoked.

Candy.

How much money is spent annually in the United States for candy? About $400,000,000. This is almost double the amount needed to keep Belgium supplied with food for a year.

Ought children to give up candy? They may well do so, if they get the sugar they need from other sources.

If we do eat candy, what kind ought we to confine ourselves to? Conservation candies, such as chocolate-covered

SUGAR MUST BE SAVED!

A teaspoonful means nothing, you say. Yet a hoarding teaspoonful saved each meal for 100 days for each of the 100,000,000 persons in the United States makes a pile as big as the White House building enough to supply the entire armed forces of the nation.

ed nuts and fruits, candies with corn sirup, honey, maple sirup, or molasses. The object is to save the cane and beet sugar.

Is there plenty of chocolate? Yes; it is plentiful and pure and wholesome food.

Canning.

What is the object of canning vegetables? To use more perishables in place of staples.

Is there a sufficient supply of sugar to allow our canning fruits freely?

Must our sugar allowance of 3 pounds per person per month be made to cover canning? No. That is for normal household use. The amount necessary for canning will be available upon signing certificate.

Is canning fruits making a wise use of sugar? Yes. It prevents waste of fruit, furnishes a concentrated and palatable food for winter.

Where can instructions on the various methods of canning be obtained? From the United States Department of Agriculture.

Vegetables.

Do Americans as a whole eat many vegetables?
They comprise too small a part of the American diet.

How can we use vegetables to conserve the staples?

Increase the amount of vegetables eaten in July, August and September and then save a portion of cereals, meat, sugar, for winter use.

Are vegetables as nourishing as other foods?

They do not contain as much protein and fat, but they are rich in starch and mineral salts. Sailors and explorers without fresh vegetables suffer from scurvy which these mineral salts prevent in a balanced diet.

What other part do vegetables play in the diet?

They are excellent for "roughage."

Human beings can not live entirely on rich concentrated foods.

Why should vegetables be used in the diet?

Because they not only lend variety to the diet but are health agents. They give bulk, mineral salts, and vitamins.

What are legumes, and why are they so called?

They are beans, peas, lentils, and peanuts. They are called "legumes" because the protein they contain is known as "legumen."

What is the nutritive value of legumes?

They contain more protein than other vegetables, and may be used in place of meat.

What vegetables may be used to save wheat?

Potatoes, sweet potatoes, and partially ripe bananas (cooked.)

What are the chief starchy vegetables?

Irish and sweet potatoes, and the legumes.

Which vegetables contain mineral matter?

All of them. Spinach, carrots, cabbage, lettuce, and many others contain iron.

What use can be made of the water in which vegetables have been boiled?
It can be used for soups or gravies or sauces. It contains valuable mineral salts necessary for health.

In drying vegetables is their food value affected?

No. Nothing has been removed but the moisture.

In what way do vegetables prove good substitutes for other foods?

They contain many of the body building and regulating elements that we have been accustomed to get from other foods?

What is the special value of using vegetables in country districts and small towns?

It will relieve the transportation situation.

How can we use vegetables to help the Allies?

Eat as many perishables in place of staples as possible; eat them as near the source as possible and conserve staples for winter use and for export to the Allies.

How can small savings in the country help?

If the rural population, including smaller towns (up to 2,500), would reduce daily consumption during July, August, and September by 1 ounce of sugar, 4 ounces bread, 1 1/2 ounces meat, and substitute vegetables therefor, it would represent a saving of 21,000,000 bushels of wheat, 157,000 tons sugar, 1,250,000 beaves.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady.
Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prine, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child... I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time..."

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble,' so he got me 5 bottles. After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved... before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my housework and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it.

FOOD FACTS

News of The Week

FROM STATE FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Montgomery.—The people may well be proud of the record they have made in saving wheat. The Food Administration feels that it can now feel secure that the armies will be fed until the new crop. All that is necessary is for everybody to continue to use only six pounds of flour per person per month until September.

But the splendid reports of the new crops must not lead us into the idea that after September we can afford to abandon all wheat conservation rules. The narrow shave we had this year should certainly turn our minds to the necessity of building up a comfortable surplus out of the coming crop. There can be no doubt that Mr. Hoover is going to request a continuation of conservation, but not on as large a scale as we have had. We shall still have some wheatless meals and perhaps wheatless days. The Federal Food Administrator for Alabama feels assured that Alabamians will readily agree to such a wise program and cheerfully follow Mr. Hoover's rules so that we may lay up a good surplus for any emergency the war may bring.

NEW SUGAR RULES.

Under the new rules all sugar sold in the state will be under the certificate plan. Every retail dealer, wholesaler and manufacturer will have his supply allotted by the Sugar Division. They should write at once for blank statements which they will have to fill out and return before certificates will be issued to them. County Food Administrators will not accept statements or issue certificates. This work will all be done by the Sugar Division, U. S. Food Administration, Bell Building, Montgomery, Ala., and full instructions will be given all who will write there for information.

ON NATIONAL FAITH.

"Going over the Top." That expression has been on the lips of above fifty millions since the days before the victory of the Marne. The valorous English soldiers gave voice to it. It was born of intensity of purpose to dare and to do. It is not all sentiment. Indeed a very large part of it is faith, faith in the cause. It is fundamentally biblical. The idea is emphatically brought forward in that Psalm of faith born of the Spirit by David and called the 18th in the King James version and the 17th in a modern translation by Kenrick. Read this from King James (29th verse): "For by Thee I have run through a troop; and by my God I have leaped over a wall. And this from the Kenrick rendering (29th verse, 2nd line): And through my God I shall go over a wall. Open your Bible now. Read all of that portion of this Psalm of faith from the 29th to the 39th verse inclusive in the King James version and that in the Kenrick translation beginning with the 29th and ending with the first part of the 40th verse. We are the spiritual children of the prophets and our God is by no means the God of Prussian conception. Because their God is not our God we must hold fast the national faith we have impressed on our coin. Let not temporary success find us overjoyful, nor setbacks make us despair of the victory. The day must and shall come when the forces of freedom will run through a troop (smash the last line of the Hun) and go over a wall (clean over the top) that is the last between them and that complete victory which alone can satisfy the victory of faith. Quickened your faith, dear readers, by keeping the food trucks moving. Food, indeed, will win the war.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Collum of Jemison and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Eagle and son, Ralph, were visitors to Clanton Monday.

At Last We've Got It for CLANTON

You have seen so much in the papers lately about the marvelous benefits received by the sick from the use of the great VIN HEPATICA prescription.

At last we have been able to induce the owners of this remarkable prescription to let us have the exclusive sale of it in this community. And now we have it ready for delivery to our customers.

We went after this great nature prescription because we knew what it would do in cases of weak run down condition, indigestion, biliousness, headache, sleeplessness, nervousness, and other ailments arising from disordered stomach, liver, kidneys, or bowels.

Some of the most noted medical experts in this country have pronounced Vin Hepatica to be a medicine of the highest merit. It is composed of eight of the finest herbal remedies known to medical science—remedies that have been prescribed by the medical profession for centuries. We stand right back of it with all of our years of reputation for the handling of reliable medicines. We recommend only what we know to be good. We know that Vin Hepatica is reliable and recommend it.

It will start your torpid liver to work; relieve your indigestion; regulate your bowels; correct your kidneys; renew your appetite; cleanse and tone up your entire system, and strengthen your vitality against the taking of diseases so prevalent this time of the year. Mighty fine tonic.

Come in and get a bottle and take it on our recommendation. It is pronounced Vin He-pat-i-ka.

WORTH $1,000 A BOTTLE IS WHAT A CHATTANOOGA MAN SAYS OF VIN HEPATICA

(Reprint from Chattanooga News)

"I wouldn't take $1,000 for what one bottle of Vin Hepatica has done for me," says Mr. L. A. Cantrell, aged 75, chair worker, of Miller Avenue, Chattanooga, Tenn.

"It is worth $1,000 a bottle. I have been troubled with kidneys for years, catarrh of the head and stomach. After eating a few bites my stomach would swell up like a pumpkin. I had the cramps, was fluky, had to be up almost every hour of the night on account of the condition of my bowels.

"But Vin Hepatica has changed all that. I don't have to get up at all in the night. I now eat potatoes, beans, onions—anything. I had about decided I could not nor would not live another week, but after I saw in the papers what Vin Hepatica had done for others in the same fix, I thought I would try it, and now feel better than I have felt in forty years.

"I have passed my 45th year, and I could not have held up much longer the way I was troubled. But Vin Hepatica was certainly a life-saver to me, and I heartily recommend it to my friends."

The fact is, Vin Hepatica is a Nature medicine and not a patent nostrum. It is a combination of eight of the finest herbal remedies known to medical science, remedies which are prescribed nearly every day by the leading physicians of the world, and they are all combined into one great Nature medicine for the kidneys, liver, stomach and bowels, and for toning up the system.

GREATEST MEDICINE EVER MADE SAYS A TENNESSEE MAN

South Pittsburg Man Takes Vin Hepatica and Says It Cured Him.

(Reprint from Tennessean-American.)

"Money could not buy the benefit I have gotten from Vin Hepatica," says Mr. J. T. Gillespie, stone moulder of South Pittsburg, Ten.

"I was in such condition that my energy had left me. I suffered with my stomach and had no appetite. Vin Hepatica cured me. It is the greatest medicine that was ever made."

MISS LANCASTER SAYS VIN HEPATICA GRAND MEDICINE

Was Very Nervous From Indigestion and Result of Operation, But Vin Hepatica Restores Her Health Again.

(Reprint from Chattanooga News.)

"I was very nervous and greatly troubled with indigestion," writes Miss Hazel Lancaster, Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.

"I had been operated on for appendicitis. Was under the constant care of a doctor, without any results. I was so nervous I could hardly bear for anyone to talk. Seeing in the papers what Vin Hepatica had done for so many others, I thought I would try it. I did, and I was greatly relieved in every way. My appetite is fine. I can hardly get enough to eat. Vin Hepatica is a perfectly grand medicine, and I gladly recommend it to my friends."

STOPS RHEUMATISM WITH VIN HEPATICA

Sixty-Eight-Year-Old West Nashville Lady Relieves Her Sufferings of Years by Taking This Great Nature Remedy.

(Reprinted from Nashville Banner.)

Mrs. B. F. Carson, Sr., aged 68, of 4308 Utah Avenue, West Nashville, Tenn., says: "I am entirely relieved of my rheumatism as result of taking Vin Hepatica, the universal system purifier. I was a constant sufferer from rheumatism for years, was so nervous I could hardly rest at night.

"For a long time I was under the treatment of the most eminent physicians of this and other cities, but could get no relief until I took Vin Hepatica. I am entirely relieved and feel like a new person, and wouldn't take the world for what it has done for me. It is simply wonderful."

Such is the testimony received every day, because Vin Hepatica is a real medicine for such troubles and gets the results. It is Nature's own medicine—a combination of eight of the finest herbal remedies known to medical science, and are being prescribed by the best physicians the world over.

TENNESSEE FARMER'S WIFE WISHES ALL FEEBLE WOMEN WOULD TAKE VIN HEPATICA

Testifies as to the Great Relief the Wonderful Nature Remedy Brought Her.

"I only wish every feeble woman and man would give Vin Hepatica a trial," declares Mrs. McCaloy Malroy, well-known farmer's wife of Vanleer, Tenn.

"I shall never forget the drug firm of W. A. Bell & Co., who recommended it to me, nor the name Vin Hepatica, for what this great medicine has done for me. I feel much better in every way."

You see Vin Hepatica goes right to the very seat of the trouble at the start because it is a combination of eight of the finest herbal remedies known to medical science for weak and run down condition.

ENDS NERVOUSNESS WITH VIN HEPATICA

East Tennessee Lady Almost Total Wreck Reports Marvelous Results From Taking Great Nature Medicine.

(Reprint from Knoxville Tribune.)

Mrs. Mattie Lucas, R. F. D. No. 3, Haskells, Tenn., who was almost a nervous wreck, all broken down, weak and with scarcely any appetite on account of food souring on her stomach, says:

"I could not get anything to do me any good. A friend of mine recommended that I take Vin Hepatica. I have taken three bottles and feel like an entirely different person. I am not the least bit nervous, can eat anything I want, have gained in strength each day right along."

Police Liutenants Wife Undergoes Five Operations

Had Been Sick for Ten Years Without Getting Relieved Until She Took Vin Hepatica.

(Reprint from Tennessean-American)

Mrs. R. N. Long, wife of Police Lieutenant Long, of 1008 Haley Avenue, Waverley Place, Nashville, Tenn., is out and about her work again after ten years of sickness and the effects of five serious operations.

"If anybody ever was in a bad condition I was. Not only had I been sick for ten years, but in that time I had to undergo five operations which resulted in my being left in a horrible condition, greatly troubled with my stomach and spine and very nervous. "I took all sorts of medicines, but my husband said so many friends of his had gotten such good results from Vin Hepatica that he wanted me to try it. I did and want to say right here that I feel better than I have for ten years."

Mrs. Long's experience is the same as thousands of others. Vin Hepatica is a real medicine, not a patent nostrum. It is composed of eight of Nature's finest herbal remedies, the same as leading physicians the world over prescribe in cases of nervousness, weak and run down condition, disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. It is compounded with all the skill and care of the most particular physician's prescription.

No More Calomel For This Barber

"If a fellow was ever knocked out by anything, I certainly was by a good old-fashioned spell of spring fever this spring," said U. L. Bearden, well-known Nashville barber, 243 Fourth Avenue, North.

"I have been using calomel, which was so sickening that I could hardly stand it. Not only did Vin Hepatica put me in fine shape again, but it was so pleasant to take. I hadn't taken more than two or three doses than my drowsy feeling was all gone and I was feeling my old-time self again."

DOCTORS SAVE GIRL WITH VIN HEPATICA

Strange Case of Three-Year-Old Goodlettsville Girl That Had Baffled Skill of the Best Physicians.

(Reprint from Nashville Banner.)

"While the physicians did everything in their power to save our little girl," said Mr. S. J. Watkins, of Goodlettsville, Tenn., "they could do her no good, as she was so weak, and finally said she could not get well.

"As a last resort one physician advised me to give her Vin Hepatica. I did, and she took five bottles. She is now entirely well, sleeps well, and is growing in strength every day. No one knows how grateful we feel to this physician for suggesting the use of Vin Hepatica. It is simply wonderful what it has done for her. It saved her life."

Physicians are prescribing Vin Hepatica for the reason that it is a real medicine and not a patent nostrum. They know what it is. They know it is composed of eight of the finest herbal remedies known to the medical profession.

LATE CROP OF TOMATOES

By J. C. C. Price, Associate Horticulturist.

One should not wait until the spring crop of tomatoes is gone before starting the fall crop. It requires about 100 days to grow tomatoes from seed. A good date to plant is about May 20, from which fruit will begin to ripen about September 1. The June Pink is one of the most satisfactory varieties for late planting.

The seed bed should be well prepared, using sandy loam soil and leaf mold from the forest. It should be conveniently located so that watering may be done when needed. A partial shade should be provided. When the plants are about two inches high reduce the shade so as to toughen them to the sun.

The soil should be well prepared and if possible some well rotted manure should be worked into it. If manure cannot be had an application of equal parts of acid phosphate and cottonseed meal at the rate of 800 pounds per acre, should be made. The fertilizer may be distributed in the row and mixed with the soil, or it may be worked in about the plants after transplanting.

Cloudy weather is best for transplanting. If there is not a good season in the soil at time of setting the plants, water should be used. The moist soil must be covered with loose dry soil. As soon as transplanting is done a shallow cultivation should be given. The cultivation should be repeated every week or ten days, especially after each rain.

Do not permit the vines to branch too profusely, but allow three or four main stems to grow. If the plants are staked only one or two branches should be allowed to grow. When staked plants should be set two feet apart in the row, the rows being four feet apart. If not trained to a stake the plants should be set four feet apart each way.

SOY BEANS FOR HAY

By E. F. Cauten, Associate Agronomist.

Among the new hay crops soy beans have proven satisfactory. The yield of cured hay ranges from 1,500 to 3,000 pounds per acre when they are planted on good land.

Mammoth Yellow, Wilson, Black Beauty, and Virginia are suitable for this crop. They are either bushy or semi-vines in habit of growth, and are easy to mow.

Soy beans make a larger yield of hay when planted in drill and given two or three shallow cultivations. The rows may be made from 24 to 36 inches apart, and to secure a stand of beans they must not be put in the ground too deeply. The best stage to cut for hay is when the bean pods are beginning to form. If allowed to stand much later a great deal of the foliage may be lost from shedding. Soy bean hay is as difficult to cure as cowpea hay, but the same methods employed to cure cowpea hay will give a fine quality of soy bean hay.

CARD FROM REED GILES.

Last week the Editor of the Union-Banner received a card from Reed Giles, a Chilton county boy in the U. S. Army, mailed at Hempstead Long Island, just before he went aboard the transport for his voyage to the battle fields of Europe. Reed enlisted nearly a year ago at Camp McClellan at Anniston.

SAVING THE PEAS BY FUMIGATION TREATMENT

By W. E. Hinds, Entomologist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Insects of several species multiply rapidly in stored corn, peas, etc., and often destroy a large part of the value of the crop during storage. This loss amounts to several million dollars each year in Alabama and the same is true of other Gulf and South Atlantic States.

Satisfactory and economical fumigation requires the use of a room or bin having unusually tight floor and walls as the vapors must be confined long enough to penetrate through the mass of grain and kill the insects. It requires at least thirty minutes exposure to a very strong gas to kill the weevils.

For treating peas, beans, seed corn, shelled corn, etc., a WATER-TIGHT BARREL makes a good container. The top may be covered tightly and conveniently by spreading heavy wrapping paper over and tying it close around the head of the barrel.

For treating peas, etc., in barrels, an average dosage of about one-half teaspoonful is sufficient if the top of the barrel be tightly covered. This can well be poured onto sacks, etc., packed in to fill the top of the barrel. If peas are really thoroughly dried out the germination will not be affected even if the liquid is poured on them directly.

Leave the barrel closed for at least 24 hours and no harm will be done if left indefinitely. Fumigation is much more effective during warm weather (75 degrees to 85 degrees F.) partly because of the more rapid evaporation and partly because insects are then more active and therefore more susceptible to it. Never attempt to use carbon disulphide when the temperature is below 60 degrees F. It is better to start the treatment at 10:00 to 11:00 A. M. rather than at night, both on account of having good light and also higher temperatures. A second and stronger treatment should be given if after a week or two it should appear that the first was not effective. Carbon disulphide can be obtained most economically by purchasing in quantities of 100 lbs. or more direct from manufacturers. "Fuma" carbon disulphide is cheapest. The address of manufacturers will be given any one upon request.

PROMPT AND THOROUGH TREATMENT IS MOST PROFITABLE.

Hon. J. O. Middleton went over to Macedonia in Beat 14 Sunday and spent the day. He was called upon in the afternoon to make a patriotic speech to the audience assembled for the all-day singing.

Mrs. Hudson Williams of Birmingham spent last week with her parents in Clanton.

Over the Top and Then Some

"I never felt better in my life than since taking the first dose of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I had a bad case of indigestion and bloating, and was tried all kinds of medicine. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is all and more than is claimed for it. On my recommendation our postmaster's wife is using it with good results." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—Upchurch Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

THORSBY NOTES

The Thorsby Hotel which has been closed for several months has been opened again to the public by Mr. and Mrs. Vester Watkins of Sylacauga. As the building formerly used as a hotel is now used by the Thorsby Institute for a girl's dormitory, the hotel business has been transferred to the large residence formerly occupied by Dr. C. M. Woolley, two doors north of the Thorsby Inn. Here those who desire meals and lodging will find pleasant accommodations and courteous service.

Rev. J. M. Graham, from Camp Greenleaf Annex, Fort Oglethorpe, and his son, Clarence, from Camp Wheeler, were home on Saturday of last week making arrangements for the disposal of their household goods, as Mrs. Graham expects to leave to join her husband the latter part of the summer. Clarence Graham is now wearing the chevron of a Corporal.

Prof. and Mrs. S. H. Herbert motored to Birmingham last week, accompanied by Mrs. H. M. Gerald and daughter, Lola, and Master Ralph Conway. While there Mr. and Mrs. Herbert visited Mr. and Mrs. Jim Glass, who formerly resided in Clanton, and Mr. and Mrs. McKay, former residents of Thorsby.

Mrs. Lilles Franklin has accepted the position of telephone operator at Thorsby and has moved with her family here.

Although several Thorsby people had gone to other localities to help a goodly number were present at Bates Hall at the appointed time Friday of last week, where an enthusiastic meeting was held with addresses by Mr. D. J. Flummer and Rev. E. W. Butler. Thorsby is proud of the fact that she has furnished one of the Chilton county $1,000 subscribers in the person of Mr. L. W. Allen. At last reports over $9,000 has been subscribed from Thorsby district. A great deal of credit is due to Mr. W. C. Edler for the conducting of the campaign.

Through a misunderstanding announcement was made last week that services would be held last Sunday in the Swedish Lutheran Church. We are informed that services will be held on the 2nd and 3rd Sundays of the month. Morning services on the 2nd Sunday, July 14th, will be in the Swedish, the evening services in English. Both morning and evening services will be in English on July 21st.

Regular quarterly communion service will be held at the Congregational Church next Sunday morning.

Regular preaching services at the Baptist Church next Sunday, both morning and evening.

Misses Mae and Augusta Parnell and Miss Gladys Watkins of Thorsby spent Saturday night and Sunday in Macedonia, the guests of Miss Mariah Freeman. Sunday they attended the all-day "sing" at Macedonia.

THORSBY, SCHOOL DISTRICT 66

The War Savings Stamps meeting was held in the Thorsby Institute Building and was well attended. The meeting was called to order by Wallace C. Edler, who named Rev. E. W. Butler as chairman for the meeting, Mr. Edler acting as Secretary. Mr. Butler in assuming the chair, made a talk explaining the business before the meeting, and then introduced Hon. D. J. Flummer who made an eloquent speech in favor of pinching ourselves to lend to our government. We had a one-thousand-dollar man, L. W. Allen, who paid cash and is entitled to a place in Chilton County's limit club. The other pledges ran from $500 down; the district has so far subscribed $9,235.00, but is expected to do very much more, when some well-fixed persons who took very small amounts realize that there is a line drawn between 100 per cent Americans and OTHERS. Some seem to think that they can only lend our government such amount of money as they have laying around loose with no especial place to put it, but such folks MUST realize that they must deny themselves in order to do their duty by our country. The books are being made up and the family that can't show its quota of Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps will be in a very unenviable position, to put it mildly. TAKE HEED UNTO YOURSELVES.

WALLACE C. EDLER, Member Co. Comm. W.S.S.

Mrs. Burns' Letter.

Here is a letter that is certain to prove of interest to people in this vicinity, as cases of this sort occur in almost every neighborhood, and people should know what to do in like circumstances.

Savannah, Mo., Oct 12, 1916. "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint some 3 years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy to dozens of people since I first used it."

FROM ROBERT JONES SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

France, June 11, 1918.

Mr. W. C. Jones, Jemison, Ala.

Dear Brother: I will answer your letter just received and was very glad to hear from you. This leaves me in good health, and hope to find you and family the same.

Well, Columbus, as supper is over and I have nothing else to do only to write, will first thank you for your kindness in offering to send me smoking tobacco and other articles, but this is not the only thing on this side of the pond that I need, as all I only need to learn to speak French. While I am learning to speak it very fast I have been studying on it for six months and learned three words. I have been to the front four times and Co. D haven't lost a man yet. We are in the resting camp now, as we fight awhile and rest awhile. O! you can't imagine the hardships the French people have stood, but thank God we American boys have come to their rescue and you can't imagine how proud they are of us. You know they are plowing their milk cows. It is no rare thing to see them with their cow hooked up by a mule or a horse and you know it looks funny to us U. S. boys.

Well, you asked me how long I thought the war would last—it looks at times it would be over in a short time and think at times it looks as if it would keep going on but you may bet your life we U. S. boys are going to make the Huns remember going through Belgium killing young and old destroying everything they come to, leaving women and children all over the streets. While that is a thing of the past now.

Well, I am still cooking for the boys. I aim to take a course in cooking but had a bad foot and did not go, but will go in the future. Will come to a close for this time with good wishes and much love to all, I beg to remain,

Your brother,

The Joy of Living

To enjoy life we must have good health. No one can reasonably hope to get much real pleasure out of life when his bowels are clogged a good share of the time and the poisonous acid that should be expelled is absorbed into the system, producing headache and indigestion. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets will move the bowels, strengthen the digestion and give you a chance to realize the real joy of living. Try it.

J. P. Gentry of Jemison was in Clanton Tuesday.

F. A. Ellison of Route 8 was in the Union-Banner office Monday to see after his subscription.

Charley Foshee of Billingsley was among the visitors to County Court Monday.

Lame Shoulder.

This ailment is usually caused by Rheumatism of the muscles. All that is needed is absolute rest and a few applications of Chamberlain's Liniment. Try it.

HOW TO SOLVE THE MARKETING PROBLEM

By J. J. Watson.

The most important factor today in selling farm products is not prices but weights. The unusual war demand is keeping prices high, and the various activities of the Government agencies are tending to make these prices uniform; so that the farmer has much less reason than formerly to worry about the actual selling price of any product that he grows.

The high price, however, makes it all the more important that the weight should be accurate. When cottonseed were worth $20 per ton, a shortage of fifty pounds from a bale of cotton meant a loss of only fifty cents. Today a similar shortage means a loss of nearly two dollars. Furthermore as prices become more stable the temptation of the unscrupulous buyer to give short weights will be intensified as being the only means of taking unfair advantage of the farmer. It has been the experience of the writer that a large number of farmers in all parts of the country are dissatisfied with the weights which they now obtain.

Very often the trouble is due to poor scales. Even the best of scales when protected from the weather, require constant care to keep them in order. Is it any wonder, then, that a cheap scale, such as is found throughout the country, when constantly exposed to the weather, with little or no oversight, should fail to weigh accurately? This is undoubtedly the source of much of the present dissatisfaction.

On the other hand, in spite of the fact that the reputable business men of the country have tried to eliminate fraud from their operations, there are in almost every small town unscrupulous dealers who depend upon crookedness and short weights rather than upon business efficiency for their profits. They are the enemies of both the farmer and the reputable business man and should by all means be eliminated.

The best means of correcting these evils is the City Scale in charge of a Bonded Weigher. This problem has been completely solved by the towns of Ozark and Enterprise, Coffee County. In each case the town council purchased a Standard Fairbanks Scale, 22x3, which is long enough to weigh both team and wagon at the same time. A substantial shed and weigher's house combined was built for the protection of both scale and weigher in all kinds of weather. The weighing is done by a bonded weigher, and the farmer pays 10c per load regardless of the weight. At both Enterprise and Ozark the receipts for the first year were sufficient to pay for the equipment and the weigher's salary as well.

At Ozark a City Ordinance requires all farm products to be weighed on these scales. At Enterprise the weighing is optional, but the plan was so satisfactory that the farmers refused to patronize individual scales and they soon went out of business. Mr. C. E. Bush, City Weigher at Enterprise, reports that between September 1, 1917, and April 1, 1918, he weighed more than 2,000 loads of farm products.

If you are not satisfied with your weights talk it over with your town authorities and ask them for a City Scale and a Bonded Weigher.

Mrs. Sallie Stewart has been appointed as chairman of the Woman's Council of Defense for Chilton County. Mrs. Stewart is deserving of distinct honors for her zealous efforts in behalf of war work activities heretofore.

Before an airplane can be put into military service it must be equipped with at least nine delicate aeronautic instruments, some of which are absolutely essential to exact flying, and all contribute to the successful operation of a plane. One gives the pilot his location as to height and direction; others tell his speed through the air, the speed of his propeller, the amount of gasoline carried, water temperature, operation of the oiling system, and guide his "banking" on turns. Another necessary article is the oxygen-supplying apparatus, without which an aviator could not climb to any great height.

For operation of actual combat planes, such as observing, photographing, bombing, and fighting planes, other complicated and expensive instruments and sets of apparatus are necessary. Among them are machine guns, gun mounts, bomb racks, bomb-dropping devices, bomb sights, radio and photographic apparatus, electrically heated clothing, lights and flares. These bring the total cost of equipment for an airplane to several thousand dollars each, depending upon the type of plane.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY SUITS GO TO THE U. S. SUPREME COURT

MONTGOMERY, ALA., July 2.—On a writ of error secured in the United States Court at Montgomery Monday, suits approximating $3,000,000, the result of the erection of the huge hydro-electric power dam on the Coosa River, go to the United States Supreme Court for final action. D. M. Riddle, representing the claimants, nearly 700 in number, residing in Coosa, Chilton, Shelby and Talladega Counties, appeared for them here yesterday.

The basis of the suits is that the company in its operation felled thousands of trees which were left lying in the basin formed by the dam, which thereby became polluted and inimical to health and property. The case heretofore has been to the Supreme Court, but was reversed on the ground that the company was not liable if it carried out its construction work in accord with the act of Congress permitting such work, and that the plans and specifications of same, of course, have been approved by the Secretary of War and United States Engineers.

SOME ESSENTIALS IN CANNING FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

By Miss Mary Femihear, State Home Demonstration Agent.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

We know that all food, water, air and containers are bearers of bacteria and other micro-organisms which cause spoilage. Therefore, it is necessary to observe in canning, two principles: Complete sterilization of food and container, and careful sealing of the container to prevent the entrance of objectionable bacteria.

Formerly a common household practice in canning consisted in cooking the material to be canned in an open kettle, transferring it while boiling hot to hot, sterilized jars and at once sealing with a lid, which also had been sterilized. This is unsatisfactory, not only because it results in insufficient sterilization, but also because it gives a product of inferior quality.

By the hot-water bath method, sometimes spoken of as the cold pack process, the fruits or vegetables are packed in the sterilized jars while cold. This method has much to recommend it. Because the sterilization of both the vegetables and the container is made more complete; the greater part of the work can be done in the cool.

Since certain vegetables are attacked by spore-bearing bacteria, a longer period of sterilization at boiling temperature is required for them than for fruits. The spores of some bacteria are known to resist even five hours boiling. Since once cooking gives a chance for failure, the practice of intermittent or fractional processing is applied when a hot water canner is used. This consists of applying boiling temperature to vegetables already packed in containers for a certain period of time on each of three successive days, sealing the jar immediately after each boiling. The intermittent process or the steam pressure canner is the only safe method of canning vegetables in the South.

The steam pressure canner is constructed out of strong material and provided with a tightly fitting lid which, when fitted in place, makes it possible to hold steam under pressure and obtain a correspondingly high temperature.

Absolute cleanliness is necessary for successful sterilization and successful canning is dependent upon absolute sterilization. Tables and all utensils to be used should be perfectly clean. Sterilize jars and lids by boiling fifteen minutes after being thoroughly washed. Invert on a clean surface until used. Drop rubbers for one minute into a solution of soda and water, using one quart of water to one teaspoonful of soda. Wash, sort and grade the fruit or vegetables according to size and maturity. Discard all that is over ripe or unsound.

Glass jars are more economical for home use than tin cans. The best type of jar, especially for vegetables requiring intermittent processing, is the so-called lightening seal, having a glass lid held in place by a wire clamp. If the screw top jar is used, good caps are essential to safety. Carefully test all jars to see that the seal is perfect before storing the canned products in a cool, dark place.

New rubbers must be used each year. Purchase the best quality always. Few rubbers can withstand three hours boiling. New rubbers should, therefore, be placed on the jars the last day at the beginning of the last processing or a half hour before the end of the period. The water in the canner should come just below the neck of the jar.

Fruits may be canned without sugar but the addition of some sugar gives a more desirable product. To make syrup, boil sugar and water together in the proportion given below until the sugar is dissolved. Strain before using.

Syrup number 1, 14 ounces of sugar, 1 gallon of water.

Syrup number 2, 1 lb. 14 ounces of sugar, 1 gallon water.

Syrup number 3, 2 lbs. 9 ounces sugar, 1 gallon water.

Syrup number 4, 5 lbs. 8 ounces sugar, 1 gallon of water.

Syrup number 5, 6 lbs. 13 ounces sugar, 1 gallon of water.

On account of the scarcity of sugar syrups number 2 and 3 should be most largely used in canning fruits this year.

Brine or water is added immediately after packing to such vegetables as need to be surrounded by liquid for proper preparation or sterilization. Use no more liquid than is actually necessary to cover the contents after as full pack as possible is made.

Time Table for Canning Fruits and Vegetables.

Vegetable	Blanch Minutes	Liquor. Heavy brine	No. Can	Exhaust Minutes	Process
String beans	3 to 5	2	2	3 Int'mittent or 2 hrs.
Lima beans	2 to 5	Water, salt, sugar, Brine	2	3 Int'mittent or 2 hrs.
Beets, cooked 3-4 done.		Brine	2	2 1 to 2 hrs.
Corn	1 to 3	Salt, sugar, water.	2	10 Int'mittent 3 hrs.
Okra	6 to 8	Brine	2	3 Int'mittent 3 hrs.
Peas	3 to 5	Salt, sugar, water	2	3 Int'mittent 3 hrs.
Tomatoes	1	Salt, sugar	2	2 20 mins.
Vegetable mixture		Brine		3 hrs. or Int'mittent

Time Table for Canning Fruits.

Fruit.	Blanch	Syrup	Jar.	Process, Mins.
Berries		No. 2	Qt.	12 minutes
Figs	Soda blanch	No. 3	Qt.	30 minutes
Gooseberries		No. 3	Qt.	20 minutes
Peaches	15 seconds	No. 4	Qt.	20 minutes
Pears	15 seconds	No. 3	Qt.	25 minutes
Plums	Pricked with needle	No. 4	Qt.	15 minutes

Process pints as for No. 2 tin cans, quarts as for No. 3 cans, adding 10 minutes to each period. The brine used for vegetables is made of 2 1-2 ozs. of salt to one gallon of water.

SECURING BEST RESULTS WITH BEES

By Frank L. Thomas, Assistant Entomologist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Five very important steps have been recommended to beekeepers of the South by Dr. E. F. Phillips in charge of Beekeeping in the United States Department of Agriculture.

In order of their importance they are as follows:

(1) Transferring to 10-frame hives, that is, moving bees from box hives, log gums, etc., in modern, movable frame hives. Before anything can be done to increase honey production the bees must be transferred into the modern hives. The best time to do this work is in the spring when the combs are not full of honey.

(2) Italianizing. The Italian bees have shown themselves so far ahead of the common bee that no discussion is necessary.

(3) Recognition and prevention of disease. Brood diseases are present in parts of Alabama. If any dead or discolored brood is found the Bureau of Entomology will examine the suspected brood free and give directions for treatment.

(4) Production of extracted honey only. In that way the total honey supply may be greatly increased. If you have 10 hives or more do not fail to investigate the different methods for extracting the honey. Two comb-honey supers put together will make one extracting super so there need be no loss of equipment. The demand for extracted honey will be 10 times that for comb honey, and the extracted can be sold at any time, while the comb honey will not keep when freezing weather occurs. Bees do not enter the comb-honey supers as readily as supers for extracted honey and in the production of comb honey it is more difficult to keep the bees from swarming excessively. Comb honey production is the business of an experienced beekeeper.

(5) Winter protection. Just because we live in the South where cold weather is less severe does not mean that the bees can get along without protection. On the contrary they do most emphatically need protection, for the warm days we have in winter stimulate the bees to brood rearing and as a result the honey stores become rapidly depleted. Protection prevents the bees from becoming stimulated to brood rearing and also protects them from the cold. One-third of the losses last winter were due to freezing and another third to starvation. In a large measure the loss from both of these causes might have been prevented by winter protection.

It is late in the season for the beekeeper to change his plans materially, but if each will do his best it is possible to make a difference in the available honey supply and there will be no difficulty in marketing the entire crop within the State.

Miss Prudence Elizabeth Duncan is visiting friends at Floral Park, in Woodlawn, Birmingham.

Mrs. Edgar Lee Gaines of Birmingham will arrive soon to become the house guest of the Lucien J. Duncans.

DO NOT "LAY BY" TOO SOON

By E. F. Cawthen, Associate Agriculturist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Many farmers have a tendency to lay by their crops entirely too early. Most crops yield better if cultivated until fruit or seed begins to form. In the case of corn, shallow cultivation may be given until it begins to bunch to tassels; and in the case of cotton, until the early formed bolls are about grown.

The advantages of late cultivation are: (1) The destruction of grass and other weeds which rob the growing crop of both moisture and plant food; (2) It lessens the loss of moisture by producing a dust or soil mulch; and (3) It increases the formation of available plant food. The late cultivations which will secure these advantages may be made with the ordinary short scooter and large scraper-set flat and by the use of the ordinary "Gee Whiz" and other light scratching implements.

In all late cultivation one important thing should be borne in mind, namely, never allow the implement to go deep enough to tear out the small roots of the plants, as these are very necessary to the growing plant. Should they be destroyed the plants will not have sufficient time to grow others to supply the food necessary for the crop to make its maximum yield.

When the farmer finds a bunch of fine, white roots hanging on his plow foot, he may be reasonably sure that he is lessening the yield of his corn. If he finds any brown or reddish roots hanging on his scraper or scooter, as he turns at the end of his cotton roots, he may be sure he is helping the boll weevil to reduce the yield of cotton.

After each shower of rain a shallow cultivation breaks up rapid surface evaporation, prevents the forming of the crop of weeds, and increases the supply of available plant food.

HANDLING HOGS FOR SHIPMENT

L. T. Wells, Assistant in Marketing.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

In recent correspondence with packers handling southern hogs in large numbers, the question of bruised carcasses was mentioned. One of these packers stated the following: "There is one condition that we notice about southern hogs, and that is that they contain quite a large percentage of bruised carcasses, which discounts their value. We presume that these bruises are caused to some extent by rough handling, particularly at the time of loading."

In handling hogs they are often allowed to drop from the wagon or are thrown against a post or other things. Hogs in market condition, especially young animals, are very easily bruised, and often otherwise injured. In catching them to load on wagons they are often injured, especially if a dog is used. If any number are to be marketed it will pay to build a loading chute. It can be constructed with very little cost, and the hogs can be driven into the wagon body, saving both labor and injury to the animals.

A fat hog should always be handled slowly, that is, he should never be forced to run. If the animals are closely crowded in a pen in warm weather they are easily overheated.

A few minutes time, and a little patience when hogs are being loaded ready for market, will save meat and do much toward removing the prejudice which the packer may hold against southern hogs.

PLANT THE STUBBLE LAND IN LEGUMES

By E. F. Cawthen, Associate Agriculturist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Every acre of stubble land should be planted in some kind of summer crop. On account of the shortage of labor and the high price of seed, many may think that this will not be worth while. The high price of nitrogenous fertilizers and the probability of its continuing high make it important that every farmer now begin to plan for the next year's supply.

The increased yield coming from the crop of summer legumes is sufficient to justify the farmers carefully considering this crop as a means of supplying his need. Experiments made at the Alabama Experiment Station show that a crop of cowpeas and velvet beans plowed under for soil improvement increased the cotton yield the next year 63%; the corn yield 81%; and winter oats 89%. When only the stubble of cowpeas and velvet beans were plowed under for soil improvement the increases in cotton and corn were respectively, 49% and 32%.

When this article is read many farmers will still have remnants of cowpeas and velvet beans that might be planted. In 1916 and 1917, varieties of velvet beans were planted on the Experiment Station farm about July 1. The Early Speckled, Osceola and other varieties made full grown beans before frost killed the vines. At a still later planting, July 14, these varieties made sufficient vine growth to cover the land, but did not mature beans.

Land planted in late velvet beans, and land left during the summer without any crop, was planted in early spring oats. The estimated yield, from the land on which the velvet beans were grown, was greater by 30% than that from the land which had no crop.

Nelson R. Brassell, a young attorney of Montgomery, is in the law office with Attorney A. C. Smith.

SWEET POTATO ROOT BORER

By W. E. Hinds, Entomologist, Ala. Exp. Station.

It seems that for every crop there appears, sooner or later, some kind of insect pest. The sweet potato has been unusually free from such pests in most sections. About thirty years ago, however, a serious pest of this crop was introduced from the West Indian Islands probably to the vicinity of New Orleans and since that time it has been spreading slowly. Fortunately the adult rarely flies far and it is therefore possible to control this weevil as has not been possible with the boll weevil. This sweet potato root borer, or weevil, was not known to occur in Alabama until February 21, 1918, when it was discovered at Grand Bay in Mobile County. It is not certain that it occurs elsewhere in this State but there is a possibility that it does occur elsewhere without having been discovered.

In order to protect the sweet potato growing industry of the future with least expenditure of time and money the Alabama State Board of Horticulture has enacted quarantine rules and regulations to govern the movement of sweet potato planting stock in the same way as ordinary "nursery stock" has been handled in the past, as the weevil appears to be spreading almost entirely in the movement of infested planting stock. Parties having planting stock for sale, or to give away, should have their stock inspected so that they may receive a certificate showing that the stock is apparently free from this pest and they can then use the inspection tags with each package shipped thus protecting both themselves and their customers in this matter.

A recent publication, Circular No. 27, of the Alabama Experiment Station describes this insect, and also gives the quarantine regulations. All sweet potato growers should get this circular which shows pictures of the insect and its work. They can then be on the lookout for any suspicious specimens and send them at once to the Entomologist, Auburn, for identification.

In cooperation with the U. S. Bureau, through which Congress has appropriated funds to the aid in controlling this pest, we have arranged to have four men begin at once in Alabama such inspection and extension work as will best enable us to locate the borer if it does occur elsewhere in Alabama and to prepare our sweet potato growers to handle the insect and exterminate it wherever it may be found in the State.

Close cooperation and prompt action should enable us to keep this enemy from becoming a serious menace to the sweet potato crop which was valued at more than $10,000,000. for Alabama in 1917 and should be even more valuable this season. With the further establishment of sweet potato storage houses the crop can be kept far better than under the old system of banking. There is also very encouraging prospects of an important development in the line of drying plants and the utilization of the sweet potato for making flour and other products which promise a bright future for sweet potato growers of this State.

WEAN THE CALVES

By J. P. Quinerly, Dairy Specialist, Auburn, Ala.

If you have a sucking calf wean him today. There is no plausible excuse for letting the calf suck. And now, with the world short of butter every family cow and every dairy cow should be given a chance to swell our sum total of butter. To do this, their calves must be weaned. The last milk given by a cow is very rich—often ten or twelve times as rich as the first. As a rule the calf probably gets about half of the cream.

Separate the calf from his mother when a day or two old, preferably, but he can be weaned successfully at any age and taught to drink from a pail. There is no danger of the cow "drying up."

Use two buckets at milking time—one for the calf. Keep one as clean as the other. Milk about a half gallon for the calf and try to get about the same from each teat as this first milk is not rich in butter-fat, then finish milking as quickly as possible in the other bucket.

Teach the calf to drink by wetting your finger in milk and letting him suck it until you get his head into the bucket and he gets a taste of the milk. It is usually unnecessary to let him suck your finger more than once or twice. After then the calf will drink out of the bucket as greedily as a pig and practically no time is lost in feeding him.

A gallon or a little less is sufficient for a calf per day provided hay and corn chops with oats or bran are fed from the time he is two weeks old. This method is the best way to raise the family cow's calf. But of course where several cows are kept and a separator used the calves should be fed skim milk after they are three weeks old.

A circular telling how to raise calves will be sent to all applicants.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

CITIZENS AND OFFICIALS ARE URGED TO ATTEND IMPORTANT MEETINGS IN THE STATE SOON.

A LABOR PROCLAMATION

The State of Alabama, Executive Department, Montgomery.

Because of the necessity of a sane and proper consideration of certain grave problems which compel immediate action, I hereby urge all Sheriffs, County Superintendents of Education, ministers, Mayors of municipalities, members of the State and County Councils of Defense, members of the legislature, representatives of labor, newspaper men, all state, county and municipal food and fuel administrators, and representatives from all the essential industries, such as agriculture, manufacturing, shipbuilding, transportation, timber, et cetera, to attend one of the meetings hereinafter named:

Mobile, Ala., July 8.
Montgomery, Ala., July 9.
Decatur, Ala., July 11.
Gadsden, Ala., July 12.
Tuscaloosa, Ala., July 13.

For the purpose of discussing and devising ways and means of completing the cultivation and harvesting the crops of our state and for the keeping in full operation of all the industries and enterprises necessary and essential to our government in winning the war. We have reached a time in our state and national life when no person should be idle, every consumer should be producing, and no man, woman or child in our great state should be without his or her task. Truly, in this grave hour in the life of our common country, all should hear and heed the injunction: "Six days shalt thou labor." The hands and hearts of every liberty-loving citizen, man, woman or child, should turn to the task of producing something beneficial to our state, nation, and courageous allies, and especially in support and comfort of the brave young soldiers who are making the supreme sacrifice for us all.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Alabama to be affixed, this, the 26th day of June, A. D., 1918.
(Signed) CHAS. HENDERSON,
Governor.

SLIGHT AUTO ACCIDENT

Last Friday morning County Treasurer, J. Bice, got into a slight wreck with his Ford as he was driving out of town down the long hill on the highway toward Thorsby. By some means one of the wheels of the car came loose and would not respond to the action of the emergency brake, thus causing the machine to run unchecked down the long hill. A wagon driven by Mr. Bean, was going down the hill at the same time and the car struck it. No serious damage was done.

BOLL WEEVILS PLENTIFUL

Reports are coming in to the Union-Banner from various sections of the county stating that boll weevils are plentiful in cotton fields. Mr. Curtis Moore of Cooper was in our office one day last week and stated that in a half a day's time his boys had caught and killed something over 300 mature weevils. They used one of the patent boll weevil catchers. Many others have stated that they have weevils.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper at Fairview Schoolhouse on Saturday evening, July 13. The proceeds will go to help buy lamps for the school house. Cream will be served after the debate which begins about 8:00 o'clock.

HAM LEWIS ARRESTED.

Ham Lewis, a former citizen of Coosa county, who has been living up near Lomax for the past year, was arrested Sunday by Marshall Wall, and carried to Montgomery to answer an indictment by the Federal grand jury on a charge of violating the prohibition laws. The violation is alleged to have occurred in Coosa county.

REPUBLICANS TO HAVE DISTINGUISHED VISITORS AT STATE CONVENTION

Senator Watson of Indiana and William H. Hays of Republican National Executive Committee To Make Addresses.

Senator Jas. E. Watson of Indiana and Hon. William H. Hays, Chairman of the National Republican Executive Committee, will be in Birmingham to attend the convention of the Republican party which will be held on August 28, according to an announcement made yesterday by T. J. Kennamer.

Both of these distinguished visitors will deliver addresses and a number of prominent members of the republican party will also appear on the programme.

The State Republican Executive Committee will meet on August 27 to make preliminary arrangements for the convention.

ALWAYS SIGN YOUR NAME IN WRITING TO THE SHERIFF

Sheriff Harris wishes to request all who write him letters reporting violations of the law to please sign their names to their communications. All such matters will be treated in the strictest confidence, and no one need fear letting the officers know who the report came from. It is absolutely necessary that the Sheriff know who the reports come from in order to get the right view of the situation and all the facts in hand.

Good citizens of the county will readily make reports to the officers of violations of the law that occur in the county. And they should always sign their names to their letters. And the Sheriff can get the full situation in hand and go at the business in the right way.

NOTICE TO SINGERS AND LOVERS OF SACRED SONG

I have a letter from Prof. J. D. Patton, stating that he will be at the Singing Convention next Sunday. I want to ask that all the singers in the county try to be present and bring your 1918 song books. We hope to make this the banner session ever held. Prof. Patton also writes that H. C. Collins will be with him.

Yours respectfully,
J. L. GORE.

POPLAR SPRINGS

All who are interested in the cemetery at this place are requested to meet here on Wednesday, July 17, for the purpose of cleaning of the grave yard.

Come prepared with necessary tools for doing the work.
J. L. McDOWELL.

ISABELLA CEMETERY

All persons who are in any way interested in the cemetery at Isabella Church, will please meet there on Wednesday, July 17th, for the purpose of cleaning off same. You are invited to come and bring your dinner and stay all day. Bring your hoes and pitch forks and wheelbarrows and a will to do a big days work.

SHILOH

There will be a working at Shiloh on Friday, July 19, 1918, for the purpose of cleaning off the cemetery and other necessary work. All who are interested are requested to meet.
J. I. BICE.

FAIRVIEW

There will be a debate and ice-cream supper at Fairview schoolhouse next Saturday night, July 13. Everybody is cordially invited to come.
Mrs. G. W. CULP.

BARN BURNED.

Early Wednesday morning, just before daylight the fire alarm was sounded and every body aroused from their early snooze to find Marion Gore's barn being consumed by fire. The building was completely destroyed together with a quantity of corn and feed stuff.

All the cows, pigs, chicken and rats succeeded in escaping without injury. The discovery of the fire was not made until it was too late to save the building with the water works.

F. M. Foshee of Route 7 came in Wednesday and subscribed for the Union-Banner. He said he had got as far as he could without the paper.

Martin Peterson, a subscriber from Thorsby was a visitor to the Union-Banner Wednesday.

J. B. Jones, a former Chilton County citizen, sends his subscription to The Union-Banner from Miami, Arizona. Mr. Jones has been out west for several years.

DR. PARRISH TO GO TO ARMY

Dr. W. L. Parrish has received his call for service in the veterinary department of the army. He leaves Friday of this week for Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., to take up his duties. Dr. Parrish enlisted on February 4th and has been waiting for the call to active service.

ARRESTED WITH BOOZE.

Tom Hilyer and Sherman Giles were in Clanton on the Fourth of July, an they had a little white lightning along with them to make everything run smooth. They met a friend on the road out toward Bruce's and as he inquired for a little friendly sip they just opened up the little brown jug to him right there in the highway. They of course never thought anything about a sneaking old deputy sheriff being anywhere about. But there was one close by, although he was not sneaking at all. He and his wife were just driving along the road in his car. When he observed the jug being passed around so freely, he just stopped the car, got out and invited Mr. Hilyer and Mr. Giles to return to town with him. This they did readily, and everything was soon put in order for a further hearing of the matter before Judge Reynolds at the next term of county court.

MR FULTON POPWELL WRITES TO HIS MOTHER AT PALOS

Mrs. J. D. Popwell of Palos, Ala., sends us the following letter from her son, Fulton, who is now living in Oklahoma. The letter follows:

Vinson, Okla., June 1, 1918.

Dear mother:

I would have written you sooner but we have been awful busy on account of the big hail we have had to plant our crops over.

Well, I will tell you a little about this country.

Here where we live is what is called the "breaks." It is between two rivers, which are about 12 or 15 miles apart, and the land is somewhat hilly and rolling, although some is pretty land. Nearly all of it has breaks and canyons, but it is open, loose land, easy to cultivate, with some sand. After big rains, if the wind blows hard it blows the sand mighty bad, and we have to run the drag tooth harrow over it to stop it and keep it from killing the little crop.

Several times after it has been harrowed two or three times it has to be plowed to stop the sand. When our little stuff was just up and the wind blew hard we sure did have to harrow in a hurry to keep the sand from covering up the small plants. We work four horses to a lister, made kindly on the order of a middle buster, to bed over land, and with that we bed one row as we go, and when we get ready to plant, we just straddle the bed with planter and lay it off, plant and cover it as we go. We have what is called the go-devil which we use mostly on little stuff. We use two horses to it, and as it is made low right on the ground it does mighty fine work. It has one blade on each side to cut the weeds that reach out to the center of the middle. It has a seat on it and 3 disc plows on each side, and leavers to adjust it any way we want to. It just slides on the ground and a child can run it on level land after it has been set. We have the two-row go-devil which we use on larger stuff. We use four horses to it.

We have the riding cultivator to use just to put dirt to the rather large plants. It uses four to six sweeps and straddles the row, which plows out both middle and row at the same operation. This is everything we plow with. When we go around we have two rows and two middles plowed out. The cultivator works on a swing and levers to raise and lower the plows just as you want them, and you guide the plows with your feet. They are easily turned and anyone can adjust the plows to any position wanted. It certainly does fine work.

We have the binder machine, which we work six horses to. This machine cuts, ties and throws out as many bundles as you want in a place. We have mowing machines and rakes. We hitch two horses to them and harrow three rows at a time, and when we get tired walking we saddle a horse and ride him and drive the others. So you see, we don't walk much.

When I was coming here I saw lots of fine, level land. When I crossed the Mississippi River I saw lots of houses out in the river that people lived in. They were small houses and are fastened to the bank. All the lower part of Arkansas along the railroad is fine bottom land and it is rich but rather low. It is owned by white people and worked by negroes.

I ate supper at Boomville, Ark., when I was coming out here, and spent the night on the train. The next morning I ate breakfast at Oklahoma City, but it was just getting day, and I could not tell much about the city.

I have seen fine fields of level lands with the rows half a mile long. We are only two miles from the line of Texas and two hundred miles from the plains in Texas west of here. Uncle John has seven hundred acres of land, 17 head of horses and mules, 44 head of cattle, 24 head of hogs that would weigh five or six thousand on foot.

Well, I'll tell you Alabama farming would seem like starvation to me now. This is all I can tell you now. Your loving son, FULTON F. POPWELL.

Emmett C. Powell has returned to his work in Caruthersville, Missouri, after a vacation of two weeks spent with his parents in Clanton. Mrs. Powell will remain here for a while longer before she returns home.

THE POPLAR SPRINGS SINGING

The singing at Poplar Springs on Sunday, June 30, was splendid.

The first thing was a song by J. L. Jones, then the convention was organized. R. T. Grant was elected chairman, who appointed J. Bice as secretary. After a song led by the chairman, prayer was offered by Joe Foshee, after which the chair appointed J. M. Curlee, T. G. Wyatt and J. L. Jones as committee on Program of arrangement.

J. L. Culp, Jodie Mims, Jessie Jones, lead 20 minutes each, also R. T. Grant led 20 minutes, after which recess was taken for dinner, which was served bountifully.

At 1:30 the singing was resumed, and the following led 15 minutes each: L. Boswell, John Cleckler, R. A. Smith, Annie Boswell, Glover Smith Willie Cleckler, W. G. Culp.

Organists were Miss Marietta Walker and W. G. Culp.

The singing was just splendid. Everybody seemed to enjoy it and everybody was attentive. All together, it was a success.

J. BICE, Secy.

SHERIFF HARRIS REPLIES TO FALSE CHARGES MADE ON HIM BY DAILY NEWSPAPERS

Clanton, Ala., July 3, 1918.

Editor Union-Banner:

Owing to the serious sickness of my wife I have been unable to devote my mind to making a reply to the many false statements which have recently been circulated through the newspapers about me. But now if you will kindly grant me space I shall make an effort to set the minds of the people straight as to my position in the matter.

The Birmingham and Montgomery papers indulged freely and to great excess in the spreading of the false statements that I had been arrested by Federal agents for not performing my duty in regard to the execution of the draft laws and in dealing with slackers. All of such reports were of course false and without foundation in any degree, as all who are acquainted with the actual situation know without any question.

Then one of the Birmingham papers reported that I had given out an interview in Birmingham regarding the lacker situation in Coosa County, saying that I had made a number of assertions concerning what was termed the backwardness of the citizenship of Coosa County. I wish to state that this, along with the other reports, is absolutely untrue. I made no assertions to a Birmingham paper regarding the people of Coosa County, and any intimation that I did so is absolutely false.

In an issue of a few weeks ago the Chronicle took up the statements that I made, and dealt rather harshly with me for saying such things. The Chronicle made a serious mistake, and did me a grave injustice in what it said about me, because they acted on the false reports of the Birmingham paper without first ascertaining of the reports were true or not.

I wish to inform the Editor of the Chronicle that I did not make the statements about the people of Coosa County as the Birmingham paper reported that I did. Therefore, his arraignment of me is misdirected and out of place. If he wants to blame anybody for making such statements, let him get on the Birmingham paper that first framed the falsehood and started it out over the country.

The people of Coosa County know me and I know them. I know them too well to be led into making such statements about their intelligence as was reported that I made. And I am surprised that the Chronicle is so easily led off by such falsehoods as that one.

The fact is that my people on both my fathers, and mother's side were born and reared in Coosa County, and many of my relatives live there yet, and it is absurd to think that I would make any statement that would reflect upon the intelligence and integrity of my own people.

I myself was born in Coosa County, and lived there until I was eleven years old, and since that time I have taught school in Coosa County for several years, and I say unhesitatingly that the general citizenship of Coosa County is in every way equal to that of any other county in the state.

As to the outlaw situation that was spoken of by the Chronicle, I will say that it is of course true that in every county there is more or less violations of the law of one kind and another, and particularly the prohibition laws, but as to me making any statement reflecting upon the officers of Coosa County not performing their duty in dealing with such cases, is absolutely false. I made no such assertions, and I feel my own responsibility too great to attempt to criticize my fellow-officers.

I again denounce the various reports that have been circulated about me by the several newspapers of Alabama as false and without foundation and ask that my record as an officer and my standing in my own county be applied as the test to justify me in my position in the whole matter.

For the sake of explaining to my many friends and making my position clear, I am asking the papers in Coosa County to publish the above statements, a copy of which is being sent to each of the two papers at Rockford, to wit: The Index, and The Chronicle, and also the Union-Banner at Clanton.

Thanking the above papers for their kindness in assisting me to clear up the many false reports that have been made about me, by giving space to the above letter, I am,

Very Respectfully,

H. A. HARRIS,
Sheriff of Chilton County.

PEOPLE SHOULD PREVENT ENACTMENT OF MANY OF OBJECTIONABLE LAWS

JUDGE ADAMS SUGGESTS NON-PARTISAN LEGISLATIVE ADVISORY COMMITTEE IN EACH COUNTY.

Editor Union-Banner:

Much has been said about co-operation among citizens toward securing enactment of proper and satisfactory legislation to the interest of the tax payers. Co-operation is the all-important question following that of knowledge. Whenever the people know what they want, then in order to reach the desired end, they must work together. This idea is fundamental in all political organizations, and also in business organizations.

It was said of old that a house divided against itself cannot stand. Now, the Alabama Legislature will meet in January, 1919, and much legislation will be before that body—some good and some not so good—and I beg pardon for making a few suggestions to the people of Chilton County.

I think much good would come to the tax payers of the state if the people would organize what might be known as a non-partisan legislative committee in each county in the state. Such a committee could serve to help the various members of the legislature to know the will of the tax payers who are their constituents. This means would in my opinion be a splendid way to prevent much of the objectionable legislation that is most always heaped upon the tax payers. And best of all, such a committee would be in direct touch with the people in the home precincts, and almost at a moment's notice could come before the legislature with orders from the people.

It does occur to me that such an organization in each county would be of great assistance to the members of the legislature, as well as an untold help to the tax-payers.

If we are to have a Democratic form of government let's have it in the true spirit; and if the people are the bosses, let the people give the orders. Then when they get what they ask for there will be no ground for complaint.

This plan would also be a splendid means of informing the people, and when they are informed they will be better satisfied.

I further suggest that the people this county meet in the near future to consider the matter of organizing as above outlined.

S. M. ADAMS.

Clanton, Ala., July 8, 1918.

THANKS TO MR. ALBERT GORE

The first watermelon of this season to be presented to the Union-Banner was brought in last Saturday by Mr. Albert Gore, a good and faithful subscriber who lives on Route 8. The melon was one of those big long "streaked" rattle-snake kind, and no melons ever grew any redder and sweeter than this one. We feel sure that we will not have the pleasure of slicing a better melon this season than this the first one. The thanks of the Union-Banner are extended to Mr. Gore for his thoughtfulness of us.

It certainly takes some noise to wake the people of Clanton just before day light. If rats were as hard to wake as people there would have been many of them burned in Buck Gore's barn yesterday.

We want to say amen to our brother Harmless Henry Smith of the Collinsville Courier for the way he handed it to the Catholic politicians in the last week's issue of the Courier. It is all right for the Catholics to worship God just any way they choose, but they should not be allowed to put their supposed-to-be church in control of the political and governmental affairs of this country.

Since somebody has named the anti-Catholic issue in Alabama politics, Bill Brandon is out hot and heavy for the separation of church and state, the Bible in the public schools, etc., and so on. But he didn't have anything to say about it till he saw the people all lining up behind Kilby on that issue.

D. H. Gentry of New Salem, one of the candidates for County Commissioner, was in Clanton Sunday. Mr. Gentry has been very busy of late with his threshing machine, and has not had much time to devote to his candidacy; but from now till the primary he expects to see his friends over the county. "Uncle Dock" is a good man, one of the plain, straightforward sort, and we are sure it would be no mistake to elect him as our commissioner.

Latest estimates by the Federal bureau of Cotton statistics places the number of bales of cotton that will be produced in the United States this year at over fifteen million. This is going close to the record crop of 17 million bales a few years ago.

OVER A HUNDRED MEN TO GO FROM HERE IN THIS MONTH

The demands of the draft system will take over a hundred men from Chilton county to the national army during the month of July.

There were 39 who went to Camp Shelby, Miss., on Tuesday.

There will be 12 to go to the camp at the University of Alabama on next Tuesday, July 15th.

Another call will be issued for 60 men to go to Camp Hancock at Augusta, Ga., on July the 22.

This will just about exhaust the registrants now in class one. Those left will be the young men who registered June 5th. They have already been called for examination, and will probably be used to fill the calls for the month of August.

INFORMATION IN REGARD TO FARMERS SELLING THE WHEAT THEY PRODUCE

Upon an inquiry to the Food Administration in regard to the farmers selling their wheat, Judge Reynolds has received the following letter:

"Dear Judge Reynolds:—

"There is no objection to a farmer selling seed wheat to another farmer, but he is not allowed to sell other than seed wheat to an individual.

"A farmer who grows his own wheat is allowed to sell same to a wholesale or retail merchant, or to a licensed wheat miller.

"Trusting that this answers your question, I remain with best wishes,

"Sincerely yours,

"THOMAS BRAGG"

Executive Secretary.

"P. S.—Cannot write you in regard to price of wheat at this time, as we understand that there may be change in the price due to increased freight rates"

"Judge L. H. Reynolds, Clanton, Ala.

MILLERS MUST SELL CEREALS WHEN THEY SELL THE FLOUR.

"Dear Judge Reynolds:—In your letter of July 15th you ask if a licensed miller buying wheat and grinding it into flour will have to sell cereals when he sells his flour. Our answer is that it WILL BE NECESSARY for him to sell cereals pound for pound when he sells his flour.

"Sincerely yours,

"THOMAS BRAGG"

Executive Secretary.

USE THE PREVENTATIVE

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Well, why not use the preventative, for in all cases it is not alone more valuable but cheaper.

Why people will not use the preventative instead of waiting till it is too late and then make a hopeless and always losing fight for the cure, is one of the unsolved mysteries of the modern age.

In matters of legislation and the making of laws to govern themselves, it seems that people are the most negligent. They exert the least effort to have laws made right and then make the biggest kick because they were made wrong. It is the same story of not using the preventative, and after it is too late, trying to apply hopeless cure.

People could prevent the enactment of unsatisfactory laws with one-tenth the trouble and expense which they are caused in trying to get along under the operations of the laws after they are made.

With all the complexities that have grown upon our system of government from time to time, through one means and another, we still have the fundamental idea of government of the people, for the people and by the people. Some and many laws are placed on the statute books that are not in accordance with this fundamental principle, but if we inquire why they were placed there we find that it is because the people did not try to keep them from being written there. Why the indifference is the point that is hard to explain.

Why will the people not use some means to have the laws made right in the first place and prevent the worry that always follows an obnoxious law like many we labor under today? They have in their own hands the power of prevention if they will but exercise it.

With these few points we come now to give attention to the suggestion of Judge S. M. Adams, which is made to the voters and tax-payers through this issue of the Union-Banner.

The one panacea for all the numerous ills that grow out of useless and obnoxious laws is the plan that Judge Adams suggests. If the people of Alabama had worked their aims through the last legislature in the manner suggested by Judge Adams they could have prevented all that useless legislation with less than one-tenth the trouble that has been caused them in their struggle to live under their operation and keep themselves clear with the lawyers.

Every thoughtful citizen and taxpayer will see in the suggestion of Judge Adams the very one and only thing that can ever bring peace to the troubled minds of Alabama's over-governed people. We know that there is no hope for us in depending on a cure after the serpent has sunk his fangs into our flesh. Then why do we not gather the mantle of caution about us and prevent the dreadful step that is bringing us ever and always in contact with the poisonous reptile?

The people must cast off their slothfulness or else we shall continue to have our substance devoured in the same merciless and wanton fashion that has gorged upon us for years past.

The preventative is with the people. Whenever they consent to bestir themselves and use it the order of things will be changed from the worse to the better.

The man who must live by the law should be the one to make the law, and when a man makes a law, he himself should abide by the same.

THE TOWN SCALE.

I am the town scale. I weigh everything the farmer grows. I determine the measure of profit or loss on the farm products. I am the medium between buyer and seller everywhere.

But I am a slacker, I am too short to weigh correctly. I am exposed to rain and snow. My joints are rusty and do not break evenly. My weight is sometimes incompetent and does not balance me properly. Therefore, I do not give honest weights. I often rob the seller. I sometimes cheat the buyer. I arouse suspicion and distrust among men. I am the cause of unmeasured loss and delay in settling disputes that should never occur.

But I am all-American, and can be made 100 per cent efficient. This, however, will require team work on the part of both farmers and business men.

First, the towns must throw away all the old scales and buy a new one that registers its own weights. It must be long enough to weigh both wagon and team together. It must be sheltered from the weather, and tested daily so that it will always be accurate.

Secondly, the towns must employ a competent weigher, who is neither buyer nor seller, and must require him to give bond to weigh impartially.

Finally, the towns must require that everything sold in bulk, whether cattle, hay or coal, shall be weighed on these scales and that the seller must pay for the weighing.

This should be done immediately so that when the next crop is ready to market my weights will be accepted by buyers and sellers everywhere. Then I shall be the standard for all markets and shall be proud of my name, "The Town Scale."

All lovers of sacred music have an exceptional opportunity of hearing a great and splendid master of song on next Sunday. Prof. J. D. Patton, the greatest gospel singer in the south, will be at the Chilton county Singing Convention at Liberty Hill, and many admirers of his music will be there to hear him sing.

13 ENEMY AIR PLANES

DOWNED IN ONE DAY.

LONDON, July 10.—British airmen brought down 13 German planes July 8th and lost four of their own. The air ministry announced today, more than 19 tons of bombs were dropped on enemy targets.

WAR NEWS DIGEST

Design Stephen Potter, United States Naval Reserve force, killed in action with German planes April 25 last, was the first American naval aviator to shoot down and destroy a German seaplane, according to a navy department statement.

The report states that on March 19, 1918, a long-distance reconnaissance of the German coast was made by large American flying boats operating from a British Royal Air force station. Ensign Potter was one of two American naval aviators accompanying this expedition and Potter was successful in shooting down a German seaplane which attacked the reconnaissance formation. A second enemy seaplane found safety in running away.

Potter's death reflects credit on his courage. He was killed in a fight with seven enemy single-seaters. He was second pilot to a British air force captain, who was with him when he shot down the German plane in March. Two British planes had flown to a point six miles from Hinder light, when two enemy planes headed toward them. The British planes closed on the nearest German and opened fire. Two more hostile planes then appeared overhead and attacked vigorously while three other enemy planes passed astern. The two British planes dived and speeded westward under continuous volleys from the rear. One of the Germans disappeared.

Of the seven Germans in action four were attacking Potter, who fell behind his companion and began to zigzag. Potter dodged, but was broadside to all the enemy machines and under their fire only 50 feet from the water. His companion, 250 feet above, saw Potter's machine burst into flame, come part of the way under control, then crash on the port wing tip. Potter was seen last on the surface of the water amid flames, which turned suddenly to a huge cloud of smoke. When the pall had cleared not even wreckage was visible and the circling enemy disappeared.

German timidity before American pistol fighters armed with American .45-caliber automatic pistols has brought about a change in the equipment of the American Expeditionary forces by the war department and the ordnance department is rushing production of these weapons. About 3,000 are turned out daily and production is increasing. The impression exists that a shot from an American .45 takes a man out of action completely. Men hit from the smaller German pistols frequently continue in action effectively. The .45 caliber was adopted by the United States army in 1911.

Despite the heavy increased demand, for these pistols the ammunition branch of the ordnance department has effected a saving during the past two calendar months of nearly $2,000,000, mostly on small-arms ammunition.

The total savings by the ordnance department for these two months through salvage, waste prevention and the utilization or sale of discarded materials have aggregated $8,757,025. Cost of Vickers machine guns has been reduced $522.35 each; Colt machine guns, $284.16 each; Lewis machine guns, $22 each. Government rifles now cost $22 each, a reduction of $13 each.

Health of women workers in munition plants will be looked after by woman health officers who are to be trained under the direction of the women's division of the industrial service section of the army ordnance department.

An eight weeks' course of study for carefully selected woman health officers has opened at Mount Holyoke college, Massachusetts. The course is under the general direction of Dr. Kristine Mann, health supervisor of the women's branch of the ordnance department. The staff of lecturers and instructors includes well-known specialists in physiology and hygiene, physical education, factory organization and labor.

Women taking the course are college graduates or of equivalent technical education. Almost all of them have had experience in dealing with working women. First requirement for admission to the course is perfect health and only those were selected who will inspire wholesome living among the munition workers.

The army has sufficient veterinarians, Surgeon General Gorgas announces. Examinations for commissions in the veterinary corps have closed. There is a waiting list of those eligible to commissions and until this list is exhausted there will be no more examinations. The corps has 1,700 officers and 10,000 enlisted men on active duty.

Veterinary graduates called by the draft will enter the army service as privates. Later they will be allowed to take examinations for veterinary officer commissions to fill vacancies. Men over the draft age and under forty may enlist as privates and secure an equal chance with selected men for commissions. One hundred men are graduated each month from the training school for commissioned veterinary officers on active duty at Camp Greenleaf, Chickamauga Park, Ga.

The department of labor reports adjustment of 30 industrial disputes during a recent week. This is a record. Eleven strikes and two threatened strikes were adjusted. Included in the strikes settled was that of machinists at the Curtiss Airplane company plant, Buffalo, where 300 men quit and 15,000 were affected indirectly.

TIME TO SOW BUR CLOVER

M. H. Pearson, Assistant in Agriculture.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The best time for sowing Bur clover is a question that has confronted a large number of farmers in Alabama, and one that has never been proven conclusively.

Most people, however, who have had experience for several years growing it have generally agreed that there is really a correct time for sowing, just as there is for sowing any other crop.

Practical experience has taught us that one year with another you will get better results by sowing it just as soon as the seed have matured, and can be harvested.

This way of seeding seems a little nearer nature's way of doing things. Where Bur clover is found growing, the natural way of reseeding is for the seed to fall to the ground and there remain during the summer months. It is exposed to rain and sun, and during these variations in weather conditions the small burs are decaying or rotting, getting ready for germination as soon as cool days and nights come. When seed is sown in August and September the burs do not have sufficient time to become decayed or "rotted" and the result is, the clover germinates very late, if at all, and the chances of winter killing are much greater than with the earlier sown seed that has germinated, and has a good start before winter comes.

Bur clover, sown as early as July, will not require any special preparation of the soil. The only preparation necessary is to have the land free of trash and grass. Simply broadcast the seed over the land at the rate of four to five bushels per acre, and if possible broadcast a thin application of stable or barnyard manure over the seed. This application of manure is not absolutely essential, but increases the chances several times for success in getting a good start with it.

It is a winter growing legume, and should be grown much more extensively over the State, both as a winter cover crop and as a winter grazing crop. It also makes an ideal addition for a permanent pasture, which is needed by every man in Alabama who has one cow.

The point that causes Bur clover to be favored by many farmers is the fact that it does not require inoculation, and does not have to be reseeded, once you have a start, unless you plow it up before it has time to mature seed. The inoculation is carried in the burs, and therefore, makes it more generally liked by most farmers.

DRAFT MEN GET BIBLES.

ANNISTON, July 10.—Fully 500 of the relatives and friends of 103 select service men ordered into the military service at Camp Shelby, Miss., gathered at the court house early Tuesday morning for a brief farewell service for the men. The entire gathering accompanied the men to the terminal station. A feature of the departure of the men was the presentation of a Testament to each of the select service men by Rev. T. J. Davidson, camp pastor for the Parker memorial church.

SUITABLE HAY CROPS FOR LATE PLANTING

By E. F. Cawthon.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Now is the time to make preparation for any probable shortage in winter forage. It is not too late to plant early sorghum and some other crops.

The earliest varieties of sorghum require about 90 days to make suitable growth for hay. They may be planted as late as July 15 and harvested before frost. Early Amber, a black seeded variety, is well suited for late planting, because it grows rapidly, makes a slender stalk and cures rapidly. Early Orange, a red seeded variety, may also be used, but it requires 10 days longer to reach the blooming stage.

Sorghum may be planted either broadcast or drilled in rows about 30 inches wide, and given one or two shallow cultivations. It makes its largest yield of hay when planted on fertile soil well supplied with moisture. Meadow land and low, damp, bottom land which is not liable to overflow in the early fall is well adapted to this crop.

The quality of hay made from sorghum may be improved by planting a mixture of sorghum and cowpeas.

The sorghum crop when seeded alone in drill requires about a half bushel per acre. If seeded broadcast, the rate should be increased. If seeded with cowpeas broadcast, 30 or 40 pounds of sorghum seed mixed with 70 or 80 pounds of cowpeas per acre will give a sufficient stand to make from one to two tons of very palatable hay.

The land for this hay crop should be plowed and probably harrowed once before seeding. The seed should be lightly covered and the surface left free from any clods or bumps that may interfere with harvesting.

German millet may be planted as late as August 1. Soil that has plenty of plant food and a good supply of moisture will yield from a half to a ton and a half of very good forage per acre. However, it should never be planted on poor, dry soil. The land should be plowed and a good seed bed made before planting. The seed may be sown at the rate of 40 pounds per acre and covered with any shallow cultivating implement. In case of dry weather the surface should be packed.

German millet should be cut for hay as soon as its blooms appear. If it is allowed to pass beyond the flowering stage the heads begin to form bristles and the straw becomes woody, both of which reduce the quality of the hay for feeding purposes.

During the first half of July several early varieties of cowpeas may be planted for hay. Among these are Groit, New Era, Early Speckle and others. While these varieties do not make large tonnage of hay, yet they make a very high quality of hay. They may be planted broadcast or sown in drill.

Tom Rockett of Coopers was in Clanton last Tuesday. He said he has his flour mill in operation at Coopers now and is ready to serve the public.

Nathan L. Miller Candidate For Lieutenant Governor

To the People of Alabama:

I respectfully ask your support for nomination in the democratic primary for the office of Lieutenant-Governor of Alabama.

In these times the first duty of every citizen is to do everything possible to win the war, whether he be in office or out of office. Being not only above draft age, but above the age at which men are accepted for active service, yet I hold myself at all times in readiness to support our great President and Commander-in-Chief, President Wilson, and to render any and every service for which I may be called.

The Lieutenant-Governor is the presiding officer of our state senate, and as such refers the several bills introduced to the respective committees, and in case of a tie has the decisive vote. He also has, if some honorable precedents are followed, and the Senate so orders, the appointment of the standing committees to the Senate. In these matters he may contribute to the orderly consideration and dispatch of the legislative business, and may also have a great influence in shaping the legislative policies of the State.

It is therefore deemed proper that in offering for this office I should make some statement of my position as to some of the matters which may be considered by the next legislature. Such influence as I may have, including my votes, if any, will be for:

The ratification of the Federal Prohibition Amendment and the maintenance of our prohibition laws, believing that prohibition in Alabama is a demonstrated success, both morally and economically. An economic and business administration of the State's affairs, to the end that the State may again be restored to a cash basis, and the State's large floating debt paid as speedily as may be possible without impairing the efficiency of our governmental agencies.

Encourage, maintain and improve our Public School System so that every child in the State shall be taught the fundamentals of a practical education, including vocational and industrial instruction; that they, each and every one, may be inspired with patriotism, love of country, and devotion to our flag, and the things for which it stands; and that they may be taught to love and to cherish those principles for which our gallant armies and navy are fighting and which characterize us as a nation, such as the equality of the great and the humble before the law, respect for the rights of the weak as well as the rights of the strong, the freedom of conscience and separation of Church and State.

To foster and make more efficient and universally serviceable our department of Public Health.

The workmen's compensation act that will be in truth what its name implies and fashioned in light of the most successful acts of this character in any of the states. The further building and maintenance of good roads and in response to the almost universal desire, to utilize in this work all convict labor wherever it can be done without financial loss to the State or to the respective counties.

The utmost provision for our Confederate Veterans that our finances will permit.

I will oppose all class legislation and the bestowment of any special privileges.

I am a believer in the firm execution of all laws, and shall strive to cultivate a wholesome respect for law and orderly administration by the legally constituted authorities, and generally to do everything which faithful public service and good citizenship shall suggest as various duties and opportunities shall from time to time present themselves.

I am a native Alabamian—born in Danville, Morgan County—fifty-two years of age—a Democrat who has always advocated the principles of the party and voted for its nominees—a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, now serving as Chairman of the Board of Stewards of Highlands Church—a Mason, 32nd Degree Scottish Rite—a Knight of Pythias—a member of the Allied Armies of Birmingham, a patriotic organization for the raising of war funds such as sales of Liberty Bonds, and War Savings Stamps, and the raising of Red Cross, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. funds—a member of the Board of Education of Jefferson County, a practicing lawyer doing general practice and accustomed to dealing with business men and with business matters. Was a member of the State Senate from 1907 to 1910, inclusive.

This experience I hope has prepared me to serve you well in the office of Lieutenant-Governor, for which nomination I solicit your support.

Respectfully,

NATHAN L. MILLER.

ALLGOOD HAS MADE GOOD

(Complimentary Editorial in Southern Democrat, Oneonta, Ala.)

From field hand to State Auditor Miles C. Allgood has risen by his own hard work. He worked on his father's farm until he bought one of his own, where he gave special attention to raising livestock. His pure-bred hogs won many prizes at State Fairs, and even then Blount county was proud of Allgood's success.

As Superintendent of the Livestock Department of the Birmingham State Fair; as Farm Demonstration Agent for Blount county; as Conductor of Farmers' Institutes throughout the state; as Tax Assessor of Blount County and as State Auditor, M. C. Allgood has absolutely made good, and his record is clean, all the way through.

The world is looking to the farmer for food as never before, and the editor knows that the farmers of Alabama can trust M. C. Allgood to take care of their interests, when he is elected Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries.

PULLING FODDER DOES NOT PAY

By M. H. Pearson, Assistant in Agriculture.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The old method of pulling fodder has been practiced entirely too much by our southern farmers. It is wasteful, to say the least. The labor involved is great, and usually the actual cost of pulling is equal to the value of the roughage obtained. But this is not where the greatest waste comes in, since the operation decreases quite materially the yield of corn. In many instances this amounts to as much as 15 to 20 per cent, depending on the stage at which the fodder is pulled. The present scarcity and high price of labor makes fodder pulling all the more wasteful.

The leaves of the corn are simply manufacturing plants through which the raw material from the soil is manufactured into protein, starch and fat. From the leaves these substances are stored in the grain. If fodder is pulled while it is still green the grains of corn will not fill out, because their source of food supply has been cut off. There may not be any very noticeable difference in the amount of corn produced by measure, but when weighed the difference will be quite plain; the grains will be more or less shriveled and light. The only accurate way to determine the yield of corn is by weight.

If fodder is left on the stalk until it is dried up there is little feeding value in it. Of course where one does not pull fodder some other roughage must be secured to take its place. After the corn has been pulled the whole stalk can be cut and fed as roughage; and a still better method is to cut and shock the corn and shred it. The proper stage to cut it is about 10 days to two weeks after fodder is ordinarily pulled.

Mrs. Burns' Letter.

Here is a letter that is certain to prove of interest to people in this vicinity, as cases of this sort occur in almost every neighborhood, and people should know what to do in like circumstances.

Savannah, Mo., Oct 12, 1916.
"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint some 3 years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy to dozens of people since I first used it."

ANOTHER CHILTON BOY KILLED IN BATTLE

The report reached Clanton last week that the second one of Chilton County's boys in the service for democracy had been reported dead as a result of wounds sustained on the battle fields of France.

PREVENT HOG CHOLERA

The B. A. Thomas Hog Powder has a record of 95 per cent cures of Hog Cholera. If you feed your hogs as directed, you need never fear hog cholera nor any other hog disease; and the directions are very simple, just about what you are doing, plus a few cents worth of B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder in the feed twice a week. Usually, though, cholera gets in before we know it. Then it requires close attention to each hog—each hog must be dosed—and if you will dose them as directed, you will save better than 90 per cent. If you don't, the B. A. Thomas medicine costs you nothing. We, not some distant manufacturer, pay your money back.

WILL LOAD 52,000 SHELLS EACH DAY

GREAT GOVERNMENT PLANT IN NEW JERSEY TO START SHIPMENTS BEFORE LONG.

IS LARGEST IN THE WORLD

Three Others Like It Being Constructed—Medical Department Has Mobile Apparatus to Provide Pure Drinking Water in France.

(From Committee on Public Information.) Washington.—Quantity of not capacity shipments will start soon from a new government shell-loading factory in New Jersey, one of four such government plants each of which is larger than any similar plant in the world.

When turning out 52,000 loaded shells a day under full operation the plant will use 2,000 tons of shells and explosives daily, the products of some 75 factories. More than 5,000 workmen will be required. Plans contemplate the employment of a large number of women. The marking of shells to designate size, load and range will require 250,000 operations each day.

The plant has a total area of approximately 2,500 acres. More than 100 buildings, with an aggregate floor space of 1,800,000 square feet, will provide storage for shells and parts and for material. A small city, with heating and lighting plants, water and sewage systems, hospitals, fire-fighting plant and restaurants, was built to house the employees. There is equipment to protect the health of those who work with poisonous gases, and a school for instruction in the loading of artillery ammunition with high explosives.

The operating plant consists of 18 shell-loading units, each independent of the other, with equipment for loading 18 sizes of shells, ranging from the recently developed 7-millimeter to 16 inches. On two sizes of shells the propelling charge also will be loaded, the shell and cartridge case being assembled at the plant. All other shells are assembled in France.

In the construction of the shell-loading units the problem was far greater than one of mere building. Immense fans have been installed to dispose of the poisonous fumes from the high explosives. When a unit is in operation the air in the loading room is changed every few minutes.

The American soldier in France gets pure drinking water from mobile water trains. The trains are under the jurisdiction of the army medical department. They are miniature waterworks, which chemically treat, filter and sterilize water, making it fit for consumption. What municipal waterworks do to insure healthful water to the people of a city these trains do for the soldiers.

A number of purification units with attached motor-tank trucks constitute a train. Each unit is a complete filtration plant, including laboratory. Arriving at a stream it sets hose into the water and pumps the water through a pressure tank. Before the water passes through a sand filter it is treated chemically to rid it of disease germs. The pure water is pumped into tanks mounted on trucks, which carry the water to the soldiers.

Each mobile water unit carries an expert chemist, bacteriologist and pumpman. There is a complete laboratory in the front of the machine for the testing of the water. Tests are made every two hours or more often when it is thought necessary. The water is lifted into the filter by a gasoline pump engine and a complete supply of extra pipes and tools are carried so that all repairs, either from accident or shell fire, can be made on the spot. The trucks are equipped with electric lights so that the work can be carried on at night. Many of the chemists and bacteriologists assigned to the mobile laboratories were formerly connected with municipal waterworks and filtration plants.

Every community will be combed for war workers. War industries are short nearly 400,000 common laborers and lack of workers in the coal-mining industry is imperiling all war production. There is also a serious shortage of skilled labor. One of the largest munition plants, turning out heavy caliber guns, is short 2,000 machinists. The war plants of Connecticut and Maryland are undermanned 85,000 machinists.

The United States employment service will begin an intensive recruiting of workers for war work from the non-essential industries. Employment offices will be increased and the force of local agents and traveling examiners will be enlarged and sent into every community that relief may be given before the ban against private labor recruiting goes into effect on August 1.

Nearly 2,000,000 girls and boys have volunteered for the United States garden army in the department of the interior. Their service flag bears a crossed rake and hoe with the letters U. S. S. G. in blue on a field of white with a red border. The enlistment entails a pledge on the part of the child to use efforts to increase food production by cultivating one or more crops under a garden supervisor or teacher chosen for this work and to make such reports as may be required. The success of the garden army plan is most gratifying.

Jim Cox of Billingsley was in town the other day to have his tooth pulled.

GARDEN NOTES FOR JULY

By J. C. C. Price, Associate Horticulturist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

It is imperative that considerable gardening be done in July to provide fresh, tender vegetables through the latter half of the summer, fall and early winter. There is no reason why anyone should not have a good supply of vegetables throughout the season, if the proper kind of soil and varieties are selected and given good attention.

The soil should be of a loamy nature, either sand or clay loam underlain with a good, porous clay sub-soil. It should be retentive of moisture but well drained.

In preparing the land and planting vegetables in summer, a different method should be used than that followed in early spring. Instead of planting in ridges, as is commonly practiced, the ground should be thoroughly broken, finely pulverized and everything planted on the level, since by level tillage it is much easier to retain the moisture.

A liberal application of cow manure, or other well-rotted manures, is advisable for most soils, but fresh horse manure should not be used. If manure cannot be secured, use a mixture of equal parts of acid phosphate and cotton seed meal, applied at the rate of 1000 to 2000 pounds per acre. It must be well mixed with the soil before planting the seed or setting the plants.

The soil should be worked frequently to maintain a good dust mulch and to keep down weeds and grass, especially "crab" grass, which so frequently infests the late garden and causes the garden to be deserted. Cultivate as soon as possible after last rain, but not while the soil is wet.

The following vegetables should be planted or transplanted during July:

Beets—Early Eclipse. Rows 18 inches wide and thin to 3 to 4 inches in drill.

Carrots—Half Long Danvers. Rows 18 inches wide and thin to 2 to 3 inches in drill.

Sweet Potatoes—Triumph, Nancy Hall, Porto Rico (Plants or vine cuttings). Rows 3 feet wide and 16 inches apart in row.

Irish Potatoes—Bliss Triumph, Cobler, Lookout Mountain. Rows 3½ feet wide and 16 inches apart in row.

Collards—Georgia Blue Stem. Rows 3½ feet wide and 2½ feet apart.

Beans—Stringless Green Pod, Kentucky Wonder. Rows 3 feet wide and 15 inches apart in drill.

Tomatoes—June Pink, Greater Baltimore, John Baer, Prosperity. Rows 3½ feet wide and 3½ feet apart in row.

Squash—Canada Crooked Neck, Hubbard. Six to 8 feet each way.

Corn—Country Gentleman, Stowell's Evergreen, Black Mexican, Adams Early. Rows 3½ feet wide and 2 feet apart in row.

Okra—Perkins, Long Green Pod. Rows 4 feet wide and 18 inches apart in row.

CLASS ONE MEN MAY NOT BE PERMITTED TO ENLIST IN ARMY.

WASHINGTON, July 10.—To increase the class one draft quota Provost Marshal General Crowder has recommended to Secretary Baker all men in Class one be kept subject to call for the national army and not be allowed longer to enlist in the navy and marine corps.

Under existing conditions the navy and marine corps get about 20 per cent of the men in class one.

A SESSION OF Dye's Normal Musical Institute

SUPPLY YOUR HOGS WITH PLENTY OF CLEAN WATER

Water is absolutely necessary to life in animals or plants. Even the driest seed contain a considerable percentage of water, and if it is removed by any known process, they are dead and cannot be made to grow. Most animals will die more quickly from lack of water than from lack of food.

The water supply is one of the most vital matters to be considered in hog raising. The body weight of a hog is from one-half to three-fourths water, depending on the age, size and amount of fat on the individual animal. This water is present in the bones, blood, muscles and every part of the body. In every place it serves purposes that nothing else can serve. It helps digest the food, carries the digested food to every part of the body, cleanses the body of waste matters and impurities, lubricates the tissues so that they work smoothly and serves other important uses in addition to making up a large part of the meat. Food is not more important than water, though it is more expensive and consequently receives more attention.

Many people think any kind of water is good enough for a hog, no matter how dirty, filthy, or impure it may be. Hogs will drink dirty water if it is the only kind they can get. They must drink or die, and if they cannot get clean water they will drink any kind they can find. But that is no more than people will do. There is no human being who will die for lack of water if it can be had, however impure, unclean or filthy it may be. Hogs will not often drink stagnant or dirty water if pure, fresh water is provided for them.

if good drinking water is provided a hog will leave a pool or sluggish stream in which it has been wallowing and walk several hundred yards for a drink and then return to its wallow.

There are many reasons why hogs should not drink water that is dirty, contaminated or of doubtful purity. Streams, especially slow-moving ones, frequently carry germs of disease, and stagnant or dirty water is a common source of several kinds of worms that infest hogs, and it is also liable to cause serious digestive disorders. Even if hogs remain in good health while drinking bad water, they will not do their best, because they will not drink enough to properly meet the needs of their bodies, and so cannot make the best use of their food.

Hogs should not be expected to drink water in which they have wallowed, until it is muddy or has an offensive odor. There can be no objection to their drinking from a stream if it originates in or near the pasture and is known to be free from germs of infectious diseases. If the hogs are watered in a trough, arrangements should be made to keep them from lying in it. This may be done by nailing strips across the top, so spaced that the hogs can insert their heads between them to drink, but cannot lie in the trough. If the water supply is not so arranged that the hogs can drink at will, they should be watered at least two or three times a day.

He who provides for his hogs a plentiful supply of water that is clean, pure and fresh will be well repaid in the consciousness of good work done and also in dollars and cents.

FALL CROP IRISH POTATOES

By J. C. C. Price, Associate Horticulturist.

The fall crop is important, but little has been done, however to determine the best methods of culture. Getting seed potatoes to germinate is the chief obstacle. The usual custom is to use small potatoes from the spring crop. These are placed on the ground in thin layers in the shade, then covered with gunny sacks or sand and kept moist. When the time for planting comes tubers that have begun to sprout are taken up and planted without being cut to pieces, care being used not to break off any of the sprouts. One of the most satisfactory methods is to use the Bliss Triumph variety and plant the same day they are dug, using the medium sized tubers.

The soil for the fall crop should be kept in a good state of cultivation so as to preserve the moisture. This is done by breaking the ground early in the spring and pulverizing it to prevent the loss of moisture by evaporation. The ground may be first planted in some spring crop, such as beans, that could be given continuous cultivation.

The fall crop should be planted about July first to fifteenth, in the northern part of Alabama, and August fifteenth to September first, in the southern part of the state.

In planting the fall crop it is best to make the furrows rather deep so as to be able to cover the tubers from four to five inches and leave the furrows partly filled or the surface practically level. Sometimes the soil is firmed with a light roller so as to press the soil closely about the potato, which favors germination.

The culture should be given with an implement that will thoroughly pulverize the soil and leave the land level.

There is considerable difference of opinion as to the best variety to use for the fall crop. In South Alabama, the growers use seed from the spring crop. This may also be done very successfully in North Alabama, but many growers prefer the Lookout Mountain, which is used only for the crop.

John E. Robinson and James R. Booth have been rejected for military service at Camp Pike, Ark., on physical defects. They went to camp two weeks ago.

CHILTON BOYS IN THE U. S. SERVICE DULY HONORED HERE ON JULY 4TH.

The Fourth of July was a great day in Clanton. It was a day which will be remembered for years to come. Every section of the county was represented and everybody present participated in paying tribute to Chilton County's boys who are fighting for the cause of democracy.

People began assembling at the high school grounds early in the morning and by the time the speakers and the brass band arrived a very representative audience had gathered.

The band engaged all along through the day playing patriotic airs, and in several instances the crowd would join them with singing when they got to the chorus.

The Clanton camp of Boy Scouts played a very important part in the entire program. They took part in almost every number and conducted the raising of a large United States Flag in front of the high school building.

Mr. Wm. Adams was chairman of the Arrangement Committee, and he made several short talks explaining the numbers to follow, and he also introduced the speakers of the day.

The first address was made by Prof. S. H. Herbert of Thorsby Institute, who had prepared a very appropriate eulogy on the "Declaration of Independence." His remarks were very fitting for such occasion and were rendered in a very touching way. Prof. H. C. McDonald, principal of the Chilton County High School, was then introduced, who, after making some introductory remarks read the Proclamation of President Wilson concerning celebrations of this kind.

After one or two band selections the crowd was led just across the lawn in front of the magnificent home of Dr. Amzi Gowan, where it was entertained with a flag and costume performance by several of the young people of Clanton.

After this number dinner was spread and everybody enjoyed a very refreshing lunch composed strictly of foods that complied with the food administration.

After dinner a few speeches were made and several band selections were played. The program came to a close about 3:30 o'clock.

GLORIOUS 4TH AT LONGVIEW

By special request, your correspondent attended the Fourth of July gathering at Camp Branch Church just east of Longview. It consisted of a great singing in the Sacred Harp, a fine address and rich dinner.

Arriving in the forenoon, we found a large congregation assembled and the singing in full swing. The matchless and gifted singer, Miss Bettie Jackson of Birmingham was directing. She was holding the audience spell-bound as she sang the compositions of Reese and Shumway: "Great God let all our Powers Awake," and "Till Suns shall Rise and Set no More." Beautiful expression portraying the eternal nature of the approaching glorious Kingdom of universal peace. She was followed by other able directors.

The singing was just fine. Dinner came on. It was bountiful, rich and free to all. In the afternoon Judge Longshore delivered a splendid address on music and patriotism.

The Judge is a fine speaker; his eulogy of the Sacred Harp was fine. His remarks on patriotism were earnest and stirring.

Mr. A. A. Jockson of Birmingham presided. Camp Branch is beautifully located, the cool shady mountain side, the many stately oaks, the transparent spring, the lovely vale, and last but not least, the kind people make it an ideal place. Among the visitors we were pleased to meet former Commissioner Shaw, now of Birmingham and Mr. E. H. Lowe, formerly of Chilton.

It was indeed a glorious Fourth.

Deputies Gillespie and Atkinson of the Sheriff's office went to Montgomery last Friday to carry a couple of negro deserters whom they had captured in the county.

Frank Thomas from Camp Sheridan at Montgomery, was at home with his folks Sunday.

Dr. E. B. Wrenn of Talladega was in Clanton Monday attending to some business at the court house.

Attorney Ellis of Columbiana was here on legal business Monday.

Rev. Chas. T. Rogers of Thorsby was in Clanton Monday for a short while. Rev. Rogers is actively engaged in denominational work in this state for the General Congregational Conference Churches.

CONTROL OF CATTLE FLIES

By C. A. Cary, Dean Veterinary College.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Black flies, breeze flies, mosquitoes and some others are said to pass their larval stages in water, and moist earth and such flies may be controlled by drainage and covering the water surfaces with oils. Many other cattle and horse flies breed in manure or decomposing organic matter and may be in a measure controlled by removing very often all stable and yard manures to the open fields and plowing them under or scattering widely. The troublesome horn fly multiplies in the manure of cattle and is very difficult to hold in check. Chickens may devour the larval in small lots or pastures, but they have little effect over large pastures.

The application of disinfectants to manure heaps or piles may be practicable in some instances. Screening manure piles may help, but it is usually applicable to limited conditions.

Applications to the cattle of tars, had smelling oils and volatile or essential oils are recommended by some. Tar and bad smelling oils, like fish oil, etc., often do more harm to the cattle than the flies. Essential oils soon pass away. Thin layers of tar (as in the dip for the cattle tick), may keep away flies for a few hours. Cattle tick dip can not be safely applied more often than once every 10 to 14 days.

The fact is there is no constant or permanent, practicable method of preventing, eradicating or keeping flies off cattle in pastures. Some have suggested putting screening or netting over the dipping vat and catching the flies that are driven off the cattle at the time of dipping. It has not been tried and would only kill or trap the flies that rose from the cattle at time of dipping. If the cattle could be dipped daily and all the flies trapped in the net and destroyed no doubt it would keep down the excessive numbers, provided it was done over a wide area. Let some of the research and experimental men take this very important work in hand and solve it.

Another suggestion that has been made is the frequent harrowing of pastures to break up and dry out manure mounds before the horn fly can breed.

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment

Do Not Neglect It.

When you use medicated sprays, atomizers and douches for your Catarrh, you may succeed in unstopping the choked-up air passages for the time being, but this annoying condition returns, and you have to do the same thing over and over again. Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment?

Throw these makeshift remedies to the winds, and get on the right treatment. Go to your drug store to-day, get a bottle of S. S. S., and commence a treatment that has been praised by sufferers for nearly half a century. S. S. S. gets right at the source of Catarrh, and forces from the blood the germs which cause the disease. You can obtain special medical advice regarding your own case without charge by writing to Medical Director, 22 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Thos. J. Dorminey of Stumps Hills paid The Union-Banner a hurry call on last Saturday.

L. A. Calloway of Cooper, one of the members of the county Board of Education, was in Clanton last Saturday for a short while.

The little boy preacher at the Clanton Baptist Church has been drawing good crowds of listeners this week.

Prof. J. L. Johnson, Principal of the Clanton Grammar School, has returned from the University of Alabama, where he has been engaged in work at the summer school for teachers. He will now devote himself to making of preliminary plans for the opening of the school this autumn. It is fortunate that Prof. Johnson was retained as Principal of the school.

Miss Phala Belle Roper is teaching at Stanton this summer.

Jim Huckabee and family from Birmingham are visiting relatives in the county this week. Jim says he is making plenty of money in the city and spending it for something to eat.

This is that Wonderful Medicine

We Told You We Had gone after And secured the exclusive Sale for in this section.

This picture shows the exact size of the bottle containing Vin Hepatica, the great prescription which we told you last week we had secured the exclusive agency for here—a medicine we stand back of because it is a real medicine prepared in one of the finest medical laboratories in the United States. We know what it is—know what it is made of. It is a combination of eight medicines extracted from the medicinal roots, herbs and berries of the woods and fields, whose healing and curative properties have been employed for centuries by the medical profession for kidney, liver, and stomach troubles, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and run down conditions.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Miss Ora Stewart of 23, Irving Apts., Nashville, Tenn., says: "Vin Hepatica has done wonders for me and I want to recommend it to everyone suffering as I did from loss of sleep and appetite, tired out feeling, sluggishness of liver etc."

Mr. Claud M. Marshall, farmer, Davidson county, Tenn., just out of Nashville, says, "If anyone ever was in a bad fix, I was, until I took Vin Hepatica. Work on the farm is very hard and the hours are long, and while I had plenty to eat, the more I ate the worse I got. I would easily run out of breath. Vin Hepatica has enabled me to do my work with ease and pleasure and I can now eat anything I want."

George W. Kline, railroad conductor, of Chester, Pa., writes: "For a long time I was a very sick man. I had gastritis, nervous indigestion, was constipated, had no appetite, could not sleep, felt dead tired all the time. Vin Hepatica benefited me from the first dose. Now I feel better than I have felt for years."

Rev. G. R. Harris, Route 11, West Nashville, 60 years minister of the gospel and 4 years Confederate soldier, states, "I had gone down in my entire system; had stiffening and soreness of the joints; hardly able to work at all. I took Vin Hepatica and am now doing a good day's work for a man of my age. Can heartily recommend Vin Hepatica as a wonderful medicine and universal System Purifier. It has brought me back to health again."

L. F. Sweeney, well known West Nashville travel man, writes, "Vin Hepatica cured me of indigestion, swimming in the head, bloating, etc. I am now as fit as a fiddle, sleep as soundly as a baby and can eat anything."

G. M. Spencer, well known contractor and painter, of 618 Commerce St., Nashville, says, "I had a sluggish feeling all the time; was languid. Some time my back seemed like it would break in two. What Vin Hepatica has done for me is nothing short of marvelous. There is health in every drop."

Mrs. Alma Norman, 25th and West End Avenue, Nashville, said that she was on the verge of nervous prostration and the slightest noise would scare her almost out of her wits. She says the effect of Vin Hepatica in her case is almost magical. "I am completely recovered. Thank goodness for the day Vin Hepatica was brought to my attention."

Come in and let us tell you more about this truly wonderful medicine. It may be just the thing you need for your trouble.

CITIZENS ENDORSE J. L. GORE CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

To the people of Chilton County:

We desire to say a word in behalf of John L. Gore, candidate for Sheriff of our county, who was reared in our community. We have known him all his life, and can say that he is in every way worthy of the position he seeks at the hands of loyal Republicans of Chilton County. His life and character as a man, and his record as an officer is an open book to the people of his county.

Anyone who is in doubt as to the qualifications of John L. Gore for Sheriff of Chilton County should ask those who have known him most intimately—those among whom he was raised. We therefore, as his neighbors and friends of the Collins Chapel community, bespeak for him the hearty support of the entire Republican party at the primary on the 13th of August.

SINGING CONVENTION AT LIBERTY HILL ON SUNDAY

The Chilton County Singing Convention met in its fourteenth annual session at Liberty Hill Church, July 13, 1918, at 2:00 p.m.

Called to order by President R. A. Smith, with song; prayer by Bro. B. J. Sessions. A business session was held and officers were elected as follows:

President, Prof. J. M. Dye; Vice-President, Prof. J. L. Gore; Secretary, J. M. Smith; Chaplain, Prof. B. J. Sessions; Executive Committee, James Franklin, W. G. Culp and Miss Marietta Walker. Program committee was appointed for the session as follows: W. G. Culp, J. L. Gore and E. T. Varden, who also served as committee on arrangement.

Directors for the afternoon were: R. A. Smith, J. M. Dye, J. L. Gore and James Franklin. A motion to adjourn until Sunday was carried and we were dismissed with song by the President, and prayer by Rev. Sutton Smithman.

Sunday—called to order at 10:00 a.m. with song by President, and prayer by Bro. N. J. Calloway. Directors for the forenoon were R. A. Smith, J. L. Gore and J. D. Patton. Prof. Patton was given unlimited time and he held the audience spell bound for one hour with splendid singing and short talks, which was much appreciated.

At noon a bountiful dinner was served to perhaps the largest congregation of people ever assembled at this place.

The President called the house to order at 1:15 with song, and Prof. H. C. Collins directed a lesson of 15 minutes. A splendid duet was sung by Prof. James Franklin and daughter, Miss Eva. A quartette was rendered by Profs. J. D. Patton, James Franklin, H. C. Collins and J. M. Harkins.

Two quartettes were sung during the day by Misses Mattie and Lucile Mims, Delene and Audelle Burnett, which was much enjoyed by the hearers.

Organists for the session were Professors J. M. Dye, W. G. Culp, Homer Dye and Misses Marietta Walker, Zelma Lowery and Eva Franklin.

Perfect order prevailed in the house and we wish to extend thanks to everyone, who in any way helped to make the convention a success and we hope for renewed interest in the advancement of sacred song in our county.

A special session will be held the Fifth Sunday in September, which will be announced later.

J. M. DYE, Pres.
J. M. SMITH, Secy.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The Montevallo Flour Mill formerly charged 1-6 toll for grinding wheat, but the present management grinds for 1-8, or you can pay a cash toll equal to that. We challenge any mill in the district to equal our turnouts in quality or quantity.

We have a record made July 11th of 45 3-8 pounds per bushel, which we think will stand for some time. Do not run your wheat when coming to our mill. Bring plenty flour sacks. You'll need 'em. We can show you how to prevent smut in wheat or oats.

A DEMOCRATIC COUNTY TICKET PUT OUT ON LAST SATURDAY

At the last minute of the time allowed for announcements of candidates in the approaching primary, a Democratic County Ticket was formulated and put into the field in Chilton County last Saturday.

The personnel of the ticket is as follows:
For Sheriff, Tom Kemp and Moses A. Kilgore.

For Commissioner of the Second District, Bluford Jones.

For Representative in the Legislature, John M. Parrish.

No candidate was found to make the race for Commissioner in the First District.

Many Democrats of the County did not favor the putting out of a ticket in the field.

JOHN C. VINSON WRITES TO THE UNION-BANNER

The Union-Banner is in receipt of the following letter from John C. Vinson, who is now with the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

Somewhere in France, June 21.
Editor Union-Banner:

Will try and write you a few lines to let you know that I am thinking of the folks at home, and that I am enjoying the very best of health. I am well satisfied with the surroundings as they are now.

I guess many of the Chilton boys have been called to the colors by this time. I would like the best in the world to get the dear old Union-Banner every week.

I wish you would put in the paper that I and the other Chilton boys are just fine and trying to do our duty over here. I am trusting that the Lord will bring us safely back to the loved ones at home. We are here to do our duty. We are going to do it and come back to the dear old U. S. A.

Give my best regards to everybody and tell them that we will be back in the sweet bye and bye.

With best wishes to the Banner,
As ever yours,

DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION AT THORSBY

The District Sunday School Convention will meet next Sunday afternoon, July 21st, at 2:30, with the Baptist Church in Thorsby. The following program will be given:

Song and Devotional Service, led by Felix Eiland.

Address: Moving forward in Sunday School Work, by Mr. A. K. Horn.

Solo, by William Rogers.

Address: Our Responsibility as Sunday School Workers in the Present World Crisis, Mr. D. J. Flummer.

Thirty minutes for open discussion on subjects of vital interest to all Sunday School Workers. Mr. J. L. Winslow, District President, has the charge of the arrangements for the Convention, and each Sunday School in the District is urged to send a large delegation.

THORSBY NOTES

Sergt. Walter Parnell is visiting home folks this week. He will return to Camp Wheeler Friday.

Prof. S. H. Herbert and family are leaving today in their trusty Ford for Washington, D. C. While there they will be the guests of Mrs. Dippery and Miss Alma Dippery, mother and sister of Mr. Herbert. They expect to stop at points of interest enroute, returning to Thorsby about August 15th.

The District Sunday School Convention meets Sunday afternoon, July 21 at 2:30, with the Baptist Church in Thorsby. Addresses are to be made by Messrs Horn and Flummer, and there will be many other interesting features to the program. Mr. J. L. Winslow of Thorsby, District President, has charge of arrangement for the Convention, and an enthusiastic meeting is assured.

Rev. E. W. Butler will leave Wednesday of this week for Castleberry, Ala., to attend a meeting of the Fairhope Association at Newhope Church, twelve miles out from Castleberry.

Lieut. Robert Robinson, who has been visiting home folks several days, has returned to camp in New Mexico. He was accompanied as far as Birmingham by his mother.

There will be no preaching service at the Congregational Church next Sunday. Regular services at the Swedish-Lutheran Church both morning and evening in English. Sunday school and Young Peoples Societies meet in all three Churches at the usual hour.

W. M. U. TO MEET

The W. M. U. of the Chilton County Association will meet in their next quarterly convention at Collins Chapel Church July 20, 1918, at 2:30 p.m. Miss Cox will make a talk on the W. M. U. work. All are invited, and especially the lady members of the church.

Mrs. M. C. Crumpton, Pres.
Miss Lena Franklin, Secy.

Commissioners Court was in session on Wednesday to count the votes of the school tax elections of last Monday.

THE BOY PREACHER IS DENIED THE PULPIT

Last Sunday night the boy preacher, Charles Turner, got it handed to him right straight off the reel, at Friendship Baptist Church in East Clanton.

The young fellow had preached once or twice at the church, and Sunday he, with his father and mother, went to the home of a family near the church for dinner. In the afternoon the little preacher, with the children at the home he was visiting, were playing about as children usually do.

The preacher undertook to get the other children to indulge in something that they had been taught by their parents was wrong, and they refused to do it. Whereupon the little minister grew somewhat irate, and proceeded to "cuss out" the situation good and proper.

He was programed to preach at the church Sunday night. Upon arriving there he was promptly informed that upon the strength of his conduct in the afternoon he would not be allowed to preach by the authorities of the church.

On Monday morning the old gentleman who was traveling with him gathered up his cat, parrot, preacher and go-sack and departed from Clanton to parts unknown.

LOCAL WOMEN'S STATE COUNCIL OF DEFENSE

The National Council of Defense is asking that the women in each Beat in this county have their children under five years of age weighed and measured between the 15th and 30th of August. This is the patriotic duty of every woman in this county, having children this age, to see to it that they are weighed.

In each Beat there will be a woman appointed to look after this matter.

Our great and good President, Woodrow Wilson, asks this small service of us. Will anyone refuse this for the betterment of each child weighed and measured.

Mr. Wilson wishes the future generation to be one of strong and stalwart men and women, and offers us this opportunity.

Womens State Council of Defense.

CHILDREN'S DAY

There will be a Children's Day at Rocky Mount next Sunday, the third Sunday in July.

We will clean off the cemetery on Thursday, the 18th. Everybody is requested to come.

C. M. NORTHCUTT.

ON ACCOUNT OF THE WAR, we cannot buy any bottles. We have loaned out thousands of Chero-Cola bottles, and if they are not returned to us we will have to shut down our plant. Please help keep us going by bringing in all the bottles you can find.

Clanton Chero-Cola Bottling Co.

Squire A. F. Childress of Thorsby was in town Wednesday complaining about being mighty dry. But we don't suppose he meant that he wanted to vote for a "wet" candidate.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

The next state examination for teachers will be held at Clanton at the County High School Building, beginning at 10 o'clock, a.m., on the third Monday in July, 1918. All applicants should be present by 9 o'clock for registration, except those who intend to file a third grade and take for second and they should be present by 2:30 p.m., on Monday, and those who intend to file a second and take for first should be present by 2 p.m., on Tuesday.

All applicants with whom I am not acquainted must be identified before they can be admitted to the examination. Each applicant is required to take the examination in the county in which he is living, teaching, or attending school.

MR. J. B. AMPHLET RECEIVES LETTER FROM SON IN PARIS

The following letter was handed us by Mr. J. B. Amphlet, which is from his son, now stationed in Paris, France:

Paris, France, June 25, 1918.—
Dear Father:

At last one of my fondest ambitions has been realized. I have seen Paris and am stationed here for a while, and believe me, it is some city.

It has got it all over New York or Chicago; and who else did I run across here in this camp? It was Cousin Owen. I thought I would find him in my meanderings around France but did not expect it so soon. He looks pretty good and has been getting fat. Has been here about three months; he is driving a motor truck also. I am driving a Packard—that is, sleeping in it, waiting to move camp if Germans get too close to Paris. Have truck fixed up real homely. It is the best bunk house I have had for some time; it is real cozy, and as the nights here are real cold it is fine.

I have a swell black leather coat lined and two pair of gauntlet gloves—pair of fur gloves. I am saving for winter; so you see, I am pretty well fixed.

I have not seen an air raid yet but expect one every night. Am anxious to see and hear one. I am in the zone of advance now, so if I happen to get wounded will get a wound chevron. I am due a service chevron, the thirteenth of next month. Am feeling fine and gums are better and have an appetite like a horse.

You will have to come over and see this country after the war—especially Paris. I am going where I can see and hear the airplanes buzzing around over head. They have some good old U.S. beer in Paris that sure tastes good. We get all of the good vaudeville players here that come over from the states. Had a minstrel troupe here the other night that was good, also good movies.

I was issued a gas mask and helmet yesterday. May get a chance to go up nearer the front soon. I would hate to wear that gas mask very long.

Have not heard from you for some time. Well up revoir. Love to all.

Your loving son,
LOUIS.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

In spite of the many attractions in other directions two good sized congregations were at church last Sunday. At night the sacred song service was enjoyed by an audience that comfortably filled the house, and several of the congregational hymns were heard by listeners across the business part of town. The music of church and Sunday School will soon be helped by a new piano that is under purchase.

On next Sunday morning July 21st, the pastor will preach on "The Christian and his Money," first Corinthians 16:2. At night he will discuss the Fourth Commandment, "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it Holy." What attitude do we hold toward our Christian stewardship in relation to our time and money? Both are the gift of God, continued to us in prosperity by His grace, and the abuse of our privileges is easily punished. Let us not complain when adversity overtakes us if we are unfaithful to our trust.

The pastor goes to Maplesville on next Monday morning to preach in a protracted meeting during the week.

GIRL'S CLUB WORK

Realizing the importance of standardizing the products put on the market by the women and girls in the canning and home demonstration clubs, a short-course of one day will be held at the County High School July 31st, beginning at nine o'clock.

The work will be graded for the first, second and third year girls and an instructor will be here for each grade.

The girls making an exhibit this fall of products in their respective year, if it comes up to the standard, will be given a certificate. Every club girl in the county will be expected to come for that one day, as this is very important. Standardizing its products of all kinds is one of first year girls make soup mixture, chili, sauce and canned tomatoes; second year work will include the products of first year and in addition beans, Dixie relish and tomato pickles; third year will include first and second year products and canned fruit of all kinds; fourth year will include the three years products and jellies and preserves.

SACRED HARP SINGING

On the second Sunday afternoon in August, there will be an old Sacred Harp Singing at Oak Hill, M. E. Church, two miles east of Jemison. The people are cordially invited to come. Please bring your old Harp song books, also Christian Harmony.

C. F. Stephenson, P. C.

I. O. O. F. DISTRICT CONVENTION

To meet with Cooper Lodge No. 411 at Cooper, Ala., on Wednesday, July 24, and we take this method of giving every I. O. O. F. Lodge in the county a special invitation to be with us on that day.

J. M. Grant, N. G.

ADVICE TO REPUBLICANS BY THE HON. J. O. MIDDLETON

Clanton, Ala., July 16, 1918.

To the Republicans of Chilton County:

Now that the entries for the Primary have closed, it becomes our duty as voters to see that all our people go to the polls and vote for the candidates of their choice. We have a number of fine men running for the different offices. The Republicans have been kind enough not to oppose me in the Primary, and while my position as to the various candidates must, necessarily, be neutral as all the candidates are supporting me, I want to take this opportunity of saying that they are a fine, loyal and patriotic set of men, and any or either of them is worthy of the place he seeks and will fill the office to which he aspires with credit.

Like good Republicans that you are, go to the polls, vote for the man of your choice and then we will all stand by the nominee.

Yours Sincerely,
J. OSMOND MIDDLETON.

VELVET BEANS

Last Saturday Mr. W. M. Poole brought a sample of velvet beans to our office. They were nearly grown, and showed rather advanced growth for this season of the year.

CHANGES IN SUBSCRIPTION PRICES TO UNION-BANNER

Effective Now.

Owing to the increased cost of paper and everything that goes into the making of a newspaper, we are compelled to make some changes in the subscription price of the Union-Banner.

Commencing now, the rates of subscription will be:

1 Year ..... $1.00
6 Months ..... .60
3 Months ..... .40

The yearly subscription remains the same as before—$1.00. But the price is advanced on 6-months and 3-months subscriptions.

Please be governed by the above schedule when sending money for subscriptions. No deviations will be made from these rates.

The time for announcements of candidates in the August Primary has expired and nobody has expressed a desire to go up against T. J. Dorminey for the place of Commissioner in the First District. There is no one against him in either the Republican or Democratic party, and if he isn't elected it will be his own fault. It looks like he will run the whole race on to the general election without having to buy any cigars at all.

CHILTON COUNTY REPUBLICANS

We invite you to read the letter in this paper from Mr. Middleton, and then as he admonishes us to do, let us stand by the men whom we nominate in the primary the 13th of August.

The men who are on the Republican ticket are good men. Any nomination that is made out of the number will be worthy of our fullest support.
So let every man vote as he wishes in the primary, and be ready to back up the nominees in November and thus continue the Republican party, the party of the people, in control of the affairs of Chilton County.

Every Republican administration this county has ever had has made for the strength of the party with the people. And the reason of it is in the fact that the people themselves have controlled the party. The people have given anybody who deserved it the right to run for an office. The people as a whole have nominated and elected their men, and they have always been men who felt right about the interest and welfare of citizenship of the county.

The Republican party has stood for some economic and financial measures for the county, and these measures have been carried out with precise satisfaction by the chosen men of the party to transact the business, which in itself gives the Republicans strength.

Nobody will try to advance any reason why the Republicans of the county should be ousted. Therefore, let us train our sails for another peaceful victory, to the consummate good of every person in our noble county and may the thanks for it all redound to the honor and glory of our splendid principles of government of the people, by the people and for the people.

NESMITH FOR LIEUT. GOV.

We have been requested to announce in our paper that Judge C. C.
Nesmith is a candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the Democratic ticket; and with this announcement, like all others, we were asked to give him all the "boost" we could. Now, we do not know anything about Judge Nesmith. He has spent eight years as Judge of the City Court of Birmingham, which is somewhat of a recommendation for him. But we do not know what his platform is, nor how he stands on the vital questions of this campaign. Therefore, we can only say to the people that you are invited to look into Judge Nesmith's platform and if you see fit to vote for him your support will undoubtedly be appreciated.

Lame Shoulder.

This ailment is usually caused by Rhumatism of the muscles. All that is needed is absolute rest and a few applications of Chamberlain's Liniment. Try it.

J. Ed Bearden of Maplesville was a visitor to Clanton Wednesday.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY

The many people who attended the Chilton County Singing Convention at Liberty Hill last Sunday were afforded a rare opportunity in hearing the songs that were sung by that splendid man, Prof. J. D. Patton. He is one of the greatest leaders of sacred music in the Southland, and the members of the Chilton Convention and the vast number of people who attended the service Sunday should feel highly honored by Prof.
Patton's presence.

But by no means was Prof. Patton's energies on that day given solely to singing. He indulged freely in short talks all through his musical program and all of the things he said were the most vital and burning truths.

His remarks concerning "The Old Family Bible" before singing a song of that title, were the most touching.
He related the story of how the foreign influence from Rome has tried to deny us of the Bible in our public schools and other ways, and very aptly appealed to his enthused hearers for the open Bible in the church, in the school and at the family altar. He was cheered for his splendid words.

MILK SHOULD BE KEPT COLD IN SUMMER

By W. H. Eaton, Dairy Specialist in Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

In the production of milk or cream for market during the summer it is a self-evident fact that care determines the quality, and the quality of the product makes the market. In order to produce a good marketable product the milk should be produced and kept "clean, covered and cold."

Next to cleanliness, a low temperature is of the greatest importance in marketing milk and cream. Milk is almost a perfect food for human beings.
It is also a perfect medium for the development of certain bacteria which may gain access to it from the dust-laden air, from flies, and from unclean utensils. Experiments have shown that many germs which gain access to the milk develop very rapidly while the milk remains warm.
By this is meant a temperature of above 50 degrees Fahrenheit. For instance, milk kept at 45 degrees F. may be kept sweet for 24 hours, while at a temperature of 70 degrees F. it may sour in less than six hours. This emphasizes the importance of low temperatures in the preservation of milk and cream. With the very best of care in the production there may be a few undesirable germs in it. These germs must not be allowed to multiply. Low temperature, or cold, is the dairyman's weapon against these.

As soon as milk has been produced, or the cream has been separated, cool it to as low a temperature as possible without freezing. Where ice is available, the temperature can be reduced to 40 degrees F. Where well or spring water alone has to be depended upon, 50 to 60 degrees F. is about as low a temperature as which it can be cooled.

A good plan for cooling milk or cream is shown in the accompanying cut. The milk should be held in shot gun cans placed in barrels. The cold water supply pipe should be connected directly to the pump or well, and being discharged near the bottom it is distributed through the barrel and dis-places the warmer water. The overflow should be piped to the farm water, if trough there will be no unnecessary waste of water.

Warm milk or cream should never be mixed with that which is cold, since this brings about conditions favorable to the growth of the kinds of bacteria which produce bad flavors.

Mrs. Burns' Letter.

Here is a letter that is certain to prove of interest to people in this vicinity, as cases of this sort occur in almost every neighborhood, and people should know what to do in like circumstances.

Savannah, Mo., Oct 12, 1916.
"I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint some 3 years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhea Remedy to dozens of people since I first used it."

Vice-President Marshall in his speech at Indianapolis the other day, referred to Colonel Roosevelt as "Lady Theodora, who was left at home."
Yes, the colonel was left at home all right, and the whole world knows why.—Fl. Wayne (Ind.) News.

WAR NEWS DIGEST

Manufacturers and dealers are encouraged under the policy of the navy department to deal direct with the department. The purpose is to eliminate the middleman in purchases of supplies and materials.

"In my annual report," says Rear Admiral Samuel McGowan, "manufacturers were warned against profiteering agents, professional contractors, and naval brokers. In our regular mailing circulars of January 8, 1918, we expressed the hope that 'manufacturers who have not availed themselves of the opportunity to bid direct will do so, as it will prove of advantage to them in bringing them in more intimate touch with the navy and thereby make a reputation for the materials which they manufacture.'"

"The fact is the responsibility of contractors was never so thoroughly investigated and they were never held to a stricter accountability than they have been since this country entered the war. The number of responsible direct bidders has increased greatly and the number of agents and intermedaries has been reduced to a minimum. The safeguards against profiteering have been strengthened, not relaxed."

There are over 14,000 names on the bidders' list of the navy bureau of supplies and accounts, representing every section of the country. These manufacturers and dealers furnish over 60,000 classes of articles used by the navy.

Because of an acute shortage in the supply of paper the war industries board announced, effective July 15, the following preliminary economies to be enforced by newspapers publishing a daily and weekly edition:

Discontinue the acceptance or the return of unsold copies.

Discontinue the use of all sample or free promotion copies.

Discontinue giving copies to anybody except for office-working copies or where required by statute law in the official advertising.

Discontinue giving free copies to advertisers, except not more than one copy for checking purposes.

Discontinue the arbitrary forcing of copies on news dealers (i. e., compelling them to buy more copies than they can legitimately sell in order to hold certain territory).

Discontinue the buying back of papers at either wholesale or retail selling price from dealers or agents in order to secure preferential representation.

Discontinue the payment of salaries or commissions to agents, dealers, or newspapers for the purpose of securing the equivalent of return privileges.

Discontinue all free exchanges.

Three hundred applicants for student nurses to enter training schools in the base hospitals at cantonments were accepted recently. There have been more than a thousand applications for entrance in these army schools of nursing since the government sent out its call for student nurses.

The majority of those offering their services have been college women, or women with a complete high-school education. The training units will be assigned, it is expected, during the present month. Each unit will number 25 or 30 student nurses and will be supervised by an accredited and complete nursing instructor and a trained woman who will be responsible for the physical welfare and recreation.

The service bureau of the committee on public information has taken over various departmental independent information bureaus at Union station, Washington, will consolidate and reorganize them and be prepared to give all visitors information on government business and the names and location of those clothed with authority to speak and act for the government.

Since the service bureau opened offices May 1 it has built up a card-index system with 50,000 entries, many of the cards being subject to daily revisions and correction. In a recent week the bureau handled 1,630 visitors seeking special information and answered an average of 150 query let-

The medical department, United States army, needs women as reconstruction aids. The office of the surgeon general announces: "The work of reconstruction aids is divided into two sections. (1) those women who are well trained in massage and the other forms of physiotherapy, and (2) those who are trained in simple handicrafts." Foreign service pay is $60, home service pay $50 per month and quarters allowance.

The division on woman's war work of the committee on public information announces that the trustees of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y., offer to wives and daughters of army officers three scholarships, including tuition and laboratory fees, for 1918-19 covering household science, household arts, and preparation for institutional work.

Nathan L. Miller Candidate For Lieutenant Governor

To the People of Alabama:

I respectfully ask your support for nomination in the Democratic primary for the office of Lieutenant-Governor of Alabama.

In these times the first duty of every citizen is to do everything possible to win the war, whether he be in office or out of office. Being not only above draft age, but above the age at which men are accepted for active service, yet I hold myself at all times in readiness to support our great President and Commander-in-Chief, President Wilson, and to render any and every service for which I may be called.

The Lieutenant-Governor is the presiding officer of our state senate, and as such refers the several bills introduced to the respective committees, and in case of a tie has the decisive vote. He also has, if some honorable precedents are followed, and the Senate so orders, the appointment of the standing committees to the Senate. In these matters he may contribute to the orderly consideration and dispatch of the legislative business, and may also have a great influence in shaping the legislative policies of the State.

It is therefore deemed proper that in offering for this office I should make some statement of my position as to some of the matters which may be considered by the next legislature. Such influence as I may have, including my votes, if any, will be for:

The ratification of the Federal Prohibition Amendment and the maintenance of our prohibition laws, believing that prohibition in Alabama is a demonstrated success, both morally and economically. An economic and business administration of the State's affairs, to the end that the State may again be restored to a cash basis, and the State's large floating debt paid as speedily as may be possible without impairing the efficiency of our governmental agencies.

Encourage, maintain and improve our Public School System so that every child in the State shall be taught the fundamentals of a practical education, including vocational and industrial instruction; that they, each and every one, may be inspired with patriotism, love of country, and devotion to our flag, and the things for which it stands; and that they may be taught to love and to cherish those principles for which our gallant armies and navy are fighting and which characterize us as a nation, such as the

equality of the great and the humble before the law, respect for the rights of the weak as well as the rights of the strong, the freedom of conscience and separation of Church and State.

To foster and make more efficient and universally serviceable our department of Public Health.

The workmen's compensation act that will be in truth what its name implies and fashioned in light of the most successful acts of this character in any of the states.

The further building and maintenance of good roads and in response to the almost universal desire, to utilize in this work all convict labor wherever it can be done without financial loss to the State or to the respective counties.

The utmost provision for our Confederate Veterans that our finances will permit.

I will oppose all class legislation and the bestowment of any special privileges.

I am a believer in the firm execution of all laws, and shall strive to cultivate a wholesome respect for law and orderly administration by the legally constituted authorities, and generally to do everything which faithful public service and good citizenship shall suggest as various duties and opportunities shall from time to time present themselves.

I am a native Alabamian—born in Danville, Morgan County—fifty-two years of age—a Democrat who has always advocated the principles of the party and voted for its nominees—a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, now serving as Chairman of the Board of Stewards of Highlands Church—a Mason, 32nd Degree Scottish Rite—a Knight of Pythias—a member of the Allied Armies of Birmingham, a patriotic organization for the raising of war funds such as sales of Liberty Bonds, and War Savings Stamps, and the raising of Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., and Y. W. C. A. funds—a member of the Board of Education of Jefferson County—a practicing lawyer doing general practice and accustomed to dealing with business men and with business matters. Was a member of the State Senate from 1907 to 1910, inclusive.

This experience I hope has prepared me to serve you well in the office of Lieutenant-Governor, for which nomination I solicit your support.

Respectfully,
NATHAN L. MILLER.

MAKING PLANS TO HONOR ITS HEROES

NAVY DEPARTMENT WANTS PHOTOGRAPHS OF ENLISTED MEN WHO PERISH IN WAR.

FOR MEMORIAL GALLERIES

Size of Army Camps and Cantonments Increased in Past Six Months—Improvement in Ship Loading Helps Our Allies.

(From Committee on Public Information.) Washington.—The navy department is collecting photographs of enlisted men who lose their lives in the war that their memory may be perpetuated. Secretary Daniels asks relatives or others having such photographs to lend them to the navy that copies may be made for the navy's records. Originals will be returned to the owners as fast as copies can be made.

A photograph of each man is to be forwarded by the navy department to the training station where he began his career in the service. At each of these stations a memorial gallery of honor or a hero's corner is to be established so that for all time the face of the man of the navy who has made the supreme sacrifice may be honored by the youth of the future sent to the station for training.

All pictures, loaned or contributed, should be securely wrapped for mailing after they have been marked with the name, branch of service, and training station the young man entered after enlistment. They should be addressed to the recruiting division, bureau of navigation, navy department, Washington, D. C. Care will be taken to return safely the photograph to the sender, when desired, together with one of the copies made of it.

More than $22,000,000 has been expended during the past six months under the direction of the construction division of the army in making additions and improvements to camps and cantonments. This sum does not include the cost of additions to the hospital equipments or the improvements made at other army stations.

The improvement work consisted of additional buildings for housing the men and providing for their comfort and needs. Among buildings erected were quarters for officers and nurses, repair plants, kitchens and bakeries, and theaters. New roads were laid and sanitation work improved and extended.

Many additional buildings are contemplated, and general construction work will be rushed to completion during the summer and fall. In some instances the camp work has been extended to drainage of an entire district surrounding the camp to remove danger of disease arising from the proximity of swamps.

Liberty theaters have been erected at all National Army cantonments. Each of these theaters has an average enclosed seating capacity of 2,000. Theaters and amusement halls have been erected also in the National Guard camps and at other points where troops are in training.

Economies of approximately 20 per cent in shipping weight and 50 per cent in shipping space have resulted from improved methods of packing merchandise for overseas practiced by the army quartermaster corps. This is equivalent to about 2,500 tons space per month.

For the shipment of clothes and equipment, including such items as blankets, barracks, bags, towels, shelter tent halves, bedding, and other dry goods, in addition to wearing apparel, baling has been substituted for boxing, and the weight of the lumber has been saved. The bales average 30 by 15 inches and weigh 90 pounds. They are bound with not less than four cold rolled unannealed steel bands. Burlap over waterproofed heavy paper is used to cover the bales, and there are two "ears" on both ends of the bale for handling.

Women are stevedores on the docks in France. There is a law they shall not be required to carry packages weighing more than 70 pounds. Packages shipped to the American expeditionary forces are standardized so they shall not weigh more than 70 pounds for handling by one woman carrier or more than 140 pounds by two women carriers. Men handle the heavier packages and the boxes must be used instead of bales.

The quartermaster corps recommends to manufacturers supplying the army similar economies in packing and shipping which will result in even more pronounced space and weight saving. Round cans and containers entail a waste in space of 23 per cent. Square containers are urged. It is estimated that every inch saved through bale compression is worth 65 cents in ship space.

Illinois is the center of agricultural production of the United States says the department of agriculture. States of greatest production during 1917 are: Iowa, $1,880,000,000; Illinois, $1,255,000,000; Texas, $1,045,000,000; Missouri, $947,000,000; Ohio, $851,000,000; Nebraska, $774,000,000; Indiana, $763,000,000; Kansas, $735,000,000; New York, $700,000,000; Minnesota, $646,000,000; Pennsylvania, $636,000,000; Georgia, $605,000,000; Wisconsin, $598,000,000; California, $575,000,000; Michigan, $534,000,000; Kentucky, $529,000,000.

THOROUGHLY FUMIGATE CORN AND PEAS FOR WEEVILS.

At the present time unusually large quantities of both corn and peas are in storage in the State of Alabama, as well as in other Southern States. In the southern portion of the State the damage to corn is likely to be severe in many instances, and of course peas cannot be expected to maintain good condition if carried through the summer. Wherever these materials are to be stored during July and August particularly, they should be treated with Carbon disulfide.

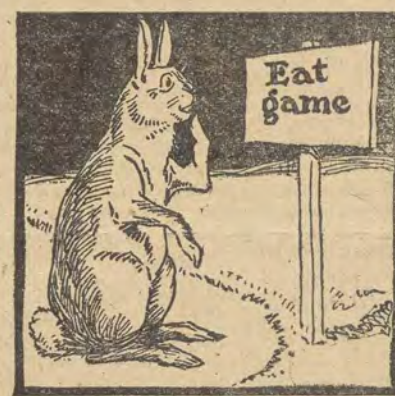

In our Alabama Press Bulletin No. 94 brief directions are given for making a fumigation room. This bulletin will be sent to anyone requesting it.

For treating peas, beans, seed corn, shelled corn, etc., a water-tight barrel makes a very good and convenient container. The average dosage required for pea weevil control would be about one-fourth cupful of Carbon disulfide per barrel, while with the corn weevil the dose may well be increased to one-half cupful per barrel, as this weevil is more resistant to gas effects than is the pea weevil. The liquid can be poured directly upon either peas or corn if they are dry, but in either case it may be well to fill the barrel to within a few inches of the top with the peas or corn, then pack something like oat sacks into the top of the barrel and pour the liquid onto the sacks. The top of the barrel can then be covered by spreading heavy wrapping paper over and closely tying it around the head of the barrel. After the treatment the barrel should be left closed for at least 24 hours. If the insects are still alive it means that a stronger treatment is necessary or that the barrel was not tight enough, or the treatment was given in too cold weather. The quickest and most convenient results can be obtained in warm weather, and it is best applied during the heat of the day. Then keep the barrels closed with paper to prevent re-infestation.

Carbon disulfide can be obtained from druggists in most cases. Carbon disulfide vapor is explosive when mixed with air, just as gasoline vapor is, and the same care should be exercised in each case.

If it is desired to treat a large quantity, the amount needed for shelled corn and for peas may be estimated upon bushels, where the actual bushels are known, at one and one-fourth cubic feet per bushel when the container or room is practically filled with the material. In all cases the entire space enclosed must be reckoned with in determining the amount of liquid Carbon disulfide that is required. For room treatment approximately 10 pounds per thousand cubic feet in the tightest of ordinary rooms, or in smaller doses where an exceptionally tight room has been built.

It may be possible in some cases for us to send an Entomologist to examine the condition of the stored materials and to advise the proper treatment. There will be no expense to the owners where this arrangement can be made, and the fumigation will be applied without charge except for the actual cost of materials, which must in all cases be borne by the owner. Arrangements for such inspection and treatment may be made by writing the Entomologist, Auburn, Ala.

TREATMENT OF HOGS FOR LICE.

In handling any number of hogs in this season of the year, one is impressed with the heavy infestation of lice. Lice are very annoying to any animal, and at the same time have an injurious effect. They tend to lower the vitality of the animal and cause a loss of time and feed.

If only a few hogs are kept on the farm, lice may be controlled by spraying the animals with liquids that destroy the pests, but if any number are kept a hog dipping vat should be constructed.

A vat 12 feet long on top and 8 feet on the bottom, 24 inches wide at the top and 14 inches wide at the bottom is large enough to dip hogs of any size.

Crude oil is one of the cheapest and most satisfactory dips to rid hogs of lice. A solution of one pound of hard soap, one gallon of kerosene, dissolved in nine times its volume of warm water makes a satisfactory dip for hogs. These remedies are effective against both lice and mange.

Commercial dips sold under various trade names are effective if directions are followed in their preparation, and use.

An oiling post may be made by wrapping a post with a gunny sack which has been saturated with oil. If crude oil is not available for a few hogs, ordinary lubricating oil may be used. A post of this kind, if placed where hogs can have access to it continuously, will do much toward keeping them free from vermin. Patent oilers may be bought but are rather expensive for the small farmer.

If lice are to be controlled they must be fought continuously. The hogs should be dipped every two weeks during the warm months. All newly purchased animals should be examined for lice and dipped. They should be held in quarantine until any pests on them are removed. All infested bedding should be burned.

H. L. Traywick and wife of Route 3 were in Clanton Wednesday and made a visit to the Union-Banner.

WANTED—ORIGINAL THOUGHT.

We do not like to knock, but this country is afflicted with too many "Me too" statesmen, too many "Me too" publicists, too many so-called leaders of public thought whose only real idea is to kick in with the majority and make a noise like a leader.

Any man who is a real, honest to God leader, never hesitates to stand alone if the general public doesn't see fit to follow him. If he is right they will "come to their milk" after a while, but how many leaders do we see standing alone to-day? Then let us remember that all real leaders stand alone for a while at first, and remembering that, how many of our so-called leaders will stand the acid test? How many have stood alone and brought the people to him?

We would like to see more men in Congress who really stood for something in their own names, who had some personality of their own, some ideas of their own, who represented certain definite principles, and could be depended upon to stay with those principles, in spite of hell and high water.

To hear a Congressman plead for himself that he has done everything that the President asked him to do, and that he is a loyal and patriotic American, gives us that tired feeling through and through. Great God! there are nearly a hundred million of loyal and patriotic Americans, and practically all of them would do what ever the President asked them to do, so long as the President confined his asking to proper channels, but we want leaders of men in Congress, men whose individual think tanks would be an asset to the President, and to the country, who, themselves could formulate an idea of what ought to be done, not mere puppets to sing "Me too."

Nor is the lack of essential qualities of leadership visible in congress alone. The press of the country as a whole, seems to have hopelessly fallen into the "Me too" attitude. Rarely do we read an editorial which really presents an original thought, the prevalent idea of most effusions being a play to whatever sentiment appears, for the moment, to be in the ascendency, with now and then an appeal to some prejudice for the purpose of gaining newspaper support from the adherents of that particular prejudice.

Taken as a whole, the lack of big outstanding men, who are not afraid to be alone when they know they are right, was never more apparent than it is to day. It is because nobody knows the way, or because they who know are afraid to point.—Durango (Col.) Herald.

MOUNTAIN CREEK BOY SENDS GOOD MESSAGE BACK HOME

Three Families Living in The Same Neighborhood Receive Letters From "Over There."

Mt. Creek, July 15—Three families residing in this vicinity, in fact, within a mile of each other, were made happy today, for in the same mail there was a letter from three boys of each family.

These boys are soldiers, young heroes, men fighting for their mothers, their sisters and their country, in France.

Mr. T. J. Henderson received a letter from his son, Charley, and it is in order to say that Charley "slipped" off and joined the Rainbow Division, 167th regiment just before the men shipped for France. Charley was a fraction over 16 years. He "fibbed" as to his age and was mustered into the service. Charley in his letter says "I was gassed by the Huns and am now in a hospital, but the good nurses and doctors are bringing me around all right, and I'll soon be back at the front hunting for revenge."

Mr. Avant received a letter written by his son, Winston, who was recently severely wounded, and Winston says: "A piece of German shell got me in the head, and a fragment of the same shell wounded me in the leg; I am, the doctors say, getting along well, and will be fit for duty soon."

Mr. Hudson received a letter from his son, Otis, a marine, now doing land duty in France. Otis entered the service four years ago; he is now in a hospital recovering from gas fire in which he was engaged.

These three boys, when at home resided within a mile of the old Alabama Soldiers Home, and it is a pleasure for these old veterans to hear from the boys that they knew as industrious farm lads.

These three boys deserve the many pleasant remarks that have been made concerning them by the old men, now over the 70-year line of life.

DOCTOR GIVES MAN VIN HEPATICA AS LAST RESORT

Mule Had Run Away With Lawrence County Farmer—Complications Arose That Baffled All Remedies Till Doctor Gave Vin Hepatica

W. W. Kelley, aged 58, well-known farmer, of Route No. 3, Leona, Tenn., and former merchant, who was so badly hurt several years ago by a mule running away with him, and for a long while in such a serious condition as a result of his injuries, has recovered and is at his work again.

Mr. Kelley says: "If anybody ever was in a terrible condition, I was, until my doctor discovered the right medicine for me. I had to quit farming and go into the merchandising business, but my injuries were such that I broke down in my kidneys and suffered greatly from rheumatism. I got so run down that I could not sleep. Had to get up a dozen times a night on account of my kidneys. I tried all sorts of tonics and remedies without any help at all. Had to quit business."

"One day my doctor gave me a sample bottle of Vin Hepatica and told me to try that. And I did. It relieved me so much that I had my wife to take some of it, too, and I can safely say that anybody who is in a rundown condition can not miss it if they take Vin Hepatica. It is certainly a wonderful medicine, just as my doctor said it was."

This is just the way thousands and thousands talk about Vin Hepatica, because it is Nature's own remedy for kidney, liver, stomach and bowel troubles; rheumatism, impure blood, nervousness, sleeplessness, rundown, weak condition, etc. It is not a patent nostrum, nor a king cure-all, but a combination of eight of the finest herbal remedies known to medical science.

We strongly recommend this great Nature remedy. Come and get a bottle and try it, on our recommendation. You will like it and it will do you good.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT TO THE LATE L. J. DUNCAN

Passed by the Alabama Automobile Dealers Association.

July 3, 1918.
Whereas Providence has removed from the duties of life one of the most active members of the Alabama Automobile Dealers Association, in the death of L. J. Duncan, of Clanton, and

Whereas the Association feels most deeply the loss that it has sustained in the death of this loyal citizen, upright, business man and friend, and

Whereas in his death not only the community in which he lived, but this association to which he belonged, has lost one of its most honored members, therefore:

Be it resolved, that the Alabama Automobile Dealers Association tender to his wife and family the heartfelt sympathy of this body, over the loss that has befallen them.

Resolved, 2—that in the death of Mr. Duncan, this Association has lost an upright, conscientious and faithful member, and who lived up to the rules and by-laws in a most loyal manner.

Resolved, 3—that this Association set apart a page in the minutes of the record book, and order these resolutions inscribed thereon, and a copy of same to be mailed his family.

Lame Back Relieved

For a lame back apply Chamberlain's Liniment twice a day and massage the muscles of the back over the seat of pain thoroughly at each application.

The Local Board of Chilton County has been conducting physical examinations of the new registrants in Class One.

LOST MONDAY—A Large Brown Cameo (Woman's Head) breast pin, gold frame, between Court House and Upchurch's Drug Store. Finder return to Knowlton Mahan and get reward.

W. F. DeShazo of Maplesville was in town last Saturday. He was bragging about having lots of good things to eat at his house, and his looks rather prove what he said. He was mighty fat and saucy.

SCHOOL TAX WINS BY 29 MAJORITY IN CLANTON

The result of the three-mill school tax in Clanton District, which was voted on Monday, the 15th, was carried by a vote of 79 to 50. This will bring increased revenue of about two thousand dollars yearly to the Clanton public schools.

Chamberlain's Tablets.

These tablets are intended especially for stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation. If you have any troubles of this sort, give them a trial and realize for yourself what a first-class medicine will do for you. They only cost a quarter.

Mrs. H. T. Crumpton of Batesville, Ark., is visiting Mrs. H. C. McDonald. Mrs. Crumpton is the wife of a popular minister, a former pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church, and many friends of the family are glad to see her again.

Prof. H. C. McDonald has returned to his home in Clanton after completing his duties as Professor of English and Mathematics in the University Summer School at Tuscaloosa.

UNION POINT VOTES 10 TO 0
Everybody in Union Point District wants more school money, or at least such is the case with all who voted in the election there Monday. The result was 10 to 0 in favor of the three mill tax.

Pink M. Martin of Jemison Route 4 was a visitor to The Union-Banner Office Tuesday.

Mrs. G. D. Broadhead has returned to Macon, Ga., where Dr. Broadhead is on duty with the Hospital Corps at Camp Wheeler.

Squire J. J. McDowell of Route 2 was in town again Tuesday. He came to see The Union-Banner this time.

The Joy of Living

To enjoy life we must have good health. No one can reasonably hope to get much real pleasure out of life when his bowels are clogged with a good share of the time and the poisonous acid that should be expelled is absorbed into the system, producing headache and indigestion. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets will move the bowels, strengthen the digestion and give you a chance to realize the real joy of living. Try it.

You Can't Rub It Away; Rheumatism is in the Blood

Liniments Will Never Cure.

If you are afflicted with Rheumatism, why waste time with liniments, lotions and other local applications that never did cure Rheumatism, and never will?

Do not try to rub the pain away, for you will never succeed. Try the sensible plan of finding the cause of the pain, and go after that. Remove the cause, and there can be no pain. You will never be rid of Rheumatism until you cleanse your blood of the germs that cause the disease. S. S. S. has never had an equal as a blood purifier and scores of sufferers say that it has cleansed their blood of Rheumatism, and removed all trace of the disease from their system.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. at your drug store, and get on the right treatment to-day. If you want special medical advice, you can obtain it free by addressing Medical Director, 23 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

PREVENT HOG CHOLERA

The B. A. Thomas Hog Powder has a record of 95 per cent cures of Hog Cholera. If you feed your hogs as directed, you need never fear hog cholera nor any other hog disease; and the directions are very simple, just about what you are doing, plus a few cents worth of B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder in the feed twice a week.

Usually, though, cholera gets in before we know it. Then it requires close attention to each hog—each hog must be dosed—and if you will dose them as directed, you will save better than 90 per cent. If you don't, the B. A. Thomas medicine costs you nothing. We, not some distant manufacturer, pay your money back.

FIFTY-FOUR SELECTMEN LEAVE FOR ARMY CAMP

GO TO CAMP HANCOCK, AUGUSTA, GEORGIA, TO TRAIN FOR ARMY SERVICE.

On last Monday afternoon Clanton and Chilton County people gathered at the depot to bid God speed to another bunch of selectmen leaving for the army. This time there were fifty-four in number and they en-trained for Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga.

These gallant young men showed every trace of sincere patriotism, and they all seemed to possess the one great idea of "marching to Berlin."

God be with each and every one of them, and bring them safely back to home and to their loved ones, is our fervent prayer.

TAKE CARE IN CASHING SOLDIERS' ALLOWANCE CHECK

Don't cash that allowance check if the soldier who made the allotment has been discharged from the army, warns the Home Service Department of the Red Cross.

Return it at once to the government if it isn't yours, and if you spend it you'll get into trouble.

Several instances have been reported by field secretaries of the Gulf Division, Home Service Section of the Red Cross in which relatives of discharged soldiers cashed checks that were sent by mistake.

No discharged soldier's family is entitled to receive more than one month's allowance after the man has left the service. Because of the enormous number of checks sent out at Washington, it sometimes happens that checks are received the second or third month after the soldier's discharge.

Persons who cash these checks sent by mistake will be considered guilty of fraud, and they will be liable to a fine of $2,000 or imprisonment for a year, or both.

J. LEONARD HARRIS WRITES FROM COCO SOLO, C. Z.

July 7, 1918.

Editor Union-Banner: Have you space in the good old Union-Banner for a few words from a sailor boy?

First, I wish to thank you for the sample copies of the Union-Banner which came this P.M. Don't think I have had more of the home-like feeling since I've been in the U. S. N. than I had after reading these papers. I am sending $1.00 for a year's subscription. Be sure you don't forget mine just one time.

I am liking sailor life fine. Have seen quite a bit of territory in our home states, have been unmercifully tossed about by the stormy Atlantic, have been over on the Pacific, have visited the canal often, and am now in these tropical jungles learning new things most every day, all since last December. Now, we have to keep quite busy, as you know, but we do have some fun. This is, indeed, a fine station. We have good food, good sleeping quarters, the very best of entertainment, and an excellent band to play while we amuse.

With all these amusements, etc., I often think of old Chilton and my good friends there. 'Twill of course, be a happy day when Kaiser Bill has had what is coming his way, which he sure will yet, and we can be home once again. Am longing for the time when I can land on deck of No. 10, L. & L., and shove off on the port side for Clanton, Alabama. I can't think of Chilton as being the least bit ticky, even though politics and cattle ticks seem to be the general topics of the day.

With best wishes for my Alabama friends and the Union-Banner, I am, Yours truly, J. Leonard Harris.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The Montevallo Flour Mill formerly charged 1-6 toll for grinding wheat, but the present management grinds for 1-8, or you can pay a cash toll equal to that. We challenge any mill in the district to equal our turn-outs in quality or quantity.

We have a record made July 11th of 45 3-8 pounds per bushel, which we think will stand for some time. Do not sun your wheat when coming to our mill. Bring plenty flour sacks. You'll need 'em. We can show you how to prevent smut in wheat or oats. 2t MONTEVALLO ROLLER MILLS.

JOHN L. GORE MAKES PLAIN HIS POLICY AS CANDIDATE

In Letter to the People, States That Law Enforcement Shall be His Dominant Aim.

To the People of Chilton County:

This, my second appeal to you in the interest of my candidacy for the office of Sheriff of Chilton County, is made in all candor and honesty, and I ask your faithful consideration of the things to which I want to call your attention. I have the best interests of the people of the county at heart, and ask for your support only upon the manifestation of this interest to you. In other words, I view the matter like this:

I believe I deserve the honor I seek and if you who are the voters do not find anything in my life, character, and platform to make you believe the same, I do not ask you to cast your vote for me. I want every man who votes for me to feel like he is doing the best for himself, the people of Chilton county, and the Republican party. If I should be elected on such an understanding as this, I am sure I can vindicate the confidence bestowed in me.

As stated heretofore, I stand for the strict enforcement of the laws of the county and state, both in letter and in spirit. But I do not favor the idea that a man, just because he is an officer, should display his authority in a way that will appear boastful and narrow. Every man is entitled to respect under the law until the law itself convicts him. And I assure you that my acts shall be in the future, as in the past, in strict accord with right and justice with due consideration for the rights of every citizen under the law. I would not busy myself in actions of one kind and another just in order to get a fee. I believe in looking after violations of the law, but I would make sure first that the law has been violated before taking action.

Laws are made to protect the morality of our citizenship, and in this same spirit should our officers enforce them, and in no instance should the law be used as a tool to serve narrow and unimportant motives.

In outlining the above brief sketch on law enforcement, I want to state with special emphasis that what I say relates to every person in Chilton county alike. I do not have one plan of action for one set of persons and another policy for some others. It doesn't make any difference who it is in the county, you can read what I have said and be assured that it is my own medicine as well as the other fellow's, if I am elected as Sheriff to enforce the laws of this land. I am not under any obligations to any man or set of men. I have made no promises whatsoever. I am running this race solely on my own merits, and if I have to trade and combine with one clique and another to get the office I do not want it. If I am elected I shall be governed only by such actions in each and every instance as my better judgment and the counsel of my friends may tell me is the right course to pursue.

Before I close I have a few words to say to you in regard to the welfare of the Republican party in Chilton county. Ours has always been the party of the people of the county, and I wish that it may ever remain so. I do not favor the perpetuation of bitter partisanship in politics. No matter what our politics, we, as brothers, should dwell together in unity, for the greatest good that can come to our county. But there is a place for parties in our system of government, and they are good if kept within the limits of reason. When any political party gets away from the people then it at once becomes a menace to the public good.

I am in the race for Sheriff as I said above because I feel that I can be trusted by the people on the strength of my former life and record. And I recognize only the popular and unblemished voice of the people in saying whether or not I shall be the nominee of the party to make the final race in the general election. I hope I am understood to be reasonable and conservative in my views, for I believe a man should be so in all his actions both public and private. The people do not want an official who is overbearing in the exercise of his authority, and as for my attitude in such respects, I ask you only to take a look at my past record.

With these few thoughts for the voters to study over, and asking each and everyone to take them, put what I have said beside my official acts of four years as Deputy Sheriff, and my life and conduct as a man and a citizen of Chilton county—sum the whole thing up, and look the facts all squarely in the face. Then if you think I will make an official that will be safe and honorable for the county, I ask you to cast your vote for me. If, however, the vote of the people should name another man for the office, I will be found ready and willing to bow to the will of the majority. I believe in the people saying who the officers shall be, and not a few.

Thanking you for your earnest consideration of my claims, I am, Yours sincerely and fraternally, JOHN L. GORE.

ABLE MEN ARE WANTED BY Y. M. C. A. FOR RUSSIA

American Y. M. C. A. Workers Teach Returned Russian Soldiers Useful Trades

With the Government at Washington prepared to lend economic and philanthropic support to Russia, the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. is actively recruiting to reinforce the Red Triangle workers already manning huts over there. Agricultural experts, physical directors and regular Y. M. C. A. secretaries as well as other men familiar with welfare work in communities are being sought.

A further consideration of a definite policy toward Russia has served virtually as a "go-ahead" order to the association. The Y. M. C. A., through all uncertainties of the past few months, has kept 100 of its secretaries in Russia. These men have been kept busy day and night in an effort to build up the morale of the citizens and soldiers of the unfortunate country. The secretaries today are in all parts of Russia.

In the dark days of Russia the American secretaries "stood by" all over that country to serve the people in every way possible. Thousands of invalid prisoners were taken care of as they returned from Germany. Most all the men were broken in health. They died, almost without exception, with curses against Germany. But greater even than their hatred was their wonder that their countrymen could have made "peace" with such an enemy.

"The Y. M. C. A. leaders in Russia," said Dr. W. W. Alexander, director of the War Personnel Board of the Southeastern Department, National War Work Council, "have never doubted the essential soundness of the Russian people. Despite all difficulties and inevitable losses and discouragements, the Y. M. C. A. has remained in Russia, seeking to serve and watching for a better day. The day is now evidently coming."

Fifteen new secretaries, with ability to contribute some constructive element to the Russian life of the future are being searched for throughout the Southeastern Department. Some agriculturists are wanted, some business men, but the call comes stronger for men skilled in rural Y. M. C. A. and Community work. All are to go with the purpose of helping Russia help herself.

REMARKS FROM OUR COUNTY COURT OF COMMISSIONERS

In Which they Show to the People What they Have Achieved in a Financial Way.

Clanton, Ala., July 17, 1918.

To the People of Chilton County:

As your servants, we feel it our duty to advise you as to the financial condition of the county. We have reached a critical stage in the building and upkeep of our roads. We have some splendid roads, and it would be the height of foolishness not to keep them in good repair. But the question is, how can it be done? This administration, when it assumed charge on January 15th, 1917, found the county three years behind in its payments, and having to pay double price for its materials. After the bond issue, we loaned from one fund to another in an effort to save the county from bankruptcy and to put it on a cash basis for everything, which we have succeeded in doing up to the present time. By this method we have saved to the General Fund seventeen thousand five hundred dollars, which has been paid back from the General Fund to the Road and Bridge Fund. This was accomplished by reducing expenditures and paying cash for labor and materials. We have reduced the county stationery bill to less than half what it was under the former administration. We found the highways almost impassible—the unit south of Clanton almost gone and the one to Lock 12 in bad condition. By levying a wagon tax we have succeeded in building up the highways and improving the other public roads in many places. The Maplesville Road, we had to rebuild almost entirely.

The people must realize and appreciate the serious condition with which our county is confronted. Lumber has doubled in price and owing to war conditions, labor is out of the question. We only have about thirteen thousand dollars road tax and it takes ten thousand of this to pay the interest on the county's debt, which leaves only three thousand dollars with which to work the roads, and this at present prices, would not keep the floors of the bridges in repair. What are we going to do with our roads? Are we going to let them go to pieces? Think of the hundreds of thousands of dollars that would be irretrievably lost by such a course. We call upon every patriotic person in the county to do his bit towards averting the calamity. We earnestly ask every person in the county who owns a team to work them two days on the public roads. The road hands have nearly all gone. The war is rapidly calling our brave boys to the flag, and will continue to do so. These boys are making the supreme sacrifice that we may continue to enjoy the priceless freedom of this glorious land. You, and we, have a duty to perform and that is to keep this great county in such condition that when they return to it after the war, that they may find it and their homes in such condition as to make them feel their sacrifice was not made in vain.

The roads are yours. You travel them and your children need them. And as your servants, we appeal to every citizen in the county, regardless of race or politics, to help in this crisis.

To the end that your cooperation may be obtained, we have called a meeting in each road district, as follows:

District One—Union Grove—July 29, 1918, 10, a.m. Mr. Waldrup will be there.

District Two—Thorsby—July 31, 10, a.m. R. J. Williams will be there.

District Three—Stanton—Aug. 2, 10, a.m. Mr. Herrod will be there.

District Four—Coopers—Aug. 6, 10, a.m. Mr. Vinson will be there.

At these meetings we suggest that you elect representatives to meet with the Commissioner's court in its regular session, at the Court House on August 12, that they may advise with us and assist us in solving the road question.

If you will cooperate with us along the lines suggested we believe the situation can be met and many thousands of dollars saved to the county.

L. H. REYNOLDS, Judge of Probate; S. E. WALDRUP, R. J. WILLIAMS, W. T. HERROD, A. P. VINSON, Commissioners.

SAWMILL OPERATORS PLACED IN CLASS 1

Mobile, July 22.—At a special session of the district exemption board held Saturday night a number of sawmill operators of Choctaw County were taken off the emergency fleet list and put in Class one. This action was taken according to instructions from Provost Marshal General Crowder that sawmill operators engaged in cutting timber should be reclassified from the fleet list.

CLASS ONE TO PROVIDE ARMY OF 5,000,000 MEN

Men in Deferred Classes May Never Be Called Upon to Fight.

Washington, July 22.—With the calls for increasingly large numbers of draft registrants, Jan. 15, up training camps vacated, regulars, national guards, and the first quotas of the national army, there is much speculation throughout the country as to how soon Class Two men will be called for service.

To Draw Army from Class One There need be no immediate anxiety on the part of these men or their relatives. No call affecting Class 2 men will be made this year. No call for fighting men will be made upon Class Two men in 1919, in all probability.

In fact, it is the hope of Provost Marshal General Crowder that he will for combatant units, and there is no present indication that he will have to do so.

Draft officials believe we will be able to raise and maintain an army of five million men without going into the deferred classes for fighting men. The figure 5,000,000 they believe is constructive. Here is how they figure it:

The registration under the original draft law made available, in Class 1, approximately 3,000,000 men. Of these 1,595,708 had been ordered to camp prior to July 1, 1918. Calls through July and August will make the number of selective service men in camp by September 1 more than 2,000,000.

Registration of men who became 21 between June 5, 1917 and June 5, 1918, added another 600,000 men to Class 1, so that on September 1 we will still have somewhat more than 1,500,000 qualified men in Class 1 who will not have been called to camp.

Before these men are called to service it is expected congress will amend the draft law to provide for the registration of men between 18 and 21 and between 31 and 45.

Just how many men this extension of the draft would bring into Class 1 is uncertain, but it is expected that the number would equal those between 21 and 31. At least 3,000 Class 1 men would be added, it is reasonably certain. Although the percentage of deferred classifications among men from 31 to 45 would be greater than the present average, because of family dependency and industrial grounds, the percentage of those from 18 to 21 would be higher than the average, because these men would in a few cases have established family ties.

Would Provide 7,000,000 Men. This extension of the draft then, would provide a total Class 1 of more than 6,000,000 men—probably nearer 7,000,000.

And unless Class 1 is exhausted, no calls will be made upon deferred classes for any fighting troops.

When Class 1 in any district is exhausted no more calls will be made upon that district for combatant soldiers so long as there is a Class 1 man available in any district anywhere in the country.

For certain non-combatant units, where men of special training or skill are required, and such men are not to be found among Class 1 registrants, then, and only then, are the deferred classes called upon. The number of these specialists taken from deferred classes has, been very small.

There is to be a thorough combing of the deferred classes, and some persons who were granted classifications in classes 2 and 3 may find themselves reclassified in class 1 and called to camp. But in the main the original classification will hold.

REQUEST TO DELAY TIME TO HOLD CIRCUIT COURT

Clanton, Ala., July 23, 1918.

Editor Union-Banner:

Our next term of Circuit Court convenes first Monday in September. This is one of the busiest times of the harvest season, and our fields will be white with cotton. It is a time when every farmer and farm laborer is needed on the farm.

We believe that nothing could be done which would go further toward "winning the war" than to continue this term of court until, say, the middle of November, and we are heartily in favor of the local bar joining in a request that the Circuit Judges continue the court until that time.

Respectfully, Middleton and Reynolds.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

8:30, p.m., the Rev. Mr. Maye will use for his subject, "Christian Preparedness," based upon what the word of God really teaches. Come and you will certainly find out if yours is the real Christian Preparedness. If not, you will not stand the real test of God. YOU NEED TO KNOW THIS!

SERIOUS REVOLTS OCCUR IN AUSTRIA-HUNGARY

150 Officers and 1500 Czech-Slovaks Shot for Mutiny, and 3000 Others Are Arrested.

London, July 22.—Very serious revolts and mutinies have occurred in Bohemia and Hungary. At Manaros-Szjet 150 officers and 1500 Czech-Slovaks, who mutinied, were shot and a further 300 arrested.

From a reliable source news has come to hand that serious mutinies have taken place in Dalmatia and Bohemia. Jugo-Slav soldiers have deserted by the wholesale and escaped to the mountains after killing their officers and officials. Armed bands, completely organized, are said to be operating in some districts.

Important Possibilities.

Washington, July 22.—Revolts and mutinies of Czech-Slave and Jugo-Slavs in Bohemia and Hungary, reported unofficially today in a London dispatch, hold important possibilities.

The Jugo-Slavs in southern Austria and along the coast of the Adriatic extending north to a line with the northern boundary of Italy constitute a large portion of the disaffected population and their animosity to the Germans and their Austrian masters has been increased by the suppression on the part of the war party. It was pointed out today by officials here that these Slavs would flock to the standard of the allies if they had a chance and the onward marching Italian and French forces on the Albania front would give them that opportunity.

It is known that hundreds of thousands of these Jugo-Slavs have been transported by the Austrian authorities, acting under orders of the Germans and the Bulgarians, since the war began, but it is quite possible, according to well-informed officials, that a million men might be added to the allied forces from these malcontents. The Slavs are said to make excellent soldiers when they are fighting for a cause near their hearts.

The assistance of the Slavs in Austria is believed to be a matter of tremendous importance. At the last census in 1910, the four divisions of Slavs within the Austrian Empire numbered about 24,500,000—a little less than an absolute majority of the total population of the empire. Of these nearly 5,000,000 were Poles and 4,000,000 Ruthenians. The Czech-Slovaks, Bohemians, Moravians and Slovaks numbered nearly 8,500,000 whom about 6,500,000 were in Austria and nearly 2,000,000 were in Hungary. It was from this section that the Czech-Slovaks in Siberia came after they had been forced into the Austrian army from which they deserted when the opportunity offered during the campaigns against the Russians.

The religious difference between the various branches of the Jugo-Slavs has been entirely wiped out by the war, according to information received recently by the state department, and they are now united in their hostility toward the Austrians. Formerly they were divided between the Catholic and Russian Churches.

There were also a number of Mohammedans among them, upon which the Turks counted for assistance in their alliance with Austria.

EDITOR GONE TO WAR

The Editor of the Union-Banner has gone to join Uncle Sam's army, to give the Kaiser Hell.

We are sorry to leave the paper and our friends over the county, but we must answer our country's call without faltering.

We wish each and every friend of the paper good luck and prosperity, and some day we hope to come back to the job and carry on the work here in a better and bigger freer world, made safe from Kaiserism by the blood of American soldiers backed by the American citizenship to a man.

We will try to find time to write a letter to the paper now and then and tell you all how we are getting along in army life.

DELAYING CIRCUIT COURT

In this issue of the Union-Banner we are publishing a request for a delay of the time for the holding of the Circuit Court for this county. The reason for this is that the farmers, on account of the scarcity of labor and the season of the year, will be very busy at the time for the regular court (the first Monday in September), and in several cases, if the men were called away from their harvesting it would mean probably a total loss of part of their produce. This is no time for losing anything that is raised on the farm, and especially that which our farmers have labored so untiringly to raise.

We wish to say that we heartily endorse this idea, and believe that it is very necessary that this be done.

This is a jury term of Court and will keep the people away from their work two weeks or more, right when time will be most precious to them and most needed on their farms. By putting court off till the middle of November, will leave the farmers a chance to get fairly over the rush.

OUR PUBLIC ROADS

Like a number of other things in times of war, our public roads are not getting the attention which is necessary to keep them in even fair condition. Nearly every road in the county needs work and needs it bad.
Now, the question is "What are we going to do with them?"

The main labor which we have had heretofore on our public roads has been taken from us by Uncle Sam, but are we going to let our roads suffer? There are surely enough able-bodied men left here to keep our roads and highways in decent shape.

This county has spent over two hundred thousand dollars on the improvement of its public roads, and surely we cannot afford to let them go to ruin and thereby lose all that we have spent on them. Well, this is what we are doing. In order to keep them up we will either have to work them ourselves or hire it done, which will be the means of another raise in our taxes. Then, would it not be better to take our teams and work the roads a few days every year, rather than let ourselves be taxed to death for the upkeep of the roads?

Our Court of County Commissioners have issued an appeal to every person owning a team to put them on the road two days. An in order to arouse enthusiasm, they have set meetings in each of the four districts in the county. Look at what they say, and everybody attend one of these meetings, and bring your team and work the road two days.

Also, there has been some talk of the county road laws not being properly carried out. Now it is the duty of our overseers to see to it that every man who is subject to pay hauling license does it in compliance with the law; and if an overseer knowingly permits anyone to haul without license, he is not fit to look after his own business let alone that in which the public is concerned.

TEASLEY LEADING ALL CAN-DIDATES IN CHILTON COUNTY

Clanton, July 24.—There is a strong prospect now that the Democrats will win in this coming Chilton County local election. For years the Republicans has simply "walked off" with everything they cared to have.

Matters are different now. The voters are getting on to some facts and a change is desired.

For Representative the Republicans have named Hon. J. O. Middleton, and the Democrats select Mr. John Parish as the man that will keep Mr.
Middleton hustling in order to be anywhere near the finish.

As to the choice of the U. S. Senate, there is unquestionably in Chilton County a two-to-one vote in favor of Senator Bankhead, and the people will not change their vote as to this.

As to Governor, Judge Teasley is away off in the front, while Mr. Kilby is struggling for the second place in the race. Judge Brandon and Mr.
Wallace are running well, close together.

The amendment will be defeated in Chilton County, and it can be said as a fact that the voters are determined as to this matter.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Yes, it is quite natural for the Advertiser to say that everything everywhere is Democratic, because it looks at everything through a democratic-stained glass; but we believe if it should view Chilton County from an unbiased point of view, it could not see for the Democrats such a certain victory. They will have to remember that we still have a Republican party in this county, and we believe that it is stronger today than it has ever been before. Our Republican officers have all done what they promised before the elections, and the people are well satisfied with their administration.

As for the constitutional amendment, we can frankly say that no one need to stick his head up in this county for an office if he does not favor the amendment. This has been an established fact for several years.

FIVE CHILDREN

BURNED TO DEATH

Grand rapids, Mich., July 24.—
Five children ranging in age from 2 to 12 years were burned to death, one other received probably fatal injuries and seven were less seriously hurt in a fire which destroyed the kent county juvenile home just outside the city limits early yesterday. The fatalities were due to confusion among the children when they were awakened in the quarters on the third floor and lined up to march down stairs.

FOOD FACTS

News of The Week

FROM STATE FOOD ADMINISTRATION

CHEAP MEAL

How To Get It.

Federal Food Administrator, R. M.
Hobbie, has addressed to the public the following open letter on Corn Meal and Prices. He hopes that every farmer and consumer of meal in Alabama will read it carefully.

"Last Fall when we were advised by Washington that flour would be scarce and that it would be necessary to use substitutes during the Spring, we asked the farmers of the state to keep their corn at home and not to sell it all as had been their custom heretofore, and then be compelled to buy both corn and corn meal from distant points during the following Summer.

"When the National ruling of the U. S. Food Administration went into effect on January 28th, requiring the purchase of an equal weight of substitutes with each purchase of flour, having in mind the producer of corn, we registered and commissioned, as Federal Corn Millers, every corn miller in Alabama who would promise, under oath, to exchange one bushel of unbolted meal for each bushel of clean, sound corn brought to his mill, granting him the privilege of issuing to the farmer, a certificate which exempted that farmer from the National ruling and allowed him to buy flour against his meal without buying other substitutes. The farmer, therefore, gets his meal at no greater cost per bushel than the value of his corn.

In order to protect the consumers who were not producers of corn, we went a step further and authorized the Federal Miller to issue to the retail merchant who bought meal of him or who bought corn from a farmer and then had it ground or exchanged it for meal, a certificate whereby that retailer could buy flour without buying the accompanying substitute. The retailer, therefore, secured his meal at no greater cost than the price paid the farmer for corn.

Under the rulings of the Food Administration, the maximum profit allowed a retail merchant in selling meal is 20 per cent. If he asks more profit, then he is profiting in violation of the law. If, for example, the retail merchant pays $1.50 per bushel to the farmer for corn, then takes it to a Federal Miller and exchanges it for meal, that meal costs him $1.50 per bushel bulk, adding to that the maximum profit of 20 per cent, which is 30c. per bushel, the retailer under the law must sell this meal at a price not to exceed $1.80 per bushel.

"Many retailers tell us that their customers do not want locally ground, unbolted meal. For these customers the retail merchants are forced to provide high grade, bolted meal, shipped from City mills, often located in distant cities. In such cases, this meal costs more money because most of these mills instead of getting 55 lbs. of meal out of 56 lbs. of corn, as do the local mills, many get as low as 32 lbs. of meal out of 56 lbs. of corn, the balance going into feed. The high cost of labor used in manufacturing this meal, the high cost of cotton bags, transportation charges to wholesaler and retailer, the City mills profit, the broker's commission, the wholesaler's profit and again the retailer's profit, which figured on the maximum of 20 per cent profit, is of course, greater on a cost of $2.00 than on a cost of $1.50.

"In the early days of the Food Administration, we began to urge the people of our state to use locally grown and locally prepared food products, especially corn meal. If, therefore, the consumer would insist on having the locally ground, unbolted meal, which is certainly as good and just as healthful, the retail merchant will no longer buy this high priced meal from distant points, thereby saving for these customers, the profits of the big mills, of the broker and the wholesaler, and all transportation charges. The retailer can procure local meal in bulk and serve it to the public in paper sacks, renewing his supply frequently and thereby getting fresh meal.

"We have written you at length in order that you may see the entire situation from our view-point and be able to explain it to those who have not yet and those who do not wish to grasp it. As a matter of possible interest in this connection, we quote a few of the prices taken from our report of June 28th, which comes to us from every state in the Union. These prices are in bulk at the City mills.

"We might add that all licensed corn millers are now making weekly reports to the Food Administration and that no excessive profits are allowed. You will note that meal prices are lower in Alabama, even at the City mills, located in the three principal towns of the state, than they are in the heart of the corn belt.

"Yours truly,
"R. M. HOBBIIE,
"Federal Food Administrator for Alabama."

GERMANY ASKS FOR PEACE WITH NO INDEMNITIES

News was received late Wednesday afternoon that Germany was asking for peace with the understanding that she have no indemnities on the Western Front.

At the time we went to press this report could not be verified, but it was being published in extra editions of the daily papers. So it must be reliable news.

PRIMARY ELECTION NOTICE

We receive many thousands of similar letters every year, telling of the good Cardui has done for women who suffer from complaints so common to their sex. It should do you good, too. Try

ENDORSE J. L. GORE FOR OFFICE OF SHERIFF

To the People of Clifton County: We, the undersigned voters of Beat 4, desire to say in support of John L. Gore, a candidate for Sheriff, that we have known him for a number of years, and know him to be a man of Christian character, and who is well qualified to fill the office to which he aspires.

He has at all times stood for the rights of the common people. He was born and reared in our county, was a candidate for Sheriff four years ago, receiving a large number of votes; has since been serving as Deputy Sheriff, and has made a good Deputy. We, therefore, believe he should be honored with the nomination to the office of Sheriff during the coming elections.

Respectfully,
J. F. HAYES,
J. M. SMITH,
W. H. WELLS,

FRENCH CELEBRATION IS OBSERVED AT VERBENA

On Sunday evening, July 14th, the people of Verbena expressed their sympathy for France by celebrating the Fall of Bastille.

The celebration took place at the M. E. Church, under the auspices of Mrs. Walter D. Wellborn, of New Orleans, the ladies of Verbena and the pastor, Rev. W. O. Phillips.

The children carrying the flags of the sister republics, marched in to the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner," and sang LaMarseillaise and other patriotic songs, to the accompaniment of Mrs. W. A. Gullede at the piano and Mrs. S. L. Gibson at the violin.

A collection was taken for the fatherless children of France by four young girls, wearing French colors and the citizens proved their patriotism by giving liberally.

This is the first time a French holiday was ever celebrated in Verbena. Addresses were delivered by Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Wellborn, Dr. B. J. Baldwin, Mr. S. L. Gibson and Rev. W. O. Phillips.

E. L. Burnett of Route 4 was in town last Saturday.

W. J. Billingsley of Thorsby was in town last Saturday shaking hands with his many friends.

The Joy of Living

To enjoy life we must have good health. No one can reasonably hope to get much real pleasure out of life when his bowels are clogged, a good share of the time and the poisonous acid that should be expelled is absorbed into the system, producing headache and indigestion. A few doses of Chamberlain's Tablets will move the bowels, strengthen the digestion and give you a chance to realize the real joy of living. Try it.

SCHOOL OPEN FOR BLINDED FIGHTERS

VOCATIONAL INSTRUCTION AND REHABILITATION AT HOSPITAL IN BALTIMORE.

MEN TAUGHT USEFUL TRADES

Soldiers in Field and Camp Get Many Books—Secretary Wilson Explains General Mobilization of Labor for War Industries.

(From Committee on Public Information.) Washington.—Returning federal soldiers, sailors and marines are being received now for vocational instruction and rehabilitation at Hospital Training School, General Hospital No. 7, the former home of Mrs. T. Harrison Garrett, at Baltimore, Md. The hospital is outfitted to accommodate 250 men and has large recreation fields and an extensive acreage in gardens.

Col. James Bordley of the surgeon general's office in charge of the re-education of the blind, has announced the appointment of O. H. Burritt of the Pennsylvania Institute for the Instruction of the Blind as the educational director of this army hospital training school, with Miss Jenny A. Turner, former designer for the Massachusetts commission for the blind, as a reconstruction aide. Miss Turner has been working with the returned wounded soldiers at the Walter Reed hospital, Washington.

The blinded soldiers from overseas will be discharged from the hospital after they have been taught a practical self-supporting trade, have been put in good physical condition, and taught to read standard printing in raised type. The men will be sent to their own home communities and placed in the trades for which they have been trained. Red Cross workers will watch after their welfare.

Co-operating with the army medical department, the Red Cross Institute for the Blind is now making a national survey of industries open to blinded soldiers. Instructions will be made to conform with preparations for these industries. The federal board for vocational education is arranging a plan for the economic and social supervision of all wounded and maimed soldiers.

The war service committee of the American Library association reports that 435,000 books were shipped to American soldiers in France up to July 1. The books went in tonnage space granted at the request of General Pershing on the decks of transports, where they were used by the men on the voyage and unpacked for use in France; in naval vessels for naval bases abroad; and in Red Cross tonnage for the hospitals in France and England.

A total of more than 2,500,000 books have been supplied by the American Library association to the camps and stations in the United States and overseas. Approximately 500,000 of these books were purchased, others having come as gifts from the American people through the public libraries of the country. Nearly 40 library buildings have been erected, and 600 camps in America, alone, have received collections of books.

Two hundred librarians, including leaders in their profession in this country, are giving their time to library war service. Most of these are serving as camp librarians, assistants, and organizers in the field; others are in dispatch offices for the shipment of books to France.

Methods of thrift now enforced in the army quartermaster general's office, including the repair of clothing and shoes, where possible, have cut down the issue of new clothing and shoes from 30 to 40 per cent in some instances.

The plants where the mending is done are run in connection with forts and camps by the camp quartermaster. When a soldier tears or rips a garment he turns it in to his supply officer. When the soles of his shoes wear out or the heel runs down, the shoes go back to the same officer. These garments and shoes are taken to the repair shops managed by the conservation and reclamation officer. When repaired and put in order they are returned to the original owner if possible, and if the original owner cannot be located they serve some other soldier.

Hundreds of women are being employed by the war department in the work of repairing the garments of soldiers and in the laundries at camps and cantonments. Preference in this employment is given the wives, sisters, and mothers of men in the service. By paying $1 a month a soldier is entitled to a weekly bundle of laundry in which the number of articles is not limited.

Do not waste ice, says the United States food administration. Do not use as a luxury to serve with salads, fruits, and sea foods and do not put more than is necessary in glasses of water, tea, and other drinks.

There is to be no curtailment on the use of ice as a necessity, but it should be used carefully in localities where any shortage is indicated. It is considered a necessity when used to preserve food and in administering comfort, and every reasonable effort will be made to see that families are supplied with their legitimate needs.

Secretary of Labor Wilson makes this explanation of the general mobilization of labor for war industries, recruiting for which is to begin August 1 under direction of the United States employment service:

"Beginning with common labor, this service will gradually take charge of the mobilizing and placing of all labor for war industries employing 100 or more workers. This will profoundly affect all other industries and all other workers. It will correct the abuses and troubles growing out of the large labor turnover with the consequent disruption of regular work.

"Every safeguard must be taken to protect the standard of living and the morale of the wage earners. Especially must great care be taken to keep the age limit of those who enter industry at a high level, lest we rob our future citizenship of its right to growth and time for education. We must also take knowledge of the dangers attendant upon the large entrance of women into heavy and hazardous industries.

"The exigencies of war times should not be made the occasion for the breaking down of those standards of hours, wages, and conditions of work which are designed to protect the childhood, the womanhood, and the motherhood of the present and the future.

"Experts tell us it takes from six to ten workers at home to keep one soldier on the firing line in Europe. Whatever, therefore, helps to mobilize, distribute and energize those who do the work of our war industries has become as important a factor in winning the war as the prowess of our armies in the field or our navy on the seas."

The war department has established five central officers' training camps, at which civilians and enlisted men will be trained for commissions in the officers' reserve corps. Infantry training camps are located at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va.; Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.; and Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark.; field artillery at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., and machine gun at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga.

These training schools will be run continuously, a new class being admitted monthly. The course of training will be four months at the infantry and machine-gun schools and three months at the field artillery school. The schools are open to qualified enlisted men in all branches of the service except coast artillery, signal corps and labor units. The number of civilians admitted will be limited.

To be eligible for admission candidates must be between twenty years, eight months and forty years; citizens of the United States, and not born in any of the countries with which the United States is at war or allies of such countries. Enlisted men must have the moral, educational and physical qualifications required of an officer. Civilians must be graduates of a high school or have pursued an equivalent course of instruction, be of good moral character, and have the required physical qualifications.

In addition to the above qualifications, candidates for the field artillery must possess a thorough understanding and working knowledge of arithmetic, and plane geometry. Trained civil, mechanical, electrical, mining and architectural engineers are desired. Civilian applicants will be certified by the army officer on duty as professor of military science and tactics at the educational institution nearest the residence of the applicant.

A children's recreation drive is on to continue during July and August, under the auspices of the children's bureau, department of labor, and the woman's committee of the council of national defense. It will culminate in "patriotic play week," September 1-7, in which the work of 11,000 women in organizing recreation in 10,000 communities will come to an end.

"To be strong for victory the nation must let her children play," said Charles Frederick Weller, associate secretary of the Playgrounds and Recreation Association of America. No time nor money can be spared from war-winning activities, but the winning of the war depends on man power, and man power cannot be sustained in any nation without health and wholesomeness in the children.

Far worse than exhausting America's financial capital would be the exhaustion of child life, which is manpower capital.

"England and France began as the United States has been tempted to begin—by letting the children pay too heavily for the war in child labor, increased delinquency, overtaxed nerves, weakened bodies, and premature deaths, but England and France turned to lift war burdens from the children by giving them a chance to play. There is urgent need to give our boys and girls an American square deal—their safety valve of play."

The postal censorship board, post office department, announces that translators of Spanish are in demand at New York and other port cities. These positions are open to women who can translate accurately and quickly.

Mrs. Stanley McCormick, in charge of the department of food production and home economics of the woman's committee, council of defense, gives this advice to farmerettes: "Watch your feet. Don't ignore footwear. You must have a good spinal column to keep up with a good job. The condition of the spinal column depends greatly on the feet. Be picturesque if you wish, but be sensible. Wear good stout boots to preserve health."

BIG-SOULED MEN NEEDED IN Y. M. C. A.

For Overseas Work With Red Triangle Forces—500 Recruits Asked For Out Of Southeast During July

"Pass the word on, and pass it quickly, that 500 of the most capable, earnest and big souled Christian business men are needed immediately out of the Southeastern Department for overseas work with the Red Triangle Forces," according to Dr. W. W. Alexander, director of the War Personnel Bureau, Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. for the Southeastern Department. The quota of 500 for the department for the past month was exceeded by 128 enlistments.

The call now comes for executives of much business experience and specialists in all lines. No man in America is too big for the smallest Y. M. C. A. job "Over There." Today the leading men of the nation are volunteering for the work: Bank presidents, college presidents, office holders, political leaders, religious leaders, and hundreds of corporation heads are giving all time to the work with America's Sons in France.

State recruiting committees are operating in the seven Southeastern states. Information as to the opportunities and the work can be secured through the state recruiting secretaries, as follows:

Chas. M. Norfleet, Y. M. C. A., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Ely was later invited to dinner by the Commanding General. When he entered all the officers stood at salute until he was seated at the side of the General. The General made an address thanking Ely and the Y. M. C. A. for their work in France and expressed regret that he was not able to confer an official decoration.

CONCERT AT FRIENDSHIP

There will be a musical concert at Friendship Church, two miles north of Clanton, on next Saturday night, July 27. It is to be given by the music class of Prof. Herbert Lowery, who has been teaching a singing school there for the past month. The school will be busy practicing on Saturday afternoon, and they will not have time to entertain any visitors. Everybody is invited to come Saturday night, and they are promised a great time.

THORSBY NOTES

Sergeant John Ford, a former student of Thorsby Institute, who is now with the Ambulance Corps at Camp Wheeler, is a visitor in Thorsby this week. He expects to go Tuesday to western Alabama for a visit with relatives and friends.

Mr. Effar Anderson entertained a number of friends last Thursday evening. Games and music were enjoyed by the young people, also the delightful refreshments served. Mr. Anderson is leaving this week for training camp, and this social evening was in the nature of a farewell to his friends.

Rev. E. W. Butler, Misses Lorena Graham, Elizabeth Rogers, and Ida Lockwood will attend the Sunday School Convention at Shady Grove this week, as delegates from the Congregational Sunday School.

Almon Graham, who has been working at Gorgas, Ala., for several weeks, returned home last Saturday.

The Junior Endeavor Society of the Congregational Church and their friends enjoyed an all-day outing at Charlotte Creek last Friday. The day was much enjoyed by all, the youngsters spending most of it in wading and swimming in the creek. At noon a basket dinner was spread in the beautiful grove above the creek.

Revs. Chas. T. Rogers and E. W. Butler returned Monday from an Association meeting near Montgomery.

The Ladies Guild will meet Thursday of this week with Mrs. Mead. The friends of Miss Esther Berlin were invited to a social at her home last Friday evening. A special feature of the evening's entertainment was a watermelon cutting which was very much enjoyed by all.

BUSINESS TO DRAFT PROGRAM IS THE GOULD RESOLUTION

Washington, July 23.—Special—In an interview given out in Washington recently, Chairman Will H. Hays, of the Republican National Committee, declared among other things: "We are as unprepared for peace as we were unprepared for war, and into the solution of these great problems we purpose to bring the brains and the heart of the Republican party. To do that there will be a forward stepping as well as a forward looking program for labor, for business, and for the farmer."

The sentiment expressed by Chairman Hays meets with hearty approval of Republican leaders throughout the country, whose anxiety for the future welfare of the country is thoroughly aroused by the knowledge that the Administration, whatever its achievements toward a war program, which is receiving its best support from Republicans in Congress, is doing practically nothing with a view to post-war conditions respecting trade. Meanwhile, England, France, Germany, Italy, and Japan, have already drawn up tentative programs for post-war commerce which will require a little readjustment here and there to meet subsidiary war changes, and then will be ready for immediate application the day following a declaration of peace. That the United States, with the vast amount of commercial talent at its command, and with but two per cent of its population under arms at this time, should postpone to after the war consideration of future trade policies on the plea that every thought should be on the war, is a confession of weakness to which few are willing to subscribe.

Norman J. Gould, president of the largest steam pump works in the world, and a member of Congress, (N. Y.) in a resolution which he presented to the national conference of state manufacturers associations, convened in Washington recently, suggested a means of spurring into activity that portion of the present Administration, which is in danger of atrophy. By that resolution the president of the National Conference was authorized to appoint a representative to confer with representatives of the National Industrial Conference Board, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the National Association of Manufacturers, the National Foreign Trade Council, the American Manufacturers Export Association, and other national organizations of similar character, "for the purpose of cooperating with the proper representatives of the government of the United States in solving the problems." Gould also pointedly suggested to the Department of Commerce that the situation with respect to post war conditions as affecting industry, including both employees and employers, be studied and given immediate consideration.

It is confidently expected that the Gould resolution will start something. If the representatives of the big commercial associations named therein can not get the score of government commercial agencies to wake up, they will in all probability take up the problems and work them out themselves, doubtless more completely to the satisfaction of the people of the country than the present bureaucrats could do. The inauguration of this move should receive the hearty cooperation of nearly all our great trade publications, particularly such magazines of the Manufacturers' Record, the Pan-Pacific, the Iron Age, etc. The resolution is part of a forward-stepping and a forward-looking program "for labor, for business, and for the farmer." It is but natural, therefore, that it should have emanated from a Republican who is a leader in Congress as well as in the world of business.

Headache Stopped

Headaches are Nature's danger signals. Find out what is the trouble. Cure that and you won't have any more headaches. Most headaches come from indigestion. Bowels fail to act properly. Poisons accumulate in the body. The blood becomes impure, and headaches and more serious troubles naturally follow.

H. S. Cope, a glass molder at Alton Park, Tenn., says that he suffered constantly from headaches, but that Vir Hepatica restored him to health so that he was able to go back to work.

All such headaches are stopped by Vir Hepatica, the great Nature medicine and universal system purifier. It contains eight herbal remedies which tone up the bowels and kidneys, purify the blood and thus make that kind of headaches impossible.

We surely recommend this wonderful remedy. Come in and get a bottle on our recommendation that it will help not only your headaches, but will regulate your bowels and kidneys so that you will find your health better than you have known it for years.

NEW FOOD REGULATIONS REGARD TO SUGAR SALE

Judge L. H. Reynolds, U. S. Food Administrator for Chilton County, is in receipt of the following correspondence from the Department:

Montgomery, Ala., July 16, 1918.
Judge L. H. Reynolds,
County Food Administrator,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Judge Reynolds:

We are in receipt of your letter of July 12th.

Boarding housekeepers can purchase six pounds of flour per month for each regular boarder. Of course you understand that substitutes must be sold with each purchase of flour. A boarding house containing over 25 members will be compelled to secure sugar certificates from this office before they are allowed to purchase any sugar. They do not have to have certificates from this office to purchase flour.

A person having 15 boarders and living in the country can buy 90 lbs. of flour per month, if they buy the cereals at the same time.

The manager of the county poor house can purchase six pounds of flour per month for each inmate, but of course the substitute rules apply in this case as well as in the other cases.

With good wishes, I remain,
Yours sincerely,

THOS. BRAGG,
Executive Secretary.

Montgomery, Ala., July 20, 1918.
To Wholesale Dealers in Sugar:

We will appreciate your giving the following information to your trade through your salesmen:

Due to the necessity of further curtailing the use of sugar, we are today reducing the limit for sales of sugar for canning and preserving from 25 to 10 pounds. The retailer is instructed to make no sale even of ten pounds to any person who has up to this time secured as much as twenty five pounds for this purpose. The final limit for total purchases for canning by any one person, must not now exceed twenty five pounds. Selling sugar for preserving is optional with the retailer, depending on sugar in store.

The retailer will further be required to keep a file of his store and every purchaser, every time he buys sugar, will register his name and address before it will be permissible for the retailer to sell that customer sugar for domestic use. All sales in city are limited to 2 pounds at a time, and in the country to 5 pounds. The retailer will use two long sheets of paper with a carbon between, the original every week will be sent to the County Food Administrator and the carbon copy kept by the retailer. The County Food Administrator will examine the list sent in by the retailer and if he finds that any one person is buying sugar from several different retailers in quantities in excess of the allowance of three lbs. per person per month for each member of his family, including servants, then that particular individual will be published in the papers of the State as a slacker, and all retailers will be notified to sell no more sugar to such person, and he then may be prosecuted under law for hoarding sugar. The penalty for hoarding carries with it a prison sentence of two years. The retailer who fails to file reports of sales with County Food Administrator, will not be allowed to handle sugar.

The wholesaler is cautioned to sell no sugar to any manufacturer, soda water dispenser, public eating place, hotel, boarding house with twenty five or more boarders, bakery, or retail merchant without first requiring the surrender of sugar certificates, which are issued only by this office. No more interim certificates will be issued, therefore, the jobber in replenishing his stock must secure his further supply of certificates from the above named sources. No refinery will ship sugar to any jobber without the surrender of these certificates. Heretofore, the jobber has sent these certificates to the State Food Administrator; now he will send them to the refinery from which the buys, where they will be cancelled and returned to the Federal Food Administrator of the State from whom he buys, where they will be cancelled and returned to the Federal Food Administrator of the State from which they came.

It is very necessary that the retailer spread out his allotment of sugar throughout the entire month, for there will be no increase in the allotment for the retailer. Positively, there will be a decrease. The percentage will be determined by this office, based on the amount of sugar available for this State. All retailers are requested to confine their sales of sugar to their regular customers and no retailer in one town should fill orders from another town. If the retailer sells his entire month's allotment within a few days, which we have found to be the case in quite a number of instances, then his sugar customers will suffer for sugar during the balance of that month. No new wholesalers will be allowed to handle sugar after July 1st. No sugar can be used for other than human consumption.

The 70 per cent flour clause, as far as it relates to Bakers, has not been withdrawn but remains in full force until July 31st, 1918, when new flour regulations will be published, for bakers.

Yours truly,

R. M. HOBBIE.

Montgomery, Ala., July 22, 1918.
To Retail Dealers in Sugar:

Alabama has been allotted a certain monthly allowance of sugar. We look to the retail dealer to see that this allotment, which is much less than our normal consumption, is equitably distributed among the consumers of the State. We ask, therefore, that you confine your sales of sugar to your regular customers and that you fill no orders for people living in other communities; that you spread out your allotment of sugar throughout the entire month in order that all of your customers may receive their fair share. If you sell your entire month's allotment within a few days, which we have found to be the case in quite a number of instances, then your regular customers will suffer for sugar during the balance of the month. A great many retailers have called on us to increase their allowance of sugar. This we have no authority to do—in fact, your August allowance will be less than your July allowance. In order that there may be no going from store to store by unpatriotic people, we ask that you, in addition to serving only your regular customers, keep in your store a file where each customer will register his name and address every time he buys sugar for domestic use. We suggest the use of two long sheets of paper with a carbon between. The original you will send at the end of each week to your County Food Administrator and the carbon you will keep. The County Food Administrator will examine the report sent him by you and if he finds that any one person is buying sugar from several different retailers in quantities in excess of the allowance of three pounds per person per month, for each member of the family, including servants, then that particular individual will be published in the papers throughout the state as a slacker, and all retailers will be notified to sell no more sugar to such person, and he then may be prosecuted under the law for hoarding sugar. The penalty for hoarding carries with it a prison sentence of two years. You are to confine your sales in cities to two pounds at a time and in the country to five pounds. The retailer who fails to file reports of his sales every week with the County Food Administrator will not be allowed to sell sugar.

The retailer will not sell sugar to soda water fountains, public eating places, cafes, hotels, boarding houses with twenty-five or more boarders, bakeries, or to commercial canners, without first requiring the surrender of sugar certificates, which are issued only by this office.

You will, beginning today, reduce the limit for sales of sugar for canning and preserving from twenty-five to ten pounds. You will make no sale even of ten pounds to any person who has up to this time secured as much as twenty-five pounds for this purpose. The final limit for total purchases for canning by any one person must not now exceed twenty-five pounds. The sale of sugar for preserving is optional with you, depending entirely on the amount of sugar which you are able to secure. We repeat, you must take care of your regular customers for domestic use before offering any sugar for preserving or to new customers.

Yours truly,

R. M. HOBBIE.

Men Welcome Mother's Friend

A Duty that Every Man Ows to Those who Perpetuate the Race.

It is just as important that men should know of proper methods in advance of motherhood. Suffering, pain and distress incident to childbirth can be avoided by having at hand a bottle of the time-honored preparation, Mother's Friend. This is a penetrating external application that relieves the tension upon the muscles and enables them to expand without painful strain upon the ligaments and nerves.

Thousands of women for over half a century who have used Mother's Friend tell how they entirely avoided nervous spells and nausea and preserved a bright, happy disposition that reflects wonderfully upon the character and disposition of the little one soon to open its eyes in bewilderment at the joy of his arrival.

By regular use of Mother's Friend during the period the muscles are made and kept pliable and elastic. They expand easier when baby arrives, and pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less.

You can obtain Mother's Friend at any drug store. It is for external use only, is absolutely safe and wonderfully effective. Write to the Bradford Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable and instructive "Motherhood Book" of guidance for expectant mothers, and remember to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the druggist's today. It is the greatest kind of help to nature in the glorious work to be performed.

OUR ORDERS

Written in 1861 by Julia Ward Howe.

Weave no more silks, ye Lyons looms,
To deck our girls for gay delights;
For the red flower of battle blooms
And seldom marches fill the nights.

Weave but the flag whose bars today
Droop heavy o'er our early dead.
And sombre garments coarse and grey
For orphans who must earn a bread.

And ye that urge the war of words
With mystic fame and subtle pow'r
Go, chatter to the idle birds,
Or teach the lesson of the hour!

Ye Sibyl Arts, in one stern knot
Be all your offices combined;
Stand close, while Courage draws lot,
The destiny of humankind!

And if that destiny could fail,
The sun should darken in the sky;
The eternal bloom of Nature fail,
And God, Truth and Freedom die.

PREVENT HOG CHOLERA

The B. A. Thomas Hog Powder has a record of 95 per cent cures of Hog Cholera. If you feed your hogs as directed, you need never fear hog cholera nor any other hog disease; and the directions are very simple, just about what you are doing, plus a few cents worth of B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder in the feed twice a week.

Usually, though, cholera gets in before we know it. Then it requires close attention to each hog—each hog must be dosed—and if you will dose them as directed, you will save better than 90 per cent. If you don't, the B. A. Thomas medicine costs you nothing. We, not some distant manufacturer, pay your money back.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The pastor is spending this week in Maplesville preaching in a protracted meeting. It is earnestly hoped that the members will pray for him while he is away.

It is occasionally true that members think the time when the pastor is away is especially a period when they may neglect their labors in and for the church. Sometimes one will inform the pastor that while he was away they did not care to attend prayer meeting and other services, thinking this an evidence of personal attachment and a compliment. But just the opposite is true. The pastor who succeeds in attaching his people to himself rather than to Christ and His church has made the most dismal of failures.

On next Sunday, July 28th the pastor will preach on the Fifth Commandment at the morning service,—"Honor thy father and mother, that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

At night the subject will be "The Church government—its obligations and violations." Very many Baptist church members do not know that they owe solemn obligations to the Church which is Christ's Body, and many more do not know what these obligations are. Unfortunately, there are some who do not care.

FOUR YEARS AGO TODAY

Had you thought about what happened just four years ago today? Well, you may not have thought about the real thing itself, but beyond doubt you have come face to face with some of its grave results. On August 1, 1914 the German Imperial Government broke off diplomatic relations with France and set out on their inhuman and supposedly irresistible drive for Paris. They marched through humble Belgium tramping them into the earth in a manner which was shameful and ridiculous to all mankind.

And up until just a few weeks ago it seemed as though it were not altogether impossible for them to ultimately accomplish their aim. The year 1918 opened with only a "hope" of victory for the Allies—there was nothing, militarily speaking, on which we could base our optimism—we just merely felt that Providence would protect and guide us, because our aspirations were right. Now Germany is staggering under the heavy blows of the allied forces, and we can see a material hope for victory linked with our original faith in the idea that justice and right would win.

Up to a little over a year ago Russia stood her ground and forced Germany to keep three million men on the Eastern Front, but when Russia collapsed these men were released and they were sent to the Italian front with the hope of hitting Italy a fatal blow. At Caporetto Italy sustained the most disastrous defeat of the war. It was feared by the Allies that she would drop out under the great danger which she faced. But she stood up to it. A month ago Italy got a decent revenge on the enemy by stopping and reversing the furious Austrian drive which was directed toward the destruction of Italy. This was the turning point in the war. Since then the spirit in Germany has been waning. For the past three weeks the Hun has been suffering enormous losses in man power and more than that, the spirit of her men has been gradually but surely giving away. Mutiny after mutiny has been reported; and now she has lost the help of an ally which has stood by her from the beginning. Turkey has woke up to the fact that German domination of the world is impossible.

Just suppose that America had not entered the war just when she did. What would have become of Europe—and finally the whole world? It is reasonably certain that Germany would long ago have taken Paris and very likely London. Then what would they have done next? They might have rested a few years, but they would not have waited long before they would have showed America how the cannon sounded; and then it would have been useless for us to raise a hand against their advance. The world would have been theirs. America has two purposes for being proud: It was our soldiers that changed the tide of the great struggle; and too, we shall have the honor of furnishing the men and the power to make the allied victory complete. We don't believe that America is going to be drained bloodless as some of our brave allies have been, but if it takes the life-blood of five million of our young heroes to crush the inhuman Hun, we shall give them and do it cheerfully.

THE MAN FOR THE JOB

Representative Charles A. Nichols of Michigan is the ranking Republican member of the Committee on the census of the House. When the control of that body changes as a result of the fall elections the chairmanship of the great committee will fall to him. The position will be one of much responsibility, involving as it will, the consideration of legislation pertaining to the taking of the Fourteenth Decennial Census of 1920. Mr. Nichols is well-equipped for the work, having been on its membership. The Congressman is an advocate of a thorough covering of the industrial field when the 1920 census is taken, so that a record of our extraordinary war development along that line may be made for the future.

CLANTON GONE DRY

Monday and Tuesday of this week Clanton was dry—very dry. Of course it has been some time since anything more than water could be had in Clanton, but the first of the week not even that could be obtained. The big city well on the hill-side just north of town failed to respond with its usual flow of "aqua regia" and Clanton people had to either go back to the old method of chain and bucket or else have no water to drink.

But connection has now been made with the well at Wade's Ice and Power Plant, and the need of water has temporarily been satisfied. A new city well is to be dug soon, as the bids are now being asked for by the town. They will be considered soon by the Town Council and arrangements will be made for permanent water supply.

For some reason it is quite a job to get an ever-flowing well in Clanton. Several attempts were made even before the present town well was dug, and before this one every attempt was altogether futile. They can drill to about 500 feet, but it is impossible to get through a thick stratus of rock which is struck about this depth. It is thought that if this hindrance could be penetrated a supply of water would be reached which would be plentiful and permanent, but this has been impossible so far.

THE MAKIN-JONES REVIVAL

From August 15 to 25 is the time when Rev. Maye of the Methodist Church is going to have his revival. The Rev. Makin is an evangelist of nation-wide fame, and his musical director, Bob Jones, is the greatest director of sacred music that can possibly be obtained.

Dr. Maye is certainly to be complimented in getting these famous men to come here and work for us during these ten days, and Clanton people should certainly appreciate it enough to stand by them while they are here. Let's give them a large crowd at every service and give them the support which men of their calibre deserve.

SAVED FROM SHARKS

The Republicans of the Senate and House have played a conspicuous part in upholding the war program of the administration, and, in the notable instance of the selective draft, kept the program from going on the rocks. Republican suggestions have saved the administration from disastrous blunders. For instance, the War Risk Insurance measure, as introduced, included a provision in the compensation feature of the bill under which soldiers could have commuted or cashed in their benefits for a lump sum, this commutation being in full if desirability be not over 30 per cent, and if over 30 per cent, then the commutation being upon the basis of one-half the compensation. If this provision had remained in the bill, thousands of soldiers would have lost all benefits through the schemes of some sharks and get-rich-quick concerns which would make the soldiers their prey. This would have meant that after the soldiers and their families had endured hardships for ten or fifteen years, the government would restore their compensation and in that way add to its expenditures untold millions of dollars. Congressman French, of Idaho, called attention to the weakness in the bill and on his motion the provision was eliminated, leaving the payments to be made in installments.

POLICIES OF THE WAR LABOR BOARD

RIGHT OF UNIONIZED WORKERS TO BARGAIN WITH EMPLOYERS IS UPHELD BY IT.

BETTER CONDITIONS SOUGHT

Great Storage Lumber Depot Opened at Gilmerton, Va.—Conservation of Kerosene Is Urged—Allies' Bombing Planes Now Work in Squadrons.

(From Committee on Public Information.)
Washington.—The war labor policies board has made no rulings, it is announced, making it impossible to change rates of wages or working conditions in industry during the standardization of such pay and conditions for war work. The board does not seek to place restrictions on labor, but is striving to better conditions that will make for satisfaction and greater efficiency.

Enunciating its principles the war labor policies board is committed to the right of workers to organize into trade unions and to bargain collectively with their employers; continuance of existing union standards with the right of the workers to obtain better conditions, wages and hours under decisions of the national war labor board; equal pay for equal work, whether performed by men or by women; recognition of the basic eight-hour day where a law requires it but settlement of all questions of hours of work with due regard to government necessities and the welfare of the workers; maintenance of the maximum of production; due regard for labor standards, wages and other conditions in particular localities; the right of all workers to a living wage, insuring health and reasonable comforts.

Felix Frankfurter, chairman of the war labor policies board, makes this further explanation of the resolution of the board setting forth its principles: "Inasmuch as wage stability was recognized as the essential need by labor and by the government the purpose of the resolution was to prevent changes in the standards which had been created either through an adjustment board such as the labor wage adjustment board of the emergency fleet corporation, or the arsenal and navy yard standards, or the standards which govern the cantonment adjustment board, but under no circumstances was it intended to prevent the lifting of wage scales in specific instances up to the standards."

There were no aerial bombing organizations in the allied flying corps during the first year of the war. Practically all the work in the air was in the nature of observation. No pilots could be spared for anything else. Today probably 25 per cent of the aerial arms are bombing squadrons of 12 machines per squadron.

The first bombing was done by volunteer pilots who flew over the German lines and dropped three or four bombs, made from artillery shells, on concentration camps and cantonments. Showers of small steel arrows were spilled sometimes on convoys, troop trains and bodies of massed men. The Germans began day bombing of cities in 1915, and the allies bombarded Karlsruhe in reprisal later in the same year. Since then evolution in organized bombing developed rapidly and the French began night bombing, but this was not undertaken by the Germans until August, 1916.

At the present time large groups, including several squadrons of bombing machines, go over the lines from time to time and completely destroy their objective, be it a city or a camp, a column of troops or a trench system. Unfortunately the allies' air forces have to travel for many miles over hostile territory defended by anti-aircraft guns to attack German cities, while the enemy can attack French cities by flying only a short distance beyond the allied lines.

The allies are developing large bombing planes which carry sufficient fuel for long excursions and armament to protect them when they are attacked by fighting airplanes. Bombing squadrons are escorted usually over the lines by fast fighting squadrons of 18 planes to a squadron, and then left to their own devices, for the fighters seldom carry sufficient fuel to permit them to accompany the bombers on the round trip.

The dropping of the bomb is similar to shooting a rifle. First you set your sights and wind gauge, you hold the rifle properly, and finally you pull the trigger at the proper moment. If your ammunition is standard your sights correct, you hit the target. So with bombing. If you set your sights correctly, fly your plane correctly over the objective and drop the bomb at the proper time you will hit the target. If the ammunition manufacturers gave you good bombs the objective will be destroyed.

The United States will be short of potash next year. Estimates for 1918 show an available supply of about 500,000 tons of potash salts, or only about half of the normal imports before the war. Commercial fertilizer concerns must bear the brunt of the shortage.

The army needs straw, says the bureau of markets, department of agriculture. Farmers are urged to bale the straw immediately after thrashing, and the bureau of markets will help to market it if asked.

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.—Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left rib. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days. I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go. I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me."

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle. I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR THOMAS E. KILBY of Anniston

The Only Candidate for GOVERNOR

Who Favors the National Prohibition Amendment
A Vote for Mr. Kilby Means That Saloons Could Not Get Back Into Alabama

ENDORSEMENT OF STATE RATIFI- CATION CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE.

To the Voters of Alabama:

The people of Alabama today are debating what we believe to be the greatest moral, social and economic issue that has ever been brought up for decision at the polls in this State, the issue being whether or not the manufacture, sale and transportation for sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes shall be forever prohibited by the Government of the United States through an amendment to our Federal Constitution.

The Amendment Ratification committee was created for the purpose of furthering the cause of ratification of the Amendment by the legislature of Alabama, and while we feel confident that the State of Alabama will follow in the footsteps of the other states that have already ratified by overwhelming majorities, we recognize that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and that we are fighting an organized enemy who neglect no detail in an effort to attain their selfish ends, namely: To perpetuate the legal sale of liquor for purposes of revenue by corporations that have fattened their coffers off the ills of mankind.

Hence, we have urged the good people of the State who really believe liquor to be the "bane of civilization" to cast their ballots for representatives in the two houses of the State Legislature who will vote for ratification; and, inasmuch as the incoming Governor always has had great influence with the legislative branch of the Government, we believe it of the utmost importance that a chief executive should be elected in harmony with the Legislature. We, therefore, feel it our duty to give our whole-hearted endorsement to Hon. Thomas E. Kilby, of Anniston, Ala., the only candidate for Governor who stands flat-footedly for prohibition and the ratification of the amendment. While Mr. Kilby is fighting hard for the amendment, all his opponents are using their influence against it.

As Mayor in his home town, as State Senator from Calhoun and as Lieutenant Governor of the State, Mr. Kilby has been a courageous, forceful and consistent fighter for the prohibition laws as they now stand on our statutes. He early declared for National Prohibition as a war measure and when the Amendment was submitted to the several states he very promptly took a stand consistent with his past record.

We believe, therefore, that the best interests of prohibition in Alabama will be served through the nomination of Mr. Kilby in the State Primary on August 13th, and hereby give him our unqualified indorsement for the high office he seeks, believing that the true and loyal prohibitionists of the State should vote for him and him alone as their choice for Governor, as a second choice vote will kill the effect of their franchise, and give comfort to the enemy.

The Ratification Committee has not heretofore taken this attitude toward the gubernatorial campaign; but, as the campaign has progressed, the activities of the candidates for Governor whether so intended or not, are either directly hostile to, or else a political and moral handicap upon the successful outcome of the great cause to which we are most solemnly pledged.

(Signed) James Weatherly, W. R. Hilliard, C. P. Beddow, Hill Ferguson, M. M. Ullman, Russell Hunt, Geo. B. Tarrant, W. Thornton Estes, Wm. H. Stockham, Borden Burr.

KILBY IS SOLID AT HOME

The people of Calhoun, his home county, endorsed Tom Kilby on the opening of his speaking campaign at the New Noble last night, and in resolutions that were adopted unanimously by the large audience present in a rising vote, they set forth their esteem in one of the finest testimonials ever given any man. The resolution follows:

Be It Resolved by a mass meeting of the citizens of Calhoun County, Alabama, that Whereas, the Hon. Thomas E. Kilby, of Calhoun County, Alabama, is a candidate for the office of Governor of the State of Alabama, and Whereas, we, his fellow-citizens, neighbors and friends, know of his sterling character, his pre-eminence in life without wealth, influence or backing, and by virtue of intellect, ability and character, rise to the position of one of Alabama's strongest, ablest and most distinguished sons; and Whereas, we have seen him as Mayor of Anniston, as State Senator from this district, and as Lieutenant Governor of the State, give most abundant evidence of possessing all the qualifications of a great chief executive; Now, therefore, be it Resolved, That we unanimously commend his candidacy to the voters of the State of Alabama, and give them our assurance that Calhoun County offers the State of Alabama a candidate for Governor who possesses the greatness of heart, greatness of mind and greatness of character essential in a great chief executive of a great state.

Nothing can be added to those words. They express the sentiments of the preachers, teachers, lawyers, doctors, judges, journalists, laboring men, farmers, bankers and business men generally who thronged the auditorium of the theatre to make known their stand in the present campaign. They are the expressions of neighbors and friends.

Tom Kilby is as certain to be Alabama's next Governor as is the kaiser to be driven from the throne of Germany—and there can be no room for argument about that.—Editorial from Anniston Star.

A LETTER FROM DR. J. H. FOSTER BROTHER OF JUDGE H. B. FOSTER.

In a letter dated June 16th, 1918, Dr. Foster, who has known Mr. Kilby for 23 years, 14 years of which he lived as his neighbor in Anniston, said:

Mr. Kilby is a man of unimpeachable integrity. He is honest, straightforward, sober, business-like, always meeting faithfully and consistently the responsibilities of life.

Were I a citizen of Alabama today I would give Mr. Kilby my unequivocal endorsement and if any word of mine shall cause any man to cast his vote for him I shall feel that I have rendered a service to my native state.

(Signed) J. H. FOSTER,
President Bessie Tift College,
Forsythe, Ga.

And the following statements are from resident pastors in Anniston. The first is from the Rev. Charles C. Davidson, Baptist Camp Pastor at Camp McClellan:

Not only is Mr. Kilby a prohibitionist, he is a man of wide and successful business experience and ability, a man needed just at this time to steer Alabama out of debt. On the ground that he is the only prohibitionist in the race and that he has made a success in a business and financial way and that he is a man of character the Evangelical Ministers' Association of Anniston recently gave Mr. Kilby their unqualified endorsement. This Association is composed of Doctors Latimer and Claxton, Baptists; Dr. Hodges, Presbyterian; Dr. Matthews, Methodist and others. These gentlemen were also present and took part in the mass meeting recently when the citizens of Anniston present unanimously endorsed Mr. Kilby for Governor of Alabama. A man that has the unqualified endorsement of his home and town and county can be trusted. And only such a man should be honored with the highest office in our State.

The following is from the Rev. K. N. Matthews, pastor of the First M. E. church, Anniston:

In politics as well as in religion I am always ready to give a reason for the faith that is in me.

Many times during the last six months, I have been asked "Whom will you support for Governor?" Unhesitatingly I have replied, "Kilby." I shall support him—

First: Because he stands for what is for the best interest of the people of the state and nation. His position on public questions is clearly defined. He did not have to tour the state several months to know where he stood.

Second: He is a business man. No state ever needed a man for Governor capable of placing it upon a solid financial basis, more than the State of Alabama today. He is the only successful business man in the race.

Third: He believes in enforcing the law. His record as Mayor of Anniston shows no doubt on this point.

Fourth: Next to the winning of the war, the greatest question before the American people is the Prohibition Amendment to the constitution of the United States. Other candidates may favor county or state-wide prohibition, but the issue today is National Prohibition. If the contest in the legislature is close, the Governor's influence can, and possibly will, be the determining factor. Kilby is the only man for Governor who favors this amendment.

For this reason, I shall cast my vote on August 13th for Thomas E. Kilby, the next Governor of Alabama.

PROHIBITIONISTS HAVE NO SECOND CHOICE FOR GOVERNOR. THOMAS E. KILBY IS THE ONLY PROHIBITION CANDIDATE—THE LAW DOES NOT COMPEL A VOTER TO VOTE A SECOND CHOICE.

CURE FOR DYSENTERY.

"While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman overheard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Whitelaw, of Des Moines, Iowa. "He told me in detail of what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he did, and fully believes that by doing so saved the life of his child. He states that he had used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results."

Arthur Tippet, who enlisted in the United States Navy about a year ago, is at home spending his two-weeks furlough. Arthur says he likes sailor life fine, and from his looks it agrees with him mighty well.

COUNTRY AND OF OUR ALLIES

The need of platinum in war industries and in the sciences is explained by Dr. Charles L. Parsons, chief chemist, bureau of mines, department of the interior, in an argument for discontinuance of the use of platinum in jewelry.

"The war cannot be won without platinum," says Doctor Parsons, "and it is equally essential in times of peace if our country is to excel Germany in the development of chemical science and industry. With the aid of platinum from one ordinary wedding ring, about 100 pounds of nitric acid can be made every 24 hours. This 100 pounds of nitric acid converted into high explosives will send a number of three-inch shells against the Germans and help to bring the boys back home.

"Platinum rings, pins, cigarette cases, and mesh bags are not factors in winning this war—explosives are. wonder if the purchasers and wearers of platinum jewelry know that explosives cannot be manufactured without the use of sulphuric and nitric acids; that the manufacture of these acids requires the use of supplies of platinum; that airplanes must have platinum for important instruments they need; that platinum is absolutely necessary in the manufacture of special pyrometers; that pyrometers are necessary in all steel treatments; and that no guns can be made without the use of pyrometers.

"There is a shortage in the supply of platinum. Russia has a corner on the world's supply, and Germany is in Russia. Our domestic production of platinum is negligible, while our military requirements are increasing at a rapid rate."

Many housewives have learned from sad experiences in loss of perishable foods that next to the ice is not the coldest place in the home refrigerator. To the housewife who has not had this experience the food administration gives this advice:

"Many put their butter and milk right next to the ice because they think this is the coldest place, but, as a matter of fact, the coldest place is at the bottom of the refrigerator. Hot air rises and air that is not being constantly purified by circulation around the blocks of ice soon is unfit to come into contact with the food. When the warm air in the refrigerator rises it carries with it impurities and moisture which are absorbed from the surface of the food and which if allowed to remain in the air spoil the food. The air which is warmed by passing over the food comes in contact with the ice, where the moisture is condensed upon the surface and the impurities are carried off by the melting ice. The air is thus dried, cooled and purified. The cooled air immediately descends to gather up more moisture and impurities and thus the process is repeated continually.

"It is advisable to allow heated food to cool off before placing it in the refrigerator. If put in when warm it raises the temperature of the refrigerator higher than it should go and melts ice unnecessarily. The trapdoor through which the mintage passes out at the bottom of the refrigerator should be kept in place, because if it is broken or lost a constant stream of warm air is allowed to flow into the refrigerator."

The war department has opened a great storage lumber depot at Gilmer, Va., to meet emergency demands of the army for lumber. Through its operation it is estimated that a yearly saving of approximately $250,000 will be effected.

Whenever army constructors in the past were required to buy additional lumber the purchases were made at yards in the immediate vicinity. The average increase in price for this material over the lumber originally purchased for the job would run from $9 to $12 per 1,000 feet. By purchasing in large quantities and charging only for yard maintenance the greater part of this excess price is expected to be saved to the government.

A stock of from twelve to fifteen million feet of lumber will be carried, and it is estimated that the yearly turnover will amount to between fifty and sixty million feet. A fund of $500,000 has been set aside by the war department for use by the construction division of the army as necessary working capital for the yard.

The supply of kerosene will run short next winter and the government is urging every user to do his part toward making every gallon to do full war duty by giving forth its full measure of light and heat. Saving can be accomplished, it is said, only if care is given lamps, lanterns, heaters and stoves.

The director of oil conservation of the United States fuel administration issues these rules for fuel-oil saving: Keep all lamps and lanterns clean. Let the light out; don't confine it behind smoked and dirty chimneys.

See that burners and wicks of all oil-burning devices are clean. Clean burners require less oil and give better lights.

Don't allow a lamp, lantern, heater or stove to burn a minute longer than is necessary. Don't light one you can do without.

Don't use coal oil for cleaning purposes. Hot water will do the work.

Girls are helping in airplane production by splicing cables and in other ways, according to H. E. Miles, chairman of the section for industrial training for war emergency of the council of national defense.

Do Not Get Careless With Your Blood Supply

Impurities Invite Disease.

You should pay particular heed to any indication that your blood supply is becoming sluggish, or that there is a lessening in its strong and vital force.

WORTH $1,000 A BOTTLE IS VALUE CHATTANOOGA MAN PLACES ON VIN HEPATICA

"I wouldn't take $1,000 for what one bottle of Vin Hepatica has done for me," says Mr. L. A. Cantrell, aged 75, chair worker of Miller avenue, Chattanooga, Tenn.

"It is worth $1,000 a bottle. I have been troubled with kidneys for years, catarrh of the head and stomach.
After eating a few bites my stomach would swell up like a pumpkin. I had the cramps, was fluky, had to be up almost every hour of the night on account of the condition of my bowels.

"But Vin Hepatica has changed all that. I don't have to get up at all in the night. I now eat potatoes, beans, onions—anything. I had about decided I could not now live another week, but after I saw in the papers what Vin Hepatica had done for others in the same fix, I thought I would try it and now feel better than I have felt in forty years. Have put in 2½ days solid work this week and am going to start in for full time Monday.

"I have passed my 75th year and I could not have held up much longer the way I was troubled. But Vin He-patica was certainly a life-saver to me and I heartily recommend it to my friends."

The fact is, Vin Hepatica is a Nature medicine and not a patent nostrum. It is a combination of eight of the finest herbal remedies known to medical science, remedies which are prescribed nearly every day by the leading physicians of the world, and they are all combined into one great Nature medicine for the kidneys, liver, stomach and bowels, and for toning up the system. Nothing is finer for anyone who is troubled with the stomach or weak and run down condition.

We strongly recommend this great Nature remedy. Come and get a bottle and try it, on our recommendation.
You will like it and it will do you good.

Judge Charles B. Teasley

Teasley's Phenomenal Gain in Strength Astounds the Whole State

CHARLES B. TEASLEY, of Montgomery, has leaped into the very forefront of the race for Governor. His astounding gains in the past two weeks have amazed the State. More and more clearly every day it can be seen that it is either Kilby or Teasley. The race is between these two. Teasley is gaining ground every day. His campaign is based on the soundest principles and most sensible platform ever submitted to Alabama voters by a candidate for Governor. He is the logical man to defeat Kilby; he is the man who can put the State on its feet financially. Here are twelve calm, sensible reasons why every voter should cast his ballot for Teasley. Read them, study them, compare them with the glittering generalities offered by other candidates:

Reason No. 1

Charles B. Teasley, of Montgomery, should be elected Governor because his record as a private citizen and public official proves his capabilities to handle the affairs of the State.

Reason No. 2

Teasley should be elected because the people of his home County, who know him well, have thought enough of his ability to elect him Tax Collector of Montgomery County twice without opposition; because these same people have elected him Probate Judge of Montgomery County twice without opposition. Having been faithful over a few things, to paraphrase the Scripture, he deserves to be placed in charge of many things.

Reason No. 3

Teasley should be elected because he is the only candidate who has carefully thought-out, sane, sound, constructive policy for handling the affairs of the State and has given it fully, frankly and freely to the people that they might judge of his fitness for office. He is the only candidate who does not confine himself to glittering generalities, but offers to the people definite, specific recommendations of changes in managing the State's business.

Reason No. 4

Teasley should be elected because he has mapped out a splendid plan to reduce the floating debt and put the State on a cash basis; a plan that will increase the State's income, reduce its outgo, eliminate waste and inefficiency and make the State's business as well managed as private business; a plan that will furnish the revenue to run the State economically and wisely and produce a surplus annually to cut down the State's debt.

Reason No. 5

Teasley should be elected because he advocates an act that will extend the present tax values for eight years, producing the revenues essential to the State without increasing the burden of the taxpayer. Teasley's plan would eliminate the feeling of antagonism between the State and the taxpayer; it would provide an equalization that would not result in raising the assessment in every case where equalization was attempted.

Reason No. 6

Teasley should be elected because he would make the common school terms uniform in every County in the State, so that every white child in the State would have an equal opportunity for an education, regardless of the County in which he lived. He would appropriate money from the general fund, if necessary, to provide a uniform school term for all the Counties, and he would develop the public school lands containing coal, operate them with State convicts and thus produce money for the school fund.

Reason No. 7

Teasley should be elected because he would abrogate (Paid Political Advertisement by Teasley Campaign Committee, H. R. Shorter, Secretary, Exchange Hotel, Montgomery, Alabama.)

the fee system, without the necessity of Constitutional amendments, and place all officers on a uniform basis throughout the State, by having all of them receive stated salaries, provided by law, with allowance for help sufficient to conduct their offices. Only sufficient fees to defray salaries and expenses would be collected from the people under this plan.

Reason No. 8

Teasley should be elected because, though a strong believer in local option,—the right of the people to govern themselves,—he favors the retention of the present prohibition laws, rather than to inject into a political campaign in war time issues that would tend to inflame the passions of the people. Teasley opposes the ratification of the Federal prohibition amendment because it would surrender the right of the State to determine its own policies and would surrender the enforcement of the criminal laws of the State to the Federal government.

Reason No. 9

Teasley should be elected because he advocates a plan by which the convicts of the State could be placed on the roads gradually, withdrawing them from competition with free labor and that without increasing the expenses of the State in handling its prisoners. He advocates using convict labor on the roads to pay the State's part of the Federal appropriation for building roads. This would produce more and better roads, save money to the State and put the convicts on the roads.

Reason No. 10

Teasley should be elected because his high character, established through years of righteous administration of public affairs, would be a guarantee of efficient, honest service to the people of the State. Teasley would go into office under obligations to no man and no interest.
Teasley is managing his own campaign, assisted by secretaries, to whom he is under no political obligation of any kind.

Reason No. 11

Teasley should be elected because he has not and will not solicit or accept any campaign contributions from any source whatsoever. His platform contains this pledge: "The legitimate expenses of the campaign will be paid out of my own resources, so that if I am elected, I will be in a position to act upon all matters without fear or favor, in the interest of the people."

Reason No. 12

Teasley should be elected because his record and his platform pledges guarantee a business administration of the State's affairs; because he has studied the needs of the State as a member of the State Senate, as a County Tax Collector, as a Probate Judge; because he has the courage to advocate the measures that will ultimately lift the State out of the quagmire of debt and restore its credit to the highest plane; because his character is a guarantee that he will carry out the things he has publicly advocated to the very limit of his energy and ability.

IN MEMORY

On the afternoon of July 16th, at 2:00 o'clock, the spirit of Mrs. Elizabeth Marlar took its flight to the Celestial City to be with the Redeemed.
She was 89 years old last April.
Was left a widow shortly after the Civil War, with three children to rear, which duty she performed faithfully; also she was a great help to her sisters in rearing their children.
They, with her own children, lived to call her blessed.

"Aunt Betsy" as she was called,
was a member of Mars Hill Church.
She was a true Christian woman, and was loved by all who knew her. We have never known her to speak evil of anyone. Have often thought that she had learned the great lesson that we should all learn—that is, to speak evil of no one.

"Aunt Betsy" lived a useful life and up to a ripe old age; and was ready when God called her. She praised God while on her death bed.
She called her children to her and told them she was ready to go. She leaves two sons, George and John Marlar, and one daughter, Mrs. H.
Z. Barnes, and a host of relatives and friends to miss her—will not say to mourn her loss—for she is not lost, but just gone ahead of those who are left here. She was the last of a large family to go over the River of Death.

Weep not, dear loved ones. Aunt Betsy is waiting on the other shore for us, and that thought should console us and draw us nearer to God.
One more treasure in Heaven. We thank God for such noble lives to guide us.

She was laid to rest in Mars Hill Cemetery on the 17th of July.

Nausea, nervousness, bearing-down and stretching pains and other symptoms so familiar to many women are among the dreaded experiences thousands of mothers say they entirely escape by the use of this famous remedy.

Its influence on the fine network of nerves and ligaments just beneath the skin is wonderful.

By the regular use of Mother's Friend during the period the muscles are made and kept soft and elastic; they expand easily, without strain, when baby is born and the pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less.

Mother's Friend is for external use only.
It is sold by all druggists, and should be used with the utmost regularity. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg.,

MR. HUBBARD WRITES

Jemison, Ala.

Mr. Editor:

As the primary election is drawing near, and feeling a deep and abiding interest in the welfare of Chilton County and the success of the Republican party, I wish to say a few words to the public through your interesting paper.

In our country, the people rule. It would seem strange to be otherwise. No party has ever presented to us a higher ideal than for the people to rule. May it always be that way.

We have before us candidates for the various offices. Among these are men who are true as steel. No finer material in the county to select from. They are men who love the principles of the Republican party—the party of Lincoln and Roosevelt. Then let us all go out to the primary and vote for the men of our choice, then after the party has spoken all of us in one solid phalanx will rally to the support of the nominees, led on by the unsuccessful candidates, who will thus prove themselves men indeed.

But in advance, we can congratulate the man from Stumps Hills and Mr. Middleton, as they have no opposition.

Yours for success,

T. J. HUBBARD.

FINAL APPEAL BY GILLESPIE AS CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 6, 1918.

To the voters of Chilton County:

When I made my announcement as a candidate for Sheriff of Chilton County, it was then my intention to see each voter in person and present my claim, but as the work of the Sheriff's office has been exceedingly heavy for the last two months, and the Sheriff having to devote practically all of his time to the work of the Locan Board, I have been prevented seeing you as I hoped to do. Taking the above into consideration, I felt it my duty to first give my time to the work of the office, and this has practically taken all of my time. Now, as the primary is only a few days off, it will be impossible for me to see you personally, so I take this method of presenting my claim for your consideration and soliciting your vote and influence in my behalf in the coming election. In making my announcement for the above office I do so with a full realization of the duties and responsibilities which are attached thereto, and with a full determination to perform said duties without fear or favor, and at the same time to see that each and every one who shall be dealt with through the office shall receive fair and impartial treatment. As the Sheriff's office is an executive office and the Sheriff is an executive officer, it is not left to his discretion to say what laws are to be executed and what shall not; and if I am nominated and elected, I will see that all laws are enforced regardless of person or persons. I have acted as Chief Deputy Sheriff for the last three and one half years, and during this time, have had much experience, which I feel will greatly enable me to perform the duties of the office. And during this time I have had many matters which required the exercise of my own discretion and judgment, and in dealing with these matters, I have always tried to give fair and just treatment.

If nominated and elected, I will still pursue the same course in dealing with matters that come before me. As to my party loyalty, I feel that it is useless for me to take up time and space in trying to inform you along this line, as all know that I have always been a Republican and done everything in my power for the success of the Republican party and the interest of the common people.

Again soliciting your vote and influence in the primary on August 13, and assuring you that if I am nominated I shall do all in my power to be elected in November. But should the choice of the people be for another, I will do all in my power to elect him and the entire Republican ticket. I remain,

Yours very respectfully,

WALTER H. GILLESPIE.

(Paid political adv., by W. H. Gillespie, Clanton, Ala.)

CHILTON MASONS MEET

The Chilton County Masonic Conference was in session last Monday. The attendance was large and it was a very successful conference.

Prof. J. M. Pearson of Alexander, City, Ala., was the instructor of the conference. He is a well-informed Mason and has but few superiors as an instructor in the State.

The next meeting of the conference will be held with the Thorsby Lodge at Thorsby, Ala.

A STRIKING EXAMPLE OF "GERMAN KULTUR"

He was an American and one of those boys who was the life of the company, always cheerful and always making the rest grin just by reason of his presence.

One night he had to stand at an outpost alone, a dangerous place. About midnight he signalled the approach of a party of Germans. His comrades could not find him anywhere. They looked and looked, and then gave him up for lost, though they knew he never would be taken prisoner.

Next morning they found his body beten until it was almost unrecognizable. Beside it was a club, the end of which was wound with barbed wire, the weapon the barbarians had used to batter his body when they killed him.

Near him were the bodies of three Germans he had killed before they got him. In their haste to get away from the outrage the Germans had left these three bodies.

There is one company of Americans that will never forgive Germany.

FAVORS DUKE FOR COMMISSN'R

Editor Union-Banner.

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words to the voters of Chilton County, in behalf of Mr. A. D. Duke, for Commissioner of the Second District. I have been personally acquainted with him for thirty five years, and know him to be a fine man, and believe he would make the people a good officer for the place he seeks.

Yours truly,

W. J. MORRIS.

Our good friend and correspondent, Z. J. Jones, was in to see us last Saturday. We were very glad to see Mr. Jones as he has always been a faithful friend of the Union-Banner and has never failed to lend us his unstinted aid.

THE ONLY PROHIBITION CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Every Prohibitionist in Alabama knows Mr. Kilby's position on any and all questions. We have no second choice vote for Governor.

THE LAW DOES NOT COMPEL A VOTER TO VOTE
A SECOND CHOICE VOTE. IF YOU VOTE A SECOND CHOICE VOTE FOR GOVERNOR YOU MAY KILL YOUR FIRST CHOICE.

NEED OF TRAINED AND EDUCATED MEN AND WOMEN

The Need of Trained Men and Women Greater Now, and Continues To Increase.

We have heard of the sage report which places Alabama literacy at the bottom. We are being confronted with the real disadvantage and shame of it all in real life now.

As long as our young men and young women remained at home with the friends and acquaintances of their childhood, the disparity of their training did not stand out in such bold relief. As long as the pathway of our life leads us into competition only with those who have had like training and culture as ourselves, we may be able to hold our own and our chances of preferment will not depend in so large a degree upon our educational attainments.

But when conditions are such that the sphere of our activities is either enlarged or removed to other localities and climes where we are compelled to fit ourselves against those who have had superior advantages either of mental or physical training, but utter helplessness appears and serves both to discourage and to put us to shame.

Now, exactly this thing has happened in the last two and a half years, and will continue to happen in an increased ratio until the war is over, and then in truth and reality, will overwhelm us in the decade immediately following the close of this terrible conflict. We have young men from Alabama today in the army as brave as the bravest that ever shouldered musket and marched away to battle, who are illiterate, who in the days of their youth were not given the opportunity of an education. They cannot stand on an equal with the eastern and northern men who have been trained. We have boys from Chilton County who must take their life into their hands every moment of the day and the night face to face with a foe that has been trained from childhood in the arts and the sciences, and know how to take every advantage for his own protection and preservation. We have our brave sons fitted against this wily and trained foe, relentless, crafty, remorseless, unprincipled. We say and the truth of all the shameful terms, but because the more apparent when we try to find words to express our feelings, but the fact remains that he is trained, and to take equal risk with these trained men are many of our own who cannot read the figures on the sight of their rifles or calculate an angle that he may have an equal chance to hit him when he shoots. You say this is a terrible arraignment. IT IS, and somebody is far more guilty than these young men who must now reap the consequences. Somebody's parents failed them. Father, was it you? If so, have you other sons and daughters? Will you fail them also? Father, have you spent money for luxuries and now essentials that ought to have been spent on the education of your child, and then to placate your child.

Have you grumbled about your high taxes and being poor, and that all the world has been robbing you and keeping you too poor to educate your children. If so, come up before the bar of your own conscience, plead guilty and get right with yourself and your child.

Now a word to our boys and girls who are yet at home and have an opportunity to get an education. What is your attitude toward yourself and toward humanity in this crucial hour? Have you stopped to think that you owe a debt to this world and to every creature in it? This is the fast, that places your life in this position. Have you thought that you must be and are either an asset or a liability? You must either put something into the storehouse of humanity, or you are drawing on that store. You have no use for a slacker. You are ready to point the finger of scorn at him. This you ought to do. No name in all the vocabularies of the races are capable of expressing our loathsome disgust, but wait a minute. What constitutes him a slacker. You say it is his refusing to stand up to his duty. You say that he is unwilling to do his part—that he is leaving his work for others while he seeks only his ease and pleasure. You have answered correctly, and I commend you for it; but listen now. That cowardly, ease-seeking, selfish, despicable being is no whit more guilty than you are, if you fail to make the most competent man or woman that you are capable of being. Young America must rebuild the world when these days of courage and slaughter are over. The men in the armies today are paying their allegiance to humanity by saving Christian civilization for you. Those who remain at home are squaring their accounts with humanity by making it possible for the heroes at the front to win. Then where do you of the younger generation come in for your share in the glorious service? It is just here. You must educate yourselves and be prepared to go in and take the reins of the battle scanned continents and transform them into our Eden of beauty and fertility. It is you who must beat the swords into plowstocks and manufacture the cannon into tractors. You must transform the trenches into aqueducts and the battle fields into farms; the shambles into store houses and the aviation hangars into barns. Whose is the greater task? It is yours. You must be a hero if you are to win. The next very few years will show what you are made of. I today summon the young manhood and womanhood of Chilton County to the bar of your judgment, and as best I can, call on you to see your opportunity and beg you with all the earnestness of my soul to make good before a world which has its eyes on you.

The next session of your county high school will open on September 4. We have equipment and teaching force for about one hundred and you are prepared to do high school work, to come. It does not matter who you are or where you are from, if your character is good and your skin is white, I promise you that all shall be done for you that a corps of trained teachers can do to help you be able to pay your debt to the world.

I want every citizen of Chilton County to read this article. I want every boy and girl in the county to read it. Then, when you have thought about it matter, if you can help, call on me. I am yours to command. My only business or ambition is to serve my people.

H. C. McDONALD,

Prin. Chilton Co. High School.

JOHN L. GORE WRITES

To the People of Chilton County:

The race for nomination of the next Sheriff of our county is about to come to a close, and I take this method of again thanking my friends who have interested themselves in my candidacy and who have so generously manifested their support, and to ask that they continue to talk and work to the time of the election.

The people of the County have not been aroused in interest so much in this primary as they ordinarily are, because their hearts and minds have been on the war. I am glad that the people of the county are so enthusiastically behind our boys in France, and am glad that they regard, as I do, the winning of the war, the foremost and most important duty we as American citizens have to perform.

We should not, however, lose sight of the necessity of electing good men to the various offices of the county. That is the duty that should be met as heartily as other duties that confront us, and I want to ask that every Republican voter in the county go to the polls on August 13 and vote for the man of his choice.

My candidacy for the nomination of Sheriff of our county is before you for consideration. You know me as a man and as an officer. I know of nothing that I might say that would add anything to my reputation as an officer and character as a man. I have conducted a clean campaign; have refrained from injecting dirty politics into the race and have not indulged in "mud-slinging" of any kind. I have not tried to deceive the voters, but have taken them into my confidence. I am seeking to be elected upon my own merits as an officer and as a man.

If I am nominated and elected Sheriff, I promise the people that I will make them an able and efficient Sheriff; one who will enforce all the laws all the time, without fear or favor, and such a Sheriff that the people who vote for me will not regret it after I am in office.

While I feel confident that I will be nominated on August 13 by a big majority, yet, if my opponent should win the nomination over me, I will bow to the will of the majority, and will do everything in my power to elect him at the general election in November. All good Republicans will do the same.

Yours for the success of the Republican party.

BRANDON FOR GOVERNOR

Can Only a Rich Man be Elected Governor of Alabama?

He cannot use great daily newspapers and pay for whole page advertisements, or flood the State with literature to buy the Governor's office.

Section 6630 of the Criminal Code of Alabama says a candidate cannot legally spend over $10,000. The governor's office of this great state is not for sale and should not be bought.

Judge Brandon is just a plain, lovable man who has spent his life for others. He puts his whole soul into anything that he undertakes. As Governor of Alabama the humblest widow without money and without friends would find a welcome entrance to his office as would the head of the richest corporation.

Brandon is going directly to the great masses of the people and asking them for their support.

Has the time come, as it may have been in the past, that the governorship of Alabama can be successfully sought by a rich man? Are the sons of those who toil to be forever denied to aspire to the highest office in the State? Can only a rich man be elected to the governorship of Alabama? Can a man start life as a driver of a mule cart through the street, pay his own way through school, and so live his life to bridge the gap and sit in the governor's chair at Montgomery? Would you shut the door of opportunity in the face of your own son?

Let the people of Alabama answer the challenge by electing Brandon to the governor's chair in August. And prove that the clink of gold is not the measure of men in Alabama.

Measured by this standard Woodrow Wilson would be teaching school today instead of being President.

GOOD ROADS MEETING HELD AT UNION GROVE

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you allow me space in your paper to report to the people of Chilton County a Good Roads Meeting held by the Commissioners and citizens of Union Grove. The following business was transacted:

First we elected Squire Waldrup Chairman, and T. J. Dorminey Secretary. After some discussion delegates were appointed from the First District to attend a Good Roads Meeting at Clanton, August 12, 1918 for the purpose of getting up some plan by which to work the public roads over the county. As we understand, 60 per cent of the road hands have gone to the army. We appointed two delegates from each Beat in the District.

T. J. DORMINEY.

PROTRACTED MEETING AT FRIENDSHIP CHURCH CLOSSES

Last Friday afternoon the ordinance of Baptism was administered to the candidates who united themselves to Friendship Church, a mile and a half north of town. There were six in number and the ceremony took place in a pool which was prepared at a spring just north of the church. This was the closing of a very successful and fruitful meeting of six days.

During the meeting fourteen united themselves with the church, making a total membership of forty-nine.

This church was organized only a year ago, and ever since its beginning its progress has been marvelous. It is located in a very progressive community, and the people all have the spirit which is essential and necessary for a good church. That spirit is unity. Everybody loves the church and they love each other, and each member is always found doing his best toward furthering its activities.

In connection with the regular twice-a-month preaching, they have a wide-awake little Sunday School. They meet every Sunday night for prayer services, and very encouraging crowds participate in the work.

MR. A. D. DUKE MAKES APPEAL

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 3, 1918.

In making my second appeal to the voters of Chilton County in the interest of my candidacy for the office of County Commissioner of the Second District of Chilton County, I wish to say that after due consideration I have come to the conclusion that under prevailing circumstances it would be to the interest of the county to dispense with our county demonstrators. Not that I wish to criticize the work of either, so far as I know, they have both held the positions to which they were appointed with distinction and honor, but under the present financial condition of our county, I think it would be to the interest of our County to dispense with their services after their present contracts are out.

I wish the people of good old Chilton will stop just one moment and think where are we drifting financially. Now, I wish to say in conclusion as I have said before, that if I am nominated and then elected, I shall endeavor to use all the economy I can in running the affairs of the county.

A. D. DUKE.

ENDORSEMENT TO J. L. GORE

Jemison, Ala., Aug. 6, 1918.

Please allow me a small space in your paper to express my views in regard to John Gore for Sheriff of Chilton County. First, will say I have nothing to say against anyone in the race for Sheriff, and second, will say that I have known John Gore all his life and have found him to be a clean moral man, and made a corn field goods, and therefore makes him know what a dollar is worth. I will say that he has always stood by his friends, and he has filled the place where he is now with pride and honor to the county. As you all know, he never forgets his friends in Clanton or out of Clanton. You always find him the same old John Gore with that smile on his face that wore when making the race for office. Also, he is a man that is tempered right—not too far over the mark either way.

Gentlemen, what I mean by this is that John Gore looks after his business and lets the other fellow do the same. He is a very mild man, goes after the law breakers and criminals of the county as his duty bears on him to do. He only turns the key on those who need it, then he goes after them with care, and arrests them in an honorable way. He only turns the key to fasten the hand cuffs on those who need it. In fact Mr. Gore treats the other fellow like he wants the other fellow to treat him.

In conclusion, will say that if we elect Mr. Gore as our Sheriff we will have a man who will fill the office with honor to himself and to the county who elects him.

Yours for a fair deal,

B. E. COLLUM.

COLLINS CHAPEL

As this is the last week before the primary election, I want to say a few words to the voters of the county in behalf of Mr. J. M. Mims, who is in the race for Commissioner.

I consider it my personal duty to inform the voters who are not personally acquainted with him, because I feel like after being personally acquainted with him so long, by saying a few words in his behalf. I may break the thread that lies between him and some other man in the race. Although, I do not deny that we have other good men in the race, I believe Mr. Mims feels the county is a friend to him and wants to be a helper in getting her out of the mud. Some, but few, think he will be too saving with the funds of Chilton, but he knows where and when to spend a dollar. I will close, hoping to elect him as a standard Commissioner.

A RARE OCCURRENCE

Never before in the history of Chilton County was County Court opened with singing, prayer and preaching.
But last Monday morning Rev. E. C.
Maye of the First Methodist Church, in response to the request of Judge L. H. Reynolds, was present at the opening of court and took charge of the opening ceremonies. After prayer and a song by the choir, Rev. Maye delivered a 45-minute sermon dealing principally on the Prohibition question. With the fact in view that 38 cases out of the docket of 45 were whiskey cases, Dr. Maye delivered a splendid sermon touching on these points.

This is a grand record for Judge Reynolds and also for Dr. Maye. It shows plainly where they stand in regard to whiskey, which is a question that needs forceful and immediate attention in our county and our country.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH US?

How are we going to account for having so many whiskey cases on our court docket this month? Is it because our officers are more closely executing the details of the law, or is it because more of our people are indulging in the nasty and deadly evil? We sincerely hope it is the former. But whichever one of these is the case, the question deserves our prayerful and earnest mind. Day after day we are coming closer and closer in touch with the fearful evils of whiskey. It is time for some definite action to be taken in the direction of saving our country and our home land.

The question for us to consider is:
"Why do our people continue to indulge in the things that are slowly but surely ruining themselves and seriously injuring everyone with whom they ever come in touch?" Well, here is the reason: It is because we continue to allow people to dictate our business to us—people who profess to have the welfare of us at heart, when all the while they are figuring for our destruction. A man that will himself, or will slightly help another, to evade the laws of our country, is a dangerous and non-deserving piece of plunder.
They are not fit to be leaders of a decent people; and so long as we allow them to sneak into our public affairs, there is going to be trouble.
The people of Chilton County are sensible and have sound and dependable judgment. Now, are we going to allow ourselves to be deceived by these kind of men—no they do not deserve to be called men—they are dogs? Will we sit idly by and let them dictate to us and fill us with poison that will ultimately, and very soon, lead us into hell? This is what they are figuring after, and I believe our people will be candid and thoughtful enough to let them know that we have some sense and judgment ourselves. Let us be sure that we know who is advising us, then go ahead.

Now, dear readers, these are questions that we are face to face with NOW. We have already slept too long, but it is not finally too late, if we will act and ACT NOW.

TELL US ABOUT IT

For some reason our correspondents are getting the least bit slack on sending in the happenings of their communities. Now, as you know, the life of a newspaper depends largely on the local news which it contains;
so if you want to get a good Banner you will have to help us make it good by sending us something from your community every week. The people around you will enjoy reading it and it will be an encouragement to you.

We are always glad to publish any news which is sent in to us from the rural communities of the county. So let us remember that if we give you a good newspaper, you will have to help us.

PROHIBITIONISTS, BEWARE!

Note extract from Anti-Amendist Handbook in regard to passage of the Prohibition Amendment.

"CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR"

"The next Governor, through his power of patronage, might induce weak legislators to support this Thing, if he is an Amendist subject to Anti-Saloon League domination. Elect no such man.
He will not stand by Alabama in anything if he stabs her in the back on this question."

Do you not think it is important to elect a Governor in favor of the Amendment and thus prevent such influence being used against the adoption of the Federal Amendment? Thomas E. Kilby is the only candidate in favor of,
and working for, the Amendment.

IN MEMORY OF PORTER M. PLIER

The following letter has been received by Mr. Charley Plier, father of the late Porter M. Plier, who was killed in action in France, June 18:
Headquarters 42nd Division,
June 18, 1918.

My Dear Mr. Plier:
It is with utmost regret that I inform you that your son, Private First Class, Porter M. Plier, Company A, 167 Infantry, was killed by shrapnel in action against enemy troops June 18, 1918.

I realize your irreparable loss in this, your sacred offering to the cause we all feel is so right and just, and hope that it may be some consolation to you to know that your son fulfilled with that splendid spirit and determination so characteristic of the American soldier his great part in this terrible drama. His memory will never be forgotten by his comrades.

A beautiful custom has been inaugurated here in France for the care of the resting places of our fallen comrades. Each grave is enclosed in a lattice-work and the inclosure planter with flowers. French children tend the graves and their innocent hands garnish the mounds where your boy sleeps.

Kindly accept my deepest condelence. Very sincerely,
Chas. T. Mendher,
Major General, U. S. A.
Commanding.

CLEARS GILLESPIE OF CHARGES

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 8, 1918.

To the voters of Chilton County:
It has been brought to my attention that reports are current over the county that W. H. Gillespie, Chief Deputy Sheriff, when arresting J. F. Hilyer, at Liberty Hill Church on July 2, 1918, for public
drunkenness, beat and bruised Hilyer, and also placed the hand cuffs on him while he was asleep. In justice to Mr. Gillespie, and that the truth may be known, I wish to state that I found Mr. Gillespie on the church grounds on the occasion, and told him that there was a man on the premises who was drunk and had been boisterous and that I wanted him looked after. Mr. Gillespie went immediately to Mr. Hilyer, and arrested him. As to beating or bruising
Mr. Hilyer, Mr. Gillespie did not in my presence strike and treat him roughly at all, and only did his duty as an officer and in the way it should be done.

Yours very truly,
REV. A. L. FOSHEE.

Mr. Varden's Statement.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 8, 1918.

To the voters of Chilton County:
It has been brought to my attention that reports are current over the county that W. H. Gillespie, Chief Deputy Sheriff, when making the arrest of J. F. Hilyer at Liberty Hill Church on July 2, 1918, for public
drunkenness, beat and bruised Hilyer, and placed the hand cuffs on him while he was asleep. In justice to Mr. Gillespie, and that the people may know the truth about the matter, I wish to state that I was present when the arrest was made, and know that Mr. Gillespie asked Mr.
Hilyer to go with him, and Mr. Hil-yer asked him where he was going to carry him. Gillespie told him that he was going to carry him to jail; and Mr. Hilyer began to resist arrest by pulling back and fighting
Mr. Gillespie. When he did Mr. Gillespie asked me to take hold of Mr.
Hilyer, and I did so. Then Mr. Gillespie placed the hand cuffs on him and carried him to the automobile and brought him to jail. Mr. Gillespie did not strike Mr. Hilyer at all, and certainly was justified in placing the hand cuffs on him; and Mr. Hilyer certainly was not asleep when he was hand cuffed.

I wish to state further that I have no interest in the matter except that the people may know the truth and that an officer of the law may be given justice when discharging his duty; and that is what Mr. Gillespie did on this occasion, and in a manly and gentlemanlike manner.

Yours very truly,
E. F. VARDEN.

lespie, Clanton, Ala.)

OFFICIAL REPORT OF SCHOOL TAX ELECTION

State of Alabama, Chilton County:
Before me, Grady Reynolds, Notary Public, in and for said county, in said State, personally appeared L.
H. Reynolds, Judge of Probate; S. E.
Waldrup, R. J. Williams, W. T. Herrod, and A. P. Vinson, Chilton County Commissioners; who being by me duly sworn, depose and say on oath that they met at the court house, Clanton, Alabama, July 17, 1918, at 12 M., being within four days since an election was held in School Districts No. 15, No. 44, and No. 65, all said school districts being in Chilton County, Alabama, for the purpose of determining whether or not a tax of thirty cents on every hundred dollars worth of the taxable property in School Districts No. 44 and 65, and whether or not a tax of twenty cents on each hundred dollars worth of taxable property in School District
No. 15, should be levied for public school purposes, in each of said District.

In School District No. 15, there were 38 votes for Proposed Tax, and 5 against Proposed Tax; making a majority of 33 for proposed tax.

In School District No. 44, there were 10 votes cast for Proposed Tax, and 0 votes against proposed tax;
making a majority of 10 for proposed tax.

In School District No. 65, there were 79 votes cast for proposed tax, and 50 were cast against proposed tax; making a majority of 29 votes for proposed tax.

We declare that a majority of all the votes cast in the above School Districts were for the proposed tax.

POLITICAL CANDIDATES

FOR SHERIFF

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, subject to the

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.—Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days...I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go...I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle...I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today. E 78

COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL OPENING

Principal H. C. McDonald, of the Chilton County High School announces that school will open on Wednesday, September 4. He says that indications are that there will be a very good school this time.

The same teachers that taught last year have been retained, with the exception of the music teacher. Dr. Norman will not return this year, but he will be succeeded by Miss Averitt of Birmingham.

A BILIOUS ATTACK

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be well as ever. They only cost a quarter.

SUGAR RULES FOR AUGUST

Merchants must not sell more than 2 pounds of sugar at any one time to persons in town, and 5 pounds to persons in the country. They must not sell more than 10 pounds for canning and preserving, and in no case can they sell any more for canning and preserving, where the parties have bought 25 pounds, for this is the limit to all for canning or preserving.

Everyone selling sugar must take a statement at time of sale from each customer, that they have not purchased sugar from all sources of more than two pounds per person per month.

You must have statement headed as above, have each customer sign at the time of sale, give number of pounds they buy, number in family, date of sale. I would suggest that you keep a long sheet with carbon so as to keep copy for your records, and you must send me at close of business each week one copy.

Now, I must insist that each retail merchant keep the above record, and file copy with me, and be sure and see that none of your customers buy more than they are allowed to buy.

Each person buying sugar must as near as possible, buy from the same place, and from their regular merchants. Under no conditions must anyone buy more than 2 pounds per person per month.

All merchants that do not send me statements once a week I will be compelled to stop them from selling any sugar.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Co. Food Adm.

TO IMPROVE YOUR DIGESTION

"For years my digestion was so poor that I could only eat the lightest foods. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them did I find the right treatment. Since taking them my digestion is fine."—Mrs. Blanchie Bowers, Indiana, Pa.

TO PARENTS AND GUARDIANS

The drive for better play and more inspiring out of school activities for children is on. Plans are rapidly developing in the States to make this recreation drive count for increasing health and vigor of the boys and girls of the United States, according to an announcement made by the Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor. One purpose of the drive is to make plain that the vigor of young people can be gauged by their ability to perform certain game tests and that their health can be increased by wholesome play.

A chairman for each school district will be appointed and announced later. At periods to be announced later, Patriotic Play Week will be observed in the different districts.

If your child is pale and sickly, picks at the nose, starts in the sleep and grinds the teeth while sleeping, it is a sure sign of worms. A remedy for these parasites will be found in WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE. It not only clears out the worms, but it restores health and cheerfulness. The price is 30c per bottle. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

CURE FOR DYSENTERY.

"While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman overheard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Whitelaw, of Des Moines, Iowa. "He told me in detail of what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he did, and fully believes that by doing so saved the life of his child. He states that he had used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results."

STOPS Nervousness

"I'm so nervous." How many women say that? But you don't need to be, and you'd better get over that case of nerves before it is too late.

Nervousness is very often simply indigestion. Because food is not properly digested, liver, kidneys and other organs are not properly nourished. They get weak and fail to carry off the poisons of the body, and gradually the nerves, because they have to be nourished the same as the rest of the body, become weakened and diseased.

To get your health back, begin taking Vin Hepatica, the great nature and nerve remedy and universal system purifier. Then the body will regain strength. "I was so nervous I could hardly bear for anyone to talk," is the way Miss Hazel Lancaster, of Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga., describes her case. And, of course, she was greatly troubled with indigestion.

Vin Hepatica completely restored her to health, and she never wears of telling her friends what it did for her. We can tell you of other cases, no less wonderful. We urge you to try it. We have recommended it to others and it hasn't failed to give relief yet.

LOUIS EASTERLING FOR GORE

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 7, 1918.
Editor Union-Banner:

I want to take this opportunity to say just a word to the Republicans of this county in behalf of John L. Gore for Sheriff. I have known Mr. Gore for years, and I know him to be a gentleman in every respect. Not long ago, I heard Judge Reynolds say that John Gore worked for him a number of years, kept his books and handled his cash, and that he knew John Gore was honest. I thought that a fine thing to say of a man. Gore was defeated for Sheriff last time and he stood like a man for the ticket. He does not claim to be the dady or mammy of the Republican party, but there is no better party man in the county than he is. Me and all my neighbors are for John Gore for Sheriff.

Respectfully,

Candidate for Governor

MAKES HIS LAST APPEAL TO THE MASSES OF THE PEOPLE

READ CAREFULLY BEFORE YOU CAST YOUR VOTE
TO THE PEOPLE OF ALABAMA:

On next Tuesday, August 13th, you will assemble at the voting places of the several counties of the State to select your public servants for the next four years. IN PERFORMING THIS IMPORTANT DUTY YOU SHOULD REMEMBER THAT FOR EVERY MISTAKE MADE AT THE BALLOT BOX YOU MUST PAY THE PENALTY. In this connection, I wish to submit this my last appeal as a candidate for Governor for your careful consideration:

In filing my announcement as a candidate for Governor with the Secretary of State, as required by law, I stated, in order that I may be free and unhampered in the discharge of the duties of the office, in the event of my election, I will manage my own campaign, assisted by secretaries, to whom I will be under no political obligations. I WILL NOT SOLICIT OR ACCEPT CAMPAIGN CONTRIBUTIONS FROM ANY SOURCE WHATSOEVER. The legitimate expenses of the campaign will be paid out of my own resources, so that if I am elected, I will be in a position to act upon all matters without fear or favor in the interest of the people. I HAVE KEPT THE FAITH. I HAVE NOT RECEIVED ONE CENT CAMPAIGN FUND FROM ANY SOURCE, NOR HAVE I MADE A SINGLE PROMISE TO ANY MAN UNDER THE CANOPY OF HEAVEN. Should you select me as your Governor for the next four years I will enter upon the duties of the office with no enemies to punish, no friends to reward, and no master to serve, save the masses of the people of my native State. No other candidate for Governor has made this pledge.

During the campaign I have endeavored to inform the voters of my position upon all of the more important matters which will demand the attention of the next administration. I HAVE DISCUSSED THE QUESTION OF TAXATION WHICH IS OF GREAT IMPORTANCE TO ALL OF US. The Fee System, Schools, Pensions and other matters of interest to the taxpayers are also discussed in my platform.

THE CONVICT SYSTEM TO MY MIND IS THE MOST IMPORTANT SO FAR AS PRODUCING REVENUE IS CONCERNED. If the public land owned by the schools of the State containing coal is developed by convict labor, as suggested by me, 25% of our convicts will produce sufficient revenue to maintain the entire department, leaving 75% of them to be worked on our public roads without cost to the taxpayers. In this way the millions of dollars now being made by large corporations on convicts will be returned to the people in road work and school funds. All of these matters are discussed at some length in my platform to which I invite your attention. No other candidate has made a similar suggestion.

There are several candidates for Governor, but in my opinion THE RACE IS BETWEEN MR. KILBY AND ME. The Anti-Saloon League and REV. BROOKS LAWRENCE HAVE ENDORSED MR. KILBY AND HE IS THE RECOGNIZED LEADER OF THOSE FAVORING THE ADOPTION OF THE AMENDMENT TO THE FEDERAL CONSTITUTION. THOSE OPPOSING THE AMENDMENT AND ADVOCATING STATE RIGHTS HAVE UNITED UPON ME. The issue is clearly drawn and unless Providence intervenes either Mr. Kilby or I will be elected. Our views on public questions differ widely. Those who agree with Mr. Kilby can not possibly support me. Those who agree with me can not possibly support Mr. Kilby. For this reason the voters should carefully study our records and consider our claims in order that the views of the candidate elected may be in harmony with those of a majority of the people.

THE STATE DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE DEPRIVED YOU OF A DIRECT VOTE UPON THE AMENDMENT TO THE FEDERAL CONSTITUTION. THIS COMMITTEE WAS DOMINATED BY THE FRIENDS OF MR. KILBY. He could have had this matter submitted if he had so desired. I URGED THE COMMITTEE TO SUBMIT IT TO A DIRECT VOTE. In this we differed. Mr. Kilby advocates the adoption of the Federal Amendment. I oppose its adoption. In this we differ. WHILE A MEMBER OF THE STATE SENATE IN 1911, MR. KILBY VOTED TO EXEMPT MONEY HOARDED IN BANK FROM TAXATION. (See Senate Journal of 1911, pages 1473 and 1650.) I PUBLICLY PROTESTED AGAINST THIS BILL. In this we differed. MR. KILBY AS PRESIDENTIAL OFFICER OF THE SENATE IN 1915 SIGNED A BILL EXEMPTING MONEY LOANED FROM TAXATION WITHOUT MAKING A SINGLE OBJECTION. (See Senate Journal, 1915, page 1101.) I PUBLICLY PROTESTED AGAINST THIS BILL. In this we differed. AT THE SAME SESSION HE SIGNED A BILL EXEMPTING ALL MANUFACTURED GOODS, INCLUDING PIG IRON, FROM TAXATION FOR TWELVE MONTHS, WITHOUT MAKING A SINGLE OBJECTION. (See Senate Journal, 1915, page 3231.) I PUBLICLY PROTESTED AGAINST THIS BILL. In this we differed. Manufactured goods include fertilizers, cottonseed meal, cloth of all kinds and many other things including ELECTRICITY MANUFACTURED BY THE ALABAMA POWER COMPANY, THE PRODUCT OF THE KILBY CAR AND FOUNDRY COMPANY AND THE KILBY FROG AND SWITCH COMPANY, OWNED BY MR. KILBY AND FAMILY.

Mr. Kilby has stated throughout the State that in his opinion he was the only business man in the race. His public record in a measure justifies him in this statement so far as SELF is concerned. Mr. Kilby has stated that all of the other candidates were professional officeholders. Mr. Kilby has held public office for twelve years. I have held public office for twelve years. During this period I have drawn more direct salary than Mr. Kilby, but the protection he has received by virtue of the exemption in above laws amounts to more than I would receive in salary if I held the most lucrative office within the gifts of the people for the remainder of my life. THESE LAWS EXEMPT APPROXIMATELY ONE-HALF OF THE WEALTH OF OUR STATE, THEREBY FORCING ONE-HALF OF THE PEOPLE TO BEAR THE BURDENS OF GOVERNMENT FOR ALL. SUCH A SYSTEM IS UNFAIR, UNJUST AND UNDEMOCRATIC AND SHOULD NOT BE TOLERATED.

If elected, I pledge you that all wealth of every character will bear its just proportion of Taxation.

After a careful study of his public record, you will be forced to the conclusion that MR. KILBY IS A TYPICAL REPRESENTATIVE OF THAT CLASS OF OUR CITIZENS WHO BELIEVE IN PROTECTING THE RICH, THE POOR CAN TAKE CARE OF THEMSELVES. He is supported by the special interest which has dominated legislation for years and fattened on exemptions at the expense of the many.

We differ on many other matters, but those mentioned above are in my opinion sufficient to enable the voters to decide between us.

In conclusion, I have no interest whatsoever that will preclude me from acting on all questions impartially, having in view "THE GREATEST GOOD TO THE GREATEST NUMBER."

I am not unmindful of the responsibility my success would place upon me and promise, if elected to this high office, to render faithful service and safeguard every interest of the people.

Respectfully submitted,

CHAS. B. TEASLEY.

MR. J. T. DANIEL WRITES

To the citizens and voters of Chilton: I wish to say that as it becomes every man and voter to look into the business of the county, to aid and assist in her welfare, it follows that we should select competent men to transact the business of using precaution in the expenditure of money for the most needed wants of the county. Men that will use the county's money to the interest of ALL the people. Economy should be maintained in all the businesses.

I wish to say that we have quite a number of candidates for Commissioner—good men I think. Among them appears my old friend, A. W. Duke, who is a man of honor and good career. He has managed his own business very successfully and is competent to serve his people in the same economic way. He stands for the right in a business way, and if elected will work to keep the county in a position to have money in the treasury to meet her obligations and urgent purposes.

I speak this as I know his manner of business in the past.

I am very truly yours,
J. THOS. DANIEL,

ARMY SCHOOL OF NURSING

Chilton County's quota for Army School of Nursing is just five; and none of our girls have enlisted. Our county has gone over the top in every thing else. Shall we fail in this? The time for enrollment is over after the eleventh of August.

Will not some of our girls from 21 to 35 years of age enlist in this the most noble of all callings? Our boys are calling to you. Your government is making you a splendid offer, taking entire care of you during training besides fitting you free of charge for a most honorable and profitable employment.

Mrs. N. S. Johnson is our recruiting officer, her home being the recruiting station. She will give you all necessary information.

Local Council of Defense.

NOTICE

My horse will be in Clanton on Saturdays commencing August 10. If you are interested in raising colts, it will pay you to see me.

DEPUTIES CLEARED OF FALSE CHARGES MADE AGAINST THEM

Reports are being circulated over the County, that Deputies W. H. Gillespie and J. B. Atkinson, in trying to gain information concerning an alleged deserter, Ocie Barnett, went into the home of the young man's mother, and spoke to her and treated her in a harsh and abusive manner.

From the following affidavit from the lady herself, these gentlemen are cleared of this charge.

State of Alabama, Chilton County:

Before me, the undersigned authority, personally appeared Mandy Barnett, who being first duly sworn, deposes and says that "On the occasion when W. H. Gillespie and J. B. Atkinson came to my home, that Mr. Gillespie asked me where Mr. Barnett was, and I told him he was in Anniston, Alabama. I asked Mr. Gillespie to come in the house, and he said he wanted to talk to me, and he asked me where Ocie Barnett was. As soon as I could think I told him that Ocie was in the camp—Camp Shelby, Miss., Hattisburg, Miss.; and Gillespie said Ocie was not in the camps but was here somewhere. I told him that he (Ocie) wasn't, and that we had gotten a letter from Ocie Monday or Tuesday. Mr. Gillespie told me that he had heard that Ocie was here, and heard that Ocie had stayed here last night. I told him that I had not heard anything from Ocie since I got the letter and that Ocie was still in the camps. I told Gillespie that I would get the letter and show it to him and Gillespie said he didn't want to see it—that he would take my word for it. Gillespie then read a telegram stating that Ocie Barnett had left camp, and told me that Sheriff Harris said if Ocie would come in and go back to camps inside of ten days that he would not be counted a deserter, and also said for me not to let Ocie stay around home, for I would get into trouble for doing so. I promised him that I would write to Albert Barnett to come and we would try to get Ocie to go back; but that I didn't believe that Ocie was left the camps, and that if he had I didn't believe he would come home; but I didn't believe he (Ocie) was out. This is all the conversation that was had as I now remember. Mr. Gillespie said if Ocie had not come in last night that he would about come in tonight."

The Telegram.

Following is the Telegram received by Sheriff Harris regarding Mr. Barnett, from Camp Shelby:

Camp Shelby, Miss, July 23, 1918
Sheriff Chilton County,
Clanton, Ala.

Arrest and hold Pat Henry and Ocie Barnett of Clanton. Notify Detention Camp Headquarters, Camp Shelby, Miss., of action taken.

STILL RAIDED NEAR JEMISON

On last Saturday Deputies Gillespie and Atkinson made a raid on a wild cat still up near Jemison. The concern was destroyed by the officers but no arrests were made. It is said that the operators of the still were informed of the coming of the officers before they arrived, and were thus allowed to escape. According to reports the fact of the approaching raid was told to the stillers by a leading citizen of Chilton County.

ENDORSES JOHN GORE

To the People of Chilton County:

The primary will be held on the 13th of this month, and on that day we will nominate one of the Republican candidates who will later be elected Sheriff of the County. This is one of the most important offices in the county, if not the most important. John L. Gore is a candidate for the nomination. I have known him for many years, and no better man can be found. He ran for Sheriff four years ago and was defeated. I think we owe it to him to elect him Sheriff, and by giving him the nomination on the 13th of this month, will mean that he will later be elected Sheriff.

I do not think there is any doubt about his nomination, but this is written with the view of urging all his friends and supporters not to be too optimistic, but work up to the day of the primary.

Yours very truly,

Gentlemen:
A Mr. Will Watcher of this county had some hogs that were down with cholera and had given up all hopes of saving them and would not spend one penny on them. I gave him one 15lb pail of your B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder and he has just come in and paid me for it, and advises that every one of his sick hogs got well and that he had killed them and now has them in his smoke house and that they were as fine as any he had killed this year.

I want to add that he said his hogs were down and so sick that he had to prize their mouths open and his wife poured the powder down their throats. Please find check in full of my account and with kindest regards we beg to remain,

Mother's Friend in Every Home

Comfort and Safety Assured Before the Arrival of the Storm.

In thousands of American homes there is a bottle of the splendid and time-honored remedy, Mother's Friend, that has aided many a woman through the trying ordeal, saved her from suffering and pain, kept her in health of mind and body in advance of baby's coming, and had a most wonderful influence in developing a healthy, lovely disposition in the child.

Mother's Friend relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliable those fibers and muscles which nature is expanding, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands and other soreness. The tendency to nervousness and to morning sickness or nausea is counteracted.

By regular use during the period the muscles expand with ease when baby is born, tension is reduced and the pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less.

Mother's Friend is an external remedy, is absolutely safe and wonderfully effective. It not only allays distress in advance but assures a speedy recovery for the mother.

This splendid preparation may be had at every drug store, and is one of the greatest blessings ever discovered for expectant mothers. Write to the Bradford Regulator Co., Lamar, La., for their "Motherhood Book," so valuable to expectant mothers, and in the meantime do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store and so fortify yourself against pain and discomfort.

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VII.

CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY ALA., AUGUST 15, 1918

NUMBER 20.

GORE IN LEAD FOR SHERIFF BY A SMALL PLURALITY

At the time we go to press, Wednesday afternoon, all Districts in the County have been heard from except Beat 8 Box 1 and 2, and Beat 2 Box 2. From unofficial counting of the 23 boxes heard from, it appears that John L. Gore is leading over Walter H. Gillespie for Sheriff by a small margin.

It is thought that the race for Commissioner from the Second District will be between D. H. Gentry and J. M. Mims. It cannot be ascertained as yet which of these is in the lead; but it is certain that the count will be close between them.

Every District in the County polled very lightly, the total number of Republican voters being estimated at about 850. This is the smallest vote in many years.

The official count of the votes by Districts will be published next week.

QUICK PASSAGE MAN POWER BILL TO BE UNDERTAKEN

Agreement to Rest Till August 24th Set Aside, And Absent Senators Notified to Return at once.

Washington, August 12.—In order to expedite the passage of the administration's man power bill extending the draft ages from 18 to 45 years, the unanimous assent agreement by which the Senate was to transact no business until August 24, is to be set aside and consideration of the bill taken up next Monday. An understanding to the effect was reached today by the Senate leaders who at once notified absentees to return Thursday, at which time the Senate will meet again, a quorum being required to be present three days before the agreement can be reached.

The bill is still before the Senate Military Committee, but U. S. Senator Chamberlain plans to have the committee act upon it tomorrow, and report it favorably to the Senate on Thursday. In the House no action has been taken on the bill, Chairman Dent of the House military committee having said his committee would not take up the measure until the House reconvenes Monday.

Senate leaders anticipate some opposition to fixing 18 as the minimum draft age, but they do not believe there will be objections to taking up consideration of the measure. By an overwhelming vote the military committee today went on record as opposed to substituting 21 for the 18-year minimum age in rejecting an amendment proposed by Senator Kirby of Arkansas. He announced the fight for the 21 minimum would be renewed when the bill reaches the Senate.

Prohibition leaders were, elated tonight over the movement to recall the Senate. Under the agreement, the emergency agricultural bill, to which the amendment providing for national prohibition during the war, is attached as a rider, was made the unfinished business for a vote August 26. Supporters of the prohibition amendment believe the man power bill can be disposed of after a few days' consideration and will not interfere when the time comes to vote on the prohibition question.

BOYS AND GIRLS OVER 17 YEARS MUST BE EMPLOYED

Montgomery, August 12.—"Boys and girls over 17 years old in families should be employed unless attending school, unless needed at their homes, regardless of financial ability to live in idleness," says section 4 of the "work or fight" rules, prepared by the Self-Preservation League of Montgomery. This rule is one of the most stringent ever adopted in the United States since General Crowder asked that the entire population of the country be recruited for some manner of "win-the-war work."

Enforcement of the work or fight order will begin in Montgomery on Thursday. The police and deputies have been asked to co-operate with the league. Thousands of cards have been distributed to employers since the order was issued last week.

SLIGHT STORM IN NORTH CHILTON SATURDAY

On last Saturday evening late, a slight wind and rain storm went through the northern part of the county, doing slight damage. Quite a bit of timber and a small building or two were blown down near the residence of Tom McKee. Slight damage was also sustained around the vicinity of Mineral Springs.

REVIVAL MEETING AT THE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

August 15 to 25.

Clanton people will be favored with a special musical treat for the next few days, under the direction of Prof. Thomas G. Makin, who will assist Rev. R. Maye in the meeting. Prof. Makin will appreciate the help of all the local talent of all the churches in the city and surrounding country.

The following will compose the orchestra: Misses Glennie Evans and Miss Myrtle Reynolds, Piano; Miss Mary Curry and Mr. Sid Gibson, Violin; Phillip Horn, Cornet; with all the singers who will kindly help during the meeting.

Come, make yourself at home. You are cordially invited.

UNCLE SAM'S PARTNER

Planting home gardens, producing more food, and saving food are all war-time efforts of this government in which the women of America have co-operated loyally. We are all in the home army; the home army here must help the fighting forces and home armies over there; 120 million Allies must eat.

WEST CHILTON

We had a fine rain Saturday afternoon.

Crops in this part are fairly good. Weevils thus far are not injuring cotton. Sorghum crops are not in evidence this year. Last year was the banner year for sorghum.

The Misses Pierce of Union Town are teaching at Freeman School Building.

Mr. H. H. Hayes of Cedar Grove was in this part last week.

Revival services are being held at Mars Hill. Rev. Connell is in charge assisted by Rev. Littlejohn.

Misses Nellie and Mae Waldrup attended the Baptist services at Shady Grove in Bibb County, last Saturday. Twenty members received the holy ordinance.

Grady and Charlie Nix attended church services at Mars Hill Sunday night.

Eddie Atchison has gone to the army cantonments, being the third son Mr. J. S. Atchison has given to Uncle Sam.

John S. and I. L. Waldrup visited near Lawley last week.

Revival services at Macedonia is in progress this week. Rev. Dunlap is in charge.

Lumber hauling is all the go here. Messrs. Brown, Nix and Wells are sawing a great deal of it. Randolph is the shipping point.

Dr. Edwin Sellers of Anniston was recently called to this point to visit a patient. The doctor was one of Randolph's bright boys in by-gone years. His friends were glad to see him again.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong of Randolph recently visited friends here.

Seeing the cotton crop now reminds us of the days before the invasion of the boll weevil.

The struggling Sunday Schools are now entering the trying season, but the few faithful workers will not desert. They are the jewels.

The great war overshadows everything else. It tries men's souls; but we are sure it will result in great blessings. Indeed, we think it a part of the divine program to bring the restitution of all things. We think autocracy will be swept from the earth, and a government of "by and for the people" will prevail, thus aiding in the beautiful day. As said by the poet:

"Blessings to mankind is bringing,
Even though with chasing rod."
Long live The Union-Banner.

WORDS OF APPRECIATION

The members and officers of the Friendship (col.) Baptist Church, feel very grateful to the white citizens of Clanton, who have helped us so freely in building and painting our church. Please accept our many thanks for your liberality.

K. N. DRAPER, Deacon.

MT. PLEASANT TO ORGANIZE SUNDAY SCHOOL SUNDAY

The people of Mt. Pleasant Community will meet there on next Sunday, August 18, for the purpose of organizing a Sunday School. Everybody interested is cordially invited to come and help.

MT. NEBO SINGING SOCIETY

The Mt. Nebo Singing Society met at Mt. Nebo last Sunday, August 11, with a full class and a few visitors, all of which we were proud indeed to see.

The singing was opened with song by Mr. Eugene Williams, who acted as chairman during the absence of the regular chairman. Mr. Williams directed a short lesson while the program committee, composed of Misses Annie Culp, Nell Poole and Mae Williams, were arranging the program.

We had a very fine duet rendered by Misses Annie Culp and Everette Williams and Messrs Sam Culp and Vaughn McKee.

The other directors for the afternoon were Messrs Sam Culp, Blanco Durbin, Aurelius Culp, Robert Chapman, Vonnice Culp and Samuel Henley, 10 minutes each.

The service was closed with song by Mr. Williams and prayer by Mr. J. C. Culp.

The class will meet next Fourth Sunday at the regular hour—3:00 o'clock sharp.

We cordially invite all singers and lovers of music to come and be with us.

OLLIE CHAPMAN, Secy.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Dr. Maye poured "hot shot" into the camps of the unpatriotic slacker at the First Methodist Church last Sunday. He said the cowardly slacker was an unfit neighbor and an undesirable citizen in any community; that Mr. Wilson was exactly right in spreading the age limit in order to put men, means and munition enough on the field to bring an honorable victory and peace to our nation. If slackers will not work, send them to the war and make them fight for their country.

Following are the assistant teachers for the year:

Miss Icelo Williams, Duncanville, Ala.; Miss Evelyn McElroy, Snow Hill, Ala.; Miss Bessie Thomas, Clanton, Ala.; Miss Edna Tate, Sumnerfield, Ala.

Mrs. W. C. Giles is visiting friends in Birmingham this week.

FREE SPRINGS

We heartily appreciate the invitation given the Union-Banner readers to the space in its columns by the Editor, and as we endeavor to give the happenings from this place each week. We wish, at the beginning, to say that there will be no prejudice used to anyone. If you have an unusually nice correspondence and you fail to see it published through the paper, it is because the writer has not learned of that fact; however, we will not be like the man who prayed for "me and my wife, my son John and his wife—us four and no more," but will abide by the old saying "always give each one his dues." When the columns of this paper are needed for political letters or other important notices, the Editor will be at liberty to leave off the happenings from this correspondent.

We are glad to say that Frank McGraw is up from a short illness.

Mr. W. H. Splawn and his beautiful daughter, Evelyn made a trip to Montevallo recently.

Mr. Hugh Prim has joined the army as a volunteer.

C. C. Hayes has exchanged his auto for a nice farm. He thinks there is more money in farming than in riding.

Miss Mary Brown recently visited relatives in Birmingham.

H. G. Cofer has raised more wheat than the law will allow him to use.

CLYDE WILLIAMS WITH A. E. F. WRITES TO HIS MOTHER HERE

Mr. J. H. Williams hands to us a publication a letter from his son, Clyde, written to Mrs. Williams, it follows:

Somewhere in France, July 13.

Dear Mother:

With the greatest of pleasure, I will answer your kind letter which came to hand a couple of days ago. I was very glad indeed to hear from you, but very sorry to learn that you had been on the sick list. Hope that you will keep on improving. I am just as fine as you ever saw, and I hope these few lines will find you and all the family well.

No, I have not been in the trenches yet, nor do I ever expect to go in them to fight, as this is not a trench fighting outfit. But I am up close enough for Hindie to drop his big shells all around me. But so far he has not been lucky enough to do very much damage here. His shells are hitting in the right church but they strike the wrong pew to do any damage to anything. He has sent some shells that sung an awful sad tune on the way, yet they are respectable enough to fix a very nice place for the victims they hit when they are lucky. Naturally the allies are too independent to let the Boches do anything for them, so Hindie's cemetery is not used.

Nevertheless, the Germans are not the only people who are doing great wonders in the world war.

I have never been across the lines to watch the effect of the great guns of the allies, but I have seen some awful peculiar guns pointing over that direction.

Yes, we get plenty to eat. We get our "chow" straight from the States and plenty of most anything good to eat. It is only three kilometers from here to an American commissary, and we can get most any kind of fruit—canned fruits, and candies, tobacco, and any kind of toilet articles. I put in most of my time in going to and from the commissary for candy and fruits. Hh! Ha!

So, you need not worry about me going hungry.

Mother, you were wanting to know all I could tell you about France.

Now, just to make a long story short, France is in a very critical condition. As the case will be the same at home if this war lasts as long as it has with France. Most all the manpower is employed in the war.

The main industry seems to be farming and cattle raising, the main products of the farms being wheat, rye, oats, vegetables and fruits. They raise lots of fruit, make wine, cider, and most any kind of drinks that could be mentioned. And they certainly believe in drinking it too. I have been in the house with a French family for two weeks now, and I have never seen one of them take a drink of water. They drink cider altogether. There is a well of fine water about a quarter of a mile from here, and it tastes better to me than the wine or cider.

Mother, I am not having so tough a time as you seem to think. I never had an easier time in my life. You just ought to hear me speak French. The old lady here says she is my grand ma, and you just ought to hear me talking to her. But my tongue is a little stiff yet.

Well, as it is late, and as I have no news, will close. Answer soon, and tell all the news to your loving son,

CLYDE WILLIAMS,
Co. D, 3rd Am. Train,

PASTOR OF BAPTIST CHURCH WRITES FROM DEATSVILLE

Rev. J. F. Gable, pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church is away this week in a protracted meeting near Deatsville.

He writes that in deference to the meeting going on at the Methodist Church, there will be no preaching at the Baptist Church on next Sunday, August 18, nor prayer meeting on the following Wednesday night.

BRADIE JONES WRITES FROM FRANCE TO HIS MOTHER

We are publishing herewith a letter written by Bradie Jones, now in the U. S. service in France, to his mother at home:

Dear mother:

I will take the greatest of pleasure in writing you all a few lines today. I am in the hospital but getting along fine, and hope that I will be back with my company by the time that this letter gets to you.

Mother, how I came to get here, I got a shot in the leg, but it was not a bad shot. But believe me mother, the Dutchmen sure did fall. They brought in a wounded one, and all that he would say was for the Americans. They did not give me any chance to get one for I was back in the second line of trenches and the artillery was shooting back there, and one of them bursted too close to me, but believe me, I sure did want to stay with the boys and see the rest of the battle over. But it was the Lord's will that I not do it. I hated to leave the boys, but hope that I shall be with them the next time the Dutchmen start over.

Well, mother, will close with good wishes to all. Hoping to hear from you all soon, and all the news.

From your loving son,

BRADIE JONES.

RACE FOR GOVERNOR IS BETWEEN KILBY AND BRANDON

According to unofficial reports from over the State Wednesday, the race for Governor of Alabama lies between W. W. Brandon and Thomas E. Kilby, with Brandon slightly in the lead.

The race between White and Bankhead for the Senate was very close. The Antis report Bankhead leading while the Prohibitionists claim that White is elected.

Late Reports say Kilby leads by 7,000

Reports were received late Wednesday evening from the Prohibition Headquarters in Birmingham, that Thos. E. Kilby was leading Brandon by a plurality of about 7,000.

PRESIDENT HITS VARDAMAN CREW LIKE BOMBHELL

Senator and Friends Monday were Busy Issuing Reply to Letter Of Opposition.

Jackson, Miss., August 12.—President Wilson's letter to M. S. McNeill of Hazelhurst, a former Vardamanite, proved a bombshell as big as the German long-range guns have been throwing at Paris, and Vardaman's friends have been "up in the air" ever since they read it. No more 50-50 bets are to be had. Mr. Wilson states that he would consider the renomination of Senator Vardaman a reflection on his administration, and the people of Mississippi are going to see that such chalice is not pressed on his lips. In fact, that had already been determined upon, but this letter inches the proposition that Vardaman must remain at home after his present term.

So great was the demoralization in the ranks of the Vardamanites at Jackson that the "Great White Chief" was summoned to come post haste. At least he came and spent the greater portion of the day in Jackson. He and campaign managers got their heads together and put out a reply to the President's letter in which he once more straddles the neck of the negro and, of course, takes issue with Mr. Wilson. He says:

"I am not surprised at the President's opposite to me. Still, it is regrettable that President Wilson views with petulant intolerance independence of thought or action on the part of a senator or representative.

"When I opposed so vigorously the nomination of the negro registrar of the Treasury, and the negro judge of the District of Columbia, and then refused to violate the platform of the party to support the repeal of the free tolls, I incurred his everlasting displeasure.

"I think President Wilson is the first Democratic President in recent years who has undertaken to make the test of one's democracy servile support of all the measures which he happened to favor. It will be recalled that senators and representatives have been condemned by the President for not being able to change their views upon certain measures with the ease and facility with which the President himself changed. For the good of the republic, thank God, the senator from Mississippi is to be nominated by the unaffraid white democratic voters of Mississippi and not by the dictation of a citizen of New Jersey. I decline to accept the President's statement as true, that a vote for my re-election will be taken as a vote of condemnation of his administration, because I have supported the administration 99 times over I have opposed it once. In fact, I have opposed the President in but very few instances, and in those cases where I opposed him it was where the President proposed to violate the party platform and traditions of the Democratic party. It is not altogether fair, not by any means modest, for one to arrogate to himself inflexibility or infallibility as President Wilson does, when we realize that the record shows that the President has changed his mind on public measures with a rapidity and ease that no other President has done, of which I have no knowledge. My record as senator from Mississippi has been made with circumspection and with an eye single to the interests of the people of Mississippi and America. I made that record to please and to serve the people and not to placate or flatter any politician or officeholder. I am going to be renominated in spite of the President's opposition, and renomination will not be in any way a condemnation of President Wilson's administration. I hope that my friends will speed up the fight. We are going to win this fight, but we do not want to take anything for granted or relax our vigilance until the last vote is counted.

"I hope that this unwarranted interference with Mississippi politics will not cause my friends to show any resentment by saying or doing anything that will be in the least improper or imprudent. But I repeat, I hope that they will perform their duty and express a brave, incorruptible freeman's will when they go to the polls on the 20th of August."

HON. WILL H. HAYS TO SPEAK IN BIRMINGHAM

The Hon. Will H. Hays, Chairman of the National Republican Convention, will be among the noted attendants at the Republican State Convention to be held in Birmingham on August 28. It will be a great treat for our people to hear Mr. Hays, as he will have something to tell us that we, in the dear old "Solid South" never hear of through our "consistent" Democratic Dailies.

LOOK TO NOVEMBER

The primary election has come and gone. The people within our party have expressed their views as to whom they want for our next officers. Now, the thing for us to do is to look forward to an overwhelming victory for our whole ticket in November.

Temporarily, we have been divided within our own family, but now, let us all forget the petty drawbacks that we have heretofore been considering, and fall into a solid line and elect the Republican ticket complete in the general election. This is what we will do if we are loyal Republicans and if we have the good of the party as a whole at heart.

The whole ticket is composed of just as competent and as efficient men as we could have selected to bear our standards; so now, let us give them all we've got and show them that we care more for the welfare of the Republican party in Chilton County than we do for our mere personal preferences. Let the majority rule, and be satisfied.

LOANS TO OUR ALLIES.

The United States Treasury has extended additional credits of $100,000,000 to France, $9,000,000 to Belgium, and $3,000,000 to Serbia. The total of credits advanced to our associates in the war against Germany is now $6,492,040,000.00.

OUR BOYS REAL SPORTSMEN

Statistics compiled by the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., Physical Department, show that 165,156 games of baseball, volleyball, boxing matches, track meets, etc., were conducted in the training camps of the Southeastern Military Department during the month of June.

DELAYED BY BAKER

In the middle of July congress deferred action on the subject of enlarging the draft age limits at the request of the Secretary of War, who asserted that there was no occasion for haste. By the first of August there was a talk of summoning congress from its recess in order to take immediate action on the draft age problem, so that there should be no interruption in supplying men to the camps. Strange that congress will let itself be held back by Bakerism.

UPHOLDERS OF TRADITION

Major John E. Atkins of the Salvation Army declares that no one has done more to uphold our traditions than have Major Theodore and Captain Archie Roosevelt. Both of them wounded and Quentin killed at the front. Wonder if that miserable Democratic traducer of the Roosevelt boys who sticks to his cross-continental home in Oklahoma has found his hole and dragged it in after him?

DISCRIMINATION DEPLORED

Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, in an article in New York Sun: "Right here I want to say that the business men of the country do not object to high taxation provided it is necessary to prosecute the war vigorously. They are perfectly willing to meet high tax rates during the war; what they object to is that the present revenue laws are discriminatory and impose taxes unjustly upon one business and allow another of similar character to escape."

SEAMAN INSURANCE.

Practically 80,000 officers and sailors on American owned and registered vessels trading in the waters where the German submarines operate have been insured by the Treasury Department. The aggregate of the policies total well over $100,000,000.

This insurance is made compulsory by law, and since the submarines began to infest American waters it applies to all vessels trading to or from our Atlantic and Gulf ports. Small fishing vessels are excluded.

WANTED TO TRADE—One Pair of fine Work Mares for pair of Good Mules. If interested, call or write, L. H. REYNOLDS, Clanton, Ala.

THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

The campaign for the Fourth Liberty Loan will begin September 28 and close October 19. The result of the loan will be watched with keen interest in Europe, not only by our associates in the war against the Teutonic powers but by our enemies. It will be regarded by them as a measure of the American people's support of the war.

The Germans know full well the tremendous weight and significance of popular support of the war, of the people at home backing up the army in the field. As the loan succeeds our enemies will sorrow; as it falls short they will rejoice. Every dollar subscribed will help and encourage the American soldiers and hurt and depress the enemies of the Allies.

The loan will be a test of the loyalty and willingness of the people of the United States to make sacrifices compared with the willingness of our soldiers to do their part. There must be and will be no failure by the people to measure up to the courage and devotion of our men in Europe. Many of them have given up their lives; shall we at home withhold our money? Shall we spare our dollars while they spare not their very lives?

PETER AND PAUL POLITICS

The question of the set price of cotton having been placed before the President for his imperial decree, some of the cotton growers are becoming restive. Although they have been assured that the figure will be a substantial one, they want now to be assured of some means of carrying their cotton, believing that if they can be accommodated with enough bank loans they will be able to take it off the market and carry it until time has been given to work a restoration of exorbitant prices. Well, why not commander the services of "Buy a Bale" Bob Henry of Texas? Let the President fix the price for a given period, and then let the government banks lend the cotton growers enough money to carry them over that period. That would be as consistent as some Democratic legislation which we have had heretofore.

JOSIAH T. MANGUN FORMERLY OF SELMA TO HEAD Y. DRIVE

Josiah Thomas Mangun, of Camp Greene, N. C., Army Y. M. C. A., headquarters staff and former prominent Alabama Real Estate dealer in Selma, will direct the North Carolina drive now in force to recruit red-blooded men, beyond the draft age, for Red Triangle service overseas and in the home training camps. He succeeds Charles M. Norfleet who has patriotically served as recruiting secretary without salary for the past four months.

Mr. Mangun is a well-known Southern business man who is deeply interested in the Y. M. C. A. work for our soldiers and sailors. After serving in several army cantonments he is particularly well qualified to pick the right men to work with the khaki and blue-clad boys "over there." He is a graduate of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, at Auburn, and of Vanderbilt University.

Mr. Norfleet, a leading business man with large tobacco interests at Winston Salem, N. C., was one of the Y. M. C. A. "dollar-a-year" men. He will return to Red Triangle work in 1919. North Carolina state recruiting headquarters for the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. will remain at Charlotte, N. C.

BOYS WORKING RESERVE AND STATE COUNCIL OF DEFENSE

W. Nash Read, federal state director of the Boys Working Reserve, and the Alabama Council of Defense, have completed plans for the use of all boys between sixteen and twenty-one, gathering the crops of Alabama this fall. About eight thousand boys will be available while the harvesting season will call for approximately 12 thousand farm hands. The Boys Working Reserve and State Council of Defense are urging the importance of the registration of every boy in the state and of every farmer who will need additional help.

Announcement will be made during the next few days of the name of the county enrolling officer, who will be either the principal of the County High School or the County Superintendent of Education. The names of all boys will be registered at the opening of the schools. However, boys now engaged in non-essential occupations will be called upon to register.

Each boy will be placed on a farm where moral and sanitary conditions are acceptable to the Boys Working Reserve and State Council of Defense and no farmer will be given any boys until he has shown that he can care for them properly and is willing to aid them in making themselves proficient in harvesting work.

A county director of the Boys Working Reserve will be named in a conference between the County Council of Defense, and the County Superintendent of Education or the high school principal. In addition, an executive committee composed of from three to five active and patriotic citizens will be named in the same conference to assist in the work.

The eastern and western states have utilized their boy power and it has been effective. Those responsible for the organization here believe this power can be made on effective one in Alabama. When each boy has completed his work this fall he will be given a certificate showing his proficiency and also awarded a medal by the Boys Working Reserve.

HOW THE MARINES RECEIVED CROSSES

DESCRIPTION OF THE CEREMONY OF THEIR DECORATION BY THE FRENCH NATION.

THEIR HEROISM IS LAUDED

Our Army Needs More Chaplains and Is Training Them—Uniform Physical Standards Adopted by War Department—Hollow Tile an Essential.

(From Committee on Public Information.)

Washington. — Marine corps headquarters gives the committee on public information a graphic account of the decoration of American marines with the French Croix de Guerre for heroic service in battle last May. It says in part:

"Within the sound and range of the German guns, hidden by the sheltering trees of a dense forest, under a heavy morning mist and a driving rain, French veterans of Verdun, the Marne, the Aisne and the Somme honored their younger comrades of America by conferring upon them the Croix de Guerre. Thirty marines, including five officers, were awarded this coveted French decoration for gallant conduct, courage and coolness in action against the enemy during the occupation of a sector by the marine brigade. Of the total number cited in French orders for this decoration only eleven were present, three having been killed in action and sixteen were wounded and in the field hospital.

"A number of French soldiers were decorated at the same time. As is the custom half a company from each of the companies whose men were honored was present and drawn up so as to form a square. The presentation of the decorations took place within this human enclosure. The marines and soldiers, side by side, presented a picture symbolical of the close bond existing between America and France in this conflict and particularly so of the manner in which marines have worked and fought with the French soldiers during the period of their instructions in an adjacent sector.

"The French general who pinned the decorations on the breasts of the proud marines eloquently praised their achievements in a short speech in which he summarized their deeds of bravery, remarking on the fine state of discipline and efficiency of the brigade, and congratulating its commanding officer upon his excellent organization. He then pinned the little bronze emblems on the men, and shook each one by the hand with a personal word of congratulation."

Uniform standards of physical examinations governing entrance into all branches of the regular army, the national army and the National Guard have been adopted by the war department and will be observed by the army medical department and the local and medical advisory boards under the selective service regulations.

Observance of the new rules and regulations by the local boards will result, it is believed, in uniform examinations in all parts of the country and should prevent men physically disqualified for military service from being sent out to camps. The new standards also will enable local physicians to make examinations with a better understanding of the needs of the army and will clear any misconceptions and misunderstandings that might result in the sending to camps of men who had been rejected.

Heretofore the physical standards of the three armies have differed and instances have been noted where men who have been rejected for service by the recruiting officers of the regular army have been accepted for military service by draft board physicians. Under the new uniform standards this will not be possible unless the disqualifying defect has been removed. The rule for all three armies is that to make a good soldier a man must be able to see well, have comparatively good hearing, his heart must be able to stand the stress of physical exertion, he must be intelligent enough to understand and execute military maneuvers, obey commands, protect himself, and must be able to transport himself by walking as the exigencies of military life may demand.

Exceptions from the new standard rules are made in the case of men selected for special and limited service.

The experience of the past year has enabled the medical authorities to establish these new standards of examinations which will relieve the local boards of doubt as to decisions in unusual cases. Enough such cases have been examined to establish a policy in determining their military fitness. Instructions are given as to what classes of men may be accepted for limited service, and for treatment for remediable defects.

Nearly every motion-picture theater in the country is enlisted in the campaign of the United States employment service of the department of labor to supply labor to the farms.

Eleven of the largest motion-picture manufacturers are co-operating with the farm service division in its drive for maximum food production. These film producers are releasing to their subscribers—the theaters—moving picture "trailers," calling on all those who possibly can do so to volunteer for harvest work and other forms of emergency farm labor.

The army is in need of chaplains, says the war department. A chaplain is needed for every 1,200 officers and men. A special kind of chaplain is desired—a sturdy, upstanding brotherly man, between twenty-one and forty-five years, who has deep solicitude for the welfare of the soldiers.

There is a special school for army chaplains at Camp Zachary Taylor, near Louisville, Ky. About 200 chaplains come from this school to take up their work with the army after a course lasting five weeks, and the courses go on continuously. Approximately one-fifth of the clergymen who start the course fail to complete it or to qualify for the army.

Candidates for admission to the school must have the endorsement of their denomination superiors and organized religious bureaus and boards recognized by the government authorities, and must pass the physical tests of the local army draft board. At the school the student receives free subsistence, lodging and uniform and $33 a month, which is the pay of a first class private. After completing the course successfully the government returns the student to his home, and when he is appointed to the army he takes the rank and pay of a first lieutenant of the national army, $2,000 a year at home and $2,200 a year abroad.

The training of a chaplain is practical and intensive. His days in school are busy ones. He rises like any common soldier at 5:45 a. m., has fifteen minutes of setting up drill and is required to circle around the parade ground at double time before breakfast. He must police his quarters like any other soldier, undergo an infantry drill without arms of 45 minutes, and then attend lectures and recitations. The latter cover military and international law, service customs, and field service regulations pertaining to a chaplain's duties. The school surgeon instructs him in sanitation and first aid, and experienced chaplains give clinics on actual work with the army. He is given instructions also in horsemanship, because in field service he will be a mounted officer.

The priorities division of the war industries board has decided that hollow tile manufacture is in part of national importance and continued manufacture of tiles throughout the war period will be safeguarded by giving the industry a place on the preference list for fuel and transportation.

Judge Edwin B. Parker, priorities commissioner, in a letter to the hollow tile manufacturers, says: "The priorities board is of the opinion that yours is in part a war industry because your product is used in many of the building operations carried on directly by the war agencies of the government, and in the collateral yet indispensable housing programs which are being and will be prosecuted in communities where soldiers, sailors and war workers are being concentrated."

"In the opinion of the board your industry also is in part one of national importance in that a portion of your product is used in land drainage operations and in ensilage savings processes making possible a higher production per acre and per farmer of foods and feeds, taking into account the labor expended in applying such products to the land."

Hollow tile manufacturers must give a pledge of co-operation with the government that they will not use materials except in the manufacture of products for essential uses as defined and applied by the priorities division of the war industries board, and that they will guard against resale of the product for any except essential uses. There will be permitted, however, sales of small quantities of tiles for repairs or extensions to existing structures involving in the aggregate a cost not exceeding $2,500.

The war industries board has decided that motor trucks are war essentials and that in civilian industries they constitute an important transportation medium and their production should be facilitated and not curtailed. But no pledge to see that motor truck manufacturers got all the steel they wanted was given by the priorities division of the board.

Judge Parker, priorities commissioner, observed: "The manufacturers and dealers fully realize that steel is today the world's most needed metal and that, in view of the urgent war demands of this nation and the allies, it is well nigh treasonable to consume a pound of it that can be saved. They pledged themselves to reverse their practices of normal times and, instead of selling through solicitation as many trucks as possible and furnishing new trucks to replace old ones, to use their utmost endeavor to induce owners and operators to repair old ones and use the trucks they have as long as possible, to operate them fully loaded, and, through shifts of drivers and otherwise to keep them in use during the greatest possible portion of the day."

The department of agriculture suggests to farmers a gas attack on bean and pea weevils, which annually destroy millions of dollars' worth of valuable food and feed. Use carbon disulphid. The weevil has not discovered the advantage of a gas mask.

Miss Mary Van Kleeck, director of the women in industry service of the department of labor, announces the creation of a committee of experts.

The committee will visit various centers where women have been drawn into industries at work on war contracts. Hazards such as the use of industrial poisons will be inquired into with reference to their effect on the health of the women employed, and whether the effect is so detrimental as to justify an order prohibiting such employment.

QUOTAS FIXED FOR FALL Y. M. C. A. DRIVE

National Goal of $112,000,000 Includes $15,000,000 For War Work Of Y. W. C. A.—Southeast Asked For $5,000,000

The quotas for the seven states of the Southeastern Department for the next financial drive of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. for $112,000,000, which will take place late in the fall were decided upon last week by delegates from each of the states. Seven hundred delegates from the seven states of the Southeastern Department recently met with the nation's leading Y. M. C. A. workers at the Capital City Club of Atlanta, Ga.

The quotas for the Southeastern states, totaling approximately $5,000,000, were decided upon as follows:

Florida, $577,584; Georgia, $1,043,784; Mississippi, $230,000; North Carolina, $680,288; South Carolina, $644,896; Tennessee, $1,095,920; Alabama, $504,000.

$15,000,000 to the Y. W. C. A. Of the total amount $15,000,000 will be turned over to the Young Women's Christian Association in order that they may carry on the many war activities that they have undertaken.

Every town and community of the Southeast was represented by its leading citizens at the conference. Chief among the international figures were Dr. John R. Mott, General Secretary of the National War Work Council, Geo. W. Perkins, former leader of the executive board of the United States Steel Corporation and now, chairman of the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. bureau of finance. Others in the party were A. H. Whitford and Chas. S. Ward, directors of the national campaign, and A. M. Cotton of the Boys' Earn and Give Campaign.

The "Y" Men Are To Be Found Where Battle Is Hot

"If you want to know what the Y. M. C. A. means to the soldiers, go where the fighting is hot," is the regular reply of the American soldiers in France, according to a cablegram received recently by the National War Work Council telling of more secretaries who have been under liquid fire attacks, as well as gas and shell fire. The American Expeditionary officers have sent scores of letters to the Paris headquarters of the "Y" praising the work of the Red Triangle workers, declaring them to be indispensable.

More than a thousand "Y" secretaries are in advanced positions and dugouts under constant shell fire. There are no quitters and they refuse to be relieved, saying that where the troops go the Y. M. C. A. will stick.

SUGAR EXPORTS SMALL TO NEUTRAL NATIONS

Only 797 tons of refined sugar were shipped from America to neutral nations during the first five months of this year. This amounted to only 3.2 per cent. of the total exports to all countries. Mexico received more than half the amount we exported to neutrals.

FRANCE AND BELGIUM GET AMERICAN SUGAR

Ninety-five per cent. of all refined sugar sent from the United States to the Allied nations went to France and Belgium during the first five months of this year.

France got 72 per cent., or nearly 83,000,000 pounds, and Belgium received nearly 11,000,000 pounds, or 23 per cent.

CROWDER ORDERS REGISTRATION OF NEW 1918 YOUTHS

Washington, Aug. 14.—Registration on Saturday, August 24, of all youths who have reached the age of 21 since the second registration last June 5, was ordered today by Provost Marshal General Crowder under a proclamation by the President. The purpose is to add quickly to the almost exhausted Class 1, to meet the draft calls in September.

About 150,000 young men will register. Most of them will qualify for Class 1, and therefore, will gain the army probably within a month after their names are recorded.

Telegraphic orders to local authorities to arrange for the registration have already been distributed. President Wilson's proclamation excepts the territories of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico temporarily, but a later date will be fixed. Only men in the armed service are exempted from registration.

The Provost Marshal General had no intention, it is said, of creating registration dates for men reaching 21 throughout the year, but the present registration was made necessary by the approaching deficiency in man power.

INCREASE CORN YIELD BY SELECTING SEED IN FIELD

By P. O. Davis, Assistant Boys' Club Agent.

(Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.)

It is a well known fact that the average yield of corn per acre in Alabama is entirely too low. The average yield for the entire United States is 26 bushels per acre, while in Alabama it is only 16.1. Thus it is seen that Alabama is nearly 10 bushels below the average.

There are several ways of increasing this yield, but fall or field selection of seed is the most inexpensive method. By actual test the U. S. Department of Agriculture found that field selected seed produced 20 per cent more corn per acre than seed selected from the crib in the spring of the year. The Department of Agriculture further states that the best quality of field selected corn is worth $25 per bushel more for seed purposes than crib selected seed.

Seed corn should be selected in the field as soon as it is thoroughly mature. If allowed to stay in the field longer its vitality may be reduced by frost, freeze, rain, etc. The time of selection is very important and should not be overlooked. An ordinary sack, which may be swung over the shoulder, is sufficient equipment.

There are many good varieties of corn but most of them vary in different sections and are often known by various names. No one best variety can be named. In each community the variety making the greatest yield should be selected.

Other things being equal a short, thick stalk is preferable. Short stalks are not so easily blown down and permit thicker planting. Thick or large stalks are harder to break down and are generally more productive than slender ones.

Stalks having advantage of either moisture, space, or fertility should not be selected. Excellence due to these advantages is not transmitted. Those outyielding others having the same treatment are desirable. Ears having long, tight fitting shucks should be selected. This is one of the greatest protections against weevils and should be given special attention.

On the average one bushel of seed corn will plant six acres. About twice as much as will be needed should be selected in the field. Another selection for soundness should be made at the barn and another general selection when preparing to plant the next spring.

The same day seed corn is gathered the husked ears should be put in a dry place where there is free circulation of air. The ears should not touch each other. If left in husks or allowed to touch each other damage from heating may be the result. By leaving corn in a sack or pile one day after harvesting the vitality may be reduced.

An open shed or loft is a good place to store seed corn. From 15 to 20 ears may be tied on a binder twine or any strong cord and swung to some overhead support, and they will thoroughly dry in two months. They must not be exposed to the damp atmosphere.

THE CURING AND THE STACKING OF PEANUTS

By M. H. Pearson, Assistant in Agriculture.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Since the peanut industry has grown to be of considerable importance in Alabama the question of curing and stacking naturally will confront every grower.

After the nuts have been plowed up they should be dropped into small piles or left in wind-rows in the same manner as hay until they have cured fairly well. They should not be left in piles or wind-rows long enough to lose their leaves when removed to stacks.

After the vines have cured they should be placed in stacks. The stack poles should be approximately seven feet long, and should be placed firmly in the ground to prevent blowing over by wind. There should be nailed firmly on each stack pole two pieces about five feet long, one foot above the ground, so as to cross each other. This serves to keep the vines and nuts on the bottom of the stack from molding, and also produces an air current underneath the stack. The vines should be placed around these poles, only one vine deep, with the nuts to the pole and the vine end to the outside. This protects the nuts from the weather and from birds.

The stack should be kept packed firmly as it is being made, and after each stack is finished it should be capped off on top with grass, weeds, old sacks or anything that will protect from rain.

The peanuts should remain in this stack until they have thoroughly dried, so that when a vine is removed and placed in the hand and given a shake you can hear the peanuts rattle in the hull. The oil mill men say that when peanuts are not sufficiently dried they will go through a heat just as quickly as will green cottonseed when bulked together.

A yield of 35 bushels per acre will require approximately 35 poles per acre of the above description.

Mr. H. T. Gore, of Route 5, was in Clanton Tuesday.

ELECTION NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in School District No. 12, at Shiloh Schoolhouse, on Thursday, the 5th day of September, 1918, to permit the qualified voters of said school district to vote for or against a tax of thirty cents on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property of said School District, to be levied for school purposes only.

If a majority of all the qualified voters voting at said election vote for the proposed tax of thirty cents on each hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said School District, the tax shall be levied for the year 1918-19 and 1919-20, and shall be used exclusively for school purposes in School District No. 12.

TO IMPROVE YOUR DIGESTION

"For years my digestion was so poor that I could only eat the lightest foods. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them did I find the right treatment. Since taking them my digestion is fine."—Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Indiana, Pa.

The County Board of Education is in session today, and are transacting business of importance. They are trying to devise some plan by which teacher's salaries may be increased so as to allow them to meet the advanced cost of living.

A BILIOUS ATTACK

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be well as ever. They only cost a quarter.

Dr. Grady D. Broadhead, who is in training at Camp Wheeler, is in Clanton for a few days furlough. He arrived Wednesday afternoon.

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught, Relief From Headache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.—Mrs. Chas. Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Theodor's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty regular until the liver acted well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Theodor's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit.

If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Theodor's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Theodor's, the original and genuine. E 79

MR. JOHN MIMS DIES IN A BIRMINGHAM INFIRMARY

The body of Mr. John Mims was shipped to Clanton this morning, from Birmingham, where he died Wednesday in an infirmary in that city. Mr. Mims was carried there last Friday for treatment, but ever since his arrival there his condition continued to grow more serious, until Wednesday afternoon, when death resulted.

Mr. Mims is a well known citizen of this county having lived for a number of years past in the Maple Springs community. The news of his death will be received with great regret by his many friends in and around Clanton.

400,000 'SAVERS' IN OLD ALABAMA

SPLENDID RESULT OF THE BIG DRIVE ON WAR SAVINGS STAMPS.

CASH SALES ARE VERY HEAVY

Campaign From Now On Will Be Pushed With Redoubled Energy—State Director Johnson's Message to Workers.

Birmingham, Ala., July 30, 1918.

It is estimated at state headquarters of the National War Savings Committee that there are at least 400,000 owners of war savings stamps, or baby bonds, in Alabama as the result of the recent big drive. This is splendid evidence of the patriotism of the people of Alabama as well as of the success of the drive.

Heavy Increase in Sales.

Since June 29, the last day of the drive, cash sales of war savings stamps, according to reports from the postoffices, have averaged about $70,000 a day. This does not take into account the many sales made by the banks or sales agents who get their supplies of stamps through the banks instead of the postoffices.

"The Work Just Begun."

The campaign will be pushed vigorously by the state committee and the county organizations through the remainder of the year, the success already attained being the incentive to still greater endeavor.

State Director's Message.

In an address to county chairmen and their workers, Crawford Johnson, state director, summarizes the lesson of the drive and indicates some of the lines along which the campaign will proceed. The following excerpts from Mr. Johnson's message are of general interest:

The Lesson of the Drive.

The "Drive" has demonstrated the fact that the class of population does not absolutely settle the amount of sales and pledges for a county. Many people have contended that a county with a large colored population could not possibly reach anything like its quota, and yet such counties as Maricopa and Dallas, with large colored populations, have shown wonderful results, and while they have not quite reached their quotas, we feel sure that they will do so before the end of the year. On the other hand, Blount County, with practically no colored population, has reached its quota, and Marshall County, with a small colored population, is getting wonderfully close to what was asked of it. The fact is also demonstrated that the thing that is the most necessary is the bringing of the proposition to the careful, intelligent consideration of the individual. The most successful counties are invariably the ones where this has been done.

Army of Salesmen Enrolled.

We hope for the week beginning August 12th to have the services of from 2,500 to 3,000 traveling salesmen, this number of men to be distributed among the various counties of the State. Mr. Louis J. Adler, of Mobile, Ala., has been appointed State Director of traveling salesmen, and is giving this work his entire time and attention, and is receiving therefor no compensation whatever. Mr. Adler is President of the Alabama Travelers and is going to secure the aid of the members of this organization and of all other organizations of traveling men in this State.

Election Day Opportunities.

This week includes Election Day and we hope to have War Savings representatives at every voting place and in that way secure pledges from many people whom we might otherwise never reach.

We believe that many County Chairmen can add very materially to their pledges by maintaining a steady systematic campaign in this direction, and by the use of speakers from time to time in various points in the county. We hope that they will not fail to take advantage of any gathering of people, and will arrange to have somebody represent the War Savings Work at every one of them.

What the Women Are Doing.

The Women's Division of War Savings has been thoroughly organized under the capable, efficient and earnest leadership of Mrs. Richard F. Johnston, of Birmingham, Ala., State Director of the Women's Division. Every County in the State has a Woman Chairman, who is ready and willing to aid in every possible way. The women have already done valiant service in many counties, and we hope that the County Chairmen will realize what wonderful work they can do, and that they will see that they are given every opportunity to secure results.

BANKSTON BROS.

Roberta, Ga., Jan. 21, 1917.—Old Kentucky Mfg. Co., Paducah, Ky.

Gentlemen: A Mr. Will Watcher of this county had some hogs that were down with cholera and had given up all hope of saving them and would not spend one penny on them. I gave him one 15 lb. pail of your B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder and he has just come in and paid me for it, and advises that every one of his sick hogs got well and that he had killed them and now has them in his smoke house and that they were as fine as any he had killed this year.

I want to add that he said his hogs were down and so sick that he had to prize their mouths open and his wife poured the powder down their throats.

Please find check in full of my account and with kindest regards we beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

IN MEMORY

On August 5, 1918, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Littleton, of Bessemer, Ala., and wafted away the sweet spirit of their beloved son, Lonnie. When only 15 months old, he got his right arm cut off. After reaching the age of nineteen his life was taken from him by the same train, which cut his arm off. His remains were brought to Thorsby and laid to rest in the New Salem Cemetery, at 1 o'clock, August 7.

He had a very short stay here, but we believe his mission was complete. We become very much attached to little Lonnie while he was here on earth.

Because of the lasting marks he bore, Because of the lovely hair he wore, Because of the pleasant smile he wore, When his little troubles were all o'er.

But thank God, we can say "The Lord giveth and the Lord Taketh away." Sleep on sweet Lonnie, and take thy rest. God in his wisdom thought it best.

We should not grieve after him, as though he had died without hope or without God in this world. Could he speak, no doubt, he would say, "Weep not after me."

We can but say to the devoted parents and to his two brothers, Roy and Monroe, in this hour of grief and trouble. We commend Lonnie in the tender care of Him who careth for you. He is able to bear your troubles and sorrows to a higher place where all is joy and peace.

We can't go today Where Lonnie is now to stay, But by and by, we shall meet him At the beautiful gate some day. He is gone but not forgotten, His memory lingers still. He has left an aching vacancy This world can never fill. His friends and associates, Icie and Ivie Dupriest.

Mother's Friend in Every Home

Comfort and Safety Assured Before the Arrival of the Stork.

In thousands of American homes there is a bottle of the splendid and time-honored remedy, Mother's Friend, that has aided many a woman through the trying ordeal, saved her from suffering and pain, kept her in health of mind and body in advance of baby's coming, and had a most wonderful influence in developing a healthy, lovely disposition in the child.

Mother's Friend relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliable those fibers and muscles which nature is expanding, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands and other soreness. The tendency to nervousness and to morning sickness or nausea is counteracted.

By regular use during the period the muscles expand with ease when baby is born, tension is reduced and the pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less.

Mother's Friend is an external remedy, is absolutely safe and wonderfully effective. It not only allays distress in advance but assures a speedy recovery for the mother.

This splendid preparation may be had at every drug store, and is one of the greatest blessings ever devised for expectant mothers. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their "Motherhood Book," so valuable to expectant mothers, and in the meantime do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store and thus fortify yourself against all discomfort.

MUST USE LESS SUGAR; ALLIED NEEDS GROW

Americans Asked to Use No More Than Two Pounds Per Person Per Month.

Shortage May Last Until Beginning of 1919,
When New Sugar Crop Arrives.

After making a careful survey of the world sugar situation the U. S. Food Administration has asked the American public to USE NO MORE THAN TWO POUNDS OF SUGAR PER PERSON A MONTH until January 1, 1919.

Increased sugar demands from the Allied nations—where the present sugar ration is already reduced to the lowest possible level—and the need of keeping our army and navy supplied are two of the leading causes of the curtailment of America's sugar ration.

Americans are requested to make two pounds of sugar per person (half a pound a week) serve for all sugar uses in the household—including cooking and all sugar served at the table.

Public eating places, as well as housewives, will be required to limit their use of sugar to two pounds for every ninety meals served. In the U. S. Food Administration's cafeteria at Washington, where employees of the Food Administration take their noon meal, one pound of sugar is used for every 120 meals served.

The U. S. Food Administration is confident that the American public will heartily agree to reduce household use of sugar here to a level more nearly equal to the present restrictions among the Allied nations.

The situation which the United States faces in its efforts to maintain a fair distribution of sugar to the Allied world is as follows:

The sugar supplies throughout the country, in homes, stores, factories and bakeries, are at low ebb; the production from the American beet and Louisiana cane crops have been disappointing; the yield in Porto Rico has likewise been smaller than anticipated, and the inability of the United States and the Allies to secure sugar from Java and other distant sources on account of the imperative call for ships for the movement of troops and their supplies has materially reduced the supply from such quarters. Added to this already difficult situation, the quantity needed by the Army and Navy greatly exceeds earlier estimates; we must send a large amount to France and Italy to take the place of the great volume lost through the German and Austrian invasions, during which much beet land was overrun and many factories destroyed; we have to supply certain quantities to neutral nations under agreements; and finally over fifty million pounds were lost recently through submarine sinkings off our Atlantic coast.

The Food Administration is confident that the American people, with the record of wheat savings behind it, having by voluntary savings sent 140,000,000 bushels of wheat to the Allies after practically every bushel had been exhausted from our normal surplus, will with the same spirit save the sugar situation of the world.

Last Monday, Mr. W. W. Brandon, candidate for Governor, with some members of his campaign committee, held a speaking at the court house in Clanton.

Dr. Samuel E. John, with the Naval Base Hospital, at Gulfport, Miss., is at home for a few days, visiting among his many friends in Clanton and Chilton County.

TEXTILE WORKER ENDS SUFFERINGS BY TAKING VIN HEPATICA

Nashville Woman Was In Terrible Condition Until Persuaded
To Take the Great Nature Remedy, Vin Hepatica

"I simply suffered the pangs of death," says Miss Nora Clay, textile worker, of 16th Ave and Broadway, Nashville, Tenn., and scarcely ate enough to keep a bird alive before relief came to me.

"I could scarcely see at times; black specks would appear before my eyes; I was dizzy and almost had what they call 'blind staggers.' The suffering in my stomach was intense; there were mighty few things I could eat at all and what I did eat and any medicine I took, didn't seem to do me any good. "Had almost despaired of all hope when I read in the papers about Vin Hepatica. I decided to try it, and it is a God's blessing to me that I did, for I am now on the road to full recovery; am eating three meals a day without any distress in my stomach and I sleep like a baby. I heartily recommend Vin Hepatica to any one suffering from stomach trouble, dizziness, sleeplessness and that tired, run-down-like feeling."

Vin Hepatica is Nature's own medicine and is known as Nature's own Universal System Purifier and Tonic. It is a combination of eight of the most powerful herbal remedies known to medical science for those who suffer from stomach, liver and kidney troubles; indigestion, constipation, sluggish liver, disease of the kidneys, sleeplessness, dizziness, nervousness, headaches, etc.

We strongly recommend this great Nature remedy. Come and get a bottle and try it, on our recommendation. You will like it and it will do you good.

REPUBLICANS OF TEXAS NOMINATE FULL TICKET

Houston, Texas, August 13.—Republican State Convention in session here today nominated a complete state ticket, headed by Charles A. Boynton, of Waco, for Governor; went on record as favoring the immediate submission of the amendment to the national constitution, and conferring upon women the right of suffrage, and favoring legislative consideration of permitting the sale of light wines and beer under stringent regulations subject to local option laws, another effective at the conclusion of the war.

LONNIE LITTLETON KILLED BY A FREIGHT TRAIN

On August 5, while at his work as check clerk for the L. & N. Railroad, at Bessemer, Lonnie Littleton was run over by a freight train.

The body was rushed to a hospital where faithful hands did all they could, but after five and a half hours God thought best to take him home out of his suffering.

The body was shipped to Thorsby, and interment was made in the New Salem Cemetery.

Lonnie was a good boy and was loved by all who knew him. He always wore a smile and had a kind word for everybody he met. He was 19 years of age, and when he was 13 months old he had his arm severed from his shoulder. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Littleton of Bessemer. He is survived by his parents and two brothers, Boy and Monroe Littleton.

THE BEST PLASTER

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound over the seat of pain is often more effective for a lame back than a plaster and does not cost anything like as much.

Our good old soldier friend, E. H. Smith, of the Old Soldiers Home at Mountain Creek, was in Clanton Tuesday. Yes, he was here to vote—and he voted a Republican ticket too. Mr. Smith is a true believer in Republicanism, and if anyone has any dealings at all with him, he will soon find out where he stands in this regard. He is not ashamed of his vote.

CURE FOR DYSENTERY.

"While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman overheard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Whitelaw, of Des Moines, Iowa. "He told me in detail of what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he did, and fully believes that by doing so saved the life of his child. He states that he had used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results."

SCHOOL FOR ILLITERATE SOLDIERS - TO - BE

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 13, 1918.

Editor Union-Banner:

I feel that I would be remiss in my duty, if I failed to call attention to and emphasize the importance to our Chilton County young men who have been called to the colors, of taking advantage of the offer made by the government to instruct each of them in the art of reading the ordinary war terms, such as the titles of the officers. This instruction is given free of any charge whatever, and is under the direction of our alert and active young County Superintendent of Education.

It will unquestionably be much to the advantage of each young man, whether he can read and write or not, to get this information; for these fellows who have not acquired the art of reading and writing, a simple primer or booklet has been made, by which this information can be gained. This knowledge will lead to the more rapid advancement in the army work of each young man who takes advantage of it NOW. I want to say further, that it is much more to the credit of a young man who does not read and write at present to "take hold" and "dig down" and get this information than to the fellow who can read and write and figure. The fact that the youngsters do this will go into their personal records in the army, and will help in their advancement.

The pages of history are full of instances where young men from the South in the war of the eighteen sixties, by determination, got the art of writing and reading, and with that as a guide, in conjunction with native courage, went to the foremost ranks of distinction.

Boys, for the sake of yourselves, go to it, and do not let the chance slip; it will not come again. Your country is calling you to do this now.

Anyone who may be interested in getting further information concerning this may do so from either Prof. McDonald, Prof. Johnson, Prof. Bean, Judge Reynolds, or Mr. Wm. M. Adams. Any of these gentlemen will take pleasure in telling you anything about it they can.

Wm. M. ADAMS.

CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY ALA., AUGUST 22, 1918

NUMBER 21.

BOYS WORKING RESERVE FOR CHILTON COUNTY

The United States Government Calls On The Boys of Chilton County To Enroll in the United States Boys Working Reserve.

ENROLLMENT WEEK BEGINS SEPTEMBER SECOND, 1918

Enrollment Age is Set at From Sixteen to Twenty-One.

We are in the war to win. We are in the war not with the German army alone, but with the entire German Nation. For thirty years the whole nation with all its resources has been taught and trained in the doctrine that the German is the super-man and must, in order to fulfill his mission to the world, rule and dominate the world.

The German educational system has now cut its term to four months. For eight months in the year the youth of Germany bends his every energy toward the successful prosecution of the war. Now, your national government comes and asks that the young monhood of America shall enroll itself for the period of six weeks to harvest the crops that have been made.

Now, in order to do this, we must all work together. The boys, their parents, the farm demonstration agents, the county board of education, the principal of every school which has or will have boys enrolled that are over fifteen years of age. It does not matter so much whether you are in school or out. It does not matter whether you are working on your father's farm or whether you would accept work elsewhere, the point is this: if a boy is one day more than fifteen and a half years old and one day less than twenty-two, you are urged to enroll. We want to show where we stand and what we are willing to do.

The whole scheme for this county will be worked out and will be fully explained on the opening day of the high school which is September 4th, at the high school building at 10 30 A. M. The boys will be enrolled and given a button as a badge. At the completion of an acceptable and faithful term of six weeks work they will be given a certificate issued by the department of agriculture of the national government.

Farmers who want labor will be asked to apply to one of the farm demonstration agents and a wage, the length of the working day, the number of boys wanted, and everything in connection with be gone into in a business-like way. The boys will be supervised and looked after. The kind of farm work and the kind of will also be ascertained.

The six weeks which the boys work will be managed that he need not lose his standing in his classes in case that he has entered school before he enrolls.

So, let us urge that where the school has opened before you enroll in the working reserve, that you first enroll in school and get yourself and then enroll and go to work at the time set for the boys in your county.

Now, let's everybody get busy and unify our efforts. This is no trap set to catch anybody. It is being done all over the nation. Alabama is the first Southern State that has undertaken to do this in a systematic manner. All the north and the east already has its boys organized and at work. We must get the loafer and the dead-beat where he can be branded as such. So that the eyes of the public can turn its gaze of scorn upon him. The slogan has gone forth, "We must work or we must fight."

H. C. McDONALD, County Enrolling Officer.

FREE SPRINGS

School at this place seems to be doing good work with Miss Jeanie Collins as teacher. From all reports Miss Collins takes her work as a pleasure. How much happier are parents to know that their children are in the care of one who is planting seeds of kindness on their minds, instead of that of anger, wrath, cruelty, etc!

Clyatt Prim was the first hero of Free Springs to give his life for his country. He was killed July 25, 1918 in France. He volunteered in April of 1917. While it is impossible for the body to be buried at home, there will probably be a service held in honor of him in the near future.

J. M. Posey had the accident of sticking a nail through his foot recently.

Deputy Sheriff Gillespie was a caller at C. L. Hayes' recently on business. We are glad to say that so far, the sheriff has business up here only to deliver summons. No arrests have been made here.

T. J. Headley made a trip to Clanton Saturday last and had the unexpected pleasure of meeting his sister, Mrs. J. H. Thomas of Talladega.

Mrs. Ethel Hayes of Siluria is visiting friends here this week.

Miss Margaret Landgraaf of Montgomery is a pleasant visitor here this week.

Fruit canning is about over around here, still we hear some talk of pear preserves, and the writer wants to call the ladies' attention that pears make fine sweet pickles. Nothing can be found more suitable for the winter vegetables than pear pickles.

COUNTY ROAD LAW AMENDED

To the People of Chilton County:

We have had to change the road law so it would be in accordance with the times. We were compelled to appoint Apportioners and Overseers to serve without pay.

We have appointed two apportioners in each beat and have instructed them to appoint as many Overseers as they think necessary. The age for overseers and apportioners is from twenty-one to fifty years, but we are trying to get men that are above the age limit to serve as that will give us more men in the age to work the roads. We are also trying to get men that are interested and want to build up and keep up the roads. The new overseers and apportioners will take charge of the roads August 1, 1918, and continue until January 1, 1921.

We want to call your attention to the road condition in this county: Prices have advanced so much and labor is so high that it is hard for us to hire men to work on the roads, and when we do it cost so much that the $5.00 that was paid by a road hand for his Commutation Fee does not have but a little work done, so we have amended the Road Law and after this year no one can pay the $5.00 Commutation Fee, but will have to work ten days instead.

We beg and urge every Overseer to begin work on the roads immediately. See if you cannot get every man that is able to give two days work on the roads, and all that have teams to give you two days work, also see if you cannot get all Sawmill men to give you at least two days work with their teams.

We have done the best that we could, but you know that if we have good roads each community must work them, for the tax money that is given to the roads will scarcely keep the bridges up. Beat One has already built three miles of good road. Several other communities have also improved their roads, and we hope to see still others doing the same. We are going to continue taxing the wagons and giving it to the roads to help fix the bad places.

We hope that there are no men in our county over the road age limit that want to see our roads go down and have to wait until our boys return from France to rebuild them for us.

We feel that we have taken the people into our confidence and that you know the real condition and now it is with you as to whether we continue to improve the roads.

In conclusion we beg all to do their duty and not to take a backward step in road building.

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Judge of Probate.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The Sunday School is very sorry to lose its efficient Superintendent, Mr. T. E. Williams. He goes to an officers training camp on the first of September. He will be greatly missed, but we will constantly pray God's blessings on him and his good wife as they go from our midst. Mrs. Williams will probably make her home in Birmingham while he is away.

Our Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. E. E. Upchurch, was injured in an automobile accident recently, and we will probably have to elect an assistant to help him up with his work.

After consultation among some of the leaders in the Sunday School, it is thought advisable to start the school fifteen minutes earlier, so the session will begin at 9:45 on next Sunday, instead of ten o'clock as heretofore.

The teachers are attending with commendable regularity, and the contributions have settled to a higher average than ever before. It is hoped that teachers and pupils will become even more regular and efficient in their work.

On next Sunday, August 25th, the pastor's subject at eleven o'clock will be "The Convert's Confession," at night, The Eighth Commandment,—"Thou Shalt not steal."

On Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the ordinance of baptism will be administered at the usual place, near Gore's Bridge.

FROM W. J. HENDERSON SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

My Dear father, mother and sis:
I am feeling fine and hope you are enjoying the best of health. I notice some pieces in the paper of my good old state. You know it makes a fellow feel mighty good. It seems good to hear from our good old state. I wish I knew how many of my company from Camp Wheeler are over here in France.

If I were hanged on the highest hill Mother o'mine, mother o'mine, I know your love'd follow me still, Mother o'mine, mother o'mine.

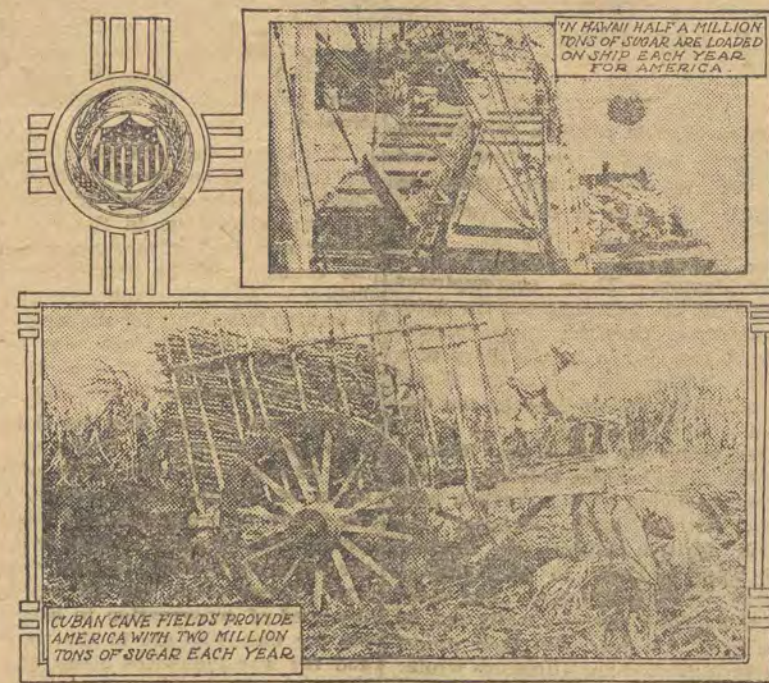

If I were drowned in deepest sea, Mother o'mine, mother o'mine, I know whose tears'd come to me, Mother o'mine, mother o'mine.

If I were damned body and soul, I know your prayers'd make me whole, Mother o'mine, mother o'mine.

Ships & Sugar

OVER 75 per cent. of the sugar used in the United States is delivered by ships. There is produced about 800,000 tons of beet sugar and 250,000 tons of cane sugar in Louisiana. The total consumption of the United States is about 4,500,000 tons of raw sugar, which makes about 4,250,000 tons of refined sugar.

If our coasts were blockaded as Germany's now are, we would have available for the use of the people of the United States only one pound of sugar for every four we use. Under such circumstances there is no doubt that the American people would get along on this limited supply without complaint.

The United States Food Administration is asking every American household to use not more than two pounds of sugar per person each month for domestic use. Reducing our sugar consumption here means that we will be able to help supply the needs of France, England and Italy. Sugar conservation on the American table also means conservation of ships.

The Army and Navy have sent out an "S. O. S." call for ships. "Save Our Ships to Transport Troops and Munitions to France, in order that we may keep the fighting front where it now is and not allow it to extend to our own homes," is the message.

There is ample sugar in the world for all requirements—in fact, there is a large surplus, but on account of the ship shortage it is not available for use in this country.

Java, which produces 15 per cent. of the world's cane crop, is too far removed. It requires 150 to 160 days for a ship to go to Java and return.

MT. PLEASANT

Health of this community is fairly good and everybody seems to be hustling. Gathering has already begun; there is quite a good deal of the fleecy staple now ready for picking.

Rev. Louis Thomas filled regular appointment here Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Flummer of Thorsby followed the preacher with a splendid talk on Sunday School, after which a Sunday School movement was started. Everybody is invited to meet next Sunday at 10 o'clock to complete the organization.

There will also be singing in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Everybody come and bring your song books and bring somebody with you. Make this even better than our last singing.

Prof. John M. Dye is now in his second week of a twelve-days singing school. So, you see we are going to climb for things higher.

Dr. Hyman and family of Jemison visited at J. Wiley Foshee's Sunday afternoon.

W. G. Culp and wife were visitors at J. J. Culp's Sunday.

Rev. Louis Thomas visited at W. A. Dozier's Saturday and at L. O. Vickers' Sunday.

Mrs. Odie Popwell and Miss Essie Sharbutt spent part of last week with Mrs. Lindsey.

Mrs. Rosa Duke and children of Marble Valley recently visited her sister, Mrs. W. A. Dozier.

G. H. Massey and wife have returned from a visit to relatives in Coosa County.

G. D. Melton visited relatives at Collins Chapel Sunday.

B. G. Burnett of Ensley spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

A number of people around here attended the series of meetings conducted at Lomax this past week.

Our votes through here were light on account of so many being away at work.

Let's all take the Union-Banner and try to make it better than ever before.

WADE'S WEEKLY LETTER

Facts about Cotton Crop.

The scare about the big cotton crop has proved to be a case of crossing the bridge before we got to it. We have been very diligent for the past few weeks in securing reliable data in regard to the cotton crop conditions from all the cotton growing states. Since the government's estimate of fifteen million bales based on the condition of the crop on August 25, dry, hot weather has prevailed in every cotton growing state west of the Mississippi River and has reduced the prospective yield nearly three million bales. The government reduced its estimate on July 25 nearly two million bales. Deterioration has continued in the western belt until there is not a state west of the Mississippi that will make as much cotton as it did last year. There is no possible gain over last year's crop except in the eastern states, and these have also suffered great deterioration from the recent hot weather. There may be a gain over last year's crop of about a half million bales, most of which will come from Mississippi and Alabama. The South's cotton crop cannot exceed twelve million bales. This will be short of the world's needs; and there should not, and I believe not, be any serious decline in the price of cotton if it is marketed gradually and carefully.

More Cotton Needed.

It is stated in official circles that American mills will need nearly a million bales more cotton the coming year than was used last year. America exported nearly four and a half million bales last year. Recently England has increased her active spindles five per cent and increased the number of hours per week for all active spindles fifteen per cent. This is an equivalent to twenty-five per cent. increase in consumption, or more than a million bales. If the world must have at least two million bales more cotton this year as compared with last year and the increase in yield is not more than a half million, why worry about the price of cotton.

Farmers Wrongfully Accused.

We have recently seen a few articles in the papers forecasting a holding movement and try to boost the price of cotton to fifty cents a pound. I want to say to the author of such articles that the writer is continuously associated with farmers and has not yet heard a farmer advocating fifty cents for cotton. The farmer is as patriotic as any other man and wants for his cotton only the cost plus a reasonable profit. The cost of producing cotton this year is about two and one-half times greater than normal. By the time the cotton is harvested, ginned and baled, the average cost will be twenty-five cents or more per pound. If the farmers can get from 30c to 35c cents per pound, they will be satisfied; but, if the price of cotton should go very much below these figures a holding movement would be the result and prove very effective. Those who are afraid the farmers will attempt to speculate by a holding movement are probably those profiteers who have been charging three dollars per bushel for meal all the year and profiteering otherwise.

J. L. GORE THANKS VOTERS FOR NOMINATING HIM FOR SHERIFF

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 21, 1918.
To the Republicans of Chilton Co:

I take this opportunity of expressing my sincere appreciation of the honor you have conferred upon me by giving me the nomination for the office of Sheriff; and I want to extend my heartfelt gratitude to those who voted for me and who stood by me so loyally. To those who opposed me, I have only the kindest feelings; you certainly had a right to support the man of your choice.

Now that the nominations are made, I earnestly solicit the support of a solidly united party not only for myself but for the entire ticket. There will be no dirty politics in my campaign; it will be conducted upon a high plane. And I promise here and now that, if the people will elect me Sheriff of this county, I will give the best that is in me toward a faithful and efficient discharge of all the duties of the office, and, God being my helper, no act of mine shall bring shame or regret to you.

The gentlemen on the ticket with me are men of the highest character, and their party loyalty and party service are almost beyond compare, so that I call upon all the people to put forth their best efforts to elect the entire ticket.

Sincerely,
JOHN L. GORE.

EDUCATIONAL RALLY AT MT. CARMEL SCHOOLHOUSE

There will be an all-day educational rally at the Mt. Carmel School House, eight miles west of Clanton and five miles southwest of Thorsby, on Friday, August 30. Refreshments for all at noon.

Dr. V. J. Gragg will speak for us in the forenoon, and Prof. H. C. McDonald in the afternoon.

Everybody interested has a special invitation to come and spend the day with us. Come. It will do you good and help us too.

DISTRICT CONVENTION OF REPUBLICAN PARTY

To be Held at Birmingham, Alabama, Wednesday, August 28th.

The Republican District Executive Committee of the Fourth District of Alabama issues and promulgates the following call for a delegated convention of the Republican party of the Fourth District of Alabama, to be held in the City of Birmingham, Alabama, on Wednesday, the 28th day of August, 1918, at 11 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress from the Fourth District of Alabama to the Sixty-Fifth Congress, and to transact such other business as may properly come before said convention.

Delegates from the several counties entitled to representation in this convention shall be elected or selected in the following manner: by primary elections held in conformity with the laws of Alabama on the 13th day of August, 1918, or by county mass meetings held at or near some voting precinct of the county on the 13th day of August, 1918, as provided by the laws of this State, or in county delegated conventions on the 14, 15, 16 or 17 days of August 1918, and in case of a county delegated convention the delegates from the several precincts of the county shall be elected at beat or precinct meetings held at or near the voting places in each beat or precinct on the 13th day of August, 1918, as provided by the laws of this State.

That the representation of the counties of this District in this convention shall be one delegate for each one hundred votes cast for the Republican electors in the election for president in the general election of 1916, or majority fraction of one hundred votes so cast, provided that any county that cast as many as twenty-five votes for the republican candidates for electors in the election of 1916, shall be entitled to one delegate in this convention.

Upon the basis of official election figures furnished the apportionment of delegates from the several counties of the District to this convention is as follows:

Chilton County,	14.
Cleburne County	6
Dallas County,	0
Shelby County,	14
Talladega County,	4
Calhoun County,	4

That immediately after holding the county primary, county mass meeting or county delegated convention, the chairman and secretary of the Republican county committee in the case of a primary election and the chairman and secretary of the county mass meeting or delegated convention as the case may be, shall make and certify to the list of delegates elected in said county and immediately forward to W. H. Gillespie, Clanton, Ala., such list or credentials of the delegates from the several counties. That this call shall be printed in some newspaper in the District, that one copy shall be mailed to each member of this committee and one copy to the chairman of each county executive committee in the District.

GILLESPIE THANKS PEOPLE FOR VOTES, AND PLEDGES SUPPORT

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 20, 1918.

Editor Union-Banner:
Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words to the people of the county, in regard to the past primary.

First, I will say, that I want to thank the people that supported me, and that I certainly did and always will appreciate what support and assistance that my friends gave me in my race for Sheriff. Especially do I want to thank the people of old Beat Five, my home beat, for giving me the united Republican vote of that beat; and I want to say to you people that I will ever hold sacred the confidence that you had in me, and I shall ever try to act in such a way that that confidence you have shown in me will not be shaken.

I wish to say to the people who supported my opponent that I have nothing but the kindest feelings for you, believing that in casting your vote for Mr. Gore, you believed that you were doing the best thing for the people of the county and the party.

Respectively of how you voted in the primary, I shall be in the future as in the past, ever ready to lend all honorable assistance possible to the party and its nominees. In conclusion, I will say that I expect to do as I have always have done—stand by the Republican party in this campaign, and use my humble efforts to elect the Republican ticket in the November election.

W. H. GILLESPIE.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE 96.

On the front page of this paper is the likeness of a man who needs no introduction to the people of Chilton County. Everybody in the County knows him, and before his rigid yet sympathetic face becomes severely wrinkled with care and age, we shall know him better than we do now.

Mr. John L. Gore stands high in the mind of his fellow men. This fact is evidenced by the race he ran in the recent primary for Sheriff. He was considered by the people as the man most competent for the position, and for that reason they have conferred upon him the second highest honor of any man in the county.

Elsewhere in this issue, you will find an article of appreciation from Mr. Gore, to the voters of the county. He doesn't fail to remember who lends him their aid. This has always been his policy, and we pledge that he will carry it out, when he becomes Sheriff of Chilton County. Although he says in his letter, that he shall have a feeling toward those who choiced to vote against him; and we believe that he has the grit and backbone to do it till the last day of his term expires.

Advice to save the pennies is going around again, but you have to save something larger than pennies if you expect to get anywhere these days.

SIGN YOUR NAME TO LETTERS

We wish to impress upon our correspondents that it is absolutely necessary for their names to accompany each and every article sent us for publication. If it is preferred that your name not be signed in the paper, or if you wish some sensible fictitious name to be signed, just merely say so, and it will be done when the type is set; but the letters must be signed by the person sending it if we publish it. This is required by law.

WILL BE A WILSON BOARD

The resignation from the Federal Reserve Board of Paul M. Warburg, following so closely on the heels of Frederick Delano's resignation, has Washington and the country agog. Warburg was four years on the board recently as vice-governor. He was appointed before we got into the war, and he is reported to have two brothers who are working for Germany's cause. Fort his reason he gives out that to reappoint him would subject the administration to criticism. That seems effectually to block any attempt to induce him to reconsider. It is reported in Washington, however, that Warburg, together with other members of the board, are more or less incensed at the dictatorial methods pursued by Secretary McAdoo and his understudy, John Skelton Williams, and they do not wish further to be identified with a governmental agency in which their participation is about that of an office boy. Warburg was formerly a member of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., New York City, which would indicate that he knows a little more about the banking game than does John Skelton Williams, of Richmond, Va. It was the intention of congress, and so provided for in the enabling act of the Federal Reserve Board, that it should be a non-partisan, or, if you choose, a bi-partisan board. I emphatically was not. The President picked his men with one eye on their politics, and the Republicans didn't have a look in. That the two vacancies caused by the resignation of Warburg and Delano will be filled, not by Democrats, but by Wilson men, is confidently predicted.

THANKS TO CORRESPONDENTS

We wish to thank the many good people of the different communities who so willingly comply with our recent entreaty that they send us the happenings of their respective communities. Quite a number have sent us some good letters and we were more than glad to publish them in full; and we are quite sure that our readers were glad to read them. We promise you that if you will continue sending us the good news of your localities that we will do our best to give you a decent county paper to read. But without it we cannot.

Speak a good word for Clanton.

LIBERTY LOAN INTEREST RATE

Secretary McAdoo has definitely announced that the Fourth Liberty Loan bonds will bear 4 1/2 per cent interest. The Secretary has been insistent that the government interest rate should be stabilized at 4 1/2 per cent. He points out that a raise in the rate of interest of only one-fourth of one per cent on $10,000,000,000 of government bonds would mean an annual increase of $25,000,000 in interest charges, and that this money would have to be raised by increased taxation and paid by the people of the country. It would not be paid by one class only, because there are consumption as well as other kinds of taxes, and the consumption taxes reach every class of people.

"As an intelligent people," said Secretary McAdoo during the Thord Liberty Loan campaign, "we should now make a stand for the financing of our government during the period of this war at a stabilized rate of interest, say at 4 1/2 per cent per annum, so that all business and all investments may be adjusted to that basis, and so that we ourselves may protect ourselves against a successively increased rate of interest on government loans."

Neither our patriotism nor our support of the Liberty Loans are measured in fractions of per cent.

THORSBY NOTES

Major James M. Graham, Field Director for the American Red Cross, with headquarters at Camp Greenleaf, near Chattanooga, Tenn., was here several days last week, leaving with his family for that point last Thursday morning, where they expect to reside while Mr. Graham is stationed there. During the two years they have been in Thorsby the Grahams have made a host of friends who regret that Mr. Graham's work takes them away from Thorsby. Lorena and Almon were very popular among the young people and will be greatly missed in all the social gatherings and in the church and school.

Rev. James W. Davenport and family arrived in Thorsby Thursday of last week. Mr. Davenport has been called as pastor of the Congregational Church. He will also take up work as Boys' Preceptor for Thorsby Institute when school opens in September. Quite a goodly number were out Sunday morning to welcome the new pastor and his wife to their work.

A caucus of the citizens of the Town of Thorsby was held in the public school building Monday night. Their chief business was the nomination of candidates for town offices for the next two years. As the attendance was rather small the citizens present concluded to name two sets of candidates for each office. The candidates for Mayor are C. H. Thomsen and E. F. Mead; for councilmen, E. H. Adams, G. Berlin, G. D. Edwards, G. W. Freeman, A. Gentry, S. E. Norton. The Council also asked for the appointment of the following as school trustees for this district: C. S. Howard, S. E. Norton, C. A. Peterson. The caucus also put itself on record unanimously as opposed to the calling of an election to decide the question of the purchase of a fine fire engine. The Treasurer presented a report showing that the town is practically out of debt. As four years ago the indebtedness of the town was over $1,000 this report gave much satisfaction.

The Ladies Guild will meet Thursday of this week with Miss Clara Soberg. A cordial invitation is extended to all the ladies of Thorsby to attend this meeting.

The friends of Prof. C. M. Williams will regret to learn that he expects to move from Thorsby this week. Prof. Williams has been connected with the Thorsby Institute for the past two years and in his work as disciplinarian and teacher in the school made for himself an enviable place in the hearts of the young people. The good wishes of their many friends follow Prof. and Mrs. Williams to their new work.

Miss Nolia Robinson, who has been teaching school this summer in Albertville, is at home on a week's vacation.

Mr. Clarence Butler, accompanied by his wife and little daughter, came up from Montgomery Saturday. They are at the Teachers' Cottage for a weeks vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Horn spent the week-end with relatives here.

Prof. S. H. Herbert and family who have been away on a months vacation, are expected home this week. While away they spent ten days with Mrs. Herbert's mother, Mrs. E. C. Dippery in Washington, D. C. On their return trip they will visit their friends in Ohio.

Mr. Raymond Carlson will leave Thursday of this week for Rockford, Illinois, where he will attend college the coming year.

The friends of Miss Mae Stoddard will be pleased to know that she has again been secured at a teacher in Thorsby Institute. It is expected she will arrive in Thorsby the latter part of this month.

MR. JOHN HAYES EXPRESSES THANKS TO VOTERS OF CO.

I wish to thank the good voters of Chilton County who remembered me in the primary election of August 13 by giving me their support; however, I do not feel at all out with those who voted against me. It was their privilege, and an exalted one, to vote for their choice.

I hereby promise to support to the best of my ability those of our men who were so fortunate as to receive nomination for the various offices, all of whom I believe to be worthy and competent men.

Sincerely,
JOHN HAYES.

GERMANS CHANGE OPINION OF YANKS

OF CONTEMPTUOUS VIEW.

DEAF NOT GOOD AVIATORS

Tests at Mineola Dispel a Widespread Delusion—Purchasers Now Find Fewer Varieties From Which to Choose, Because of Conservation.

(From Committee on Public Information.)
Washington.—The contemptuous opinion of the Germans for the fighting ability of American troops changes overnight as shown by the diary of a German officer who was captured and taken into American lines by the marines.

The writer of the diary, Reserve Lieutenant Tillmanns, belonged to the Second battalion of the Fortieth regiment, Twenty-eighth division, the fourth division which the marines had against them in the fighting around Chateau Thierry. The other three divisions were so badly cut up they could not carry out their orders to attack. Lieutenant Tillmanns wrote:

"June 7.—At the Front. American troops have made counter-attacks. We have to move to the front again. Route of march over Rocourt Epauux. We are lying in the woods to the right of Etrepilly, for the present in position. In the night of the 8th and 9th we will relieve the front line. It must be a sad outfit which allows itself to be thrown out by the Americans. In the evening of the day of the 8th there was heavy artillery fire. Fortunately the artillery fire did not reach us."

"June 8 to 9.—Moved forward at night and relieved the Four Hundred and Sixty-first regiment at four in the morning in the Bois de Belleau. Incomprehensibly wide sector. Where there were three companies we have only one."

"June 9 to 10.—The worst night of my life. I am lying in the thick woods on an open height in little holes behind rocks—for this is heavy artillery fire—until six o'clock in the morning. It is a wonder that the fellows were all at their posts when the Americans attacked. The attack, thank God, was repulsed. God has again mercifully preserved me."

The diary ends abruptly here, as the next day the writer was a prisoner in the hands of the Americans.

Deaf mutes will not be accepted for the aviation war service by the division of military aeronautics. Hundreds of young men have been encouraged to seek such enlistments by unauthorized statements which are being investigated because of a suspicion that German propaganda might be at the bottom of the agitation.

The medical research laboratory at Mineola, L. I., conducted a series of tests to ascertain what effect, if any, the absence of the delicate balancing apparatus that exists in normal inner ears has upon persons who are without them. The erroneous idea was circulated that since deaf mutes possess little, if any, sensitivity of the inner ear they would be little subject to dizziness and therefore make good flyers.

Seven deaf mutes who had never flown were blindfolded, seated in planes and told that after reaching a certain level the pilot would execute a number of evolutions which he, the passenger, was to record and to make particular note in which the plane had been turned to the right or left, up or down. The flights included stretches of level flying, climbing, left and right turns, dips and banks.

Being blindfolded and minus the equilibrium of balancing organs in their ears, the deaf mutes failed to note changes of even as much as 90 degrees. They could not differentiate the deepest right from the deepest left banks, nor notice the difference between climbing or diving in a practically vertical position. They were virtually lost in space.

Members of the medical research laboratory have reported officially that the less the sensitivity of individuals to change of position the less efficient would these individuals be in the air; and that it would be ridiculous for deaf mutes to attempt to fly. It has been determined that one who shows by the turning chair tests that he has a normal ear mechanism possesses good detection of movement in the air, and that one who fails to pass this test possesses poor detection of movement in the air.

Wool stocks held by dealers and manufacturers in the United States on June 30 last amounted to 466,490,000 pounds, grease equivalent, as compared with 585,000,000 pounds, grease equivalent, on the corresponding date of last year.

During the first seven months of the present year the army required 1,612,318 cases of evaporated milk, the equivalent of 77,391,024 quarts of fresh milk.

The United States employment service found positions for 1,861,392 persons during the year ending July 30 last.

The commercial apple crop for the present year is estimated at 25,711,000 barrels, an increase of 15 per cent over 1917.

When you go to the store nowadays to buy cloth or shoes or a bed or a plow or an automobile tire, you should not be surprised or disappointed if you do not find as great a variety to choose from as in the past. The conservation division of the war industries board is responsible for this condition.

This division has reduced already the number of sizes of automobile tires from 287 to 33 and more are to be cut from time to time. Over 2,000 sizes and types of plows and tillage implements that can be spared without hardship to the farmers have been eliminated in accordance with the plans worked out by the conservation division.

This means that the manufacturers will be able to secure economy in production and the amount of materials and capital tied up in the manufacturers' and dealers' stocks throughout the country will be greatly reduced. This program of elimination, moreover, is making it possible for the steel mills to turn out their product more rapidly and thus the production of steel for ships and munitions is speeding up.

There will be only 30 styles of metal beds made hereafter. There will be only 32 shades of house paint, only 10 kinds of architectural varnish, only one-fourth as many sizes and kinds of stoves and furnaces. Similar plans are being worked out for every industry. These plans are all based on the need of conservation to help supply the men who are in the trenches and the war industries board expects the co-operation of merchants and the public generally in accepting these reductions in variety. The conservation division says we surely can get along during the war without all the frills that we have indulged in during peace times. The purpose of all these plans is to help win the war.

The occupation in which Mexican laborers may engage after being admitted to the United States under the special provisions temporarily modifying the head tax, literacy test and contract labor provision have been extended by Secretary of Labor Wilson.

The first order permitted Mexican laborers coming to this country to engage in agricultural pursuits, railroad maintenance of way and lignite coal mining. To this list has been added mining of all kinds and common labor work in connection with public construction in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and southern California.

To facilitate the admission of Mexican laborers they will be permitted to enter the United States at all ports of entry along the Gulf of Mexico and on the Atlantic coast as far north as Charleston, S. C., in addition to the entry ports along the Mexican border.

Encouraging reports are being received from the border states as to the effect the influx of Mexican labor is having in alleviating local labor shortage. The demand and supply for farm hands is about balanced, is the report, and any shortage of labor heretofore existing has been relieved. Many of these new immigrants are cutting cotton in the Southwestern states.

The Military Dispatch Riders' organization has been developed by the American expeditionary forces in France as an additional method for transmitting communications. It is picturesque, and has served to knit the army more closely together by the actual physical transmission of official orders and communications.

The riders, successors to the old type of army couriers and brothers in spirit of the pony express riders of the Western plains, are entrusted with the work of keeping the corps in touch with the divisions, the divisions with the brigade, and the brigade with the regiment for detailed orders, letters and important packages of papers that cannot be transmitted promptly and safely in other ways.

Mounted on motorcycles and burdened with only a pouch or knapsack in which the papers are carried, the military riders cover distances of 100 miles in three hours over the smooth French roads. Each rider is chosen carefully for his expertness in driving a motorcycle, his ability to repair his machine under all conditions and his coolheadedness and resourcefulness in emergencies, as his route may take him over shell-swept roads and the darkness of night may bring him near the enemy positions. The messages he carries must be delivered, and distance, weather conditions, shellfire or enemy raids must not stay him in the completion of his scheduled rounds.

Many of the riders work in pairs, so that when a route is arranged between two towns at a distance of 150 miles or thereabouts, quarters can be established for both at each town and each rider alternates in occupying the quarters that the daily schedule may be maintained. A complete network of dispatch riders covers the entire military organization of the American expeditionary forces, and is at high point in its motorization. It is strictly a product of American readiness and quickness in adopting all means that will help the army to act as fast as it thinks.

A design for the United States war industries badge, to be worn by deserving civilian war workers, has been approved by Secretary of Labor Wilson, and will be ready for distribution September 1.

The badge will be disk-shaped, slightly larger than a quarter, and will be attached to a red, white and blue enamel bar one and three-quarters inches long. Four consecutive months of uninterrupted service in war production will entitle the worker to the first badge, which will be of bronze.

LIBERTY LOAN LESSONS

That the Liberty Loans have been a success is due to the business men of the country; to the banks; the banking houses; and to the associations of advertising men throughout the land.

There has been no Government money available to cover the expenses of selling campaigns. It has been thought in Washington that funds for this purpose were unnecessary. Experienced business men and bankers, however, knew from the start the necessity of wide publicity and advertising and the necessity of personal and persistent solicitation.

The fact that there were no funds available for the purpose has made no difference. The thing had to be done, and the three Liberty Loans have been a success; made so by the enthusiastic, wholehearted, unselfish patriotism of the men who knew how to do it.

It is to these men that the credit of successfully floating the Liberty Loans belongs.

Within a short time we will be asked to subscribe to a fourth war loan bigger than any of the others. It is just as necessary that this should be a success as it was in the other cases. But the bonds will not sell themselves. It is going to require the most strenuous, persistent cooperative work on the part of the same class of men who made the former loans a success, before these new billions can be subscribed.

No estimate has ever been made of the value of the work donated by these agents in the past. It would be impossible to make such an estimate. Measured on the basis of compensation for work of a similar character, the sum might easily reach into the millions of dollars. Add to this the loss of other business that might have been handled profitably while so engaged, and the sum total would be greatly increased.

The government can afford to pay a fair and equitable compensation to the men who devote their trained energies to the task of making its war loans possible. Ability to do these things is the capital, the stock in trade of these men and these institutions. Have we reached that desperate stage where it is necessary that the Government "commandeer" the services of these trained experts? This may be putting it strongly, but the failure of the Government to provide compensation for such services amounts to "commandeering" for they are going to see it through anyway; they are going to see that every war loan is a success, pay or no pay; their patriotism will see to this.—From AMERICAN INDUSTRIES for July.

A BILIOUS ATTACK

When you have a bilious attack your liver fails to perform its functions. You become constipated. The food you eat ferments in your stomach instead of digesting. This inflames the stomach and causes nausea, vomiting and a terrible headache. Take three of Chamberlain's Tablets. They will tone up your liver, clean out your stomach and you will soon be well as ever. They only cost a quarter.

SANITARY SUGGESTIONS TO MILK CONSUMERS

By W. H. Eaton, Dairy Specialist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

The consuming public should insist on having milk delivered cold, even at a slightly greater expense. Milk should be kept covered at all times and for best results, should be held at as low a temperature as possible. If flies are found in a bottle of milk that has been exposed, it will be safer to turn the entire contents to waste, as there is no telling where the flies' feet have been.

Before opening a bottle of milk, wash the mouth of the bottle, and then discard the paper cap. If necessary to close the bottle, do so by inverting a drinking glass over same, as this thoroughly protects the entire top.

Get such information as will enable you to purchase milk intelligently; be interested in the sanitary conditions under which the milk you drink is produced; ask your milkman if he is willing to have you visit his dairy at some unexpected time.

Look at the bottom of your bottles for sediment, rather than at the top for a deep cream line; cleanliness is far more important to you than a little extra cream for your cereals or coffee. If sediment is present in the milk bottle, don't be satisfied until you get clean milk.

If your milkman says that his milk tests high, that does not mean that it is free from dirt and bacteria. Milk that has a fair test for butter fat, and is clean, is far better than milk testing above the average and containing sediment.

Buying loose milk—that is with which no pains have been taken to keep it pure, milk kept in open cans exposed to flies, dust and impurities of all kinds, and which is measured out at the time of delivery—is a very dangerous practice.

If you are getting clean milk, that is delivered cold, help your milkman to get more customers. The satisfaction of clean, cold milk, and your knowledge of the requirements which your milkman has to overcome, will convince you that any reasonable increase in price for his extra precautions and improved product is only a fair and just demand.

By comparison the price of beet sugar in Sweden is 14 cents a pound.

CONTROLLING THE TURNIP WEBWORM

By E. L. Thomas, Extension Entomologist.

(Prepared By Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.)

The cabbage webworm or turnip webworm has now become established in the Gulf and Atlantic states. These worms prefer to feed in the bud of young plants or on the underside of the leaves, also in the crown of plants like turnips and beets. On turnips they may burrow into the crown and also eat off the leaves at the base.

The worms spin a silken web at the base of the leaves and when resting they retreat beneath it, coming out when feeding, which generally occurs at night. Growth is completed in about two weeks when the caterpillar transforms to pupae. The most serious injury seems to occur in late summer, particularly to young fall cabbage and turnips.

The winter is passed in the pupal stage and by practicing clean cultural methods an excellent opportunity is presented to reduce their numbers.

Arsenicals may be used to poison the caterpillars since they are not hidden in their webs when feeding. Arsenate of lead dusted or sprayed on, using two ounces to five gallons of water is effective and without the least possible danger to anyone using the vegetables for food.

STORAGE HOUSE THE ONLY SURE METHOD SAVING SWEET POTATOES

By G. C. Starcher, Horticulturist Experiment Station and Extension Service.

(Prepared By Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.)

The protracted and unusually cold weather of the past winter demonstrated the value of the sweet potato storage house more clearly than ever before. It was also demonstrated that more careful attention must be given to the proper construction of the sweet potato storage house and adequate preparation made for maintaining the temperature in the house at or above 50 degrees at all times. Many losses were reported in sweet potato storage houses during the past year but in every case the loss could be traced directly to one or more of three causes:

First: The potatoes were not dug until some time after heavy freezing which had already caused some damage to roots lying near the surface.

Second: The houses were not properly constructed with reference to proper insulation and dead air space in the walls, ceilings and floors. A number of houses were properly provided with dead air space in the side walls but had not been provided with a dead air space in the floor or ceiling, such as is recommended in the standard plan provided by the Government.

Third: Insufficient plans had been made for maintaining a proper temperature inside during cold winter weather.

Where all three of the above faults were found in methods of harvesting and storing, there was almost a total loss of the crop.

Hundreds of growers who had been successful in storing in banks lost their entire crops, no matter what precautions were taken with reference to timely digging and careful preparation of the banks. The banking method at best is very wasteful and should be abandoned at the earliest possible opportunity.

Where the potatoes were dug at the proper season, stored and cured in properly constructed houses, and later provided with heat at the proper time to hold the temperature at or above 50 degrees, the potatoes kept throughout the entire winter and as late as July 1 in perfect condition.

Crop prospects at the present time are not promising for more than an average yield. The Irish potato crop of the United States does not promise anything like last year. Therefore, it is more important than ever that good care be taken of the present season's crop of sweet potatoes.

The Department of Horticulture at Auburn has published a bulletin describing methods of harvesting and curing sweet potatoes with detailed suggestions for the remodeling of old dwellings or other outbuildings for curing and storage purposes. The Department has also on hand for distribution plans for houses with capacities of 500 to 5000 bushels, with blueprint and photographic illustrations and detailed specifications of the lumber needed in the construction of houses of various sizes. This information is free and every person who has as many as 100 bushels of potatoes should write for it at once.

More sheep are needed on our Alabama farms, says the Alabama Extension Service of Auburn. These will not only make a profit for the owners, but will help to keep the place clean of weeds. There are many corners about the average farm full of unsightly patches of weeds. If a comparatively small number of sheep should be kept on the average Alabama farm there would be far less of these unsightly pests.

Mr. H. T. Gore, of Route 5, was in Clanton Tuesday.

NELSON WOULD CONCENTRATE

One of the maxims of warfare that Senator Knute Nelson learned during his services in the Union armies was that a military commander should not scatter his forces, but should keep them together where they can successfully receive and deliver heavy blows. Of course Mr. Nelson is anxious, like every other Senator, to aid the Russians in their efforts to establish a stable form of government that will enable them to resist the common enemy. But the only way we can do that, according to the Senator's theory of strategy, is to defeat the Germans in France. "The only direct way to help the Russian people is to destroy their enemy," declares Mr. Nelson, "and that enemy must be destroyed on the western front. There is no use in dissipating our forces in any other direction."

BANKSTON BROS.

Roberta, Ga., Jan. 21, 1917.—Old Kentucky Mfg. Co., Paducah, Ky.

Gentlemen: A Mr. Will Watcher of this county has some hogs that were down with cholera and had given up all hopes of saving them and would not spend one penny on them. I gave him one 15 lb. pail of your B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder and he has just come in and paid me for it, and advises that every one of his sick hogs got well and that he had killed them and now has them in his smoke house and that they were as fine as any he had killed this year.

I want to add that he said his hogs were down and so sick that he had to prize their mouths open and his wife poured the powder down their throats.

Please find check in full of my account and with kindest regards we beg to remain,

CHILTON BOY WITH A. E. F. SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

The following letter is handed us by Miss Julia Parrish, which she received from one of her old pupils, who is now with the Ex. Forces of the American Transports, France: Miss Julia Parrish:

Clanton, Ala.

Kind Friend:

No doubt, this will be quite a surprise to you, nevertheless, strange things will happen sometimes; and I guess you will think this is one time that a strange thing has happened by getting a letter from me. I never forget anyone, and I thought maybe you would be interested in hearing from this strange place over here. It is a strange place to me, but I am getting more and more acquainted with it as time passes. Being over here is very much different from being in dear old U. S. A., but I think we will be back soon; I hope so any way.

Very often we have some exciting times over here, mixed with some other kind of things, which makes it all go all right. We have the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and the Salvation Army, and they are all sure doing their part for the soldiers, and I sure do think the folks at home ought to support them, and if they only knew what they have done for the boys over here they would not hesitate in doing so.

Miss Parrish, if our people could only see the poor people here at work, and especially the women—they wear wooden shoes and have to work all the time. It makes my heart ache to see them have to work as they do.

I will stop as time is short. I will write more next time if I hear from you. If you do write in answer to this, please tell me all the news in a long letter to one of your old School Pupils.

REVIVAL AT CANE CREEK

Old Brother M. J. Parrish was in our office last Saturday, and told us about what a successful meeting he had just closed at one of his churches—Cane Creek—a few days before. Bro. Parrish reported that thirty-four members were received into church, thirty-two of whom were candidates for baptism. The sacred ceremony will be administered to these candidates the Second Sunday in next month.

Bro. Parrish stated that in all the meetings he has held this year, he has put forth special attention in behalf of the boys from our county who are in the national service. He says that the boys are remembered in every one of his prayers, and that he is continually praising God and asking Him to bless our dear boys that are called away from those who love them so dearly, and at last safely return them to their wanted freedom and to home.

We deem this a move that deserves the praise and adoration of all our people and of all our churches. Most all of our religious institutions are giving some prayer and consideration to our soldier boys, but we think it would be a good idea for us all, as Bro. Parrish has done, to give to them our special spiritual efforts, and fall upon our knees daily for their welfare and Godly protection.

Sequel To Love For Doll

Maternal Instinct Greatly Developed by Teaching Children to Love their Dolls.

The little child's doll is mother to the most romantic fairy. And in the years that pass, the doll fades into the petals of a June rose, to evolve the most wondrous of all transformations.

And now comes a more serious period when the joy of real motherhood should be as tranquil as best efforts can provide.

This is accomplished with a wonderful remedy known as Mother's Friend. An external application so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate the myriad network of cords, tendons, nerves and muscles just beneath the skin of the abdomen. It relieves the tension, prevents tenderness and pain at the crisis and enables the abdomen to expand gently. The muscles contract naturally after baby arrives and the form is thus preserved.

It should be applied daily, night and morning, during the period of expectancy. By regular use it enables the abdomen to expand without the usual strain when baby is born. Naturally, pain and danger at the crisis is less.

You will find Mother's Friend on sale at every drug store. It is prepared only by the Bradford Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. They will send you an instructive "Motherhood Book" without charge. Write them to mail it to you. Do not neglect for a single morning or night to use Mother's Friend. Obtain a bottle from your druggist today by all means, and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort.

GENERAL SUGAR CONSERVATION

Is sugar necessary in the diet?

Neither cane nor beet sugar is necessary. In the average American diet all the sugar needed may ordinarily be supplied by using honey, sirups, fresh, preserved and dried fruits.

What are the general sugar saving rules?

Use all sugar sparingly and wherever possible use other sweeteners. Be sparing of confections and sweet cakes. The American people last year spent enough money for candy to feed all Belgium for two years. Supplement sugar with honey and sirups. Cultivate a taste for fruit in its natural sweetness. Sugar is a fuel food. Get fuel from potatoes and other starchy foods rather than from sugar. Sugar excels them as an energy-food only because it produces energy more quickly. They excel sugar since they supply more than merely the fuel need.

How may the sugar ration be expressed in quantities known to everyone?

Two pounds per month means about 8 ounces per week, or a little more than 1 ounce a day. This daily ration is a trifle more than 2 tablespoons level full. It should be remembered that this is to include all sugar used for any purpose whatsoever—for table use, cooking, in ice cream and desserts, on cereals or fruit, in sugar sirups used on griddle cakes, etc.

STOP that Indigestion

Your stomach—does it ever bother you? That's a sure sign something's wrong—indigestion, constipation, lazy liver, clogged kidneys, impure blood. Nature is warning you, and you had better heed the warning.

Nature not only warns us, but also provides the remedy. There are eight great herbal remedies that give positive relief in all kinds of indigestion. These have been combined into one great nature medicine—Vin Hepatica, the universal system purifier.

L. F. Sweeney, a Nashville traveling man, broke down as a result of the meals he was forced to eat on the road. Indigestion and constipation of the worst kind caused him an old suffering. Vin Hepatica restored him and as he puts it, made him "fit as a fiddle."

Vin Hepatica is surely a matchless tonic for regulating the bowels and building up the entire system. Try a bottle on out. Say so that it is a real medicine.

Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

SHOULTS

Dear Editor:

It has been so long since anything was written from this neck of the woods that I thought I would write a few lines.

We have fine crops which we should be thankful for, especially we should be thankful for the good meeting that was conducted by Rev. Bice of Billingsley. Sixteen new members were baptised.

By the way, I think old Pleasant is coming to the front. Now, boys let's all pull together and see if the cart will not move more nicely.

WEST CHILTON

Last week was a stirring time in this part—two protracted meetings in progress, and the primary election on Tuesday, a wedding on Wednesday. In the middle of the week Mr. Thornton of the International Bible Students Association came and delivered a series of lectures for two days, but now everything is about normal again.

Mr. Rolly Waldrup of Camp Pike, Arkansas, visited his people here last week, returning Sunday.

The Macedonia people held a Baptismal service here Sunday. Rev. Dunlap administered the holy rite.

Cotton fields are beginning to show the fleecy staple.

There was a large crowd at Freeman Schoolhouse Sunday afternoon at the singing.

Mr. DuBose of Rocky Mount came down to the lectures last week.

The revival services at Mars Hill closed last week with seven added to the church.

Married Wednesday—Mr. Tubbs to Miss Pearl Atchison. We extend congratulations.

The primary is over and people in this section seem satisfied.

Mrs. Mary Waldrup of Fenwood visited South Mars Hill community last week.

Automobiles are on the increase here.

While the writer is not an octogenarian, yet we remember when only one buggy could be found here. Now the cars are rapidly putting the buggies out of business. We note that Messrs E. J. Scott, E. G. Cofer, Dee Nix, J. P. Gentry, Clyde Atchison, W. R. Clements, T. J. Hubbard, Dudley Nix, Layton Gibson and C. E. Glass, all own cars. This is a radical change, yet it excites no one. Greater changes are coming and people will be ready for them. The new order of things draws nearer in church and in state.

Mr. Thornton's lectures here last week are reported as extremely fine, being timely, right up to the minute. He held his audiences spell-bound for two hours at a time, as he discussed biblical subjects. He left here for Birmingham on No. 20, via the Southern.

Mr. John T. Weeks of Randolph was here last week.

All honor to the unsuccessful candidates, in proving themselves real men of sterling worth, loyal to their party, true to their pledges, they after all, are the real victors.

Miss Tempie Smith visited her cousin, Miss Mae Waldrup of Fenwood Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Belle Waldrup of Rocky Mt. attended the lectures here last week.

We were pleased to read Mr. Headley's communication in last week's Banner.

Mrs. H. M. Eagle has just closed a successful music school at Macedonia. She is quite an efficient teacher.

PRIVATE HENRY JONES
WRITES FROM MOULTRIE, S.C.

Dear Editor:
Please give me space in your paper for a few lines.

The boys around old Fort Moultrie are enjoying life fine. We have a good bunch of boys here, also good officers.

I am in the Medical Dept. U. S. Hospital. Major Pipes is in command of the medical department. He is well liked by all here. There isn't near as much sickness here at the present time as there has been. I am very well satisfied here.

I sure do want to see my home folks, and I think I will get to see Chilton county again in a month or two. I have been on the Island nine months. I went out to the Island of Palms Sunday and had a very pleasant time.

With best wishes to all, I am,
Pte. HENRY JONES,
Med. Dept. U. S. Hospital,

CURE FOR DYSENTERY.

"While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman overheard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Whitelaw, of Des Moines, Iowa. "He told me in detail of what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he did, and fully believes that by doing so saved the life of his child. He states that he had used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results."

BIG DAY AT SHILOH

It is a rare occasion for an all-day singing to be held on weekly days, but such was the case at Shiloh Church last Thursday. The occasion was held many visitors from foreign sections. school of Prof. Raymond Brigrance, at that place.

Although unusual, this was an occasion of keen enjoyment to the home folks of that community and to the many visitors from foreign sections.

TREATING INFLAMED
EYES OF CATTLE

By C. A. Cary, Veterinarian Alabama
Experiment Station.

(Prepared By Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.)

Nearly every year an eye disease known as Infectious Keratitis and Conjunctivitis appears in some herds of cattle in Alabama. It is caused by some infection. I have long believed it to be due to some small insects that get into the eye. It is well known that there are small gnats or other insects that get into the eye of people and produce an intense burning, irritating sensation until removed, and sometimes produces more or less inflammation of the lining of the eyelids and cornea, and the final result may be a scar and loss of sight.

The eyes first appear inflamed; tears flow freely; eyelids closed; animals appear to suffer great pain; in the course of a few days an ulcer appears, usually near the center of the cornea; then the surrounding parts of the cornea are more or less white and streaked with small blood vessels running irregularly from the border of the cornea to the ulcer. Some cases result in a large scar and a white opaque cornea, causing blindness. Other cases recover, leaving a small white scar. Still other cases completely recover, leaving the cornea transparent and apparently normal.

Treatment is helpful and good if properly done. Put the infected cattle into a shady Bermuda pasture entirely separated from all other cattle or animals. Bathe the affected eyes twice a day with water and cotton that have been boiled and cooled. During the first two or three days after bathing touch the ulcer with a small piece of cotton on the unburned end of a match, after the cotton has been dipped into the following: Get a brown one ounce bottle and fill it with pure, clean water that has just been boiled, put a piece of stick of silver nitrate one-third inch long into the bottle; cork and shake it until all is dissolved. Make this up fresh every day.

After two or three days stop using the above and with a dropper put a few drops of the following into each affected eye after each bathing:

Tannic Acid ..... 1 dram
Carbolic Acid ..... 10 drops
Glycerine ..... 1 dram
Pure Water ..... 1 ounce

SECURING STAND OF BUR CLOVER

By M. H. Pearson, Assistant in Agriculture.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Bur clover seed is found on the market in two forms; seed that is held in the bur, and cleaned seed without the bur. If cleaned seed be used it will be necessary to use some sort of inoculation; either commercial inoculation, or soil on which either bur clover, alfalfa or melilotus has been growing. If soil be used, approximately 300 to 500 pounds per acre, mixed with the seed, scattered broadcast on the soil to be planted is sufficient. This soil should be broadcast on a cloudy day or at a time when the sun will not strike the soil, as sunshine will kill the bacteria.

If clean seed is used, the date of planting may be somewhat later than when sown in the bur. In the northern part of the state September and October would be the best time for sowing, and for southern Alabama it may be sown as late as November 15, although best results will come from an earlier seeding.

Seed sown in the bur after September 15 should be given the hot water treatment. The treatment consists of three containers, either tubs, barrels or pots. Container No. 1 should contain cold water; container No. 2 hot, but not boiling, water; and container No. 3 boiling water. There should also be a small container in which the water is kept boiling in order to keep container No. 3 always at the boiling point.

The seed is placed in a sack and lowered in container No. 1, and let remain for at least two hours. Occasionally this sack should be moved up and down in order to wash out all the inoculating bacteria possible in this container. After this has been done move the sack into container No. 2, and leave for four to ten minutes to slightly raise the temperature of the seed. Then place in container No. 3 in boiling water for exactly one minute by the watch. There should be at hand boiling water, in another vessel, so that it may be added to container No. 3—in case it drops below boiling when the seed is first dropped in. Then place the sack of seed back into container No. 1 and leave for an hour, in order that the seed may be re-inoculated. Now sow the seed as soon as sufficiently dry. Do not dry in the sunshine.

The purpose of this treatment is to soften up the bur which surrounds the seed and hasten germination. If the above method is carried out the chances for a good stand of clover sown after September 15 is greatly increased.

THE RED CROSS

In the South we have not known very much, until the last year, of the great organization of the Red Cross, but it has been an established and recognized force for service in the United States for at least twenty-five years.

The leading spirit of its organization in America—its president for a long time—was Miss Clara Barton of Baltimore, whose name will always be inseparably associated with the American Red Cross, though she did not live to see it develop suddenly into a nation-wide absorbing interest with chapters and branches in well nigh every city, town, village, and community as it has since April, 1917. She did not live to see "Red Cross Work" collecting money, working in canteens, sewing, knitting and making bandages, become the chief comfort of the mothers, wives, sisters, daughters and friends of the men in the American army.

Hitherto, save in the Spanish-American War, its work in the United States has been directed to wherever great calamities have befallen—the fire in Baltimore, the earthquake in San Francisco, the cyclone-swept districts in the West, the floods of the Mississippi River—wherever a sudden calamity prevailed leaving great numbers lonesome and helpless, the Red Cross, with its trained nurses and efficient workers, has gone to the rescue, giving the immediate, practical and material aid most needed.

When the incessant rains of July, 1916 ruined the crops in sections of Alabama the Red Cross contributed fifty thousand dollars for the relief of those in parts of our state where the suffering was most severe. Its aid is always prompt, skillful and efficient, and one of the by-products of the education this war is giving us is that we are finding out something of the very great work that is being done by this splendid and effective organization.

Its plan to have a central chapter in each county seat, known as the county chapter with branches in each town and country community; each branch to have its own officers. The dues are one dollar a year, and absolutely the only obligation involved in joining the Red Cross—fifty cents to be kept by the branch to buy material and fifty cents to be sent to the county chapter to be forwarded to the Red Cross Headquarters.

Some have asked if joining the Red Cross meant "I will have to be a Red Cross Nurse," and some wished to know that if they joined would the Red Cross compel their sons to go into the army. It only means that you are a member and have paid your dues. You need not do any work if you do not want to; only if you are a man and can not go to fight, you will want to give some money to make it easier for those who have gone. If you are a woman and your son is in the army or the navy, or if any of the boys from your church or neighborhood are fighting in France, you will want to help. It will, in a measure, ease your heart to knit socks or make hospital shirts or hem bandages; so if your boy is wounded the Red Cross hospital in France will have what is needed to make him comfortable.

Something about the Red Cross and its work for the soldiers at home and in France and Italy will be published in this column for some weeks by the Chilton County Red Cross Chapter.

Senate Passes New Man Power Bill
By Unanimous Vote, With Modified Work or Fight Clause.

AMENDMENTS STEAMROLLED

As Measure Stands Must go to Conference Where Acceptance is Sure—No changes in Order.

Late Tuesday afternoon the Man Power bill bringing within the army draft all men from 18 to 45 years of age, was passed by the Senate, with a modified "Work or Fight" clause.

All efforts to change the age limits or to direct separate classification of youths under 21 failed, and the measure now goes to conference between the House and Senate with no difference for serious controversy except the "Work or Fight" provision.

The Senate was recorded unanimously for the bill. Senator Gore of Oklahoma, who cast the only negative vote on the roll call, withdrew it and was excused from voting.

The "Work or Fight" amendment is retained in the bill provides:

"That when a person shall have been placed in a deferred or exempted class for any of the reasons in this paragraph set forth, he shall not be entitled to remain therefore, unless he shall in good faith continue while physically able to do so, to work at the following such occupation, employment or business; and if he fails so to do, he shall again become subject to the draft. The President shall make regulations for enforcing this provision.

"This proviso shall not apply in the case of a strike if the strikers have submitted or are willing to submit the dispute to the War Labor Board, agree to abide and do abide by its decision and do at once resume work and continue work pending such decision. The said Board shall take up and decide all such disputes as speedily as practicable."

The final vote of the Senate was recorded today amid unchecked applause from the galleries filled with spectators, who attended today's session to witness final Congressional action on the measure that will add approximately 13,000,000 to the potential military strength of the nation. War Department chiefs are of the opinion that this army will enable the allies to defeat Germany next year. In conference the differences in the draft of the bill as passed today by the Senate and as enacted Saturday by the House by a vote of 336 to 2, are expected to be compromised speedily, and the bill in its final form transmitted to President Wilson for his signature late this week. Preparations. Provisions being made by Provost Marshal General Crowder to carry out the provisions of the measure are expected to insure the registration of all men between the ages of 18 to 21 and 31 to 45 within a week or ten days after the President attaches his signature.

The Senate adopted virtually all the principal provisions of the bill desired by the administration, including that giving the President authority to establish orders of call for service of the men affected. President Wilson is expected to follow the plans of the War Department, which, according to testimony before the Senate and House Military Committees by General March, chief of staff, and General Crowder, provide for the calling the youths of 18 years after the other classes have been summoned and the educating of such boys while training and prior to their being sent overseas.

Controversy which has engrossed the Senate since the bill's consideration was begun last Thursday, today centered in a spirited debate over the sentiment against calling youths under 21 and on the "Work or Fight" amendment. Before adopting by a vote of 40 to 28 the "Work or Fight" amendment providing subjection to the draft of men exempted for industrial and other reasons who do not continue at work a proviso was added that in case of strikes, penalties of the "Work or Fight" rule shall not apply if the men submit their disputes to the War Labor Board and continue their labor. This limitation, offered by Senator Cummins of Iowa, was incorporated.

Besides the "Work or Fight" amendment, the final fate of which generally is regarded in doubt because of House opposition and lack of administration support the Senate wrote in an amendment by Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, Republican, providing that draft boards shall determine questions of deferred classifications without requiring registrants to claim exemption or deferred classification.

MR. MARION WILSON SUCCEMS TO ILLNESS OF TYPHOID FEVER

On last Thursday occurred the death of Mr. Marion Wilson, who resided two and a half miles south of Clanton. Mr. Wilson had been quite ill for several days of Typhoid Fever, when death resulted. He was a son of Mr. Enoch Wilson of the Maple Springs Community, and was well known all over the county. His death was a great shock to his many friends. The funeral and burial ceremonies took place at the Clanton Cemetery Friday afternoon at one o'clock. The services were conducted by the Order of Red Men, of which fraternity, he was an active member.

JUDGE REYNOLDS REPLIES TO REPORTS OF CRAIG'S AUDITING IN MONTGOMERY ADVERTISER

The following Letter has been written by Judge L. H. Reynolds to the Montgomery Paper, which he Asked them to Publish.

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 28, 1918.
Editor Montgomery Advertiser:

I have seen extended articles in the Sunday's Advertiser relative to Mr. Craig's report upon the Chilton County official affairs, and I desire to make reply through your paper. I respectfully request that you give it just as prominent space as you did the article in question.

Craig finished the examination of this county early in January, yet the publication of it is withheld until this late day; and we are told in the Advertiser that portions of it border on the sensational. One of the "sensational" features of Craig's report is his criticism of me for using five hundred dollars obtained from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co., for the purpose for which it was obtained. It is notorious, not only in Chilton County, but throughout Alabama, that my predecessor in office sunk this county in debt something over two hundred thousand dollars. If this five hundred dollars had been paid into the county treasury, as Craig says, it should have been, it would have been applied on the payment of this indebtedness and the link in the Birmingham-Montgomery highway would still remain unfinished.

I am criticised by this juggler of facts for not paying $400 wagon tax into the county treasury. A sufficient answer to this is that the very law under which the tax was collected directed that I apply it to the improvement of the roads from which it was collected. He says that I paid the remainder of this money, which was $1700 into the treasury at his request. Craig knows that this statement is absolutely false, as I paid it into the treasury according to law and on the very day the law directed.

Craig criticizes the minutes of the Commissioners Court and the manner in which they are kept; yet, they were written up by the same clerk and in the same form that was used under the administration of Judge Deason, a Democrat.

We are criticized by Craig for the transfer of money from the road fund to the general fund and to the fine and forfeiture fund, in that he contends we had not the right under the law. During the time Craig was here he had pointed out to him an item of three thousand dollars which Judge Deason's (Democratic) administration had transferred from the fine and forfeiture fund to the general fund, and from that given to the county high school. Yet, in his efforts for a sensation he omits it entirely.

We transferred money from the road fund to the general fund for the reason that there was a deficit in the general fund of about $25,000, and the county was losing about 50 per cent on all its labor and material purchased. I will mention one contract which will explain this situation: Judge Deason's administration leased the building just north of the court house fort he tomato club at $75.00 per year, and yet Judge Deason wrote a warrant for $105.00 to pay this item. There was no money with which to pay the warrant and the additional thirty dollars was evidently added to protect the owner of the building when it came to discounting the warrant. Craig's attention was called to this, but he passed it up. If he had found a transaction like that in my affairs he would have had his "sensation" sure. There are numerous transactions like that under the Democratic administration, which cost the tax payers of this county thousands of dollars.

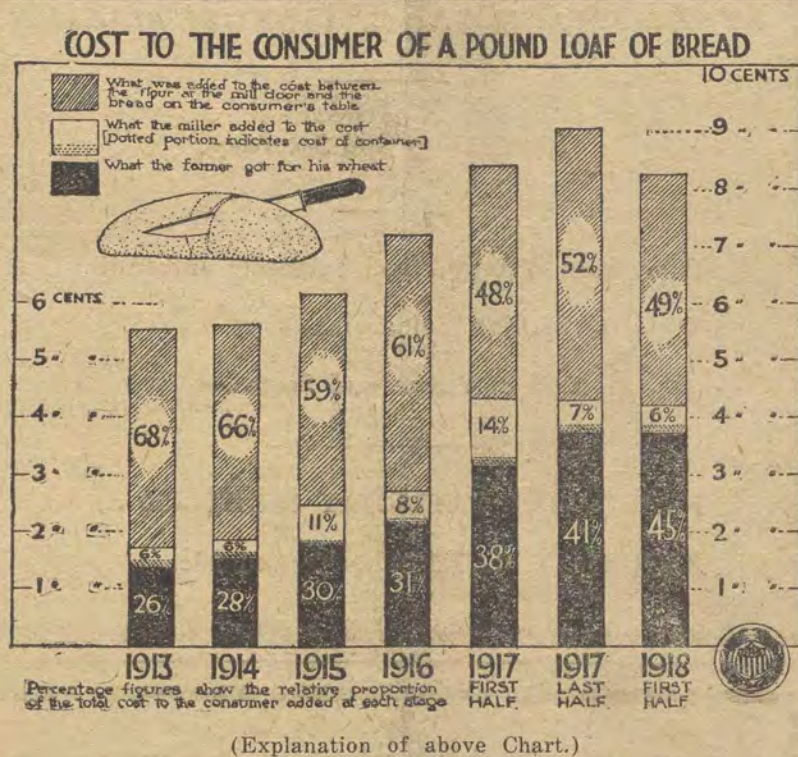

By transferring this money from one fund to another we have put the county on a cash basis and we have saved the county and the tax payers literally thousands of dollars, and all the money borrowed from one fund to another has been paid back.

Under Judge Deason's management of the county's affairs for six years, the general fund of the county was $25,000.00 in debt, and by putting the county on a cash basis and reducing expenses everywhere we could, we have saved $16,000.00 out of the general fund in two years. Every warrant of the county has been paid promptly.

The transfer of money made by Judge Deason which Craig refused to mention cost the tax payers thousands of dollars, and the transfer that we made which he criticises so severely saved the tax payers thousands of dollars. His transfer bankrupted the fine and forfeiture fund and witnesses coming to court had to sell their witness certificates to script buyers for less than 50 per cent. Our transfer put it on a cash basis and every man has been paid spot cash for claims against the county.

Mr. Craig said that I ordered publication of the list of qualified voters in both the Union-Banner and the Clanton Bress. In this statement Craig is a deliberate falsifier. These publications were made by Judge Deason, Democrat, and Craig knows it, and the records show it.

Craig falsifies again when he says that he examined me only from June 30th, 1917 to January 1, 1918. He examined every act of mine from the very day I went into office. He went

Since 1913, farmers have been receiving for their wheat a gradually increasing proportion of the price paid by the consumer for bread. The amount received by the wheat grower for his contribution to the average pound has increased from less than 1½ cents per loaf in 1913 to more than 3½ cents early this year. The portion to the whole price is shown by the relative length of the black columns of the chart.

The middle portion of each column shows what the miller received for his milling costs and profit. This has been a somewhat variable factor, but is now at the minimum (6 per cent.) In this 6 per cent, however, is included the cost of the containers bags, sacks, etc., shown as dotted area, which has increased nearly in proportion to the price of bread itself. Bags now cost about 50 per cent more than in 1913 and 1914.

The Shaded portion of the column represents the expense of distributing the flour, making it into bread and getting the loaf to the consumer.

The chart shows that the farmer is now receiving a much larger share of the final price for his product than in the past, and that a considerable amount of 'spread' has been taken out of other expenses.

through every transaction of mine, although Mr. McWilliams had examined the affairs of my office up to June 30th, 1918, and pronounced the conditions of the office O.K. Mr. McWilliams is a gentleman, and believes in a square deal. This fellow Craig resorted to every questionable method to get me into trouble while here. The first thing he did when he landed in town was to propose to borrow money from me. In God's name, what was his purpose in borrowing money from an official whom he was to check up, and whom he had never seen before? Mighty close to your sensation, Mr. Craig! Craig advised me not to have published an itemized statement of the Treasurer's Report, but only a recapitulation of it; when anyone would know that to follow his advice would be a violation of the penal law.

Craig says that the conditions were brought about by me in an effort to fulfill my political and my campaign promises. I want to plead guilty to the charge of trying to fulfill my campaign promises, but I must admit that to some people it would appear to be a crime to try to do after they were elected that which they promised before they were elected. If the campaign promises of my predecessor in office had been fulfilled, this county would have been several thousand dollars better off.

Craig refers to payment of stationery bills, and he knows the debt was incurred by Judge Deason's administration. It was behind on this item over three years and amounted to over $3,600.00. He criticizes the use by Sheriff Harris of a house belonging to the county, which was built by the county years ago and especially for the Sheriff. Every Sheriff of this county for more than 25 years has lived in a house belonging to the county, just as Sheriff Harris has done.

The two preceding sheriffs of this county, Catts and Jones, were Democrats, and they used the house without paying rent, and Craig knew it, for he went back to 1911 behind a number of other examiners, and picked out every act of the Republican Commissioners that he could find to criticize.

Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Craig was so anxious to find some thing against me that he went back over the previous examiners' work, he had to say that I have accounted for every dollar that came into my hands.

Craig refers to and criticizes the employment of Middleton and Reynolds, Attorneys. They were employed to defend the county in two cases—one where the Board of Equalization had sued the county, which suit they compromised, and the expense of the Equalization Board has been reduced nearly two thousand dollars per year; the other suit was J. M. Robinson sued the county for $1200.00, and they were successful in this case, saved the county $1200.00 and over $150.00 cost. Mr. Lawrence Gerald, a Democrat, was associated with them in the last case, and his fee paid by the county which was known to this sensation hunter, Craig; and yet, he does not even mention that fee nor charge me up with it. It may be of interest to the public to know that of the $570 which Craig says was paid to Middleton & Reynolds unlawfully that only $200 was paid them by my administration and the balance was paid them by Judge Deason, Democrat. Middleton & Reynolds were employed by Judge Deason to represent the county during his administration and he paid them for it, although the county never had any litigation during his term of office. This juggler of facts, Craig, must have known this, and a proper sense of decency and fairness would have caused him to disclose it. I have done the best I could for the county, and I challenge Craig, or any one else, to find an administration in Alabama that has done better under similar conditions. I have supervised all of the highways without compensation and strained every point to subserve the financial interests of the county.

I've been hounded by these political vultures for the last three years, and all because I stand between their soiled and greedy hands and county's treasury. I know the reason for all this near "sensation," but that can't bluff me. I am willing for the searchlight of truth be turned upon every official act of this administration, and, so help me God, I am going to protect the county's integrity and the county's money.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

P.S.—Craig had not been examining my books but a few days when a certain party went to several of my friends and told them I had better see him, as he was responsible for Craig being here, and unless I made terms with him I was going to be impeached. Craig knew this, for I discussed it with him. I did not see the party and will not next time.

Health of this place is fairly good except Milford Hayes, who is very sick; but we hope he will soon be up again.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Oden and little son, of Birmingham, were visitors here last week.

Udorous Killingsworth, of Bessemer, spent a few days lately visiting his grand parents in this community.

Prof. Bean made the school at this place a pleasant visit lately.

Willie Skelton of North Birmingham conducted preaching services on the South Side of this place Sunday night. His text was: "Let us Love," Luke 4:84. It was a very interesting sermon.

C. W. Scott and family of Mars Hill were visitors here last Saturday night.

Vester Atchison and Madison Hayes made a trip to Centerville last week as witnesses on the Stephenson and Atchison case.

Clarence Scott has returned from a few days stay in Florida.

Miss Mavis Killingsworth seems to be the best in the music class here.

CANDIDATE ADDS TOUCH OF HUMOR TO EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Race cost him $1,961; Lost 20 pounds flesh; Dog Bitten and then Beaten.

A certain candidate for a State office in the recent primary election, in a sworn expense account filed with the Secretary of State Wednesday, says he spent $1,861, and in an effort to show that he is taking his defeat gracefully he adds a humorous touch that resulted in many hearty laughs at the Capitol. Under the title of "further supplemented" the candidate says:

"I lost six months and ten days canvassing; lost 1,000 hours of sleep worrying over the results of the election; lost 20 pounds of flesh; kissed 500 babies; kindled 100 kitchen fires; put up 10 stoves; cut 11 cords of wood; pulled 400 bundles of fodder; walked 1,100 miles; shook hands 20,000 times; and talked enough to fill one month's issue of the New York World; was baptised four different times; made love to nine grass widows; got dog-bitten 39 times; and then got defeated. Who was it that said it was a long, long way to Washington by the Congressional Chair?"

PUBLIC CALLED UPON TO CUT
USE OF GASOLINE ON SUNDAY

Seeking to Conserve Supply of Gasoline, Federal Fuel Director Issues Appeal to People.

MANDATORY FOR NON-COMPLY

Request Hits Tax and Passenger Cars—Few Vehicles Exempted.

On August 27, the Federal Fuel Administration called upon the public in states east of the Mississippi River to cease the using of all classes of automobiles, with a few named exceptions, motor cycles and motorboats on Sundays, until further notice, as a gasoline conservation. Only voluntarily compliance with the letter and spirit of the request will prevent the issuance of a mandatory order prohibiting the use of gasoline on Sundays, it was declared at the Fuel Administration. Automobiles for hire are included in the curtailment program.

Motor vehicles to which the restrictions do not apply were announced as: tractors and motor trucks employed in actual transportation of freight; vehicles of physicians used in performance of professional duties; ambulances, police patrol wagons, undertakers wagons, and conveyances used for funerals; railway equipment using gasoline; repair outfits employed by telephone and public service companies; motor vehicles on errands of necessity in rural communities where transportation by steam or electricity is not available.

The action was taken by the Fuel Administration, it was stated, to meet the threatened shortage of gasoline for shipment overseas, created by increased domestic demands and extensive military operations in France. "The United States Fuel Administration considers it necessary that a limited conservation of gasoline be undertaken in the states east of the Mississippi River, in view of the increased demand for gasoline for war purposes and the paramount obligation of meeting promptly and fully all overseas requirements," said a statement issued jointly by Administrator Garfield and Mark S. Regua, director of the oil and division of the fuel administration.

"An appeal is made therefore, to the people of the United States east of the Mississippi River to exercise rigid economy in the consumption of gasoline during the next few weeks as a necessary and practical act of patriotism.

"War necessities are being and will continue to be promptly and fully met, but this is the period of the year when consumption of gasoline is at its highest, and increased domestic demands together with the extensive military operations in France, have rendered necessary, for a limited period, the adoption of safeguards against possible shortage.

"In view of the difficulty, if not the impossibility, of differentiating between the various uses to which automobiles are applied, the United States Fuel Administration believes that the greatest measure of economy can be effected with the least interference with the business of the country through discontinuance of the use of all classes of motor vehicles, motor boats, and motor cycles on Sundays. The United States Fuel Administration therefore, requests that in the section of the United States east of the Mississippi River, there shall be a discontinuance of the use of the vehicles above specified, including all such as are operated for hire, on each Sunday hereafter, until notification that the need for such discontinuance has ceased."

After listing the exceptions to the request, the statement makes an appeal "to the patriotic men and women of America, east of the Mississippi River, to undertake, voluntarily, additional conservation in the operation of their own automobiles wherever possible."

GRAMMAR SCHOOL OF CLANTON TO OPEN SESSION ON MONDAY

Prof. J. L. Johnson asks us to announce that his school will open on next Monday, September 2, and he boasts highly the fact that he can at last say that Clanton is going to give to her children nine months of free school. He says that the indications are now that the attendance is going to be very large. It is reported that several families are going to move to Clanton to get advantage of our school facilities. This shows in black and white what the three-mill school tax is doing for our public schools.

Everybody be sure and come and bring the boys and girls. The age limit is from seven up to twenty-one, provided they have not finished the seventh grade.

REV. J. A. CANNON DIES
AT MOUNTAIN CREEK

Rev. J. A. Cannon, who is well known as a preacher all over Chilton County, died at his home in Mountain Creek the first of last week. His death was the result of a severe and long attack of Typhoid fever.

Rev. Cannon has preached many times all around over the county. He conducted a meeting at Coopers the first week of August, this year, and a few years ago preached in a protracted meeting at Samaria, near Clanton.

"A STITCH IN TIME SAVES NINE"

Lately, there have been reports of several cases of Typhoid Fever over the county, and already several deaths have resulted from the malady. This demands the care and attention of our housewives as well as the men.
We should be very careful where and how we allow garbage to stay around our premises. Above all, do not allow any place to be near your house which will induce the breeding of mosquitoes—such as old tubs or cans or slop holes containing stagnated water. These are the kind of places where mosquitoes breed, and we have learned long ago that they carry the Typhoid germ. Let us think of this and be careful. "A stitch in time saves nine."

PREPARE TO PLANT WHEAT

The Food Preparedness Bureau of Birmingham, of which Mr. A. S.
Leath is Secretary, is an organization fostered by the business men of Birmingham. The object of this organization is to make the food produced in Alabama measure up to the present needs and to have as great a surplus as possible to sell to our government for feeding our soldiers.

This body is at work now laying before the farmers the importance of planting wheat as a paying crop next year. It is a fact that he have simply got to have wheat to feed our soldiers with, and the farmers of Alabama MUST do their part toward that end.

They should be willing and glad to plant wheat if they were only getting the consolation of serving their government; but they will be getting something probably more attractive than this. With wheat selling at $2.20 per bushel, it will be a money proposition to raise a large wheat crop as well as a plan to help win the war.

This paper heartily cooperates with this bureau in urging all the farmers of Alabama to raise all the wheat they will need and have a nice surplus to sell after the next harvest time.
And now is not at all too early for us to begin thinking about how an in what field we are going to plant this crop. Have you a suitable place selected, and by the time to sow, have your land ready to plant the seed.
This is important, and if you want to do your part toward winning the war and at the same time make some easy money for yourself, you will decide now to plant a large wheat crop this season.

BAD NEWS FOR BERLIN

The war news from the eastern front these days is bad news for the German people. Quotations from the German newspapers portray the gloom that overhangs the people in the large cities. That the people in small towns and country are equally depressed is not to be doubted.

The Liberty Loan bond buyers of the preceding loans have their share in the success of the entente allies.
They furnished the sinews of war not only to fight the U-boats and to build ships, not only to raise, equip, and send our Soldiers over, not only to supply them and our allies with food and munitions, but more than $6,000,000,000 of their money has been loaned to our allies so that they may prosecute the war with vigor and strength.

We here at home have an opportunity to send the Germans bad news.
The Germans have great respect for money; they know its vital value in waging war. They know, too, that the support the American people give a Government loan measures largely the support they give their government, the moral as well as the financial support they give their armies in the field.

A tremendous subscription to the Fourth Liberty Loan will be as a defeat; it breaks their moral; it means power to their enemies. A subscription to the loan is a contribution to German defeat and American victory.

WORLD SHORTAGE IN BEET SUGAR

Crops Are 40 Per Cent. Less Than Pre-War Average—Central Powers Hit Hardest.

CANE SUGAR IS ISOLATED.

Allied Beet Production Falls One-third in Rigid War Economy Practiced.

The world today is producing forty per cent. less beet sugar than the pre-war average.

Counting the American, Allied and German-Austrian crops, as well as the neutrals, the U. S. Food Administration has estimated that the world shortage created by the light crop of 1917-1918 is at least three and a half million tons.

That the 1917-1918 crop of cane sugar was two million tons in excess of the previous year does not relieve the general shortage.

Cuba and Java produce one-half of the world cane crop, and the Java sugar is too far removed from America to transport when shipping is badly needed to transport and maintain the military forces in France.

In Java a large part of the old sugar crop is still awaiting shipment. Since it requires 150 to 160 days for each boat that is sent to Java, the possibilities of obtaining adequate shipments of Java sugar this season are remote.

Allies' Production Falls.

Taking the Allied nations as a group, official reports show that beet sugar production is less by one-third than the pre-war average.

French beet sugar industry has suffered most by the war. The French yield of beet sugar is now only 29.1 per cent. of the pre-war average.

For the five years preceding the outbreak of hostilities in Europe, France produced an average of 752,542 tons of sugar each year. For 1917-18 the French production was 219,416 tons.

With 61 factories operating, as compared with more than 200 that were in existence before the war and before the general campaign of destructiveness launched by the German armies, France nevertheless managed to manufacture more beet sugar in 1917-18 than in 1916-17, when the total output was 202,415 tons.

Italy in 1917-18 produced 100,800 tons of beet sugar, which was 56,000 tons less than the previous year and 110,250 less than the annual output of sugar for the five year pre-war period.

One of the great difficulties experienced in Italy's beet sugar industry was finding sufficient labor to handle the crop. Thousands of men usually employed in beet sugar production were called for military service. The yield per acre amounted to approximately half of the usual quantity of beets harvested.

THE PREVENTING OF COTTON BOLL ROT

By G. M. Armstrong, Extension Pathologist, Auburn, Ala.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Cotton anthracnose, quite generally known as boll-rot, is a serious enemy of the cotton crop in some sections of Alabama. It occurs on the bolls, leaves and stems of the plant, and on the young seedlings. Most of the damage occurs on the bolls, but frequently during cool spells in the spring, the seedlings are attacked and many of them killed.

Anthracnose on the bolls may be recognized by the dark to purplish colored spot which usually appears near the tip. As the disease spreads from this spot, the center may turn pinkish in color. In very dry weather the spores are not produced in abundance, and the spot may be gray to black instead of pink.

The fungus which causes the disease penetrates the boll wall and attacks the lint and seed. The most common form of diseased boll is the boll with only one or two locks destroyed and the other locks mature and open. Bolls are frequently found which are not badly attacked at any point but in which the lint is slightly discolored.
Both types of boll are found to contain diseased seed.

The fungus remains alive in the seed until planted and starts to grow when it attacks the young seedlings.
The disease will remain on the young plant until the bolls appear, when they are attacked. Thus the disease is continued from year to year.

Anthracnose is introduced on the farm through the use of infected seed.
After the crop is once diseased, there is nothing that can be done; but there are several steps that can be taken to protect the cotton crop of the next year.

The first and most important step is the selection of seed free from disease.
These should be selected, if possible, from a field which shows no anthracnose, or from plants in an infected field, which are free of the disease, and are not located near a plant with diseased bolls.

It is possible to entirely eliminate anthracnose by selecting clean seed and planting these on land which did not grow diseased plants the year before.

IN MEMORIAM

On August 14 the death angel sav-it to take away from our midst Mr.
John Mims. He was sick only eight days and was carried to a Birmingham infirmary; he only lived two days after arriving there.

Oh, it is so sad and so hard to give him up, but God giveth and God taketh away. We feel that he was taken for some purpose, but we know not what.

On his death bed he said he was willing to go and was ready. And, oh, how good it makes me feel—it fills my heart with joy to think he was ready and willing to go.

He leaves a wife and nine children. Papa leaves many friends who will miss him so much.

I want to thank the good people around Maple Springs for their kindness during his short stay here on earth. Oh, I feel so sad, and my eyes are filled with tears as memory recalls the joys of vanished years.
We can't go today where papa is now to stay, but by and by we shall meet him at the beautiful gates some day.
He is gone but not forgotten. His memory lingers still. He has left an aching vacancy this world can never fill. I love dear old papa and the songs he used to love so well, but now his lips are dumb in death for all years to come. I loved his tender words.

His daughter,
LEILA ALDRIDGE.

CHILTON SOLDIER IN ENGLAND
WRITES TO MOTHER AT HOME

Mrs. J. M. Parker, Jemison, Route
4, has received the following letter from her son, James, now stationed in England:

Somewhere in England.

Dearest Mother:

I will write you a short letter. Mother, I sure do like this country fine.
It is the prettiest place I ever saw. I sure wish that I had come over here long ago with the first ones.

Have you heard from Phil since I left home. I haven't heard one word from him and don't guess I will for some time, for it takes mail so long to come from here.

How are papa and sister getting along. O.K. I hope.

Mother, I sure did enjoy the trip across the pond. I did not get sea sick at all and had a good time while crossing.

Mamma, don't you hesitate about writing. I will write once a week and you do the same and we will get the mail regular.

Please give my address to the others, for I won't have time to write them at the present. I will close.

As ever, your son,

In spite of a subnormal food supply in this country the American people have been able to ship to the Allies as well as our own forces overseas 141,000,000 bushels of wheat, besides 844,600,000 pounds of meat, during the year ending June 30 last. This has been made possible by the whole-souled co-operation of the people, who, besides practicing self-denial, have speeded up production and responded nobly to the appeal from abroad.

Food Administrator Hoover, in a letter to President Wilson, gives a brief summary of the results of food conservation in the United States and of the activities of the Food Administration to this end. The conservation measures have been put through practically on a voluntary basis which is regarded as a splendid tribute to the patriotism of the American people.
Meat shipments were increased 844-000,000 pounds during the first fiscal year, as compared with our meat exports during the year before America entered the war.

"The total value of these food shipments," Mr. Hoover wrote President Wilson, "which were in the main purchased through or with collaboration of the Food Administration, amount to, roundly, $1,400,000,000 during the fiscal year."

In 1916-17 the United States sent the Allies 2,169,500,000 pounds of meat. In 1917-18, with voluntary conservation practiced in America, and aided by extra weight of animals, we sent the Allies 3,011,100,000 pounds of meat, an increase of 844,600,000 pounds.

Wheat Saving Enormous.

When the Food Administration began operations in the summer of 1917, this country was facing a large deficit in wheat. Counting in all carry-over wheat from the 1916 crop, we had at the beginning of the 1917 harvest year just enough wheat to take care of America's normal consumption,—not a bushel of surplus.

At the close of the 1917-18 harvest year the Food Administration's official reports showed that our total wheat shipments to the other side had been 141,000,000 bushels. Every bushel shipped was wheat saved by the American people from their normal consumption.

In cereals and cereal products reduced to terms of cereal bushels our shipments to Allied destinations were 340,800,000 bushels, 80,900,000 bushels more than the amount sent in 1916-17.

Included in these figures are 18,900-000 bushels of rye and the 141,000,000 bushels of saved wheat. In addition we sent the neutrals dependent on us 10,000,000 bushels of prime breadstuffs.

"These figures do not fully convey the volume of the effort and sacrifice made during the past year by the whole American people," the Food Administrator wrote. "I am sure that all the millions of our people, agricultural as well as urban, who have contributed to these results should feel a very definite satisfaction that in a year of universal food shortages in the Northern Hemisphere, all of those people joined together against Germany came through to the new harvest, not only with health and strength fully maintained, but with only temporary periods of hardship."

"It is difficult to distinguish between various sections of our people—the homes, public eating places, food trade, urban or agricultural populations—in assessing credit for these results, but no one will deny the dominant part of the American women."

SUGAR SHORTAGE HITS
SPAIN AND PORTUGAL

In Spain and Portugal sugar prices are soaring. Both countries have been seriously affected by the short beet sugar crop in Europe and the lack of ocean tonnage to move stocks of cane sugar isolated in far away ports.

Granulated sugar, home grown, was being sold in Barcelona, Spain, during the early summer at 19 cents a pound.
The price of brown sugar in Lisbon, Portugal, fixed by governmental order, was $1.04 to $1.12 a pound.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

On last Sunday morning, August 25th, the following was adopted by a standing vote:

Whereas, our faithful and efficient Superintendent, Bro. T. E. Williams, resigns today his superintendency, to enter upon another service in an officers camp to train for the military service of our country;

Be it resolved, That the Sunday School in common with the church extend to Bro. Williams its hearty thanks for his fidelity during his year in office.

Resolved, second, That this resolution be given to our county papers for publication and spread upon the minutes of our church.

J. R. Mullins, B. F. Higgins, Com. Our entire congregation is regretting the departure of Miss Mary Curry to her winter's work. She goes this week to Jackson, Ala., where the First District Agricultural College and the City schools combined, have elected her director of music. She will have a large class in piano study. In addition she will have a class in violin which will doubtless keep her time fully occupied. Miss Mary and her violin will be missed by our choir and also by the general public meetings at which she has so generously assisted.

After the church service on last Sunday morning, the pastor spoke of the death of Rev. J. A. Cannon of Mt. Creek. His family is left in a rather dependent condition as he has not been able to do much in several months, his general health being poor. In a short time the congregation collected the sum of $20.00, which has been sent to the widow.

On last Sunday afternoon the pastor baptised three converts in the creek near Gore's Bridge. Others are expected to follow in the near future.

All the departments of church and Sunday Schools are running well, and with the advent of school pupils an enlargement is expected.

Sunday School at 9:45 and preaching at 11:00 a.m. and 8:15 p.m.

The Baptist Young Peoples Union will be organized at the church on next Sunday evening at 7:15 o'clock. All the young people are cordially invited to be present in time.

ELECTION NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in School District No. 12, at Shiloh Schoolhouse, on Thursday, the 5th day of September, 1918, to permit the qualified voters of said school District to vote for or against a tax of thirty cents on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property of said School District, to be levied for school purposes only.

If a majority of all the qualified voters voting at said election vote for the proposed tax of thirty cents on each hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said School District, the tax shall be levied for the year 1918-19 and 1919-20, and shall be used exclusively for school purposes in School District No. 12.

BANKSTON BROS.

Roberta, Ga., Jan. 21, 1917.—
Old Kentucky Mfg. Co., Paducah, Ky.

Gentlemen:

A Mr. Will Watcher of this county had some hogs that were down with cholera and had given up all hopes of saving them and would not spend one penny on them. I gave him one 15lb pail of your B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder and he has just come in and paid me for it, and advises that every one of his sick hogs got well and that he had killed them and now has them in his smoke house and that they were as fine as any he had killed this year.

I want to add that he said his hogs were down and so sick that he had to prize their mouths open and his wife poured the powder down their throats.

Please find check in full of my account and with kindest regards we beg to remain,

Yours very truly,

TO IMPROVE YOUR DIGESTION

"For years my digestion was so poor that I could only eat the lightest foods. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them did I find the right treatment. Since taking them my digestion is fine."—Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Indiana, Pa.

When the aircraft program was announced in 1917 no one in authority had a definite idea as to the proper kind of lubrication required. There was no uniformity. For every engine there was a specific oil. Some engineers insisted on castor oil, others mineral oil, still others castor and mineral oils mixed. It was estimated that 5,000,000 gallons of castor oil, costing $3 per gallon, would be required and that quantity was not available.

Captain May and assistants set out to develop a suitable lubricant for the Liberty motor at an average cost of 75 cents a gallon, and also a system for reclaiming oil already used. In 25 days Captain May supervised the running of 37 engine tests in a laboratory where five engine tests a week would be a complete program. These engines were run with different kinds of oils and each oil was analyzed and measured before and after tests. The work required ceaseless vigil. Altitude tests were made in an airtight building capable of having the air within it partly exhausted.

From these tests the Liberty aero oil developed. It will cost about one-fourth the price of castor oil, saving the government perhaps $11,000,000 a year. A system of reclaiming used oil was developed and at least 50 per cent can be made fit to use again.

Practically clean seed can also be obtained by storing the seed for two years. During this time, the fungus in the seed dies out without a noticeable decrease in the germinating power of the seed.

Seed will be tested for anthracnose if at least a quart of a representative sample of seed is sent to the Plant Pathologist at Auburn.

Where crop rotation is not practiced, the stalks and bolls should be plowed under in the fall as early and as deep as possible. By using clean seed the next spring, anthracnose will be materially lessened so that little damage will be done.

The average Alabama farm should keep at least 100 hens, according to the Alabama Extension Service of Auburn. These will require very little feed during the summer in addition to the waste. In fact, only a small quantity of feed will be needed in addition to the waste during the winter months in Alabama. Each of these hens should produce about eight dozen eggs, and these will bring a minimum of $2.00. The cost to the farmer of these hens would certainly not amount to anything like this sum.

ARTHUR WILLIAMSON TELLS OF EXPERIENCES WITH A.E.F.

Mrs. J. W. Williamson, of Clanton Route 2, hands us for publication a letter from her son Arthur, who is now in France. The letter follows: August 5, 1918

Dear Mother:

Just a few lines to let you know that I am well; hoping this will find you the same.

I am liking France fine. We are having lots of rain but the weather is warm.

How are papa and the rest of the folks. Hopet they are all well and enjoying life.

Mamma, you needn't be uneasy about me for I will try to take care of myself. I hope I will hear from you soon. You know I am anxious to hear. I haven't heard from Minnie yet. I haven't seen Robert, but may be I will see him soon.

I will close for this time, and write more sometime soon.

My correct address is Sergt. Arthur Williamson,
Bakery Co., No. 309, American Expeditionary Force.

CHILTON COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICERS TO MEET

On September 7th the officers of the Chilton County Sunday School will meet at the Baptist Church in Clanton. A full attendance is earnestly requested.

Mr. Fowler, one of the State workers, will be with us and give the people present valuable instructions on Sunday School work.

The navy department has released from office and shore duty the regulars of the navy and the reservists and has assigned them to active duty with the fleet. Their places as clerks will be taken by women wherever possible. Rear Admiral McGowan, paymaster general of the navy, issued the order in connection with this change in policy.

"Every man released from shore duty, whatever his rank or rating, adds just one more to the fighting force," says this order. "Every man of every rank and rating desires, of course, to get to the firing line as soon as his services ashore can be spared."

"No man in the navy is willing in war time to do anything that a woman can do as well; whereas no officer can be expected to be content in any part of the shore establishment unless engaged upon supervisory work so important in its nature that it cannot properly be delegated to any person of lesser rating."

"Wherefore it is requested and directed that the officer in charge of each division of the bureau of supplies and accounts make a careful and critical survey of his personnel, both commissioned and enlisted, to the end that the paymaster general may know how many and which men can be spared without seriously interfering with the work. These reports will include not alone reservists but regulars as well, and it is to be distinctly understood in this connection that applications from individuals for sea or overseas service will not be necessary—the one and only object being to carry on the work here and at the same time release the maximum number of men for duty at the front."

The Liberty motor, developed by the department of military aeronautics, is to have a special engine oil which is to be known as the "Liberty aero oil." It was developed by the lubrication branch while the latter was still a part of the signal corps. It is a mineral oil and will be used not only on the Liberty motor but on all stationary cylinder aircraft engines of the army and navy.

Its development is due to the energy and skill of a staff of men who worked exclusively on the problem for a year. Capt. O. J. May, who deserves greatest credit for its production, so exhausted himself by his labors that he could not recuperate from an illness and died.

Miss Kathleen Armistead of Montgomery spent about ten days as the guest of Minnie Gable and the rest of the family at the pastorium. Her visit was greatly enjoyed and several young folks regret her departure.

Grandma Talks About Babies

Has a Large Circle of Listeners Who Profit by Her Wisdom and Experience.

In almost any community there is a grandma who knows Mother's Friend. Not only is she reminiscent of her own experience but it was through her recommendation that so many expectant mothers derived the comfort and blessing of this famous remedy.

Mother's Friend is an external application prepared especially for expectant mother. After the formula of a noted family physician. It certainly has a wonderful effect in relieving tension brought about by expanding muscles, and is a most grateful encouragement to the woman awaiting motherhood.

The action of Mother's Friend makes the muscles free, pliant and responsive. When baby arrives they expand easily, and pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less. Strain upon the nerves and ligaments is lessened and in place of a period of discomfort and consequent dread, it is a season of calm repose and happy anticipation. Mother's Friend enables the mother to preserve her health and natural grace and she remains a pretty mother by having avoided the pain and suffering which more often than otherwise accompanies such an occasion when nature is unaided.

Write the Bradford Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their "Motherhood Book," so valuable to expectant mothers, and in the meantime do not by any chance fail to purchase a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort. Mother's Friend should be applied night and morning with the utmost regularity.

CORINTH NEWS

The people of this community are very busy gathering cotton.

Rev. E. A. Norris is conducting revival services in Coosa County this week.

Our people enjoyed the meeting at Shady Grove Church last week.

Mr. Alfonso Robinson, Misses Maggie Jones and Lizzie Mae Robinson spent the week end in Rockford with the latter's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jones spent Sunday with their son, E. L. Jones.

Do not forget the singing at this place on the Second and Fourth Sunday afternoons. We were glad to see such a good number out Sunday.

What's the matter? Some of our boys fail to visit Providence Sunday.

Mr. Barney Manning from Birmingham was visiting homefolks here Sunday.

The following poem was composed by Grady Birdett, who is only in the fifth grade. He was given no assistance and was not asked to write it. It follows:

Boys on the front,
Oh, boys on the front—
We know you have to grunt;
For Old Kaiser will run
You over a stump,
If you don't watch to jump.
But we know you are going to Fly over and drop a bomb
To kill the Hun,
And capture their guns—
Just for fun.

If you feel "blue" no-account, lazy, you need a good cleaning out. HERBINE is the right thing for that purpose. It stimulates the liver, tones up the stomach and purifies the bowels. Price $1.00. Sold by Ppchurch Drug Company.

NO MORE CALOMEL FOR THIS BARBER

Nashville Tonsorial Artist Says
He Has Found Better Way to Get Relief Than by Taking Calomel—Takes Vin Hep-atica

"If a fellow was ever knocked out by anything, I certainly was by a good old-fashioned spell of spring fever this spring," said U. L. Bearden, well-known Nashville barber, 243 Fourth avenue, north, "but thanks to Mr. G. M. Spencer, the paint contractor, 617 Commerce street, for stating in the papers how he got such wonderful quick relief by taking that good medicine, Vin Hepatica.

"I have been using calomel, which was so sickening that I could scarcely stand it. Not only did Vin Hepatica put me in fine shape again, but it was so pleasant to take. I hadn't taken more than two or three doses than my drowsy feeling was all gone and I was feeling fine. I am my old-time self again.

The fact is, Vin Hepatica is Nature's own medicine for stomach, liver and kidney troubles. It is made from eight of the greatest medicinal roots and herbs known to medical science, all combined into one medicine, known as Vin Hepatica, the Universal System Purifier and Tonic.

We strongly recommend this great Nature remedy. Come and get a bottle and try it, on our recommendation. We know it is a real medicine of the highest merit.

THE RED CROSS

The head of the nurses of the American Red Cross is Miss Jane Delano. Today, Miss Delano,—tall, white-haired, giving an impression of indomitable will—directs from her corner of the Red Cross Building in Washington the Red Cross nursing service that reaches around the world. She has seen the nursing profession grow from the days when a registered trained nurse was unheard of, to the magnificent body it is now, with nearly seventy thousand members.

In Europe, a new heroic chapter in the story of the nurses of America is being written. In the long corridors of the Red Cross hospitals near Paris, in barracks behind the British lines, at American army bases in eastern France, in the cantonments and naval stations in this country, will be found the American Red Cross nurses. In field hospitals close to the lines in Picardy, American girls are taking care of the boys away from home. On rumbling, swinging hospital trains they lean over the stretchers and bind up the wounds of the badly hurt. In little groups they are pouring into England to take care of the growing need for nurses there, as the boys from America are being brigaded with English regiments and sent to English Red Cross hospitals when wounded.

Also the American Red Cross is establishing hospitals in England and our boys are sent there to be nursed and to convalesce, relieving the congestion in France.

The Alabama boys, wounded and in the hospitals are writing home about the Red Cross work. Telfair Brinson of the 167th, our own Alabama regiment badly gassed, has written to his mother from the hospital: "Tell everybody what a glorious thing the Red Cross is."

Lieutenant Frank Tuttle, Greenville says in a recent letter: "I have been wounded and sent to this wonderful hospital."

Sergeant Varner Hall has written to his mother: "I am in the hospital with two wounds, neither serious. There are lots of American nurses here, and it certainly is a nice place. I am resting well, so you need not worry about me."

And that is what the Red Cross is doing—taking care of the boys, sick or wounded; so the mothers need not worry.

CURE FOR DYSENTERY.

"While I was in Ashland, Kansas, a gentleman overheard me speaking of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes William Whitelaw, of Des Moines, Iowa. "He told me in detail of what it had done for his family, but more especially his daughter who was lying at the point of death with a violent attack of dysentery, and had been given up by the family physician. Some of his neighbors advised him to give Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, which he did, and fully believes that by doing so saved the life of his child. He states that he had used this remedy himself with equally gratifying results."

Hubbard Allen, who has been in the Navy for about two years, was in Clanton last week. This is the first time he has been home since enlisting.

WADE'S FARM LETTER

Keep Cotton Picked Closely

Cotton should be gathered as fast as it opens in order to save it from waste and protect the grade and improve the price. There are at present about three million bales of low grade cotton in the markets that are an accumulation of several years. The manufacturing interests do not want this cotton and have placed a penalty of from two hundred to two hundred and fifty points as compared with the middling and strict middling cotton. This low grade cotton is a dead weight on the cotton market. The premium on middling cotton or better is sufficient to pay for harvesting the crop. Farmers should strive to harvest their cotton promptly and be prepared for rain storms when they come. We are short ten or twelve inches of rainfall for the year and a wet spell before us. No one can foretell just when a rainy spell will come, but we may expect it in September. It is only a part of wisdom to keep prepared and avoid adding any more low grade cotton to this dead load which is already on the market.

Sell cotton slowly and only when the price is reasonably satisfactory. If the price sags too low, stop selling until it reacts. There is not a very large indebtedness to meet this year as is usually the case, and there will be no heavy pressure for the sale of cotton so far as Alabama is concerned. The crop will be short and conditions justify good prices. Let every man strive to protect himself, but avoid excess speculative efforts.

Do not Pull Fodder.

Pulling corn fodder is a habit which has been handed down from our ancestors who had little opportunity of knowing the food value of the fodder or the damage to the corn. Corn fodder contains six per cent protein and one and one-fourth per cent fat. Crab Grass contains eight per cent protein and two and one-half per cent fat. Cow pea hay contains fourteen per cent protein and two and one-half per cent fat. Soy bean hay contains fourteen per cent protein and five per cent fat. We have given the two most important food constituents in these analyses, namely, protein and fat, to show the fodder puller that crab grass is nearly twice as good as corn fodder. Cow pea hay is more than twice as good, and soy bean hay is nearly three times as good as fodder.

An acre of corn that yields twenty bushels of corn will yield about four hundred pounds of fodder. It will cost four dollars to pull the fodder. It will damage the corn about four bushels, which is worth about eight dollars. Four hundred pounds of fodder will cost twelve dollars or at the rate of sixty dollars per ton. This would make cow pea hay worth one hundred and twenty dollars per ton, and soy bean hay one hundred and fifty dollars per ton. Stop pulling fodder. It is an agricultural suicide. Its principal value is an appetizer and its principal value is an appetizer and makes nature cry. Stop pulling fodder and go to making hay or cut and shock your corn and use the whole stalk. Hay is both an appetizer and a feed. Fodder pulling is hot work, damaging to the corn, and camouflage as a feed.

Comm of Agr. & Ind.

REVIVAL CAMPAIGN AT METHODIST CHURCH CLOSED

The series of meetings lasting ten days at the First Methodist Church, closed last Sunday night with very gratifying results along all lines.

Rev. Dr. Ernest Maye, the pastor, did his own preaching, with the assistance of Prof. Thomas G. Makin as musical director. The meeting is considered by all as a great success. The Sunday night sermon was most impressive and deeply spiritual. The meeting was largely attended from start to finish and the results were most favorable.

Dr. Maye said in his first sermon that he had discovered much spiritual deadness in the churches in Clanton and that the crust would have to be broken. If hard blows were needed he would certainly give the blows. He also said repeatedly while preaching that he wanted to enlist all the good people of Clanton in this work. As an expression of the high esteem in which this Christian gentleman is held, a large purse was made up privately, and a vacation offered the Doctor and his accomplished wife with all their expenses paid, that they may take a well-earned visit.

They think of outing at Hot Springs. Dr. Maye is considered among the strongest evangelistic preachers in the Southern Methodist Church.

SURGEONS agree that in case of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds, the first treatment is most important. When an EFFICIENT antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast, BOROZONE is the IDEAL ANTISEPTIC and HEALING AGENT. ## SELECT COTTONSEED WHILE IN THE FIELD

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agriculturalist.

(Prepared By Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.)

The first step in plant breeding is to select a variety that is well adapted to local environment. If a local variety has done well under boll weevil conditions and meets the commercial requirements, it will be a suitable one for improvement.

After choosing a variety as a foundation the next step is to get planting seed of it. The best place to select planting seed is in the field where the cotton is grown. In case a visit cannot be made to the field for selection, a few bushels of seed of the variety may be bought and planted in the usual way and from it selections made.

Go into the field when the cotton is opening and carefully study the different types of plants, earliness, resistance to disease and storm, length of fiber, and productiveness. Go slowly and select only those plants that conform to the desired type—"that look good." Some five pound paper bags should be taken along, and when a "good-looking plant" is found, pick the best open bolls and put them in it, giving each bag a number for the plant. If there is something striking about the plant—long fruit limbs, earliness, size of boll, fruiting near the ground, etc., write it on the bag for a permanent record.

Select carefully a hundred or more plants for the foundation work.

The lint does not have to be removed to plant the seed. A lock of cotton can be dropped in a hill and covered with a hoe.

In case the breeder wishes to remove the lint, the lint of a single plant can be cut off the seed with an ordinary gin. Speed the gin down to run very slowly, clean out all old seed, raise the breast, and hold the wad of cotton on the saws with an ordinary three or four inch paint brush until the fiber is cut off. If the seed fall down in the trough before they are clean, wad them together and put them back on the saws. With a little practice a man can gin 50 or 60 plants a day.

Seed Plat.

For the seed plat, select a uniform piece of land not located very near some other variety of cotton. Prepare it well, giving each row the same treatment both as to fertilizer, preparation and cultivation.

Make the rows about 200 feet long and three and a half feet wide. Drop the seed of each plant on a single row and number that row to correspond to the plant. A permanent stake marked with the plant number, written with a soft lead pencil, should be placed on each row, if a record is to be kept.

The seed should be dropped in hills about 20 inches apart and the plants thinned to one in a hill. Strive to have a uniform stand.

When the cotton has reached its maturity, study each row carefully. The best row or rows should be marked, and from them the best plants should be selected for a seed patch the following year. The other good rows should be picked together to get improved seed for a multiplication patch. The seed from the multiplication patch may be used for a general crop for the third year.

Proceed in a similar way the next year.

SAVE EGGS NOW FOR NEXT WINTER

By Miss Cladys Tappan, Assistant State Home Demonstration Agent.
Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Every family should put 10 to 25 dozen or more eggs into Water Glass solution for next winter. Next fall and winter the price of eggs will be high because there will be few put into cold storage on account of the high price this spring and summer.

Preserving eggs in Water Glass is easy. Use a 5-gallon stone crock; it is best. Thoroughly wash the jar before putting in the Water Glass. Use only clean, sound eggs. Be careful not to put any cracked or dirty eggs in, as they will rot and spoil the whole lot. Infertile eggs are the best, if you can procure them.

Buy a good grade of Water Glass, using one quart to every 10 quarts of water. Boil the water, put it into the jar and let it get cold; add the Water Glass and stir until it is thoroughly mixed. Every day put your surplus fresh laid eggs in the jar until it is filled. Keep the Water Glass solution two inches above the eggs. Cover the crock and put in the coolest place, from which the crock will not have to be moved. Inspect the crock once a week and replace any water that has evaporated with cool, boiled water.

When the eggs are to be used, remove them as desired; rinse well in clear, cold water and use immediately. Eggs preserved in Water Glass can be used for soft boiling or poaching up until November. Before boiling, prick the blunt end to prevent cracking. They are satisfactory for frying until December. From that time until March they can be used for omelets, scrambled eggs, custards, cakes and general cooking. As the eggs age, the whites become thinner and harder to beat.

American dietitians have made bread by substituting as high as 25 per cent of rice for wheat flour and have obtained a white yeast bread of excellent flavor.

Learn to Get Along Without Sugar

It has been done before. A hundred years ago refined sugar was unknown. Our ancestors used honey and you can use honey also. Besides there are syrups. The natural sugars of fruits will serve today as they did centuries ago. You will get all the sugar you need in this way. The Allies do it now. England, which before the war used more sugar than we did, has but two pounds per head a month now; France one and a half pounds, and Italy only one. Show yourself a patriotic American and use less than your ration. This is but a slight sacrifice as compared with all that the Allies are doing. Do it yourself.

COUNTY COURT HOUSE AT CLANTON BURNED FRIDAY

Everything is Saved from Part of Offices; Others are Destroyed With Nothing Saved.

Early last Friday morning, about 2:15 o'clock, the fire alarm was given, and upon investigation, it was found that the county court house was on fire. The fire was discovered soon enough for it to be extinguished if there had been sufficient water at hand; but owing to the fact that the city tank was almost dry, it was known that there was no use in trying to out it.

The flames originated in the attic close to the top of the back stairway, just in front of the County Superintendent's office. Just a few minutes after the alarm was given almost everybody within a mile or two of town were there to render all the aid they could in removing the furnishing of the burning building.

Practically everything was saved from the Probate's office; the Circuit Clerk lost nothing; but the County Superintendent of Education lost absolutely everything in his office. None of the records were removed from the Tax Assessor's and Collector's office, but after the fire was over, work was begun digging into the ashes where this office was, and quite a bit of the most valuable records of tax accounts were found in a damaged condition. The County Treasurer saved practically all of his valuables, and so did the Register in Chancery. Nothing was saved from the office of the Local Board except the docket, which contained a brief treatise of every action of the board. All of the questionnaires and registration cards were burned.

It is the common belief that the building was set on fire by someone. But as yet, no clue has been discovered as to the guilty one.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Walker, Lawley, Ala.

Dear Sir & Madam:
It is my privilege to be the Y.M.C.A. secretary assigned to ambulance Co. No. 13, which is made up of heroes, every one, and your son, an acquaintance of mine, stands out among them, if it is possible for one hero to out-shine another.

I rode with him from the rest camp to that fearful battle before Soissons and will remember the ride with one of the men whom America will always hold in reverent honor and remembrance. He was one not to falter when a call came for service and his last service was in response to a call requiring men to go out to an advanced point to bring in a wounded American. He went with three privates and was caught in a barrage. This was on Sunday afternoon, July 21st. His comrade saw them all fall and hurried to his help. He was taken to field hospital No. 12, at Pierrefort and the supreme sacrifice was made by him at 10 the next morning. I was at the hospital that day and we laid him in one of the most honored resting places a man can occupy.

His burial was a well ordered one. It was from the grounds of the Castle of Farrie the 14th (the castle the Crown Prince of Germany occupied in 1914).

Dear friends, if there is any consolation for any American in the great sacrifice, it must be those whose sons have been given for the liberty of the world, and in this great conquest for the Prince of Peace. Can this thought give you any comfort? I envy you in not having a son to offer, but am in my weak way trying to help the cause, and possibly may be called upon to make the supreme offering of myself.

A little later we will send you some of your son's effects which were left in camp in the possession of a friend, for the purpose of protecting you from the shock of receiving them before any word might reach you.

Sincerely yours,
GEO. R. PIKES,
Y. M. C. A. Secy.,
France.

PUBLIC SCHOOL OPENS

Prof. J. L. Johnson's school opened with a flourish and a full house on Monday of this week. He has an entirely new faculty of assistants and we learn that two of them are members of Baptist churches—Miss Williams and Miss McElroy. The former is boarding with Mrs. Splawn and the latter with Mrs. Curry.

Over 200 pupils enrolled on the first day. This is the largest enrollment of the school, even greater than it ever was when the high school department was in connection with it.

We extend to all the new comers a cordial welcome to our city and hope that they may have a glorious success in their undertaking here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Mullins are moving this week out on the farm of the former's parents, about 10 miles in the direction of Look 12. Mr. Mullins will come to his work in his car every day.

COMMISSIONERS COURT'S REPLY TO CRAIG'S CHARGES IN PAPER

In Letter to Montgomery Advertiser County Commissioners Affirm Reynolds' Stand on Matter.

Clanton, Ala., August 29, 1918.
Editor Montgomery Advertiser,
Montgomery, Ala.

Dear Sirs:
Our attention has been called to an article which appeared in your paper last Sunday purporting to be J. H. Craig's report on our official acts as Commissioners of Chilton County.

We will not have time nor space to make a reply to all of Mr. Craig's criticism, and if we did have, we think it would be unnecessary, as most of the report seems to have been gotten up for the purpose of creating a sensation—as is Mr. Craig's custom.

The report starts out by stating that it is from January 1, 1917 to January 1, 1918; and yet Mr. Craig went back as far as 1911, and picked out just such transactions of certain parties as suited him, and failed to mention other transactions of similar nature which he did not want to mention.

The $200,000.00 bonds which the county issued last year, Mr. Craig says, the record is not on the bonds. This statement is too ridiculous to even mention. Would anyone for a moment think that Steiner Brothers would let this county have $200,000 for bonds when there was no order from the Commissioners Court? The record may not have been kept to suit Mr. Craig but it was recorded according to the suggestion of Steiner Brothers' attorney.

Mr. Craig criticized us severely for the transfer of money from the Road Fund to the General Fund. This county was facing financial bankruptcy; we had reached the place where we could not buy goods for the county unless we paid about two prices—in fact, it had almost gotten to the place where we could hardly buy them at all. And this money was transferred only to put the county on a cash basis, by which we have saved thousands of dollars for the county and we have been able to pay spot cash for every warrant since the transfer of the money. We are glad to state that every dollar transferred from the Road Fund has been paid back.

We are criticized for employing Middleton & Reynolds, attorneys, to defend the county in two law suits: Mr. Robinson sued the county for $1200. They won this suit and saved the county not only the $1200 but $150 cost, that would have been added. Another case was: The Equalization Board has sued the county for $6.00 per day service and $10 per day for automobile hire; this suit was compromised, and we have saved a considerable sum for the county.

The Town of Clanton still owes the county over $2000, and if Mr. Craig is going to run our county's affairs, we suppose he will take some steps to collect this debt for us.

Mr. Lawrence Gerald, attorney, was associated with Middleton & Reynolds in the Robinson case, for which we paid him a fee for his services, and we are surprised that Mr. Craig did not mention this. Surely, it was not because Mr. Gerald is a Democrat.

Craig refers to stationery bills amounting to three thousand dollars, which had been accumulated for two or three years, and this is part of the debt for which we transferred money to pay.

We are also criticized for letting Sheriff Harris occupy a house belonging to the county. The house was built especially for the sheriffs of this county to live in, and a house has been furnished by the county to the sheriffs for over twenty-five years. Catts and Jones, the two preceding sheriffs, occupied the same house, exactly as Sheriff Harris, and why does Mr. Craig not mention them? He certainly knew this, and did he fail to mention it because he knew they were Democrats? Other parties have occupied rooms in the court house; the county has furnished them lights, water, furniture and stationery, and these parties too were Democrats. Why didn't Mr. Craig mention this?

The examiner charges us with various amounts for looking after and repairing roads and bridges, without first obtaining an order from the Commissioners Court. Sometimes it is two or three months between sessions of the Commissioners Court, and during this time bridges would get impassable, we have had them repaired and charged for our mileage and time. To have called a special court to pass an order directing that we go and repair a bridge or road, as the case might have been, would have cost the county thousands of dollars more, or the public would have had to wait until the regular session of court, which in many instances would have put the public to a great inconvenience. We have made reasonable charges, as is provided by law, for the above work, and have followed the custom which has been practiced in this county. Why did the previous examiners not criticize this custom? Why does the Governor send out men to examine whose duties are the same, one goes over the records of the county and says they are correct; another one goes over the same work and criticizes it? There has been more than half a dozen examiners over part of the work that Mr. Craig criticized. It could not be said that they did not see it, because it is a matter of record.

We must raise wheat for our Armies and for our Allies

Wheat is the most important War Crop. Until its production is increased still more there will not be enough to remove the danger of a Food Shortage from the Front.

Of twelve most important Food Crops, the entire country gained in planted acreage in 1917 over acreage of 1914—26,124,000 acres.

Of this gain the Southern States increased 14,965,000 acres or 57 per cent of the whole.

Of the individual crops the South gained:

In Wheat—1,976,000 acres, or 56 per cent of the whole.
In Corn—6,582,000 acres, or 41 per cent of the whole.
In Other Food Crops—6,407,000 acres, or 37 per cent of the whole.

Of the Fall wheat acreage of 1918 there was an increase of 3,067,000 acres, of which the South gained 2,382,000 acres, or 76 per cent.

But we can do still better in 1919.

Let's back up Our Boys in France. It is no less our duty to furnish them and our allies food than it is their duty to fight. We are raising this fall an ample cotton crop to clothe and provide edible fats and oils for our boys. Let us raise a big grain crop next spring to help feed them.

It can be done. The labor requirements are comparatively small, and the acre yields may be increased with good seed, a well prepared seed bed and a liberal application of proper fertilizers.

It is said that the Governor keeps Craig for special work, to examine anti-administration Democrats and Republicans.

In conclusion, we want to say that we have done the very best we could for Chilton County. It has been a hard task for the last two years to keep the business of the county going. We have had to reduce expenses in order to meet the obligations of the county. In this we have met with strong opposition. We have had a great deal of trouble with the Equalization Board in trying to reduce their expenses; they have presented some very unreasonable claims, and we refused to allow them.

Two of us were carried into a room several months before Mr. Craig ever came to this county and shown where we would be charged with the very items which Mr. Craig has charged us with, if we refused to allow certain claims. The party said "If you will help me I will help you," but we considered the claims unjust and did not allow them.

We assure the tax payers of our county that there has not been a single transaction by this court that we would care for them knowing every detail of, and we are going to employ a first-class accountant and have him go through every transaction of this county from 1911 up to the present date, for we want the public to know the true facts.

We are safe in saying that every transaction of this court was intended to save money for the interest of the tax payers of this county, and so far as we have been able to observe, after reading Mr. Craig's report very carefully, the particular transactions for which he criticized us so severely was for the best interest of Chilton County, and was the cause of saving this county thousands of dollars.

We hope you will publish this answer to Mr. Craig's report just as you did his report.

Yours sincerely,
S. E. WALDRUP,
R. J. WILLIAMS,
W. T. HERROD,
A. P. VINSON,
Commissioners of Chilton Co.

UNITY BAPTIST ASSOCIATION WILL MEET IN CLANTON NEXT

The Unity Baptist Association will meet with the Clanton Baptist Church on October 8, this year. During this month is the time for all departments of church and Sunday School to get complete reports ready for the church letter. Let every report be as thorough as possible and ready for adoption at the monthly conference.

THOMAS M. PARRISH WRITES AGAIN FROM CAMP JOHNSON

Dear Fellows:

According to promise, I will tell you I am yet living and just doing fine here in Uncle Sam's army. I am yet at Camp Johnston, and it seems as though I will be here for an indefinite length of time. However, no one can tell one day where he'll be next; but there are but few who worry, as one in the army gets much better treatment and attention than most of them say they do.

Of course, the greatest per cent when he dons the khaki changes in spirit and character—they usually create a don't-care feeling or perhaps leave camp without pass, when he could have gotten one by asking for it; and the consequences are he gets camping punishment, this is usually the K.P. (kitchen police) policing the streets after the days work is over, or even the guard house.

If one gets sick he is immediately sent to the hospital. Here he gets the best of treatment from physicians and nurses. And oh, some of the best looking girls with a red cross in their cap you most ever saw. Now you don't want to get well you have so much ambition.

Now, on the other side, you don't have the comforts of home nor the smiles of a lassie you have known and admired,—oh so long. Nor do you have a mother's smile at breakfast and the meals. There's a difference. We get wholesome food, but the cooks have so many to cook and prepare meals for that you can not expect plank steak and hot chocolate.

However, we are here for a just cause and we are to win, and I feel as everyone should feel—willing to sacrifice and do it freely.

We have numerous intertainments here at camp, principally gotten up by the Y. M. C. A.'s. We have boxing 'barits' among the fellows and seems as Willard might have an equal in this bunch of fellows. Our time is limited considerably. We only have off at nights and Sundays. We get Sunday duty very often, and as I am working in headquarters office, I am on duty every Sunday till noon. The army, I consider worth as much to each fellow, as he really learns the meaning of discipline and what work is. When the war is over and we fellows get back in civilian life, we will know how to appreciate a good thing when we see it.

Well, as I feel sure the Editor has grown weary and wishes there never was a war (see he is between the ages), guess I'd better conclude; but before I hush I must tell you how I feel about getting to visit my friends in Chilton County, and here it is:

If I could get back home once more To the land where I was born, And be woke up by a rooster Instead of some darn bugle horn; And could I hear my mother calling, "Son, its time you were getting up," Instead of some lieutenant yelling, "Fall out, you lazy pup!" I'd have something to remember That would help me out a heap— About my getting up at morning When I'd rather lie and sleep.

If I could just sit down once more To some sure-nough eggs and ham, Some good old country butter, Hot biscuits, milk and jam, And have my mother passing things All nice and smoking hot, Instead of grabbing and snatching For everything I got,— I'd have something to remember That would sorter take the rub Out of sitting down and eating This're regular army grub.

If I could just get back once more To the old Alabama hills, And see the woods, fields and streams And soak up all the thrills Of the nifty April mornings, In the Indian summer days— In the autumn's mellow moonlight, In the winter sun's red rays,— I'd have something to remember That would stand me well in hand, When I'm looking on the horrors "Over There" in No Man's Land.

If I could just go back once more To the girl that waits for me, And stroll across the pasture To the old sweet apple tree, And meet her as I used to When the sun had gone to rest, And take her in my arms once more And hold her to my breast, And see the soft light glowing In her eyes of cornflower blue (brown) I'd have something to remember, That would keep me clean and pure.

If I could just go home once more And tell the folks good-bye, Could grip dad's rough worn hand And say "Now ma don't cry, 'Cause when this war is over I'm coming home to stay." I'd wrap my arms around her And kiss the tears away; Then if death should find me Any time or any place, I could march into the shadows With a smile upon my face.

Thomas M. Parrish,
Auxiliary Remnant Depot No. 133, Camp Johnston, Fla.

We extend a hearty welcome to the old teachers of the County High School. Prof. McDonald saw fit to retain all of his last year's teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Willis, who have been in Birmingham, have returned to Clanton.

CONSPIRATORS TRY TO ENTER REYNOLDS' HOME AT NIGHT

On last Sunday morning, about 2 a.m., while Judge Reynolds was sleeping in his room, he incidentally discovered that his house was about to be entered by someone. For several minutes footsteps were heard on the back porch, but he thought it probably was a dog, but a little later disturbance was made at the window next to the bed where the Judge was lying. A flashlight was flashed into the room through the window below the partly closed shade.

As soon as the Judge saw the flashlight he knew that something was up; so he awakened his wife and they both went up stairs. The Sheriff was notified and he immediately responded to the call with blood hounds. The dogs were set on the trail and they followed it till it went into the highway a short distance away, and could be followed no further.

At daylight it was found that the yard in front of the window was tramped down as though someone had been tramping around here for an hour or more.

DRAFT CALLS DELAYED BY RECORDS GETTING BURNED

On account of the burning of the records of the Local Board in the courthouse fire last week, the Local Board was given orders by the District Board at Montgomery not to send away any more selectmen to camp until new records were obtained. A duplicate of about all the records of the Local Board were on file at the District Board in Montgomery, except the Questionnaires, and it won't be a great deal of trouble to draw off copies from them and replace those which were burned. At the time we go to press, it is not known how soon the work of entraining can be resumed.

REGISTRATION FOR ARMY SERVICE SEPTEMBER 12

It is of the utmost importance to each male citizen of the county, between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years of age inclusive, who have not heretofore registered, to appear at the different registration precincts in the county on Thursday, September 12, 1918. Upon that day short addresses will be arranged to be delivered by one of the "Four Minute Men," at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The general public is urged to lay aside regular duties at this time of day and devote one hour to encourage our men in the performance of this solemn patriotic duty.

Two people have been selected to arrange for a rally at each of the registration places in the county. Each of these persons are requested to select their committee or committees for this occasion.

CENTER HILL

Everybody is busy now gathering their crops and hauling lumber. Our community has very good health.

Mrs. Will Kilpatrick and her two little daughters, Marie and Elsie have returned home from a two weeks stay in Birmingham, where they have been visiting relatives.

Miss Jimmie Morrow closed her school at Center Hill Friday, August 30th. After two weeks she will go to Verbena, where she was elected to teach. She will begin her fall school. She did good work here, and I hope she will continue so.

Miss Allie Mae Kilpatrick visited her mother Sunday.

Protracted meeting will begin at Center Hill on Saturday, September 7th. Everybody come, and make it one of the best.

A SUBSCRIBER.

Prof. H. C. McDonald and wife took a trip of a week to Dothan and Columbia, Ala., They were accompanied by their children.

GRAND JURY IN SESSION IN CLANTON THIS WEEK

The September term of Circuit Court was begun last Monday afternoon. The Grand Jury was immediately drawn, and they retired to the building across the street from the temporary courthouse—the Exchange Hotel. At the time we go to press, they had never completed their investigation. Indications are that they will be confined almost all the week, as some very important matters are to come before them.

"SENSATIONAL"

According to the reports through the daily papers of Birmingham and Montgomery, there is some "hen on" in Chilton County this week. Just after the burning of the courthouse last Friday morning, and State Examiner Craig's "sensational" report of irregularities in the county official affairs, and the sitting of the Grand Jury this week, the daily papers think they have some "booger" to harp on.

They link the whole thing together, and as a result they leave the affairs of the county really and truly "painted red." According to their reports, when the Grand Jury "opens up" something is going to transpire that will startle the whole county. As they see it, Chilton County is lost in the turmoils of politics so completely that the whole world will be compelled to gaze upon us with scorn and turn us aside with pitiable shame.

Now, Chilton County views the burning of the courthouse thus: Although most everybody believes it was set on fire, yet no one feels himself clear in saying that either political faction is responsible for it. We realize that there is great dissension in regard to Craig's report, but still it is not at all impossible that the burning of the courthouse has absolutely nothing to do with this matter.
Fire might have been set to the building for the purpose of destroying the records of the Local War Board; and it could be that the misfortune was not caused at the hands of anyone.
It could have been fired by rats or by a live electric wire.

So, let us hold our nerves, and think a number of times before we charge any party or parties with such a malicious crime.

If a Democrat fired it the whole Democratic party is not necessarily to blame for it, and if a Republican did it, it would not be reasonable to assume that every Republican in the County was backing him up in the act.

WHEN THE BOYS COME HOME

In British Columbia the people recently elected a returned soldier to the legislature by an overwhelming majority. When our boys come marching home they will be elected to almost any kind of an office for which they are qualified. It will be a mistake for any of them to assume that they can be elected because they were soldiers and regardless of their qualifications. Few of them will make that mistake. But the ranks of the national army were drawn from all classes of people—college men, farmers, mechanics, business men, bankers, manufacturers, lawyers, and public officials. From the entire list of returned soldiers there will be plenty of men well qualified for the various offices, and the man who didn't go to the front is going to have a hard time making a campaign against any of these for either their nomination or election.

VERSUS REYNOLDS AND RIGHT

For several years there has been an element centered in Clanton, which has for its sole object the detriment and ruin of L. H. Reynolds. This is a certainty, and for some time it has been an undisputed fact. They have laid aside all principle and the dictates of right, and gone after him unmasked and with ungloved and shameless hands.

Threats have again and again been made openly that they were going to "get him yet." They no longer try to keep it a secret. It has been said by them time and again openly on the streets that they were sitting for him, and if one plan didn't work, they were going to resort to another.

Ceaseless efforts have been made to trap him, but in every instance he has held his nerve (and many times he has been in mighty trying circumstances), because he knew he was right. When a man is right and he knows it, nothing can scare him and he is going to submit to nothing but justice and right no matter what alluring inducements are placed before him.

Reynolds is safe, and no dirty political schemers are going to get him in a hole; because he is not only right but he has got a level head and knows what traps look like just as soon as they are opened before him.

SOME REASONS WHY MORE
WHEAT SHOULD BE PLANTED

Food, funds, munitions, and men, are the necessities of war. Inability to supply any of these immediately reduce the efficiency of a nation.

Supplies of funds, munitions, and men, all depend on, and are controlled by the supply of food. It is, therefore, absolutely necessary to produce plenty of food in order to win the war.

Wheat is preeminently the food of armies, because of the ease with which it can be transported and because of its excellent keeping qualities and high food value. It is important, then, that wheat be produced in large quantities and that it be carefully conserved and utilized.

For all of these reasons, we earnestly urge you to plant all the winter wheat possible, and by doing so, you will not only help yourself and your country, but you will help win the war.

A DAILY DUTY

Each day every American soldier in France is confronted by a great duty. Our armies there have a task to perform for our country, for the world, for civilization and for humanity. Our soldiers are doing their duty with a courage and fidelity and efficiency that thrill every heart.

Each day every American citizen at home is confronted by a great duty, a duty as imperative upon him or her as the duty of our soldiers is upon them. The American people have a great task to perform. It is to support to the limit of their ability our army, our navy, our country at war.

To work with increased energy and efficiency so that our national production may be increased; to economize in consumption so that more material and labor and transportation may be left free for the us of our government; and with the resultant savings to support the government financially is the daily duty of every American. It is a duty that will be met by every American whose heart is with our soldiers in France, who glories in their courage and fighting ability and their success.

The Bolsheviks have declared war on the United States. The I. W. W. have made war on American institutions. Both of these marplot organizations have been panegyrized by Democratic politicians, both of them have been coddled by the Democratic administration, both of them ultimately be cleansed by the sturdy American people.

State military department and the Alabama Council of Defense to a misunderstanding whereby many subjects to registration believe they are beyond the ages prescribed by the amendments to the selective service law. Even though a man has become forty-five before the law was made effective, he must register for military service if he has not reached his forty-sixth birthday.

The war department in the following ruling holds that a man is still forty-five until his forty-sixth birthday is reached: "All male persons who shall have attained their eighteenth birthday and shall not have attained their forty-sixth birthday on or before the day set for registration by the president must register."

President Wilson has set September 12 as the day for registration. Every person between eighteen and forty-six except those in the military or naval service or diplomatic service must register with registrars appointed by the local war boards.

The number of persons subject to registration in Chilton County is 2179
according to estimates.

WEST CHILTON

September comes in hot. This section is very dry; cotton opening rapidly. The crop seems to be earlier than last year. Messrs Cofer have ginned a few bales.

Rev. Skelton preached here Sunday night.

Mr. Greene Cofer, Jr., has been sick for several days.

Mrs. Joe Waldrup has been sick for quite a while.

Miss Tempie Smith visited South
Mars Hill Saturday.

Misses Mae and Nellie Waldrup attended church at Fremar Sunday night.

J. D. Hodgins and wife attended the singing at Oak Grove Saturday.

Turnip crops are being delayed by the extremely dry weather. The farmers should not forget to plant liberally of rye and barley. This particular time demands that people think and plan for the future, so all winter crops should have the best attention. Success is the question now.

Everybody knows that success requires attention; yet it seems that child-training is most neglected of all. Nature intends children to be real men and women, this is their normal state—well-rounded, symmetrical in kindness, temperance, chastity, industry, economy, consideration for others, knowledge, wisdom, special respect for age, reverence for sacred things, seeking to be noble characters, not seeking reputation that will take care of itself; that to be real ladies and gentlemen, thus commanding the respect of all.

Some poet has said:

"Wisdom and reason make us men.
Take these away what are we then?
Mere animals and just as well."

Beasts may think of heaven or hell!

Oh, the possibilities of child-training. We recall many children who for the lack of training are unprepared to fill their place in society;
they are just ignorant, have not been trained to think—sadly neglected.
Then we recall others who are the admiration of everyone. Why? Because they were not neglected by their parents. The parents assisted with them, kept busy training them—just everlastingly at it, that's it.

Successful child-training does not depend on wealth. No, the poorest parents can succeed along that line.
Good literature can be secured by all. It is a great asset in child-training. Yet many homes are not supplied. Training the child without regard to truth and reverence; that is an excessive "showing the child to the front" in a light, foolish way—intoxicating the mind and often produces bitter fruit, one of the danger signals of our day.

"A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in baskets of silver."

Surgeons agree that in cases of cuts, burns, bruises and wounds, the first treatment is most important.
When an efficient antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast BOROZONE is the ideal antiseptic and healing agent. Buy it now and be ready for an emergency. Price 25c, 50c $1 and $1.50. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

PROF. BEAN PUBLISHES SCHOOL CONDITIONS OF THIS COUNTY

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 4, 1918.
To the School patrons and Teachers:
I feel it my duty to call attention to the conditions of the schools of the county and let the patrons know just what to expect next year from the County Board of Education. Last year, during the campaign for the three-mill school tax, the board of education promised to give every white school a term of seven months free school so long as the school funds then received remained undiminished. This we did in every respect, but the special one-mill school tax first levied in 1906 and relieved in 1912 expires this year and will not be collected any more until again levied by the people. This will decrease the school funds a little less than $6,000. The number of school children in the county has decreased 606 in number since the previous enumeration, and this will decrease the state funds about $1700. The dog tax which went to the schools will be much less than heretofore.

The county has a balance of about $2500, and with this the board can yet run the schools six months at the same rating of salary that it allowed teachers last year, except that inexperienced third grade teachers will receive $40 and experienced $45 per month, beginning at these salaries after the first of October, 1918.

Since teachers are so scarce the board of education has found it necessary to place a restriction on the number of teachers that any school would be allowed to use.

May I say to the places that have not yet employed their teachers for next winter, to employ them at once, for it is now not a matter of selecting teachers but a matter of finding them if you can.

I wish to say that since the fire at the courthouse completely destroyed all of the records and unanswered mail, that all business transacted thru my office will have to be done from memory and any neglect in correspondence etc., will please be understood by the public, and that I will do the very best with the office that I can.

Yours truly,
W. T. BEAN, Co Supt. Ed.

Sidney Gore an alleged deserter from Camp Wheeler, and Bud Dutton, Gore's father-in-law, were arrested last night at Dutton's home by Deputy Sheriff Gillispie after weeks of effort on the part of the official to seize the young man.

Gore has been in hiding in the hills of Chilton County for the past eight months, and during that time had provisioned by his wife. Forced to seek shelter during rain storms made it possible for the deputy sheriff to effect his capture last night as Gore had gone to Dutton's home for the night, with four assistants, the deputy visited the home placing his men, demanded Gore's surrender, the man readily giving himself up.

FEED OUT YOUR HOGS SIX WEEKS EARLIER

In every lot of hogs on feed two or three weeks quickly and actually eat less than others. If all would fatten like these, the entire drove would be ready for the market six weeks earlier and to save six weeks feed is on item that you fully understand.

The hog that fattens easily must be in prime physical condition. The B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder is a conditioner for hogs. It keeps their system clean and healthy and enables them to prey to the usual diseases of hogs. The B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder is not stock food. It's straight medicine and we took the agency because it enables you to feed your hogs much earlier.

Food Facts

NEWS OF THE WEEK

From State Food Administration

The following statement was made by Mr. Hoover and sets out the new wheat conservation program in so far as it affects the housewives and households of the country. There are some special rules for bakers and wholesale merchants which have been mailed out to them direct from the Food Administration offices at Montgomery. In giving out Mr. Hoover's statement R. M. Hobbie, Federal Food Administrator for Alabama, expressed a very earnest desire that the people should not get the idea that merely because the rules have been modified to such a great extent there is not longer need for conservation and saving. The necessity of continued economy and the elimination of all waste is still upon us and if this new program is successful it will be so because the people follow it strictly and continue to save as much as possible in their use of food stuffs.

The new rules do not change the ruling in reference to farmers' certificates. Farmers who have their own corn ground into meal may still secure the miller's certificates which will exempt them from purchasing the substitutes, in case they purchase standard wheat flour. It is confidently expected, however, that within a short time practically all the flour offered for sale will be the ready mixed Victory Flour, which will settle the substitute question.

"The recent careful survey by the Food Administrators of the United States, France, England and Italy of the food resources of the two hundred and twenty million people fighting against Germany shows that to maintain enough supplies and necessary reserves against disaster there must be maintained in all countries a conservation of wheat flour during the coming year. It has been agreed that the wheat bread of the Allies shall contain twenty per cent of other grains than wheat and it is only just that we should bear our share in this saving and our bread should be at least universal with those who are suffering more greatly from the war than ourselves. Distribution and transportation circumstances in the United States render it necessary to rely very largely on the voluntary action of our homes to enforce this mixture. The victory bread so made is wholesome and there is no difficulty in its preparation. We desire to emphasize the fact that the mixtures outlined below are for wheat bread and the saving of wheat flour but they are not intended to displace the large use of corn bread. We must use the mixture with wheat flour in addition to our normal consumption of corn bread. For this purpose regulations are formulated below effective September 1st, providing, FIRST, for the preparation and marketing by the manufacturing and distributing trades of the country of a mixed flour complying with the international policy which will be available for purchase by the household; SECOND, in regulations covering the case where straight wheat flour is sold by retailers that at the same time twenty per cent of other cereal flours must be sold coincidentally; THIRD, requiring that all bakers bread shall contain twenty per cent of other cereals and the Food Administration relies upon the householders of the country to mix at least twenty per cent of the substitute cereals into the wheat flour at home for all uses. Corn meal for the use of corn bread should be purchased separately from combination sales.

Ready Mixed Flour For Sale as Victory Mixed Flour.

"It is desired to insure a supply of ready mixed flours on the market and to have millers and dealers of all kinds encourage the use and sale of this flour so that the country may be on a mixed flour basis without the necessity of retailers making combination sales of flour and substitutes. All such mixed flours made according to the following regulations should be labeled 'Victory Mixed Flour' and are to be labeled with the ingredients in the order of their proportions. The flours so mixed must be milled in accordance with the standards of the United States Food Administration. No mixed flours (except pancake flours) shall be made or manufactured except in the exact proportions as outlined below.

"Mixed wheat and barley flour shall be in the proportion of four pounds of wheat flour to one pound of barley flour. Mixed wheat and corn flour shall contain the proportion of four pounds of wheat flour to one pound of corn flour. Mixed wheat, barley and corn flour shall contain the proportions of eight pounds of wheat flour to one pound of barley and one pound of corn flour. Mixed wheat and rye flour shall contain the proportion of three pounds of wheat flour and not less than two pounds of rye flour. Whole wheat, entire wheat or graham flour or meal shall contain at least ninety-five per cent of wheat berry. All the above victory mixed flours may be sold without substitutes but at no greater price from the miller, wholesaler or retail dealer than in the case of standard wheat flour.

Retail Sale of Standard Wheat Flour. "The new regulations supersede the fifty-fifty rule. The retail dealer selling standard wheat flour is required to carry in stock either barley flour, corn meal, or corn flour and with every sale of wheat flour must sell a combination of some one or more of these in the proportion of one pound of substitutes to each four pounds of wheat flour. No dealer may force any other substitutes in combination upon the consumer and those substitutes must conform to the standard fixed by the United States Food Administration. There are some localities where other substitutes are available and which retailers may wish to carry in order to meet his situation. The following flours may also be sold in such combination in lieu of the above flours if the consumer so demands, at the ratio of one pound to each four pounds of wheat flour; that is, kafir flour, milo flour, feterita flour and emals, rice flour, oat flour, peanut flour, bean flour, potato flour, sweet potato flour and buckwheat flour. Pure rye flour or rye meal may be sold as a substitute but must be sold in the proportion of at least two pounds of rye with three pounds of wheat flour.

Revision of Previous Rules. "The previous rules limiting licensed millers, wholesalers, retailers and bakers to thirty days' supply of flour will be changed to permit a sixty days' supply. The rules limiting sales by retailers of wheat flour to an eighth of a barrel in cities and a quarter of a barrel in sparsely settled districts are rescinded. The rule limiting the sale of flour by millers to wholesalers or wholesalers to retailers in combination with substitutes or certificates therefor and the rule restricting the sale to seventy per cent of previous sales are rescinded. Manufacturers of alimentary pastes and wheat breakfast foods are limited to their normal consumption of wheat flour with the understanding that they are not to unduly extend their ordinary consumption of wheat. Rules prohibiting the starting of new plants ready for operation prior to July 1st, 1918, are rescinded. Where millers sell directly to consumers they shall obey the same regulations as retail dealers."

Take This Great Prescription For your Stomach, Liver and Kidney Troubles.

This wonderful prescription, Vin Hepatica, is nature's own remedy, for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, and we want you to try it.

It is made from nature's own medicinal roots, herbs, barks and berries, whose healing and curative properties have been known to the medical profession for centuries, yet never combined into one great medicine until recently when modern medical scientists discovered the art of combining them in the correct proportion and gave to the sick and suffering of the world the universal prescription as Vin Hepatica.

Vin Hepatica is prepared in one of the finest medical laboratories in the United States. The name of every ingredient is on the package.

Vin Hepatica is truly a wonderful medicine and we heartily recommend it for indigestion, constipation, sluggish liver, kidney trouble, sleeplessness, nervousness and other ailments resulting from trouble of the stomach, liver and kidneys. You may now feel all run down, have a tired out feeling, your liver may be sluggish, you may not have a good appetite.

Things may sour on your stomach as soon as you eat. You may not be able to sleep well at night. If so, come and get a bottle of Vin Hepatica and try it. We believe you will forever thank us for bringing it to your attention.

ARMY HEALTH RATE BEST EVER KNOWN

DEATHS FROM DISEASE REMARKABLY FEW, BOTH AT HOME AND IN FOREIGN LANDS.

TWO NAVY HEROES ARE CITED

Rowed Through Flames to Rescue Men From Burning Spanish Steamship—Work of Children's Year Is Proving Very Effective.

A health rate which as far as known has never been surpassed has been established by the American armies both here and overseas, according to reports received by Surgeon General Gorgas.

For a recent week the combined reports of the American expeditionary forces and of troops stationed in the United States show an annual death rate for disease of 1.9 per 1,000, less than two men per 1,000 per year. The annual death rate from disease of men of military age in civil life is 6.7 per 1,000.

This new rate is based on approximate strength of 2,500,000 men, and includes men living under abnormal conditions. The overseas record was made while American soldiers were participating in the heavy fighting in the Marne salient, when they were compelled frequently to sleep and eat under the most primitive conditions.

That this record is truly representative of the general health of the troops is shown by the combined reports which indicate the figure of 2.8 per 1,000 as the average death rate from disease during the past two months.

An idea of the progress being made in military sanitation is gained by a comparison with the following: During the Mexican war the annual death rate from disease was 100 per 1,000. During the American Civil war the rate in 1862 was 40 per 1,000, while during 1863 the rate jumped to 80 per 1,000. The disease death rate for the Spanish-American war was 25 per 1,000. As far as available records show the lowest figure heretofore recorded was 20 per 1,000 during the Russo-Japanese war.

Two men of the American navy proved themselves heroes and won commendation from Secretary Daniels for the rescue of seven men from the burning Spanish steamship Serantes July 13 last. They are William E. King, seaman, and Clarence F. Ready, machinist's mate, second class, U. S. N. R. F., of the U. S. S. Isis.

The two men took the port launch of the Isis to the side of the burning ship and rescued from the burning forecastle seven men who were hemmed in by flames and who were too panic stricken to jump into the water.

The launch's trip to the Serantes was made through an area of burning gasoline and the rescuers were in constant and imminent peril. Their commanding officer reports that the conduct of King and Ready during this time was cool and courageous. They probably owe their own lives and the lives of those they rescued to their steady nerves and cool judgment. Their commendation was for bravery and their initiative in undertaking the rescue.

The army general staff has completed plans for expansions at some of the camps and changes at training centers. Additional plans are being worked out and will be put into effect.

Camp Hancock, Georgia, is to be a machine gun center and will be enlarged to accommodate between 55,000 and 60,000 men. The officers' training school now housed in tents at this camp will be provided for in barracks and quarters similar to those at other cantonments. These improvements outside of enlargement of the camp, will cost about $2,000,000.

It has been decided to make Camp Grant an infantry replacement camp to accommodate between 55,000 and 60,000 men. The present capacity of this camp is about 42,000. The alterations and changes necessary will be made after the division now located there has been removed.

Field artillery firing centers are to be located at West Point, Ky., Camp Jackson, S. C., and Fayetteville, N. C. Options on sufficient land for this purpose have been secured at all these places. It is planned to locate six brigades at Fayetteville, six at West Point and four at Jackson.

It has been decided also to erect permanent buildings for the officers' training schools at present housed in tents at Camps Lee, Gordon and Pike. These schools have a capacity of about 6,000 men. The estimated cost of these improvements is about $6,000,000.

As a result of the immediate and growing needs of the army for trained nurses, Miss Jane A. Delano, director of the department of nursing of the Red Cross, has sent an appeal for enlistments from this year's graduating classes at 3,000 nurse training institutions throughout the country. It is expected that about 13,000 students will be graduated as nurses between now and October 1, and it is hoped many of these graduates will be enrolled so they can be assigned to nurse corps before that date.

WADE'S FARM LETTER

Time to Sow Turnips.
Every family in Alabama, whether in town or country, should have a turnip patch. There is no winter vegetable as easily grown, more universally relished or that affords more food and health than the turnip. Farmers should clean up their old spring gardens and sow them. To make doubly sure of a successful crop, rich moist places on the farms and in the woods should be prepared now and planted to turnips after the first rain between now and September the fifteenth, or prepared as soon as possible thereafter. Town gardens and vacant lots also bear turnips. Everyone knows how, when and what varieties to plant for turnips or salad. The only reason why everybody does not grow them is because of negligence, busy with other things and never thought of it. This is to make you think and insist on you to plant turnips while it is on your mind.

Sow Wheat.
Are you tired of having a twenty-four pound sack of flour in your face and being held up and forced to pay one dollar and a half for a half bushel of meal every week? If you are tired of it, select two to four acres of good clay land with average fertility and prepare to sow it in wheat this fall. Two acres of good firm, fertile cow peas, soy bean or velvet bean stubble properly prepared and planted to a good variety of southern grown wheat will, with the aid of two hundred pounds of nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia applied in the spring, make enough bread for the average family. The land can be planted to most any other crop except cotton after the wheat is harvested and as good crop can be made as if no wheat had been grown on the land.

If you select the right kind of soil with good seed properly planted and nitrated in the spring, fifteen to thirty bushels of wheat may be expected. It will pay every farmer in Alabama to plant a few acres in wheat. It will help to whip the kaiser and prevent American people from being held up with a sack of flour and forced to buy a sack of meal at double price. If you ever intend to sow some wheat, by all means do it this fall.

Save Hay.
Save all the hay you possibly can for your horses and cattle this winter. All feeding products will be high and no hay should be allowed to go to waste. When the hay is ready to bale and store, house it promptly. We have entirely too much winter rain in this country and our hay is entirely too coarse to expect it to keep in stacks in the field unless the stacks are protected with some kind of effective covering. The best policy is to house as much hay as you can and as early as you can. Baled hay holds its strength better, if baled in proper condition. It also reduces the amount of storage necessary. The dry hot weather reduced the hay crop considerably. It is therefore, necessary to save it all for the ever increasing live stock in Alabama.

SOUTHEASTERN SOLDIER PLEAS KING AT ROYALTY PANCAKE FEAST IN LONDON Y. M. C. A. EAGLE HUT

King George and Queen Mary saw how American corn-cakes were made and also sampled them. Not only that, but they saw how American fighters conquer the delicacy. Here you see royalty emerging from their first encounter with the favorite American breakfast delight. It would almost seem they were viewing the Marines and Sailors as though wondering if this is the food on which they grow so husky.

King George missed the best part of the recent pancake treat at London Eagle Hut—he didn't turn 'em personally. Everyone else is doing it now, putting an extra edge on their appetites by manipulating the flipper. The six Y. M. C. A. cake-bakers were on the verge of prostration after serving 6,124 American soldiers and sailors with pancakes in the first fifteen days' rush on this pet edible, when a hut secretary had a happy thought. He induced the pancake fiends not only to bake their own, but also to demonstrate with the batter and turner for their hungry buddies. The idea went big, especially as the "Y" retails two man's size cakes with appropriate maple syrup both for sixpence.

A Tennessee boy made a big hit with King George when the latter strode into the room where the royalty was assembled.

"They tell me the king is here," remarked the Tennessean, "and I want to shake hands with the head of this beautiful country."

The king gave the Tennessee boy a hearty handshake and inquired as to the state in America from which he came.

GEORGIA MAN GASSED AT FRONT

(By Delayed Cable from Chateau Thierry Front with American Forces in France.)—The Rev. Daniel R. Kennedy, Jr., formerly of Savannah, Ga., a Red Triangle worker, has been given honorary mention for having displayed splendid coolness and bravery when gassed in a "Y" hut during a German attack in France. He is now recovering and has written back from the front: "I guess no one is afraid to pay the price if necessary."

ANONYMOUS LETTER WRITTEN TO TALLADEGA PAPER REVEALS MURDER OF MANNING MYSTERY

The attention of this paper has been called to a letter published in The Mountain Home, Talladega paper. This letter was received by The Home and their comment together with the letter follows:

The Home has received an anonymous letter postmarked at Raton, New Mexico and addressed to a "Talladega Newspaper," which may throw some light upon the murder of an old man by the name of Manning near Sylacauga four years ago. Mr. Manning was murdered and robbed, but a large sum of money in an inside pocket was overlooked. Several negroes were arrested at the time, but were not held for the lack of evidence. The deed was committed while Mr. Manning was returning to his home in Coosa County. While it is not often that much credit can be placed in anonymous letters, the main facts in the case are stated in the one received by The Home. The man referred to as Houston and whom the correspondent says committed the act, and whom he says he understands is now serving a sentence for the murder of his brother-in-law, Bud Hay, near Childersburg. It is understood that Houston did work at the quarry, and at the time the murder of Manning was committed he was suspected, but no evidence was ever produced against him. The anonymous letter is given for what it is worth, as follows:

A Confession.

Raton, N. M., Aug. 30, 1918.
Dear Editor:

In the year 1914 I was in your county, if I make no mistake, in a small town called Sylacauga, in the month of May, when a man disappeared there mysteriously, about two or three miles from town on an macadamized road. He went south from the depot, went to a bank, and from there he walked up the road. I was a stranger in the city and was there for two or three days.

A man giving his name as Huston, who was watchman at a rock quarry about three-quarters of a mile from the little town committed the deed.

Huston got me to go with him up the road but did not tell me what he intended doing. He knew I was broke and told me he had a chance to get a little money. We went across and cut the old man off, we saw no one but an old negro woman, we passed her shack sitting on the hill. Huston had a No. 32 rifle and the old man's light was put out. Huston dragged him to the left side of the road, went in his pocket and found $11.00, when we heard someone say "get up" as though driving a team, and we rushed away.

It seems that I cannot have any peace until I unfold this secret. I had nothing to do with the tragedy, but was in company with the murderer, not knowing how he intended to get said money. I stayed around there about a day or two. Huston said it would be blamed to a negro and no one would suspect a white man. Of course, I felt sorry for the negroes. Some were arrested but I do not know what became of them. I judged they are serving time or killed, but Huston is the guilty party. I have been told he is serving time for another crime which he committed.

I am a white man, from a good family and I do not feel that I shall ever see my people again. My home is in Columbus, Ga. I have tried to keep this a secret, but my mind has been so worried that I cannot keep it. I think the community ought to know how that old man came to his end. No negro knows anything about this tragedy except the old negro woman who saw us running past her house. I saw Huston and the chief of police of that town, Sylacauga, engaged in conversation, but do not know what it was about.

If I make no mistake, the old man was called Manning. I am now in government service and if I am killed by the enemy, I feel that the Lord will forgive me after making this confession. I have been worrying about this tragedy ever since the month of March. I cannot rest until this is made known. I was informed that the old man had some people living in Thorsby, Ala.

From a Man who Believes in Right.
About March 30th, a vision came to me plainly. A large negro appeared to me and said "Why don't you tell the truth? you know you are charged with murder in heaven." This has been worrying me ever since the above mentioned month this year. The tragedy occurred the first Monday in May; I shall never forget it, but feel after it is known, I will be forgiven. I would give my name but I have some sisters whom I would not want burdened with the disgrace in the future.

The above came to me while I was asleep.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE TO MEET SOON AND SELECT NOMINEE

Due to the resignation of Hon. J. O. Middleton, candidate for Representative, Sheriff H. A. Harris, Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee, says that, sometime in the near future, a meeting of the Executive Committee will be called, for the purpose of appointing a nominee for Representative from this county to the State Legislature.

No date as yet has been set.

ORDERED TO LEAVE FOR CAMP PIKE NEXT TUESDAY

Sheriff H. A. Harris is issuing orders to the men to appear at the Local Board on next Tuesday, September 17. These men are ordered strictly to appear on that date at 9:00, a.m. A brief physical examination will be made of each one before they leave.

This is the same call which was issued for September 3, but was delayed on account of the burning of the records in the courthouse fire. Some new men have been added to the list, however.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL NEWS

(By The Pastor.)

A call and request has gone out from our State Mission Headquarters in Montgomery that the Fifth Sunday in Sept., Sept. 29th, be made a special Go-To Sunday School and Church Day, and that the interests of State Missions be given special consideration. It is earnestly hoped that this will be done in Clanton. Let us feel our obligations to the general work of the Kingdom of God as expressed by our churches in this State. The field is wide and deep. As our State is next to the bottom in illiteracy it necessarily implies a great missionary work to be done. Appeal for support comes from the Sunday School workers, B. Y. P. U. headquarters, Womans Missionary Union, Enlistment workers, Colportage, Ministerial Education and our denominational institutions of learning.

Let us not forget to prepare the data for our letter to the association which meets with us in Clanton, on the 8th of October—Tuesday after the First Sunday. A short conference will be held next Sunday morning after the sermon, from which conference all disinterested parties will be allowed to escape, who may wish to do so. But surely all church members should be interested in the business affairs of the congregation.

On last Sunday night the pastor spoke on the great European War, discussing especially the relations between the Germans and the French. Next Sunday night it is proposed to speak of the relations between the Germans and the English in the great conflict. The morning subject will be "The Ninth Commandment, The Sacredness of Truth."

Last Monday afternoon, Mr. E. N. Bentley of Camp Pike, Ark., a member of the same company with Mr. T. B. Parsons who recently annexed a Clanton young lady, and Miss Lola Robinson of Thorsby came through town in an automobile accompanied by C. B. Bice, and were married at the Baptist Pastorium. They then went on their way rejoicing to Montgomery. Mrs. Bentley will remain at her home in Thorsby for present.

Miss Marie Thomas, the oldest daughter of our Senior Deacon, went to Newman, Ga., last week to stay with her aunt during the winter.

Miss Margaret Hester has returned from Nashville and taken up her work in school again.

The Class of Mrs. Ross Mullins, a class of young ladies, is going to be largely depleted during the next few weeks. Several will teach schools out of town, and a number will go away to attend schools, some at the Judson and others in other States. It is expected, however, that their places will be taken by young ladies attending our own high school.

Limuel Sims of the United States Navy is in Clanton visiting relatives for a few days.

John T. Kelley of Birmingham was in Clanton last week.

AN OKLAHOMA OIL WELL

People who go to the Confederate reunion at Tulsa, Okla., September 24-27 inclusive, will have the opportunity of seeing a thousand oil wells in full operation. They are scattered all over that portion of Oklahoma, many of them within sight of Tulsa. More than 300,000 barrels of oil are shipped from Tulsa alone every day. They are worth an average of $2.25 a barrel. Oil is the main source of Tulsa's wealth.

REPORT OF GRAND JURY SEPTEMBER TERM, 1918

20 Alleged Violations Investigated, And 11 True Bills Returned.

In Circuit Court, Sept. Term, 1918
State of Alabama, Chilton County.

To the Honorable Gaston Gunter, Presiding Judge. We, the Grand Jury duly empaneled and sworn at the September Term, 1918 of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, beg leave to make this our final report:

We have investigated 20 alleged violations of the law, and have returned into Your Honor's Court 11 true bills.

A committee of this Grand Jury visited the County poor house and made investigation of the county property there and the conduct of the place. We find the property in good condition and is well and neatly kept. There are twenty-four inmates—7 males and 17 females. The place is under good condition.

A committee of this Grand Jury visited the County jail, and find it in good condition and well kept. There are two white male inmates of the jail; and report that they are well fed and cared for.

A committee of the Grand Jury visited our former Court House, and it is the opinion that the fire was of incendiary origin, but we fail to find any evidence against the guilty party. We recommend a speedy re-building of the Court House.

A committee of this Grand Jury examined the bonds of the various county officers, and deem them good and sufficient.

Inasmuch as the books of the various county officers have been recently examined by a State Examiner, J. H. Craig, whose report we had before us, we deem it unnecessary to re-examine the said books. But find, according to the report, the Probate Judge and County Commissioners have used some of the County's money illegally by transferring from one fund to another, but we have concluded and determined that there was no evidence whatever of corruption or wilful neglect of duty in the handling of the public funds. That there was no evidence to warrant us in concluding that any of the County officials derived any benefit or profit in any way whatsoever from their official conduct. But on the contrary, there was evidence which we concluded that the county officials acted for what they thought was the best interest of the county and with the desire that all claims against the county should be settled. And that the name of the county in a financial way should be conserved. We recommend that the various county officials comply with the statutes pertaining to their duties.

We find the public roads of the county in fairly good condition with some few exceptions. The bridges are generally in bad condition.

We recommend that all butchers keep a correct report on all cattle bought and butchered, as the law requires.

We beg to thank Your Honor for the able and efficient charge, which has made our line of duty clear, and thank our able and efficient Solicitors, Messrs Siebels and Tucker for their valuable assistance given us. Also the Sheriff and his deputies as well as our Bailiff for prompt and courteous services rendered.

Having now completed our duties for this term of this Court, we respectfully ask that we be discharged.

W. N. BUDGER,
Foreman.

PRIVATE SCOTT, NATIONAL HERO TO TOUR ALABAMA

Loaned by Government to The Four Minute Men for Lecture Tour.

Probably the most thrilling story of the war is the story of Private Scott, returned Canadian soldier.

Captured by the Germans at Ypres in April, 1915, and sent to many German prison camps, subjected to all manner of indescribable cruelties he finally escaped to Holland and landed in England in November of that year.

The story of his imprisonment and the treatment, as told by Private Scott is one never to be forgotten by his listeners. He tells the bare truths and leaves conclusions to his audience. He will make a short speaking tour of Alabama under the direction of the Four Minute Men, and fortunate indeed, will be the districts that he will visit and tell of his amazing experiences.

STOUGHTON BICE WRITES TO FATHER FROM BATTLE FRONT

August 13, 1918.

Dear Father:

I have received several letters from you since having a chance to write any.

We have seen some very active service in the last two months, but are resting now.

The first engagement we had the enemy were on the offensive and tried to break through our lines. After 3 or 4 hours furious barrage they came over full-tilt and smashed into our line, but they might as well have been dashing so much water against the Rock of Gibraltar, for our boys stood solid never budging an inch, and the Huns had to fall back leaving a great number of their dead and wounded on the field. One of our men operating a machine gun shot 16,000 rounds before leaving his gun. He gets credit of killing an entire company of the "Kaiser's slaves." He would have been shooting Germans yet but he got tired of killing so many and let his comrade shoot a while. While some enemy airplanes were swooping down and sweeping our trenches with machine guns, another one of our Alabamians shot one down with his automatic rifle. He was recommended for the war-cross.

The next time our outfit met the enemy the Americans were doing the driving. And drive them, we did. Our boys attacked late one afternoon, and after about three days of fighting through fields and woods, we had gained about fourteen kilometers, which is nearly nine miles. During the fights, there were many instances of bravery coolness. One little strip of woods where the Germans had many machine guns hid—even had them up in trees, had to be attacked from a wheat field. It seemed certain death to try and make it across the open space under such heavy machine gun fire; but when the commanding officer gave the word, our men rushed across the field and into the woods, yelling and shooting with all their might. Not once did the line waver, and after a few minutes fast and furious fighting, the woods belonged to the 167th Inf.

A German officer gave up saying that he didn't have the heart to fight such men that came through that hail of lead.

I could write you many other interesting instances but am afraid I have written too much already. Have a few souvenirs I will send you if I can.

Give my love to the family and regards to friends. With best wishes for your health and happiness, I remain, your loving son,

STOUGHTON, 167th U. S. Inf. Band.

MARS HILL

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please allow me space in your paper for this?

I haven't seen any writing from this place in a long time; so just wanted to write a few words.

The health of this place is good. Cotton picking and syrup making will be the greatest job for a few days only.

There were seven baptised at this place on last Sunday.

Misses Mae, Nellie and Modene Waldrup, Tempie and Bethie Smith, Miss Maggie and Rena Gonthard Sunday.

Miss Mamie Edwards dined with Miss Esther Leach Sunday.

Mr. G. W. Gonthard and daughter, Miss Mollie and grandson, visited at T. G. Cofer's Sunday.

Mr. Perie Waldrup visited with Mr. Bill Cofer Sunday.

Mrs. Ossie Cofer and little son of Columbus, Ga., are visiting down in here now.

The singing at this place Sunday evening was very good. Leader for the evening were Messrs T. C. Cofer, C. L. Langston, Janie Grown and Noah Moore; organists, Misses Mamie Cofer, Irena Scott, Mrs. Janie Grown and Lewis Scott.

The writer wishes that more would write to the Union-Banner. I am sure the Editor would print all. I sure do enjoy reading pieces from different places.

Well, I will close for this time, and if I see this in print, I will call again. So long, to everybody.

A SUBSCRIBER.

J. O. MIDDLETON RESIGNS AS REPRESENTATIVE NOMINEE

Will go to Mobile, Ala., to take Part In Prominent Law Firm.

The many friends of Col. J. Osmond Middleton will deeply regret to learn that he has seen fit to withdraw his nomination for Representative to the Legislature. It has been decided that a broader field is open for him elsewhere and he is going to leave Chilton County. He expects to leave by October 1st.

There are several reasons to regret the departure of this splendid citizen.

We are sorry that he has to withdraw his nomination for Representative, and also we regret to lose his services and influence as a booster. For fifteen years Mr. Middleton has ever been found exerting his every energy toward the welfare of the Republican party, and he has spared no time in helping to build up the whole community around him. We will not only miss him greatly as a citizen and as a loyal party leader, but the Bar of Clanton will be severely weakened by his leaving. He is a highly talented orator and his activities in the courts of our country will certainly be missed.

Col. Middleton served one term as Representative to the State Legislature from this county several years ago, and ever since then he has taken an active and important part in every Republican campaign in the county. He has been very liberal in offering his talent as a speaker in our campaigns, and we are sure his efforts meant a great deal toward our political victories.

Although we regret severely to see Mr. Middleton leave, yet we wish him the best of luck in his new enterprise, and hope that his success will be even greater than it has been in our midst.

FRED L. HENLEY WRITES FROM A. E. F., SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

August 16, 1918.

Somewhere in France.

Dear Editor:

Will you allow me space in your paper to say just a few words?

I left Alabama on July 3rd and landed in Camp Dennis, Mass. When I got there, they told me I was just in time to cross over with them. So we left there (cut-out by censor) we had a lot of fun, and after several days of riding on the train we landed in a nice little French town; but I was just like a blind dog in a meat house, for I couldn't speak French. I can't say but about three words now, but guess I will learn if I stay over here long enough.

I haven't seen a home built out of lumber at all. They are built of rock, brick and cement. Most of the streets are about thirty feet wide and have no side walks at all.

I was talking to a Frenchman today who was just back from the front. He had one leg shot off, and he said he thought the Americans would clean the Germans up in the course of three months.

Well, I haven't time to write very much this time. Will write again in a few days. Would be glad to get the Union-Banner once in a while, and would be glad to get a letter from anyone who wishes to write.

Yours truly,
Prvt. Fred L. Henley,

AUTOISTS, YOUR CONSCIENCE IS YOUR ONLY GUIDE NOW

Washington, Sept. 8.—The conscience of every citizen must be his best guide in determining whether it is proper to ride to church on Sundays in a motor car. The fuel administration gavel, his answer yesterday to State and local administrators who had asked for an interpretation of the request that the use of automobiles be discontinued on Sundays east of the Mississippi in order to save gasoline for war purposes.

Where churches can be reached reasonably in another way automobiles should not be used, the administration said.

ONE-SIDED INFORMATION

The report of the Senate Military Affairs Committee on aircraft production was accorded about ten lines in the Official Bulletin, and then about five days later a statement by the Director of Aircraft Production was given more than a page starting on the first page, with top heads. It makes some difference who you are, when it comes to getting into the Official Bulletin, and it also makes some difference whether you are saying the things Creel approves of.

It is amazing how much energy the bureaus of Washington expend denying rumors we never heard of until we received the official denial.

STILL FAVORING THE SOUTH

The Department of Labor made an order some time ago restricting advertising for unskilled labor in all the 48 states. The attempted centralization of employment evidently did not work out very well, and the Department has announced a list of 32 states in which advertising for unskilled labor will be permitted, and this list includes every Southern State except Tennessee and Virginia. It includes nearly all the Southern States and only one-third of the Northern and Western States. Just why there should be such a difference it would be difficult to imagine, but it would be remembered that the administration usually finds a reason for dealing more liberally with the South than with the rest of the country.

MAY SUSPEND PUBLICATION

On next Tuesday the last member of The Union-Banner force will leave for National service. And it is with deepest regret that we announce to our many good patrons that it looks as though the publication of the paper will have to be suspended. We have a host of the best of friends over the county, and we are quite sure they will be very sorry not to get their county paper; but you know Uncle Sam cannot win this war on mercy and sympathy. He has established a war policy, and he will have to abide by it no matter how hard it hits us.

We realize that stopping the paper is asking our kind friends to bear a great hardship; but just stop and think a minute. Although youd sacrifice is great enough to be unmistakably felt, yet none of our patrons are called upon, in this case, to make half the sacrifice which the publishers are making and have made.
The Editor was called away some weeks ago, and could do nothing but lay down his all and go. Now, the last member of the force has got the same calling. We are having to make the supreme sacrifice; and we hope our host of good and true friends will bear with us in this hardship.

It is not an absolute certainty that the paper will have to stop. It may be that in a few days some arrangements may be devised whereby the publication may be continued. If this can be done consistently, it certainly will. However, if this paper is discontinued, it will be done only temporarily; and as soon as it is possible to resume publication, every subscriber will be accredited with as much advance as now has. All our records will be carefully preserved and every subscriber's credits will be given him when the paper is started again.

We will say again that it is with great regret that we part, not only with our work here in Chilton County, but we hate very much to have to leave our many good friends who have stood by us all our lives. No matter how far we go or how long we may remain, the remembrance of the many good people of old Chilton County will ever be a condolence to our troubled heart.

T. E. WYATT.

TULSA'S REUNION
CAUSES INTEREST

MANY INQUIRIES CONCERN-ING ORIGIN OF THAT CITY'S NAME

FACT OF HISTORY BRIEFLY TOLD

Reunion Visitors in September Will Be Surprised and Entertained By Historic Surroundings of the City.

Tulsa, Okla., Aug.—In view of the fact that people all over the south are beginning to talk about Tulsa, and the Confederate reunion, it is not surprising that interest is attached to the name and that people of an investigating turn of mind should make inquiries about it.

Some years ago Dr. Fred S. Clinton published a pamphlet on this subject and a copy of it has been preserved in the public library. From this pamphlet it appears that the word "Tulsa" is not descriptive of man or beast. It means nothing in itself. It is simply the name of a former clan of the Creek Indians. Dr. Clinton says:

"Anciently, clans, or secret societies, existed among the Creek Indians out of which, in the march of progress, a constitutional form of government was framed, and these clans sent their representatives to the councils of the Creeks. There was a time when this oligarchic government was very strongly established among the Creeks, or Muscogees, because the members of the clans were not allowed to intermarry and representatives were hereditary. One of these clans was known by the name of Tulsa, and in this manner the settlement took its name."

The first settler within the present limits of the city of Tulsa was Archie Yahola, a fullblooded Creek Indian.
He was a man of fine physique and possessed a superior mind. He came here from Georgia in 1836, and was selected town chief of the Tulsa Lochapokas. His followers idolized him, and when he died, in 1850, he was buried in the southern part of the city near the amphitheatre erected by the clan for the practice of their religious rites.

Tulsa's growth has been very rapid of recent years. It is now a modern city with an estimated population of $0,000. It has bank deposits of $58,000,000, with total resources of $60,000,000. The monthly bank clearings are approximately $50,000,000.
The greater part of this wealth comes from the oil industry, total daily shipments of oil from the city being 300, 000 barrels. It may be of interest to make note of the fact that Tulsa is the center of the Mid-Continent Oil belt from which the nation is receiving a large per cent of the oil necessary to the prosecution of the European war.

Tulsa is also a patriotic city. At the close of the drive for the third Liberty Loan, the community had invested $18,607,900 in various war funds.
Every demand on the community for war purposes has been promptly met.
Tulsa's quota of the third Liberty Loan was subscribed in less than a week.

The community will redeem its pledge to the ex-Confederates like it redeems all of its obligations and meets its responsibilities. That the reunion here Sept. 24-27 inclusive will be one of the best in the history of the United Confederate Veterans' association, is assured. It is believed that the attendance will reach 100,000 and arrangements are being perfected to entertain that large number of people.

Tulsa has an interesting historical back ground. A corner of the Cherokee, Creek and Osage nations was within a few hundred yards of the center of the business section of the city.
The Albert Pike highway, and the historic Ozark trail cross each other here. Washington Irving stopped here in 1832 while making his American tour. Sam Houston, the celebrated warrior-statesman left records of his wanderings around the city.
Some of the old frontier forts that figured conspicuously in the early history of the southwest, were located near the present site of the city and their remains are yet to be seen. All along the Arkansas river, there are points of historic interest that visitors to the reunion will see with pleasure and profit.

But it is modern Tulsa that will interest the visitor most, because it is a marvel of enterprise and thrift. The new portion of the city rivals in beauty and magnificence anything on the continent. The most modern skyscrapers west of the Mississippi river are to be seen in Tulsa, and its skyline is ever changing. Development of the oil industry has made it possible for these modern buildings to be erected. Vast fortunes have been made in this one industry. Yet, there are a variety of industries here that generously repay those who have their money invested in them.

Reunion visitors will find the surroundings at Tulsa entirely different from any place where reunions have been held in the past. It will be a new world to many. Oklahoma is a wonderful section of the country, and its development of late years has been marvelous. Reunion visitors will be surprised at the growth of Tulsa and the development of the oil industry hereabouts.

As ever Oklahoma prosperous towns and cities have been built. They are laid out along modern lines of city building, and their people are enterprising and patriotic. Tulsa holds first place among Oklahoma cities for enterprise and progress. The city has grown more in the past ten years than any other city in the great southwest. It is amply able to care for a large number of visitors, such as attend the annual reunions of the Confederate soldiers. Had it not possessed all of the facilities for caring for the reunion, the Confederates would not have been urged to come here with their 1918 meeting. All who come to the reunion will be cared for in most satisfactory manner.

LITTLE VIEWER.

THE RED CROSS

John Masfield is a distinguished English poet, who has seen the war and the work of the Red Cross at first hand. He was at Gallipoli, and made a noble record of that tragic and heroic adventure. He is now at work with the British forces on the battle fields of France. He says:
"The Red Cross exists to help the sick and wounded of the war. Since it began it has embarked upon every undertaking by which sick and wounded soldiers and sailors may be made more comfortable. It has provided stretcher-bearers to bring the wounded off the battle fields, ambulances to carry them to the hospitals, boats and lighters by which they can be shipped for home."

In addition to all this work in the field, it is a great distributing center of all kinds of charitable work. It gathers together and supplies to all the hospitals of the allies the countless things continually needed such as bandages, gauze, lint, ether, chloroform, x-ray equipment, surgical implements, splints, feather beds, rubber air pillows, drainage tubes, bedding, crutches and clothing.

It is now one of the biggest organizations outside the armies, and supplies comfort and help of every kind to the millions of sufferers in this war. "Help the Red Cross and you comfort a broken man."

Isaac Marcasson, one of the best of the war correspondents says: "The stay-at-home American cannot realize what the Red Cross means in this war.
Just as it is the world's most colossal struggle, enlisting more millions and creating wider havoc than any other war, so are the demands for mercy greater than ever before. Without the Red Cross this war certainly cannot be won. I have been with six armies and on half a dozen battle fronts. Wherever I have gone, the Red Cross has been in the thick of the battle—first to aid and last to rest. It needs every dollar that can be raised for it. No money expended in this war reaps so rich a harvest in gratitude and service. The Red Cross stands for justice and humanity, against might and materialism."

Edwin Mackham, author of the famous poem, "The man with the Hoe," writes of the Red Cross, calling it the "League of Love and Action."

A League of kindness woven in all lands,
You bring Love's tender mercies in your hands,
Above all flags you lift this conquering sign,
And hold invincible Love's battle line.

O League of Kindness, in your far-flung hands,
You wore a chain that reaches to God's hands,
And where blind guns are plotting for the grave,
Tours the lips that cheer, the armies that save.

O League of Kindness, in your flag we see
A foregleam of the brotherhood to be
In ages when the agonies are done,
When all will love and all will fight as one."

ATKINSON CITED BY CROWDER
FOR SAVING MILITARY BOOKS

J. B. Atkinson receives letter from Provost Marshal Commending
His Bravery in Recent Fire.

For his heroic act in saving the most important record of the Chilton County Draft Board during the recent fire that destroyed the Chilton County courthouse, J. B. Atkinson, clerk of the Draft Board, has received a personal letter from Provost Marshal General Crowder commending him for the service he rendered. Mr. Atkinson was at Montgomery yesterday, but owing to his retiring nature said nothing about the letter, except to a personal friend. After he had returned to Clanton, the friend told of the letter from General Crowder. The exact contents were not obtainable, but it was stated that Gen. Crowder thanked Mr. Atkinson deeply for his service, declaring that it is the spirit he liked to see in Americans and the spirit for which Americans are noted.

First accounts of Mr. Atkinson's deed were carried in the state papers, and news went to the Associated Press being printed in the Washington news papers, and immediately attracted the attention of General Crowder.
Jeopardizing his life, Mr. Atkinson secured a step ladder and climbed to the second floor of the burning building and, after smashing the window of the draft board's office jumped into the room. He threw to the ground the board's docket containing the names, classification and disposition of all registrants, and also saved the registration cards of Aug.
24, and was in the act of saving other records when the ceiling of the room began falling in and he had to leave the building to save his life.

Mr. Atkinson, as clerk of the Chilton board, has performed his duties untiringly, loyally, and fearlessly, and often in the last few months risked his life in running down slackers and deserters.

SANFORD DEVAUGHN WRITES POEM TO OLLIE McDOWELL

The following poem is handed us by Mr. Ollie McDowell, which he received from his friend, Sanford Devaughn, soldier, now in France:

"Waiting"
In a far-off land of grandeur,
Where the evening setting sun
Slowly wanders to the other world;
When the busy day is done
And the myriads of the heavens
In the shape of twinkling lights
Send abroad their lofty diamonds
Through the silence of the night;
Where brooks incessant murmur
On the mountain stony way;
Where the rocks and boulders glis'n
Seem to tell the close of day,
A little mother's waiting For the boy who went away—
Just an ordinary mother
With those haunting, pleading eyes,
Searching thru the shadow pathway
While the sunset softly dies.

Just an ordinary mother
Who had given up her son,
Just an ordinary mother
Praying when the day is done!
Who can know the pain and worry
That that mother's shoulders bear?
Who knows the constant suffering
Of the mother's heart out there?
Who can guess her hair in turning,
Turning daily silver white?
Who can guess her trials, troubles,
With the coming of the night?
Her soldier goes to battle
And his young heart meets the foe;
But think of the little mother
Who so bravely bids him go.
And think of the toll-worn fingers
That cared for him day and night;
Think of the mother's heart grieving
For her boy who went away.

In a far-off land of sorrow
Where the evening's setting sun
Slowly wanders to the other world;
When the busy day is done,
When the bursting of the bums
With their death-filled lights
Even send abroad their death-knell
Through the war zones dreaded night;
Where the men's incessant murmur
Cheering comrades who have fell,
Wishing that the Kaiser
And his troops were all in hell,
Where the dead men's faces shining
Where the pools of human blood
Where the wounded and the dying Struggle on to surge the flood
Of the ever-bursting rockets
Of the deathly gas-filled air,
Where the men are fighting nobly
In the trenches "over there."

Just an ordinary soldier
Wounded on the field that day,
Just an ordinary soldier
Dying in a soldier's way.
Oh, who can know the feelings
Of the soldier all alone
Dying on the field of battle
Thinking of his far-off home?
Who can guess he has a mother Waiting at the cottage gate
For her soldier boy's returning,
With a golden heart she waits?
Who can guess her saying "mother"
With the last breath of his life.
When he knows he's met the ending
Of the cruel war and strife.
Just an ordinary mother,
Just an ordinary son;
One is praying, one is dying
When the busy day is done.

RINGLING BROTHERS SHOWS ANNOUNCE PERFORMANCES

Gigantic Spectacle and Thousand Aerie Sensations to Invade this Locality in Near Future.

Word comes that Ringling Brothers mammoth circus is to exhibit afternoon and night, at Birmingham, Monday, September 23.

Always the leaders in introducing the newest and greatest features the famous show men this season announce the most remarkable program of their career. There is a brand new spectacle of gigantic proportions entitled "In Days of Old." Produced on the biggest stage ever built, it tells the story of the golden age of Ivanhoe, Robin Hood and King Arthur. An entire trainload of scenery is carried. The vast numbers 1,250 astors and there is an entrancing ballet of 300 dancing girls. A thousand ardent sensations follow the spectacle on the main tent program. There are great troupes or seals, dogs and monkeys that walk on tight ropes and ride horseback; herds of elephants in all new tricks; international athletes in feats of amazing strength; slides for life from tent-top to the ground by men suspended by the hair, and one—the great Hillary—who jumps the gap with skates attached to his head. The world's greatest stars, such as May Worth, who leaps from the ground to galloping steel with baskets tied on her feet, are presented in great numbers. There are two acts as many clowns as before, a menagerie of 1,009 splendid animals and to introduce the holiday, an all new street parade three miles long.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Dear Editor:

It has been some time since I have seen anything written from this place so I thought I would write a few lines. Cotton picking is the occupation for the farmers of this place nowadays.

Our Sunday School is simply fine under the supervision of Mr. Jessie Jones.

Everybody enjoyed the preaching service at this place Sunday. The service was conducted by Rev. Sidney Hagans.

The singing of Miss Zora Belle Foshee was attended by a large crowd Sunday afternoon and everyone present enjoyed it.

Miss Tellia Nickelson of Marble Valley attended the Singing of Miss Foshee's Sunday. She is visiting relatives and friends around here for a few days.

Mr. Luther Foshee has lately returned to Birmingham from visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foshee.

We are sorry to say the little sick son of Mr. Thomas Patterson is slowly improving.

Mr. Arnold McDowell and Mr. Mack Boswell are planning to leave for camp soon. We will miss the boys in our Sunday School and singings, but we will remember them in those things, also in our prayers.

Mr. Howard Palmer has returned to the navy from his visit to his sister, Mrs. B. G. Foshee.

IN MEMORY OF MR. W. H. WELLS

On the evening of the 2nd of this month, as the sun was slowly going down in the golden west, the death angel visited the home of our grandfather and took him away.

W. H. Wells had been in ill health for a long time, though he had been able to work some up to this year. He has not been able to do but very little, and if he had given himself justice he would not have done anything at all.

But now his work on earth is done. He was taken unconscious Sunday evening and did not speak but one word until his death Monday evening. Everything was done for him that could be by loving friends and physicians, but his sufferings were so great that no one could help him but Jesus. He came and took him out of this world of trouble into a better world above.

He leaves a widow, two sons, four daughters and twelve grandchildren besides a large circle of friends. But we feel that our loss is heaven's gain.

He was 65 years of age. He joined the Missionary Baptist Church at Poplar Springs when he was about 30 years of age and was a consistent member. He withdrew his letter from that church about eight years ago and joined at Cane Creek, where he was a faithful member until death. He is missed in his church and not only there but in his home. He was ever ready to lend a helping hand to those in need.

Grandfather cannot come back to us, but we can go to him, so all we can do now is just to look forward to the one that doeth all things well and prepare to meet our loved ones gone before.

His remains were laid to rest in Poplar Springs cemetery September 3, service being conducted by Bro. M. J. Parrish.

Dear grandfather has gone but is not forgotten, to those mansions fair. He has gone to meet his loved ones in that heavenly home on high.

We wish to thank the people in our community for their kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our grandfather. May God's blessings rest upon each and everyone, is our prayer.

Two Grand Daughters.

QUESTION: ARE YOU PERSHING PATRIOT

YOU WILL FIND THE ANSWER UNDER YOUR EYE. READ IT.

THE BIGGEST IDEA YET

How the People of Alabama Are Going to Send the Word to the Boys Over There.

By JOHN SPARROW

Publicity Director National War Savings Committee for Alabama.

Everywhere in Alabama, beginning August 31 and continuing through the month of September, the people are going to be asked this question:

"Are you a PERSHING PATRIOT?" and naturally they will ask, "Where is a Pershing Patriot different from any other patriot?" And the answer will be:

"A Pershing Patriot is one who backs our gallant commander and his boys over there with their money as well as with their good will."

And then will come the final question:

"How can I be a Pershing Patriot—what does it take to make one?" The answer is:

Simplest thing in the world: "Buy a war savings stamp (not only a thrift stamp) and you will be entitled to have your name placed on the rolls as a Pershing Patriot. These rolls when

WAR NEWS DIGEST

Captured American army and navy officers are reaching German prison camps without clothing and shoes. The American Red Cross has established a tailor shop in Berne to supply them with proper uniforms, according to information just reaching the bureau of prisoners' relief.

The officers, it seems, in being hustled back from the front by their captors lose their overcoats, blouses and even trousers. Frequently their leather shoes, which are greatly coveted by the Germans, are taken from them, and they are forced to wear wooden shoes. The clothing of others is so damaged in strenuous fighting as to need replacement.

To outfit the forty commissioned Americans known to be in the German camps and others who may be captured later, the Red Cross purchased a tailor shop in Paris and moved tailors and outfitting to Switzerland. This shop is now turning out each week 12 uniforms made to measurements supplied by mail by the various prisoners in the various camps. The men are supplied also with underclothing, shoes, toilet articles, towels and food. The food is particularly necessary to supplement the meager prison fare for which the Germans make the captured officers pay in money.

The stripping of prisoners apparently takes place only at the front in the heat and confusion of battle. Camp committees, appointed by the prisoners themselves, see that American prisoners receive supplies sent them.

Experienced flying officers are being returned from abroad to act as special instructors in the more advanced courses of aviation training which is being developed by the air service.

Recent practice in elemental training now gives the candidate more time in the air with his instructor than heretofore. The new plan is known as the Gosport system or "All Thru," as it is popularly called here, and insures closer contact between the cadet and instructor. When the cadets arrive at a flying field from the ground school, where they have learned much of the theory of flight, engine control and repair, radio, signalling and other kindred subjects, several of them are assigned to an instructor who stays with them until they are qualified in elemental flying. They are then sent to the special schools for final work and training in their particular line, as pursuit, reconnaissance, artillery control, or bombing pilots. The old practice of giving a cadet so much time in the air under instruction and then turning him loose for his first solo flight, in a "sink or swim" fashion, is being discontinued, and what is believed to be a more safe and sane system is being adopted.

Organization of forty air squadrons has been authorized. Four will be located at Houston, Tex., and 36, or a training brigade of three wings, on Long Island, N. Y.

The base of this Long Island training brigade, as now planned, will be Hazelhurst field, near Mineola. The squadrons will be quartered in groups of four or nine outlying fields. These squadrons are to serve under field conditions simulating, as nearly as practicable, the conditions behind the lines in France.

Information received by the children's bureau of the department of labor seems to indicate that everywhere in the United States children are receiving less milk than they should have. Such decreases are undoubtedly due in part to the high cost of milk. It is the poorest families that have been forced to make the greatest reduction in the amount of milk purchased. But that reduction would perhaps not be so great, the children's bureau says, if all mothers fully realized the value of food in the diet of their children.

Milk has been called the "perfect food." Authorities agree that it supplies the elements necessary to the growing child in the most digestible form. In spite of its increasing cost, it supplies those elements also in the cheapest form. It is estimated that, on the basis of its nutritive value, milk compared with steak at 40 cents a pound, and eggs at 48 cents a dozen, should be priced at about 27½ cents a quart.

Workers for Children's Year, to whom the weighing and measuring test for children under five years of age has revealed how many children in the United States are undeveloped as a result of improper diet, are engaged in campaigns to bring the importance of milk to the attention of mothers and to make it possible for them to procure enough milk to keep their children strong and well. Many milk stations where mothers may receive pure milk at a nominal cost, or free, if they cannot afford to pay for it, have been established in connection with children's year work, and public measures for ensuring a pure and adequate milk supply have been undertaken in many communities. Among these measures are the establishment of pasteurization plants, the inspection of the milk supply, and the passing of regulations controlling distribution.

The total value of all imports into the United Kingdom during the first six months of 1918 were $3,173,851,129; of exports, $1,201,211,086. For the same period of 1916 the values were: Imports, $2,810,730,038; exports, $1,176,758,033. The submarine has not destroyed the commerce of Great Britain.

DRUMMER WAS IN TERRIBLE CONDITION

Says He is Much Better Now After Taking Vin Hepatica

"You can go the limit in saying what you please about me," says D. M. Bowers, a well-known Nashville salesman, to the Vin Hepatica expert. "I am so much better off than I ever thought I could be after the awful experience I have had for years with my stomach. I was in such a terrible condition that I just couldn't hold anything on my stomach. Nothing would satisfy me. I suffered so terrible at times that I almost wished I didn't have a stomach. But I want to say to you right now that Vin Hepatica has so completely relieved me that I can eat anything without the least fear of it upsetting my stomach."

"And if anybody asks you," said he, at the Arcade Drug Store, "what I think of Vin Hepatica, you can just go to the limit. Anything that will do a fellow as much good as Vin Hepatica did me in my almost unbearable condition is worthy of the highest praise that mortal tongue can give it." We strongly recommend this great Nature remedy. Come and get a bottle and try it, on our recommendation. We know it is a real medicine of the highest merit.

GOT THIRTY HUNS BEFORE HE DIED

SCOTTY, YOUNGEST SOLDIER IN PERSHING'S FORCES, IS MOURNED BY ARMY.

HIS HEROIC DEATH RELATED

Red Cross Establishes Tailor Shop in Berne to Supply Captured American Officers With Uniforms—New Plan for Training Flyers.

(From Committee on Public Information.)
Washington.—Private Albert E. Scott, the youngest soldier in General Pershing's army in France—he was but fifteen years of age and a Brookline, Mass., high school boy when he enlisted—is dead, shot through the head by a German sniper after he had laid thirty foes to rest, and the army mourns its boy hero.

A soldier writer for The Stars and Stripes, the A. E. F. paper, tells this story:

"In the regiment they are talking these days of all the good pals they lost in the fierce, unforgettable chase they gave the Germans in the great retreat from the Marne. But most of all—a little oftener and a bit more fondly—they talk of Scotty."

"He was a good kid, they say, and he died on his gun."

"His great chance came when on that historic July 18 his regiment got the order for which, through many a month of dreams, it had longed—the order to advance. It went 18 kilometers without stopping, chasing the Boche up hill and down dale, fighting its way through patch after patch of inviting woods that would prove treacherous with hidden machine guns."

"In the first days of that battle, the movement was so swift that more than once a small German rear guard and an advance Yank platoon would meet in the forest and fight out then and there a complete and separate battle all their own. So it was with the Indians, as Scotty's regiment was nicknamed, one afternoon, as they were making their way past the bitterly won town of Eples."

"At the cross road they saw troops approaching them in column of squads. The officer in charge caught them in the focus of his field glasses. They were Boches, coming on. The Yanks waited, itching to open fire, but biding their time. Suddenly the Boches deserted the road and came on them through the forest."

"The lieutenant placed his men along a roadside ditch. He placed Scotty and his sho-sho beside a tree and squarely opposite a narrow woodland path that opened across the way. He could see straight down that path, and the Boches were bound either to come along it or to cross it."

"See that path, Scotty?" said the lieutenant. "That's your target. Not one of them must cross it."

"Yes, sir," said Scotty, and dropped beside his gun."

"Then from the high branches of many a tree and from many a shelter the German fire opened, and the Yank fire answered."

"A gray figure darted suddenly into the leafy path. He fell."

"Another appeared. He fell."

"There was perhaps ten minutes of that, and what was left of the German party was withdrawing when a handful of soldiers scampered along the road. They were Germans, but they shouted as they ran, 'Don't shoot, we're Americans.'"

"For a moment, just for the space that a breath is held, Scotty thrust his head up to see. From his perch in some tree a sniper shot him in the forehead. Another bullet found his heart. He fell forward, dead, on his gun."

"They had killed him, but the number of their dead that are counted as his was thirty."

Roller skates as a part of the speed-up program in force at the Rock Island arsenal, Illinois, have been adopted by women messenger employees.

Women employed in the time division at the arsenal are voluntarily working the first Saturdays and Sundays of each month closing the pay roll sheets so that all arsenal workers may be paid promptly.

According to the "Arsenal Record," published by the employees, Rev. M. E. Krotzer, pastor of the Presbyterian churches at LeClaire and Princeton, Iowa, is putting in his five weeks' vacation as an arsenal worker. The same paper reports the fiftieth anniversary as an arsenal worker at Rock Island of Emil Beck, seventy years old, inspector in the tin shop, who went there when the arsenal consisted of a small group of wooden buildings, relics of Civil war days, and employed from 200 to 400 men only through the summer months.

Cuba has a closing law which shuts all stores, warehouses, shops, etc., in the larger cities at 6 p. m. week days, and all day Sundays. Retail food stores keep open until 8 p. m. week days and 10 p. m. Sundays. Barber shops remain open until 7 p. m. on Mondays and Fridays, 11 p. m. Saturdays, but cannot sell perfumes while general stores are closed.

A company has been formed in Yokohama, Japan, to turn out a substitute for Portland cement. The new material will be made of lava and lime.

WADE'S FARM LETTER

Value of Cotton Seed.

Not one farmer out of every hundred knows the quantity or value of the bi-products of a ton of cotton seed, or what it costs to manufacture these products. We are publishing the approximate contents of a ton of cotton seed, the value of these products at present prices, and the cost of milling seed per ton as found by the U. S. Food Administration and verified by the Federal Trade Commission as being approximately correct.

The contents of oil in a ton of cotton seed varies from thirty-eight gallons in portions of Texts to forty-three gallons in the Carolinas. The average yield for Alabama is forty-one gallons of oil equivalent to—308 lbs. @ 17½¢ ..... $53.90
950 lbs. meal @ $54 per T. .... 25.65
145 lbs. linters @ $4.67 per T. .... 6.77
500 lbs. hulls @ 80¢ per H. .... 4.00
100 lbs. loss, ..... 0.00
Cost of Milling, ..... 15.32
Freight and profit ..... 5.00
"Miller's Spread" ..... 20.32

The price left for the product is $70.00 per ton in car load lots F.O.B. shipping points. The profit allowed licensed buyers is $3.00 per ton, leaving $67.00 per ton as the logical price for seed by the wagon load.

Price Areed Upon.

The Cotton States Advisory Marketing Board, of which the writer is a member, held a meeting in Washington on August 27th, in conference with a committee of oil refiners, a committee of oil crushers, and three members of the cotton seed division of the U.S. Fuel Administration. The above figures and prices were unanimously agreed upon and a resolution unanimously passed recommending that Dr. Denny and Mr. Hoover approve a stabilized price of $70.00 for cotton seed in car load lots.

Those Inclined to Kick.

I want to say to those who are not satisfied to take from $67 to $70 per ton for their cotton seed, that an embargo is on the exportation of American oil at the present time while oriental oil is flowing into this country from China and Japan by the ship loads. Oil is worth the same price as last year. The price of linters is fixed by the War Industries Board at $4.67 per hundred pounds, and contracted to the Allies until September, 1919. It is recommended that the price of cotton seed meal be fixed at $54.00 per ton, which is a little higher than last year; but feeders of the north and west are fighting selfishly to lower the price. Every dollar cut from the price of meal cuts the price of seed. The price of cotton seed will be based approximately upon the same prices of cotton seed bi-products of last year. This is the best that we can hope to obtain. It will cost about $5.50 more per ton to crush cotton seed this year than it did last year on account of increased cost of labor, fuel and sacks. This difference will have to be added to the price of meal or subtracted from the price of seed. Your committee recommended that the difference be apportioned between the price of seed and the price of meal. You are now receiving $57 per ton for cotton seed. If the recommendation of the committee are approved by the Food Administration, you will receive from ten to thirteen dollars per ton more, which will mean three million dollars more for Alabama cotton seed. It is deserving, and let us contend for it.
J. A. WADE, Comm of Agr.

The Thorsby Cotton Gin is now my property, and I will operate it this season. The prices as made by the government will be strictly adhered to. I assure you good work, and want you all to bring me your cotton, and I will see that you are treated right.

BURIAL OF U. S. MEN IN FRANCE IS TEMPORARY

The war department announces that Americans who lose their lives in war abroad will be buried there only temporarily. Where identification is possible, the bodies will be placed in marked graves, to be taken up when the war is over and brought home.

This plan of the war department was discovered recently by the publication of articles of agreement between the army and navy regarding the transportation of sick and wounded from overseas.

TO GO TO UNIVERSITY TRAINING SCHOOL 19TH

The following have volunteered to go to the University of Alabama to take mechanical training. They leave on September 19.

Mack Thomas, Emmett Caesar Smith, James H. Gregg, Julius H. Simmons, Geo. H. Lawrence, Johnnie J. Askins, Joseph A. McDowell, William Stanley Parrish, John Clifton Dansby, Olvin McSwain, Joseph Eugene Gore.

There are two more to go to this training school, but their names had not been ascertained at the time we go to press.

Mr. Z. J. Jones, of the Mars Hill Community, was in Clanton the first of the week attending court.

The South CAN Grow Wheat And WILL Grow Wheat

As A War Measure It Is Willing To Do More Than Its Part To Feed Our Soldiers And Allies—The South Holds The Banner For Increase In Wheat Acreage.

Charles A. Whittle, Editorial Manager, Soil Improvement Committee, Atlanta, Ga.

The South will grow more wheat this year than last because it is Patriotic and Willing.

It is willing to do its part, and more, to feed our ever-increasing army abroad—and to feed it well.

It is willing to do its part, and more, that our allies may not suffer from hunger.

It is willing to do its part, and more, to grow wheat besides meeting the great responsibility of growing cotton, of producing vegetable oils and meal from cotton, peanuts and velvet beans; of growing rice, sugar and other crops which the South alone can produce and for which no other section can render help.

The South carries the banner for the largest percentage of acre increase in wheat in the country for the past season. It can retain that banner. The great wheat belt of the West will have a big task to wrest it from it.

Some Facts About Growing Wheat In The South.

The universal success attending the growing of wheat in the South during the past season is evidence enough that it can be done again.

Wheat can be grown best on clay loams or sandy clay loams. The soil should be broken as early as possible and harrowed.

Varieties that have done well in a community are most likely the best to sow.

The seed should be treated for smut before planting. The formaldehyde treatment is preferable.

Seeding in October is better than November in the South. A good, vigorous growth is desired before winter sets in.

Where the Hessian Fly is found, wheat should not be sown until after the first frost.

Better yields are obtained when the seed is drilled into the ground than when sown broadcast.

Fertilizer can be applied in the drill. Generally speaking, a 10-2-2 fertilizer or similar brand will be found satisfactory and profitable at this time. Don't be stingy with it.

Nitrate of soda or sulphate of ammonia can usually be applied profitably as a top dressing in early spring.

Fall Reminders.

Remember that the time to select seed corn is in the field, from good healthy stalks, that have a maximum number of ears placed right on the stalk.

Selecting good seed for the cotton crop next year should likewise be attended to while the plant is still growing. Tag the desirable stalks and keep the pickings separate.

Kill the bean and pea weevils and save the grain by treating them with carbon bi-sulphide. Pour 2 to 4 pounds on top of the grain and cover with old sacks for 48 hours. Enclose them in tight boxes or other containers. If they show up again, gas them again in the same way.

JUDGE L. H. REYNOLDS DECLINES NOMINATION

Sends Letter to Pope M. Long in Which He Takes Definite Stand—Cannot Consistently Oppose Mr. Kilby, as Both Have Same Ideas.

The following is the letter of Probate Judge L. H. Reynolds, of this county, to the republican state chairman declining the nomination of the republican party for governor of Alabama:

"Mr. Pope M. Long, chairman State Republican Committee, Cordova, Alabama.

"Dear Sir:

"Having been nominated for the highest office in the state by the old and historic republican party, without an adverse vote, at Birmingham, August 28, I feel it my duty to express my views on a few of the leading questions that confront the people of Alabama.

"We all agree that we must have two parties to get the best out of our government. We can never expect our rulers to give us the kind of government that we are entitled to until we permanently establish two parties of nearly the same strength in our state. Just a few years ago we had a constitutional convention, of which I was a member, and it was almost the unanimous opinion of that body that it was a great need to dis-franchise the negro so that people would be divided in their opinions, and by creating competition, would force the politicians to give us a good government.

Prejudice Has Ruled.

"We, the people in the south, for over a half century, have let our prejudice instead of our good common sense govern us, and what has been the result—in Alabama.

"When Jelks was governor we paid about two and a half million dollars taxes, now we are paying nearly eight million dollars. Every business that can be thought of has to pay a license, these burdens increase year after year, and when we stop to take an inventory to see how the business is getting along to our astonishment we find that with all the increase of taxes and tax burdens we are rapidly growing in debt. I want to ask the voters of Alabama if it is not time to at least stop and look the business over; take an inventory and see how we stand—compare the last two administrations and imagine what a condition the business of the state would be if we were to have eight more years of mis-management. It is not only the state that is a bankrupt but also about fifty per cent of the counties owe more than they can ever pay. Many have invested thousands of dollars for public roads—and we are all for good roads—but there has been no provision made for maintaining them, and unless something is done at an early date the once beautiful macadamized roads will be nothing more than rocks, bumps, and mud holes, the tax payers will still be taxed to pay interest on the debts and the investment will be thrown away.

State Needs Business Men.

"I am honest when I say that I believe that if the state's business were run on a business principle, and not to reward some politician—if men were appointed with regards to their fitness for office and not to pay some politician debt—the expenses would not be more than half as much as they are today.

"We are drifting into a most deplorable condition; new places are created in every legislature, look at the expense of the Equalization Board, what corporation would keep such a system? What a difference in the way the people run their business and the way the State runs it's.

"Our convict system is very bad. The state does not want criminals, yet, our present system is making criminals all the time of boys that are sent to the prison. When a man is imprisoned he ought to be made a better man for the state owes it to the people to use every effort possible to elevate its subjects. There are but two purposes for punishing criminals. The first is to make the penalty severe enough that the party will not commit the crime again and the other that the punishment will be sufficient to deter others and keep them from committing crime.

"I remember years ago while visiting the state penitentiary, I saw a large number of boys there. 'My,' I said, 'what an awful condition, such degrading influences would ruin the best boys on earth.' I wondered if it were possible that the great state of Alabama were trying to raise criminals.

Poll Tax System Bad.

"Our poll tax system is very bad, all probate judges know that it is almost impossible to keep the records of the qualified voters correct, it is almost guess work with them in making a list of the qualified voters.

"I consider it a great honor, and it would indeed be a pleasure for me to accept the nomination that has been conferred upon me, so that I might help in my feeble way to get the voters to understand the situation; but I cannot consistently oppose Mr. Kilby for I think he has the same ideas about managing the state's affairs that I have, and while

I was a republican and could not vote for him I did all that I could for his nomination.

"I have always been a prohibitionist, was a member of the legislature when Mr. Moody introduced his dispensary bill, and was a member of the temperance committee and helped to report the bill favorably. In 1896 the first act of mine was to introduce a prohibition bill for my county, which was passed, and from that time to this I have never let an opportunity pass to help prohibition. My life has been consistent with my views for I have never taken a drink of whiskey or beer, neither have I tasted tobacco. The one great ambition of my life has been to see prohibition all over the United States and I believe it will do more good than all issues advocated by both parties since the war.

Takes No False Position.

"I have never taken a false position in public life and I cannot afford to take one now and since Mr. Kilby stands for all I have so long wished for in regard to prohibition, I cannot oppose him.

"We have a great struggle going on that needs all of our time, money and energy, and it is every man's, woman's and child's duty to do all they can to help win the war, and I hope that after it is over and our boys come back home they will not only leave Europe a free country but will find Alabama where every man can vote just as he pleases, and if one party is corrupt there will be another ready to take up the fight for what is right, and when this war is over and prohibition is settled in this state it will be a great pleasure to me to help establish two great parties.

Would Be Understood.

"I hope none of my friends will misunderstand my position, for I want them to know that I appreciate the nomination as much as any one could, and I have hurriedly given you some of my reasons for not accepting it.

Permit me to say in conclusion that campaign that I shall be glad to render any assistance that I can.

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

REVENUE OFFICERS MAKE ANOTHER BIG CAPTURE

On last Saturday W. O. Robbins and Charles Hampton, revenue officers, assisted by Deputy Sheriff W. H. Gillespie, J. M. Grant and J. B. Atkinson, pulled off the biggest whiskey raid that this section of Alabama has, as yet, ever known.

The officers went to Shelby county, and, after remaining out all night near a big still, in the early morning hours they deployed and demanded a surrender. The three men engaged at work refused to surrender and immediately trouble commenced. Some shots were fired, and young Vanderslice was wounded before he would surrender. Ponzio Vanderslice, his son, John Vanderslice and a man named Martin were arrested and brought to Clanton and lodged in jail. The officers destroyed 3000 gallons of beer, a lot of whiskey ready for the market and burned the plant.

The officers rested in Clanton after their return, and early next morning made a raid in Coosa county, where they raided another still, destroyed 200 gallons of beer and arrested two draft slackers; the same officers made the Coosa county raid who were engaged in the Shelby county round-up.

On Monday morning the Revenue officers left Clanton for Montgomery with their string of wrong-doers.

The wounded man, Vanderslice, remained in the Clanton jail until Tuesday, and, finally made bond for his appearance in court to answer.

The Chilton county men engaged in these two raids are deserving of special mention, the men referred to are W. H. Gillespie, J. M. Grant and J. B. Atkinson.

NO CHILTON COUNTY FAIR THIS YEAR

The managers of the Chilton County Fair Association have decided not to hold the annual Fair for 1918; this is done for the reason that farmers are too busy gathering crops for them to lose time, and not that they have nothing to show, on the other hand, this has been the banner year of Chilton county, and, the absence of so many of our brave boys necessitates work at home for all who are able.

RECENT MARRIAGES

The following marriage license were issued by Judge L. H. Reynolds this week:

Arthur Burnett and Miss Bertha Conway.
Julius Simmons and Miss Collum.
W. Z. Shackelford and Mrs. Alice Palmer.

VIDA LUMBER COMPANY TO RESUME OPERATION SOON

It is with pleasure that we can announce that the Vida Lumber Company have about completed repairs necessary and that their immense plant which was recently damaged by fire is in running order.

Plant More WHEAT

To the Farmers of Chilton County:

The Government is calling on all farmers throughout the United States, and especially the South, to PLANT MORE WHEAT.

It is best and most economical for the South to grow its own wheat even in peace time, and it is most important now that the South help the wheat growing sections of the West to feed the people at war, and if you will not plant sufficient wheat to spare a few bushels to the soldier boys in France, you should at least grow enough for your own use.

Decide this question now, and do this much, if no more, towards supporting the soldier boys in the trenches. If you were in the trenches, and they at home, would you not appreciate knowing that they were making some effort to help feed and clothe you while you defended and protected their home.

We hope you will think over this subject seriously and conscientiously, and do your duty.

Yours very truly,

REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE TO MEET

Call for meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican Party of Chilton County, Alabama, to be held September 28th, 1918, at 2 o'clock p. m.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican Party of Chilton County, Alabama, is hereby called to meet in the Court House at Clanton, Alabama, September 28th, 1918, at 2 p. m., for the purpose of selecting and nominating a candidate to fill the vacancy for Representative in the Legislature of Alabama, caused by the resignation of the Hon. J. O. Middleton, who was nominated at the preceding Republican Primary held in Chilton county, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various offices to be elected at the November election, 1918, and to transact any other business that may properly come before said meeting. A mass meeting of all Republican voters is hereby called to meet at the Court House on said date, and the members of the Executive Committee and all Republican voters of Chilton county, Alabama, are earnestly urged to be present at these meetings.

Dated this 18th day of September, 1918.

H. A. HARRIS,
Chairman of the Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County, Alabama.

J. B. ATKINSON,
Secretary to the Executive Committee.

REQUIRED SOME THOUGHT.

Reference at a social gathering was made to the trials and tribulations of youthful love when this incident was fittingly related by Congressman John H. Small, of North Carolina, says the Philadelphia Telegraph.

A young man began to pay court to a beautiful girl and eventually the time came when he felt constrained to ask her papa's permission to lead the fair one to the altar. With this in view he sought the stern parent in his study.

"I see, I see," interjected the father, when the youth essayed to state his case. "So you want to marry my daughter, do you?"

"Yes, sir," responded the young man, "if you are willing to give your consent."

"What are your circumstances?" asked the father, giving the candidate a searching glance. "Can you support a family?"

"I will have to think about it," answered the young man, reflectively. "How many are there of you?"

THE RECENT CITY ELECTION

On Monday there was an election in Clanton for Mayor and Councilmen. Mr. John W. Stanfield was elected Mayor over his opponent, J. P. VanDerveer, Jr., by a few votes. The following were elected Councilmen: J. H. Roberts, B. E. Jones, J. B. Downs, A. Gore and T. H. Neighbors.

TO THE YOUNG MEN WHO REGISTERED

It is your duty to prepare yourself, in the best way possible, for the service which your country expects from you in the near future. If you are ready for entrance to Howard or Birmingham College, Auburn, or the University of Alabama, you should enroll at once and join the Students' Army Training Corps, that you may receive the special training that the Government is planning to give there.

But if you are not ready for college, but have only partly finished your High School Course, or have not yet completed the elementary grades, you will make a serious mistake if you think that it is not worth your while to go to school this year. Never was it more worth your while! Every day in school now will add to your usefulness as a soldier. The uneducated soldier is at a decided disadvantage. He is often embarrassed by his lack of education. Now is the time for you to prevent that embarrassment by making every day count in supplying your lacks along educational lines.

Thorsby Institute is especially prepared to help you at this time. Our courses are not rigidly fixed, but can be adapted to the special needs of our pupils. We have a number of young men already in school who have registered and are adjusting our classes to their needs. We are giving them an opportunity to learn to speak French, that they may be able to make themselves understood when they reach France. Some are taking shorthand and typewriting and thus preparing themselves for clerical service in the Army. In another class they are making a special study of the Geography and History of the War. The rudiments of military drill are learned in our company of "rookies." Beside these things, there is the opportunity to continue such studies in the regular High School Course as you are qualified to take. Or if you have neglected your earlier educational opportunities and have not yet completed the Common School Course, we have classes for you in which you will find others of your own age who are as far behind as yourself. You cannot better serve yourself or your country than by entering school at the earliest possible date. I shall be glad to hear from you, or to talk with you personally at any time.

PRIN. S. H. HERBERT, Thorsby, Ala.

FORTY-SIX YOUNG MEN LEAVE HERE TUESDAY

The Largest Crowd Ever Assembled Here on Such Occasion was Present to Bid the Boys Farewell on Their Journey to Camp Pike, Ark.

On Tuesday forty-six brave and patriotic young men of Chilton county entrained for Camp Pike, Ark., to enter the service of the United States in the war for retaining freedom. These young men left Clanton in charge of Mr. T. E. Wyatt, brother and partner of Mr. W. M. Wyatt, who enlisted several months since. The names of the young men who left are herewith printed:

Thomas Eugene Wyatt,
Luther W. Cofer,
Ernest Seales,
Henry Popwell,
Marvin P. Davenport,
Mack S. Inabinett,
William C. Keener,
James O. H. Tubbs,
Ornie Lee Sims,
James Sidney Davis,
John M. Hancock,
George Curtis Speer,
Henry S. Skipper,
Jessie H. Turner,
John William Lett,
Junior Busby,
Edward W. Martin,
Ruben Bean,
C. S. C. Ekblad,
Wallace McDaniel,
Alonzo W. Hayes,
Joseph Gore,
Charley Burk,
Elgie Gore,
King David Hayes,
Joe Noah,
J. D. Driver,
Martin L. Caton,
Arrie C. Davidson,
William M. Boswell,
Robert Ellison,
Rube Mims,
Fred A. Curry,
Wren Curry,
Cleve Martin,
Joe Kanjutzky,
Obie John Lewis,
James W. Lake,
William F. Hutson,
Isaac A. Dennis,
Earl Ray,
Claid C. Headley,
Vaughn McKee,
Robert Sam Culp,
John Childress,
Albert A. Sims.

At the depot there were friends and relatives to see these brave boys leave their homes and friends. Tears trickled down the cheeks of some who were left behind, but the brave boys left with cheers and solid assurances that they would follow the flag to Berlin, if necessary, and back General Pershing and his grand army of nearly 2,000,000 Americans already crowding the Huns, off of French soil.

Before the departure of "our boys" for the front in France, "our girls"—real patriotic and thoughtful, entertained the boys, and "set up" ice cream, cake and cigarettes and with true kindness, and a warm-hearted good-bye parted with the noble young men, and, in this connection, the Union-Banner deems it nothing but proper to print the names of these splendid Red-Cross girls. Miss Annie Reynolds, Chairman; Miss Gertrude Popwell, Miss Myrtle Reynolds and Mrs. T. D. Parsons, are the ladies referred to.

WOMAN'S CONFERENCE OF BEAT CHAIRMEN OF THE 4TH LIBERTY LOAN COM.

In response to a call issued by Mrs. S. A. Stewart, County Chairman of the Woman's Committee of the 4th Liberty Loan, the local chairmen assembled in the home of Mrs. T. A. Curry on Tuesday morning, the 17th inst., to perfect arrangements for a conference of the various Beat Chairmen to be held on next Saturday morning. Since her recent induction into this branch of service, Mrs. Stewart has dispatched many of the duties that devolve upon her. It will be of general interest to note among her appointments of Beat Chairmen the names of Mesdames W. I. Mullins, B. F. Oliver, S. E. Norton, A. C. Wells, (Dr.) Parnell, W. C. Dyer, Benziger, Lucien Calloway and Misses Bertha Conway, Bama Wright and Pearl Gentry.

Mrs. Lucien Duncan and Miss Mary Carr Gibson have been appointed to tour the county as speakers in behalf of the approaching drive,—scheduled for the 26th inst.

It was decided at the meeting on Tuesday morning, to hold the general conference of the various Beat Chairmen in the law offices of Messrs. Curry & Walker, on Saturday morning, the 21st inst., at 10 o'clock sharp.

A number of the four-minute men will be present upon this occasion, and speeches will be made by some of their most enthusiastic workers.

Business of importance will be attended to. Plans will be devised for the successful execution of the 4th Liberty Loan drive—on the 26th inst. A dinner befitting the occasion will be served to those in attendance.

It is expected and desired that all Beat Chairmen of this organization be present upon this occasion.

MRS. THOS. A. CURRY,
Publicity Chm. of the Fourth Liberty Loan Committee.

REYNOLDS DECLINES TO RACE FOR GOVERNOR

We publish today a letter from Judge Reynolds setting forth his reasons for not accepting the Republican nomination for Governor.
His reasons are sound. For twenty-five years Judge Reynolds has been a consistent exponent of most of the principles embodied in the platform of Mr. Kilby. Besides from these considerations, there is a pressing demand for the actives of the Judge in Chilton county in the approaching campaign. If there ever was a time for the Republicans of this county to stand together and continue in control it is now; their recent administration shows they are fit to be again placed in charge. Now that Hon. J. O. Middleton has removed to Mobile, it leaves the leadership and campaigning solely up to Judge Reynolds. The Judge has shown genuine patriotism as well as good horse sense in declining the nomination.

WILL KEEP GOING

In last weeks paper, we announced that we might have to discontinue the Union-Banner on account of the Editor having to go to the war, but we are glad to say that we have made arrangements whereby the paper will be continued.

We have arranged with Mr. E. C.
Powell to take charge of the paper and keep it going. Mr. Powell is a splendid young man, and is well acquainted with the newspaper business. Only a few years ago he was connected with The Union-Banner, for a number of years in the capacity as printer; he was for a while Editor and Manager. Mr. Powell was Editor and Manager of the Rockford Index for some time. For nearly two years, he has been at work with a newspaper in Missouri. We are very fortunate in obtaining his services.

We earnestly appeal to our patrons and correspondents especially to stand by Mr. Powell as you have stood by the former force, and we assure you that if you do this he will give you a paper which will measure up to the standard of the Union-Banner.

Sincerely,
T. E. WYATT.

With this issue of the Union-Banner, as you will note from the above, has a new man as editor and manager, who will steer the paper in the future as it has been in the past. It is not necessary for me to go into detail concerning the change, as the above is all that is necessary. However, I will say a few words.

It was General Sherman who said in an address during the civil war,
"war is h-l."

Sherman was right.
It was President Wilson who said recently, "let us adjourn politics until the war is over."

Agreeing with these two great men, we have to say, that as the Union-Banner is represented at the front by the two young men who built up the paper and the establishment, which is second to no other between Birmingham and Mobile, except Montgomery, it is my intention to print the paper and protect their interest until the war is over and the Huns defeated. And, right here let me impress upon your mind, reader, that in doing this, I intend to keep the Union-Banner in the front rank of the Republican column. The Union-Banner, has, owing to the patronage of Chilton county, been built up.
It is today one of the best appointed establishments in this part of the country, and W. M. Wyatt and T. E.
Wyatt, two Chilton county young men, own the plant, and the present editor and manager, although he is recently from Missouri, will not have to be shown how to run the business in any particular.

A LETTER FROM J. C. FOSHEE
"SOMEWHERE" IN ENGLAND

Sometime, Somewhere in England.
My Dear Father:

We landed day before yesterday—
We traveled the night getting into this camp; so yesterday we were located in this American rest camp under shelter of good tents, plenty of good food; canteen Y. M. C. A. branches of America's large Banks and everything to make one feel like back home.

At present after a good night of sleep, a good breakfast and nice smoke, I am writing from a Y. M. C.
A. hut, one for officers. There are also plenty of enlisted men. This was formerly a wealthy farmer's home now in camp. American Y. M.
C. A. men and money running it. It contains a nice music part, writing room, pool tables, reading room, full of magazines and newspapers, and a canteen where lots of American cigars, tobacco and candies can be bought.

It is strange, but about all a soldier craves besides a place to sleep and eat is candy and tobacco. Especially over here. The Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross seem to be a place for rest and entertainment, a place for information about major and minor things which we do not know.

The country is beautiful; roads perfect and everything so nice. The people are so courteous and kind.

The farms are rather small, due to the thickly populated country. Every home is a mansion, either brick or stone, with a large grass lawn, beautiful shade trees, flowers, vines, and ferns everywhere. The woods are very similar to those through old Mulberry, around grandmother's home place—lots of growth, all kinds, chen, to, along the road side are trees, a row on either side.

Everybody use horses and buggies,
the two-wheel buggy, and in late afternoon after a day's work is done you see the English farmer dressed like our old aristocrats down south, walking came out for a walk. The younger boys and women all ride bicycles.

The modern train here has an engine very similar to our tractor and small log engines, tiny freight cars about the size of our cotton wagons, and passenger cars not much larger cut into small compartments holding comfortable about 8 each—no connections between sections and cars at all; the only door is on either side and imitates very much getting in and out of our old time carriages.

You have probably or will soon receive the card telling of my arrival overseas, for the card I wrote at port of embarkation will probably be mailed the minute after our ship landed safely here. That will be mailed from the Atlantic port which we sailed.

This letter will probably reach you within 20 days. Let me know when you receive it so that I will know how long it takes to get mail over.

We cannot write much, neither tell where we are or anything.

We had some excitement coming over too, that I would love to tell you about, but I can't now—so after the war I can tell you it all. Then we can have lots of talk about, but very little during the war.

Give my regards to all and write often.

Your loving son,
J. C. FOSHEE.

Mr. Frank Thomas, who is in training at the military camp in Montgomery, spent a few days here this week with relatives and friends. He is looking fine, and is enjoying the training.

GROVER BICE ON HIS WAY ACROSS THE POND

Camp Stuart, Va.
Dear Father:

I received your letter tonight. It came through Camp Wadsworth and on to me here. Sure was glad to hear from you and to hear that you saved everything in your office.

I doubt very much that I'll have a chance to have a picture taken before we cross, because we are quarantined here and we cannot get a pass to town, but if I have any chance I'll have some made while here. I don't have the least idea how long we will stay here. One bunch of soldiers left here since we came here.

The railroad runs right up into the camp and today I saw 15 cars of men (there was not so many in each car) that had been in battle and had returned wounded. Capt. Quintine Roosevelt was also on this train but I did not see him, or if I did I did not know who he was. I did not get to talk to any of them because the guards kept us back 30 feet from the train.

The Red Cross is doing lots for the soldiers. There may be some crooked people that get into the Red Cross, just like everything else, but just the same the Red Cross is doing lots of good things for the soldiers. When you are traveling on the train they meet the trains and give the soldiers post cards, apples, cigarettes and some candy, and of course its nice to have the ladies bring things around and talk to you while the train is stopped.

I see several machines flying around over camp every day. I suppose they watch the coast.

I am getting along fine and hope this finds all at home the same. As there is no more news, I'll close, as ever,

Your son,
GROVER.
Supply Co., 55 Pioneer Infy, Camp
Stuart, Va.

I sent my razor and pillow and a few other things to you. I tried to carry my pillow across with me, but I could not get any further than the port of embarkation with it. We got too much other things to carry; the pack each man carries will weigh about 60 pounds.

We were issued a razor, that's why I sent mine to you. I received the paper all right. You can have it stopped now.

We leave here tomorrow (Saturday, the 14th). I don't know whether we go to France or some other country;
anyway, we make a start from here for somewhere tomorrow. When you receive this letter we will be gone from here; you can address my mail to Supply Co., 55 Pioneer Infy., Camp Stuart, Va., and it will follow me.

I am o.k. and I hope this finds you and all the same.

Best wishes and regards to you and all, as ever,

Your son,
GROVER.

CONSOLATION FROM
MR. Z. J. JONES

Jemison, Ala., Sept. 14, 1918.
Mr. T. E. Wyatt,
Clanton, Ala.

My Dear Mr. Wyatt:
With a sad thought, I read your editorial relative to going away in the Banner of this week. You and your brother have both done fine work on the paper and we will miss you so much, but trust you will both at the proper time, return to Chilton in good health and unharmed, for which I shall not forget to ask Divine protection for you. With best wishes, I am
Sincerely yours,
Z. J. JONES.

LETTER FROM ALFRED HOLLEY WITH A. E. F. IN FRANCE

My Dear Sister:

I will answer your most and highly appreciated letter which I received a few days ago. I sure was glad to hear from you all.

These few lines leaves me doing well, and hope they will find you all alright. I have been to where I could not write but I have been fighting some. We have driven the Germans a long ways. I have been under shell fire for almost two months. I got in a mighty big gas attack—I got thru alright, and I thank God for it.

Say, Roady, Albert is here with me now. He was in the fight too. He is alright. Well, I know you are proud of your fine girl. I would like to see her. Well, I sure would like to see you all, but I can't tell how long it will be. I hope we won't get in another fight. I don't like it much.

Well, tell Berry to look for that money; I sent it the first of June.
Tell all the rest I want to see them
all. Tell them I would write to them but I haven't got time now.

Well, I seen some dead Germans on the battle field. I haven't heard from Willis in a long time. Don't know where he is.

I saw Willie Mims and Robert Culver; and Dock is here, but I didn't get to see them. Albert is in the company with me now. We pray together every day. You all pray for me while I am "over here." Tell Mollie I will write her when I can.
Tell them all to write, not quit. Tell Cora I will write soon. Write me and tell me what all the boys are doing. I got a letter from Arrie. Enoch has joined the navy.

Well, I will close for this time.
As ever, your loving brother,
ALFRED HOLLEY.

CURTIS COURTNEY WRITES
LETTER FROM ENGLAND

The following letter, written by Curtis Courtney in England, to his sister near Billingsley, was brought in to us by Mr. J. C. Courtney the first of this week to be published.
It contains a letter written by King George to the soldiers of the United States, in his own handwriting, upon their arrival in England:
American Expeditionary Forces.

Aug. 14, 1918.

Dear Sister:
How is everybody? Fine I hope.
This leaves me fine and enjoying life.
I am some place in England and still traveling and enjoying life.
I am the same, with love from your loving brother.

CURTIS COURTNEY.

The King's letter follows:
WINDSOR CASTLE

Soldiers of the United States, the people of the British Isles welcome you on your way to take your stand beside the Armies of many Nations now fighting in the Old World the great battle for human freedom.

The Allies will gain new heart and spirit in your company.

I wish that I could shake the hand of each one of you and bid you God speed on your mission.

GEORGE R. I.
April, 1918.

19 TO 36 MEN TO BE CALLED TO THE COLORS

The local draft board has received instructions from General Crowder to mail out questionnaires to the men whose ages range between 19 and 36.
These questionnaires will be mailed out as rapidly as possible and each registrant is given seven days time in which to fill out his questionnaire and return the same to the local board.

MR. MANNING WRITES
REGARDING CONFESSION

Thorsby, Ala., R. 1, Sept. 14, 1918.
Editor Union-Banner:

I ask space in your paper to publish this letter. The confession you published in last week's paper is from the second man in the case. Ned Huston confessed to a friend at Flat
Top and I got his confession before I sent you the letter in April, 1918. I could not give the full history at that time because we were after this last man; now he has confessed but not until pressure was brought to bear from one of the shrewdest detectives in the south. This last confession cost me $150, and it may be of interest to know that the last detective is a big black negro.

Yours truly,
A. B. MANNING.

Thorsby, Ala., Route 1.
P. S. It would take several hundred pages to describe this case thoroughly.

CORINTH NEWS

Health of this community is very good at present, with the exception of Mrs. Gatsy Jones, wife of W. B.
Jones, who has been sick a week. She is improving some at present.

The farmers are very busy harvesting their grain and cotton.

Mr. Henry Jones from Fort Moultrie, Charleston, S. C., was at home on a few day's furlough, which was welcomed by home folks and his many friends. It is the first time he has been home since entering the service 10 months ago.

Mr. Barnie Manning, of Birmingham, was visiting home folks and his old soldier friend, Henry Jones, recently.

The Corinth Sunday School is very good at present.

Let us not forget the Prayer meeting every Sunday night. Everybody is invited. We had a glorious meeting Sunday night week. Our school teacher conducted, who left us since to return to her home in Rockford.
After service we bid her goodbye. On our last Sunday night service Mr.
Henry Jones conducted, who left for Charleston Monday morning, and after service we bid him goodbye.

Archie Jones of Camp Wheeler, Ga., writes to his mother and father saying his company is fixing to leave for another camp soon, and he does not know where they are going.

Remember the singing that is to be held at Corinth Sunday, the 22nd.
Everybody come and bring your 1918 song book. Everybody is invited.
Come prepared to sing.

I will close, hoping the Union-Banner much success.

A SUBSCRIBER.

Prof. S. H. Herbert commenced the fall session of the Thorsby Institute with a large enrollment of pupils and assisted, as he is, by a faculty amply capable, Thorsby Institute will, this year, under the management of Prof. Herbert, equal, if not surpass any former session.

On Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 21-22, there is to be held at Bethany church a two-day session for the purpose of organizing a Baptist Missionary Association. Some prominent speakers will be present and delegates from a large number of churches will participate.

Mrs. Crayton Culp, who resides four miles west of Clanton, was attacked recently by an animal, from the description of which, it is inferred, was a mountain lion. At the time of the attack Mr. Culp happened to be near his home pulling fodder; the wife screamed on the approach of the animal and Mr. Culp made a rush for the home and reached there as the animal quit the attack and went to the woods.

A happy marriage occurred at Jemison this week when Miss Thelma Attaway and Mr. P. N. Ousley were united and commenced to swim down the stream of life together. Miss Attaway is one of the most intelligent and popular young ladies in Chilton county, and Mr. Ousley is known to be a progressive, up-to-date young man. The Union-Banner joins their many friends in wishing them a long and happy life together.

There will be a County Conference of all Sunday School Superintendents in Chilton county at Clanton on Sept. 28-29. ## CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL NEWS

(By The Pastor.)

A meeting for the older boys and girls of this Sunday School District will be held in Clanton on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 28th and 29th. On Saturday the boys will meet at the Baptist church, and the girls at the Methodist church. Home accommodations will be to keep them until Sunday when special exercises will be held for them at the 11 o'clock church service. Committees of both boys and girls are on the look-out for homes to accommodate visitors.

A complete set of officers for the Church to serve during the ensuing year, beginning Oct. 1st, will be elected next Sunday in a short conference after the 11:00 o'clock service, also officers and teachers for the Sunday School. Let every member of the church be present to attend to the business and then there will be no dissatisfaction with what may be done. The majority in a Baptist congregation should direct its general policy. The business ought not to take long.

The Baptist Sunday School should be a general rally and go-to Sunday School and Church with us. It is the closing of our fiscal year and our missionary obligations have not yet been met. Clanton is not a slacker in the line of unselfish benevolence.

The Unity Baptist Association will meet with Clanton Church on Oct. 8th. Tuesday after the first Sunday. Let all of our membership take a heart interest in the general work of the demonstration, and open our doors to visiting delegations.

Miss Izora Callen says some one has published a hoax about her going somewhere to teach a school. She has no idea of teaching more than one pupil at a time, it is so hard to get more than that to obey the first rule; "love your teacher."

Miss Kathleen Mullins of class nine left Tuesday to attend Shorter College Rome, Ga., during the coming session.

Mrs. Ross Mullins' class No. Nine had a full attendance on last Sunday as sort of farewell meeting, as several members are leaving to attend school in other places.

Miss Inez Higgins goes to the Judson this year, our great Baptist School for young women at Marion, Ala. The Marion Military Institute for Boys is there also.

Miss Roberta Curry left last Monday for Gainesville, Ga., where she goes to attend Brenan College and Conservatory. She will take a special course, including vocal training and Italian and French in literature.

Miss Mary Sue Mullins has gone to Smith College, Northampton, Mass. She is entering as a freshman and plans to take the entire College course.

Miss Leona Pipes is going to Hollins Institute, Hollins, Virginia, to enter for the full course.

All persons indebted to Dr. Arthur Johnson, please call and settle with Mrs. Arthur Johnson or Dr. N. S. Johnson. Mrs. Arthur Johnson.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The opening of Chilton County High School on Wednesday, the 4th of September, was the largest in its history. There is an enrollment of 148 pupils this year, while last year it was only 98. There is a large number of out-of-town students coming from Jemison, Thorsby, Strassburg, Coopers and Verbena.

The Music Department is quite full this year. Miss Averitt begins her classes before school and teaches to a late hour after school. She also teaches on Saturday.

The pupils were glad to have with them Monday Horace Popwell of Camp Sheridan, a former pupil of C. C. H. S., and Aaron Vines, a senior of last year.

Mr. Albert Bowers has as his very efficient assistant in physics, Miss Mittie Hyman. Today she made clear the lowering of the center of gravity.

Mr. Bowers—Warrene, if you were alone in the center of a perfectly smooth and slippery floor, how would you get off?

Warrene—I'd spend the night there.

PILOTS PARACHUTE JUMPERS

Thousand Community Labor Boards Have Been Organized—Gun Production for Army Grows Rapidly—Iron Rations Ordered.

(From Committee on Public Information.) Washington.—Up to a few years ago, in the public mind, all balloons were associated with parachute jumpers, county fairs and circuses. They were used very much like their rival the old side show, full of freaks, solely to draw a crowd. Today Uncle Sam is making balloons and training their operators for distinctly another purpose. The ungainly old balloon of circus days is now a rival of its smarter and more modern brother, the airplane, in the job of being eyes for the army and navy. A dead industry was revived when the war balloon was originated.

Swinging far aloft at the end of a cable, these "elephants," as they are now called, support trained observers who, by means of powerful field glasses and telephones, give range and direction to batteries. These in turn, with well directed shots, put enemy batteries out of business and break up infantry formations for attack. A stationary balloon four or five thousand feet in the air is an ideal place for an observer.

So Uncle Sam's parachute jumpers are being instructed today, not as entertainers to draw and thrill crowds by "leaps from the clouds," but for their own personal safety and the safety of their records made at high elevations, when a shell or an enemy airplane rips their balloon and they have to jump. For although their balloon may be destroyed, the men in the basket usually come safely to earth and bring their maps and photographs with them. It is a full of excitement these men of the balloon lead, and to be a member one has to have plenty of nerve, courage and daring in his makeup.

Aviators take off their hats to the balloon men. One recently returned American air pilot told of an adventure he had on a trial trip in a balloon; how interested he was becoming in the work of the observer as the latter explained the great panorama outstretched below him; when suddenly the balloon man interrupted his talk to see that his parachute straps were O. K., climbed to the edge of the basket, shouted: "Beat it; follow me," and disappeared over the side. The aviator said he took one look at the windlass pulling the balloon to earth below, another at the oncoming enemy plane and said to himself, "Not for mine." He said he did not have the courage to jump and did not. Fortunately the enemy plane was beaten off by allied planes before it could get any nearer.

Provost Marshal General Crowder was requested by the British embassy to give notice to the fact that British subjects, including declarants, who had registered before July 30, 1918, may enlist voluntarily in the British or Canadian army up to and including September 28, 1918. Those who registered on August 24, 1918, may so enlist up to and including September 23, 1918. Those who register on September 12, 1918, may so enlist up to and including October 12, 1918.

During the period so allowed for voluntary enlistment, British subjects may apply for exemption to the British ambassador.

At the end of the period allowed for voluntary enlistment, British subjects, in each of these classes, may no longer enlist in the British or Canadian army; but unless exempted by the British ambassador, they become liable to military service and may claim exemption under the United States Selective Service law.

Experiments in laundering shoes are being conducted at various camps by the conservation reclamation division of the quartermaster corps. The method used is the same employed by the American expeditionary forces.

A solution composed of one quart of strong disinfectant to 50 gallons of water was used to wash about 200 army shoes in a standard laundry machine. The solution used is germicide, antiseptic and deodorant. After 14 minutes' washing, the shoes were removed, dried for about an hour and then resoled. The results were found to be highly satisfactory. After the shoes are laundered and repaired they are greased with dubbing to make them more pliable and at the same time to preserve the leather.

Save a nutshell to help save a life! Nuts, the shells of nuts and seeds and pits of several varieties of fruits are needed in quantity supply to make carbon for use in gas masks or respirators for our soldiers.

Coconut shells have furnished the material for this carbon, but the supply of such shells is wholly inadequate.

The seed and pits of peaches, prunes, dates, apricots, plums, olives and cherries, and English or native walnuts, hickory nuts, butternuts and their shells, and Brazil nut shells, are the best substitutes for the coconut shells.

Recent reports show that approximately 1,000 community labor boards of the United States employment service have been organized or are in final process of organization. Between 700 and 800 of them are ready to function and some already have begun work.

Full and partial returns from 39 states and the District of Columbia give a total of 915 boards completed or in formation while four other states, two of them large industrial commonwealths, report the organization of boards but not the number. The five remaining states failed to report.

Each community labor board is composed of three members, one representing the community's employers, the second its employees and the third, who is chairman, the United States employment service. The employers' and employees' members are chosen by their respective local organizations, their appointment being approved by the director general of the employment service. It is the work of the community boards to generally supervise the recruitment and distribution of workers for war production, the actual recruiting and distributing being done by the local offices and agents of the employment service, including the agents of the public service reserve.

The federal directors of employment for the states have been notified by the director general to rush the organization of the boards for their states and their functioning as quickly as possible in order to provide relief for short-handed war industries.

Some facts about guns and munitions told by the secretary of war:

We are constructing a big gun plant at Neville Island. We signed a contract with United States Steel corporation to build and operate without profit this plant for guns of the larger calibers. This is the biggest plant of this kind ever conceived and will build guns of not less than 14 inch. The site is just below Pittsburgh and covers about 1,000 acres. The housing will be on the hills south of the island. The amount of money involved is $150,000,000 which is being supplied by the United States government. This plant will handle a tremendous amount of material and will be retained by the government after the war.

We have shipped two hundred and fifty 155-mm. howitzers to France.

We are producing between 25,000 and 30,000 machine guns per month. Of Browning heavy 6,000 to 7,000; Browning light automatic rifle from 8,000 to 9,000 per month.

We are making about 1,200 motor tractors per month.

We are turning out all the smokeless powder we need now.

The production of rifles has been about 200,000 per month.

We produce more than 50,000 pistols and revolvers per month.

Orders have been given for the supply of one million emergency rations by the subsistence division of the quartermaster corps. The emergency ration corresponds to the iron ration of the British troops. It is carried in an air-tight, gas-proof container and is sufficient to maintain a man for one day, sustaining his full strength and vigor. It is strapped in the pack of the soldier going over the top and may be used only according to the instructions given when the emergency ration is issued.

The emergency ration is composed of ground meat and wheat compressed into a cake. There is also a block of sweet chocolate. The bread and wheat component may be eaten dry or, if possible, stirred into cold water. The cake, when boiled for five minutes in three pints of water, results in a very palatable soup, or when boiled in one pint of water for five minutes it makes porridge which may be eaten hot or cold. When cold, it may be sliced and fried, if bacon or other fat is available. The chocolate component of the emergency ration may be eaten dry or made into hot chocolate.

The quartermaster corps has just completed purchases of large quantities of foodstuffs for distribution by the American Red Cross. The food will be shipped to France, Switzerland and Denmark and used for civilian relief and at prison camps.

The order includes more than 2,500,000 pounds of hard bread; 250,000 pounds of oatmeal; 333,333 pounds of fresh beef and more than 500,000 cans of baked beans. Purchases also have been made for the Red Cross of 205,000 cans of fish flakes. These flakes are a combination of haddock and shad. About 350 pounds of fresh fish are required to make 100 pounds of fish flakes.

Purchases also are being made by the subsistence division of the quartermaster corps of foodstuffs for use at American rest camps in England and France. Purchase for rest camps include more luxuries than are issued in the regular ration. Owing to the shortage of tonnage, canned corn and peas and other fancy staples are not now being sent overseas for general use, but sufficient quantities are available for men in rest camps and for the wounded in the hospitals.

More than 400 colleges have responded to the war department's call for co-operation in training the new branch of the army, the students' army training corps. Plans are being made to convert fraternity houses and dormitories into barracks for the period of the war.

The S. A. T. C. has two branches, the collegiate, to which men qualified by high school graduation are eligible; and the vocational section, to which grammar school graduates are eligible. Recruits will be procured by voluntary induction.

ABOUT SOWING GRAIN

As it is almost time to begin sowing small grain, I wish to call the people's attention to the importance of preparation and fertilization. Don't sow many acres but prepare it well and fertilize it well. Brake away from the old way of sowing grain and go to the new way (the only way). The drill if you have not one in your community, a few of you co-operate together and buy one. The old way of throwing seed down and turning in with plow won't do. Some of us are trying to get some acid phosphate to go on our grain; all that are interested see J. N. Dennis or myself.

Don't forget to treat your grain for smut. For grain, one ounce of formula to two and one-half gallons of water. Then place on tight floor and sprinkle and stir until all grains are moist. This will treat about four bushels. After all grains are damp, place in pile and cover for two hours with sacks or quilts and then spread and dry at once. Then grain is ready to drill.

Yours for success,
J. D. COLLINS.

Ringling Bros. Mammoth Show and Great Spectacle Will Soon Be Close at Hand.

"Ringling Day," the big holiday for which young and old impatiently wait at this season of the year, promises to eclipse all other events of the year, to eclipse all other events of the calendar at Birmingham, Monday, Sept. 23rd. Exhibitions will be given both afternoon and night. It would seem as though everybody in this locality were planning to attend. There will be the great street parade—more than three miles long this year—no end of strange remarkable wild animals in the gigantic five-continent Menagerie, and whole hours of sensations in the mammoth main tent. This season the Ringling Brothers are opening program with a wonderful spectacle entitled "In Days of Old" more than 1,200 actors take part in the grate production, which tells the story of the days "when Knighthood was in flower." There is a ballet of 300 dancing girls and no end of other striking features. Following the spectacles will come a thousand arenic sensations. There will be seventy riders headed by May Worth, who somersaults the back one galloping horse to another; Lily Leitzel, the worlds greatest aerial gymnast; Australian wood-choppers felling giant trees; Hillary Long, who leaps the gap on his head, and a world of other startling features. Eighty clowns will furnish fun and more trained animals and trick horses and elephants will appear than ever before.

REPUBLICAN RALLY DEFERRED

The Republican rally which was to have occurred on last Saturday at Clanton was postponed; Judge L. H. Reynolds decided after looking the situation over, that he would not oppose Mr. Kilby in the race for Governor, and, Judge Reynolds thought best to let the farmers remain at home and save the crops which will be needed to feed the brave boys who have gone to the front. And, while on this subject, we invite attention to a statement written by Judge Reynolds and printed in this issue of the Union-Banner.

FEED OUT YOUR HOGS SIX WEEKS EARLIER

In every lot of hogs on feed two or three weeks quickly and actually eat less than others. If all would fatten like these, the entire drove would be ready for the market six weeks earlier and to save six weeks feed is on item that you fully understand.

The hog that fattens easily must be in prime physical condition. The B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder is a conditioner for hogs. It keeps their system clean and healthy and enables them to prey to the usual diseases of hogs. The B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder is not stock food. It's straight medicine and we took the agency because it enables you to feed your hogs much earlier.

Regulate Your Kidneys

The kidneys and liver are the body's organs to carry off waste and poison. When they don't work, bad health follows, and unless you take care of yourself, disease may follow beyond the power of medicine to cure.

Because of the seriousness of these diseases, you should take Vin Hepatica, the universal system purifier, at the earliest sign of any trouble with bowels or liver. This great nature medicine is composed of eight of the most powerful curative herbs, and the certainty with which they restore kidneys, the liver and bowels to natural, healthy action is attested by thousands who have been helped when all other remedies and treatment proved valueless.

F. M. Cawthorn, a prominent farmer and stockman of Mt. Juliet, Tenn., says that after taking Vin Hepatica he felt like a wagon that had been oiled up and put in fine running condition.

We know that Vin Hepatica is a remedy of real worth. We invite you to come in and get a bottle. It will surely help you.

IMPORTANT RULES OF FOOD ADMINISTRATION

All Ginning Prices Must be Uniform
—Sugar Can be Purchased 2 lbs.
Per Person a Month—Farmers May Have Year's Supply Flour Ground.

Clanton, Ala., Sept. 24, 1918.
All ginning prices must be uniform and exactly the amount fixed by the State Food Administrator—not any more nor any less. Anyone violating this rule is liable to have their license cancelled.

Any merchant having sugar that he purchased to be sold for canning and preserving purposes may now sell it to their customers in two and five pound lots to be used for any cooking purposes, but they must not sell more than two pounds per person in each family, in one month.

All sugar must be sold according to price paid for it; the new price must not be put in effect until the sugar on hand has been disposed of.

Flour can be sold in reasonable amounts but as much as 20 per cent in cereals must be sold with it. Farmers may have a year's supply of flour ground at one time from wheat they have grown themselves.

Seed wheat can be sold to regular licensed dealers and to farmers strictly for planting purposes. I will give form of certificate to farmers selling wheat for each bushel of seed wheat sold; this certificate must be signed by the person that sells the wheat and at the time he sells it.

Mr. W. H. Conway, County Farm Demonstrator, will take pleasure in giving information on planting and fertilizing wheat, and since we are called on to plant more wheat this fall, and it is only reasonable to suppose that Chilton county will plant more than enough wheat to supply the entire needs of the county for the next year; while Alabama is not a wheat growing state yet, the average for the last ten years is more than Georgia, Tennessee, or the Carolinas. The ruling of the Food Administration, permitting the farmers to have as much wheat as they need ought to encourage the planting of wheat, to say nothing of the need of more wheat. If we do not have flour next year when the new crop comes in it will be our own fault.

Every farmer ought to begin now preparing his land to sow his wheat this fall for wheat raising will make us rich and improve our soil but the greatest of all is that we can help win the war by growing it, for the boys must have wheat bread.

Mr. W. H. Conway, County Farm Demonstrator, will take pleasure in giving information on planting and fertilizing wheat.

Suppose we were to miss a crop or to make a bad crop, we would still have time to plant something else on the same land. I have raised over a ton per acre of fine pea vine hay where I harvested a crop of oats this spring.

Since a farmer is now permitted to take a certificate from the person that he sells seed wheat to and buy as much flour as he could have ground from the wheat that he sells, surely if he has good seed wheat he will not have it ground into flour but will sell it for seed.

I hope the merchants will do their part in seeing that the farmers are furnished good seed wheat this fall.

Let us all remember that this war is not over and that a great responsibility rests on the people of the United States, and let it be said of old Chilton that she has done her part and has not only raised enough for herself but some to spare for our boys in Europe.

I have had to eat corn bread this summer and I am not complaining, and if I do not have flour next summer I will have no one to blame except myself but I expect to plant enough wheat to make all the flour that I need and then have some to spare. I hope that every farmer will try to do the same.

I have just learned that some merchants in the county were selling flour without selling 20 per cent cereals. Merchants selling flour must have Millers Certificates and can sell four pounds of flour to one pound of meal or must sell one pound of cereals with each four pounds of flour. These rules must be strictly adhered to and while the Government has made the sale of flour very liberal we must remember that it will be twelve months before another wheat crop comes in and we must use 20 per cent cereals with all the flour that we use in order to have enough to last until the next crop is harvested.

Every person who buys eggs for resale must candle them at the time they purchase them, also at the time they resell them.

Merchants selling sugar must have each customer at the time of sale a certificate certifying that they have not bought more than two pounds per person in that month; neither will they buy more than two pounds per person. They must have this in large sheets and with as many names on each sheet as possible and send them to me at the end of each business week, unless this record is kept in an intelligent manner so that I can check the amount of sugar that each person buys I will be compelled to stop the merchant that fails to do this from buying sugar.

I want to appeal to the people of

FORMER EDITOR WRITES TO FRIENDS OF COUNTY

Camp Hancock, Ga., Sept. 22, 1918.
The Union-Banner:
Dear Readers—I would like to say just a few words to you in regard to the future of our paper.

The demands of the army on our paper has stripped the institution of its makers, who for the past few years have been devoting both time and energy to the production of a paper of which we believed the people of Chilton county would be proud. But these demands were met with fortitude. They were complied with by the Editor and his brother in the same spirit in which they were made by our great country—for the everlasting preservation of our national ideals of liberty and freedom.

It looked for a time as if the paper would have to suspend till we could get back home after the war, but fortune made it possible for us to get a man to keep the paper going during our absence. The announcement of the change has been made in the paper and I take it for granted that all our readers are acquainted with the circumstances.

Now for just a few words about your support for the Union-Banner in future. We thank you for standing by our paper in the past. Without the solid support of the people of the county we could never have accomplished what we have in making the paper for you. Your support has been our success, and we have always tried to carry our successes back to the people in the form of a better paper for the people of the county.

Now Mr. E. C. Powell will have charge of the business while the owners of the paper are engaged in the great struggle which our country has undertaken. We want to ask that you people of the county continue to stand by the Union-Banner in future, and while we are doing our bit in the army we sincerely hope that our friends at home will take care of the paper and help to keep it as heretofore an institution always in harmony with the best interests of the people of the county.

Mr. Powell will render good service and if the people will stand by him the paper will continue to serve you as it has always done.

The former editor is busily engaged in the army and has not much time to write. I would have liked to say something to my friends before this but have not had time. Will try to let you hear from me though from time to time.

Meanwhile, I hope the people of Chilton county the best that may come to them in the way of happiness and prosperity.

Very truly,

W. M. WYATT.

MISS GERTRUDE POWELL MARRIES A COUPLE

Miss Gertrude Powell, the efficient chief clerk in the Probate office, married her first couple on Wednesday last. Miss Ruth Jones and Mr. Robert Jones, of Lomax, arrived in an auto and procured through Miss Powell the necessary marriage license, and owing to the absence of Judge L. H. Reynolds, Miss Powell, who is just across the 21 year age limit, and holding a commission, issued by the state authorities, made man and wife of the young couple in an impressive and dignified manner. Those who witnessed the ceremony say, although this is Miss Powell's first attempt, that the young lady was in every sense, capable and equal to the occasion. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Jones left Clanton in their auto.

COTTON GINS WILL NOT BE CLOSED TEN DAYS

Montgomery, Sept. 25th, 1918.
On September 23rd, Hon. R. M. Hobbie, United States Food Administrator for Alabama, held a conference with the Committee of Cotton Seed Oil Operators in reference to closing down the cotton gins for a period of ten days, on account of the congested condition of the cotton seed situation, but after considering the matter thoroughly it was decided not to close the gins.

R. A. Smith, age 32 years, son of our townsman, Mr. J. W. Smith, resident of Smith's Addition to Clanton, died on Tuesday and interment was made in the Clanton cemetery. The sudden death of this young man was a severe shock to his many relatives and friends in this community.

this county for each and every one to be sure and plant a fall garden; such as radishes, mustard, various kinds of turnips, winter cabbage, onions, etc.

We must bear in mind that there are three great things necessary for us to win this great war, they are: Men, food and ammunition; and if we do our part we will not have the railroads to bring food into our country, but we will have them to ship a great deal out.

Respectfully,

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL NEWS

(By The Pastor.)

At the Conference on last Sunday morning, officers for Church and Sunday School for the ensuing year were tentatively elected. The tentative nature of the election should be recognized because almost any of the men are liable to be called from peaceful pursuits to those of war at any time. The Deacons, now eleven in number, are permanent officers. Bro. Jno. D. Martin continues as Church Clerk; Bro. Mc D. Ruffin is Treasurer, and Brethren J. E. Mullins, F. R. Woodyard and E. E. Upchurch are Trustees for the congregation. Committee on Church Order, J. A. Thomas, H. C. McDonald and J. Watts Moore. For the Sunday School, Bro. J. L. Johnson will act as Temporary Superintendent; A. N. Minor, Secretary and D. C. Alred, Treasurer. Teachers were nominated for fourteen classes, which the classes may act upon if they see fit; and in any event they are expected to elect alternates or substitutes who will take their places when the regular teachers are obliged to be absent.

With the exception of two or three who have moved, all of the former teachers were re-elected and in those cases new ones were presented. The list now stands as follows: No. 1, Mrs. W. T. Callen; 2, J. R. Mullins; 3, Mrs. J. P. VanDerveer; 4, H. C. McDonald; 5, Mrs. J. R. Mullins; 6, Mrs. W. I. Mullins; 7, Mrs. Ruth Gowen; 8, Mrs. H. T. Pipes; 9, Mrs. J. A. Hester; 10, Mrs. Hattie Higgins; 11, J. W. P. Murphy; 12, Mrs. Ed Plier; 13, Miss Beverly Hester; 14, Teacher Training Class, Miss Williams.

On next Saturday morning at 11 o'clock the pastor will preach at the Fifth Sunday Meeting to be held with the Baptist Church at Thorsby, programs of which have already appeared in the papers.

As next Saturday and Sunday are to be given over to the Older Boys and Girls Conference of the County Sunday School Association, and the preaching will be done by Rev. Geo. Stewart, of Birmingham, or some other visitor, the pastor has accepted an invitation to begin a protracted meeting in Centerville at that time.

Ten messengers to sit in the Unity Association which convenes in Clanton on October 8th have been selected. The church's letter to the Association will be completed and adopted on Sunday, Oct. 6th.

The family of Mr. W. B. Corley, the editor and manager of the Clanton Press, have moved to Clanton and we hope that our ladies especially will make them feel at home amongst us, as they are Baptists. We are expecting their church letters soon. They are making their home in a house belonging to Mr. P. D. Wilson and formerly occupied by C. L. Branch, due north of where Dr. Neighbors recently lived.

Miss Annie Gragg of Class 9, will take up work as a teacher at Stanton on the first of October.

Miss Ruby Gore, of Class 9, goes to teach at Lawley for the winter.

A committee consisting of the deacons and their chosen helpers will canvass the membership to complete the sum of $500 promised by the church for missions and benevolences. The larger part of this has already been contributed in the regular work of the church.

UNIVERSITY TO HAVE NAVY TRAINING CORPS

Arrangements have been made to induct into the Navy a Navy Section of the Student Army Training Corps at a number of Universities. The University of Alabama will have a Navy Section of 50 men all, or most of whom, must be engineers. The Navy offers them the same amount given by the Army for subsistence, their navy pay, and a $100.00 uniform gratuity. They will hold the rating of apprentice seamen with pay of $32.60 per month.

The Navy may after a certain time hereafter to be specified, call these men into the service either for the purpose of standing examination for different Officer Material Schools or to fill lower ratings in the Navy. Engineering students will be allowed to stay two years unless some unforeseen emergency occurs. Students entering the engineering branch must be bonafide students of mechanical or electrical engineers.

Lieutenant-Commander J. E. Meredith will induct the men joining the Navy Section on October 1, 1918.

NOTICE

The Older Boys and Girls Conference of Chilton County Sunday School Work will be held in Clanton September 28th and 29th.

You are cordially invited to attend and bring all the boys and girls in your Sunday School from 15 to 18 years of age.

Remember you will be entertained free while in Clanton.

Do not forget the social meeting Saturday night.

Mr. Harry Denman, a special Sunday School worker, will be with us.

MANY OLD SOLDIERS TO ATTEND REUNION

Much interest is manifested by the old Alabama soldiers at the Home in the approaching reunion which will be held at Tulsa, Oklahoma, this fall; many of these old men feel that this is probably the last time that they will ever get together again and have an opportunity of meeting old comrades.

JOHN C. VINSON WRITES LETTER FROM FRANCE

August 6th, 1918.

Editor Union-Banner,
Clanton, Ala.

Dear Sir:

The copy of your paper of July 13, received last night, and it was much appreciated. Home seems a mighty long way off, and a reminder and news from there gives us all new life.

If you could see the layout of this country, and what is in it, you would know there was no place like it around home. It is near mountains and real valleys here, with a river running through it, which if I could give its name, would remind you of what is on, or used to be on, a lot of wine bottles. Sorry to say it is not Rhine, but that is coming.

We have seen some active service, having been to the front lines a few times. It takes a little practice, but after awhile we get to be good shell dodgers, and expert in making good use to the dugout, or getting our gas masks on when we hear one of the "whizz-bangs" coming. There must be something wrong with the "Bosh" supplies, for so many of their shells are "duds" or fail to explode; about one or two out of five seem to be the average. Our shells, however, as far as we can tell, all go off with a regular Fourth of July celebration.

Tell all of the fellows who are about to come over to leave behind everything they can possibly get along without, and half of what is left. They'll do it after they have gotten over here and made a few hikes, so they may as well not be troubled at all with the stuff. They do need razor blades, toilet articles, towels etc., as sometimes it is almost impossible to get them. The Y. M. C. A., the Salvation Army and the Red Cross do what they can to supply us, but in many of the places we go they are unable to supply us, however, we would hate to be without them, and appreciate what many of them are going through to be with the fellows, and they are always ready to do everything possible for us. Fortunately, not much is necessary, for every one is in better health than they ever was before and show it. You would think so if you would see them around meal time. Our company has the name of being the best fed in the regiment, and as a result has been given the only American kitchen around. The others are English and not as well adapted to producing the kind of food we like.

What sickness there is seems more a result of the fellows own carelessness than anything else, so taking it all in all, we have mighty little to complain of. We feel we have got some record to make of ourselves to match the efforts and work of the people back at home are making for us.

Sincerely yours,

PVT. JOHN C. VINSON.
Co. E, 327th Inf., A. E. F.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

New pupils are still coming in every day. This promises to be a great year for C. C. H. S.

The new books have not come yet but we have the promise of them for this week.

The Boys' Glee Club has been organized and we are looking forward to the entertainments to be given by them.

Friday morning the Civic League presented a pretty U. S. flag to the High School. We are very proud of it and thank the Civic League very much indeed.

Misses Sibyl and Gertewyl McDonald are wearing rosy cheeks now.

Miss Lucille Allaway went to Birmingham last week with her just married sister.

Miss Jewel Davis happened to an awful accident Saturday when she fell down the steps by the pressing shop down town. She bruised her face and knee and created an awful scene.

Misses Anice Kemp, Jewel Davis and Jewel Popwell were all sporting new dresses Monday.

The sophomore class regret to state that Vera Gillespie has started out to wear her last winter's sailor suit so early in the season.

Mr. John Gable announces the finding of his beloved goat which has been lost for several days.

S. A. Sphere, fresh meat, on Monday morning said that he wasn't going to chapel because he hadn't done anything.

Mr. Bowers has a new "rat" to send to C. C. H. S.

Cecil Smith—Miss Key, Annie Mae is always beating up the boys and girls in her class.

Annie Mae—You haven't forgot that time I beat you half to death, have you Cecil?

Despite the war, Miss Olive Robinson is wearing a handsome new diamond. Wonder if he is a soldier?

There are so many Jones' in the freshman class that no wonder they fall in love with each other. If you don't believe it, just ask Carolyn and Ralph.

Do you know who Herman Foshee "Crush" is? Have you noticed how many apples, pears, peanuts and etc., he brings Miss Kay?

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE OPENS SATURDAY

Plans Completed at Womens' Conference Here Saturday to Hold Meetings at Different Parts of County in the Interest of 4th Liberty Loan.

The conference of the various Beat Chairmen of the Chilton County Woman's Fourth Liberty Loan Committee, was held as per schedule on last Saturday morning in the law offices of Curry & Walker, Mr. Guy Higgins presiding.

A considerable batch of business was disposed of by this representative assembly—a plan for celebrating October 12th, Liberty Day—anniversary of the discovery of America was considered. It yet remains to be decided whether celebrations will be held in each locality of the county on this date, or else for all localities to unite in one grand effort to have an auspicious entertainment in Clanton. At any rate, the school children will be expected to take a prominent part on this occasion.

It was arranged at this conference to call meetings at Jemison and Thorsby on Thursday, the 26th, and at Mr. Henry Burnett's home on the following afternoon at 2 p.m., in the interest of the Fourth Liberty Loan. Mrs. L. J. Duncan, of Clanton, and Miss Mary Carr Gibson, of Verbena, the specially appointed speakers for this branch of service, will address these audiences.

A plan was devised by the publicity committee, whereby space in both county newspapers could be secured for the running of full page ads in favor of the Fourth Liberty Loan, for each consecutive week throughout the drive.

Universal sympathy was given by the Chairman of the Committee to the designing of a number of plans, the successful execution of which will result in a finished product that will reflect glory upon these women.

No other business being apparent, the meeting was closed sine die, and the conferees repaired to the home of Mrs. N. S. Johnson, where cordiality and a substantial luncheon awaited them. The after-dinner reading of Mrs. Duncan proved enjoyable and stimulated a greater desire upon the parts of the guests to make greater efforts towards economizing, in order that each might be enabled to make larger investments in thrift stamps.

LABORERS ARE SCARCE FOR FARM WORK

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 13, 1918.
To the Farmers of Alabama:

September and October, the time of gathering of the crops, are the months when there is greatest demand for labor on Alabama farms. This year the laborers are few.

To help you in this difficulty, because the harvesting of the crops is essential to the welfare of our country and to the cause of civilization, the Alabama Division of the United States Boys Working Reserve is being organized by Mr. W. Nash Read, Director of the organization, and by the educational forces of the States and counties.

During the week of September 2-7 the leaders of this movement expect several thousand boys to enroll and offer their services in harvesting our crops. Boys of sixteen, and older, have been called on by President Wilson and by Governor Henderson to render this public service. We confidently expect the farmers of Alabama to do their part in utilizing this labor, and in causing this worthy enthusiasm of the boys to bear fruit in material form.

Some of the boys will be familiar with common farm operations. More of them probably will require to be taught. In the teaching you will need patience, and this will bring its reward usually.

These boys, in making a sacrifice of their school work for a number of weeks, will be actuated chiefly by desire to serve their country. Will you not make their labor worth while to themselves by patiently teaching them those operations that will make these boys feel that they will be more useful when they leave your employment than when they began farm work?

It is expected that the boys will be paid the usual wages of local farm laborers, and that they will be available for any task on the farm. You can make their labor worth most to you and their farm experience worth most to the boys by teaching them not only one or two routine operations, but also those things that excite their interest and call for some thought and observation. You may need them again, even worse than now, and their future usefulness will depend on the pains you take with them now.

If you are willing to help the boys to help the nation by helping you for some weeks with farm work, notify the nearest principal of a high school, or your county superintendent of education, or your farm demonstration agent, as to how many boys you need, for what class of work, and at what pay.

Signed: CHAS. C. THACH,
Pres. Alabama Polytechnic Institute.
J. F. DUGGAR,
Director Alabama Extension Service.
L. N. DUNCAN,
Supt. Junior Dept. Ala. Ext. Service.

The Itching and Sting of Blazing, Fiery Eczema

Seems Like the Skin Is on Fire. There is a harassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation. A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only allay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source.

The source of Eczema is in the blood, the disease being caused by an infection which breaks out through the skin. That is why the most satisfactory treatment for all so-called skin diseases is S. S. S., for this remedy so thoroughly cleanses the blood that no impurities can remain. Get a bottle to-day at any drugstore, and you will see results from the right treatment. Write for expert medical advice, which you can get without cost, by addressing Medical Director, 21 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

REPUBLICANS TO NAME A CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

Judge L. H. Reynolds has been notified by the Alabama State Republican Executive Committee to meet with the Committee on Friday in Birmingham for the purpose of nominating a candidate to oppose Mr. Kilby in the race for Governor of Alabama.

A NEW COURT HOUSE BUILDING

The Commissioners of Chilton county have already asked for proposals to erect a new building on the old site occupied by the Court House before the late fire; the Commissioners ask for proposals to make necessary changes in the Wilson Hotel and the Hayes building that would be necessary in order to render these buildings suitable for Court House purposes. The Commissioners reserve the privilege of rejecting any or all of said propositions. The people of the county can rest easy as to the decision of the commissioners; these men are amply able to handle the situation and any conclusion they arrive at will be after they have made a painstaking investigation.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO COTTON

A number of the Union-Banner readers have a surplus of cotton, and owing to present prices some are disposed to sell. This disposition to sell should be as to whether the money is needed now or not, in order to make needed purchases or to pay off a note that is interest bearing.

For either of these purposes, then sell, for to step an interest-bearing note is certainly both saving and making money.

It should be remembered that, should cotton reach a lower figure than it is worth now, then other necessities will gradually crawl down in price to a figure that will make of the cotton money a purchasing power in value equal in all respects. With this view of the matter cotton does not lose its purchasing power, for the reason that needed necessities are in line with the general decline.

Cotton in the bale and safely housed ed is a money-getter at any time of the year. An interest bearing note keeps on sapping surplus funds; so pay off the debts and notes and save the extra bales of cotton, they will always bring ready cash with which needed necessities can be purchased at a fair price and at any time during the year.

These suggestions are intended to guide those who are doubtful as to what to do at the present time.

THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

Without any apologies the Union-Banner desires the fact to be known that the paper and its present editor have enlisted in this war struggle to remain there during the war. In this weeks issue of the paper we are starting a campaign of advertising for the Fourth Liberty Loan, made possible by the generous contributions of the merchants and business men of this city. While we are running this advertising at less than half the regular rate, we feel that we are doing our bit and helping the government in its campaign for money to finance the war that is being fought by our brave men and those of our allies for freedom and right. The young men of the Nation have left their homes, their relatives and their business to fight for us, and we should do our part by buying Liberty Bonds and furnishing the money to buy them food, munitions, and everything necessary for the successful prosecution of the war. The Government borrows your money in order to pay the farmer for the food these two million soldiers eat while they are across the seas fighting for you and your home; then, is there any reason why you should not rush to the front and do your part?

In Montgomery a Ku-Klux-Kan has been organized, and the members paraded the streets with banners bearing this inscription: "Work, buy bonds, fight or git." And that "git" means move.

Just the thing to do. Clanton and Chilton county can well afford to follow Montgomery in this matter. There are men in Chilton county, and Clanton also who have not as yet bought a government bond, a war stamp or subscribed a dollar to the Red Cross.

Now, right now, is the time for these men to "come across."

NOTICE TO LABORERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

Notice is hereby given to each laborer in Chilton county, that after the publication of this notice, on Thursday, the 26th day of September, 1918, each laborer is required to procure from his employer, a labor card, under the rules prescribed by the work or fight law in force during the period of the war.

Employers of labor desiring to get labor cards will apply to any member of the Council of Defense, whose names are signed below.

This the 25th day of Sept., 1918.

DATE FOR OPENING OF SCHOOLS

On account of the scarcity of labor and the children having to do much of the gathering of crops and on account of the scarcity of teachers, the county board of education will not set a date for the opening of all schools, but will leave that to the trustees of each district, and the trustees should notify the teachers of the date set.

W. T. BEAN,
County Supt. Education.

When an efficient antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast BOROZONE is the ideal antiseptic and healing agent. Buy it now and be ready for an emergency. Price 25c, 50c $1 and $1.50. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

WATCH OUT NOW FOR CATARRH!

This is catarrh time, and you want to be on your guard. You may already have it and not know it. It may have started with what you thought was a cold and a light dropping in your throat. If so, it will get into your stomach, throat and bowels before you realize it and infect the mucous membrane, which should be kept in the most healthful condition. Vin Hepatica is the only thing to take this time of year, not for relieving catarrh, but for fortifying the system against it. It has a very soothing and healing effect upon the mucous membrane. It goes at once to the seat of the trouble and assists nature in restoring the membrane to its normal condition, thoroughly cleanses and tones up the entire system. Come in and get a bottle now. Stork and Cupid Cuning Plotters

Many a New Home will Have a Little Sunbeam to Brighten It

Cupid and the stork are held up to veneration; they are rated as cunning plotters to herald the coming of the little sunbeam to gladden the hearts and brighten the homes of a host of happy families.

There is a most remarkable preparation, known as Mother's Friend, which has been used by women for over half a century before the arrival of the stork. This is a penetrating external application for the abdomen and breast. By daily use throughout the waiting months, strain and tension are relieved. The muscles are made elastic and pliable so that when baby comes they expand with ease and the pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less.

Then, too, the nerves are not torn and drawn with that usual wrenching strain, and many distresses, such as nervousness, nausea, bearing down and stretching pains, are among the discomforts and debilitating experiences women who have used Mother's Friend say they have entirely escaped by the application of this time-honored remedy.

Thousands of women have used Mother's Friend and know from experience that it is one of the greatest contributions to healthy, happy motherhood.

Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their "Mother's Friend Book." There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived from reading this little book. It is plainly written just what every woman wants to know. Get a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist today, and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort.

Waists that have a $1.50 look make their debut tomorrow at $1.00

Wirthmors! Of Course!

—And not only do these Waists have a $1.50 look, but they have the quality, the character, the inherent goodness of any other Waists that can be obtained anywhere in the Country at this higher price.

—These are the celebrated WIRTHMOR Waists, and the word WIRTHMOR has come to have a definite meaning in the minds of millions of women and thousands of good merchants throughout the United States. It stands for never-failing assurance of complete Blouse satisfaction.

Were it not for the many great economies of the Wirthmor Plan, and the further fact that the materials out of which these Blouses were made, were bought fully a year ago, these Waists could not be sold today under $1.50. Until the maker's present fabric stocks are exhausted the price however will remain $1.00.

The Enemy Is Watching

By NEWTON D. BAKER, Secretary of War

The supreme moments of our struggle with Germany have now come.

We have carried our first armies across three thousand miles of ocean and joined the issue of battle with the military power of a nation that has been for forty years preparing its plans and its weapons for its present attempt to dominate the world. We have had to put forth an immense effort and spend a fabulous sum in order to make, in so short a time, an adequate beginning for our gigantic task.

But it is only our beginning. We must follow it with greater energy and support it with increasing power. Men, munitions, ships and supplies must go to Europe in a larger and larger stream. We must redouble our blows and add constantly to the strength of those blows, if our initial effort is not to be wasted.

This Means That Our Fourth Liberty Loan Must Be Larger Than Its Predecessors, More Enthusiastically Supported and More Quickly Than Ever Subscribed

The enemy is watching anxiously for the first sign that we are faltering.

Our Government Loans should go "over the top" as eagerly as our soldiers do, in order to carry with them the terror of furious attack. Our dollars must rain upon the enemy as overwhelmingly as our hail of bullets or our storm of shells.

We are fighting for the liberty of the world, for the triumph of our ideals of democracy and self-government over the last great advocate of force upholding injustice. We are buying with our Liberty Loans the security and joy of our people for generations to come. No price could be too high to pay for such a victory—no cost too great for such a purchase.

MANY SUBSCRIBERS TO LIBERTY LOAN HERE

Campaign Opened in This County Monday—Peoples Savings Bank, Headquarters for County, Receiving Many Applications.

The Fourth Liberty Loan campaign was launched in Chilton county Monday morning. Headquarters were opened at the Peoples Savings Bank, in charge of Mrs. Eunice Leach Mullins. All subscriptions for the county will be handled through headquarters and proper record made. About $12,000 was subscribed by Clanton citizens on Monday.

The work at Mt. Creek is in charge of E. V. Speer and C. W. White; at Verbena the campaign is being conducted by H. B. Oliver and S. L. Gibson, while J. T. Rockett is looking after Coopers. At Stanton Mr. W. C. Dyer has charge, with E. G. Caldwell at Fletcher, and Cal M. Foshee at Maplesville. Jemison is being looked after by Dr. R. B. McNeil and Howard Roper, with Dr. A. K. Horn and S. E. Norton at Thorsby and J. D. Sims in Beat 15, and W. H. Clements in Beat 13.

No reports have been received as to Monday's work from any place outside of Clanton but it is believed that subscriptions are being taken over the entire county and that substantial progress is being made.

The quota allotted to Chilton county is $49,700, and it is believed that this amount will be raised easily, as a great number of the farmers are able to buy Bonds and seem now to have realized the wisdom of doing so. A good number of subscriptions received at Clanton Monday were by patriotic farmers.

The campaign in the county is in charge of Mr. Guy Higgins, Chairman of the War Loan organization for Chilton county. Mr. Higgins is of the opinion that there is a stronger sentiment in the county for winning the war than ever before, and that the people of the county will do their duty in this campaign. There will, of course, be a few slackers, as there are always those among us who are not willing to do their duty, but the number will be smaller than ever before.

The patriotic women of the county under the able leadership of Mrs. Sallie A. Stewart, are rendering invaluable service in the campaign, and to them will be due the lion's share of credit for whatever success is attained.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds— CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The pupils stood their first monthly tests Thursday and Friday. On an average the grades were good.

A number of High School boys and girls attended the older Boys and Girls Conference Saturday and Sunday.

As the tools have arrived the manual training classes started their work Monday.

Mr. Mac—"Chester, where is Holland?"

Chester—"It is an island north of Europe."

The members of the Sophomore class are sorry indeed to lose one of their most promising students, Miss Myrtle Popwell.

We are glad to announce that Miss Geraldine Downs has joined the Sophomore class.

Dora Edwards went to town Monday at noon and got a letter, which, while on the way back to school was lost, but was soon found.

We are all looking for Miss Jewel Davis to sprout a hump on her back as she was carrying a package of camel cigarettes Monday.

There will be a meeting of the Sophomore class Monday after school.

Miss Lummie Collins has a new sweater, which we are all glad to see, and she also has a new locket which her beau in West Clanton gave her.

Why does Rosa Lee bring a certain Senior apples?

Mr. Claude Sims has graduated to long trousers since he entered C. C. H. S.

Mr. Mac gave Elizabeth G. and Inez H. a corner to stand in Monday afternoon. Wonder why he was so good to them?

Wonder how Annie Mae's beau is, she is always so flush with candy?

We are all pleased to see that Miss Gladys Mae Nix has a new sweater.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds— HOG SALE DATES BEING ARRANGED

In order that the hog sales may be held in such a way as not to conflict, Dr. J. J. Watson, Marketing Specialist of the Alabama Extension Service, is now arranging a schedule for these days. They are being arranged so as to suit the convenience of as nearly all of the towns and buyers as possible. While some of these sale days may be held on the same day in different towns, yet this will happen only when the towns are a considerable distance apart, and will be no inconvenience either to towns or to buyers. These dates will be announced soon, so that all may know as far in advance as possible the exact date on which the various sale days will be held.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH AND SUNDAY SCHOOL NEWS

The pastor is away this week holding a meeting at Centerville. He regrets very much his enforced absence from home on last Sunday. Will occupy his pulpit as usual next Sunday.

Next Sunday will be the first Sunday in the new quarter and after a short sermon the quarterly communion service will be held. At that time also the church letter to the Association will be presented for adoption. The Association meets with us in Clanton on next Tuesday.

The pastor has preached on nine of the Ten Commandments in the past and will discuss the Tenth at some future time.

Lectures have been delivered on recent Sunday nights concerning the relations of France, England and Russia to the German War. Two more, on Italy and the United States, are contemplated for the near future. These lectures have been well received by large congregations.

Messengers to sit in Unity Association representing Clanton church are nominated as follows:

W. I. Mullins, Mc.D. Ruffin, H. C. McDonald, A. N. Minor, J. D. Martin, J. Watts Moore, Mrs. H. T. Pipes, Mrs. W. I. Mullins, Mrs. J. M. Robinson, Mrs. Hattie Higgins, M. D. Foshee and J. J. Pickens.

Two of our members, Miss Ruth Smith and Mrs. Chas. Miller (nee Miss Roma Smith) are mourning the loss of a brother, R. A. Smith. He was buried last Thursday afternoon.

One of our young members, Wilburt (Dick) Hayes, is at the University studying medicine, following in the footsteps of his father. Write him a card or a letter and help to keep off homesickness.

Rev. J. R. Curry, brother of our Col. T. A. Curry, has accepted the call of the Wetumpka church and is moving from Albertville this week.

The pastor has received a communication from Bro. and Sister T. E. Williams. He is at Camp Gordon and she is taking a business course at Atlanta nearby. They express themselves as well pleased and in good health.

Bro. and Sister W. L. Teel have moved to Birmingham. The pastor has not yet learned their address.

Sister Grady Broadhead is now at home to stay as Mr. Broadhead's regiment has departed for the front in France.

Bro. Oscar Jones went to the University at Nashville, Tenn., last week. He is looking for an efficient's commission. All success to him.

Mr. D. P. Garner and family have moved to Clanton. Mrs. Garner is a good Baptist and related to several prominent Baptist ministers, among them an Alabamian, Rev. W. A. Hobson, who has been in Jacksonville, Fla., for about 17 years.

Mr. W. I. Mullins is chairman of the entertainment committee for the Association. You can help him by volunteering to care for messengers.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds— JOHN H. MAHERG WRITES HOME FROM FRANCE

A. E. F., Sept. 6th, 1918.

Dear Father and family:—This leaves me all o k and in the best of health and enjoying myself just fine. I truly hope this will find you all well.

I had a letter from Marvin today. I guess he is at home now helping to gather the crop. Tell him I haven't forgotten helping to chop the cotton. I hope the cotton crop is better than it was last year. How is the sugar cane and the sorghum crop this time? Good I hope.

Well, I guess Otis will soon be a soldier. Was Marvin old enough to register this month? I wish Otis was here with me. I know he sure would enjoy drinking wine. We can get all the wine we want and it sure is good too.

Father have you gotten the allotment yet? Let me know when you write.

As I can't think of anything worth writing I will ring off for this time.

Your son,
JOHN H. MAHERG,

NEW REGULATIONS OF FOOD ADMINISTRATION

Judge L. H. Reynolds, County Food Administrator, Gives Some Good Sound Advice on Food, Feed and Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 2, 1918. Butter must be sold by retailers at a profit of 5c per lb. when sold for cash and 6c per lb. when credited.

The price of cotton seed is $68.66 per ton in wagon loads and $71.00 per ton F. O. B. Railroad. It is a violation of the law for any person to try to impress any one that seed will be cheaper or higher.

All peanuts must be properly cleaned before they are brought to market; this will enable the farmers to get the highest market price for them.

Merchants must have each customer sign a statement at the time they purchase sugar, this statement must state that they have not bought, neither will they buy more than two pounds of sugar per person per month. These statements must be sent to me at the end of each business week.

I have appointed a Food Administrator for each Beat, and I hope the citizens will help them and me to see that the Food laws are not violated, for the Food Administration is the best friend that the people have today.

Every farmer ought to plant at least an acre of wheat for each member of his family. He should begin now preparing his land. Mr. W. H. Conway, Farm Demonstrator, will be glad to advise you as to how this preparation should be done.

Do not forget the fall garden. Now is a good time to plant. If you have never tried a fall garden try one this year. Mrs. Lydia Jones, Home Demonstration Agent, will be glad to advise any one how to plant and what to plant.

We must not forget the boys in France, the noble work they are doing, and the hardships they are undergoing. We must take all the Liberty Bonds that we can; we must do our part for the boys are doing our fighting and we must furnish them food, clothing and ammunition. Distance ought not to slacken our energy, we should do more because our boys are so far away.

Farmers ought to buy Bonds liberally for just think of the price cotton is now and the price it would be if it were not for our Allies being in the war. We had better buy Bonds with our money than to have tax receipts for the Government must have enough money to carry on the war even if it has to tax us to get it. We ought not to wait for the committee to come and solicit our order but we should look them up, for the Government does not ask us to give them this money but merely to loan it to them and they will pay us interest on it.

Yours very truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
County Food Administrator.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds— J. T. SMITH WRITES FROM SEAFORD SUSSEX, ENG.

Seaford Sussex, Eng., Aug. 16, 1918.

Dear Father:

At last I have found the time to drop you a few lines to let you know that I am still alive and kicking. I have often intended writing you to let you know where I was, but as I enlisted in Detroit, Mich., on the 10 of April, and was sent to Brockville, Canada, and I expected to get a furlough to come home and see you all before I came over here, but was disappointed, as they did not give many passes to the U. S.

Well Father, I cannot write you very much because the censor is very strict. I am in the Canadian Engineers and like it very much, of course there is some hard work, but I just pass it on.

I had a dandy voyage across the ocean, and was not a bit sick, but I thought I would be. This is a nice old England town. But I believe I would rather be in Clanton. The old U. S. A. is good enough for me.

If I am one of the lucky ones to return I will be able to tell you my experiences, which, no doubt, will be some.

Well, Father, how is every thing going on with you? I hope you are in the best of health and your crop all right. And how is every one that I know? Let me know when you answer. Also send me the address of Ada Sims, as I would like to hear from her, and tell David to write to me, and tell all of my old chums, if they are still there, to write to me, as I have not met anyone from home since I parted with Carney Scroggins.

I would like very much to hear some news from home. Give my best wishes to Estella and James and tell them to write, as you know a soldier always likes to hear from his folks, and it may be some time before I get back to see you. I am going to send you some pictures that I had taken.

Well Father, as it is near Hash time I will have to close, hoping to hear from you soon. I don't know how long I will be here. Will close with love to all.

Your loving son,
Spr. J. F. Smith, No. 2007956,
F. Co. 2nd C. E. R. B.

REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE TO MEET

Call for Meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican Party of Chilton County, Ala., to be held October 5th, 1918, at 11:00 a. m.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican Party of Chilton County, Alabama, is hereby called to meet in the Court House at Clanton, Alabama, October 5th, 1918, at 11 a. m., for the purpose of selecting and nominating a candidate to fill the vacancy for Representative in the Legislature of Alabama, caused by the resignation of the Hon. J. O. Middleton, who was nominated at the preceding Republican Primary held in Chilton county, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various offices to be elected at the November election, 1918, and to transact any other business that may properly come before said meeting. A mass meeting of all Republican voters is hereby called to meet at the Court House on said date, and the members of the Executive Committee and all Republican voters of Chilton county, Alabama, are earnestly urged to be present at these meetings.

Dated this 28th day of September, 1918.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds— MUCH WHEAT MUST BE PLANTED

According to the reports coming to Extension headquarters at Auburn from the county demonstration agents, the interest in wheat growing is even greater than was expected. In Madison county one merchant has recently bought a car load of especially selected seed wheat which he will sell to the farmers of his section at cost plus 10 per cent for handling. Another car load will be handled by another merchant on the same basis, says county agent C. F. Striplin. In Cullman county agent J. A. Chancellor reports that recently he asked 23 different farmers the specific question as to whether or not they were going to sow wheat this fall. Without a single exception all answered in the affirmative. County agent J. W. Sartain of Walker, says that the indications are that the wheat acreage in his county will be 100 per cent greater than it was last year, which figure exactly agrees with the estimate made by Extension forces at Auburn, as to the increased wheat production that could advantageously be made by the farmers of a small section of the northwestern part of the State, including Walker. In Morgan county agent Earnest Carnes reports that one of the local bankers, who has a wheat farm in Tennessee, is having shipped into the county 100 bushels of well selected Fulcaster wheat, which he will sell to the farmers at $3.00 per bushel. Mr. Carnes and others in the county are raising a fund, which will be used as prizes to be awarded to those raising the most wheat per acre. Many of the other county agents, in fact nearly all of them, report great interest in wheat growing, and it seems very clear that Alabama is going to do her part along this, as well as other, food production lines.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds— INCREASED EGG PRODUCTION THIS WINTER

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 30.—With eggs now retailing in the larger cities at from 50 to 55c per dozen, it seems clear that the prices by Christmas time will be in the neighborhood of $1.00. It is the person who can produce the most eggs during the winter who is going to cash in on the proposition, and there is no reason in the world why far more eggs are not produced during the winter than are now produced. Improper feeding is usually one of the main reasons for the small quantity of eggs produced during winter, but, of course, cold weather and other unsatisfactory conditions enter into consideration. Yet if green feeds are fed throughout the winter, along with the proper amount of other feed, more eggs will certainly be the result. Miss Gladys Tappan of the Alabama Extension Service, states that to lay the right number of eggs the poultry must be in a good, healthy condition, and green feed keeps them healthy, gives them a good appetite, supplies more water, makes yellow yolks, and causes them to produce more eggs. It is as important to feed green feed every day as it is to feed corn and any other feed, and a crop of rape, clover, or small grain should be put in at once. Cabbage, collards, lettuce, turnips, beets, alfalfa, and the various pasture grasses, all are suitable for green feed for hens.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY TEXAS CATTLE

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 30.—A telegram from the Fort Worth Stockyards to Prof. Templeton of the Alabama Extension Service, states that the cattle receipts this week are heavy and prices lower. This evidently means an excellent opportunity for those in this section who have a surplus of feed. Texas breeders have been using pure bred sires only, for a number of years, and these cattle from this drought stricken section are high grade. Those in this territory who are going into the beef business can save 10 to 15 years in breeding up a herd by purchasing now their heifers and young cows from Texas, preferably those three years old and under. While these cattle are thin, they are strong enough to stand the trip in good shape and if given plenty of feed and good attention they should prove a good investment.

The market quotations last week were as follows: Thin cows, strong enough to stand hard shipment, weighing from 550 to 750 pounds, 6 1/2 to 7 cents; heifers weighing 400 to 500 pounds, 7 to 8 cents; stock steers, weighing 500 to 750 pounds, 3 to 9 cents; well bred stock calves 7 1/2 to 9 cents. No registered cattle are offered for sale on the open market, but grade Shorthorns, Herefords, Angus and Red Poled cattle of excellent breeding can be had.

If interested in buying some of these cattle, one should first make up his mind as to the breed, age and number of cattle desired, and then go to the nearest shipping point and find out the freight rate on cattle from Fort Worth. The Government has made a reduction of 25 per cent in freight rates on all cattle shipped from the dry part of Texas to the southeastern states east of the Mississippi, effective September 7. Then the next move is to make arrangements at a local bank to have a draft honored for the purchase price of these animals. The next step is to wire the order to C. F. Walker, care Texas Cattle Raisers Association, Fort Worth, Texas, stating exactly the number and kind of cattle desired and the maximum price that will be paid. Mr. Walker is placed there by the Federal Government to handle these orders from buyers, and each order received by him will be given prompt and careful attention. In wiring, give the name of the bank on which the draft is to be drawn. If cattle can be bought at a cheaper price than the maximum price named in the telegram, you will be given advantage of it. In other words, Mr. Walker is there to serve the farmers who buy.

Do not worry about not being able to secure cars because the Government has charge of getting these distressed cattle from the drought stricken areas of Texas to points in the southeast, and there will be no trouble whatever in having them shipped out quite promptly. Buy only in car lots, in order to secure the lowest freight rate. Those who wish to buy less than a car load should get some of their neighbors to make up an order for a whole car load. Fifty to 55 calves, 40 yearlings, or 25 to 30 cows make a car load. Where a number of people are interested in buying these cattle, enough to make a train load would insure prompt delivery. A train load of 15 cars of these cattle recently came from Fort Worth to Demopolis, Alabama, in 58 hours, including an eight hour lay over at Meridian, Mississippi. Another train load of 25 to 30 cars of these cattle will come to the same section late this week or early next.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds— PLEASANT GROVE AND NEW HARMONY NEWS

Health of these two communities are very good at present.

Mr. Ben Best, who has been ill for some time past with tuberculosis, died last Tuesday and was buried Wednesday. We shall miss him very much, but we know that our loss is heaven's gain, for he said just a short time before he died that he had made peace with God and was only waiting for Him to call him home.

Rev. Maddox filled his regular appointment at Pleasant Grove Saturday evening and preached an excellent sermon. There was only a small congregation to hear him.

Brother Maddox will preach at Uncle Pate Headley's home next Friday night. Let's all go hear him.

Miss Lula Best will be our teacher at New Harmony this winter. We are very glad to have such a good lady with us. If she makes as good a teacher as she is a girl, she will certainly have no trouble getting a school anywhere she wishes to teach.

Cotton picking and syrup making is the general occupation these days in this quarter.

FROM CHILTON COUNTY BOYS AT CAMP PIKE

The Following Letter Was Written By the Chilton County Boys who Left here for Camp Pike, Ark., a few Weeks Ago.

Camp Pike, Ark., Sept. 30, 1918. Editor Union-Banner:

If you would be so kind as to permit us space, we would like to say a few words to our friends at home.

We arrived at Camp Pike o k on Sept. 18. We were assigned to our Company, and immediately entered into the routine of real soldiers. Only 15 of the Chilton boys were assigned to Casual Co. No. 38, the rest being placed in different parts of Camp Pike.

Up to this time we have already been issued uniforms, taken physical and mental examinations, have been vaccinated and inoculated. Four of our boys from this Company have gone to the hospital. Most of them went on account of vaccination. Their names are: King David Hayes, Orrie Lee Sims, Wren Curry, J. D. Driver. One boy, Ernest Seales, was rejected on physical disability.

We wish to say to our friends and relatives in dear old Chilton, that army life is not by any means like staying at home. Our advantages and facilities here are very scant, and our sacrifices great, yet we bear them with as much contentment as possible because we know it is all for a good and just cause. The "Beast of Berlin" must be captured, and it is every man's duty to do his part. We have been called upon to probably sacrifice our lives, while others are not expected to do so much, yet we do not grumble at this. Uncle Sam has designated the role which we must play, and we are going to do it unhesitatingly.

Although Uncle Sam is stern and strict in his dealings with soldiers, yet, he has made available a number of ways of protection and does many acts of kindness and benevolence. We are allowed to take out army insurance at a real low rate, which is one of the greatest assets in behalf of soldiers. The Y. M. C. A. is continually working within the camps, and its intentions and accomplishments are certainly great for homesick and low spirited soldiers. They have preaching and singing on Sundays—once in the morning and once in the afternoon. They furnish us with stationery and in general serve to make the army as much like home as possible.

Now, before we close, we want to beg our friends to remember us, and pray that we may return safely to our dear ones soon. Also we would be mighty glad to get letters from any one at home. Should you care to write to any of us, our address is 38 Casual Co. 162 Depot Brigade, Camp Pike, Ark.

Well, good luck to you all. May God be with you till we all come home.

Respectfully,

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds— VELVET BEANS SOLVE SOUTH'S FEED PROBLEMS

The feed question is being solved in many parts of the South by abundant yields of velvet beans which were sown on a large acreage this year. Owing to the increased acreage in Georgia, that state alone could take care of 50,000 to 100,000 head of cattle from States where forage is scarce, according to a report recently received by the Bureau of Crop Estimates. Large quantities of last year's velvet beans also remain on hand and are being used extensively in feeding dairy cattle. In tests conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture on the Government farms at Beltsville, Md., it was found that velvet beans compared favorably with cotton-seed meal, producing profitable gains when the beans are the sole concentrate of the ration; that a combination of corn silage and velvet beans forms a satisfactory ration for fattening steers for market; that it is more profitable to feed soaked beans than it is to grind them; and that more beans will be eaten if soaked before they are fed than if they are fed dry.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds— A SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT LOMAX

Dr. V. J. Gragg was called to Lomax to attend Mr. Stanley Wilson, a young man 23 years old, who had fell off an engine belonging to the Vida Lumber Company, engaged at the time in backing up a logging train on the Vida Lumber Company track. Mr. Wilson's leg was shattered in two places, which will necessitate amputation.

Dr. Gragg and Mr. A. B. Whisonant left with the young man for Montgomery, where further treatment of the patient will be continued.

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment

Do Not Neglect It.

When you use medicated sprays, atomizers and douches for your Catarrh, you may succeed in unstopping the choked-up air passages for the time being, but this annoying condition returns, and you have to do the same thing over and over again.

Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment?

Throw these makeshift remedies to the winds, and get on the right treatment. Go to your drug store to-day, get a bottle of S. S. ### NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

Owing to the ever increasing cost of news stock and everything necessary in publishing a newspaper, we are forced to make a slight advance in the advertising rates in the Union-Banner. It seems that there are some advertisers in and out of town, who have had a special rate heretofore of so much per month, a very low rate, even before the cost of everything that it takes to make a newspaper has advanced. We are forced to cancel all these and set a rate as above stated, to everyone. This is a very small rate, considering the cost of publishing the paper at the present, and we cannot afford to take advertising for less. We wish to thank our customers for the business given us in the past and hope we may have the opportunity of serving them in the future.

If 36 cents a pound for our cotton is an unfair price, will someone kindly tell us what six cents a pound was? Then (1914) we begged Wilson to lend us half a billion dollars so that we could pay our debts and not have to give our cotton away. There was nothing shaking. They said "supply and demand" controlled the price. Now, why in the devil don't "supply and demand" control the price? Now, they are going to set a fair price and confiscate our cotton; why didn't they fix a fair price and take it in 1914? They have kept talking of setting a fair price until they have scared all the farmers into selling their cotton, when if they had let "supply and demand" controlled the price we wouldn't have been an unfair price.

The county administration of Chilton got so rotten and corrupt that the democrats could not stand it much longer, so they joined in with the republicans and by a vote of two to one filled every office in the county with a republican. Then a few democrats who were left, got busy and began to harass and hamper in every way possible, the republican officials. They have been aided and abetted by the officials at Montgomery. They have tried to make life as miserable as possible for Judge

Lewis Reynolds, Mr. Harris, the Sheriff, the Treasurer and the Board of Commissioners. The democratic county commissioners court had squandered two hundred thousand dollars on roads, or what was intended to be roads and the people got tired of it. They made a clean sweep of them. There are other counties in the state that need the same kind of treatment—Collinsville Courier.

CALLED FOR SATURDAY

There will be held in the court house building on Saturday, October 5th, at 11 o'clock a.m., a meeting for the purpose of nominating a candidate for representative in the next Legislature. This meeting was called for last Saturday, but owing to the weather it was deemed best to postpone. It is hoped that there will be a large gathering together of the Republican voters on that day.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds—
CONCERNING COTTON

As yet no government price has been set for cotton, and indications are that cotton will remain to regulate its value in the markets without government interference in any way. Cotton fluctuates, owing to supply and demand, this has always been so, and owing to the war, no doubt cotton will command good prices in the markets; should the war terminate sooner than anticipated at this writing, cotton will be sold at good prices, for the one reason that the world needs the staple now, and will need it when hostilities are over.

The Union-Banner suggested the advisability last week that it would be a good policy to sell in order to pay off interest bearing notes, and then hold until the price reached the figure desired. Cotton will keep, especially, where there are no debts to pay and notes to fall due.

Mr. W. H. Conway, Chilton County Farm Demonstrator, advises that the farmers hold their cotton, plant wheat, and rest easy. Wheat is the crop that is needed most; wheat after planting requires no work until matured. Mr. Conway, as a rule, is generally on the safe side.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds—
SONGS OF ACTION

"I like a nice mince pie Becos it's nice—nice—nice—"

The foregoing was one of the favorite songs at the front in 1915. "Hello, who's your lady friend?" was another.

Not much about the war in them, is there? There wasn't in "Tipperary," either.

The boys in France don't sing songs about canning the Kaiser, dying for the flag, and so forth. They leave that to us. They are making the extreme effort, the utmost sacrifice, and to chatter about it is nauseous to them. Continuous abnegation endues them with a dignity and refinement which we who are safe in Clanton and Chilton county have not yet attained.

—Buy Liberty Loan Bonds—
TOO MUCH WAR

The newspaper reader sometimes asks himself, and he sometimes asks the newspaper editor—only less politely—if it isn't possible to print something that isn't all about the war.

The war is to blame; not the editor. In "Alice in Wonderland" runs the verse:—
"The time has come," the Walrus said,
"To talk of many things;
Of shoes, and ships, and sealing-wax,
And cabbages, and kings."

This was written a generation or two before the war, and the collected subjects were intended to be miscellaneous, and non-controversial.

Try to pick one of them that isn't a war-topic now. Shoes and ships remind us sadly of war-prices; sealing wax recalls a certain Hague treaty—now a scrap of paper; while cabbages and kings have dug themselves in on the front page.

Don't blame the poor editor. The mailed fist hits you no harder than it hits him.

Make America's Next War Offensive its Largest and Most Effective

Fourth Liberty Loan is our next National objective. There is no geography or politics in the patriotism of this country, this state or this county.

Our quota is $49,700. To oversubscribe it quickly is twice as good a war measure as doubling it only after weeks of effort. It's the quick blow that has the punch.

Alabama has thousands of soldiers in the war for LIBERTY. Chilton County has sent hundreds of boys to the colors. It is now our fight as much as theirs. Unless we go on the firing line with our dollars they cannot remain on the firing line with their bullets.

The real business of every man, woman and child in Clanton and Chilton County is to join in sending this message to Germany:

and a little bit of labor will soon properly drain any farm. This machine cuts a V-shaped ditch down to four feet. It is reversible, throws the dirt to either side, so that you can ditch close to a fence. It can be adjusted for a narrow or wide cut. It's made all of steel and has no working parts to wear out. Lasts a lifetime.

Valuable for hillside ditching and terracing. Builds and tears down rice levees. Levels bumps, fills gullies, grades roads. Call and look at one or send for book telling what users think.

SCHOOLS IN CLANTON

The schools in Clanton have greatly increased in the number of pupils, and, to some extent, this increase is attributed to the fact that since the passage of the three-mill tax law for school purposes, families have moved to Clanton in order to give their children the benefit of the long terms. There are now close to 240 pupils attending Prof. Johnson's school, while Prof. McDonald has an attendance of nearly 180 at the High School. As to this increase in school attendance, a number of the pupils come from nearby towns, by train, while there are others who reach Clanton by automobile and private teams.

There is a scarcity of teachers, this matter Prof. Bean is giving his earnest attention, and as soon as possible needed teachers will be secured.

THE FIFTH SON ON THE FIRING LINE

Mr. Jonathan Bice, Treasurer of Chilton county has received a letter from his son, Clarence, who wrote immediately after arriving in France that the trip across the ocean was pleasant and that no submarines were seen on the way over.

Clarence writes his father that now that he is over there he is rather anxious to meet up with the Huns and try conclusions with them.

Mr. Jonathan Bice has five sons over there helping to drive the Germans from France, and their names and ages follow:

Clarence E. Bice, age 31,
Grover A. Bice, age 26,
Stoughton M. Bice, age 24,
Chester A. Bice, age 22,
Jonathan Bice, Jr., age 18.

These noble young men were all raised in Chilton county, and not only Mr. Bice but all good citizens of this section are proud of the Bice boys.

PLANT WHEAT AND HELP WIN THE WAR

The farmers of Chilton county are called on to help win the war by planting a large acreage to wheat this fall; in no way can those of us who have the land assist the government to support the boys in France than by devoting our time and lands to this important question of wheat raising.

There are in Chilton county a number of farmers who have home-grown seed saved over from their last crop, and when a farmer has more than he intends to put in the ground on his own land, then he should sell the surplus to his neighbor at a reasonable figure.

Mr. W. H. Conway, the Chilton county demonstrator, is in shape to furnish information on this subject, and he will gladly do so to those who apply to him.

Where it is necessary to order seed wheat from a distance Mr. Conway can furnish the information as to the most reliable points to order from.

There is no time to lose—decide this question now. The United States is engaged in a war that has for its purpose the advancement of religious principles and the overthrow of German supremacy in this world-wide conflict. The south is sending its best young men to the front to fight the battle for us, and it stands as a reasonable proposition that we should make the wheat out of which the bread they eat is made. Plant wheat and help to win the war.

CHILTON COUNTY NEGRO AT THE FRONT

Sheldon Massey, a boy who was living with his parents at the Old Alabama Soldiers Home near Mountain Creek, writes to his father, James Massey, a negro man who had charge of the stock at the Home at the time mentioned, that he is now on the front line in France, and that he enjoys the life of a soldier.

Sheldon at the time he lived with his father at the Soldiers Home was a boy, probably 12 years old, nearly ten years since. James Massey, the father, is now employed on a farm near Limestone, Ala. Sheldon in his letter failed to mention the unit he was connected with, but he was careful enough to write "we have got the Dutch running now." A few of the old men at the Home remember the boy well.

HUNDREDS OF THIN PEOPLE GROW FAT

According to leading authorities, it is no longer necessary for thin, frail people to give up hope of becoming strong, healthy and vigorous. It is declared that Irogen, the new discovery for rebuilding blood, is making sturdy men and beautiful, healthy women from human wrecks.

Irogen, it is said, overcomes disease and builds up the weakened system by supplying the element which nature requires for the regeneration of blood and new tissue. Hundreds are testifying daily that its results are unusual and permanent.

Warning is given, however, that, owing to its well known flesh-building powers, Irogen should not be taken by any one who does not desire to add flesh.

Note—Irogen, the product mentioned above, is now on sale in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co., and by the leading druggists in practically every city, town and village in the State.

MATTER OF HABIT

We have gotten along so well with the hands of the clock advanced one hour, why not keep them there? We have become so accustomed to the arrangement of time, that no one would notice the difference if the clocks were not turned back on the last Sunday in October as the law requires. Getting started an hour earlier in the morning has been a good thing for our country. Let's keep it up.

PLENTY COTTON PICKERS IN AUTAUGA COUNTY

Cotton picking in Autauga county is on in earnest in this section; the $1.00 per hundred pounds for picking has induced many who wanted ready money to go to the fields; the new citizens who settled in this county from the west and middle west states last year and planted just a little cotton are well pleased with their venture. The recent sale of Holstein cattle for breeding purposes was an occurrence which will be the means of both increasing the values of stock, and the number of cattle raised; these new citizens referred to were liberal purchasers at the sale.

STOP CATARRH WITH VIN HEPATICA.

Right now is when catarrh is most dangerous and most easily contracted. You may have it right now and not know it. You go out and get your feet wet, expose yourself to cold, and the first thing you know you have it, and if it is not stopped at once, may quickly lead to deadly pneumonia and tuberculosis.

No matter how slight your case is, even a slight dropping in the throat, you should start immediately taking plenty of Vin Hepatica, the great vegetable prescription which acts with such soothing and healing effect upon the mucous membranes, cleansing and toning up the vital organs of the body and enabling them to perform their natural functions in throwing off catarrh and making you proof against other diseases so prevalent this time of year. Come in and get a bottle now.

OUR WOMEN IN THE LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE

It was on last Thursday afternoon that the women of the various church societies of Thorsby became assembled in a local home under the auspices of "The Guild", to muster their strength and pledge themselves to do their part in that immediate sector of the battle field, and thus lend material assistance to other soldiers a little farther in the front—in the trenches. Thorsby women have always performed a full share in laudable undertakings, and when the roll is called at the expiration of the impending drive, their answer will be "Well done etc."

A woman's meeting held in the drawing room of the Gibson home on Tuesday afternoon was well attended. A number of representatives from neighboring localities were present, and the program was interesting. Kipling's noble inspirations upon America's entrance into the war arena, also a poem by Henry Van Dyke, were beautifully interpreted by Miss Mary Carr Gibson. Mrs. Duncan's address on the advisability of purchasing Liberty Bonds as a splendid financial investment, as well as a means of showing ones loyalty, was convincing and profound. Rapt attention was given to each number of the program. An intelligent audience cannot fail to appreciate the part that our people are playing in the world war, where nations are engaged in a death grapple. Very likely these thoughts find lodgment in each mind: "Buy Liberty Bonds," "How much can I afford to invest?" Then: "How much would the Kaiser tax us?"

It can be depended upon that Verben women will see to it that their town "goes over the top."

A committee of Clanton women, under the chairmanship of Mrs. S. A. Stewart, are performing valiant service in the interest of the Fourth Liberty Loan. Already more than $7,000 worth of bonds have been sold, besides an indefinite number of perfectly good pledges for purchases have been secured. Six billion must be raised. Speed the work. Hasten the end of hostilities. Everyone must do his part, then with a leap and a bound Chilton will go over the top.

MR. KICKER BACK ON THE JOB

The Soldiers Home at Mountain Creek has been, of late, running without an Adjutant, Mr. Maddox having resigned, but Dr. Eiland has been fortunate enough to induce Mr. Cleveland Kicker, a former Adjutant, to return to the Home and accept his job back. This was a happy conclusion to the veterans. The old men were always well pleased with Mr. and Mrs. Kicker for their uniform kindness and attention.

It pleases the old veterans to know that Dr. Eiland is to remain with them as Commandant and Physician.

THE CHALLENGE OF TODAY

The following couldn't happen; but try to imagine it.

Suppose the distressing elements of warfare could be eliminated. The elements that would remain would make war an incomparable blessing.

Eliminate the pain of the wounded, the helplessness of the mutilated, the grief of the bereaved, the physical discomfort of the campaigner, and the sentimental regrets caused by the destruction of ancient landmarks. Everything else is clear gain.

For those of us who are not fighting there are more jobs than we can handle. Whatever we have in our make-up we can capitalize.

Can you add figures? Very well; be an accountant—we need you. Never kept books, did you say? That doesn't matter—we'll teach you.

Can you draw straight lines, or make circles with a compass? All right—we're a draftsman. Never studied trigonometry or physics? Oh, make a stab at it—we'll help you learn.

Can you run simple machinery? Inexperienced? You have hands and eyes, haven't you?

This is the attitude of the wartime employer. It is the only one he can take if he wants to get work done.

Never was an epoch so crowded with opportunity. It teems with inspiration. All that we are, all that we can do, all the time we have is needed. The sorriest attempt we can make at any kind of a job is acceptable, if it represents honest efforts. Every chance is given us to qualify at something better than what we are doing. There are no nonentities—we are all personalities.

It is despondency that leads to suicide—the depressing monotony of a humdrum life. Fear of danger does not point to the open gas-jet or the laudanum-bottle. It is the misery of existence without prospects, the agonizing sameness of the workday grind.

The treadmill will be out of fashion while the war lasts. Will it return when the fighting men come back to compete for jobs in civil life? It need not. It must not.

Here is a chance for some super-statesman. Whose gigantic intellect is to frame the economic formula? He will be a greater emancipator than Lincoln himself.

A FINE "BUNCH" OF CATTLE

Without exaggerating, there is at present, one of the most thoroughbred herds of milch cows at the Old Alabama Soldiers Home that could be found in the South. This stock is up-to-date in every respect and more, every head there was raised at the Home.

AMERICAN RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Meeting the views of National Headquarters, the Division has decided that beginning with the membership Drive that will take place in December 1918, the membership year shall be the calendar year. By adopting this policy the American Red Cross will call on the public only twice a year; once for money for Relief Work and once for membership.

This new policy will also relieve the Chapter of a great deal of work and expense of looking after renewals of memberships. Memberships will all expire and be renewed at one time. Any members admitted during the course of the calendar year should be given to understand that payment of dues only applies to remaining portion of calendar year, it being understood that amount of dues are not to be pro rated, that is the same amount shall be paid for a part of the year as for the whole year. Life and Patron members, can of course, be taken in at any time.

To Chapters that have memberships expiring between now and next drive, we would suggest that they carry such members without payment of dues until the next drive, explaining to the member our object and that in the final analysis they are only paying a few months in advance and that we will in the end carry them for the full period paid for.

Yours very truly,

Dear Sis and Family:

How are you all by now? Just fine I hope. I am all right. Well, we are here and still going, where, I don't know. I sure did enjoy my trip over, and have seen some of the prettiest country here I have ever seen. I wish we had level land and a pretty country like they have here.

When have you seen Sister? I can't write to her now, but will write later.

They are just cutting wheat and oats here now, and believe me they will reap some grain. Also have seen some mighty good looking girls.

Would like to be with you all to attend the meeting. How is Cary? Sure do wish I could see you all. Tell Lillie I will answer her letter in a few days.

Guess I had better close. Be good and write to me real often.

"MISSING IN ACTION"

"Missing in action" were the words telegraphed by the War Department Aug. 16, to Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Overby, P. O. box 360, Greenwood, Miss.

Their son, Private Walter Overby, had been in battle somewhere in France July 15 and failed to return.

Worried and grieved, the Overby couple appealed to the chairman of the Home Service Section of the Red Cross Chapter at Greenwood. The chairman got in touch immediately with the Civilian Relief Bureau of the Gulf Division, A. R. C., at New Orleans, and then Washington was called into action.

In six days, the Red Cross located Private Overby in a German prison camp—Camp Langensala.

While the Bureau of Civilian Relief has more than 100 cases within the last few months, involving inquiries of parents of wives about the condition of soldiers and sailors, the Overby case is a record in rushing through definite information to the parents.

With thousands of Southern boys now in France, the Red Cross chapters have been given posters to be placed in depots, banks, postoffices and other places, telling in detail how to communicate through the Red Cross with prisoners of war, how to obtain relief for prisoners and other details.

Gen. John B. Fuller of Montgomery was in Clanton on Monday.

Col. B. F. Washburn of Montgomery was in Clanton on Monday.

Miss Lummie Murrah is now working for Tax Collector J. D. Collins.

Now that Clanton has a new lot of city officials will they increase the water supply?

Judge Gaston Gunter was in town Monday attending to some Circuit Court matters.

Deputy W. H. Gillespie has "bagged" just 19 deserters and slackers since he "got busy."

W. E. Martin, Principal of Mulberry school was a Clanton visitor on Tuesday.

Misses Annie Gragg and Bessie Davis opened school Monday morning at Stanton, Ala.

The new city councilmen and Mayor Stanfield will take control of the city affairs this week.

Parson, W. J. Armstrong, preached at Concord church on Sunday morning.

Arthur Willis made a rush and loaded two cars with cotton on Saturday afternoon regardless of the rain.

Dr. Cable, pastor of the Baptist church, was a busy man last week. He helped on the questionnaires.

Dr. Earnest Maye, pastor of the Methodist church, is an enthusiastic worker for the sale of Liberty Loan Bonds.

Judge S. M. Adams returned from Florida on Saturday and says that he found his land holdings there in good shape.

Rev. Job Reynolds of Dry Valley spent several days with his sons, Hon. L. H. and W. A. Reynolds, during the week.

The relatives of Mr. Newton Aldridge having not received his usual letters believe that he is now in France.

The Clanton County Board of Education will meet at Clanton on Friday, October 4th in Prof. Bean's office.

Veteran J. G. Jones and his two daughters, Misses Sallie and Etta, of Mountain Creek, were in Clanton on Wednesday.

A contingent of the Salvation army force was in Clanton recently and did some creditable war work as well as in helping to save souls.

Mr. James Grant, a thrifty farmer and county official, says he has no complaint as to crops on his place this year.

J. Z. Mims, recently appointed rural mail carrier from Clanton, has moved with his family to West Clanton.

Those who have assisted in filling out questionnaires and other clerical work voluntarily during the past week are deserving of much credit.

Miss Lurline Harper has left Clanton and commenced an engagement for the present term as first assistant with the Moulton School.

The Spanish influenza has not, as yet, attacked many Chilton county people, and Dr. Gragg and Dr. Hayes do not apprehend much danger as to the disease.

Mrs. J. P. Hayes and Mrs. H. F. Downs are actively engaged in war work by collecting money with which to purchase little needed articles for the soldiers.

Aeroplanes are quite common nowadays. Six have passed over Clanton in the last week, going from some point north of us to the aviation field at Montgomery.

Mrs. Roma Miller received a letter from her husband who is in the navy, in which the young sailor says he will soon sail on a merchantman as a gunner.

Clay Marcus of Birmingham, who is employed at the United Cigar Store, was down to visit his parents, Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Marcus, here last Monday.

Chilton County Farm Demonstrator, Mr. W. H. Conway, is urging farmers to plant wheat, and thus help to win the war and feed our 2,000,000 brave boys now in France.

Post Master J. E. Robinson says that the sale of war saving stamps continues to be brisk. This is accounted for owing to the prosperous condition of matters generally, coupled with patriotism.

William Robinson of Cooper accidentally handed his brother, J. E., a $50 bill for a five, and when J. E. called attention to the error, "Billy" said, "Oh well have this on me and keep the change."

Judge L. H. Reynolds came down to his office late Saturday afternoon and issued a marriage license and then married the couple, so, in this way he headed Miss Gertrude Popwell off on both the jobs.

Mr. W. A. Kemp, having just closed his term of office as Mayor of Clanton, enjoys the confidence and good wishes of the entire community, regardless of politics, for the admirable manner in which he conducted the city affairs.

Mr. Mc. D. Ruffin, the accommodating daily paper agent, looks well now that Dr. Crumpton has finished a $50 job on his teeth, and, Mack, says "I am ready to go to the front when I am called, will offer no excuse for the privilege of serving my country."

Those who buy liberty bonds are deserving of much credit—this applies to those who are financially able—and those who are financially able and refuse to help the Government, the Montgomery Advertiser says should be made to "GIT", and frequently old grandma is right.

Prof. Bean is anxious that those who had applications on file for positions as teachers at the time the court house was burned write and furnish their names. Everything in the Supt's. office was destroyed at the time of the fire. Prof. Bean has several good $80 places to give out.

Professors McDonald and Johnson helped willingly when they could spare the time from their schools during the rush in the Select Board office. Also Mr. M. D. Poshee was down town bright and early and did much towards relieving the pressure.

J. D. Collins, Tax Collector for Chilton county, collected within a few hours, $1,550 at Thorsby.

Mr. Dudley Collins, Chilton county Tax Collector, spent Monday with the good people at Mountain Creek, and he says that they came across with nine hundred and ninety dollars tax money.

Thos. S. Pyron, who has been connected with the Forest Lumber Co. for the past two years, has resigned his position with that firm to take a position with the Peoples Savings Bank as assistant Cashier.

Mr. R. Nelson Brazzle of the law firm of Smith & Brazzle, went down to Montgomery last Saturday evening to spend Sunday with relatives and friends, that city being his former home. He returned Monday morning.

John Burton Higgins, Junior Petty Officer of First Grade, acting as instructor in the Naval Training Camp at Bremerton, Wash., is at home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Higgins, this week. He will return to his post of duty October 15.

All you who have torpid liver, weak digestion or constipated bowels look out for chills. The season is here and the air is full of the disease germs. The best thing to do is to get your liver in good condition and purify the stomach and bowels. HERBINE is the right remedy, it answers the purpose completely. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Veteran M. C. Sample, age 74 years, died at the Alabama Old Soldiers Home on Tuesday and interment was made in the Home Cemetery on Wednesday. Veteran Sample served in Co. C. First Georgia volunteers during the civil war. Veteran Sample came to the Home from Birmingham, Ala.

A child can't get strong and robust while intestinal worms eat away its vitality. To give the child a chance to grow these parasites must be destroyed and expelled. WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE is guaranteed to remove the worms; it also puts the vital organs in healthy, vigorous condition. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Chilton county will be well represented at the Alabama State Fair to be held in Birmingham this year. One shipment of farm products is that sent by Mrs. S. E. Bruce, who resides near Clanton. This shipment consisted of a car load made up of cotton on the stalk, corn, wheat, oats, potatoes, apples, pears and vegetables.

Mr. J. E. Robinson, Clanton postmaster, says that the sale of war savings stamps keeps up well. It is noticeable that many of these sales are being made to rural people heretofore regarded as persons not usually well supplied with money; it is believed that pure patriotism and an anxious desire to help win the war actuates the buyers.

Neuralgia of the face, shoulder, hands, or feet requires a powerful remedy that will penetrate the flesh. BALLARDS SNOW LINIMENT possesses that power. Rubbed in where the pain is felt is all that is necessary to relieve suffering and restore normal conditions. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

W. A. Huckabee, who has charge of the county poor farm, brought in to the Union-Banner office last Wednesday two potatoes of the Porto Rican variety weighing 4½ and 5½ pounds each. He states that he raised them on a piece of ground that wouldn't grow any thing but grass last year.

SURGEONS agree that in cases of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds, the FIRST TREATMENT is most important. ### COMING AGAIN

SPECIALISTS

Will be at Wilson Hotel in Clanton on October 8, 1918.

FOR ONE DAY ONLY

Wonderful results—Marvelous Demonstration in Chronic Disease Cases by their New System Treatment.

Offer Services Free of Charge
Word has just been received that the Associated Doctors, specialists, licensed by the State of Alabama, and who have met with such phenomenal success throughout the entire Southeast, will be in Clanton on Tuesday October 8, for one day only to demonstrate their new system of treatment of chronic disease cases.

This will indeed be good news to those who find it convenient to visit the central laboratories in Birmingham, located at Suite 311-12 Lyric Theatre Building, where the organization has Southern headquarters. These regular, reputable physicians believe that the combined skill of several trained specialists in chronic disease cases can accomplish more than one doctor alone—in other words, in unity there is strength.

The offer to treat all who call on this visit absolutely free, is their original method of getting their system of treatment before the public quicker, and no one, rich or poor, white or colored, should neglect to take advantage of their very liberal offer—ABSOLUTELY FREE (medicine excepted.) No cutting—No knife.

It makes no difference how many doctors you have consulted or how many patent medicines you have taken, you can not afford to miss this opportunity of ascertaining your exact condition and be honestly advised. No one should require further evidence of the skill of these specialists, than the following letter recently received from a well known Baptist minister:

"I can't thank you enough, Doctor," said the Rev. R. L. Fletcher, well-known minister, as he entered the crowded reception rooms of the Associated Doctors, and continued to speak words of praise to all those assembled. "I began suffering from general break-down November 28th, last, and appeared to go all to pieces; my stomach, kidneys, heart, blood and nerves went back on me, and even though I consulted the best local doctors, they finally had to advise me that they could give me no cure, and for me to consult an expert specialist. As soon as I noticed your announcement and learned from so many people of your cures, I came to your office.

"I had indeed about lost hope, but today—even after taking your marvelous treatment for only this short period, I am a new man; eat well, sleep well and feel like a man in my prime. I want to thank you, and my dear wife also wants to thank you, for she is so proud of my improvement. I want you to publish this statement so that others can benefit the same as I have.

"Most gratefully yours,

(Signed) "R. L. FLETCHER."

Now that you know the truth you have only yourself to blame if you continue to suffer from Piles, Kidney and Bladder Troubles, Discharges, Bed Wetting, Blood Poison, Skin Eruptions, Rheumatism, Epilepsy, Uric Acid Poisoning, Paralysis, Nervous Troubles and Debility, Neuralgia, Stomach and Liver Troubles, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Tumors, Indigestion, Constipation, Gall Stones, Ovarian and Female Troubles, Enlarged glands or any reflex condition of the nervous system, and those diseases about which most people dislike to consult the general practitioner.

Bear in mind that this will likely be the last visit when the specialists extend their services FREE.

Hundreds have been restored to their perfect good health, with rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes—so may you. The specialists are too well known throughout the State to require further mention.

Married women should be accompanied by their husbands and children by their parents.

Remember the hotel, day and date—one day only.

Can't Help But Admire Babies

Every Woman Casts Loving Glance at the Nestling Cuddled in its Bosom.

It is a joy and comfort to know that those much talked of pains and other distresses that are said to precede child-bearing may be avoided. No woman need fear discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well known and time-honored remedy, Mother's Friend.

This is a most grateful, penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. By regular use the muscles expand without the usual strain when baby is born and pain and danger at the crisis is consequently less.

Women everywhere who have used this famous remedy tell how they entirely avoided nervousness, twitching spells, bearing down and stretching pains, and relate how they enjoyed entire freedom from the many debilitating and distressing experiences usually incident to approaching motherhood.

Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers, thousands of whom have used and recommended it. It is for external use only and is absolutely and entirely safe and wonderfully effective.

Write the Bradford Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their "Mother's Friend," so valuable to expectant mothers, and in the meantime obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist today and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort.

AN APPEAL IN INTEREST OF OUR SOLDIER BOYS

The recently elected city officials organized and held their first meeting with Mayor Stanfield presiding. Messrs. Gore, Roberts, Jones and Davis were present. After organization the council considered the question of increasing and strengthening the water works plant and the purchase of new machinery.

A proposition to appropriate $5000 to the High School and finance the city school was adopted.

A discussion as to the advisability of closing the schools on account of influenza was finally disposed of by deferring action at present.

The recent clerical force was retained and an increase in salary allowed to the street cleaners and night police force.

Mayor Stanfield said after adjournment that should there be an increase in sickness he would call the council and health officers together to consider the matter.

LETTER FROM MARION C. COURTNEY IN FRANCE

A. E. F., Sept. 1, 1918.
 Mrs. Louisa Courtney,
 Dear Mother:
 How are you and all the folks by this time? Fine I hope. This leaves me fine and enjoying life. Am having some time trying to learn to speak French.

Well Mother how are the boys getting along? Has the baby's hand ever gotten well from the weight falling on it? Tell all the kids hello, and for them to have a good time for me. I am still barbering in the Company.

Mother, has Kin ever left Camp

Wheeler? I don't know what has ever become of him.

If you all should happen to change your address keep in touch with your home address and let me know your new address.

President Wilson has issued a proclamation prohibiting the use of any grain in the brewing of beer after December 1, 1918. The president's reasons were that all food supplies were needed during the next year, that all fuel used in making beer and kindred drinks will be needed in war industries during the next year and all man power should be used only in essential industries.

Near-beer is included in the list and after December 1 no food supplies can be used in the making of beer, near-beer or kindred drinks.

A town without a newspaper has been "discovered."

But the lack of a mighty important thing like a newspaper didn't stop the Red Cross officials in Gordo, Ala., from getting their appeals and messages to the town folk.

The other day the Red Cross chapters of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama were called upon for 150 tons of warm old clothing for Belgian refugees—men, women and children.

Instructions were sent to publicity chairman to ask the newspapers to get the appeal to the people.

At Gordo, however, they had six by ten-inch pamphlets printed and distributed to every home by the Boy Scouts. Then a committee from the Red Cross chapter called several days later for the bundles of old clothes.

THOSE IDLE MINES

The lack of a protective tariff during the past few years is responsible more than any other single fact for the present necessity for the bill providing for the entrance of the United States into the business of mining.
Most of the minerals included in the bill that has just passed the Senate are to be found in quantities in the United States adequate to supply all of our wants, both in war and in peace. The reason those deposits have not been developed is that it has been found cheaper to bring supplies of the minerals from other countries, where they have been produced by poorly paid foreign labor. Had a reasonable tariff on those products been in existence, our deposits would have been operated by private capital, and the United States would have been entirely free from dependence on foreign sources for its supply.
The demands of the present emergency could have been met by an increased production at our own sources, and the necessity of the Government entering the mining field to produce at any cost the minerals necessary in the manufacture of munitions would have been avoided.

SOUTHERN COURTESY

Joe Tumulty, presidential equerry, attempted to take Republican National Committee Chairman Will H. Hays to task for "playing politics," and received a stinger as a retort when Hays sprung a letter sent by Democratic leaders in Wisconsin last spring to the Wisconsin troop levies stationed at Camp Grant. This was the letter:

"You are entitled to vote for United States Senator from Wisconsin to succeed Senator Paul O. Husting.
President Wilson, your commander-in-chief, desires all loyal Americans to vote for Joseph E. Davies for United States Senator. Davies' selection means joy to Washington and gloom at Berlin. Davies' defeat means gloom to Washington and joy at Berlin."

After this gratuitous insult to Wisconsin intelligence, the State elected Lenroot by a fat majority, and a splendid majority of the votes of the drafted men was given him. Was this letter a sample of how the Democrats were playing politics? No, it was a hit-below-the-belt example of what that party will do when scared.
In military parlance the desire of a commander is equivalent to a command and might have been carried out as such had the troops not been on American soil.

In replying to Chairman Hays, Tumulty wandered far afield and quoted the political utterances of certain Republican leaders to support his charge that the Republicans were playing politics. It is about time to quote, for Tumulty's benefit, the scurrilous remark made by Scott Ferris, Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, September 2, giving his opinion of Republican support of the President, as follows:

"The purported ardent support of some of our Republican friends in standing by the President reminds me of a boy who was hoeing potatoes in the blazing sun. A traveling man came along and said to the boy: 'Sonny, how much do you get for hoeing potatoes?' The boy said: 'I don't get nuthin' if I do hoe 'em, but I get hell if I don't.' And that is about the way with you brethren over there."

Ferris' speech was made for campaign purposes, and is being widely circulated by the Democrats. The war record of the two parties, compiled by the National Security League, shows that the support of the President by the Republicans was much greater than that of his own party. Ferris and his colleagues will get this fall what the boy would have gotten if he had laid down on his job as the Democrats in Congress have laid down on theirs.

HANDS, ARMS,
LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady.
Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Prime, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child...I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time..."

I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr.
about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble', so he got me 5 bottles...After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved...before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared, my strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it.

WOMEN ARE NEEDED FOR THE RED CROSS ABROAD

Strong, cheerful, good-looking, energetic and typically American women are needed by the American Red Cross for hospital hut service abroad.
Women between 25 and 30 have proved particularly successful in this work, but women up to 35 may be recruited for hut service. In keeping with Red Cross policy, women who can afford to volunteer their services without compensation are desired, but the Red Cross will pay living expenses for successful applicants who are not in position to pay their own.

It is imperative that a large number of these hut workers be recruited at once, as the Red Cross has agreed to take over on Nov. 1st all Y. M. C.
A. hospital huts.

Wives of men in service cannot be recruited either for base hospital or

Applicants should apply direct to

Miss Agnes Turner, Chicago, Ill., has
to say: "Overwork, irregular meals
and carelessness regarding the ordi-wreck of my former self. I suffered from continual headache, was unable to digest my food, which seemed to lay as a dead weight on my stomach. I was very constipated and my complexion became dark, yellow and muddy as I felt. Sleeplessness was added to my misery and I would awake as tired as when I went to sleep. I heard of Chamberlain's lotions and other local applications that never did cure Rheumatism, and never will?

Do not try to rub the pain away, for you will never succeed. Try the sensible plan of finding the cause of the pain, and go after that. Remove the cause, and there can be no pain.
You will never be rid of Rheuma-

Mr. Joseph P. VanDerveer, Jr., is sick with Spanish Influenza.

Miss Izora Callen has a severe attack of influenza.

Mr. Tom Smith of Mountain Creek was in Clanton on Saturday.

Hon. J. O. Middleton writes from Mobile to say that he is doing well.

Miss Lucile Smith went to Birmingham on Wednesday to visit relatives.

Mrs. Geneva Robinson, of Marbury, was in Clanton shopping on Saturday.

Capt. J. M. Simpson of Mountain Creek was in Clanton on Wednesday.

Dr. J. D. Eiland, commandant of the soldiers home, was in Clanton on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Atkinson are at present occupying rooms in the Hodges home.

Mrs. J. E. Robinson, wife of the postmaster, is suffering from an attack of influenza.

Prof. Johnson was ill on Saturday; he was a little fearful as to the new influenza epidemic.

Mr. John Lockhart received a telegram recently that his son had been seriously wounded in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilvie McKee will change their place of residence as soon as they find a suitable place.

J. B. Atkinson and W. H. Gillespie learning that the jail was empty landed two boarders on Friday night.

Now that Mayor Stanfield is in the saddle suppose we all fall in line and help make Clanton a model little city.

Mc. D. Cain, a U. S. Marshall of Montgomery, was in Clanton on Monday working up some official business.

Dr. T. J. Marcus was called to attend three cases of Spanish Influenza in the vicinity of Clanton on Saturday.

Sheriff Harris has not a prisoner in the county jail at present. This is the first time that the jail has been unoccupied.

Mr. Fred Martin, who resides near Mountain Creek, had his barn and contents destroyed by fire on last Friday night.

J. W. Kicker of Tuscaloosa was a caller to our office Tuesday. He says the drought has cut the crops short in his county this year.

It is reported that government agents will soon get behind some of the slackers, and when they do there will be something doing.

Judge J. W. E. Guldage attended the confederate reunion at Tulsa, Oklahoma, and he reports a general good time.

Postmaster J. E. Robinson says that the sale of war savings stamps keeps up good. It is noticeable that the country people buy liberally.

Mr. W. C. Robinson, lumber dealer, has been quite an invalid of late. Rheumatism has kept him at home. He is much better now, however.

Rev. Frank Willis Barnett of Birmingham and Dr. W. F. Yarbrough of Montgomery attended the Unity Association meeting held in Clanton Tuesday and Wednesday.

Veteran H. C. Roberts has been absent for five weeks under the care of a special physician. The last reports received as to his condition was that he was improving rapidly.

Dr. V. J. Gragg made fifteen calls on Spanish Influenza patients Monday. He says that while there is plenty of sickness from the trouble as yet, there appear to be no serious cases.

It is reported that the Spanish Influenza has made its appearance at Mountain Creek in three families and that the authorities have ordered the enforcement of quarantine regulations.

J. D. Collins and J. N. Dennis visit some particular point in Chilton county every day during the week. Look over the Union-Banner carefully and you will find just when they will call on you.

Judge, the one-leg bootblack, has purchased another $100 Liberty Bond. He had one already on hand, and in addition, he has purchased war savings stamps and helped the Red Cross. Have you?

Misses Annie, Myrtle and Lessie Reynolds and Mrs. Winnie Bridges went with their parents on an 'opossum chase. The ladies say that they are not anxious to go again soon as they have not lost any possums recently.

Rev. J. H. Long went to Free Springs to conduct a religious revival this week. Parson Long was pastor at the Free Springs church for eight years and the good people wanted him to take charge of this special meeting.

Dr. V. J. Gragg and Dr. J. P. Hayes, Select Board Physicians, are two of the hardest workers in Chilton county. Their duties and their active practice keep them on the go, but then they are both active and equal to the occasion.

Chilton county Tax Collector, J. D. Collins, and Assessor J. N. Dennis, have visited many points for the purpose of attending to the work of collecting and assessing the taxes, and they report that the people are paying up taxes well and that there is little dissatisfaction.

Many of the old confederate veterans in Chilton county intend to attend the State Reunion which will be held in Mobile on October 22-23-24. In this connection the Union-Banner will state that the L. & N. has agreed on about one-half fare rate.

The Chilton County Board of Education met in Prof. Bean's office on Friday and closed up all business pertaining to educational matters in Chilton county. During the session a resolution of thanks was adopted thanking the teachers and Prof. Bean for their earnest efforts in the cause of education.

W. H. Gillespie and J. B. Atkinson made a raid on the home of Stewart Smith and captured a lot of moonshine whiskey which they destroyed and then arrested Smith and his wife and lodged them in the county jail. Smith and his wife resided near Morning Side church, north of the Old Alabama Soldiers Home.

When the chest feels on fire and the throat burns, you have indigestion, and you need HERBINE to get rid of the disagreeable feeling. It drives out badly digested food, strengthens the stomach and purifies the bowels. Sold by Upchurch Drug Company.

After having been delayed in transit for ten days the pension warrants for the old veterans of Chilton county were received by Judge Reynolds on Monday morning and Miss Popwell, the chief clerk, will gladly pay them to the proper person when applied for.

Mr. J. D. Collins, Tax Collector, reports that the present is the best year for tax collections ever known in Chilton county. The promptness in farmers paying taxes is owing to the prosperity they have enjoyed during the past year. The fact that there is more money in Chilton county now than ever before is evident.

Dr. J. P. Hayes, county health officer, is authority for the statement that the Spanish Influenza is now an epidemic in Chilton county, that reports have been received from different sections and that no locality is at present free from the disease. As to quarantine proceedings, Dr. Hayes said he had the matter under consideration and would act as soon as he deemed it advisable.

Neuralgia of the face, shoulder, hands, or feet requires a powerful remedy that will penetrate the flesh. BALLARDS SNOW LINIMENT possesses that power. Rubbed in where the pain is felt is all that is necessary to relieve suffering and restore normal conditions. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Bronchial Trouble

Mrs. A. E. Sidenberder, Rockfield, Ind., states: "For an attack of bronchial trouble which usually assails me in the spring I find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only thing that gives me relief. After using it for a few days all signs of bronchial trouble disappear."

The First State Bank of Clanton is closing up its business with the intention of retiring from the field. In conversation Mr. C. B. White, president, said: "We are closing up our business in Clanton for the reason that there is no chance to loan money here; the people have more money in this section than they have ever had before, and are not borrowers now. We are receiving no deposits now, and we are anxious for those who have balances in our bank to come and get their money."

COTTON PICKING NEARLY OVER

Early in the season some fears existed as to the question of sufficient help to save the cotton crop, not only in this section, but all over the South. In most localities these fears have been successfully met, and now, especially in this section and adjoining counties the cotton crop has been saved and, to some extent, sold at good figures.

Information from Autauga county is that the farmers there, especially cotton growers, are in splendid fix.

As to Chilton county, it is known as a fact that the work of picking is almost finished, and that the result is satisfactory. The extra labor required to pick the cotton was furnished by the young people assisting in the work. It is true that the absence of the boys in the army was felt, but in such instances the girls picked the cotton, and in this way they have helped to win the war.

WAR PERIOD RICH IN DISCOVERIES

That medical science is not asleep during the war is proven by the manner in which the possibilities offered by the discovery of Irogen were instantly realized and developed for the good of humanity.

Irogen, it is claimed, is a discovery for the weak. Weak nerves, weak muscles, weak stomachs—in fact, weak organs in general are greatly strengthened by it, and those who have taken it claim that even weak complexions, pale and sallow, take on the ruddy appearance of health under its influence.

Warning is given, however, that, owing to its well known flesh-building powers, Irogen should not be taken by any one who does not desire to add flesh.

Note—Irogen, the product mentioned above, is now on sale in Clanton by Upchurch Drug Co., and by the leading druggist in practically every city, town and village in the State.

FOR SALE, WANTED, ETC.

CALVIN JONES WRITES

CAMP EUSTIS, VIRGINIA

Camp Eustis, Va., Oct. 2, 1918.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Jones,

Lomax, Ala.

Dear Father and Mother:

Will write you again for the last time on this side I suppose for we are on the coast now waiting for a transport, but don't know just when we will leave. We are under quarantine now. We left Camp Eustis Friday and had to hike over here, a distance of something over 25 miles. I guess you know about how I felt after that.

I have been sick ever since I arrived here. We are at Camp Stewart, Va., now but they won't let us have our mail changed, so you can just send my mail on to Eustis and it will be sent on to me where ever I go. I hope I will get a letter from you before I leave here. I got a letter from down the country a day or two ago, but I haven't heard from Martha yet. I don't know why I can't hear from her.

Mamma, the Captain said he could not do any thing about my allotment now, but he would see about it right away. He said if it wasn't sent home I would draw it, and if I get it before I cross over I will send it home, but they are not talking much about paying off before we go over, however, I hope they will pay before we leave this side.

Well, Mamma, it is about time for me to start out on a hike so I guess I had better close. Tell everybody to pray for me that I might arrive home safely after this is over.

Your son,

CALVIN JONES,

BEING A BIRD

O what a splendid thing it must be To be a bird and live in a tree!

To own a thousand of leafy swings,

A glorious song and a pair of wings.

To take long trips o'er the fields of air To pack no trunk and to pay no fare.

Joy of sunlight, no fear of rain, Sailing along in an "aeroplane."

Looking far down from the Ether's height

At curving rivers like ribbons bright,

Far from mad traffic's roar and shout

And see the earth like a map spread out.

No dread of tomorrows like phantoms gray,

No bitter memories of yesterday!

O, there never was printed or spoken word

That tells the joy of being a bird!

—Alice J. Cleator.

Coming of The Sunbeam

How to Avoid Those Pains and Distress Which so Many Mothers Have Suffered.

Too much cannot be said for a wonderful preparation, familiar to many women as Mother's Friend.

It is more effective in its action than all the health rules ever laid down for the guidance of expectant mothers. It is an external application that spreads its influence upon the cords, tendons and muscles of the abdomen, rendering them pliant, and they expand gracefully without that peculiar wrenching strain.

The occasion is, therefore, one of unbounded joyful anticipation and too much stress cannot be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generations to come.

The pain at the crisis is infinitely less when Mother's Friend is used during the period of expectancy for the muscles expand easier and with less strain when baby is born.

Mother's Friend is for external use only. It is entirely safe and may be had of your druggist. It is prepared by the Bradfield Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write them to mail you their interesting "Motherhood Book." They will send it at once, without charge, and you will find it very helpful. Do not neglect for a single night and morning to apply Mother's Friend according to directions around the bottle and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort.

Whose Limit Is All That He Can

(1)
This is the song of the plane—
The creaking, shrieking plane,
The throbbing, sobbing plane,
And the moaning, groaning wires:
The engine—missing again!
One cylinder never fires!
Hey ho! For the plane!

(2)
This is the song of the man—
The driving, striving man,
The chosen, frozen man:
The pilot, the man-at-the-wheel,
Whose limit is all that he can,
And beyond, if the need is real!
Hey ho! For the man!

(3)
This is the song of the gun—
The muttering, stuttering gun,
The maddening, gladdening gun:
That chuckles with evil glee
At the last long dive of the Hun,
With its end in eternity!
Hey ho! For the gun!

(4)
This is the song of the air—
The lifting, drifting air,
The eddying, steadying air,
The wine of its limitless space:
May it nerve us at last to dare
Even death with undaunted face!
Hey ho! For the air!

TO REBUILD COURTHOUSE AT FORMER LOCATION

The Chilton County Commissioners Let the Contract for $30,424.00 to Rebuild the Court House at the same location Where it Burned Recently.

The Chilton County Board of Commissioners, consisting of Messrs. A.P. Vinson, W. T. Herrod, R. J. Williams and S. E. Waldrup, met with Judge L. H. Reynolds presiding, and after examining the several bids for the construction of a court house building, finally let the contract to Mr. F. M. Dobson at an agreed sum of $30,424.00. It is the understanding that the material now on the site can be used as far as it is serviceable.

The new structure in many respects will be similar to the building which was recently destroyed by fire.

In figuring on the building it was presumed that the present serviceable material was worth close to twelve thousand dollars, so with this allowance Chilton county will have a new fire proof structure which will have, with the material included, a value of close to $45,000.

The building will be rushed and completed as soon as possible. There is no doubt that the commissioners have accomplished a good piece of work, and that very soon Chilton county will have a home again.

During the past few years Mr. Dobson has perfected considerable work for Chilton county, and, in no instance has there been any fault to find with his several contracts. The people of Chilton county can rest assured that they will get a building fully up to the plans, specifications, and in every way in keeping with the contract as made.

RETURNS TO CLANTON AFTER AN ABSENCE OF 18 YEARS.

Mr. Kin Vinson, who 18 years ago left this locality and went West, returned last Tuesday, and relatives and friends were much surprised to see him. At the time of the great San Francisco earthquake it was reported here that Mr. Vinson was killed and his relatives believed the report to be true.

Mr. Vinson talks but little, but from his general appearance and manner it is believed that he has prospered and is in good condition financially. He enjoys good health and seems to be entirely satisfied as to his future. He states that he has been in all the western states and Canada and at present is located in Wyoming.

Mr. Vinson is now 48 years old. He is a brother to Commissioner A.P. Vinson and a relative, by marriage, to Prof. W. T. Bean, Superintendent of Education.

ZONE CHAIRMAN WRITES REGARDING LIBERTY LOAN

Not only the patriotism but the good sense of America is being tested. If thoughtless talk that the war is over should imperil the success of this loan, the good judgment of the American people would be impeached. The failure of the loan would be a calamity, the seriousness of which it would be difficult to exaggerate. Nothing could tend more to hearten the wavering people of Germany.

A French officer told me a few days ago that the French have long since quit trying to guess when the end of the war will come. "You can tell your people," he continued, "that the black cloud has a silver lining, but there is a tremendous work yet to be done." Major General Maurice, one of England's foremost military authorities, in the New York Times of October 7th solemnly warns us against foolish optimism. He declares that it would be criminal to act on the assumption that the war will end this year.

We are justifiably happy over our recent successes. But it is well to bear in mind that our army is 70 miles from Paris and 350 miles from Berlin. The enemy is retiring, but he is giving ground inch by inch, and is making a desperate resistance. He has some four million men on his western front. He is fighting on our soil. He has been warned that the allies will deal properly with the criminal who has been guilty of wanton terrorism. Who doubts that when he is driven back on his own soil, he will fight with the desperation of the cornered beast who knows that he may expect no quarter?

Dr. David Jayne Hill earnestly warns us this week that the delusion that the war is practically ended "will immediately lessen the effect of our victories in the field and greatly prolong the war." Do these men, the French officer, General Maurice, and Dr. Hill, know what they are talking about? Are we to be guided by their warnings or by the idle gossip of the streets?

Let us look the facts squarely in the face. Each year of the war means additional casualties. If the war ends in 1919, as we may hope it will, hundreds of thousands of American boys will come home, who, if it is prolonged for a year or two, will sleep their last sleep somewhere in France. This fact supplies the inspiration to make the loan a success, enabling us to put in the field a strong American force, properly armed and supplied, which, in conjunction with our allies, may stop the frightful slaughter next year.

I have visited nearly all the twelve counties in my zone. The situation is inspiring. Several of them are already in sight of their quotas. We are depending on every county to place its name on the nation's honor roll.

JOHN S. TILLEY,
Zone Chairman.

WAR CAMPAIGN MEETING AT CALERA OCTOBER 12.

Borden Burr and other War Work Campaigners will hold a Convention at Calera, Monday October 21, morning and afternoon, for the district composed of the counties of Shelby and Chilton.

W. S. Stallings, State Campaign Director of the United War Work Campaign, will tour the southern end of the State with Mr. Burr, who recently has returned from France, where he did heroic work with the Y. M. C. A. at the front. He brings many interesting relics which will be displayed.

Other prominent War Workers of the several organizations united for this campaign will attend the District Conventions, including H. J. Gould of the Boys and Girls "Earn and Give" Section of the Campaign and Dr. J. C. Bloomfield, formerly religious work Director at Camp Shelby.

The seven War Camp Agencies that have united for this Campaign at the request of President Wilson, are the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association; Young Women's Christian Association; National Catholic War Council (Knights of Columbus); Jewish Welfare Board; War Camp Community Service; American Library Association and the Salvation Army.

CLERKS HAVE INFLUENZA; CLOSED FOR THE WEEK.

The Alred Drug Company of this city, one of Clanton's leading drug stores, was forced to close its doors last Friday on account of the influenza having attacked the whole force. Mr. J. Hance Alred, one of the proprietors, who was called for service by his country several days ago, was here Saturday and Sunday on furlough to look after the business, and while here informed us that 48 hours was the limit of his leave from the service, and as the other proprietors of the store and clerks were in bed and unable to look after the business, it would be closed for a few days. He asks the Union-Banner to tell his friends and customers that as soon as Dr. T. H. Neighbors, one of the proprietors, or D. C. Alred, his brother, are able to be up the store will be opened again and ready to serve its customers, which will, no doubt, be only a few days. In the meantime he asks that the people stand by his business here during this time, and while he is fighting for them in the service of Uncle Sam.

GERMANY MUST SURRENDER OR FIGHT OUT TO A FINISH

The cessation of atrocity by sea and by land first, then the absolute surrender of German arms, the dethronement of autocracy and the maintenance of a military police by the allies for the accomplishment of peace purposes and until they are put into lasting effect are demanded in President Wilson's reply to the latest German peace proffer.

The situation has become clarified. Germany now knows just what she must do. President Wilson gently led the Hun toward the light and then flashed it in his face in such convincing lucidness that there is no avenue open for further parley. Diplomacy has taken to the side track, because there is nothing left for Germany but to throw up hands, evacuate and disband armies, oust the Emperor and sit by impotent while we rearrange and rehabilitate Europe according to the celebrated fourteen principles, or fight to the bitter end. There is no other choice. Eventually Germany must come to these terms. When she will do it is for Germany to decide. Until then we shall "continue to send over 250,000 men with their supplies every month and there will be no relaxation of any kind."

Germany cannot play the crawfish under this ultimatum. She must either reject it or accept it. If she accepts she places herself in the hands of the allies and at their mercy. She comes without the Hohenzollern. He shall fare not less than the fate of Napoleon. His throne is gone. Exile is as good as he may expect. The world demanded that this arch fiend should not escape and there was perhaps more disappointment in the President's gentleness in his reply to Prince Max with respect to this one point than any other; but the more thoughtful realize fully that this is precisely what the President was driving at when he asked Prince Max if he was merely representing the powers that had brought on the war.

Now that Germany knows that absolute surrender is her only possibility of peace and we realize to what a tremendous task we have committed ourselves, we shall buckle on our armor more tightly and with more stubborn grimness than we have ever done. We are at the very crux of the war. If the German nation declines to come to our terms, we must invade Germany and enforce them at the point of bayonet. That is no easy task and will require the exertion of every ounce of man power and resources possessed by this nation. It shall be given.—Birmingham Ledger.

FIVE CHILTON COUNTY BOYS OFF FOR AUBURN

On Tuesday morning Mr. J. B. Atkinson escorted to the southbound L. & N. train five worthy Chilton county boys who left for Auburn for military training. The young men referred to were:

Joseph Kanjutzky.
Willie C. Edwards.
Alford Leon Dyer.
John G. Johnson.
Grady F. Price.
The boys left Clanton in good spirits and they will "make good" and be a credit to Chilton county. The following named young men left on the same date for training camp at Camp Pike, Ark: Lawrence D. Robinson. James L. Robinson.

NEWTON ALDRIDGE

IS IN FRANCE

This young Clanton soldier arrived in France after a very pleasant trip across the Atlantic and hastily writes his sister, Miss Kate Aldridge.

Newton says that he is delighted with army life and much pleased to view the quaint old buildings in which historic remembrances are so cleverly portrayed.

Newton writes soon after his arrival and his letter contains but little information as to the events that have so recently occurred on the firing line. He may, however, be at the front by this time. He writes of his trip across the Atlantic and says that as to sickness he did not experience any except a little occasioned from vaccination. Newton was a favorite in Clanton, and his many friends here are pleased to know that he arrived over there safe and in good health.

J. P. VANDERVEER, JR. DIES WITH INFLUENZA

An Impressive and Just Tribute Paid by the People to the Memory of a Worthy Young Man at the Funeral held here last Saturday.

In the death of Mr. Joseph P. VanDerveer, Jr., Clanton and Chilton county have to mourn the loss of a most worthy and estimable young man whose place in the business and social element cannot be supplied.

Joseph VanDerveer was an energetic, progressive, fairdealing man of no superiors in the community with which he was identified. He was ever ready to assist deserving associates and never was known to refuse to further church and charitable institutions. His life was spent in providing for the future both on earth and the life beyond.

The deceased leaves a wife, father, brother, two sisters and a large number of sorrowing friends in this community.

The funeral was conducted by the Masonic fraternity and Mr. VanDerveer was a member of the several branches of masonry, including the Shriners, to which lodge he was attached.

Dr. Ernest C. Mays, Pastor of the Clanton Methodist church, preached the funeral oration, which was attended by almost the entire citizens of the town.

Dr. Mays in remarks made frequent reference to the life and many good traits in the character of the deceased.

Mr. VanDerveer commenced active life in the lumber business some years ago and gradually advanced himself in the business until he was known as one of the principal men in the industry in this section of the State. The deceased was in the 28th year of his life when death occurred.

Interment was made in the Clanton cemetery on Saturday, October 12th, and the burial was attended by a large number of relatives and sorrowing friends.

SPANISH INFLUENZA

Dr. J. P. Hayes received from the Alabama State Board of Health the following concerning the Spanish Influenza which he requests the Union-Banner to print. Dr. Hayes has a lot of printed instructions for the purpose of distribution which he desires Chilton county people to call on him for. The instructions are as follows:

Symptoms: In the most cases the attack is more sudden than that of ordinary gripple which it resembles. It frequently begins with pain in the eyes, ears, head and back, or sore muscles in various parts of the body. The patient really looks sick and feels sick. The eyes become red or congested. Fever varies from 100 to 104 and lasts three or four days unless complications set in.

Causes and Spread: This is a germ disease and is spread by coughing, sneezing, or emphatic talking. Germs thrown into the air may float more than thirty minutes, and may be taken up at any time by any one who may inhale them.

Precautions: Stay out of crowds, and, as far as convenient, from every one during conversation. No matter where you are, cough and sneeze only into a handkerchief, or with head toward the ground. Do not throw the germs into the air. Urge others to do likewise. Use individual drinking cups and towels even in the homes.

Keep the body strong by eating regularly a wholesome diet, taking reasonable exercise in the open air, and sleep only in a well ventilated room. Take care not to get too hot or too cold.

Treatment: If you take the disease, or think you have it, go to bed at once and send for a physician. This is necessary to avoid serious complications, and to prevent contagion. Allow only the nurse in the room. If a member of the family must nurse and attend other duties she should wear a long apron covering the clothes while in the sick room, and leave this at the door when going out. The nurse should wear a mask composed of several layers of gauze over the nose and mouth while attending the patient. She should wash her hands upon leaving the room. All discharges from the patient should be disinfected and destroyed.

The patient should drink water freely and in case of headache use cold compress to the forehead. Take only such medicine as is prescribed by the physician.

Does Such an American Exist?

Can there be any American who is not doing all he can to help win the war? Who pretends to believe that we could have kept out?

Who whines or growls about the little sacrifice he is asked to make?

Who gets panicstricken and thinks that it would be better to compromise with the Hun and listens to the serpent whisperings of German propaganda?

If such an American exists let him realize what Germany has done to Russia, which gave in and negotiated a cowardly peace.

There is only one thing for us all today and that is war to the bitter end—war until the Hun is utterly and completely destroyed.

For those who cannot fight, LIBERTY BONDS are the best possible weapons against the Hun.

AN ALLOPATHIC DOSE

"We are unanimous to provide revenue to win this war soon and bring our boys home as victors," declares Congressman Richard Wayne Parker of New Jersey. "With this view we accept the bill with all its faults." That is the thought which animated Mr. Parker in his vote in favor of the revenue bill, and it is the same principal that has guided his Republican colleagues in their unanimous support of that measure, and in their votes on all other legislation necessary to carry on the war.
Probably no bill has passed the House during the present Congress every provision of which has met the approval of all Members of both parties.
But although the Republicans of the House have endeavored to perfect pending legislation, with amendments, the record shows that on the final passage of important bills Republicans have rallied to their support in every instance.

IS THERE NO LIMIT?

Government ownership will soon include all the electric power plants of the country if the bill reported to the House by the Interstate Commerce Committee becomes a law. The measure provides for Government control and centralization of such sources of power, and provides a fund of $175,000,000 for new plants and extensions. It is announced that an effort will be made to rush the bill through the House before any recess that may be taken preceding the November elections. Of course the measure is based on the thread-bare excuse that the war emergency demands
it. "Unless something is done immediately," says the Democratic chairman of the committee, "the Government's program of essential war production will be seriously interfered with."

The Democrats have been pointing with pride to the records for munitions manufacture during the past year. Our success in that line has been due largely to the operation of electric power plants under private management. It is certain that no more efficient use of the facilities now in existence could have been obtained under Government control.
If new plants and extensions now are needed their construction should be placed in the hands of the experts who have demonstrated their ability in handling electrical problems. Private capital will not be lacking for such undertakings if the Capital Issues Committee will but extend the necessary authority for the marketing of bonds.

Can Now Eat and Sleep in Comfort

If troubled with indigestion or sleeplessness you should read what Miss Agnes Turner, Chicago, Ill., has
to say: "Overwork, irregular meals
and carelessness regarding the ordinary rules of health, gradually undermined it until last fall I became a wreck of my former self. I suffered from continual headache, was unable to digest my food, which seemed to lay as a dead weight on my stomach. I was very constipated and my complexion became dark, yellow and muddy as I felt. Sleeplessness was added to my misery, and I would awake as tired as when I went to sleep. I heard of Chamberlain's Tablets and found such relief after taking them that I kept up the treatment for nearly two months. They cleansed my stomach, invigorated my system, and since that time I can eat and sleep in comfort. I am today entirely well."

W. A. REYNOLDS
WRITES TO VOTERS

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 14, 1918.
I have been nominated by the republicans for representative from this county, and in accepting the nomination I feel it my duty to express myself on some of the leading questions that are before the people of this county today.

I want to say in the outset that I expect to conduct a decent campaign and that I will not say or do anything to offend any one, but I am going to do all I can to be elected in an honorable way, and when the people want my presence, or my assistance in this campaign all they have to do is to let me know. I will be glad to have any suggestions, or advice from any of my friends, before or after the election.

I would be glad to mention all questions that may come up in the Legislature, but of course I cannot foresee all that the Legislature will be called on to pass on, but I want to say that if I am elected, which I believe I will be, it will be my policy to vote and act on all measures that may come up that will represent a majority of the voters of this county.
I am unqualifiedly opposed to the Jury Commission, and the Tax Equalization Board, because I do not believe either is in the interest of a majority of the people. I believe the Commissioners elected by the people can draw jurors more intelligently than an appointed Commission by the Governor.

I believe a duly elected Tax Assessor, together with the tax payers can fix a more equitable and fair valuation on the property than an appointed agent by the Governor, and I am one of the few that still believe that a majority of the tax payers are honest, and would, if allowed to, render a fair valuation of their property. I further believe that in appointing officers that you take away from the people the right to elect, and incur an enormous expense on the tax payers, which ought to be saved for other purposes. I further believe the Superintendent of Education should be elected by a direct vote of the people, as the present method takes a right from the people that belongs to them.

The question of compulsory Tick Eradication law has been mentioned, and I want to say that I will not vote for this or any other law where the majority of the people have voted or expressed themselves.

In conclusion permit me to say that, if elected, it will be my policy to vote and work for what I think a majority of the people of this county want. I shall vote for a reduction of the expenses of the State, and to make all officers elected by the people, for it is my opinion that for many years past the people have been losing many of their rights by having officers appointed in the place of electing them. I believe all power possible should be left with the people.

I will appreciate the vote and influence of all that can conscientiously support me, and if elected I assure you that my conduct will be such that you will have no reason to regret it.
W. A. REYNOLDS.

THE JOINT COMMITTEE ON RECONSTRUCTION

The good faith of Republicans in urging a non-partisan conduct of the war and a similar treatment of the problems of peace that will follow is shown in the resolution of Senator Weeks creating the Joint Committee on Reconstruction. That resolution specifically provides that the committee shall be composed of six Republicans and six Democrats, representing equally the Senate and House.
Political control of both Houses by the Republicans appears certain in the next Congress, and it would manifestly be to the interests of that party to obtain a majority membership on the Committee on Reconstruction. To the casual reader it may appear that the Republicans, in providing for equal political representation on the committee, were endeavoring to prevent the Democrats from having too great an influence in its work. Of course that would be the immediate result if the resolution were adopted, but when it is considered that Congress will probably be in the hands of the Republicans after March 4th next it is seen that otherwise, control of the committee would revert to them at that time.
Under the Weeks resolution members of the committee are automatically dropped when their terms in Congress expire. On March 4th probably several vacancies will occur for that reason. But Senator Weeks provides that they must be filled by members of the same party as their original incumbents. Thus the non-partisan character of the committee will continue regardless of which party is in power.

Only one parcel will be accepted by the War Department through the American Red Cross for each soldier overseas, it is announced in regulations from Washington.

Each soldier will be provided with one Christmas parcel label. This label will be forwarded by him to the person in the United States from whom he wishes to receive his Christmas package. Packages that do not bear this label will not be accepted by the American Red Cross for delivery to postoffice authorities. Labels that are lost will not be duplicated. Christmas parcels must be placed in cardboard boxes three inches four inches by nine inches in size.
These boxes will be provided to holders of labels by the American Red Cross. They may be obtained at American Red Cross Chapters and branches after November first.

With each box will be given complete instructions regarding articles which may be sent and a list of articles which are barred by postal authorities. Study these instructions and avoid mistakes. No message or written material of any kind will be allowed in the boxes. When the boxes are packed, but unwrapped, they must not weigh more than two pounds and fifteen ounces. If the parcel is overweight, some article must be removed.

Do not put perishable food, soft candy, liquids or anything in glass containers in the package if you wish it to reach its destination with the other contents unspoiled. Do not mail the box yourself. When packed the box should be taken to the nearest collection station designated by the American Red Cross unsealed and unwrapped ready for inspection.

The American Red Cross representatives are authorized to remove objectionable articles from parcels.
Shippers will then affix sufficient postage on their parcels to carry them to Hoboken, N. Y. Parcel post zone rates will be charged. Parcels are to remain in custody of the American Red Cross until delivered to postal authorities.

No Christmas parcel will be accepted by the American Red Cross for shipment after November twentieth.
Keep this fact in mind when planning Merry Christmas for the boys over there.

Rogers, Deceased.
Whereas, J. A. Rodgers, Executor of the estate of H. B. Rodgers, deceased, filed his petition in said court for an order and proceeding to sell certain property belonging to the devisees under the will of said H. B. Rodgers, which property is therein described, and the 2nd day of November, 1918, has been appointed for the hearing of said petition.

Jane Rice, Laura McCoy, Birdie McMitchell, Mattie McCoy, and other interested parties will take notice of this proceeding and appear and contest said petition on the 2nd day of November, 1918, if they think proper.

Witness my hand this 8th day of October, 1918.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hayes, of Free Springs, are happy. It is a girl.

Dr. Napoleon Johnson has had a severe attack of the influenza.

Miss Lucile Smith went to Birmingham on Friday to visit her sister.

Rev. W. J. Armstrong had to furnish a substitute on his route owing to influenza.

It is said that Mayor Stanfield intends to follow up the work or fight order, so now get busy.

Mr. Charles Teel, age 33, died of pneumonia at Birmingham and interment was made in the Lomar cemetery.

There were close to 1000 men included in the last registration of Chilton county eligibles for army service.

The reunion of old confederate soldiers which was to have been held at Mobile October 21-22, has been called off, owing to the influenza.

The good people of Thorsby are always on the front line. They gave the Spanish Influenza a hot reception and have about downed it.

Mr. W. A. Reynolds' family of seven with the exception of one was all sick at the same time, and, when last heard from were improving slowly.

Mr. A. E. Teel died on Thursday of influenza and interment was made on Friday. Mr. Teel was a worthy farmer and much respected by his neighbors.

Miss Gertrude Popwell, chief clerk in the Probate office, suffered an attack of the influenza on Monday and her place was temporarily taken by Miss Minnie Roper.

Mrs. J. W. Franklin has received word of the death of her father, Mr. Charles Plier, an old and worthy confederate veteran. One by one these old soldiers are being called to appear before the Great White Throne.

J. E. Robinson, Jr., and family consisting of Mrs. Robinson and two children, were all sick at the same time. Mr. Robinson sent to Montgomery and procured the services of a trained nurse.

The Chilton County Baptist Association met at Collins Chapel on October 16th and 17th. Every necessary arrangement was made in order to convey those who attended. The trains were met at Thorsby and the three miles made in conveyances.

Those who are in a position to know advise cotton holders not to rush sales on account of peace talk. Peace has not, as yet, been declared, or anything that leads to an immediate cessation of hostilities. Cotton will keep well at all seasons.

Joseph Groome, a worthy and active young man of Lomax, had a painful and serious accident to happen to him Friday at his saw mill near Lomax by the accidental occurrence of a log rolling over his ankle. Several bones were broken and painful injuries sustained.

Mr. G. W. Mims, while engaged in hauling a load of corn from the field to his barn met with a severe accident which resulted in two broken bones in his arm and his face badly injured. Dr. V. J. Gragg was called and, after treatment for several days, Mr. Mims is said to be getting on quite well.

Bronchial Trouble

Mrs. A. E. Sidenberder, Rockfield, Ind., states: "For an attack of bronchial trouble which usually assails me in the spring I find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the only thing that gives me relief. After using it for a few days all signs of bronchial trouble disappear."

Mr. Ocie Rich was down with grippe for a week.

Miss Mollie Murrah had to cease work on Friday owing to influenza.

Mrs. Nell Scott spent three weeks in Birmingham with friends recently.

Sheriff H. A. Harris and family have had a severe time during the past week with the influenza.

Harry Kanjutzky has two boys in the army now and a third son getting anxious to serve his country.

One of the first official acts of Mayor John Stanfield was to stop a gathering of negroes in order to stop the spread of Spanish Influenza.

Judge L. H. Reynolds has a few pension warrants that have not been called for. These warrants will be returned if not applied for soon.

Rev. J. F. Gable, pastor of the Baptist church, had a very busy week during the meeting of the Unity Association.

Mayor Stanfield says that he intends to keep a close watch as to the progress the disease makes, and, if necessary, enforce the means of precaution.

Miss Katie Aldridge was attacked by influenza on Tuesday and all the work in the post office is now being done by G. F. Harris a rural route carrier.

P. P. P. stands for Potatoes, Potatoes and Persimmons, and right now Chilton county has "Got 'em all" and will even up with the Spanish Influenza if it takes all winter.

The Chilton county board of selectmen have finished the clerical work pertaining to the September registration and cards, etc., will be mailed out to registrants as fast as possible.

Veteran H. C. Roberts and wife have returned from near Tuscaloosa where Mr. Roberts had been for six weeks under the care of a specialist. Mr. Roberts was much improved in every respect.

Miss Katie Aldridge, during Mr. Robinson's sickness, worked well with the mail in order to accommodate the public. Miss Aldridge was assisted by Mr. Grady Harris after he had served his route.

Mrs. Sallie Bell Martin died at her home near Marbury on Sunday and her remains were shipped to Tuscaloosa for interment. The deceased was the mother of Mrs. J. J. Mayfield of Mountain Creek and also the mother of Mrs. Russell of Marbury.

Dr. J. P. Hayes and Dr. V. J. Gragg are deserving of special mention for their efforts to stay the progress of the influenza. These physicians were attentive almost continually. After a hard full day of visiting patients, Dr. Hayes, on his return home, found eight calls that necessitated night work.

The two men in Chilton county that have been exceedingly busy during the past week were J. N. Dennis and J. D. Collins. They have been putting in time collecting and assessing taxes and they report that they have been well received by the tax payers, payments being promptly made and but little kicking.

A colored man, Sargeant in the army, arrived in Clanton in charge of a dead colored soldier from Anniston. The dead man, it was thought, was a relative of some colored family residing here named Dawson. The Sargeant could find no one that claimed the corpse in this vicinity and finally learned that his home was at Marbury and carried him there immediately.

Although there was no order to close up the places of business in Clanton on Saturday, yet, Mr. Stanfield, the Mayor, should feel complimented in the manner in which his request was complied with. The adherence to the request by the merchants and business men generally is an evidence of the esteem in which Mr. Stanfield is held by the people of this community.

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

At the county Headquarters here we learn that the Loan is not going as it should. But little over half of our allotment has been subscribed. The chairman tells us that the German "peace offensive" has militated against the campaign, many people concluding that peace was at hand. They never were worse deceived and that idea is exactly what Germany is playing for.

The influenza epidemic is also militating against the successful prosecution of the drive.

To fall down on this loan would be calamitous. Right now is the time the boys need us and our help. Don't discourage and humiliate the brave fellows at the front. Double your subscription and if that won't do, double it again.

The War Relic Train will be at Thorsby Saturday at 11 A. M. Let every one go and see it and hear what the boys from the front will tell you.

To do our part subscriptions to cover the whole amount must be in by Saturday night.

Buy! Buy! Buy!

A telegram was received in Clanton saying that "Bud" Culp was seriously ill in Birmingham.

Mrs. Jones Raines, age 33 years, died at her home near Mountain Creek on Tuesday and interment was made on Wednesday in the Canian cemetery.

Owing to the sickness of Sheriff Harris and the strenuous work that has fallen upon Dr. Hayes Mr. J. B. Atkinson, of late, has had a lot of hard work to do in the select board office, but then Mr. Atkinson has had excellent help as Mrs. Atkinson is always in the office when there is a rush of work.

The closing of the churches and Sunday Schools was an event that, since the good people deemed it necessary, made home devotion more religiously attended than usual. Dr. Ernest C. Maye, pastor of the Methodist church, visited on Saturday just 31 persons who were sick with the influenza. It is these visits, made by Christians, that cheer the sick.

ALONZA SHIRLEY KILLED IN FRANCE

A private telegram states that Alonza Shirley, a Clanton soldier, had been killed in France recently.

Young Shirley belonged to the 167th regiment. He resided near Lomax, Ala., and was one of the first young men in Chilton county to volunteer for U. A. A. service.

Before The Advent Of Woman's Gladness

Women Who Know Take Precaution Against Suffering.

Before the arrival of the Stork, women for over half a century have learned the wisdom of giving nature a helping hand. Nausea, nervousness, bearing-down and stretching pains in the abdomen and muscles are entirely avoided by the use of Mother's Friend, according to the testimony of thousands of mothers who have used this time-honored remedy.

Mother's Friend lubricates the fine network of nerves beneath the skin, and by regular use during the period the muscles are made and kept soft and elastic. They can then expand gently and easily when baby is born and brain and danger at the crisis is naturally avoided.

Mother's Friend is a preparation of penetrating oils and other medicinal agents prepared especially for expectant mothers. It is for external use, is absolutely safe and should be used regularly during the entire period before baby comes.

Write to the Bradfield Regulator Company, Dept. A, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for an interesting Motherhood Book, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist. You will find it the greatest kind of help.

WADE'S WEEKLY LETTER

What shall the Cotton Farmer Do?

We are in receipt of the following telegram from reliable authority in Washington: "There appears to be a general concert of action to put down the price of cotton and keep it down. It is reported that the spinners are adopting a hand-to-mouth policy and will buy sparingly and only as they are compelled to have cotton. This with other things will cause a limited demand and tend to further lower prices. Farmers should meet this situation by declining to sell until the spinners need the cotton and are willing to pay fair prices for it. Suggest that you issue a statement urging farmers to hold every bale of cotton until the market reacts to previous levels which it will do. Farmers should not sacrifice their cotton because there is a combination of interests trying to beat the price down."

The above message is significant of the attitude of the bear interests who find sympathy in political ripples of the North, East and West with their political center in Washington. There are, in my opinion, enough dollar-a-year men, who subscribe to this bearish attitude officiating on war bonds in Washington to create a bearish governmental sentiment. The situation is easy going for the bears under the whip of price-fixing.

A Fair Price

Farmers should protect themselves by holding every bale of cotton after their debts are paid until they are offered a satisfactory price. This policy could do nothing less than to provoke price-fixing which could be no worse than the present state of affairs. Surely the fixed price would not be less than the present manipulated and depressed market. It should be more. Taking all the items of cost into consideration and allowing a reasonably fair profit for taking the risk, middling cotton should not sell for less than thirty-five cents per pound. This would satisfy most of the cotton producers. They are not profiteers as charged by the speculators and politicians of other sections. Every cotton farmer knows that cotton would be selling for forty-five or fifty cents per pound if left to supply and demand. Such a price would be speculative and the Southern farmer is too patriotic to demand it. We should keep every bale of cotton that is free from debt until a fair price is offered either by the spinner or guaranteed by the Government.

Cotton Goods Advance

It was commonly believed that manufactured cotton goods were selling at prices based on sixty cent cotton prior to October the first. On October the first prices of cotton goods advanced again as much as seven cents per yard on some articles. This advance came in the face of a lower market depressed by price-fixing agitation.

Farmers have it in their power to protect themselves and should do so by holding their cotton for a fair price, if it forces the price-fixing issue. A bad situation can not be made much worse and perchance may be made better.

MANY SUFFERERS ARE GIVEN HOPE

Interest continues to grow in this city and vicinity concerning the new strength builder, Irogen, which scientists are claiming is the essential element needed for overcoming chronic disease and rebuilding health and vigor.

It is pointed out that hospital tests and experiments of all kinds have proven conclusively that thin, weak, frail people suffering from common complaints take on the bloom of health and become strong, sturdy, vigorous men and beautiful, healthy women after adopting the Irogen treatment.

If scientists are right, and reports from all over this section certainly bear out their claims that Irogen is the true blood and strength-builder, a relief is offered suffering humanity that will rank with the greatest discoveries of modern times.

Warning is given, however, that, owing to its well known flesh-building powers, Irogen should not be taken by any one who does not desire to add flesh.

Note—Irogen, the product mentioned above, is now on sale in Clanton by the Upchurch Drug Co., in Marbury by the Plateau Drug Co., in Jemison by the Langston Drug Co., and in Verbena by H. T. Williams and by the leading druggist in practically every city, town and village in the state.

STATEMENT FROM SUPT.
BEAN OF SCHOOL FUNDSClanton, Ala., Oct. 15, 1918.
To the Public:

In view of the shortage of teachers in this county and in view of the county school board having to shorten every school in the county to six months public school, I wish to call the public's attention to the conditions with which we are confronted, and as there seems to be a few people who are making inquiries as to what had gone with all of the school funds, I wish to give a full and complete statement of the financial condition of the school funds together with a close estimate of the amount of school funds that will be available for the term of 1918-19, but the figures given for 1917-18 is not an estimate but are the exact figures taken from my ledger.

During the year beginning October 1st, 1917 and ending September 30th, 1918 Chilton County received the following amounts of school funds:

General state appropriation	$23569.26
Poll tax	2248.26
State Bonus fund for having collected a three mill school tax	3000.00
County school tax	21927.84
Dog tax	1326.59

Total received during year $52072.19

The following amounts were paid out on my monthly payrolls, which are open for inspection to any one interested:

Payroll for Oct. 1917	$4974.95
Payroll for Nov. 1917	6490.15
Payroll for Dec. 1917	6077.65
Payroll for Jan. 1918	7496.05
Payroll for Feb. 1918	7033.30
Payroll for March 1918	6156.60
Payroll for April 1918	3207.35
Payroll for May 1918	401.50
Payroll for June 1918	409.00
Payroll for July 1918	2506.85
Payroll for Aug. 1918	4405.35
Payroll for Sept. 1918	314.65

Total paid out during year $49473.40

Balance in hand of treasurer of school funds $2598.79

The balance is some larger than the school board expected it to be on account of some of the schools not having finished out their terms and many of the negro schools did not open at all. We expected to keep a good balance on hand to meet any emergency that might arise from a shortage in any fund and no one can tell how much shortage there may be in any fund for it all has to be estimated except the state funds, but it is indeed fortunate that we have this balance, for without it we could not run the schools six months next or the present term.

The school funds will be several thousand dollars shorter this year than they were during the term of 1917-18 for the following reasons:

The general state fund for 1918-19 is exactly	$22599.60
State Bonus for having collected a three mill tax	3000.00
Estimated Poll tax	1700.00
Estimated county funds	15500.00
Dog Tax	800.00

Estimated amount for the term of 1918-19 $43599.60

The state funds are considerably less than last year on the account that there are 606 less children in the county now than last year as shown by the July, 1918, enumeration of school children. The poll tax last term was considerably less than formerly on the account of many of the voters being in the army and I estimate that it will be much less this year than last. The county school tax will be much less because the special one mill school tax levied in 1912 has expired and this will decrease that fund one fourth. It can easily be seen that the average payroll for seven months last year was over seven thousand dollars and with the amount of funds available for this year the board of education was not willing to contract for but six months to begin with, but promise that if there should be any surplus that it will be spent in the best interest of the schools by extending the terms of all schools or probably allowing an increase in salary.

As to the cause of the shortage in the number of teachers for which a few people censure the board of education, I wish to call the public's attention to the following conditions and let them see where the real cause is Chilton has never been able to supply the demand for teachers to teach its own schools. Last year we induced 42 teachers to come from other counties to teach our schools, but this year the shortage in the other counties is so great that few have been unable to induce but few to come notwithstanding Chilton pays as much salary per month as almost any rural county and much more than most of them. To the present we have employed eighteen teachers from other counties of which we are indeed proud. For the last two years Chilton has employed 51 male teachers in the elementary schools and of these 51 teachers twenty-six are now serving in the military duties. Teachers can get much better salaries at other work than they can for teaching and this has taken a few male teachers out of the profession. Many teachers and patrons have suggested that the problem could be solved by raising salaries, but there is only one way to raise the teachers' salaries at the present and that is to cut the term down. It will take $4000 a year to give the teachers an increase of $5.00 per month. There is no question but that salaries ought to be increased, but that would not solve the question, for Jefferson county has money enough to pay her teachers from 50 to 75 per cent better salaries than we can pay but still she has several vacancies. It is estimated that there are about fifteen hundred vacancies in the state and the shortage in this county is no exception, and we should be thankful that we do not have as many vacancies as several counties have.

How About the Farmer?

The end of the fourth Liberty Loan campaign is close at hand, and the South has not fully met its share of this national obligation.

There have been many subscriptions, and many of them were large. There were some which represented merely the surplus money of wealthy folk; there were many which meant real self-denial by the poor. But on the whole, we have not made a sacrifice. We have said to ourselves: "I cannot spare any money just now," and turned the canvassers away with a small subscription or with nothing at all.

Now, let us think this thing over, you and I. This is our war. Our boys are fighting in it, our country is backing it. It is just as much our war as though the Germans were bombarding Charleston or Savannah or Brunswick or New Orleans and threatening to march inland, burning and destroying, and murdering innocent women and children. It isn't a far-away war in Europe. It is our war.

Let us consider this bond issue as a cold-blooded business proposition, if you like. Suppose we were stockholders in a big business house which had been waging a great and expensive fight for success. Suppose our rivals had fought us hard and had almost won the victory. Suppose that we had poured every effort into the business and were gaining the advantage, that we were right on the eve of permanent success—and our money ran out!

Let us suppose that the president and directors you had elected to run that business called on us as stockholders for more money to win this fight; that they assured us and proved to us that additional funds would win, and pay us a handsome return. Would we button up our pocketbooks and say: "No, it isn't our business. We can't spare the money?" No. We would pour in all we had and mortgage our farms to borrow more, and we'd pour that in, if we had faith in the business and the men who were conducting it for us.

And we must not forget that the United States is our business, and the greatest business of all. We have entered into a campaign to lick Germany and lick her so she can never raise her head again. And that takes money. If we are not willing to pay our share, we prove we have no trust in our own government.

The Southern farmer was worried a few weeks ago because he believed the government was going to fix a low price on cotton. That was not done, and we have assurances that it will not be done. President Wilson heard the appeal of the cotton planter and was governed by it. Now he asks, in the name of the government, that the cotton planter and every other farmer bear his share of the burden of the Liberty Loan and lend the country every dollar he can save. Suppose the cotton planter of the South shows up in the last reports as having failed to do his fair share. What position will he find himself in when he goes to Washington again to ask that he be protected?

This fourth Liberty Loan is a big affair, but it is not a dollar too big if every man will take the lesson home to himself and do his full share, without thinking of how big the amount of the national loan is. There is not a man or woman in the United States who has a farm or a store or a shop or a job who cannot buy a bond of large size or small. The banks have made arrangements for small payments lasting six months. The man who cannot save and invest $50 in six months is a mighty poor citizen. And the average man who has two legs and two arms can do a great deal better than that.

And there's something else—if you want to get back to the straight business side of this Liberty Loan—a government bond, paying four and one-fourth per cent interest, better than gold or silver, which earn nothing—is a mighty good thing to have stuck away against that time of trouble which comes to all of us some day.

RED CROSS HANDKERCHIEF SHOWER AND BELGIAN RELIEF COLLECTION

The Chilton county Chapter of the Red Cross can count the Belgian Relief collection as a perfect success.

The public responded most generously, and sent a quantity of good warm garments for men, women and children.

We feel that particular mention should be made of the generosity of Mr. W. H. Sartor who contributed ten good warm cloaks and five pairs of stockings. In all there were 685 pounds contributed to this most worthy cause—the suffering Belgian refugees. This collection was successfully handled by Mrs. Guy Higgins.

One week after this collection the Chapter was asked to give a handkerchief shower, 1400 handkerchiefs being the quota.

Under the skillful management and untiring effort of Mrs. Amzi Gowan and her splendid committees, this drive went over the top with a flourish. The entire number of handkerchiefs contributed being 2194 and $80.50 in cash.

These handkerchiefs are for our boys who are suffering from influenza in the cantonments at home.

The Chilton County Chapter desires to thank the public for its great generosity, and every one who took part in this drive, for their efficient work.

THE GREAT HOG SALE

The most important sale of Hampshire hogs that has, as yet, ever occurred in the South is announced to occur at Prattville, Alabama, in November, when a bunch of the very best breeders known in this section will be put on sale by auction.

It has taken just three years for the Prattville Stock Farm Company to reach the perfection in hog raising that enables them to put on this sale, and to judge Thomas much of the credit is due, and after preparation the company is now ready to drive the "razor back" out of this portion of Alabama and sell good breeders to other men in the state engaged in hog culture.

Visitors and buyers attending this sale will be surprised at the improvement in hog raising that has been accomplished in this section by the promoters of this industry.

The Prattville Stock Farm Company in starting this industry bought the very best foundation stock that money would purchase and from this the present large lot of breeding stock which is offered for sale had its origin.

We have here in Chilton county several men who believe in hog raising, among them are Mr. J. N. Dennis, W. H. Conway and J. D. Cullins.

The men behind the Martin Farm Ditcher and Road Grader play fair. They don't want any man who buys one to keep it if it fails to do the things claimed for it. Up to date farmers know the value of ditching and farm terracing. They know that the properly drained farm is the one that produces biggest crops and makes most money.

THE Martin

and a little bit of labor will soon properly drain any farm. This machine cuts a V-shaped ditch down to four feet. It is reversible, throws the dirt to either side, so that you can ditch close to a fence. It can be adjusted for a narrow or wide cut. It's made all of steel and has no working parts to wear out. Lasts a lifetime.

Valuable for hillside ditching and terracing. Builds and tears down rice levees. Levels bumps, fills gullies, grades roads. Call and look at one or send for book telling what users think.

WHAT HOLDS IT UP

The President ought to come to the support of the Democratic National Committee. That committee, in its campaign pamphlet, says that the war has been conducted efficiently. If the President would make public the Hughes report on the aircraft record, the Democratic National Committee could circulate the report as part of its campaign material. But perhaps it wouldn't. But the President should give it a chance.

TWELVE REPORTED AS WOUNDED FROM HERE

In the Casualty List of the Daily Papers the First of Week Twelve are Reported as Slightly Wounded in Action in France From Chilton.

The casualty list this week contained the names of twelve Chilton county boys who were recently injured on the firing line in France. These men are well and favorably known here, and were members of the 167th Regiment. The list follows:

Rufus Turner, Billingsley, severely wounded.

Charles W. Dennis, Mountain Creek, slightly wounded.

Nicholas A. Minor, Maplesville, missing in action.

Collie Brown, wounded, degree undetermined.

Argeneus Robinson, wounded, degree undetermined.

Lewis Vernon, Mt. Creek, wounded, degree undetermined.

Perry Talbert, wounded slightly.

John T. Puckett, wounded slightly.

L. E. Vernon, wounded slightly.

Brady Jones, wounded slightly.

Harvey Glass, wounded slightly.

Cecil Armstrong, wounded slightly.

Frank Lockhart, wounded slightly.

In the commanding general's report for the week includes for the United States a total of 1,932 men as killed, wounded or missing. Alabama, it seems, was represented by soldiers from all portions of the State, and the 167th Regiment suffered a heavy loss, as it appears, by men being slightly wounded, probably in a charge against a nest of machine guns. This conclusion is reached owing to the great number reported as being slightly wounded.

In the same list of casualties from which this report is gleaned by the Union-Banner, it appears that our neighbor county, Autauga, and especially near Prattville, a number of the brave boys of that county were also reported as slightly wounded.

It should be remembered that machine guns, as a rule, are of small bore, carrying a smaller projectile than the regular army rifle, and for this reason the slightly wounded casualty list is increased.

All of the names that appear in the above list are of men who belonged to the 167th Regiment, and they were originally members of the old Fourth Alabama Regiment before it was merged into the present military unit. A number of these soldiers were with General Pershing during the late trouble with Mexico.

All sections of the United States, it appears, are being called on as contributors in this world war, and the brave boys are meeting death for their efforts to suppress German autocracy.

From recent reports Germany has sued for peace, and this has been brought about by the noble soldiers that were sent from the United States to help the Allies drive the beasts from Christian soil.

Looking over the pages which appear daily in the papers and counting the number of men that are mentioned is an evidence that this is no place for men to be allowed to reside who are unwilling to back the soldiers with provisions, munitions and money. Drive such characters from respectable communities is the advice of The Union-Banner. Tell them to move on and off.

PLETCHER NEWS

The Pletcher district went "over the top" by $1,000 in the Fourth Liberty Loan. Mr. E. G. Caldwell was chairman of the district. Mr. W. J. Murse bought the largest bond.

The women who bought bonds were: Mrs. P. D. Wilson, Mrs. Evie Gregg and Mrs. Pearl Narless.

Mr. Billy Caldwell, who has been at home with his parents for the past week with an attack of influenza, has returned to Artesia, Miss.

Mr. Ed Poole and family from Tusculocosa, have been visiting relatives here.

Miss Elsie Caldwell will attend the High School at Prattville.

Allen Smith, Bob Carter and Rufus Hicks have received their call to report for service in the army.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Minor have received a telegram from Washington stating that their son, Nicholas, was missing in action. He is well known here and liked by everyone.

THIRTY-EIGHT BOYS FROM CHILTON LEAVE WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday morning thirty-eight brave Chilton County left on the south-bound train for Camp Wheeler, Ga. These boys left cheerfully though some tears were shed by mothers, sisters and sweethearts when the train departed from the station. Prior to their leaving on the evening of the 22nd some wholesome talks were made to the boys. Judge L. H. Reynolds dwelt on morality. J. B. Atkinson advised them as to military life and duty, and Dr. J. P. Hayes instructed the young men as to how best to retain health. The names follow:

CHILTON WOMEN MAKE SPLENDID RECORD IN THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

With supreme satisfaction should the women of Chilton county view the fruits of their labors in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive. Our quota was almost doubled, nearly half the sum realized from the sales of bonds, went to the credit of our women!

Under the able generalship of Mrs. S. A. Stewart, our county chairman, the women of our various communities became organized in the beginning of the drive, with local leaders. On the list of those who rendered valiant and effectual service are registered the following names: Mesdames S. E. Norton, H. B. Oliver, W. C. Dyer, A. C. Wells, Lucien Calloway, L. J. Duncan, J. C. Jones, Marion Gore, H. C. McDonald, Bas Jones, W. P. Splawn, Thos. A. Curry and Misses Mary Carr Gibson, Mabelle Burnett and Etha Nix. Little lady Dorothy Duncan was the first lady to purchase a bond in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive; therefore she found herself bearing the recognition and the honor of "mascot" of our Women's organization.

Plans were well laid by our women; each community made a splendid showing. Too much praise cannot be accorded these self-sacrificing laborers, who faced the "flu," overcame every obstacle, and with untiring zeal kept the ball rolling until, with a momentum intensified beyond the $90,000 degree, it "Went Over the Top."

MADAME FRANCOIS MILLET WILL VISIT AMERICA

Madame Francois Millet, widow of the celebrated painter, has loaned her charming house at Barbizon, France to the American Y. W. C. A., to be used as a rest and vacation place for Y. W. C. A. secretaries during the coming eight months, when Madame Millet will be in America. The house is a peasant cottage which was renovated without destroying any of its quaint charm and is situated on the edge of the forest of Fontainebleau.

DEATH OF ALONZO TAYLOR

The cruel influenza removed from Clanton by death Mr. Alonzo Taylor, a worthy and highly esteemed citizen, on the morning of October 19th, and interment was made in Concord cemetery on Sunday. Mr. Taylor, during his life in Clanton was known as a citizen ever ready to aid and assist all worthy appeals for the advancement of that had for its purpose the interest of this section. He was liberal, generous and kind in all of his dealings with his fellowmen. The death of Mr. Taylor is mourned by many relatives and a large number of sorrowing friends.

DEATH OF MRS. HARDY HURT

On Saturday, October 19th, Mrs. Hardy Hurt died at her home here and interment was made on Sunday, October 20th. Mrs. Hurt was one of Clanton's well-known Christian matrons, always ready to forward worthy and charitable purposes.

THE SHOCK OF PEACE; HOW AND WHY A REPUBLICAN CONGRESS WILL AVERT POSSIBLE PANIC

When will the war be over, Millions in their hearts that it may be soon, but the thinking man may well fear the consequences of a peace which finds us unprepared.

Let us picture the arrival of peace. All the world's millions will be wild with joy. The expectation of sacrifice, privation and death will be supplanted with a frantic relief. The look ahead down the long hard road of war instantly will be wiped out and in its place will come happiness and a new atmosphere filled with rosy visions.

But, oh! the cold, gray dawn of the morning after, when we bathe our heads in icy common sense and face the facts of a world half-destroyed, of cities, uprooted, of manufactures diverted from their normal course, of industries all twisted from their old foundations, of whole populations deflected from the wanted ways they must again learn to travel.

Let us be selfish for a moment and blot out the awful picture of Europe. Let us consider only our own United States which war has as yet apparently so lightly touched.

Do you realize that at least ten millions of laborers are employed today in filling war orders, in making munitions for war, and in supplying with food, clothing and otherwise, our armies in the field? Do you realize that on the declaration of peace the United States will have in uniform in the army and navy four or five million men?

What will happen to affect these soldiers and these laborers? The first thing probably will be the cancellation of war orders. Every factory, every industry organized on a war basis will be obliged, in the space of a few days, to place itself on a peace basis and in doing this it will face the stark unknown.

If there are two million or more American soldiers in France it may require two years to bring them all home, but many of them will return immediately. Meanwhile, and this as soon as peace is declared, those assembled in cantonments in this country may be disbanded. What are these soldiers going to do, their former occupations largely gone, and coming back to a world where industries are partly if not wholly stagnant, where offices are filled with substitutes, where factories are closing down?

We are floating now in the high tide of an artificial war commercial activity. How many have saved the extra wages earned? How many are ready to meet a protracted period of unemployment?

Of course, employers will make every possible haste to switch their factories over to peace products and to reconnect with peace markets and peace customers. But all this takes time.

Each man should ask himself,—what has he saved, what place has he ready to jump into when the one he now occupies is taken from him either by the shutting down of the work or by the return of soldiers to whom the country owes first care.

Remember, too, that this shock of peace will hit us at the moment when the cost of living is at its pinnacle. Never before in our history will bread have cost so much, never before in our history will clothing, fuel and the essentials of life have been so high. Millions will face on one side the chasm of unemployment and on the other the mountain peak of the highest prices ever known for living essentials.

What will happen when demagogues may appear on every hand to preach anarchy and fear and envy and distrust, and when the demagogue has for an audience not only those of his own ilk but the vast army compelled against its will to be idle and hungry?

Then through the streets of the cities may be heard the hollow clink of the empty dinner-pail. Then through the stagnant factory aisles may wander the underfed workers. Then will millions call upon those who have been temporarily their rulers for a terrible accounting.

That we may have a better idea of what this initial era of peace may be, let us go back to the panic of 1893. Let us take from history one startling essential fact. The consumption of wheat in 1893 was largely reduced.

Think what it means to have a large part of the normal amount of wheat bread taken from the millions, the hundred millions! Bread is the last thing which a human being denies himself. If the people are buying less than their ordinary amount of bread, how much less do you imagine they will purchase of automobiles or furs or diamonds? If people are forced to buy less than their normal supply of bread, what becomes of the steel industry, what becomes of the coal mines, what becomes of the thousands of factories manufacturing every conceivable kind of material, what happens to the transportation facilities that convey the freight which are composed of these materials; what happens to the banks who supply the credit which supplies the money to meet the pay-rolls of these industries, of these factories, of these transportation systems?

What happen in such a condition to the farmer when he looks for a market for his crops and finds that the bank, having contracted its credit, has contracted every phase of industry so that no one is able to buy to the extent he once did the food the farmer grows? What happens to the farmer when the prices of the foodstuffs fall lower and lower and there is no desirable market for the little which he half-heartedly grows?

That which happens to the farmer, to the laborer, to the business man, to the clerk, to the professional man and to the financier is that which happens to the entire complicated structure of the nation.

It is panic. It happened in 1893, in a Democratic administration, and the effects of it were felt in this country for four years until a constructive Republican administration came into power and again filled the American dinner-pail and again set the American nation on its feet.

It is not the purpose here to frighten. It may be necessary first to frighten so that we may realize that the situation his country may face is imminently dangerous. But, unless this fright produces a constructive action nothing is accomplished. If we are not frightened that we may be prepared, then we continue in idle dreams of the automatic prosperity of peace, until stern reality overtakes us.

Now is the time to prepare for Reconstruction. For practical purposes we can read the lesson for tomorrow in the pages of yesterday.

The Republican party, always constructive, possessing the ablest brains in America, rescued the nation from the consequences of the panic of 1893, and established the broad, deep, sound foundations of the national prosperity which has in this present time made us the first nation in the world. Now again this same Republican party must be brought to this commanding service that is required for the terrific era that shortly will be upon us.

The Republican party has always been the preparedness party. For years it advocated and agitated for war preparedness. It is now strenuously advocating peace preparedness.

The Republican party realizes that the problems of peace will outmaster the problems of war. It realizes that the war is merely the preliminary era from which this nation is to be projected into the fiercest economic strife of all time.

We have had panics in the past. It is not necessary that any of them should be repeated in the era that is coming. It is better to present their possibility now and to provide against them than it is to say nothing and to do nothing until it is too late. The dinner-pale need never be empty. The markets need not be depressed.

That industry should not be paralyzed by peace, it is vitally necessary that the proper provision be made at the present time for these exceedingly grave problems of Reconstruction. It will be fatal to wait until they are actually upon us. The Republican party, true to its history of constructive statesmanship, for it has been called upon always to rescue the nation from financial panic and from the imminence of financial panic, already has laid the ground work by presenting in Congress the Weeks' Resolution calling for the appointment of a Committee on Reconstruction. If this bill passes the present Congress and if the next Congress is Republican, then its provisions may be carried out immediately and the necessary legislative steps will have been taken to avert the perils of peace.

The United States today stands on the threshold of the open door. Beyond lies the smiling plain of peace. But that plain will prove to be a mirage, unless experienced, competent guides are instantly found to take us across it.

The Republican party alone is competent to construct the bridge across which the nation may safely pass from a victorious war to a prosperous peace.

WIBB M. PARRISH WRITES TO HIS BROTHER, BUD, HERE

Somewhere in France, Oct. 3rd, 1918
Dearest Bud:

While sitting here thinking of you all back at home, will write you a few lines to let you know I am getting along fine, and getting fat every day. Haven't done anything in over a week, but sleep and eat; but let me tell you this is not going to last long. We are having too good a time; think we are going after the Kaiser right away, and believe me we will get him too.

Bud, we have got the best Lieut. in the Army and believe me he knows what he is doing. He is so good to us boys. I have just got back from church. I sure did enjoy it too.

No, I don't think you will ever have to go to the army. I can do your part and mine too. Tell Lonza to be careful about anything; you know what I mean. I heard that they had a register from 18 to 45. Bud, we were just half as long coming over. I stayed in the infirmary. Bud, I don't know anything new to write, but can tell you lots when I get back and I don't think it will be long. Don't want you all to be uneasy about me. I am doing fine.

Tom Powell is in the hospital now. Don't know when he will get back to our company or not.

Well, I must hush and go to bed. Will write you all as often as I can, and want you all to write me every day. Tell my girl hello for me. Will write her soon. Had two letters from Mama today. One was wrote Aug. 10th, and the other one was written September 4th. Be good and write me soon! I will close with lots of love to you all, as ever, your bud.

EMMETT MCKEE WRITES TO RELATIVES FROM FRANCE

On active service with the A. E. F., France, Sept. 17th, 1918.
My Darling Mother:

How are you all? Fine I hope. Well, Mother, I am enjoying life and giving the Huns hell. We have driven them back about 12 miles and captured about 15,000 prisoners in this drive. We are all happy and so are the prisoners, so you see everything is going our way.

Mother, how is Dad and how is he getting along in business? Tell him I think we will be home soon.

By the way, I like to have forgotten to tell you about me capturing a German motorcycle and the Colonel has got me to ride it at Regiment Headquarters. So you see I'm having some fun.

Well, Mother, I will close now. Give my love to all and write often to your son, EMMETT.

ROSES FOR HOSPITALS IN FRANCE

Roses in France! One wonders where, yet a Blue Triangle worker at a W. C. A. hut for nurses in France has taken charge of keeping the hospital full of fragrant blossoms, and is finding her supply of flowers practically inexhaustible.

"Today I went to a beautiful villa on the Route de Paris, whose owner had written to say that he would like to offer us three hundred roses any time we came out, and as often as we wanted them. Did we accept? We surely did, and I came away with all I could handle, and threatened to make frequent visits to him.

"That night, when I was taking them around to the wards, a large Swedish boy begged for a rose on his own bedside table. 'You see, iss, when you have been up in the trenches, roses like these look pretty good to a fellow!'

"We filled the mumps and measles wards which occupy stunning tents lined with sunny yellow—with snapdragons, larkspur, foxglove, and gladioli. In other wards we left violets and yellow rose-buds, and yesterday we gave a tea for the French delegation who honored us with a visit."

ALBERT HALL SHOT AND KILLED AT MAPLESVILLE

Albert Hall was killed on Saturday near Maplesville by, it is claimed, the accidental discharge of a gun belonging to Bob Holdman. Sheriff Harris was telephoned concerning the matter and he sent officers Gillespie and Atkinson to make the arrest of Holdman. The officers arrived with Holdman on Sunday morning and lodged him in the Chilton county jail pending investigation.

BARNEY M. ROBERTS DIES OF INFLUENZA

Another Prominent Business, Young Christian Man of Clanton is Called and His Spirit Wings its Flight to the Celestial Land.

Death came after all that medical skill and careful attention could do to save this apparently vigorous and healthy young man, who was attacked by that cruel destroyer, known as the Spanish influenza. Five earnest physicians attended the patient sufferer, and a devoted wife and relatives with the services of a trained nurse administered to the dying man for nearly forty-eight hours when it seemed that the grim reaper was wrestling with all its might to cease the pulsation of an honest heart.

At ten minutes to ten o'clock on Monday night, surrounded by the devoted wife and children and many friends and relatives of this noble young christian the heart ceased its functions, and then the life of Barney M. Roberts was, so far as this earthly tenure is concerned, over and his spirit took its flight to the home beyond.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Ernest C. Maye, pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church, and the Woodmen of the World were present to pay respect due to the burial of this worthy young man who was yet in his 26th year.

The minister referred to a few of the many good traits in the actions of the deceased, especially referring to the fact that when he, six or seven years ago learned that a Christmas tree was to greet the eyes of the scholars in his Sunday School was in need of presents for a number of poor children who had been neglected Barney Roberts ordered presents placed on the tree for every scholar that had been neglected. On another occasion this noble young man was known to pay almost the entire expense of a Christmas dinner for the old veterans at the Alabama Soldiers Home. "Such kindnesses as these," said Rev. Maye, "live after the grave has been closed."

The deceased leaves a wife, two small children, a father, four sisters, two brothers, one of whom is in the U. S. service in France, a veteran grand-father and mother and numerous relatives and sorrowing friends in this, his home city and county.

The pall bearers were Messrs. T. J. Littlejohn, G. C. Harris, M. D. Foshee, W. Z. Hodges, J. P. Gore and T. W. Kemp.

THORSBY NEWS

The most absorbing topic in Thorsby and vicinity, aside from the war news, has been "The Fourth Liberty Loan, for more than a week, with a quota of $4250. The Thorsby Committee secured subscriptions amounting to $11450 and they believe there is enough contributed by people of this district through other channels to make our subscriptions round out an even $12000. There were approximately 100 subscribers counting none twice, though several "Came back for more."

The Chairman of the Thorsby Committee has received from Mr. Guy Higgins, Chairman of the Chilton County Committee, a very strong letter of appreciation of work done by the Thorsby Committee, but Mr. Norton desires publicity to state that without the loyal and efficient support of many others on the Committee he would have made no such record. The handling of arrangements for the War Relics Train in charge of Mr. Charles A. Peterson were admirably managed, and the ladies of "The Eastern Star", who had charge of the Dinner for the train crew left nothing undone to add to the pleasure and comfort of the soldiers and others who shared their bountiful dinner. Other members of the committee together with the very efficient Woman's Committee, were of great assistance in securing subscriptions, while Mr. Horn and others efficiently handled the clerical work.

Mr. Einar Anderson, age 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Anderson of Thorsby, died of pneumonia Sunday afternoon, October 20th, at Cleveland, Ohio. Besides his parents he leaves a brother, Albert Anderson, of Thorsby, and a sister, Mrs. Ivy Horn, of South Amboy, N. J. Mr. Anderson graduated from Thorsby Institute in 1916, and entered Piedmont College at Demorest, Ga., in the fall of that year, instead of continuing his college course, he enlisted and was detailed for work in a Chemical Laboratory at Cleveland. He was a most lovable young man of fine character and high ideals, who will be sadly missed by his family and a host of friends.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

Contrary to an old-fashioned notion for which publishers were themselves chiefly to blame, the cost of producing a newspaper is just as real and tangible as that of any other industry.

This cost has increased during recent years in the same ratio as that of other industries; in fact, some of the elements, such as white paper, metal and labor are two or three times higher than they were before the war.

There is only one way to meet this situation, and it is the same course that every business which expects to survive must adopt. That is to pass at least a portion of the increased burden on to the consumers, or readers.

In accordance with this policy, the subscription price of The Union-Banner will be $1.50 per year, strictly in advance, on and after November 15, and subscribers who are paid not cepted at the present rate of $1.00 up to and including Friday, November 1st, and subscribers who are paid not more than one year in advance may renew for an additional year at the old rate up to that time.

We do not feel that a more extended explanation is necessary, nor that we are called upon to apologize for a situation over which we have no control. We know from past experience that our friends will respond cheerfully to any reasonable requirement, and we feel sure that they will recognize this slight increase of revenue as absolutely necessary to the continued production of a first-class newspaper such as The Union-Banner always strives to be.

HOW NEWSPAPERS SUFFERED

At a meeting of the Inland Press Association in Chicago a few days ago, publisher's war problems were gone over, and in the course of the discussion two facts were stated which are of such significance that they should be passed on to newspaper readers. Mr. H. N. Kellogg, chairman of the special standing committee, asserted that labor conditions have forced the consolidation of 250 daily papers in the United States and the total suspension of 850 newspapers since the war began in 1914.

Prediction was made that the cost of paper would reach $80 a ton soon, which would be an increase of $10 over the present price.

Paper, ink and tares are the items which have advanced so rapidly that 850 newspaper publishers found they couldn't hold the pace, and quit, while 250 others have consolidated.

These are the reasons why it costs you more to patronize a newspaper now than it did before the war.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Can you imagine what the Germans would do to the Allies if they won a complete victory? What shall the Allies do to the Germans?

W.A.R. In this instance does not stand for war—it stands for W. A. Reynolds, the next Representative for Chilton County in the Alabama legislature.

NOTICE FOR PARDON OR PAROLE

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned will make application to the Pardon Board of Alabama, for Pardon or Parole of Jim Eaton, alias Jack Eaton, who was convicted of forgery at the Spring Term, 1917, of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER

How many of the Americans who are shouting for "unconditional surrender" know the meaning of the words they use? Except in the cases of nations destroyed there is no such thing as unconditional surrender by Governments. Armies are said to surrender unconditionally, but that is not completely so even in their case. As armies they submit to the conqueror, but as individuals they cease hostilities subject to all the provisions of international law.

It is well to remember that this war began with a demand by Austria-Hungary, inspired by Germany, for what amounted to an unconditional surrender on the part of the Serbian Government. Attacked, overwhelmed and finally driven by superior force into alien territory, neither the Serbian Government nor the Serbian Army has surrendered unconditionally.

The unconditional surrender which Gen. Grant exacted at Donelson, Vicksburg and Appomattox were of armies and not of a Government, and, in spite of the phrase, there were in each of these cases conditions which the victor, impelled no less by humanity than by wisdom and the law of nations, was glad to concede. Every Confederate officer who carried away his side arms and every Confederate soldier who went home with his horse was the embodiment of a condition.

Governments do not surrender unconditionally, even when their last resource is exhausted. They simply disappear. If they still possess power of resistance, as was recently soon in Bulgaria, they make the best possible terms, whatever those terms may be. If the war continues, more than one German Army may surrender, as the phrase is, "unconditionally." Germany itself will be compelled to accept terms, but these terms in themselves will carry conditions.

For these reasons we deplore the present thoughtless and irresponsible demand for an unconditional surrender. It is only a phrase, and no issue of this magnitude was ever settled by a phrase.

Germany must not write a single clause in a treaty. She must be whipped until she will sign a treaty not "made in Germany." She must be licked until she will sign a treaty every word of which is written by the Allies. We must not allow Germany to dot a single "i" nor cross a single "t." If those scions of hell are allowed any voice as to what they will get after the war, then our boys have died in vain.

Watch the label on your paper. We have signed a pledge with the War Industries Board to discontinue your paper when the time is out, in order to conserve all the white paper we possibly can, and if you fail to get your Union-Banner, you may know the reason. We hate to do this, but as you know, it is a war measure, and we shall do as Uncle Sam says do.

Don't forget that the greatest enemy on earth, of the "little red school house on the hill," is the Roman Catholic. He will move heaven and earth to break down our public school system. It has been his aim from time immemorial to do so. He will try to get his converts into the schools as teachers, he will lobby in our legislatures and will stop at nothing to bring the system into disrepute. These are the boys that the legislature should handle without gloves.

HUMAN WRECKAGE TO BE RECLAIMED

According to leading scientists, a complete revolution is developing in the treatment of disease, due to the discovery of Irogen.

These authorities contend that what we are accustomed to call "chronic" disease is nothing more nor less than "weakness," which is now known to be the result of the blood's lack of the strengthening element which is essential to perfect health, and it has been proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that Irogen supplies this much-sought-for element.

Those who have used it claim it improves the appetite and digestion, corrects nervousness and sleeplessness, overcomes stomach troubles and kidney complaints and otherwise greatly improves both the appearance and strength of those whose health has become run down.

Warning is given, however, that, owing to its well known flesh-building powers, Irogen should not be taken by any one who does not desire to add flesh.

Note—Irogen, the product mentioned above, is now on sale in Clanton by the Upchurch Drug Co., in Marbury by the Plateau Drug Co., in Jemison by the Langston Drug Co., and in Verbena by H. T. Williams and by the leading druggist in practically every city, town and village in the state.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Claude Hodgins was buried at Pleasant Grove Cemetery on October 15th.

George Lewis, Jr., a Chilton county soldier, was buried near Jemison on October 15th.

Mr. Mc. Ruffin, the paper man, has arranged his business so that when he is called, he can answer: "Ready."

Miss Gertrude Popwell, after a severe attack of the influenza, has returned to her work in the Probate office.

Dr. Eiland, the old soldiers friend, at the Alabama Soldiers Home, remained on the job and routed the influenza.

Mrs. Hinsdell, the long distance telephone operator, was one of the most missed ladies of Clanton during the influenza occupancy of the town.

Mrs. M. L. Hosey, one of the most estimable ladies of Chilton county, died recently and interment was made in the Mount Pleasant cemetery.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—One 8-horse power gasoline engine, Feed Grinder and Grist Mill. A. Riggins, Thorsby, Ala., Route 1. 10-24-25

Mr. Ocie Rich was, during his illness, considered in a doubtful condition as to recovery, but through the careful attention of physicians and his parents, he is recovering fast.

October has an "r" in the word and so has oyster, but Clanton, up to this date has none. Gilvey McKee, the Market man, has ordered some, however.

STOP INDIGESTION THIS SURE WAY

In the long list of human ills there is none that causes more suffering, or is more productive of serious results, than a disordered stomach.

It unfits you for business or pleasure, and opens the way for the most fatal disease to attack your system.

When so troubled, take plenty of Vin Hepatica, the great vegetable prescription for stomach, kidney, and liver troubles. You will be surprised and pleased at the quick relief it brings you. Get it here. Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

Miss Annie Reynolds received a letter at the postoffice on her way to office work, and not waiting to break the seal she said "Oh, here is a letter from my brother, Reuben," and then made a rush for home. On her return to the office Miss Annie was smiling over the fact that her brother was at the time of writing, well, and doing fine.

A Beautiful Woman

Do you know that a beautiful woman always has a good digestion? If your digestion is faulty, eat lightly of meats, and take an occasional dose of Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen your digestion. Price 25c.

IN MEMORY OF CLAUD HODGENS

Claude Hodgins, son of James H. Hodgins, born and raised in the western part of Chilton county, died at his home in Birmingham last week. His body was brought here and laid away in Pleasant Grove Cemetery, near his childhood home. He leaves a young wife, father, mother and sister, besides many other relatives and friends to mourn his early demise.

It is a shock and sad thought to know that Claude is gone. We do sympathize with his sorrowing relatives so much in their great loss. But He who notes the sparrows fall knows their sadness and cares for them. Some flowers yield their sweetest odor when crushed, and He who makes no mistakes wounds to heal, and in this work hour care heal, and in this dark hour can reveal to the bereaved ones world's of light they never saw by day. Claude rests secure from the great distress of this world. He is sleeping, waiting for the beautiful approaching day. Yes, beyond the dark shadowed he will come forth in the resurrection. Beautiful and cheering thought.

TOM KEMP WRITES TO VOTERS OF THE COUNTY

To the Voters of Chilton County:

As a candidate for Sheriff, and not being able to see all of you in person, as I would like to do, I take this means of presenting my claims for the office. In this critical time when fitness outweighs partisan success, when duty should govern in all our civic activities, and when all should be proud in the fact that we are Americans, I shall do or say nothing that will arouse bitterness or ill will toward anyone. My life has been lived here among you, and my energies have been spent, not in trying to have one political party win out over the other, but in trying to make a living in a quiet way for my family and to do my share in support of our schools, churches, etc. Should you cast your vote for me, and I be elected, I will conduct the office as I do my business. I would take pains in selecting such deputies as would assist me in performing the duties of the office in a quiet and unassuming way, and the laws will be enforced with equal fairness to all. As to my opponent, I have nothing to say more than if you think his election will better serve the best interest of the county than mine, cast your vote for him. The foregoing is my declaration of principles. If they are worthy of your consideration and vote, as an honest man support me, I shall appreciate it and you will feel the better for having done so. Trusting that your honest convictions will govern in the matter, I am yours for the best interest of the county.

ARNOLD McDOWELL DIED AT TUSCALOOSA YESTERDAY

A telegram received at Clanton this morning (Thursday) announced the death of Arnold McDowell, age 22 years, at Tuscaloosa Training School, where the young soldier was being instructed for army service. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James McDowell, who live about four miles southeast of Clanton. His remains will be brought here and interment will be made in the Poplar Springs Cemetery.

Can Now Eat and Sleep in Comfort

If troubled with indigestion or sleeplessness you should read what Miss Agnes Turner, Chicago, Ill., has to say: "Overwork, irregular meals and carelessness regarding the ordinary rules of health, gradually undermined it until last fall I became a wreck of my former self. I suffered from continual headache, was unable to digest my food, which seemed to lay as a dead weight on my stomach. I was very constipated and my complexion became dark, yellow and muddy as I felt. Sleeplessness was added to my misery, and I would awake as tired as when I went to sleep. I heard of Chamberlain's Tablets and found such relief after taking them that I kept up the treatment for nearly two months. They cleansed my stomach, invigorated my system, and since that time I can eat and sleep in comfort. I am today entirely well."

OBITUARY

On the morning of October 19th the death angel visited the home of Mr. Alonza M. Taylor and gently relieved him of his pain from Spanish influenza and pneumonia and carried him safe home above.

Mr. Taylor was one of Chilton's most highly esteemed citizens and his vicinity feels a great loss to have such a friend and neighbor severed from them.

No one can take his place in his home and hearts of his friends but this being God's divine will we must willingly submit to it.

He leaves a father, mother, wife and two sons, several brothers and sisters and many friends to mourn the loss of this departed one.

Mr. Taylor was 37 years of age, a devoted Christian and member of Poplar Springs Baptist Church.

His remains were laid in Concord Cemetery to await the judgment morning, when all the dead in Christ shall be raised and friends and loved ones reunited to part no more.

Funeral services were postponed until some future day on account of illness of all the other members of his family.

Weep not bereaved wife and children though your load be hard to bear; put your trust alone in Jesus and He will all your sorrows share.

Life on earth is only trouble and sorrows here beset our way; but our toiling will be over, when we reach our home some happy day.

MARTHA J. MIMS.

A Mother's Happiness Made Perfect

Of Utmost Importance That She Have Every Care.

The expectant mother's physical comfort should be our first thought, and all about her should see to it that her preparation for baby's coming be complete.

There is a most splendid remedy to prepare women for the greatest time in their lives, known as Mother's Friend. It is applied to the muscles of the abdomen, gently rubbed in, and at once penetrates to relieve strain on nerves, cords and ligaments. It makes the muscles so pliant that they expand easily when baby arrives; the hours at the time are fewer, and pain and danger at the crisis is naturally avoided.

Mother's Friend enables the mother to preserve her health and strength, and she remains a pretty mother by having avoided discomfort and suffering which more often than otherwise accompanies such an occasion when nature is unaided. Every nerve, muscle and tendon is thoroughly lubricated. Discomfort during the period is counteracted, and the skin, after the crisis, is left smooth and natural.

Write to the Bradford Regulator Company, Dept. B, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend from the drug store today without fail.

MARKETING PEANUTS IN ALABAMA

Recent Government reports placed Alabama at the head of the list in the production of peanuts. This crop, once used only for hogs, is now sold not only to the mills for oil purposes, but also to the confectioners who use thousands of tons for candy and peanut butter. They have found that no finer peanuts grow than the small white Spanish of Alabama and Georgia, and the markets are everywhere calling for them. But before Alabama farmers can supply this demand they must learn to prepare their peanuts to meet the requirements of the best peanut trade, says Dr. J. J. Watson, Marketing Specialist of the Alabama Extension Service at Auburn.

In the first place, the peanuts should be absolutely unmixed. Oil mills buying only for oil purposes can use the mixed nuts at a slightly reduced price, but the shellers and cleaners absolutely refuse to buy where any mixture at all is found. This is due to the fact that before the shelled nut can be sold to the confectioners all mixed varieties must be carefully separated by hand. With the present prices of labor this is too expensive. As a result many buyers in the state have already found that carelessness in this matter has made it difficult to sell what would otherwise have been a good lot of nuts, and any farmer bringing in a mixed lot may expect a lower price.

In the second place, the peanuts should be dry and well matured. This means that they should be carefully stacked in small, well-rounded stacks and allowed to remain at least four weeks before picking. Under no circumstances should they be cured in windrows. The stacked nuts cure better, shrink less and bring a better price. The whole peanut market is depressed just now because of the presence of a lot of nuts left in windrows and brought to the market half cured. Many have spoiled in storage for lack of a market.

Careful stacking and curing should be followed by careful picking. The Food Administration requires every one operating a peanut picker to keep the cleaners attached and not to leave them off, as they did last year. No one wants to pay freight on trash and sticks, and any mill will pay a higher price for a clean lot of nuts than for a trashy lot. Farmers, therefore, should see that the pickers are made as efficient as possible so that they bring to market only peanuts that are clean. In this way only can they hope for a profitable market. Finally, every farmer should insist that his peanuts should be bought according to grade. No one now expects as much for a No. 3 hog as for one grading No. 1. Neither should the man with a low grade of peanuts expect as much as the man with the better grade. Mills and buyers everywhere say that they expect to pay more this year for the higher grades. So if you want a good price for your peanuts this year remember the following:

1. Keep all varieties unmixed.
2. Don't harvest till well matured.
3. Stack in small stacks; don't leave in windrows; allow 4 weeks for curing.
4. Have them picked clean.
5. Sell according to grade and insist on a higher price for the better grades.

A CORRECTION

Thorsby, Ala., Oct. 21, 1918.
Editor Union-Banner.

I would like for you to correct an article that was in last week's issue of The Union-Banner, relative to the Chilton County Baptist Association meeting with Collins Chapel Church, on October 16th-17th. This meeting was put off till November 6th and 7th owing to the epidemic that is going through our country.

I would like for you to state in this week's issue that the Chilton County Association will meet with Collins Chapel Church on November 6th and 7th.

Yours truly,
WM. J. BILLINGSLEY.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the people of Clanton and vicinity for their kindness shown during the death and burial of my son, Claude Beadlecob.

MARY ELLEN BEADLECOMB.

J. C. HARPER
Candidate for State Senator from the Fifteenth Senatorial District of Alabama, composed of the Counties of Shelby, Chilton and Autauga.

Having been nominated for the office of State Senator from the Fifteenth Senatorial District by the Republican party, I feel that I should state what I stand for and what I will work for if elected to the State Senate:

1. I stand for Local Self Government, a government of the people, by the people and for the people, nothing else is right. I favor all officers from the highest to the lowest elected by the people, and if elected to the Senate, I will use all my energy and ability to bring about such conditions:

2. I believe in a compulsory poll tax and if elected I will work for this. I know that in making the poll tax compulsory will add at least from $100,000.00 to $150,000.00 more money to the School funds each and every year, and too will give every man an opportunity to vote, the poor as well as the rich, believing that the poor are in the majority. I feel that such laws should be enacted that would meet the needs of the poor, and if elected I shall give all my time to the study and working out of these problems:

3. It is stated authoritatively that there are about 200,000 white men in Alabama that have not the right to vote under the existing laws. If the compulsory poll tax should be enforced upon all men from the age of 21 to 45 these men would all have the right of ballot. We should be ashamed to boast of the civilization and Democracy of our State until we make it possible for these men who are disfranchised to vote. They are abiding men, and are of the best people in the State of Alabama, when we have through our law-making bodies made it possible for these men who handle the plow, the hoe and the shovel, and all that is done by the horny hand of man, then we can boast of our great State and of its Democracy, but not until we have made it possible through the law-making bodies of our State for these men to participate in the elections of our State can we make the proud and bold statement that we are living under a Democratic form of Government in Alabama. We can only say that we have a government of the few, which will be true:

4. Having been reared on the farm, I feel that I know the needs of the farmers, and if elected I will as Senator, do all I can to bring about laws that will be to the interest of the farming people. I feel that the farmers so far have not had a square deal in the making of the laws of Alabama, and I as a farmer shall stand by the farming class of people, and at the same time will be fair to capital:

5. Having taught school in the Public schools of Shelby county for the last fifteen years, I feel that I have a fair knowledge of what the people need along this line. I know that the rural schools have never had what they should have, and if I am elected I will use all my ability to bring about such laws as will give the rural schools or the country schools an equal show, believing that the majority of most successful men, and men of brains come and have come from the country, they should have at least an equal showing for a chance to get an education as the City boy or girl. I assure each and every one that I shall stand by the boys and girls of this country and will stand for what is right for the University and Colleges. I feel like too much care can not be taken for the institutions of learning. I feel that too much interest can not be taken in their rural schools. I promise to keep every promise that I have made, and shall at all times be ready to hear suggestions, and in fact I solicit any and all suggestions that any one may make, and I will hear the man with plain clothes with the same degree that I will hear the man that wears the silk hat. I am for the people, I will stand by the people; I am very sorry indeed that I have been unable to make a canvass, but owing to sickness in my family, I have been unable to do so, nothing would have afforded me more pleasure than to have visited the people of the Fifteenth Senatorial District and to have talked with them personally, if I had this pleasure you would have known more of me, and possibly would have figured out what kind of a Senator I would make more than the reading of this article, but I hope you will not think that I have merely written this for strictly politics, I have always believed that the people of the State should have a real Representative of the masses, and if I am to represent anybody it is the masses of the people; therefore, I ask your support and promise if elected to carry out every promise I have. Again thanking you for what you made and do it without fear or favor, might do for me, I am, most sincerely yours,

J. C. HARPER.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

State of Alabama, Chilton County.
In the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, in Equity.
John Geddie, Complainant,

vs.

Sallie Geddie, Respondent.
In this cause it is made to appear to the Register, by affidavit of H. G. Reynolds, agent for Complainant, that Sallie Geddie is a non-resident of the State of Alabama, and resides in a place unknown to affiant; and further, that in the belief of said affiant, said defendant is over the age of twenty-one years.

It is therefore ordered by the Court that publication be made in the Union-Banner, a newspaper published in Clanton, County of Chilton, State of Alabama, for four consecutive weeks, requiring the said Sallie Geddie to appear and plead to, answer or demur to the Bill of Complaint in said cause by the 23rd day of November or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be rendered against her.

Witness my hand this the 23rd day of October, 1918.

NEW FOOD REGULATIONS BY STATE ADMINISTRATOR

Drastic Action Will be Taken Against Any Merchant Who Fails to Comply With the Regulations as Set Forth by the Administration.

Clanton, Ala., October 29, 1918. To the Beat Food Administrators: A general order prohibits the serving of any bread that does not contain at least the twenty per cent. of wheat flour substitutes, and of this victory bread no more than two ounces may be served to a patron at one meal; if no victory bread is served four ounces of other bread, such as corn bread, muffins, Boston brown bread, etc., may be served. Bread served at boarding camps is excepted, as is bread containing one-half rye flour. No bread is to be served until after the first course is on the table and no bread or toast may be served as a garniture.

Bacon is also barred as a garniture and only one meat may be served to a patron at a meal. Included in the definition of meat or beef, mutton, pork and poultry. Not more than half-ounce of butter is to be served to one person at a meal and Cheddar (American Cheese) is limited to the same amount. "Double" cream is banned.

No sugar bowls will be on the table, a teaspoonful is the limit for a meal and then only when asked for. Two pounds is the allowance to be served for each ninety meals served including cooking.

No waste food may be burned but all must be saved to feed animals or reduced to obtain fats.

Attention is especially directed towards the conservation of bread and butter, cereals, meats, fats, sugar, coffee, cheese, ice, to fresh fruits and vegetables which should be served when possible, and to unnecessary suppers, teas, luncheons and banquets which are condemned as "fourth" meals. The Food Administration desires as few dried dishes as possible.

The Food Administrator points out that this accomplishment in 1919 will save a host of American lives that will have to be sacrificed if the war continues until 1920. To strike the final blow in 1919 means that we must not only find the men, shipping and equipment for this gigantic army, but that our own army, the Allied armies and the civil population of the Allied countries must, in the meantime have ample food in their strength is to be maintained. "We can do all these things," he declares, "and I believe we can bring this business to an end and if every man, woman and child in the United States tests every action every day and hour by the one touch-stone: 'Does this or that contribute to winning the war?'"

I hope all Beat Food Administrators will aid and assist the Restaurant and Hotel proprietors in complying with the law, and I especially request all the merchants who sell flour and sugar to keep the law and not violate it in any particular.

Mr. Hoover has been very liberal in dealing with us on the flour proposition, and we must be sure to use twenty per cent. cereals with all the flour that we use so that we can save enough wheat to ship to the soldiers and Allies.

Following is a letter from Hon. Thomas Bragg, Executive Secretary, which explains itself.

Yours respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
County Food Administrator.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 16th, 1918. To all County Food Administrators:

We are writing to ask that you immediately investigate and find out if the retail merchants of your county are abiding by the Wheat Conservation Regulations which went into effect on September 1st.

Our inspectors are making an investigation of a number of reports which have recently reached our office, and we regret to learn that some of the merchants of our State are not selling flour and substitutes at the ration of four to one, as required in the regulations announced on September 1st.

The merchant who is guilty is breaking faith with his country, with our soldiers living and dead on foreign fields and with our Allies who held the lines until we got there. He should be hauled before the bars of public opinion, along with the purchaser who equally shares his guilt and should be held up to the scorn

LABOR BOARD FOR EVERY COMMUNITY IN CHILTON

An Organization Formed of Good Men Who Will Deal With the Essential and Non-Essential Question Fairly in Chilton County.

Mr. W. F. McCauley, a government agent, of Montgomery, was in Clanton on last Monday for the purpose of organizing a U. S. Service Labor Board for Chilton County, and after looking around and extending invitations to different parties to attend this meeting, a representative body of good citizens met with Mr. McCauley and an organization was effected.

Mayor John W. Stanfield was elected as Chairman of the Board, W. A. Reynolds, Business Manager, and Mr. G. W. Duke to represent the men who are employed by the employers. No better men in Chilton county could have been selected to look after the interest of the employers and employees. These three men are conversant with the several sides of the questions which will come before them for adjudication, and both owners and helpers will get just what it is deemed best for the interests of all concerned.

Questionnaires will be mailed out to the employed and non-employed, and these questionnaires should be answered on a basis of honesty. Ultimately this organization will, it is believed, form a branch of the labor league, and at the meeting the best interests of both employers and employees will always be uppermost in the deliberation of the local board.

The prime intention of this movement is to place work and capital on business basis, to see that idlers go to work, when physically able and help to win this war by doing their part to back up the government and the men who are on the firing line.

Every man, capitalist or laborer, should be connected with this organization, which is national, and has for its termination and object the good of all the people.

Chilton county has, as officials, three men who always lend their efforts towards that which is best for all the people.

The government agent, Mr. B. J. McCauley, was received here and all assistance rendered him in perfecting this organization, that, at the time, was deemed necessary.

SOLDIERS HOME AT MT. CREEK QUARANTINED

Dr. J. D. Eiland, commandant at the Old Soldiers Home, writes the Union-Banner as follows:

"I beg to inform you, with reference to the quarantining the Home, that on October 5th I placed everything at the Home in a form of this matter, that was as far as possible, allowing none of the inmates to go out without permit to do so, and if found necessary to go they were advised, or given precautions how to guard themselves. All helpers at the Home were advised in the same manner, and I have kept a strict watch on all symptoms that developed and isolated the same as far as possible, no inmates was granted leave of absence no new inmates has been admitted, nor will not until the condition clears. In this way we have had no cases at the Home. I, myself, refrained from attending cases outside of the Home, fearing that I would bring it to the inmates. In this way I have been able to handle the old people at the Home in a very satisfactory and safe manner, whereas, if the disease had got a hold on them I am sure that there are many that could not have stood it. The keeping of men at the Home confined will remain until the condition is seen safe for them to go out.

Yours very truly,
J. D. EILAND.

and contempt of his countrymen.

We have no hesitancy in stating that this office is going to take drastic action against any merchant who fails to sell the proper amount of substitutes with each sale of flour.

To do this, we must have active, energetic and persistent efforts of the County Food Administrators in detecting the guilty ones.

Your usual prompt attention to this matter will be appreciated.

With best wishes, I remain,
Sincerely yours,
THOMAS BRAGG,
Executive Secretary.

"TO HELL WITH the HAPSBURGS AND HOHENZOLLERNS"

Germany has not been defeated! It is still strong enough to enslave, to kill, to pillage, to murder, to assassinate. Its borders have not been crossed. The German flag has never been lowered over German soil in Europe. Its fields have not been made waste places by the earthquake of war. Its cities still stand proud and defiant, and its churches and cathedrals; its palaces and public halls are as yet untouched by shell from the enemy guns. Its mines and factories have not yielded to other than Germans. Its material wealth of forest and field, factory and mine, city and town, home and school have not been despoiled or destroyed by the avenging agencies of bloody justice.

Germany has not been defeated! Its navy still rides German seas and its merchant fleets wait patiently under the protection of German guns. Its fortresses are as yet untaken, and it has not suffered the destruction of a single plant where its devils make and mold its murdering bombs and torpedoes. Its liquid fire from hell's deep lakes are as yet unquenched, and the poison gasses from its burning pits still pollute the air of heaven.

Germany has not been defeated! Its assassins of the sea still seek to destroy women and children, the wounded and helpless. The smoke from burning towns still marks the presence of its power. It still holds its hostages and slaves, and exacts from helpless hands the tribute of a conqueror. It recognizes no law other than that of force, and justice still pleads in vain before its brutal presence. It heeds no law other than its own hellish will, and to it no obligations are yet sacred.

Germany has not been defeated! The mad rush of its destroying hordes has been checked, but as yet its brutal devil's will that sent these armies on their march of murder and devastation has not been destroyed. It only seeks in other ways to subjugate the hopes and aspirations of the sons of freedom. Its will is only one of hate. No sorrow for Serbia moves it to compassion, and no dying groans of ravished and mutilated women, of starving and murdered children in France, in Belgium, in Albania, in Italy, moves its iron heart to pity.

Its Hapsburgs and Hohenzollerns still prate of the divinity of kings.

Germany has not been defeated, Mr. President, but it must be! Let no word or act of yours delay it! One hundred millions of Americans have sworn to destroy its brutal will, and have willingly added their rich resources to those of brave allies to crush forever from the earth its boasted might. Two millions of the bravest of the brave have met the beast and challenged his right to longer terrify the world. Their task will not be done, Mr. President, until the bags of freedom proclaim in Berlin, in Vienna, in Constantinople that never again while the world is the home of man shall brutal and bloody war lords challenge the rights of humanity. This beast of force must be utterly destroyed. Wilhelm is no "Kamerad" of justice or of the law. He and his kind must not longer curse and blight the ages of the world. The bloody, brutal wrongs that have been done must have atonement and terrifying justice must repay to pillaged nations that of which they have been plundered. Germany must be defeated, Mr. President. Its fields must be crossed, its cities entered, its fortresses leveled, its arsenals razed, its navy destroyed, its capital taken over, its rulers banished. It must be made to repay to the uttermost. The forces of freedom are saving the world, and no word must be spoken that will stay their march. Peace must be proclaimed by the sword within German borders, and to make it an everlasting peace—"to hell with Hapsburgs and Hohenzollerns" and all their brutal breed.—Johnson City (Tenn.) Staff.

ANOTHER CLANTON MAN SUCCEUMBS TO INFLUENZA

The Dreadful Influenza Claims Another Prominent Citizen in the Person of J. E. Robinson, Jr., Clanton's Efficient Postmaster.

J. E. Robinson, Jr., Clanton's Postmaster, died at his home on last Friday night, and thus the life of another of Clanton's most worthy young men ceased on this earth.

Mr. Robinson was in his 28th year. He was an active, energetic young man and claimed, as his friends, socially and in business, the entire community. He served as assistant postmaster for several years, and on the resignation of the late "Barney" M. Roberts, Mr. Robinson was appointed as his successor, and was the active postmaster until the time of his death. The business of the office was conducted, during Mr. Robinson's life in a satisfactory business way, and his management of the affairs of the office were satisfactory to the government and the patrons, having received from the government inspector the report that the books of the office were the cleanest that had ever been kept before.

The cruel influenza attacked the deceased and with the assistance of all that medical skill and kind friends could do, the sick man lingered for ten days.

The Red Men had charge of the funeral and the Rev. E. C. Maye, pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church, preached the funeral. Interment was made on Sunday afternoon in the Clanton Cemetery.

Mr. Robinson leaves a wife and several small children, in addition to a large circle of sorrowing friends in this section.

MT. CREEK SOLDIER BOY WRITES TO PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brown, of Mt. Creek, received recently this welcome letter from their soldier son who is in France:

With A. E. F. in France, Sep. 20, 1918 Dear Mother and Dad:

Both of your letters have been received, and I sure was glad to hear from you and to know that you were well. I sure does make a fellow feel good to hear from the loved ones at home.

I suppose Lelia is somewhat lonely since her husband went away, but tell her not to be uneasy for he won't stay out late at night, and have three square meals a day and a bunk to sleep on.

I sure would like to be with you and help to make away with some of the good eats Dad writes about. I have not seen a grain of corn or roasting ear since last year.

We are now back in France after spending two months in Belgium, and we are far from being displeased with the change. France is a beautiful country and the people quite different from the Belgians.

I am glad Dad's farm is doing so well. That is the thing—plenty at home—and then you have nothing to worry about. Remember, too, the more you raise the more there will be for the soldier boys. Tell the boys to write to me, I am always glad to hear from the loved ones at home and the old U. S. With lots of love, I am yours,

ROBERT H. BROWN.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

Contrary to an old-fashioned notion for which publishers were themselves chiefly to blame, the cost of producing a newspaper is just as real and tangible as that of any other industry. This cost has increased during recent years in the same ratio as that of other industries; in fact, some of the elements, such as white paper, metal and labor are two or three times higher than they were before the war. There is only one way to meet this situation, and it is the same course that every business which expects to survive must adopt. That is to pass at least a portion of the increased burden on to the consumers, or readers. In accordance with this policy, the subscription price of THE UNION-BANNER will be $1.50 per year, strictly in advance, on and after NOVEMBER 15TH, 1918. Subscriptions will be accepted at the present rate of $1.00 up to and including Friday, November 15th, and subscribers who are paid not more than one year in advance may renew for an additional year at the old rate up to that time. We do not feel that a more extended explanation is necessary, nor that we are called upon to apologize for a situation over which we have no control. We know from past experience that our friends will respond cheerfully to any reasonable requirement, and we feel sure that they will recognize this slight increase of revenue as absolutely necessary to the continued production of a first-class county newspaper such as The Union-Banner always strives to be.

Food Facts

NEWS OF THE WEEK

From State Food Administration

HOME CARD TELLS NEEDS OF WORLD.

Every table in America should be spread and every meal should be eaten with the war conscience to guide and the wants of all the world in mind. The new Home Card soon to be issued and placed in the twenty million homes of the Nation is showing what must be done and how it should be done.

Reports coming daily from all over the world are giving definite shape to the new program of the U. S. Food Administration for victualing the armies in Europe, the people of the Allied countries and the hungry nations behind the battle line. Early calculations of harvest are daily verified or modified, tally is kept on the increase or shrinkage of food stuffs, inventory is corrected as resources of the last harvest are more quickly or slowly consumed, and totals are revised of new supplies discovered or expected supplies cut off.

The shipping situation is reviewed daily. Every month 250,000 soldiers go from America to swell our fast growing forces on the other side; to supply and maintain them calls for more than a million tons additional shipping. Every day ships are sunk, ships are repaired and the yards in America launch new vessels. From accurate reports it is found whether we are running behind or gaining on the need of tonnage.

The vast moving drama on the battle fields of Europe also affects food plans with each recurring day. We have already taken over 250,000 German prisoners who must be fed. The civilian population in Belgium, northern France, Serbia, and Bulgaria must be fed, for the inhuman Germans strip the country bare as they retreat.

Thus the details of the food program change every day and almost every hour, but the main outline is not altered. Under President Wilson's instructions Mr. Hoover agreed with the Inter-Allied Food Council that America should provide this year 17,550,000 tons of food—an increase of 50% over last year's wonderful achievement.

This vast program of food exports can only be met by home conservation. No matter how great crops may be we cannot send 50% more food than we did last year unless we save. We have nowhere near that much of a surplus in sight and cannot hope for it. This saving must come from the conscious, deliberate, daily efforts of 100,000,000 American citizens, male and female, big and little. Every ounce of staple food that is saved sets free an equivalent proportion of staples to carry out the victory program.

At one end of the scale is the ceaseless stream of reports coming to Washington from all over the world showing the needs to be met. At the other is the effort of 20,000,000 homes to save so that the program can be fulfilled. Is your home doing its part? Is it marching under the banner of the invincible American food army?

HAVE YOU TRIED IT?

Madam Housewife, have you tried Victory flour yet? If not, why not do so. A small sack will not cost much and the experience of thousands proves that you will like it. It saves all the trouble of mixing substitutes and puts you squarely in line with your Government and the great cause of humanity. Try a sack at once. Your grocer will get it for you if you demand it.

AUSTRIA ADVERTISES FOOD NEEDS.

There is food propaganda that is super-propaganda; no missionaries are needed to spread it. The American assurance to the Allies of a bigger and better loaf travelled like light and warmed like sunshine. Headlines and billboards were unnecessary, for it was super-propaganda.

There is super-propaganda, too, that chills like November rains; and in spite of German skill in the art of concealment this kind of propaganda is travelling through the enemy country.

Here are some want-ads from a Trieste, Austria, newspaper which tell the story that will not down:

"Iron bed, pair of black trousers, and coat offered in exchange for food-stuffs."

"New novels, large collection, in exchange for five pounds of food."

"Finest stockings, lady's colored, in exchange for sugar or fats."

"Linen sheet wanted to make into a dress, for cash or maize meal."

"Yellow canary in exchange for a rabbit. Japanese vases for fats or beans."

"A business suit offered in exchange for one pound of fat."

The appropriate answer from America is redoubled effort to make the preponderance of food among the Allies become greater and greater as that of the enemy wanes.

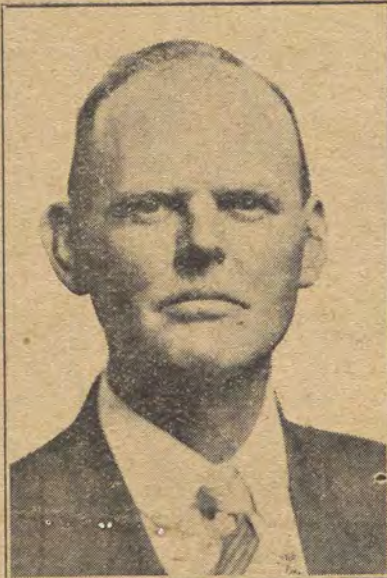

The Allies are well fed and full of fight, thanks to Uncle Sam who invited them to sit down to his table a year ago—he has been passing around the vitals ever since.

Conservation is the All-American job—an army of four million soldiers must be fed from this year's crop.

The conservation of food demands of each individual enlightened fidelity joined to genuine Patriotism.

It is as much the duty of the consumer to eat less as it is the duty of the farmer to produce more.

J. C. HARPER

Candidate for State Senator from the Fifteenth Senatorial District of Alabama, composed of the Counties of Shelby, Chilton and Autauga.

Having been nominated for the office of State Senator from the Fifteenth Senatorial District by the Republican party, I feel that I should state what I stand for and what I will work for if elected to the State Senate:

1. I stand for Local Self Government, a government of the people, by the people and for the people, nothing else is right. I favor all officers from the highest to the lowest elected by the people, and if elected to the Senate, I will use all my energy and ability to bring about such conditions:

2. I believe in a compulsory poll tax and if elected I will work for this. I know that in making the poll tax compulsory will add at least from $100,000.00 to $150,000.00 more money to the School funds each and every year, and too will give every man an opportunity to vote, the poor as well as the rich, believing that the poor are in the majority. I feel that such laws should be enacted that would meet the needs of the poor, and if elected I shall give all my time to the study and working out of these problems:

3. It is stated authoritatively that there are about 200,000 white men in Alabama that have not the right to vote under the existing laws. If the compulsory poll tax should be enforced upon all men from the age of 21 to 45 these men would all have the right of ballot. We should be ashamed to boast of the civilization and Democracy of our State until we make it possible for these men who are disfranchised to vote. They are laboring men, and are of the best people in the State of Alabama, when we have through our law-making bodies made it possible for these men who handle the plow, the hoe and the shovel, and all that is done by the horny hand of man, then we can boast of our great State and of its Democracy, but not until we have made it possible through the law-making bodies of our State for these men to participate in the elections of our State can we make the proud and bold statement that we are living under a Democratic form of Government in Alabama. We can only say that we have a government of the few, which will be true:

4. Having been reared on the farm, I feel that I know the needs of the farmers, and if elected I will as Senator, do all I can to bring about laws that will be to the interest of the farming people. I feel that the farmers so far have not had a square deal in the making of the laws of Alabama, and I as a farmer shall stand by the farming class of people, and at the same time will be fair to capitalist:

5. Having taught school in the Public schools of Shelby county for the last fifteen years, I feel that I have a fair knowledge of what the people need along this line. I know that the rural schools have never had what they should have, and if I am elected I will use all my ability to bring about such laws as will give the rural schools or the country schools an equal show, believing that the majority of most successful men, and men of brains come and have come from the country, they should have at least an equal showing for a chance to get an education as the City boy or girl. I assure each and every one that I shall stand by the boys and girls of this country and will stand for what is right for the University and Colleges. I feel like too much care can not be taken for the institutions of learning. I feel that too much interest can not be taken in their rural schools. I promise to keep every promise that I have made, and shall at all times be ready to hear suggestions, and in fact I solicit any and all suggestions that any one may make, and I will hear the man with plain clothes with the same degree that I will hear the man that wears the silk hat. I am for the people, I will stand by the people; I am very sorry indeed that I have been unable to make a canvass, but owing to sickness in my family, I have been unable to do so, nothing would have afforded me more pleasure than to have visited the people of the Fifteenth Senatorial District and to have talked with them personally, if I had this pleasure you would have known more of me, and possibly would have figured out what kind of a Senator I would make more than the reading of this article, but I hope you will not think that I have merely written this for strictly politics. I have always believed that the people of the State should have a real Representative of the masses, and if I am to represent anybody it is the masses of the people; therefore, I ask your support and promise if elected to carry out every promise I have made. Again thanking you for what you made and do it without fear or favor, might do for me, I am, most sincerely yours,

J. C. HARPER.

Don't Let Catarrh Drag You into Consumption

Avoid Its Dangerous Stage.

There is a more serious stage of Catarrh than the annoyance caused by the stopped-up air passages, and the hawking and spitting and other distasteful features.

The real danger comes from the tendency of the disease to continue its course downward until the lungs become affected, and then dreaded consumption is on your path. Your own experience has taught you that the disease cannot be cured by sprays, inhalers, atomizers, jellies and other local applications.

S. S. S. has proven a most satisfactory remedy for Catarrh because it goes direct to its source, and removes the germs of the disease from the blood. Get a bottle from your druggist today, and begin the only logical treatment that gives real results. You can obtain special medical advice without charge by writing to Medical Director, 27 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

GREAT WAR ENDS

Bloody Conflict of Nations Ends as Military Leaders Sign Agreement

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The war is over. Germany and the Allies signed an armistice at 11 o'clock today, hostilities ceasing three hours later.

As Marshal Foch's terms are known to include provisions which will prevent resumption of hostilities the greatest war of all time has come to an end.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Allies and Germany signed an armistice at 11:00 o'clock this morning.

Hostilities ceased at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Americans took Sedan before the armistice became effective.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The greatest war in history officially came to an end at 2 p.m. today.

The Allies and Germany signed an armistice three hours earlier on the field of battle. The German delegation had come into the allied lines under a white flag.

At the time the document was signed the allied armies were smashing forward on a 150-mile front from the Scheldt to the Meuse, tearing the German defense to pieces and driving the enemy into utter rout. The Americans took Sedan this morning, and gains were made at all points on the battle front.

Before the terms were submitted the Kaiser was forced to apply to Marshal Foch and Admiral Wemyss, as military and naval representatives of the Allies, under a flag of truce.

While virtual peace was thus being concluded, Germany was in the throes of an incipient revolution. A revolt of sailors at Kiel had spread through Schleswig-Holstein and several large cities were reported to be in the hands of the revolutionists.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Germany has surrendered in the field.

This news, borne to the capital by the United Press cables today, stunned by its suddenness even officials who had felt confidently all along that surrender was certain.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Sedan, one of the most historic cities in Europe, was captured by the Americans this morning, after an additional advance of more than four miles.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—First news of the signing of the armistice which brings an end to the world war was conveyed to President Wilson, both houses of Congress, the State, War and Navy Departments and all of the embassies and legations here by the United Press today.

The above is copied from the Birmingham Ledger, who received same by the United Press today from the Front in France. Having heard rumors contradicting the news of the signing of the armistice, after reading the Ledger, The Union-Banner called The Birmingham Ledger on Long Distance phone tonight at 8:00 and their first report that it had been signed was verified, and we are passing the news on to the people of Chilton County, in order that they may celebrate the declaration of peace after nearly five years of the bloodiest war in history.

EINAR ANDERSON

Einar Anderson was born in Chicago, Ill., Sept. 24th, 1895. At the age of sixteen he was confirmed in the Swedish Lutheran Church. He graduated from Thorsby Institute in June, 1915, and is the first graduate of Thorsby Institute to give his life for his country. He entered Piedmont College in the fall of 1915, and finished two years of his college course. He then entered War Work in a munitions factory in New Jersey, where he was employed until last spring. Although he might have claimed industrial exemption longer, he was not satisfied until he had entered directly into the service under the flag, and he left home for Camp Hancock, July 22nd, 1918. Though he remained at Camp Hancock only a few weeks, he was promoted to the rank of Corporal, and was then made Instructor for special Chemical Research work in Cleveland, O. He was there only three weeks. He died from pneumonia following the Spanish influenza on Sunday, Oct. 20, 1918.

While living in Thorsby, Alabama, Corporal Anderson was active in Sunday School and Christian Endeavor Society during his last year in school here. His ambition in life, as expressed frequently to his mother, was not that he might attain wealth and ease, but that he might be fitted for SERVICE. He planned to be a physician, that he might serve his fellowmen in the relief of suffering.

His last illness was brief, lasting only eight days. His mother was summoned to his bedside from New Jersey, where she was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ivy Horn. She arrived only a few hours before he died. She found him ready to meet his Master, with a mind entirely at peace, and a clear faith in Jesus.

His death was a sacrifice for his country as truly as if it had occurred on the field of battle—a part of the great sacrifice being made by thousands and that the world may be made better. His life and his death are a challenge to our patriotism and our Christianity.

WATCH OUT FOR YOUR VITALITY THIS MONTH

You want to be very careful as to your vitality this time of year.

Your organs of elimination may be all clogged up with poisonous matter which has lowered your vitality. This makes you most susceptible to colds, bronchitis, catarrh, pneumonia, and all sorts of diseases so prevalent now.

First thing you want to do is to take plenty of Vin Hepatica, which will thoroughly and gently cleanse your entire system, restore your vitality, and make you not only feel like a new person but make you proof against disease so prevalent this time of year. Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton, Ala.

HUGH PRIM WRITES LETTER FROM FRANCE

Somewhere in France, Oct. 3rd, 1918. My Dear Mother and Father: I have been here for some days. I like the place fine so far. I am doing fine, and am well. The land here sure does make the crops. How does the crop look now? Fine I hope. The French people sure look healthy and stout. The weather here is different from that at home—it will be raining and stop and sun shining in just a few minutes. Well, I will close for this time.

Yours son,

HUGH PRIM.

A MOONSHINER CAUGHT

W. H. Gillespie Accompanied by Three Revenue Officers Raid And Destroy a Booze Factory

Deputy W. H. Gillespie and Revenue officers Robbins, Pitts, and Livings raided a moonshine plant said to have been owned by Walter Parker, near Ada, and, after an all night of it succeeded in surrounding the plant and making a complete capture.

Walker, it is alleged, is a slacker and had been engaged in the manufacture of whiskey for quite a while.

The officers approached the plant late in the evening and they were satisfied that they were going up against a tough proposition, and so they remained in hiding until the night was well on and then they made a rush and surprised Walker, he being the only man on duty at the time, and captured him before he could reach a shot gun and Colt's six shooter which was nearby. Walker was handcuffed and a start made for the Clanton jail. On the way here the officers stopped at a farm house for breakfast, and, knowing that they had possession of the prisoner's guns, they loosened up the handcuffs so that he could eat something. No sooner was this done than the prisoner made a dash for liberty, one shot was fired and the prisoner halted and another capture made, then the officers confined the man again, this time they used a chain, and, after a drive they landed the prisoner in the Chilton county jail until train time when the Revenue men started for Montgomery with the man where he will be turned over to the Federal court.

Before leaving the plant the officers destroyed a large still, 500 gallons of beer and then burned the building.

JOHN S. TILLEY WRITES PRAISING LOAN WORKERS

In the splendid response made to the appeal of her Government to help in the Fourth Liberty Loan Chilton has again demonstrated her loyalty to the flag.

The work has been difficult and the task could not have been a success but for the unselfish co-operation of faithful men and women who have sacrificed their private interests in the name of our men at the front.

The success attained by the County Chairman, Guy Higgins, and his splendid committeemen is beyond all praise. Nothing that I could write would adequately express my admiration for their zeal and fidelity. They have added new lustre to the name of Chilton.

Zone Chairman,

A PATRIOTIC MEETING IN CLANTON

Hon. Borden Burr Delivers an Address to a large crowd of Enthusiastic People

At 11 o'clock on last Thursday Prof. McDonald introduced the Hon. Borden Burr to a crowd of interested citizens on the Mullins corner. Prof. McDonald was patriotic and at the same time eulogistic in reference to this young man who spent some time with our boys in France.

Mr. Burr spoke in a clear, concise manner and explained to his hearers just how our brave Chilton county boys, with many of whom he talked and assisted in different ways, are finding life in the trenches. He insisted that we should stand shoulder to shoulder in providing for our boys just as willingly as the brave boys are contending for our country and homes over there.

Mr. Burr is a Y. M. C. A. worker well known all over Alabama. He is doing all that he can for the cause that we are so much interested in, and that is the driving of the Huns out of Christian lands and the uplifting of all that pertains to free and religious liberty.

TREAT YOUR WHEAT FOR SMUT By G. H. Gillespie

Under a survey of the grain fields of Alabama made by Field Agents of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, it has been found that there was considerable smut on the wheat crop. An average of 12.5 per cent over the entire state or enough to cause a loss of nearly 200,000 bushels.

The Government has asked the farmers of this state to increase their yield by 160,000 bushels; now if every farmer will treat his seed they can make this increase without increasing their acreage at all.

There are two common methods of seed treatment:

1st. With Bluestone or (copper sulphate).

2. With Formaldehyde.

Of these the bluestone treatment is probably the most common to farmers of this section; and can be used by them with excellent results.

The Formaldehyde, however, is much cheaper and is just as effective if used in the following way:

Dump grain out on a tight floor and sprinkle thoroughly with a solution of formaldehyde and water made by mixing one pint of formalin with 40 gallons of water (or 1-oz. to 2½ gallons). Put on at rate of two-thirds of a gallon per bushel.

When thoroughly wet, shovel grain into a pile and cover for three-fifths hours with disinfected sacks, then uncover and spread out to dry.

WADE'S WEEKLY LETTER

Sow Wheat Now

If you are going to have a patriotic wheat patch from which to feed your family and help to win the war by contributing your share of the nation's bread supply, you will have to get busy right away. From October 20th to November 10th is the proper time to sow wheat in Alabama. You are requested by your Government to sow some wheat if you have any firm clay soil adapted to growing wheat. The time of the year has arrived when debating must be turned into action and "the sower go forth to sow."

Sow Some Turnips and Rape

If your turnip patch failed on account of hot dry weather, sow again. It is not too late to produce a nice crop of greens. The turnips may not have time to grow very large but a good crop of tops can yet be made, if sown on rich land. As an appetizer, laxative, diet tonic and general health giving food turnip greens are indispensable in winter. If you have not sown or your sowing has failed, try again without delay.

Sow some rape for the pigs and for table use in the event your turnips fail. You realize how scarce greenstuff gets sometimes during the winter and how our systems crave it. The cows and pigs suffer for something green just as human beings do. Sow a patch of rape for the pigs and a field of Abruzza rye for the horses and cows. The thoughtful master who provides well for his dumb animals is always appreciated by them. It is both humane and profitable. The procrastinator always sows a crop of excuses that never germinate and produce anything material, but consumes much of other people's time trying to explain why he did not do the things which he should have done. Shall this apply to you or will you be one of the thoughtful, thrifty and determined?

Deposit Your Cotton

If you have any surplus cotton that you do not need to sell at this time, deposit it in a good warehouse and have it insured. Go home and wait for a fair price before you sell it. If you will do this you will receive thirty-five cents per pound for it by or before planting time next spring. This would be twenty-five dollars per bale profit as compared with the present market price. It will beat selling the cotton at present levels and depositing the money in a savings bank. The cotton market has been depressed by a speculative combination taking advantage of political agitation under the whip of threatening price-fixing. Mr. Farmer, are you going to submit to this injustice or contend for what is right? Your cotton belongs to you who produced it. You may hold any amount less than two thousand dollars worth and sell it any time next year without paying income tax thereon. If the Government needs this cotton with which to win the war, sell it, or if necessary donate it, but stand firm and protect yourselves against a depressed speculative market that is unprofitable and unfair to the producer.

J. A. WADE,
Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries.

NEW DISCOVERY IS TALK OF NATION

The medical fad of today is Irogen. In fact, aside from the great war, the discovery of Irogen and the possibilities offered by it in the treatment of disease is the most talked of subject in the nation at the present time.

Everywhere people tell of the remarkable results obtained from the use of Irogen. Long suffering ended, troubles overcome that had seemed would never yield to any treatment, nerves and muscles that were unstrung and weak made firm and strong, and vigor and health brought to those who had become thin, frail and sickly.

Physicians claim that Irogen builds up the strength and vigor of the system through the blood, thus making it immune from germs—or, in other words, gives the system the strength to throw off germs. Once the germs of disease are driven out, nature begins her work of rebuilding the tissues and organs by the use of rich red blood which has been nourished by the essential elements contained in Irogen.

Warning is given, however, that owing to its well-known flesh-building powers Irogen should not be taken by anyone who does not desire to add flesh.

Note—Irogen, the product mentioned

A LETTER FROM THE FRONT IN FRANCE

Mr. J. Bice, Treasurer of Chilton County, recently received the following letter from his son, Clarence, who is in France fighting the Huns:

At the Front, Oct. 14, 1918.

My Dear Father:

Excuse this paper and envelope as it was left by the Germans in their hurried retreat, so I thought it would interest you to have a letter written on German paper, especially when our boys are making it so hot for them that they are leaving everything. We are having to fight hard for every inch of ground on the front and the natural fortifications of wooded hills filled with Germans and machine guns makes it hard to drive them out, but with our effective artillery and brave infantry boys that never falter or stop, though they have to advance through open fields and many are shot down, we have succeeded in driving them almost out of all the wooded hills and will soon have them out in the open territory when the American, British and French Cavalry will get a crack at them. Later, late Saturday afternoon I heard that the division that Stoughton is in was on this front and was only a few miles from me, so yesterday (Sunday) soon after breakfast I saddled my horse and told the fellows that I was going out in no man's land to hunt my "bud" and that the next time they hear from me I am liable to be a German prisoner, so I started out and rode for a couple of hours through woods and over hills and valleys while big guns were firing over my head, and at last I came to a bunch of fellows and ask them about a certain division and they told me where I could find the infantry that Stoughton is in. About 10 a.m., I found Stoughton, and I was mighty glad to see him. He is well and getting along fine. We were closer together on the other front but didn't know it. I also saw a McKee boy from Clanton.

Stoughton said that "Red" Reynolds was getting along fine. I didn't get to see him though, but you can tell Mr. Will Reynolds that his boy is getting along fine. Fathers and mothers can justly be proud of their boys from old Alabama, as they are the most talked of than any other infantry over here. Of course I am in a different division and our boys are doing great work and fighting hard, but being from Alabama myself and without any prejudice, I will have to take off my hat to the old 4th Alabama Infantry. Alabama can be proud of the sons and grandsons of the old 4th that fought 20 gallant in the Civil War as they are upholding the name of the "fighting fourth", nad of their forefathers.

Enclosed I am sending you the facts about what they accomplished. Stoughton ask me to send it to you.

Well, Father, I think before long Germany will be whipped and in six months time we will be at home.

Best regards to all my friends and love to all at home. I am getting along fine, and have plenty to eat, and I don't fail to eat if there is a few dead Huns laying around starring me in the face. We don't mind that any more as we see too much of it.

Best of luck and good wishes.
Your loving son,
CLARENCE.

TO THE SCHOOL PATRONS OF CHILTON COUNTY:

I hereby give official notice that the Compulsory Attendance School law will become effective on Nov. 11th, 1918, for Chilton County, and every child who was eight years old or older but was not fifteen on the first day of October, will be required to attend eighty days during this scholastic year.

If a child was seven years old on the first day of October, 1918, but becomes eight during the scholastic year, the law will not apply to him. If a child were fourteen during this scholastic year, the law will apply to him and he will be required to attend school eighty days.

Any child who lives two and one-half miles or more from the nearest public school for his race, the distance being measured by the nearest traveled route, will not be required to attend school.

Any child who is mentally or physically unable to do the work of the school may be exempted from this law, but such claim must be substantiated by a properly attested certificate from a practicing physician.

Any child whose services, because of extreme poverty, are necessary for his own or his parents' support may be excused from attending any school, by the parent or guardian, making affidavit that such necessity exists.

If a child is too young to be of service for his own or his parents' support and his parent or guardian makes affidavit that said child is without the necessary clothes and books for attending school, said child may be excused from attending school until he is provided with the necessary clothes and books through charity or other means.

Any child may be excused from this law when he can show to the satisfaction of the county superintendent of education that he has finished the elementary course of several grades.

All children who are within the compulsory age limit will be required to attend eighty days in succession unless exempt, but the principal teacher may excuse any child for temporary absence in an extreme case of emergency or domestic necessity, but the time put in school since October 1st and before November 11th will be counted on the records.

It is the duty of the principal teacher to report to the county superintendent of education the names of all children subject to this law who fail to enroll within five days after the law becomes effective, and any teacher who fails to make such report is subject to having his contract and license canceled.

Any parent or guardian of any child who fails to attend school as is required by law, upon conviction must be fined not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, and may be sentenced to jail for not more than thirty days. The parent or guardian is held responsible for the conduct of his child, but if any parent or guardian makes affidavit that he cannot control his child, said child must be sent to the proper reform school.

Children of compulsory attendance age shall not be employed by any merchant, corporation, company or other person, during the compulsory attendance period, except when such child has a written permit of absence from school from the county board of education, and anyone violating this law shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction must be fined not less than five nor more than fifty dollars, and may be sentenced to jail for not more than thirty days.

I wish to say in addition to the above that almost every child in the county made his or her required time last year, but there were a few cases that teachers and attendant officers had filed with me for prosecution for failure to have made the required time that would have been prosecuted at the close of the scholastic year, which was October 30th, but on account of all of my records and all teachers' daily registers being destroyed in the court house fire, there will be no prosecution had of these cases, but this must not in any wise set a precedent that will cause any one to believe that there will be no legal adjustment had for failure to comply with the law in the future.

W. T. BEAN,
County Supt. Education.

THE WEEK IN THE WAR

From the Memphis Commercial Appeal of last Sunday

This may be the last "Week in the War"—this war. For more than a year we have written these articles for Sunday's paper, sometimes with a heavy heart. In this preparation there was always a feeling that we were talking things over with our friends and exchanging views as to the doing of those things that make victory sure and near. During the week events of transcendent importance have come to pass. But their bigness does not surprise us as if they happened at long intervals, and for the other reason that this is a time of big things.

Austria-Hungary and Turkey have accepted an armistice that is tantamount to a surrender.

The German high rulers are running around like chickens with their heads off. Rather undignified simile as to the All Highest, the crown prince and the field marshals, but the simile is entirely accurate as to description. As Aunt Cassie used to say, when describing the fall of the mighty, Foch has "pulled the tail feathers" of the kaiser and Ludendorff.

Beginning on the western front we find during the week the British, the French and the Belgians, from a point 10 miles south of Ghent to Valenciennes, have gained from six to eight miles and have brought the allied army up to the shore of the Scheldt River. Valenciennes has fallen.

In this fighting the Americans have had a share. Two divisions, one the 30th, in which there are many Tennessee boys, have been in the thick of things. These divisions formerly served under Rawlinson, and two weeks ago he commended their gallantry to the notice of Gen. Haig. It is an honor to serve under them.

Further south last Sunday a pocket showed in the great elbow of the western front. The French this week wiped this pocket out. They advanced an average distance of 10 miles on a frontage of 30 miles.

Further east, from Reims to the Meuse, the French and the Americans, up to yesterday, registered an average advance of five miles. In this last sector the Germans are making their stiffest fight. They have been told to hold this line at all odds, because an advance along it would interfere seriously with the communicating railways.

Our readers know how we have dwelled upon the importance of cutting the line of railways running west out of Metz, Germany, through Northern France.

Well, this week the Americans registered a material advance north on the Meuse, but that was not all.

The largest mobile guns in the world suddenly turned loose on the American front. These guns were manned by American tars and the officer in charge was an American admiral. They fire accurately about 25 miles. The railway running through Montmedy and Longuyon and crossing the Meuse near Mezieres was brought under the range of these guns. These guns fire a shell weighing one ton, containing a large high explosive charge.

But the infantry and other artillery in a dingdong fight overcame Germany's resistance and went forward.

East of the Meuse the American line has been brought up so that it is in liaison with the American line west of the river.

On the remainder of the western front there has been comparative quiet, but suffice to say that at every point the Germans are outgunned and outnumbered.

Another interesting feature in this section during the last week was the foray of allied aeroplanes. They sailed across the Rhine country and dropped explosive shells in Heidelberg and in other German cities. If the war should last until spring the allied aircraft would be in sufficient numbers to destroy every German objective.

The story in Italy is dramatic, but can be quickly told. The Italians and the allies have overwhelmed the Austrians. The Austrian army was cut in two, just as was the Bulgarian army. Even so, until the last 24 hours the Austrians fought with a courage worthy of a better cause.

There may be disorganization at home in Germany, but the German soldier is still a fighting man.

Yesterday the Servians were in the outskirts of Belgrade. Today their flag is probably flying over that city.

In Turkey Allenby took over Aleppo, and the Turkish army in Mesopotamia has gone to pieces.

The war in Turkey is over. During the week the Dardanelles was being cleared of mines. Unless the Germans surrender, the allied fleet will pass through the Dardanelles, then into the Black Sea, where it will have it out with the two German battle cruisers that escaped from the Mediterranean in 1914 and the former Russian ships which Trotzky and Lenine and their dirty co-partners turned over to Germany.

So much for the fighting.

Germany must give in or be destroyed, and here is the reason: With Turkey and Austria out, a large, well equipped army is released. Two million Italians can be brought out of Albania and out of Italy through Austria to South Germany. These can be reinforced by half a million Greeks, Servians and the British and French released from the Balkan country.

Allenby and Marshall have under their command more than half a million trained veterans. These can be brought over, and there you will have an army of over 3,000,000 trained soldiers ready to enter the back door of the German empire. Furthermore, the arms taken from Bulgarians would be turned over to the Roumanians and Roumania could throw several hundred thousand men into the fight.

So the allies are in position to put an army into Eastern or Southern Germany which is larger than the German army in the west.

Under these circumstances, why any talk with Germany except on a basis of unconditional surrender?

But the allies have before them grave problems. The peace of the world must be maintained, and that can only be done by a show of united force.

Some of the newly-born democracies are dangerously near anarchy. People have been fighting so long that fighting has become a habit. The state of mind is warlike. Self-government, without intelligence and moderation of mind, often results in the worst form of oppression. For proof see what individualism did in Russia.

If Germany surrenders, Poland must be reincorporated from sections taken from Russia, Austria and Germany. It will be difficult for the Poles to maintain internal order.

Alsace-Lorraine will, of course, go back to France. Schleswig-Holstein should be reincorporated with Denmark, not because Denmark's conduct demands this, but the Kiel Canal internationalized and the isthmus under Denmark will no longer serve Germany as offensives.

It is fortunate that the allies are not imperialistic, for they are now in position to parcel out the world, but their supreme duty must be to hold firmly together and to curb their individual ambitions to the end that peace and order may be restored. This is a tremendous task.

The allied victory is embarrassing to the victors in its complications and colossalness.

BORDEN BURR WRITES MR. BICE
HERE ABOUT SEEING THE LATTERS SON IN FRANCE RECENTLY

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 7th, 1918.
Mr. J. Bice, Clanton, Ala.

My Dear Mr. Bice:

As special representative of the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A., I spent the past four months in France. While there it was my privilege to be, for about six weeks, with the 167th Infantry Regiment of the Rainbow Division. During this time I had the pleasure of meeting and knowing your son.

I left the Regiment on August 24, 1918. He gave me your name and requested, if I had an opportunity, I write you and tell you of his good health and fine spirits. The boys are all anxious for the people back home to understand that they are being well treated, are splendidly fed and are enjoying the best of health. Of course, the actual fighting they have to do from time to time is dangerous but they are meeting this with wonderful courage, dash and fortitude, and, while they are very homesick, they wish you to know that from what they have seen in France, they have no desire to give up the battle until a complete victory has been attained.

He also asked me to explain to you how difficult it is for him to write letters and on the other hand to let you know how much he looks forward to and enjoys letters from home. I believe that the home people can do no greater service to the successful winning of the war and an early return of the boys than to write to them often and write them cheerfully. It was my privilege to see the 167th Infantry take part in some of the severest fighting and the wonderful way they handled themselves—the courage they displayed, made me very proud of them. It will give you pleasure to know that the conduct of the boys is wonderfully good. They are maintaining American traditions and will, I am sure, return to you better and cleaner men than when they left.

If at any time you will drop by my office it will give me pleasure to tell you more in detail about the boys and their lives.

With kindest regards,
Yours truly,
BORDEN BURR.

A LETTER FROM LIEUT.
SHIRLEY F. ALEXANDER

Lieut. C. E. Alexander, with the 167th Regiment, writes his mother the following interesting letter:

Dear Mother:

This is the first opportunity I have had to write a line in two weeks. For ten days I did not average more than three hours sleep each day, and even with these hardships I enjoy it, for I feel that I am doing my bit by giving my all for my country.

I am in excellent health, although only once in the last twelve days have I been able to eat three meals a day. One time I went 73 hours with only one meal and three hours of sleep, and then I laid down on the Colonel's cot only when he gave me positive orders to do so, and I went to bed on this occasion and at 12:30 I was awakened and went back to work and at one o'clock something broke loose. As ammunition officer I was using a "Cadillac" and my chauffeur hit a truck in his excitement. All around us thousands of big guns were being fired and they sounded as the roaring of an angry sea. A French truck pulled us out of the ditch.

My work so far has been very successful. I furnish and transport the ammunition for the Regiment, and it is quite a job. I suppose you have already read of the success of the American army, and we are going to win a still more success. The spirit of all here is wonderful, they are giving their all and that is all that can be expected of us.

Your son,
CECIL E. ALEXANDER.

If the government would only cut the telephone charges in proportion to the cut in character of service, we might feel less like complaining, though we are more concerned with the quality of service than with the cost.

METROPOLITAN NEWSPAPERS' OPINIONS ON THE LATEST
PEACE NOTE FROM GERMANY

The New York Tribune: "They have maneuvered for an armistice which would save their precious fatherland from an invasion and lead to a peace conference based upon Mr. Wilson's conditions, which provide for Germany's restoration to free seas and free trade and omit to mention moral punishment or reparation. If that is what the American people have been fighting for, let them hold their peace. If not, then now is the time to speak."

The New York Herald: "Today, as on the heels of the American note of October 8, the demand of the American people will be—no armistice, no negotiations, no discussions, no peace until there is open admission of defeat by whatever government Germany may have, and no thought of peace until the German armies have surrendered unconditionally. On with the war; we have just begun to fight."

The New York World: "Germany is not yet ready to admit its defeat and accept the terms which it begins to fear are to be imposed by its triumphant adversaries. When it presently recognizes that it cannot win in the field, and that all its stratagems elsewhere do not involve its adversaries in jealousies and disputes, it will yield, as many another nation as proud if not as powerful has had to yield."

The St. Louis Republic: "The German statement to the effect that no atrocities have been committed by the armies of the central powers, is a lie on its face. * * * President Wilson should conclude with a statement like this: 'Talk to Foch; I have no further time to argue with a treacherous, lying Hun.'"

The Chicago Tribune: "From the German response it is apparent that the ruling powers at Berlin now look complete defeat in the face. There is but one mind in America on this war: that it shall go on to victory, to the utter destruction of Prussian militarism and to the establishment of peace founded on its ashes."

The Boston Globe: "The ink and paper of the German reply to President Wilson are new, but it is the same old handwriting. Item by item the note reveals its insincerity."

The Philadelphia Inquirer: "Whether the President acted wisely or not in appearing to open the door of discussion, he will not represent the overwhelming sentiment of this nation unless he now closes that door with a bang. * * * In brief, nothing less than unconditional surrender will fill the bill."

The Philadelphia Press: "What effect this note will have in Washington remains to be seen, but we suspect that it will give a new impulse to the passage of the pending Lodge resolution that 'it is the sense of the Senate that there should be no further communication with the German government on the subject of an armistice or conditions of peace except a demand for unconditional surrender.'"

WELD SEVEN WAR WORK AGENCIES INTO RELIEF ARMY

Great Organizations Which Are Helping to Keep Up the Morale of Fighting Millions Unite in Campaign for $170,500,000.

With millions of American men on war fronts, in training camps and on the seas and with thousands of American women on foreign soil, all engaged in the stupendous task of making the world safe for democracy, a great duty devolves upon those who remain in the United States—the duty of sending home to those who have put home behind them for the period of the war. The agencies through which this can be accomplished are joined in the United War Work Campaign.

From being given the cigarette or chocolate bar, with which he stays his hunger in the fury of battle, to the theatrical entertainment or the athletic games, which relax him into normal comfort after weeks of terrific combat, the American fighter is dependent upon the continued efforts of the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the National Catholic War Council and K. of C., the War Camp Community Service, the Jewish Welfare Board, the American Library Association and the Salvation Army. To carry on this work the combined welfare organizations are seeking a fund of $170,500,000.

The Y. M. C. A. provides 538 huts in American training camps and more than 800 in the war zone as centers where the fighters can use as clubs, schools, theatres, stores, churches, libraries and writing rooms. More than 7,000 men and women had been sent overseas or approved for overseas work by early autumn and 3,822 were serving in American camps at home.

Y. M. C. A. huts are the cauldrons of the American Expeditionary Force and are the theatres where the American entertainers, sent over by the "Y," appear. Noted American public men and clergymen speak in the huts. Classes are conducted there. Millions of letters are written there on paper provided free by the "Y." Physical directors of the "Y" teach and spread mass athletics, using material furnished free by the organization.

The Y. W. C. A. does similar work for the thousands of American women in war work overseas—signal corps telephone operators, nurses and French munition workers. It provides cafeterias, rest and recreation centres, entertainment and reading for these women and girls.

The Y. W. C. A.'s outstanding contribution to soldier welfare work in training camps was the establishment of Hostess Houses, where the soldier or sailor may receive his mother, wife, sister or sweetheart in the surroundings and atmosphere of the best homes.

The National Catholic War Council co-ordinates all Catholic welfare work in support of the government and through the K. of C. provides clubhouses for our fighters in all American training camps, as well as having seventy-five centres in France and three in England. In their huts the K. of C. provides entertainment, movies, boxing bouts, educational work, religious services, free stationery, reading matter and writing rooms. In France their rolling canteen accompanies the American army, their secretaries march with the troops, giving away cigarettes, cookies, chocolates, soap and towels.

The K. of C. had 300 workers in France at the beginning of autumn, with 450 more passed by the government and 200 others signed up. At the same date they had 408 secretaries in American training camps, 150 buildings, fifty-six more in the course of erection and contracts let for fifty more.

War Camp Community Service functions exclusively in America, its special mission being to "surround the camps with hospitality." In place of leaving the soldier or sailor to the promiscuous companions and diversions formerly his lot, the organization obtains for him the best to be had in communities adjoining camps or through which he passes.

W. C. C. S. obtains for him invitations to dine, bathe or spend the day in the best homes. It introduces him to the best women and girls at social gatherings, church entertainments, theatre parties. It arouses communities to provide concerts, athletic contests and other wholesome diversions for the soldier, and to drive out and discourage the vicious elements which have been historic camp followers.

The Jewish Welfare Board is correlating the strength and purposes of 100,000 Jewish soldiers, sailors and marines with that of the Gentile soldiers. The board teaches the English language, American civics and ideals to thousands of young Jewish men who were inducted into service after only a few years' residence in this country. While safeguarding his religious rites, the board assists in the process of welding the Jewish soldier into the solid American unit and in bridging over the differences between him and the others.

The American Library Association is providing reading matter for every American soldier, sailor, marine and prisoner of war. In addition to gathering and forwarding three million

58 JEWISH WORKERS GOING "OVER THERE"

Col. Barker Bids Godspeed to the Graduates of Training School.

The whole-souled co-operation between the seven great organizations working for the happiness and welfare of our soldiers and sailors was recently illustrated at the graduation exercises of the tenth class of the Jewish Welfare Board's Training School in New York. Col. William S. Barker, who went to France representing the Salvation Army with the first contingent of our troops and has been "over there" fifteen months, was the principal speaker and wished the fifty-eight Jewish workers of the class Godspeed, while Louis Marshall, the prominent Jewish attorney and philanthropist of New York, lauded the work of the Salvation Army among the boys at the front.

"What our fighting boys need is inspiration and heart and character in those who are there to help them," declared Col. Barker. "You will represent in the camps and overseas the ideals and standards of the Jewish faith, and it is up to you above all things to be consistent in your religious practices. Practice what you preach. That, I am sure, has been the secret of our own success. If you live up to the principles of your faith and give what you have to give from a heart big with love, the boys will respect you, whether they be Protestant, Catholic or Jew."

The newly graduated field workers will make a total of 290 men doing field work in our camps and naval training stations under the auspices of the Jewish Welfare Board. The Board has about fifty "huts" in the various camps and maintains centers in all large cities where soldiers and sailors of all faiths are welcomed. A headquarters has recently been established in Paris, and 100 men are being recruited here for overseas work. There are now nearly 125,000 Jews serving in the army and navy.

United War Work Campaign Program

The campaign begins on Monday morning, November 11, and ends at midnight on Monday, November 18.

As approved by representatives of the Government at Washington the $170,500,000 will be divided as follows:

Y. M. C. A.	$100,000,000
Y. W. C. A.	15,000,000
National Catholic War Council (including Knights of Columbus)	30,000,000
War Camp Community Service	15,000,000
Jewish Welfare Board	3,500,000
American Library Association	3,500,000
Salvation Army	3,500,000

Any surplus will be divided pro rata.

books contributed by the American people the association bought 500,271 books, mostly technical, of which 198,267 were sent overseas. More than 1,500,000 books of all kinds have been assigned to libraries in Y. M. C. A., K. of C. or Salvation Army huts in the war zone, a similar number being distributed in American training camps, while half a million are on warships or transports. The association has erected and operates forty-one library buildings.

The Salvation Army, with 1,210 workers, principally women, overseas, has won the affection of the fighters. Its 501 huts, rest and reading rooms are popular gathering places for the soldiers. The doughnuts fried by Salvation lassies in huts or trenches and given to the men have become famous around the world. The Salvation Army gave forty-four ambulances to the American and Allies' armies and in many other ways gives constant unselfish service.

"No American May Refuse," Cardinal Gibbons Says

James Cardinal Gibbons, the leading Catholic churchman in America, has issued a strong appeal in support of the United War Work Campaign.

"It is an American campaign," he said. "Its appeal is one that no American may refuse. America's answer will be another triumphant announcement that we are in this war as one people and as one nation to see it through to victory. Into the splendid work of sustaining the morale of our fighting men the great social organizations of America have thrown themselves. The American people will raise the sum they ask—generously and gladly."

CATHOLIC BOYS JOIN WAR WORK CAMPAIGN

Girls, Too, Will Stand With Them Behind Every Fighter at the Front.

To put behind every Catholic fighter in France the support of one boy or girl in every parish throughout the United States is the plan of the National Catholic War Council for backing the Victory Boys' and Victory Girls' "Earn and Give" Division of the United War Work Campaign to raise $170,500,000 "for the boys over there" during the week of November 11-18.

Through diocesan, county and parish organizations, the rallying of one youngster for every man who has gone to war in every community is already under way. By their own earnings, and not by contributions, it is expected that these sturdy little sponsors for the boys abroad will each raise at least five dollars for the joint welfare work of the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., National Catholic War Council, including the Knights of Columbus, War Camp Community Service, Jewish Welfare Board, American Library Association and Salvation Army.

Boys and girls in every Catholic parish throughout the United States are already being picked to represent each fighting man who has left their church for the front. In every home that flies a service flag little brothers and sisters, sons and daughters, are eagerly volunteering to look out for the share of their family fighter in the huge joint welfare campaign for all the boys abroad.

BOOKS FOR SOLDIERS SUPPLIED BY A. L. A.

English Camp Shows the Good Work of That Organization for Our Boys.

Something like 13,500 pieces of stationery are distributed daily among 4,000 enlisted men by Uriah B. Brubaker of Iola, Kas., as librarian at the Y. M. C. A. writing tent, Woodley Rest Camp of the American Expeditionary Forces in southern England. The number of troops at this camp varies from 3,000 to 9,000.

This single detail indicates why it is necessary for the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., National Catholic War Council and K. of C., War Camp Community Service, Jewish Welfare Board and Salvation Army have to furnish 125,000,000 sheets a month for soldiers' letters.

Hundreds of books are taken out in this small camp, books furnished by the American Library Association and handled by the Y. M. C. A. Most of the demands are for a good class of fiction. Thirty American newspapers are received there daily. One hundred and fifty magazines are in use daily and 400 pieces of athletic equipment furnished by the "Y" are put to good use.

800 WOMEN NEEDED BY SALVATION ARMY

Commander Evangeline Booth Says War Relief Work Must Be Extended.

Commander Evangeline Booth, leader of the Salvation Army in the United States, has been suddenly called upon to furnish 800 additional war work women for France. The request is contained in a report just received by her from Col. William A. Barker of the Salvationist forces, whom she sent to France over a year ago to establish hutment and general war relief work with the American troops.

"We will do all we can to fill this demand," said Commander Booth when discussing the approaching United War Work Campaign, "and the need itself should impress the American public all the more with the absolute necessity for sustaining and enlarging the war relief work of the seven organizations, besides the noble Red Cross, now merged for a drive for funds. Each is a vital cog in a vast machine for human relief, and each is indispensable, serving its particular elements in its own way."

"The Salvation Army was born in hardship, reared in privation and trained to every phase of human misery and how to cope with it. Perhaps that accounts in some degree for the success our work has attained and for which we are thankful."

"We are of the common people, and we tell on a practical basis. We learned the lesson of how to do it in the Boer war, when we stood at the side of Britain's troops and weathered it out to the end. We have been tried by fire, and the mothers and fathers of America, as in other countries, trust the Salvation Army to do the thing they would like to do for their men if they but had the chance."

"With 1,210 trained workers at the front, operating from 420 huts and dugouts, the Salvation Army is doing, has done and will continue to do its best for the cause of humanity and liberty."

CURE FOR BLUES NEAR THE CAMPS

Community Service Takes Place of Mother, Friends and Home for Soldiers.

Ten young officers of the Student Army Training Corps of the University of Detroit recently applied for a furnished house and a housekeeper who would not be a servant, but, as one young officer expressed it, "the sort of woman to whom the boys can call out 'Hello, mother!' when they come in the front door."

Homesickness is the malady for which War Camp Community Service supplies innumerable cures.

"We've got your number," says the W. C. C. S. to the homesick boy from camp with leisure to spend in any one of the three hundred towns scattered over the country. While he's wondering what on earth he'll do with himself when he gets there, not knowing a soul in town and with a limited percentage of his "thirty per" in his pocket, along comes a friendly printed card from the local branch of his own lodge announcing a reception that night especially for soldier members. By the same mail the Methodist church sends an announcement of all its meetings, addressed to him, with This Means You printed at the bottom. How did they know he was a Methodist?

He had forgotten about the little "Personal Card" he made out at the adjutant's request during his first day in camp when it was only one of the endless details in the round of dentists and doctors and general confusion. The W. C. C. S. had not only his number, but his name and address, his home town, the name of the school he'd gone to and a good bit about the things he was fondest of doing—each fact written into a little blank on the card especially for it.

Somebody's Dollars Will Do It— I Wonder if They'll Be Yours

By Bruce Barton

I WILL tell you what will happen some night this winter in France. Some night when its cold and dark. There will be a rustling through the front line trench, where our boys stand guard. And a heavily laden Secretary will make his way along.

In his hands will be great steaming pots: in his pocket chocolate and cigarettes.

From one man to another he will go, passing a cup full of hot coffee to hands that tremble with the cold; bringing the comfort of a bit of sweet and a smoke.

Men will hail him cheerily, slapping him on the back; and when he has gone things will be a little easier in that trench because he has passed that way.

How much will it cost to make that trip, do you suppose? Counting the pittance that the Secretary is paid, and the cost of the chocolate and the cigarettes and all?

Five dollars? Twenty-five dollars? I do not know.

But whether it is five dollars or twenty-five, I'd like to think that it is my five or twenty-five—wouldn't you? That some night when it's cold and lonesome, my money and yours might send a Secretary out along that front line trench. Let's make up our minds that we are going to pay for a score of those trips. A score of the nights this winter shall be our nights.

—nights when the boys greet joyously the chocolate and cigarettes that our money provided; and are happier because our representative has passed.

SERVICE THAT WINS THE SOLDIER HEART

Fred Lockley, Y. M. C. A., Tells of the Gratitude of the Boys at the Front.

"One of the discoveries men are making over here," Fred Lockley, of the Y. M. C. A. and of Portland, Oregon, writes from London, "is that more pleasure can be had out of giving than getting. Many a man who has spent money freely in the old days to buy pleasure is finding that he gets more pleasure over here by the spending of one's self in the service of others."

"A few months ago I went out with a fellow Y. M. C. A. secretary to hunt up out-of-the-way detachments of troops. A stable guard here, a machine gun company there, a platoon somewhere else. We carried our goods in an automobile. We had plenty of writing paper and envelopes for free distribution, and chocolate, cookies, chewing tobacco and smoking tobacco, cigarettes, razor blades, tooth paste and things of that kind for sale. American war service workers were busy everywhere. We found Salvation Army lassies making doughnuts for the boys and K. of C. secretaries giving help. Books furnished by the American Library Association were to be seen on all sides."

"Hearing firing at a distance, we drove down the road and found a score or so of men at machine gun practice. The officer gave the men half an hour recess to buy goods."

"At another place we came in sight of a lieutenant drilling a platoon. I said to the lieutenant: 'How soon before you dismiss the company?' We have Y. M. C. A. goods for sale."

"He said: 'Right now. Sergeant, dismiss the company!'"

"And ten seconds later the company was in line waiting to buy goods from our traveling 'Y.' Grateful is no name for it. The men can't do enough to show their gratitude."

Why You Should Give Twice What You Did Before

The government has fixed the sum needed for the care of the men in the service at $170,500,000.

Unless Americans give twice as much as ever before our soldiers, sailors and marines in 1919 may not enjoy their

MERCY MUNITIONS NEEDED IN TRENCHES

Lieut. Coningsby Dawson, Fighting Author, Makes Stirring Appeal for Y. W. C. A.

Lieut. Coningsby Dawson, who wrote "Carry On," says of the war work which the Y. W. C. A. is doing: "You at home cannot fight with your lives, but you can fight with your mercy. The Y. W. C. A. is offering you just this chance. It garrisons the women's support trenches, which lie behind the men's. It asks you to supply them with munitions of mercy that they may be passed on to us. We need such supplies badly. Give generously that we may the sooner defeat the Hun."

What Lieut. Dawson says of the Y. W. C. A. he might have said of all the national organizations which are coming together for the biggest financial campaign that organizations have ever headed. All the $170,500,000 to be raised by the seven great national organizations the week of November 11 will be used to garrison and supply the support trenches behind the lines. They are the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the National Catholic War Council, Jewish Welfare Board, American Library Association, War Camp Community Service and Salvation Army.

American girls in various uniforms mingle strangely with picturesque Brittany costumes in France. The American Y. W. C. A. has a hostess house in Brittany where the Signal Corps women live and a hut where the nurses spend their free time. Both these centers are fitted with many of the comforts and conveniences of home.

"At a tea given at the nurses' hut one Saturday afternoon," writes Miss Mabel Warner, of Salina, Kansas, Y. W. C. A. worker there, "there was an odd gathering—one admiral, a bishop, a Presbyterian minister, a Roman Catholic priest, a doctor, an ensign, one civilian and myself."

First Victory Boy's Work.

"Say, I'm wiser to you, all right," a Western Union messenger boy whispered to one of the directors of the United War Work Campaign in the New York headquarters. The director's desk had only just been moved in and the work of the big drive had hardly begun.

"I'm onto your stunt," the boy went on as he swung a grimy fist over the desk; "you're going to give us fellows that ain't old enough to go to war a chance to earn an' give to back up a fighter an' help win the war. Listen; I'm in on this."

The crumpled $5 bill he dropped on the desk made him the first of "a million boys behind a million fighters" who are to be lined up as Victory Boys during the week of the drive.

There will be a division of Victory Girls, too, and every boy and every girl enrolled will have to give every dollar he or she gives to the war work fund.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Tom Smith of Mountain Creek was in Clanton on Wednesday.

Mrs. W. E. Corley has recovered from an attack of influenza.

Mrs. J. E. Robinson, Jr. has been quite sick for several weeks.

Dr. G. W. Stone of Mountain Creek was a Clanton visitor on Wednesday.

Mc. D. Ruffin, the genial news dispenser, has left Clanton and is now at Sheffield, Ala.

Dr. J. P. Hayes lost a large bunch of keys for which he will pay a reward on return to him.

Mrs. Clint Raspberry, of Birmingham, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Jones, here this week.

Dr. J. P. Hayes is authority for the statement that the influenza is almost a thing of the past in Chilton county.

Mrs. Grady Parsons of Mountain Creek was with Clanton friends on a visit during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Glivie McKee have rented the Woodyard home as a residence and moved on Wednesday.

Mrs. G. E. Plier went to Marvel, Ala., on a visit to relatives and friends and remained for several days.

With this brisk cool weather and frost sprouting out of the ground there will be a "hog killing time" all over Chilton county soon.

W. W. Fox, the auctioneer, was kept closed up by Mayor Stanfield for two weeks, but on Saturday he was let loose and could be heard for a mile.

"Uncle" Moses Robinson was in town on Monday and said "possums were running wild in his neighborhood and that persimmons were plentiful."

James W. Butler, age 72 years, died at the Alabama Old Soldiers Home last Wednesday and interment was made on Thursday in the Home Cemetery.

Dr. V. J. Gragg in answer to a question as to how he was feeling, said: "Well, now, since the influenza, like the Germans, is on the run, I feel like I can catch a little rest."

SURGEONS agree that in cases of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds, the FIRST TREATMENT is most important. When an EFFICIENT antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast, BOROZONE is the IDEAL ANTISEPTIC and HEALING AGENT. Buy it and be ready for an emergency. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

The Whisper That Comes in the Night

The Glorious Knowledge Women Gain When a Wonderful Thought Steals Over Them.

Happiness in its most thrilling degree comes to woman with the thought of possessing a baby. Every woman in the joy of coming motherhood should prepare her system for the unusual strain. Three generations have found the tried and reliable preparation, Mother's Friend, of the greatest help at such a time. By its daily use throughout the period, the skin of the abdomen is made soft and elastic, expanding muscles relax easily when baby arrives, and pain at the crisis is in this way avoided. The inflammation of breast glands is soothed. Obtain from your druggist, by all means, this great preparation which science has offered for so many years to expectant mothers. Write the Bradford Regulator Company, Dept. D, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their helpful and interesting Motherhood Book, and begin the use of Mother's Friend. It is for external use, is absolutely safe and wonderfully effective. And remember, there is nothing to take the place of MOTHER'S FRIEND.

Rub a sore throat with BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. One or two applications will cure it completely. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Miss Mary Curry, who is musical director in Jackson, Ala., spent last week at home with her parents and returned to her work on Sunday.

Mrs. J. P. Vanderveer, Jr., left Clanton to visit her sister, Miss Conradine Lane, at Birmingham, who was reported to be quite sick. Mrs. Vanderveer expects to return to Clanton soon.

Mr. F. M. Dobson, contractor, has an advertisement in this paper for men needed on the Chilton county court house work—common laborers. Good wages. Preference given to Chilton county men.

Mr. W. C. Robinson has been confined at his home near Cooper for the past several months with rheumatism, but he has regained his strength and was able to make his Clanton friends a visit on Saturday.

Regulate the bowels when they fail to move properly. HERBINE is an admirable bowel regulator. It helps the liver and stomach and restores a fine feeling of strength and buoyancy. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Pay up your subscription to the Union-Banner. We are compelled to raise the price to $1.50 per year beginning on November 15, but up to and including that time you can renew for another year for the same old price, $1.00.

Among the things that Judge L. H. Reynolds will not tolerate in Clanton or Chilton county are selling "white lightning"—otherwise known as moonshine whiskey, and rolling the bones—known as "craps" for money.

It was Tnynson who wrote "Oh, say can you see by the becoming star," and the sage, Horace Greley said: "Young man, go West," and to this a recent Senator says: "Try Alabama as a country for farming purposes."

The "Flu" has been routed, the war is approaching an end and Chilton county has been saved to Republican principles, then what more do you want in addition to plenty of food supplies already stored up for the winter.

Clay Marcus who has been with the United Cigar Co. at Birmingham for some time past as salesman has returned to Clanton, his former home, and accepted a position at "Mutt's Place". Clay is the youngest son of Dr. T. J. Marcus of this city.

Stop coughing! You rack the lungs and worry the body. BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP checks irritation, heals the lungs and restores comfortable breathing. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Deputy W. H. Gillespie arrested on Monday morning an alleged deserter, named Herman W. Shaw, near Clanton, and lodged the soldier in the Clanton jail. The man, it is said, belongs to the 45th Illinois infantry regiment now stationed at Camp Sheridan.

Mr. E. H. Smith of the Soldiers Home near Mountain Creek made a pleasant call to our office last Tuesday, having come here to cast his vote for the entire Republican ticket which he says he has voted straight ever since he has been in the county, and before. Mr. Smith has always voted at Clanton.

Mr. W. H. Conway, the County Farm Demonstrator, spent the whole of last week visiting different portions of the county and urging the farmers to sow wheat. Mr. Conway says that he can tell farmers where to get seed wheat at fair prices for planting purposes, and that he is in favor of using home grown seed.

There will be on the 9th of Nov. a sale of a large number of Hampshire hogs for breeding purposes. This is the first sale of this kind that ever occurred in this section of Alabama, and it is expected that a large number of those engaged in hog raising in Chilton and Autauga will be present. The sale will occur on the farm of Judge Thomas near Prattville, and lunch will be served for visitors.

THE SUBSCRIPTION PRICE OF THE UNION-BANNER WILL BE $1.50 AFTER NOV. 15TH. YOU CAN RENEW NOW FOR $1.00.

J. N. Dennis and J. D. Collins did an enormous business with the tax payers of Clanton and vicinity this week. The tax payers "come across" and paid in the "long green" with commendable cheerfulness.

Irregular bowel movements lead to chronic constipation and a constipated habit fills the system with impurities. HERBINE is a great bowel regulator. It purifies the system, vitalizes the blood and puts the digestive organs in fine vigorous condition. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

A message was received by Mr. W. T. Callen, president of the Peoples Savings Bank of Clanton, from his son, Frank, who is stationed at Long Island, stating that he was confined in a hospital at present. He did not state the nature of his illness but it is thought he was attacked with influenza. He states he is progressing nicely and expects to be well soon.

T. S. Pyron, for the past several years connected with the Forest Lumber Co., here as book keeper, recently accepted a position in the same capacity with the Marbury Lumber Co. at Wadley, Ala. A recent letter from Mr. Pyron to the Union-Banner states he is liking his new position fine, and asks that we continue sending his paper to him there.

Watch the label on your paper. We have signed a pledge with the War Industries Board to discontinue your paper when the time is out, in order to conserve all the white paper we possibly can, and if you fail to get your Union-Banner, you may know the reason. We hate to do this, but as you know, it is a war measure, and we shall do as Uncle Sam says do.

Have they called on you, and, if so did you, as you should have done, respond cheerfully? This question has a reference to the fact that Miss Annie Reynolds and Mrs. Mallie White are making a canvass of the good people for the purpose of collecting money with which to pay the preacher's salary. Think of the recent excellent service Dr. Maye rendered the sick people when the influenza was raging, think of the many good things he says in sermons, think of his earnest work in all that has for its interest the betterment of this people, and then reader think just one time more and ask your self this question: "Is the laborer worthy of his hire?" and the Union-Banner will answer for you this last by saying that he most assuredly is.

THE BIRMINGHAM NEWS is ever looking forward. It has anticipated results of victory for the Allies: first, the terms of an armistice, then peace negotiations. Every school child should follow these. THE NEWS has perfected plans for giving the facts FIRST. It is served by the world's three greatest newsgathering organizations, Associated Press, United Press and International News Service. Frank Simonds, foremost of war writers, and David Lawrence, greatest among Washington correspondents, are regular and exclusive staff contributors. Its Editor, Frank P. Glass, is now in Europe in close touch with all that is transpiring, not only on fighting fronts, but in all the Allied capitals. Everybody ought to read THE NEWS. Send $1.50 for the daily only or $2.25 for daily and Sunday by mail THREE MONTHS—$6.00 for daily only or $9.00 for daily and Sunday by mail ONE YEAR.

MAY HAVE AERIAL DEMONSTRATION SATURDAY

On Saturday at 2:30 p. m. the first opening gun will be fired in the United War Work Campaign for Chilton County. At that time according to present arrangements a big open air rally will be held in Clanton with Chaplain A. G. Harris of Camp Sheridan, an officer of marked ability, as the speaker for the occasion. As an added attraction the 46th Headquarters Quartette, a soldier organization will sing to a large audience some of their best and liveliest songs. It is hoped that we will have five aeroplanes from Taylor Field at which time the bird-men will perform their hair-raising stunts. However, definite arrangements have not yet been made.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH OF CLANTON

The Fourth Quarterly Meeting of the First Methodist Church convened at the Parsonage on Tuesday, Nov. 5th. Dr. O. C. McGee presided with his usual ability and tact, and a fine representative body of men were present.

This church has made a fine showing for the year. The increase in membership was 45 new members. Splendid reports were made in all departments, the pastor's salary, especially went over the top.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Superintendent of Sunday School, Eric Hart, Geo. Polk, Assistant; Mc Broadhead, Sec-Treas. Stewart, M. L. White, J. C. Jones, V. J. Elmore, P. D. Wilson, Jno. W. Stanfield, W. T. Callen, W. A. Reynolds, Bass E. Jones, R. E. Luckie, Dr. Herbert Neighbors, C. R. Mullins, J. E. Evans, W. W. Fox, and T. C. McSwain.

The report shows the church is in the best condition in its history.

Very touching resolutions were passed over the great loss of our Sunday School Supt., Barney Roberts, by Dr. Ernest Maye, the Pastor, and the entire official board.

The Pastor will speak on next Sunday at 11 o'clock a.m. in the interest of the War Work. At 7 o'clock p.m. "The Seven Downward Steps in the Life of Peter". How many of these have you taken? Come and find out.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

At the Wednesday night prayer meetings the pastor is beginning a series of studies on "The Three-fold Secret of The Holy Spirit." Meetings begin at 7 o'clock and will last not longer than three-quarters of an hour. This study is intended to make happier, more intelligent, and more efficient Christians out of those who pursue it.

The Church and Sunday School have elected Mr. J. J. Pickens as Sunday School Superintendent by a unanimous vote. Bro. Pickens' ability as an organizer and teacher is well known and we are looking forward to some good development under his leadership.

Likewise Messrs. A. N. Minor and D. C. Alred have been elected Secretary and Treasurer, respectively. We are glad to let it be known that the Church, including the Sunday School, is out of debt excepting for the new piano upon which payments are being made as they fall due.

Since Bro. Mc. D. Ruffin's departure for Muscle Shoals, where he has a good paying position, Bro. J. Watts Moore has been elected church treasurer and has charge of the books from the first of this month. We miss our genial Bro. Ruffin, than whom there was none more faithful to the church, but we feel that the Lord's cause has some one ready for every vacancy.

The pastor's subject on next Sunday morning will be "Extending a Helping Hand to the Tempted," and at night, "Italy's Part in the War with Germany."

COULD HARDLY STAND ALONE

Terrible Suffering From Headache, Sideache, Backache, and Weakness, Relieved by Cardui, Says This Texas Lady.

Gonzales, Tex.—Mrs. Minnie Philpot, of this place, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my left side. It was right under my left rib. It would commence with an aching and extend up into my left shoulder and on down into my back. By that time the pain would be so severe I would have to take to bed, and suffered usually about three days... I suffered this way for three years, and got to be a mere skeleton and was so weak I could hardly stand alone. Was not able to go anywhere and had to let my house work go... I suffered awful with a pain in my back and I had the headache all the time. I just was unable to do a thing. My life was a misery, my stomach got in an awful condition, caused from taking so much medicine. I suffered so much pain. I had just about given up all hopes of our getting anything to help me.

One day a Birthday Almanac was thrown in my yard. After reading its testimonials I decided to try Cardui, and am so thankful that I did, for I began to improve when on the second bottle... I am now a well woman and feeling fine and the cure has been permanent for it has been two years since my awful bad health. I will always praise and recommend Cardui." Try Cardui today.

ALABAMA'S SHARE IN WHEAT PRODUCTION IN 1919.

Auburn, Ala., November 5, Special.—The Government has appealed to American farmers to increase their production of wheat that will be harvested in 1919. In that estimate Alabama was scheduled for an increase of only 10 per cent as compared with last year's acreage.

Believing that Alabama farmers desired to do more than this to help feed themselves, our soldiers, our allies, and hungry civilians across the waters, the agricultural staff of the Extension Service, assisted by the federal statistician for Alabama, made an estimate as to what increase in the wheat to be sown this fall could be made in each part of the State without reducing the production of other crops. This estimate was made for each county separately and was submitted to the farm demonstration agent in each county with the request that, after due conference, he adopt or amend the figures proposed for that county. As the result of this estimate and correspondence, Prof. J. F. Duggar, Director of the Extension Service, has given out the following figures as representing the consensus of opinion as to the minimum increase over the 1918 wheat acreage that it seems advisable to aim at this fall in each part of the State:

25 per cent verage increase for the entire State divided as follows:

30 per cent increase for the Tennessee valley region.

30 per cent increase for the mineral district, (embracing the counties of Walker, Winston, Cullman, Blount and Shelby,) except Jefferson county, for which at least 10 per cent is proposed.

20 per cent increase for the north-eastern part of the State, (embracing the counties of DeKalb, Etowah, Cherokee, St. Clair, Calhoun, Cleburn and Talladega.) This smaller increase requested here is because of the very large increase in wheat that these counties made in 1918.

100 per cent increase in the north-western part of Alabama, (Franklin, Marion, Lamar, Fayette, Pickens, and Tuscaloosa,) because of the small acreage in most of these counties devoted to wheat in 1918.

25 per cent increase in the Black Belt counties, which, for this purpose include (Sumter, Green, Hale, Marshall, Perry, Dallas, Wilcox, Autauga, Lowndes, Montgomery, Macon, Bullock and Russell.) For Montgomery and Lowndes counties which made large increases last year, this figure is reduced to 12 per cent.

15 per cent increase in East Alabama, including (Randolph, Clay, Chambers, Tallapoosa, Lee, Elmore, Coosa, and Chilton.)

For the three tiers of counties in the extreme southern part of the State no special increase as compared with last year is urged. But it is believed that the fair results with wheat obtained last year in Butler and other southern counties will result in the sowing of a number of small patches of wheat in the southern quarter of the State, where, however, rye is regarded as a more certain grain crop.

The percentages are intended to apply more strictly to each district as a whole than to each particular county. During September and October most of the farm demonstration agents have been active in efforts to have the wheat acreage increased, though hindered in holding the meetings contemplated by the epidemic of influenza.

The proposed increase should add about 35,000 acres to last year's acreage. Even with this increased acreage, the entire production, if it should average 10 bushels per acre, would still be more than one-fourth of the wheat needed to feed the population of Alabama. Surely we cannot do less than is proposed above, and many individuals and entire counties will doubtless find it practicable to greatly exceed the above estimate.

MT. PLEASANT

Our community is about to get back normal from the "flu" epidemic.

School opened Monday morning with Miss Lessie Reynolds principal and Miss Essie Hester assistant.

Rev. E. C. Maye gave uch a splendid talk on the importance of a thorough education. There were other good talks by Mr. Will Reynolds and some of the school patrons.

Sunday School will start up again next Sunday morning. Every member be sure to come and bring some one with you.

J. A. Duncan and family visited relatives near Jewison Sunday.

G. W. Melton and wife visited Green Foshie last Sunday.

Mac Henley and family spent the week end with relatives near Liberty.

Mrs. Mary Melton has returned home from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. W. P. Lowery, of Collins Chapel.

R. W. Ward and family spent Sunday with his mother in Clanton.

Albert Culp and wife spent Sunday at J. J. Culp's.

CLANTON AND CHILTON COUNTY CELEBRATES

Clanton went over the top on Monday evening. The victory over the Kaiser was uppermost in the minds of the people. During the day the streets were crowded with city and country people who were anxious to participate in celebrating the success of the greatest event in the history of the world. Good feeling prevailed, differences were forgotten, church and political affiliation cut no figure; the people were happy; they seemed to realize that ere soon our brave boys would cross the seas again, and, on this trip be hastening home to receive a welcome from all who wished them a safe return after having helped to bury Prussianism in a grave so deep that never again will an attempt be made to seize the world and rule the people with despotic sway.

A meeting was staged for the afternoon and evening at which speeches and patriotic music was the feature. Judge L. H. Reynolds presided in his usual well directed manner and the following program was rendered:

Song—America; Our Glorious Country. Reading by Miss Gertrude Popwell. Two Minute Speech, War Work, by Mrs. Lida Jones.

Two minute speech, Reconstruction, by Mrs. Lucien Duncan.

Song—Star Spangled Banner. Striding speeches were made by the following gentlemen:

Rev. E. C. May, J. F. Gable, S. M. Adams, J. W. E. Guldge, Reuben Jackson, H. C. McDonald, and J. N. Bull.

The following gentlemen composed the committee: W. I. Guldge, S. M. Adams, J. W. E. Guldge.

The Thorsby band was engaged for the occasion and good music was rendered between the several addresses.

The schools were adjourned during the afternoon and the young people paraded the streets carrying banners and celebrating in their own free way.

Mayor, J. W. Stanfield, had ordered the lid lifted and, to some extent, pandemonium reigned. Patriotism flowed as if all participants realized the world would be free forever, and that the Kaiser with his "Kultur" scheme had faded and left this world to continue on religiously.

Population considered, never before in the history of the world did a people celebrate more unitedly, more enthusiastically than did the people of Clanton and vicinity on last Monday.

OBITUARY

On Wednesday, Oct. 30, 1918, the beautiful spirit of Mrs. Lula Popwell made its flight into that great beyond. She was about 36 years old and had been sick only a few days with influenza. She was a faithful member of Cane Creek church from young womanhood. Cane Creek has lost one of its best members in losing Mrs. Popwell. As a mother she was the personal friend and companion of her child. No service was too great for her to render nor sacrifice too hard for her to endure. As a friend and neighbor she had few equals. Mrs. Popwell seldom had the time to shine in that light, but when trouble came she was always present with cheerful encouragement, a warm heart and willing hands to do what she could.

The community has lost a useful, unselfish christian woman.

She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, five children, a mother, five brothers, three sisters and a host of relatives and friends. These have lost more than human language can express. May they catch the light of her peaceful unbroken trust and as they cross over the river one by one join her at the peaceful gates, where she is patiently waiting for their coming to eventually complete the family circle in Heaven without the loss of one; and God shall wipe all the tears away from their eyes and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow nor crying; neither shall there be any more pain.

Interment was made in the Clanton cemetery on Thursday.

An affectionate friend, LEILA DRIVER.

NOTICE TO TEACHERS

I hereby give official notice that the Chilton County Institute for white teachers will meet at Clanton at the high school building on Wednesday at 10 o'clock, November 20th, 1918, and will continue for four full days. Every white teacher in Chilton County who is now teaching a public school will be required to attend and every licensed teacher who is not teaching now but expects to teach later will be required to attend this institute or some other one before being eligible to contract for a public school.

W. T. BEAN,
County Supt. Education.

DEATH OF LITTLE PRESTON MIMS

On the night of the 3rd of November the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mims and took from them their baby, Preston.

He leaves a father, mother, two sisters and a host of friends and relatives to mourn his loss.

Little Preston was laid to rest in Providence cemetery Monday afternoon.

Will close wishing the Union-Banner much success and happiness.

UNITED WAR WORK DRIVE

OPENED HERE SATURDAY

On Saturday the streets of Clanton were packed with people and the stores did an immense business. Everything indicated in a most emphatic manner that the influenza fright had subsided and that a sense of security was felt.

At one time as many as thirty-two automobiles were lined up in the space of one city block. The rear streets and alleyways were crowded to the utmost capacity with wagons. Farmers brought in their surplus farm stuff, and in some instances hogs and cattle, for which they received good prices.

Everybody was in an excellent frame of mind as to the cessation of hostilities when peace and plenty would reign over the entire world.

A War Working party was in the city and excellent speeches and quartet music furnished a diversion for city and country hearers. The speakers were frequently applauded, especially so when reference was made to our own Chilton county boys who are now on the front, driving the Huns off of French soil.

At 2:30 quite a large audience gathered in front of the Mullins building and were highly entertained by the 46th Regimental Quartet from Camp Sheridan, consisting of Sergeant K. Henderson, John Prue, Chas. Reinsch and Corporal Swanson.

Chaplain Harris of Camp Sheridan made an excellent address in behalf of the war drive.

Mr. Ulrich of Camp Sheridan is making good progress in the interest of the drive which began Monday.

The citizens of Clanton and Chilton county greatly appreciated the services rendered by these excellent men who have the interest of our boys over there at heart.

Our people are well aware of the fact that now is the supreme time to come to the aid of our boys over there and old Chilton will go over the top in the present War Drive.

IN MEMORY

In the midst of life death came Nov. 3rd 1918, to the home of T. W. and A. E. Billingsley and took from their midst Miss Mamie Hicks, daughter of Mrs. Della Glenn, grand daughter of Rev. I. Bice, age 22.

She joined the Baptist church in early life and lived a consistent christian life until her death. Mamie was loving and kind to all; to know her was to love her. She was an ideal girl and christian worker. She bore her affliction cheerfully and submissively. In her death the home has lost one of its brightest jewels, the community a faithful worker and the church one of its most faithful servants. She was the organist and will be greatly missed.

Her remains were laid to rest in the Shiloh cemetery to wait the resurrection morn. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. J. Deason.

J. R. OWEN.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the good people of this community for their kindness during the sickness and death of our dear baby.

MR. and MRS. J. M. MIMS.

TEUTON EMPIRE STRIPPED OF EVERY MEANS OF WAGING WAR BY ACCEPTANCE OF ARMISTICE

Surrender in good condition by the German armies of the following equipment: 5,000 guns (two thousand five hundred heavy, two thousand five hundred field), thirty thousand machine guns, three thousand aeroplanes (fighters, bombers—firstly, D seventy three's and night bombing machines). The above to be delivered to the allies and United States troops in accordance with the detailed conditions laid down in the annexed note.

5. Evacuation by the German armies of the countries on the left bank of the Rhine. The countries on the left bank of the Rhine shall be administered by the local authorities under the control of the allied and United States armies of occupation. The occupation of these territories will be determined by allied and United States garrisons holding the principal crossings of the Rhine, Mayence, Coblenz, Cologne, together with bridgeheads at these points in thirty kilometer radius on the right bank and by garrisons similarly holding the strategic points of the regions. A neutral zone shall be reserved on the right of the Rhine between the frontier of Holland to the parallel of Gernsheim and as far as practicable a distance of thirty kilometers from the east of the stream on the Rhine lands shall be so ordered as to be completed within a further period of eleven days, in all 19 days after the signature of the armistice. All movements of evacuation and occupation will be regulated according to the note annexed.

6. In all territory evacuated by the army there shall be no evacuation of inhabitants; no damage or harm shall be done to the persons or property of the inhabitants. No destruction of any kind to be committed. Military establishments of all kinds shall be delivered intact as well as military stores of food, munitions, equipment not removed during the periods fixed for evacuation. Stores of food of all kinds for the civil population, cattle, etc. shall be left in situ. Industrial plants shall not be impaired in any way and their personnel shall not be removed. Roads and means of communication of every kind, railroad, waterways, main roads, bridges, telegraphs, telephones, shall be in no manner impaired.

7. All civil and military personnel at present employed on them shall remain. Five thousand locomotives, fifteen thousand wagons and ten thousand motor lorries in good working order with all necessary spare parts and fittings shall be delivered to the associated powers within the period fixed for the evacuation of Belgium and Luxembourg. The railways of Alsace-Lorraine shall be handed over within the same period, together with all pre-war personnel and material. Further material necessary for the working of railways in the country on the left bank of the Rhine shall be left in situ. All stores of coal and material for the up-keep of permanent ways, signals and repair shops left entire in situ and kept in an efficient state by Germany during the whole period of armistice. All barges taken from the allies shall be restored to them. A note appended regulated the details of these measures.

8. The German command shall be responsible for revealing all mines or delay acting fuses disposed on territory evacuated by the German troops and shall assist in their discovery and destruction. The German command shall also reveal all destructive measures that may have been taken (such as poisoning or polluting of springs, wells, etc.) under penalty of reprisals.

9. The right of requisition shall be exercised by the allied and the United States armies in occupied territory. The up-keep of the troops of occupation in the Rhine land (excluding Alsace-Lorraine) shall be charged to the German government.

10. An immediate repatriation without reciprocity according to detailed conditions which shall be fixed, of all allied and United States prisoners of war. The allied powers and the United States shall be able to dispose of the prisoners as they wish.

11. Sick and wounded who cannot be removed from evacuated territory will be cared for by German personnel who will be left on the spot with the medical materials required.

Disposition relative to the eastern frontiers of Germany.

12. All German troops at present in any territory which before the war belonged to Russia, Rumania or Turkey shall withdraw within the frontiers of Germany as they existed on August 1st 1914.

13. Evacuation by German troops to begin at once and all German instructors, prisoners and civilian as well as military agents, now on the territory of Russia (as defined before 1914) to be recalled.

14. German troops to cease at once all requisitions and seizures and any other undertaking with a view to obtaining supplies intended for Germany in Rumania and Russia (as defined on August 1st, 1914).

15. Abandonment of the treaties of Bucharest and Brest-Litovsk and of the supplementary treaties.

16. The allies shall have free access to the territories evacuated by the Germans on their eastern frontier either through Danzig or by the vistula in order to convey supplies to the populations of those territories or for any other purpose.

Clause Concerning East Africa:

17. Unconditional capitulation of all German forces operating in east Africa within one month.

IV. General clauses:

18. Repatriation, without reciprocity, within maximum period of one month, in accordance with detailed conditions hereafter to be fixed, of all civilians interned or deported who may be citizens of other allied or associated states than those mentioned in clause three, paragraph nineteen, with the reservation that any future claims and demands of the allies and the United States of America remain unaffected.

19. The following financial conditions are required:

Reparation for damage done. While such armistice lasts no public securities shall be removed by the enemy which can serve as a pledge to the allies for the recovery or reparation for war losses. Immediate restitution of the cash deposit, in the National Bank of Belgium and in general immediate return of all documents, specie, stocks, shares, paper money, together with plant for the issue thereof, touching public or private interests in the invaded countries.

Restitution of the Russian and Rumanian gold yielded to Germany or taken by that power. This gold to be delivered in trust to the allies under the signature of peace.

20. Immediate cessation of hostilities at sea and definite information to be given as to the location and movement of all German ships. Notification to be given to the naval and mercantile marines of the allied and associated powers, all questions of neutrality being waived.

21. All naval and mercantile marine prisoners of war of the allied and associated powers in German hands to be returned without reciprocity.

22. Surrender to the allies and the United States of America of one hundred and sixty German submarines (including all submarine cruisers and mine laying submarines with their complete armament and equipment in ports which will be specified by the allies and the United States of America. All other submarines to be paid off and completely disarmed and placed under the supervision of the allied powers and the United States of America.

23. The following German surface warships which shall be designated by the allies and the United States of America shall forthwith be disarmed and thereafter interned in neutral ports, or, for the want of them, in allied ports, to be designated by the allies and the United States of America, only caretakers being left on board, namely: Six battle cruisers, ten battleships, eight light cruisers including two mine layers, fifty destroyers of the most modern type. All other surface warships (including river craft) are to be concentrated in German naval bases to be designated by the allies and the United States of America, and are to be paid off and completely disarmed and placed under the supervision of the allies and the United States of America. All vessels of the auxiliary fleet (trawlers, motor vessels, etc.) are to be disarmed.

24. The allies and the United States of America shall have the right to sweep up all mine fields and obstructions laid by Germany outside German territorial waters, and the positions of these are to be indicated.

25. Freedom of access to and from the Baltic to be given the naval and mercantile marines of the allied and associated powers. To secure this the allies and the United States of America shall be empowered to occupy all

THE FLU

When your back is broke and your eyes are blurred, And your shin bones knock and your tongue is furred, And your tonsils squeak and your hair gets dry, And you are doggone sure that you're going to die, But you're skeered you won't and afraid you will, Just drag to bed and have your chill, And pray the Lord to see you through For you've got the Flu, boy.

You've got the Flu. When your toes curl up and your belt goes flat, And you are twice as mean as a Thomas cat, And life is a long and dismal curse, And your food all tastes like a hard boiled hearse;

When your latices aches and your head's a-buzz, And nothing is as it ever was, Here are my sad regrets to you— You've got the Flu, boy.

You've got the Flu. What is it like, this Spanish Flu? Ask me, brother, for I've been through. It is by Misery out of Dispair; It pulls your teeth and curls your hair;

It thins your blood and brays your bones, And fills your craw with moans and groans, And sometimes, maybe, you get well. Some call it Flu—I call it hell!

CHRISTMAS CARTONS FOR THE SOLDIERS

Present the label your soldier has sent you at the Clanton Hardware from 9 o'clock a.m. to 4 o'clock p.m. to the lady in charge and you will be given a carton in which to pack his Christmas presents. The postmaster will accept no other box for him, and after packed the box must not weigh more than 2 pounds 15 ounces. Full instructions will be given by the ladies in charge.

The different branches have received their share and will furnish those living in different parts of the county.

These boxes must be returned to the Red Cross Headquarters by November 18th.

IN LOVING REMEMBRANCE OF ARNOLD MCDOWELL

On the evening of October 23rd at 2 o'clock the death angel visited him at the training school in Tuscaloosa and gently relieved him of his pain from Spanish Influenza and pneumonia and carried him safe home above. No one can take his place in his home and the hearts of his friends. He had been gone only five weeks.

He wrote back to his father and mother to keep up the Sunday school and singing, he loved the Sunday school and singing so much. Oh, how we will miss him.

He leaves a father, mother, two brothers, five sisters and many other relatives and friends to mourn his early demise. He was 21 years old a devoted christian and member of Poplar Springs church. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. J. Deason.

Weep not bereaved father and mother. We remember your dear child; lovely, lively, intelligent and affectionate, displaying a thoughtfulness beyond his years and to lose such a promising child brings a deep and heavy shadow, but remember that light will sometime break through and there will be a glad and happy reunion in the great beyond. Think of one who cares for us all, He has prepared a bright and beautiful home beyond the grave and the spirit of the dear child will only wait a brief period when in sweetness and in love he will meet his mother and father to part no more.

One Who Loved Him.

HON. J. B. ATKINSON

RECEIVES APPOINTMENT

Hon. J. B. Atkinson, well known in Clanton and Chilton county, has been appointed as Assistant to Adjutant General Hubbard, and his headquarters will be in Montgomery. Mr. Atkinson's duties as specified at the present time will be to travel over the state of Alabama and check up the local boards.

This appointment is in no way a political movement. The appointment of Mr. Atkinson is owing to his qualifications and to a certain extent a reward of merit.

As chief clerk of the local board of Chilton county, although a minor appointment, Mr. Atkinson, during Chairman Harris' unavoidable absence for nearly four weeks on account of influenza, remained at his work night and day and directed and assisted the board in the admirable manner with which the business of the local board was dispatched.

Frequently loyalty is recognized by those higher up, and, in regard to this appointment, politics cut no ice, it was capability that enabled the subject of this brief sketch to be recognized and promoted. This new work will not end with the war. The State and Federal governments needs such men as J. B. Atkinson, and, as a rule, when they are appointed they are retained.

Mrs. J. B. Atkinson will, it is said, remain in Clanton and assist Chairman Harris in clerical work with which she is so familiar.

CLANTON BOY WRITES FATHER FROM FRANCE

A. E. F. Oct. 17, 1918.

Dear Father: I will answer your kind letter I received a few days ago. I sure was glad to hear from you all. I am well and hope you all are the same.

Sure would like to have been with you all on your trip. I know you had a nice time.

How is Clanton? Dull as ever I suppose.

Yes, you ask me what I am doing. I am still working. Am putting up Barracks now. Haven't been in the trenches any yet. I don't think the war will last very long.

I can't get use to this country. I believe I could sleep all the time. It is the best country for that I have ever seen, and it don't fail to rain. A wooden building would not last very long over here for it is too wet.

No, there is not any boys in my camp that came over with me. They transferred me to another camp and I didn't know any of the boys, but have gotten acquainted with them, and like them fine.

Papa, have you heard from Clarence Davenport since he came over? If you have I wish you would send me his address for I am anxious to hear from him.

Tell Mamma not to worry about me because I am getting along fine. Haven't been on the sick list since I came over and I think that is fine.

Would like to write more, but am in a hurry, so I will close with best wishes.

Your son,
Mech. Tommie Hand,
Div. of C. & F.

DEATH OF PERRY S. EDWARDS

On Wednesday afternoon, October 16th, 1918, Mrs. Perry S. Edwards received a telegram that her husband was seriously ill with pneumonia and on the next day at noon she received another telegram of his death at Camp Hancock, Ga.

Perry was called to the army July 22, 1918, and on August 1st a little baby girl came to brighten his home while he was away and when he would write home he would write how he wanted to see his baby, and as he could not come to see it, his wife carried it to see him just two weeks before his death, and as they quarantined the camp while she was there she had to come home with the intention of going back to stay until he would have to leave to go over.

Perry was loved by all who knew him and he will be missed in his home. He was a devoted husband and besides his wife and baby, he leaves a father, mother, two brothers, James A. Edwards of Woodlawn, and Ernest C. Edwards now in France, two sisters, Mrs. Lelia Carter of Woodlawn, and Miss Tula Edwards at home, and a host of relatives and friends to mourn his loss.

He would have been 24 years old on Oct 27th. He was brought home October 20th and his remains were laid to rest at Isabella cemetery on Monday, October 21st, Rev. Gable of Clanton conducting the funeral service.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM A BOY "OVER THERE"

A. E. F., Sept. 29, 1918.

Dear Father and Mother: I will write a few lines to let you all hear from me. This leaves me well and hoping it will find you all well and enjoying life fine.

I sure would like to have been there to have gone to meeting with you all. Tell papa I said not to kill too many rabbits this fall; save some for me when I get back home.

Tell Lonzy and Atrice I got their letters too. I sure would like to be back to play ball with them.

Well, as I don't know nothing to write only that I am well, will close for this time. Answer soon and tell me all the news, as ever.

A SOLDIER PRAISES THE RED CROSS WORK

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space in your paper for a few lines. There is plenty of the Spanish Influenza here in the Camp, but we have a doctor that is able to handle it. I am in bed with the "Flu" now, but will be out in a day or two. There is some very good Red Cross nurses here and they and the doctor together soon get the boys up. The Red Cross is doing a great work for the country but at that some people will kick. I've never heard any one kick that has a son in the service. I pity those that do kick, for they haven't got sense enough to know what the Red Cross is; they don't even know whether they are human beings or not. I say it is a very noble work; it's also a christian work.

Well I will have to close for this time.

CREELING

Mr. Hughes characterized as "false" the statements on progress of production of airplanes given out last February through the Committee on Public Information, with the evident intention of creating in the minds of the people a misplaced confidence in their officials at Washington. In other words the very committee charged with the duty of separating war truth from war fiction handed out to the press just plain lies for the people to feed upon. The President was cognizant of those statements when they were issued, or, if not, he should have been for they involved the very question that was uppermost in the public mind. How does this method of publicity differ from that pursued toward the German people by the Kaiser and his lieutenants?

PRETTY LATE

The repeated attempts that have been made by Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington and others to permit army officers to purchase uniforms at cost price from the quartermaster stores have at last borne fruit. It is announced by the War Department that on and after December 1st both ready-to-wear uniforms and cloth for made-to-order uniforms may be obtained by officers from seven of the principal quartermaster depots. The privilege will be extended to other points as soon as the cloth becomes available. Senator Jones has had called to his attention many cases of gross profiteering at the expense of officers, who have been required heretofore to equip themselves from private manufacturers. The new order of things will be hailed by them as a great relief.

DISCOVERING THINGS

The Tariff Commission has at last discovered that Japan has superseded Germany to a large degree in the manufacture of surgical instruments for sale in the American market. Now won't it be kind enough to discover that blades for American razors are being made in Japan and that textiles for American wear are being made in Japan from American cotton, and that a multitude of other commodities that should be made in the United States for American use are being made by the crafty Japs. We have no prejudice against the Japs but we confess to a mighty strong prejudice in favor of Americans—a prejudice not shared by the political party that threw down the bars that protected the American workman from the destructive competition of cheap labor abroad. We wish Japan and her people success and prosperity, but we wish these things for our own people first, and to that end we propose a restoration of the protective tariff that will result in the manufacture of surgical instruments, razor blades, scissors, knives, cotton goods, and all sorts of other manufactured commodities here in America by well-paid, well-fed, well-housed, and well-clothed workmen. We do not believe in the removal of economic barriers by this country acting alone or in conjunction with any or all other nations. We believe in maintaining the American standard, the highest in the world, and we hope all other nations will come to that standard. Until they do, we believe that the United States should maintain its protective tariff either with or without the consent of any other nation on earth. And we wish the dallying Tariff Commission would hurry up a few more discoveries that would help the cause along. The facts are plain to the vision of any man who is not wearing the smoked glasses of partisan prejudice. A little frank acknowledgement is all that is needed.

GOOD SPORTS—NOT TIN SPORTS

It is almost irreligious to compare Christmas giving with barroom treating. But in one of its forms the institution hardly reaches a higher plane.

Smith treats Jones because he has met him on the sidewalk and wants to show that he feels friendly. Neither of them wants a drink.

Jones buys back to show he isn't a tightwad. Then Smith buys to show that he didn't buy the first drink just to get one in return. So Jones buys to reciprocate.

Brown walks in, and, being a regular, he has met Smith there before. So he buys for the crowd; and then each of the other two buys. Reciprocity again. And then it's Brown's turn.

This isn't a lecture on prohibition, but on expenditure. The flood of chemical fluid that Smith, Jones and Brown pour into themselves may not hurt them, but it wastes their money and gives them no fun. They all know they don't want it, but they spend to show they aren't tightwads.

Christmas presents given for the same purpose are a desecration of the institution. The motive is a selfish one to start.

Let us give to impart pleasure. The U. S. government is our warrant for it.

A world-war may dethrone kings, but it cannot dethrone the King of kings. Dynasties are for an epoch, but the doctrine and spirit of Christmas are for eternity, and the government has not planned to abolish the indestructible.

It has merely told us to buy what the other fellow needs. He can't feel insulted if we give him an order on a local drygoods store for a new hat—he can easily get even by insulting us with an order for a pair of shoes. And we can all benefit good old Clanton by buying right here in town.

Keep the old place going. Clanton boys will come back before long, and they won't want to see strange names over any of the stores. Show them that we all did business at the old stands while they went to insure the safety of our homes.

And do your buying now. Don't let us have any overworked store clerks in Clanton during the greatest of all festivals.

RESULTS OF THE ELECTION ON NOVEMBER FIFTH

AIR PLANES WILL LAND AT CLANTON

Mayor John W. Stanfield informs The Union-Banner that arrangements have been completed and that Clanton will hereafter be recognized as a place for air planes to land. This is a pleasing termination for what seemed a hard matter to accomplish, but our citizens worked together and arranged the matter.

Many people claim not to be able to build storage houses, or that they may have such a small quantity of potatoes that they do not feel justified in building a house. Quantities from a few to 25 bushels may be stored in the dwelling house, by first carefully packing into small boxes that have been lined with paper, and setting them one on top of the other in the store room. In case of freezing weather, a small oil stove may be used to keep the store room sufficiently warm.

Those desiring further information on this subject may write the Department of Horticulture, Auburn, Alabama, for Bulletin 197, which gives the details of storing and curing sweet potatoes.

It seems at this time that Virginia grown Winesap apples will bring $6 a barrel this winter delivered at the shipping point, says G. C. Starcher, of the Alabama Extension Service and Experiment Station. This means that those who purchase these apples at retail in Alabama will have to pay from $9 to $15 a barrel for them, depending on the quantity purchased. At the same time there are thousands of barrels of Winesap apples in Alabama which will be sold at probably $3 a barrel or less simply because our growers have not learned the secret of up-to-date methods of spraying, harvesting and storing their apple crop.

Watch the label on your paper. We have signed a pledge with the War Industries Board to discontinue your paper when the time is out, in order to conserve all the white paper we possibly can, and if you fail to get your Union-Banner, you may know the reason. We hate to do this, but as you know, it is a war measure, and we shall do as Uncle Sam says do.

Time Brings Happiness With The Dawn

The Coming of Baby Marks the Advent of a Glorious Future.

Scientists say great stress should be laid upon the remarkable influence which the mother's happy pre-natal disposition has upon the health and future of the generations to come.

There is a splendid preparation women for over half a century have applied before the stork's arrival, known as Mother's Friend. This is a most grateful, penetrating remedy that at once softens and soothes the myriad of broad, flat abdominal muscles under the skin of the abdomen. By its regular use during the period the nerves, tendons and cords are relaxed and there is an absence of nausea, bearing-down pains, strain and general discomfort more often than otherwise experienced when nature is unaided.

By the use of Mother's Friend night and morning the muscles relax with ease when baby comes, the time at the crisis is shorter and pain and danger is naturally avoided. Write the Bradford Regulator Company, Dept. E, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist by all means, and get into condition to meet the crisis.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

There will be two special services held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday. Dr. Ernest Maye, the pastor, will preach at both hours. Subject at 11 a.m. will be: What the church of the future must be in order to meet the demands. 7 p.m. subject will be: Stretch Forth thy Hand.

Only two more Sundays before the conference meets in Mobile. Everybody in Clanton should come and hear Dr. Maye before he leaves for Conference.

MT. NEBO

November 17th will be Rally Day at Mt. Nebo church. Sermon will be preached by Dr. Ernest Maye. Good friends from Clanton and other places will be present at this service. Special music will be furnished by Sam Henley's choir. Short talks by visiting friends will be much enjoyed by all.

Be on hand at 2 P. M. Sunday and make this occasion Mt. Nebo's "Banner Day."

WEAK BACKS MADE STRONG BY TAKING VIN HEPATICA.

You so often get weak in the back, listless and all rundown this time of year. Ten to one it is because your kidneys are not working right. They are the filtering plant of your body. And when they get out of fix, you're out of fix.

What you want to do and do at once, is to come in and get a bottle of Vin Hepatica for thoroughly cleansing out your kidneys, stomach, liver and bowels. It goes at once to the seat of the trouble, tones you up, strengthens your back, and makes you feel like a new person.—Upchurch Drug Company.

Ugly, Unsightly Pimples Are Signals of Bad Blood

Give Heed to the Warning.

Pimples on the face and other parts of the body are warnings from Nature that your blood is sluggish and impoverished. Sometimes they foretell eczema, boils, blisters, scaly eruptions and other skin disorders that burn like flames of fire.

They mean that your blood needs S. S. S. to purify it and cleanse it of these impure accumulations that can cause unlimited trouble. This remedy is the greatest vegetable blood purifier known, and contains no minerals or chemicals to injure the most delicate skin.

Go to your drugstore, and get a bottle of S. S. S. today, and get rid of those unsightly and disfiguring pimples, and other skin irritations. And it will cleanse your blood thoroughly. If you wish special medical advice, you can obtain it without charge by writing to Medical Director, 29 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.

UNITED WAR WORK CAMPAIGN TO RAISE $170,500,000 FOR BOYS OVER THERE

AND IN FIGHTING AREAS WILL STIR THE SOUTHEAST WEEK OF NOVEMBER 11.

According to the statement issued by Dr. John R. Mott, Director General of the United War Work Campaign, the total amount to be raised during the week of November 11th is $170,500,000, fixed by the War Department, approved by the President.

The fund will be administered by the Government Director for the seven recognized War Work Agencies, the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., National Catholic War Work Council (Knights of Columbus), Jewish Welfare Board, War Camp Community Service, American Library Association and the Salvation Army.

"The amount is the largest ever asked as a gift from any people in the history of the world," said Dr. Mott. "Viewed as a total sum, it seems gigantic, but divided by the four million men who will be under arms in our army and navy during the period it is expected to cover, you find that it means less than 15 cents a day per man. Surely there is no Father or Mother or friend of a soldier in this country who will say that 15 cents a day is too much to spend on his church, his home over there, his library, his theatre and his club. The President summed up the whole appeal in a recent letter in which he spoke of the work of these seven great agencies as 'of vital military importance.' He had in mind the fact that their activities are largely responsible for the maintenance of the splendid morale of our forces. There has never been in history so spectacular an example of the extreme importance of morale as is now being presented on the Western front. The forces that confront each other there are not widely dissimilar in numbers or equipment, yet one army is constantly withdrawing and the other irresistibly moving forward—the difference is spelled in the single word, MORALE."

"Napoleon said that 'morale' is as other factors in war as three to one! General Pershing, in a recent letter, commenting on the work of the agencies, quoted with approval the statement of one of his colonels, who said: 'Give me nine men who have a hut to spend their evenings in and I will have a better fighting force than ten men would be without it!'"

If it is worth $24,000,000,000 to keep our boys under arms next year, surely it is worth $170,000,000, and more, to add 10% to their fighting if it brings victory 10% nearer. This is the appeal of the seven United War Work agencies to America, and particularly to those four million homes where service flags fly, and we know what America's answer will be."

Mississippi Woman Serves Fighting Men As Y. W. C. A. Worker

KATY BOYD GEORGE.

She is rather wee and very winning. Her eyes repeat the blue on her Y. W. C. A. uniform that carries the insignia of her service. Her hair, grey for all the shortness of her span of years, frames a face worn, not thin, but fine with a suffering that is more than merely vicarious.

She has lived in the shadows, has stood by while the thorns were pressed down above tortured eyes, has held the hands of those who knelt in their Gethsemane. In a very literal and unrestricted sense, "She hath done what she could" for those who overseas endure what we, sheltered and safe, read about. She is to tell her story in all cities of our Southeastern Department as a National speaker for the Y. W. C. A. during the United War Work Campaign to raise $250,000,000 during the week of November 11.

At the recent United War Work Convention in Jackson, she was wanted for a speech in the main convention hall while she was busy with committee work elsewhere. Several efforts were made to find her, the program lagged. Presently Gypsy Smith was missed out of a front seat; soon after he returned leading her up the aisle. At the foot of the rostrum he gathered up with a sweeping gesture R. H. King, J. M. Clinton, Capt. George S. Dingle and O. W. Buschgen. As the audience rose to its feet at sight of "Our Katie" the five men, like prankish school boys, made a crescent background for the one small woman, while from five throats—bass, tenor and baritone—rolled the lilting strains of "Katie."

To Katie Boyd George Mississippi women owe the fact that today the Campaign, November 11-18, to raise $170,500,000.

Father Horton was right up with the vanguard of the on-rushing Americans and, after the Germans had been cleaned out of their cellars and machine gun ambushes, the old Cure, who had emerged from some unknown hiding place, insisted on holding service in St. Crepin's chapel to celebrate the liberation of the city.

There were no vestments, no candles, no sacred vessels. But Father Horton rode a motorcycle back to the headquarters of the Knights of Columbus, secured the supplies needed by the Cure and rushed them back by automobile.

The services were held and no more fervent Te Deums ever were uttered than those that went up from that little shell-wrecked chapel in devastated, but liberated, Chateau Thierry.

 EVANGELINE BOOTH, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States, who is now devoting all her time to the United War Work Campaign, November 11-18.
 *****

As the head of the Salvation Army of the United States, Evangeline Booth is finding many duties in connection with the United War Work Drive, which is to be staged November 11-18, the Salvation Army being one of the seven organizations in the drive.

The workers of the Salvation Army are active at home and abroad and, under the general direction of Miss Booth, they are mending clothes, urging soldiers to write home, providing innocent games, music and other wholesome forms of amusement in the huts, and are doing their work with a true Christian spirit.

Serving the allies on the western front the Salvation Army is maintaining 410 huts, hostels and rest rooms. The Salvation Army entered upon its work as an international organization within 14 days after Germany invaded Belgium.

FROM THE FIRING LINE

Cecil E. Alexander Writes His Mother an Interesting Letter of Events as they Occur on the Front.

Somewhere in France, Oct. 24, 1918.

Dear Mother:

It has been quite a while since you have had a letter from me, but you have no idea how many difficulties are thrown in the way of letter writing, especially for an ammunition officer. For over a month now I have been working day and night.

As soon as we left the St. Michel sector, where we drove the Germans back, we began a long hike which lasted five days, after which we went right into line on one of the most active points on the whole front. It rained for two weeks and the roads are in a terrible condition. My duties require my constant supervision. The supply of ammunition is one of the most important factors achieving success, it requires night and day work on a sector like this. At present this is said to be one of the most active places on the entire French front. Last night was the first night that I have slept more than two hours in five nights, also this morning is the first time I have had time to wash my face in a week. I have had a time with my ammunition trucks in the mud. My six mule teams hitched to light wagons have great difficulty in getting through the mud to the battery positions. I am now using 40 trucks each day and 27 mule-drawn wagons for the supply of ammunition. Some days we use over 200 tons of ammunition and my job is regarded as the most responsible in the regiment. As yet there are no railroads this far ahead.

I am now seated in a German dug-out writing by candle light and on the outside not a few yards away are the bodies of 34 dead Germans lying where they fell as the result of the intense fire from our regiment as we advanced. There is not a tree here as large as a man's arm that has not been struck by shell fragments many times and shell holes are innumerable.

We are slowly beating the Germans back but we are paying an awful price. Even now I can hear the roar of an immense artillery fire which is preparing the way for another advance of our boys. The sound of a cannon shell gives a fellow an uneasy feeling and the bravest cannot help ducking occasionally, we frequently jump into a shell hole to escape a shell. I am precautionous, but in no way will I shirk my duty.

I will close as I must go out and get busy.

Your son,
 CECIL E. ALEXANDER.

UNITED WAR WORK DRIVE STAGED AT WILSON'S REQUEST

(By L. Porter Moore.)

It is at President Wilson's express request that the seven great war work agencies are consolidating their efforts in the United War Work Campaign of November 11-18 to raise $170,500,000 to be used in continuing the activities of these organizations.

In a letter to Raymond D. Fosdick, chairman of the Commission on Training Camp Activities, the president indicated his desire that the seven organizations combine their campaigns and thus secure the greatest possible degree of co-operation.

"It is my judgment," said the president, "that we shall secure the best results in the matter of support of these agencies, if the seven societies will unite their forthcoming appeals for funds, in order that the spirit of the country in this matter may be expressed without distinction of race or religious opinion in support of what is really a common service."

"At the same time I would be obliged if you would convey to them from me a very warm expression of the government's appreciation of the splendid service they have rendered in ministering to the troops at home and overseas in their leisure time."

The $170,500,000 budgets realized from the coming campaign will be apportioned as follows:

Y. M. C. A., $100,000,000; Y. W. C. A., $15,000,000; Knights of Columbus, $30,000,000; Jewish Welfare Board, $3,500,000; American Library Association, $3,500,000; War Community Service, $15,000,000; Salvation Army, $2,500,000.

RAINBOW DIVISION COLONEL COMMENDS Y. M. C. A. WORK

Colonel Screws Says Alabama Residents Are Appreciative Of Red Triangle Service To Soldiers There

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. — "In my opinion there is nothing that the Y. M. C. A. can ask of the people of Alabama which they would not give if they only knew half of the excellent work being done by your organization," writes Col. William P. Screws, Commander 167th Infantry (Old 4th Alabama), in a letter to Borden Burr, who recently returned from France, where he was engaged in War Work for the Young Men's Christian Association. Leaving out expressions of personal praise, at the request of Mr. Burr, Colonel Screws' letter is as follows:

"On behalf of the officers and enlisted men of the 167th Infantry (formerly the Fourth Alabama Infantry), I wish to thank you for the excellent and valuable work that you have done with us, and with other American troops, since your arrival in France."

"In my opinion too much praise cannot be given the Y. M. C. A. for the excellent work they have done and are now doing for our men over here. As you know, from personal observation since you have been with us, the 'Y' workers are present in time of need and get some of the luxuries of life to the men that they would not otherwise get."

"As the commanding officer of the regiment, I wish to thank you personally for your excellent efforts and your many deeds of valor and kindness shown all through our hard campaigns, in which you were present with us from first to last."

Alabama residents are to be given an opportunity to give during the week of November 11, when $170,500,000 will be raised to continue another year the work of the Y. M. C. A. and other welfare work agencies.

"Of Vital Military Value"

Says the Commander-in-Chief

THE President has expressed what is in every American heart. As a nation we are united in the winning of this war. As a nation we stand behind our fighters eager and prepared to do for them whatever will hasten victory and make the fighter's task a little lighter.

As individuals there is little we can do. As a nation we can work wonders through the seven organizations authorized and recognized by the Government.

They come to you not as Catholics, nor as Jews nor as Protestants, not as the representatives of any creed or enterprise, but as Americans to ask that you join in this great united undertaking for God, and country and our fighters.

The President has voiced his belief that this spirit of unity will be "crowned with abundant success."

He believes it because he knows this campaign is "of vital military value" and he knows that you will leave nothing undone to win this war.

It rests with you. Think of this campaign as your sole responsibility. What you give will mean its success. You cannot leave this undertaking to others. It is YOUR campaign. In France, Americans are fighting this war as if the result depended on the way each individual fights. At home, this campaign rests with you. What will you give—decide to night—and make your share the biggest thing you ever did!

Why you should give twice as much as you ever gave before!

The need is for a sum 70% greater than any gift ever asked for since the world began. The Government has fixed this sum at $170,500,000.

By giving to these seven organizations all at once, the cost and effort of six additional campaigns is saved. Unless Americans do give twice as much as ever before, our soldiers and sailors may not enjoy during 1919 their:

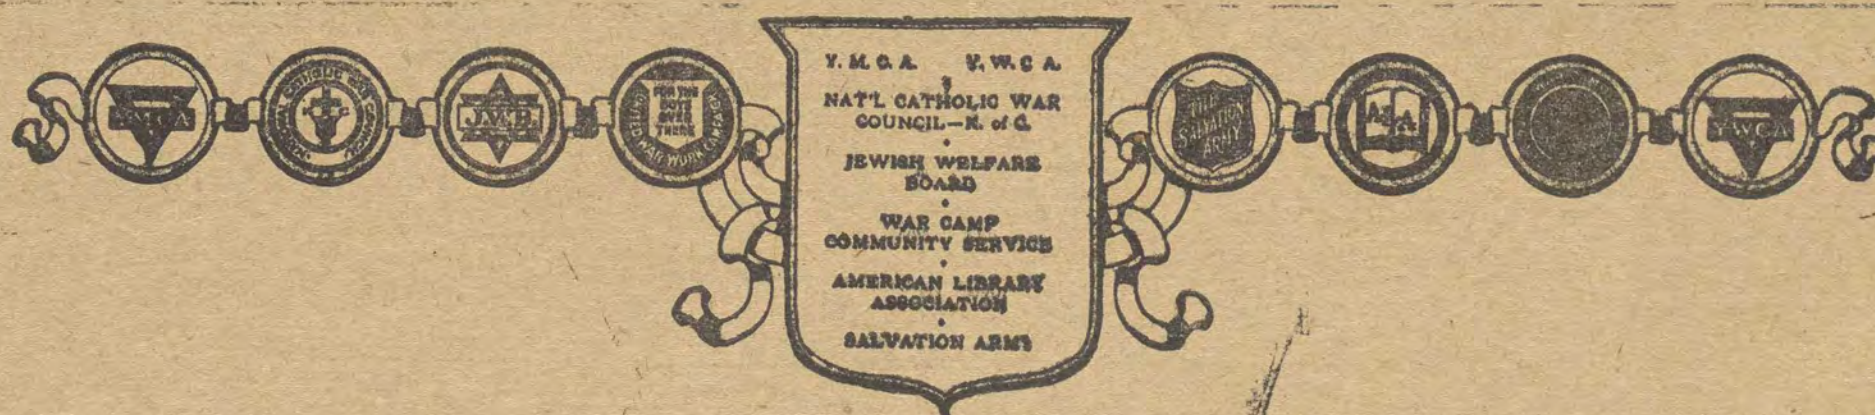

3600 Recreation Buildings	2500 Libraries supplying 5,000,000 books
1000 Miles of Movie Film	85 Hostess Houses
100 Leading Stage Stars	15,000 Big-brother "secretaries"
2000 Athletic Directors	Millions of dollars of home comforts.

When you give double, you make sure that every fighter has the cheer and comforts of these seven organizations every step of the way from home to the front and back again. You provide him with a church, a theatre, a cheerful home, a store, a school, a club and an athletic field—and a knowledge that the folks back home are with him, heart and soul!

You have loaned your money to supply their physical needs.

Now give to maintain the Morale that is winning the war!

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Barton received recently a letter from their Boy in France. The letter explains just how the Soldiers spend their time:

Some where in France,
October, 1st, 1918

Dear Father and Mother:

I will write just a few lines to let you know how we are getting on in France; I am feeling fine this beautiful morning. We have had preaching and we all attended.

We have a fine chaplain and a christian man and the boys all like him. I am in good health and spirits and feeling first class. Of course I am home sick at times and would love to see all the home folks.

These good people over here surley do like the boys from America. They are all just as good and kind to us as they can be; we are not learning to speak French as fast as they are English; The French language is very difficult to learn because you have to say so many words to make one. They say we speak too fast, but gosh they say three words to our one. I see several boys here from old Chilton county over here; I met Jim Driver from Cooper.

Well, I must close for this time. Write a good long letter to your loving son.

PREVENT SMUT IN WHEAT AND OATS WITH FORMALIN

By Dr. G. L. Peitler, Pathologist Alabama Extension Service and Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

All the farmers in the state who have grown any of the grains, are familiar with smut. It is easily recognized by the black masses of powder where the grains should be on ears as in the case of corn. There are as many kinds of smuts as there are kinds of grain. These can be grouped in two general classes: the loose smut which appears early and destroys the entire head, leaving a mass of smut spores; and the covered smuts which develop on the inside of the grain and not noticed until the grain is almost ripe.

In Alabama we have to deal principally with the loose and covered smut of oats, the loose and stinking smut of wheat, the stem smut of rye, the head smuts of sorghums and the common smut of corn.

The loss from smut the past season in Alabama was well over one million dollars. Thus it is of vital importance that measures be taken to wipe out this tremendous loss.

This can be done very readily and at a small cost by treating the seed before planting in a formaldehyde (formalin) solution. The 40 per cent solution of formaldehyde can be obtained very readily at any drug store.

The smuts of oats and rye can be controlled by following closely the methods outlined below.

With a sprinkling can, sprinkle seed until thoroughly moist with a solution of one pint of formaldehyde to 40 gallons of water, or use one ounce to two and a half gallons. Forty gallons will treat 60 bushels. Shovel over repeatedly to distribute the solution evenly. Put into a pile and cover for two hours or over night with sacks soaked in the same solution. Dry by spreading in a thin layer and stirring occasionally. Seed may be sown when dry enough to run freely through the drills, sowing one or two pecks more per acre to allow for the swollen condition of the grain. If not to be used for several days dry thoroughly. Disinfect sacks, bins and dry to prevent reinfection.

For the control of stinking smut of wheat a modified treatment is used.

It is imperative that all seed wheat be thoroughly screened and fanned before treatment, as this measure helps in a large way to control other diseases of wheat. Soak seed 10 to 20 minutes in an open tub containing a solution of one pint of formaldehyde to 40 gallons of water, or use one ounce to two and a half gallons. Forty gallons will treat 60 bushels.

Stir vigorously and skim off the refuse and grains rising to the surface.

After treatment drain off the solution, dry immediately and thoroughly, by spreading out the wet seed in a thin layer, stirring occasionally. If seed is sown while still damp, use an extra amount of seed.

Disinfect sacks, bins, and drills to prevent reinfection.

There are several smuts that cannot be controlled by formaldehyde. Of these corn smut is the most common, and loose smut of wheat and barley of which (fortunately) little occurs in this state. However, loose smut of wheat and barley can be avoided, by selecting seed from fields in which loose smut does not occur.

TIME AND METHOD OF HARVESTING SOY BEANS

By E. F. Cauthen, Associate Agronomist Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Soy beans for hay are harvested like cowpeas for hay. When the pods are about half filled or the young beans about half grown, the plants are cut with a mowing machine or grass blade and left in the swath about 48 hours to cure. Then they are raked into windrows and thrown into small cocks to finish curing.

The time to harvest soy beans for seed is when most pods are ripe and about half of the leaves have fallen off. If the pods are left on the plants to get completely ripe, the seed will shatter badly and a large amount will be lost unless they are grazed with hogs.

Where only a patch is planted, the plants can be cut with a hoe, reaphook or grass blade and cured in small piles on a sheet and thrashed with a flail. Where several acres are grown, they can be cut with a self-rake reaper or mower and put into small piles to cure. After they have dried out well, they may be beaten out with a stick, or run through an ordinary grain thrasher, which has its cylinder speeded down to about half of that for grain.

Where the acreage is large, a special bean harvester should be used. One type of machine has revolving arms operating in a box-like frame mounted on wheels and drawn by horses. The machine passes over the row and the revolving arms strike the plants and thrash out the beans, which are caught in the box. A team and two men harvest five or six acres a day. Probably 20 per cent of the beans fall to the ground or are left on the plants. They are gathered by hogs if permitted to have the run of the field.

Beans should be thoroughly dried before they are stored, otherwise they will heat and become unfit for planting or food purposes.

J. A. M. Jacks of Route 2 was in Clanton Wednesday.

BEGINNING OF THE END IS IN SIGHT

Interest continues to grow in Clanton and vicinity over the new discovery, Irogen, which scientists and leading authorities are claiming is revolutionizing the treatment of disease.

It is claimed that Irogen is the agent which supplies Nature with the element which she requires for the regeneration of blood and vital powers. They say that it is now a known fact that every nerve, muscle and vital organ of the human body draws its nourishment, and therefore its strength, from the blood. Thus one's blood is the unfailing barometer of the strength and health of the body.

They advise the public to take no chances, but if the nerves and muscles are not as strong as they should be, if one feels weak, languid, blue and discouraged; or if the food does not digest properly or give natural strength, no time should be lost in supplying the blood with the strengthening element found in Irogen. If this is done, they declare the nerves will gradually become steady and the physical strength and power of endurance and the natural flesh will return, until one looks and feels physically fit.

Warning is given, however, that owing to its well-known flesh-building powers, Irogen should not be taken by anyone who does not desire to add flesh.

Note—Irogen, the product mentioned above, is now on sale in Clanton by the Upchurch Drug Co., in Marbury by the Plateau Drug Co., in Jemison by the Langston Drug Co., and in Verbena by H. T. Williams and by the leading druggist in practically every city, town and village in the state.

HARVESTING AND STORING THE SWEET POTATO CROP

By J. C. C. Price, Associate Horticulturist.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
Potatoes should be allowed to mature in order to produce a maximum yield and to develop high quality. It is also difficult to cure a potato which has not thoroughly matured. If broken and the surface turns white and dries in a few minutes, the crop is ready to dig.

The old custom of waiting until frost kills the vines should not be followed, as it is much harder to keep potatoes when dug after the vines have been killed by frost, and they are also dangerous for food. By referring to the date of the annual killing frost one can readily judge when he should get his potatoes out of the ground. The average killing frost for Alabama is about November 10. This varies according to latitude, however.

When digging one should be careful not to bruise or cut the potatoes, as any bruised or cut places make it more difficult to keep them. It is much easier to dig if the vines are first removed, and this is easiest done by using a six foot McCormick hay rake, letting the mule walk between two rows and cleaning the vines from two rows at a time. A good digging implement should be used. The old method of using scooter plows or small turning plows should be abandoned and a large potato digger with pronged mould board used. If the above digger cannot be obtained one may secure fairly good results by using a good sized middle buster, running deeply under the rows. In dry, hard ground sometimes the digging is made easier by first barring off the rows with a turning plow.

When the potatoes are turned out they should be picked up and placed in layers on the ridges so as to dry, making the soil easier to remove, as often when the ground is wet it clings to them badly. Baskets lined with old sacks should be used when picking up, as when handled in this manner they are not so badly bruised. Careful sorting should be done in the field, all broken or badly bruised potatoes being left behind, and only the good ones taken to the storage house.

If a storage house is used the fire should be started so as to thoroughly dry it and raise the temperature to about 90 degrees with the doors, windows and ventilators open.

Those having more than one variety of potatoes to place in the storage house should put the juicy or Yam type first, as they require more curing. If only one variety is to be stored the bins should be filled uniformly around each day, as those in the bottom of the bin cure more slowly than those on top.

All the time that curing is going on the temperature should be kept up, as stated above, with the doors and windows open. With a little experience it is easy to determine when the potatoes are properly cured. The skin will have a dry, spongy feeling, with the cut or bruised places well calloused. When cured, the temperature should not be lowered immediately but gradually, extending over a period of about two days. If the temperature is lowered immediately and the house closed it will cause a sweating which is liable to start mould or rot. The curing period usually lasts eight or 10 days.

After the potatoes are well cured the temperature is lowered to 50 or 60 degrees, and it should be maintained at this temperature, if possible, throughout the storage period. At no time should the temperature be allowed to drop below 45 degrees, and it is better if kept about 50. The house ought to be visited frequently after the curing period, and if the temperature is too low, raise it by opening the house on a bright, warm day or lighting an oil stove and letting it run for a few hours. The house should be ventilated or opened up at least once a week, that is if the weather permits. On cloudy, cold days it is better to keep the house closed. Open only on bright, sunny days.

cause by the 23rd day of November or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be rendered against her.

Witness my hand this the 23rd day of October, 1918.

The Alabama Anti-Tuberculosis League is placing its only field nurse, Mrs. E. H. Rawlins, in front of the fight against influenza at Athens, where she has been doing excellent service in fostering the anti-tuberculosis movement. The league has issued following letter by courtesy of the press:

To Each Home Infected by Influenza:

Inasmuch as influenza has always been one of the most frequent causes leading toward early tuberculosis, we feel under obligations to warn you, especially at this time, concerning the extremely difficult and trying period of convalescence of the influenza patient. Influenza is a disease that greatly lowers the normal resistance in the human body. At such times the germs of tuberculosis and pneumonia are always present in the throat and nose and are likely to be dangerous because of the weakened condition of the body.

We cannot, therefore, urge upon you too strongly the necessity for remaining at absolute rest, preferably in bed, until strength has been fully recovered. DO NOT ATTEMPT TO GO TO WORK OR TO EXERCISE AS SOON AS FEVER SUBSIDES AND YOU BEGIN TO FEEL COMFORTABLE. This is the most critical period of the entire disease. Influenza itself is not likely to be fatal, but the diseases that follow after it, resulting from your getting out of bed and beginning to exercise too soon, are of the utmost danger. We warn you, therefore, at this particular time to give special attention to convalescence.

We are yours for service,

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught. Relief From Headache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.—Mrs. Chas. Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Theodor's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty regular until the liver acted well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Theodor's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit.

If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Theodor's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Theodor's the original and genuine. 10 70

THE UNION-BANNER

VOLUME VII.

CLANTON, CHILTON COUNTY ALA., NOVEMBER 21, 1918.

NUMBER 34.

RAINBOW DIVISION TO BE DEMOBILIZED FIRST

This Most Famous Division of all Others is Composed of Men from the Southern States—Chilton is well Represented in It.

It has been announced officially that the first troops sent over to France will be the first to return home. The Rainbow Division, to which the 16th Alabama boys were attached, were among the first to reach France and it is hoped that our Chilton county boys will soon be saying to the conductor "please let me off at Clanton," and, on arrival here watch out for a big reception.

With the exception of the first regular division they were the first troops to land in France. And, while order of return will not entirely follow priority of original shipment these two divisions are likely to get back first.

The war department announces that this (Rainbow) Division will be returned by the first of January if possible. Others will follow as soon as the cantonments in this country can be cleared of its present troops so that those across the pond will have a place to stay until they can be mustered out of the service.

According to Baker's interpretation of the present military status, all enlistments will close with the end of war emergency, unless congress sets before that time. Hence, it is believed that the war plans section decisions will be embodied in legislation for congress soon.

Congress will determine in the last analysis how great a standing army the United States should have and whether or not universal military training should be followed now that the war is ended. The regular army establishment, prior to the war, amounted to about 200,000 officers and men.

War department officials believe universal military training should be instituted but they are doubtful about the tone of public opinion and incline to the belief that the public will prefer to settle back to the pre-war status.

GOV. HENDERSON WRITES PRAISING DRAFT BOARD

The Chairman of the local board of Chilton county received the following from Governor Henderson: Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 12, 1918. To the Local Board:

The Selective Service Draft law in this country was practically a new experience. It was the only way to efficiently mobilize an army. To make it effective it was necessary for the different State governments to assume responsibility and give directions. This could not be done without the whole hearted co-operation of its citizenship, and especially those charged with the duties of putting into execution. You were drafted for this work. Without complaint you have carried forward to a successful termination the most delicate part of the machinery of building the army. To you is the gratitude of your community, your State and your Nation for the efficient manner in which you have executed all orders and discharged the duties many times unpleasant and heart rending. The end of your work is in sight. The fruition of your labors has been highly pleasing to Alabama. The magnificent results achieved of which you have played so important a part, accept my congratulations.

The victory is clean cut and America's honor has been maintained. CHARLES HENDERSON, Governor.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

On last Sunday we had no church services for the sixth time since the fifth Sunday in September. The pastor was sent away by the Speakers Committee to aid in the War Work Drive and assisted in collecting $450 for the general benevolence fund. It is hoped and expected that this district will go over the top and beyond as usual.

As the ban has now been removed from the construction of new buildings costing $20,000 or under we are ready to once more take up our plans and progress toward our new house of worship.

Messrs. Ulrich and Bull, Y. M. C. A. men, with their quartets from Camp Sheridan, were the means of giving much pleasure to many communities in our district and created much enthusiasm for the welfare of the boys.

Mrs. J. M. Robinson has been quite ill for several weeks but is now much better and able to be out.

Mrs. J. E. Robinson, next to the pastorage, had quite a set back which might have proved fatal after her partial recovery from influenza.

The pastor's subject on next Sunday will be, in the morning "The Higher Call" and at night "Progress toward Peace."

A large percentage of teachers were present at Sunday school last Sunday morning, which was also true of pupils. Regularity in teachers develops the same in pupils to a noticeable degree.

MARSHAL FOCH CONGRATULATES ARMIES IN SAVING LIBERTY OF THE WORLD.

Paris, Nov. 16—Marshal Foch has addressed the following message to the allied armies:

INTERESTING LETTER FROM EMMETT MCKEE IN FRANCE

The following letter was written by Emmett McKee, a Clanton boy, to his sister here and was received yesterday:

Somewhere in France, Oct. 14, 1918. Mrs. H. M. Roper, Clanton, Ala.

My Dear Sister and Family: Will answer your sweet letter that I received several days ago. Was more than glad to get it, for if there is anything over here better than mail from home, show it to me.

Well dear, if you could just see me now. I am sitting in a little hole that we dug about 4x5 and about 4 feet deep, and is covered with poles, leaves, dirt and several other things to keep the light from shining out, and I am using my gas mask for a writing table. I am leaning back against the cold earth and my gas mask on my lap. So you see how it is to write and the candle is not burning the very best.

My friend has just arrived and I got his gas mask and it improves my table a little bit.

Well dear, on the other drive I was in I captured myself a Boch motorcycle and I am riding it every day. So you see I am having a little fun after all, and I have several other things which I captured from the Germans. Of course I would give them a sack of Bull Durham for the stuff I captured from them just to show them what kind of a soldier Uncle Sam has.

Well, I am now smoking a good old Lucky Strike cigarette and chewing good Beech Nut chewing gum, which we don't get but once in awhile.

Well dear, I guess you all have heard about the fighting marines. They are good fighters, but if Uncle Sam has any that will be at this 42nd Division he has not brought them across yet. Even the Boch have learned to dread the 42nd. We have captured several prisoners that have said that there were only three divisions that they hated, and that they were the 42nd Division, the Rainbow and Alabama Divisions. So you see we are advertised.

Well sister, we have a good Y. M. C. A. here, and it is very good for us boys. Say, by the way, Chaplain J. O. Williams, who is with the 32nd Division, came over to see me the other day. I was sure glad to see him. He is as fine as ever, and he has got his hands full, and which I know he will take it easy and do the best he can. I would give anything to have him in this Regiment. Of course we have a chaplain but there isn't many that are made of the goods that he is.

Well dear, I see Guy Roberts and Red Reynolds every day. Am in the same company with them; and I am in the same platoon of cars that they are. Good many boys from Chilton county, but they are in other companies. We Clanton boys get together some times and believe me, we build castles in the air. Sergeant Stoughton Bice, Red Reynolds, Guy Roberts and myself and a few more of our friends get together some times and raise a little bit of sand. We land in a little French village sometimes and buy them out of veno-booze, which the French drink instead of water. It will not make you drunk but still it's got a kick to it. Just think, the Frenchman gets his wine give to him and the poor American, if he drinks wine, has to buy it, and believe me when we strike a town with it it don't last long. Of course you might think that the boys get drunk, but when you see one drunk you can just say that his best girl has got married or some fellow who has just come out of the mud trenches and has got to go back soon.

Well, darling sister, I will close for this time. Hope this will reach you safe and the answer will find me all o. k. Don't worry about me for I think I will be home soon. Kiss the kids for me and give my friends my love. As ever, your brother, EMMETT.

H. D. G., 167th U. S. Inftry. A. E. F.

RED CROSS NOTICE

The time for sending Christmas boxes to the boys in France has been extended to the 30th of November as so few people have received labels. A number of extra labels are being sent this chapter so that anyone who will fix a box for a boy who will not otherwise get one may do so. Please help out in this. Let no boy be neglected. Present your abels as quickly as possible to prevent a rush at the last moment.

AMERICAN RAILWAYS EXPRESS TAKEN OVER

Washington, Nov. 18.—Director General McAdoo added approximately 60,000 employees to his payroll at noon today.

At that hour he formally took control of the American Railways Express company, which represents the equipment and organization of the four chief companies.

A LETTER FROM COUNTY FOOD ADMINISTRATOR

Merchants selling flour are not required to sell cereals with it, but the hoarding of flour is still prohibited, and no one must have an unreasonable amount on hand at any one time.

Profiteering is still prohibited and any one who sells beef or pork must only make a reasonable profit. All violating the above law, when found out, will be prosecuted. All Beat Food Administrators are requested to report any violation.

After December 1st merchants can sell four pounds of sugar per person per month, but merchants are required to make reports to me just as they have been doing.

From October 15 to December 7, licensees are refrained from buying hen turkeys weighing less than eight pounds and young toms weighing less than twelve pounds, live weight.

L. H. REYNOLDS, County Food Administrator.

INSTRUCTOR ACCEPTS LANDING FIELD HERE

Station To Be Built for Aviators to Secure Gasoline and will be Made A Permanent Landing Field.—Citizens of Clanton should be Congratulated.

The Inspector for the purpose of locating a landing place for air planes came up to Clanton from Taylor Field, which is located near Montgomery, and went out to a place selected and offered by the citizens of Clanton, and accepted the same. This landing place is three miles north of Clanton being on the J. Wiley Foshee place. The Inspector was pleased with the location. A tank is to be placed there and oil kept on hand so that aviators can stop when necessary for supplies. This location will be relied on by flyers between Montgomery and Birmingham, and in fact, ere soon the landing place will be generally known all over the country, as it appears now that airplanes will in the near future be frequently used as a means of travel.

WEST CHILTON

The great war being over, some of our people gathered at the Waldrup school house last Sunday afternoon for a singing in the Harp and Harmony, which was a fitting act at the opening of the new era of the world's history.

Some of our boys are coming back from Camp Pike. Nothing is too good for the soldier boys.

We are all proud of our great political leaders—Roosevelt, Taft and Hughes, who have stood nobly by our honored President.

We are all expecting great things of our new county officers. They are all worthy and we feel sure they will make good.

The new Congress will stand by the president and work for progress and prosperity.

Apparently the nations are being tried or judged, and we are all proud of America; her noble and unselfish principles make her the beacon light of the nations. We think of Dr. Dwight, a professor in Yale College long ago, his predictions seem almost prophecy, of America he said: Her heroes the right of mankind shall defend, And triumph pursue them and glory attend.

Thy reign is the last and noblest of time. Most faithful thy sail, most inviting thy clime.

Perfumes as of Eden flowed sweetly along, A voice as of angles enchantingly sung, Columbia, Columbia, to glory arise, The Queen of the world and child of the skies.

As the great conflict is passed, as individuals the wise thing to do is to develop a worthy and good character. Character is what we are, not reputation. Character will stand, so let us make it good.

We are all proud of our great common people who have been so true in the great crisis.

HOG SALE AT PRATTVILLE RECENTLY A SUCCESS

The recent sale of hogs at Prattville for the improvement of swine in this section of the South was attended by men engaged in hog raising from Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama Florida and Arkansas.

Some big prices were realized for the Hampshires and another sale will occur again on the 16th day of January.

The first big pig put on sale was named the "Red Cross" pig the proceeds of the sale to be given to the local Red Cross ladies. This pig brought a big price and was bought in by the Prattville Stock Farm Co. The next high priced porker was bid off by Mr. J. A. Wadsworth at $460, the next one was purchased by Mr. E. A. Sanders of Georgia for $335. Twenty-three sows were sold which averaged over $150 each.

Mr. Wadsworth was offered as high as $100 each for the pigs when they weighed 100 pounds.

NAVY MEN NOW MAY ASK FOR DISCHARGE

Washington, Nov. 18.—Navy men—regulars and reserves—can now apply for discharge from the navy, Secretary Daniels declared today.

For the present men with urgent business calls, or a desire to return to school, will have the preference in discharges.

Daniels did not indicate whether he has raised the limit set a few days ago of the discharge of 50,000 men within the next month or two.

POSTMASTER EXAMINATION

At the request of the Postmaster General the United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to be held at Montgomery, Ala., on Dec. 11, 1918, for the position of postmaster at Clanton, Ala. This office has an annual compensation of $1700.

To be eligible for this examination an applicant must be a citizen of the United States, must actually reside within the delivery of the office and have so resided at the time the present vacancy occurred.

Applicants must have reached their twenty-first but not their sixty-fifth birthday on the date of the examination.

Application Form 304 and full information concerning the requirements of the examination may be secured from the postmaster at the place of vacancy or from the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. Applications should be properly executed and filed with the Commission at Washington, D. C., in time to arrange for the examination of the applicant.

ANOTHER BIG WHISKY CAPTURE LAST FRIDAY

While Deputy Gillespie and James Grant are Destroying Large Still 20 Miles Northeast of Clanton, Sheriff Harris Bags Two men in Eastern part of County.

Sheriff H. A. Harris, Deputy W. H. Gillespie and Deputy James Grant "got busy" on Friday and pulled off two big whisky stunts in Chilton county.

Deputy W. H. Gillespie and James Grant went 20 miles Northeast of Clanton and traced by use of a way built to an out building near a private home an illicit still complete and running when the officers arrived. A large lot of whiskey was on hand ready for shipment to Birmingham. The officers turned loose on the ground over 500 gallons of beer ready to be distilled. They destroyed all other stuff found in the building except the still which they brought into Clanton with four prisoners named A. C. Thrasher and son, Jacob Urig and Clayton Love. These men were released on bond.

While the Deputies were busy on their job Sheriff Harris and a special man went 8 miles from Clanton and bagged Dempsey Thomas and Moses Giles. These two men had quite a lot of whiskey on hand which the Sheriff confiscated and arrested the violators.

IN MEMORY

On Sunday night, Nov. 10th, at 9:50 o'clock the death angel visited the home of Mr. D. H. Gentry and took from him his loving mother, Mrs. Elvira Thacker.

She was sick only a few days, but in his wisdom saw fit to call her home. She had been afflicted for 25 years. She was born Aug. 28, 1837, and was 81 years 2 months and 13 days of age at the time of her death.

Mrs. Thacker will be greatly missed by all who knew her, because to know her was to love her. New Salem church has lost one of its oldest and most highly respected christian members. She joined the Baptist church at an early age and lived a faithful, consistent member until her death. As a mother she was always faithful, true, kind and obedient to all of her children.

Weep not, dear ones, we know it is hard to give her up, but the Lord knoweth best. Remember the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh. If we will all live and do as Mrs. Thacker did we will meet her in the golden shore where there will be no more death, sickness, sorrow nor pain, but where there will be joy and happiness for evermore.

She leaves to mourn her loss seven children, four girls and 3 boys, also twenty-nine grandchildren besides her many friends which are too numerous to mention.

Her remains were laid to rest in New Salem cemetery on Tuesday, Nov. 12, Rev. A. L. Foshee conducting the funeral services.

Her grand daughter, DELEYNE PIERCE.

RALLY DAY AT THE FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

This being the last in the Conference year, Dr. Ernest C. Maye, the pastor, earnestly requests every member of this church to come, and to bring a friend with you. This faithful pastor wants to tell you about the work of the past year. Everybody be on hand and help to make it a real good "Rally Day." The Dr. requests us to say that he wants to talk "Love" to the people of Clanton and hopes to be greeted with a fine congregation at both 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Want you come and give your part and get your part? If you are absent the preacher and the people will both lose something.

This is our "Rally Day." Come and Rally to the cause of Christ.

LONDON PAPERS COMMENT ON REPUBLICAN GAINS

London, Nov. 7.—In the absence of definite information regarding the final results of the election in the United States the newspapers are withholding comment. The Daily Express, however, says:

"The victories of the Republican party show that the American people are not only ready to follow Wilson, but anxious to get in front of him. America is for victory unqualified and complete. America is determined to see the end, once and for all, of prussian militarism."

YES!—WE WILL NOT!

We've sent our sons to fight the Huns, We've dug our dollars out; We've been pro-war, without a jar; We've rallied without a shout! We've done our bit, but that's not it, We must yield all to him; Give up our right without a fight, And grant his every whim! This can not be a Dem-o-cra-cy, It surely is not that; Directs our vote, right in his note—It smacks of Au-to-crat!

A LETTER FROM THOS. M. POWELL

A. E. F., Oct. 25, 1918. Mr. A. J. Powell, Clanton, Ala., Dear Father:

I will write you all a few lines to let you hear from me. I am all o. k. and hope you all are the same.

Well, I haven't heard from you all yet, but thought I would keep writing. Tell Cleve if he goes to the river duck hunting to think of what a time we had last Christmas.

As I am in a hurry had better close for this time hoping to hear from you all soon. Tell all the folks hello for me and to do good until I come home and I will do the same, so good-by.

Your son, THOS. M. POWELL, Base Hospital No. 114.

MT. PLEASANT

School is moving along fine with almost a hundred pupils enrolled.

Clanton's landing place for aeroplanes will be at J. Wiley Foshee's. We had the pleasure of seeing the first one light last Thursday. Quite a number of people from Clanton and surrounding communities came to see it.

Melvin Strickland of Marib Valley is visiting his sister, Mrs. W. A. D. zier.

M. O. Culp who has been at home some time on account of the flu epidemic has returned to his work in Birmingham.

Mrs. Nancy Vickers has gone to Tallapoosa county to visit friends and relatives.

Mrs. Eula Bell Culver has returned to her work in Birmingham.

Messrs. G. H. Massey, L. O. Vickers, J. A. Logan, John Mac Foshee and Dewey Foshee motored to Birmingham Sunday to see A. A. Ayers who was carried to the infirmary there last Thursday, and found him improving.

Royal Collins and wife spent Saturday night and Sunday with I. V. Collins.

Mrs. J. Wiley Foshee spent part of last week with Mrs. Baz Foshee near Mt. Carmel and helped to wait on the influenza.

Reuben Riggins and family were recent visitors at G. W. Melton's. B. G. Burnett, who works in Ensley spent Sunday with home folks.

BRASSELL-LOWERY

Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Lowery announce the engagement of their daughter, Ellen Harvey, to Mr. Robert Nelson Brassell, the wedding to take place November 23 at their home 410 Madison avenue.—Montgomery Advertiser.

Mr. Brassell is one of Clanton's prominent young lawyers, who is associated with Mr. A. C. Smith. He formerly resided in Montgomery, his home city, before coming here to practice his profession several months ago. He has made many warm friends here and they will be pleased to hear of his wedding.

Miss Lowery is one of Montgomery's most charming young ladies and is a favorite with the younger set of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Brassell will spend a few days in Atlanta and Birmingham, after which they will be at home to their many friends in Clanton.

The Union-Banner joins their many friends in wishing them much happiness and prosperity together.

LET'S HOPE SO, ANYWAY

When the Kaiser fled to Holland, Every Dutchman held his nose; For the Dutch don't like Limberger, Just about to decompose. Wilhelm begged of Wilhelmina, Who's the queen of all the Dutch, "Make me safe from democratic Revolutionists and such."

"I'm not safe at home or elsewhere, "For this bolshevik bunch "Have no love for me whatever; "I'd be cheese for them at lunch." "Now you're wrong," said Wilhelmina "If you think you're safer here; "We've no place for cheese in Holland "Do I make my meaning clear?"

So the Kaiser doffed his helmet, When "To hell with it!" said the queen And proceeded then from Holland, Seeking refuge more serene.

But there was no place for Wilhelm; Ev'ry place the Kaiser fled, He could hear the cry, "Let's hang him

By the neck until he's dead!" "By the neck!" The clamor smote him As he hurried on again;

He could feel the rough knot tighten; And a mob cried, "Vive Lovain!" Till at last he found a refuge,

And perhaps it's just as well; For he took his Hun Gotti with him, And they settled down in—just what you'd say yourself under the same circumstances.

HORTICULTURE SOCIETY MEETS AT AUBURN IN DECEMBER

The 14th annual meeting of the Alabama Horticulture Society will be held at Auburn, Alabama, December 11-12; and the program promises to be one of the best that has ever been carried out. Among the many subjects that will be discussed, the following will be emphasized considerably: Growing cucumbers, Cantaloupe Growing, Garden Pests and How to Control Them, Best Methods of Storing Vegetables for Home Use, The Use of the Tractor in Orchards, Fruit Growing on the Gulf Coast, Pecan Growing, Commercial Apple Growing in Alabama, and Why Every Person Should Have a Home Orchard. In addition to the formal program, exhibits of fruits, nuts, nursery stock and vegetables will be made. Every person having anything coming under these classes that he or she would like to exhibit is invited to send the material to Prof. G. C. Starcher, Alabama Extension Service, Auburn, Alabama.

OWNER OF SYLACAUGA NEWS WRITES OF WAR

Victor May, Editor and Owner of the Sylacauga News, With 167th U. S. Regiment in France, Writes Interesting Letter to His Paper.

Camp in France, Oct. 24, 1918. Dear Mr. Greer:

I have been around here for ten days, with just a little drilling each day, and thought that are this I would have written you and let you know how I came through my last encounter without a scratch. No, now, that isn't true, for I have scratched for several days until I reached a bath and had my clothes run through a "delouser or anti-cootie machine."

It has been comfortable to have a shack to live in and get three meals every day and water to drink to say nothing about being able to walk around without having to "duck" shells and dodge snipers and machine gun fire. The last argument that I indulged in with Fritz was about the warmest one that I have enjoyed over here, it lasted for eight days until we finally convinced him that a few kilometers in his rear would be more acceptable than in the front line opposing American troops. We were then on one of the most severe portions of the line and our Division was selected to take from Fritz his position which he clung to until our men wrenched from German control the heights which were desired by our officers. Finally the crack Hohenzollern fighters retired and our Alabama boys and the entire Rainbow division climbed over the top once more. Believe me, during those seven or eight days I certainly thought on several occasions that I was being treated to a realization of the "Charge of the Light Brigade," and, at times, I enjoyed the school boy rendition of "cannon to the right of them, cannon to the left of them, cannon in front of them." And more than once the occurrences approached strongly "The Valley of Death" and the "Jaws of Hell." I am sure that our mothers, fathers, sisters and brothers will be glad to know that the 167th Alabama regiment done its duty. During the several days we were in places where shells and infantry gun fire was hot and several in fact many of our brave boys died with their face to the enemy. On several occasions my company's retion wagon came up with food for us just as we were starting on the move; it was tough to go on and leave that grub but orders are always obeyed here, however our cooks are brave boys and they followed us up until we could stop and eat.

When we go forward and a new line is reached every fellow with his little pick commences to "dig in" until he has prepared himself a hole in the ground sufficiently deep to lie down in and escape shell fragments and sniper killers.

Pardon me for length of this. We will soon leave here and continue our march to Berlin. Love to all.

Yours, VICTOR MAY.

HIGH PRICES ON NEWSPRINT KILL MANY U. S. PAPERS.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 16.—The Merchants' National Bank of this city has issued the following letter to its customers showing the effects of the war upon the newspapers of America:

"Eight hundred and fifty newspapers in the United States have been forced to suspend since the beginning of the war, owing to the advance in the cost of labor and news print paper. Two hundred and fifty daily newspapers have been forced to consolidate so as to reduce operating expenses sufficiently to enable them to keep going.

"The principal increase in publication costs has been due to the extraordinary rise in news print paper, which has advanced 300 or 400 per cent within four years, publishers experiencing much difficulty in securing necessary supplies even at these unprecedented prices.

"Publishers are being compelled to reduce the size of their papers under government restrictions so as to make the existing supply go as far as possible.

"Eighty dollars a ton is predicted soon for news print paper as against $20 to $30 in normal times. Such a price would work increased hardship."

PEOPLES TELEPHONE 96.

The white angel of peace has come to bless the world.

A large selection of assorted noises evidenced the joy of America over the cessation of hostilities.

Virtue may be its own reward, but wickedness and cruelty bring their own destruction.

Will our boys like the home menu when they return? Or will we all have to learn to make army stew?

Being the Kaiser and All-Highest may be very interesting and delightful, but who would want to be an Ex-All-Highest?

The War Lords in their shining armor have had their brief and bloody day. It is followed by the days of the Lord of Peace.

What a grief it must be to the Kaiser to realize that his beloved Fatherland can get on without him and is perfectly reconciled to attempting it.

For months the German army will have nightmare dreams of running at its topmost speed while dreadful Americans on motor trucks pursue it.

After the "tumult and the shouting dies," a sense of deep thankfulness and gratitude will be with us and remain with us for all the days of our lives.

Some one suggests that the Kaiser should hereafter live in Oblivion. This will be impossible, for quarters have already been reserved for him in the Hall of Infamy.

We never expected to delight in any other flag than the Stars and Stripes.
But the white flag under which the German envoys came to Marshall
Foch was very welcome.

And what shall we do with our dollar-a-year men? Our sense of economy and good judgment would impel us to chain them in their places and keep them indefinitely.

Perhaps swords will soon be beaten into plowshares. During the peace celebration we certainly saw wash boilers and garbage cans beaten into producers of infernal sounds.

Don't expect the fash-pots of Egypt again at once. Our army and our allies are still to be supplied, and we must continue to conserve and conserve and conserve some more.

There is one very effective method of saving coal which apparently has not occurred to the Fuel Administration. Let it restrict the sale of Georgette crepe blouses and watch the result.

The book lover is never lonely. He is not only sufficient unto himself, but he is perfectly independent of others for entertainment. With his book he can banish loneliness and laugh at dull care.

Now that the war is over, what shall we do with our four-minute men? A large proportion of the laity would like to have them retained to deliver the sermons every Sunday in the churches of our land.

After our stunt of wild rejoicing is over will come the serious national questions of reconstruction and readjustment. Attention, class! Careful study and close co-operation will be required of us all.

Now if President Wilson's friends want to invite another rebuke for him in 1920, they will proceed with their government-ownership plans.
The people have had enough of it, and will rebuke it every time they get a chance.

Don't let us be tempted into any extravagance by the thought that the war is over. Our boys must still be supported abroad; they must gradually be brought back; they must be returned to civilian life by degrees.
There will be another Liberty Loan.
We must be ready for it.

This will be the greatest Thanksgiving since the days of the Pilgrim Fathers. One hardly knows how to specify the causes for thankfulness.
However, we might mention Peace by Victory, President Wilson, Marshal
Foch, General Pershing, the French 75's, the Yanks, the Gobs, the 1918 wheat crop, sugar substitutes, cranberry sauce and pumpkin pie. Add others to suit your individual taste.

SOME PARAGRAPHIC PUNCHES

By Frank P. Litschert

The Republican victory was hailed with such joy in Berlin that the next day everybody resigned.

And just think how fast we are going. The public got rid of the Kaiser, the flu and the Democratic majority in Congress all in seven days.
Some week, boy, some week.

By this time his former majesty probably knows that it took the Yanks to yank the hell out of Wilhelm.

Why wouldn't it be a good idea for the Kaiser to board one of his favorite submarines, float out into the middle of the Atlantic and settle down?

It is semi-officially reported via Copenhagen that the sweeping Democratic victory in Mississippi caused a panic on the Bourse at Berlin.

Like the influenza the bolsheviki seems to be travelling west. It's a good thing to keep a gas mask handy.

In a few more days "Die Wacht Am Rhein" will be something more than a song.

The armistice agreement ought to have contained a paragraph eliminating those ten cent "war" songs for the rest of the season.

Marshal Foch is a pretty generous person after all. He gave the Huns a chance to read it over before they signed up.

If the Kaiser gets to eat dinner in Paris now he will have to take it through an iron grating.

It will take at least a year to set up a real bolsheviki government in Germany as you can't grow an official crop of whiskers in less time than that.

Maybe if they are to turn over 160 submarines to the allies the Germans will have to rake some of them up from the bottom of the ocean.

Now the German war office can truthfully issue that famous bulletin,
"We retired again today unhindered by the enemy."

Still when Wilhelm, Constantine, Ferdinand and the rest of the ex-royal boys get together in the wilderness they may be able to organize a pretty interesting poker game.

The rubber stamp statesmen hardly waited for the election returns to get in before they got on the job again.
Senator Hoke Smith declares in the Senate that President Wilson's diplomacy has saved the world from twelve months more of bloodshed. It is clear as the noonday sun that the Germans quit because they hadn't even another week of bloodshed in 'em. They quit because they were licked, not because they were convinced. They surrendered because Turkey, Bulgaria and Austria had been knocked out of the ring, and they knew that their own knock-out was just ahead. The people are ready and willing to give President Wilson the credit he deserves, but the claims of the rubber stamp statesmen that the winning of the war was due to the efforts of diplomats rather than of soldiers will not go down with the people.

ERNEST C. EDWARDS DIES IN FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Edwards were made sad again when the news came to them that their son, Ernest, was dead in France. He was the one that was spoke of in the Union-Banner as being in France when his brother, Perry, died at Camp Hancock, and then he had been dead seven days before his brother Perry's death.
Several letters have been sent to Ernest since he died not knowing of his death when they were sent. He, too, was loved by all who knew him, especially by his brother Perry. On the morning he left for the training camp he walked to his brother Perry and they took each others hand and neither knew then that it would never happen for them to meet again. Both these boys loved home and we deeply sympathize with the father and mother over the loss of their sons.

Some day you will all be united again where there will be no sad parting.

A FRIEND. HUMAN WEAKNESS DUE TO THE BLOOD

Leading scientists now say that if one is weak, nervous, blue, despondent or lacking in energy. If the food fails to digest and to supply the natural strength which it formally gave; if work, and even pleasure, lack their former interest and zest;
if the stomach is constantly balking and giving occasional attacks of indigestion, or if one is losing control of the nerves and feels generally rundown and unfit, then the blood is losing its strength-giving power.

If one is in this condition, leading authorities advise the use of Irogen immediately. This new discovery, it is claimed, supplies nature with the element she requires in building new, rich red blood, and without which strength and health can not be permanently restored. They advise against using stimulants, which they claim are deceptive and in the long run harmful. Iro-Gen is the natural strength builder, they say, and its results are permanent and lasting.

Warning is given, however, that owing to its well-known flesh-building powers, Iro-Gen should not be taken by anyone who does not desire to add flesh.

Note—Iro-Gen, the product mentioned above, is now on sale in Clanton by the Upchurch Drug Co., in Marbury by the Plateau Drug Co., in Jemison by the Langston Drug Co., and in Verbena by H. T. Williams and by the leading druggist in practically every city, town and village in the state.

here with his parents and many friends.

In a Washington telegram it is stated that Secretary Baker has announced the abandonment of a number of the cantonments in the near future. This fact will, it is believed, be the unloading by the government of immense quantities of lumber that has been used in the construction of buildings, etc., and that buyers of large quantities of lumber will be in the market for this bargain sale. The lumber having only been in use for a year is not very much worn or injured, and, it is believed that large quantities of it is only seasoned good.
Already one of the saw mill men in this section has said that he anticipated this unloading and that for several months he had been curtailing his output so as to guard against the question of over supply, as, unquestionably prices would, to some extent, feel the pressure.

The Wonderful Call When Baby Comes

Like the Blast of Heavenly Trumpet
When Call of Motherhood Is Felt.

Of all the most vital times in a woman's life the coming of baby is fraught with the greatest meaning. Care should be exercised to insure that the crisis is passed in safety.
Apprehension is avoided by the timely use of Mother's Friend, a preparation of penetrating oils and medicinal ingredients, which renders the muscles, cords, tendons and ligaments pliable, and thus tension is avoided. The usual nervousness, nausea, bearing-down and stretching pains are counteracted and the period is one of calm repose.

The broad, flat abdominal muscles relax with ease, and when baby comes the time at the crisis is less and pain and danger is avoided.

Thousands of women for half a century have used this penetrating external application, prepared especially for expectant mothers, and every woman awaiting the crisis should give nature a helping hand.
Write the Bradford-Regulator Company,
Dept. F, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, of great value to all women, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist and begin its application regularly night and morning.

FOR BILIOUSNESS TAKE VIN HEPATICA.

A bilious condition is indicated by loss of appetite, pain in the side, back and shoulders, restlessness at night, and a furrowed, foul tongue. There is often a feeling of depression, the eyes are dull, the face is sallow, and quite frequently constipation or diarrhea occurs. When any of these symptoms are present, a course of VIN HEPATICA is at once needed. Begin with a full dose to remove the poisonous matter from the bowels, and continue, for a few days with a smaller dose. Come in and get a bottle. Upchurch Drug Co., Clanton,

STEADIER HOG MARKETS PLANNED

Hog Producers and Packers Confer With Representatives of the Food Administration and Agricultural Department and Adopt New Plan of Regulation.

In accordance with the policy of the Food Administration since its foundation to consult representative men in the agricultural industry on occasions of importance to special branches of the industry, on October 24 there was convened in Washington a meeting of the Live Stock Subcommittee of the Agricultural Advisory Board and the special members representing the swine industry to consider the situation in the hog market.

The conference lasted for three days, and during this time met with the executive committee of the fifty packing firms participating in foreign orders for pork products and with the members of the Food Administration directing foreign pork purchases.

The conclusions of the conference were as follows:

The entire marketing situation has changed since the September joint conference as to necessitate an entire alteration in the plans of price stabilization. The current peace talk has alarmed the holders of corn, and there has been a price decline of from 25 cents to 40 cents per bushel. The fact that the accumulations of low priced corn in the Argentine and South Africa would, upon the advent of peace and liberated shipping, become available to the European market has created a great deal of apprehension on the part of corn holders. This decline has spread fear among swine growers that a similar reduction in the prices of hogs would naturally follow. Moreover, the lower range of corn prices would, if incorporated in a 13-to-1 ratio, obviously result in a continuously falling price for live hogs. In view of these changed conditions many swine producers anticipated lower prices and as a result rushed their hogs to market in large numbers, and this overshipment has added to and aggravated the decline.

The information of the Department of Agriculture indicates that the supply of hogs has increased about 8 per cent, while the highest unofficial estimate does not exceed 15 per cent. increased production over last year. On the other hand, the arrival of hogs during the last three weeks in the seven great markets has been 27 per cent. more than last year, during the corresponding period, demonstrating the unusually heavy marketing of the available supply. In the face of the excessive receipts some packers have not maintained the price agreed last month. On the other hand, many of the packers have paid over the price offered to them in an endeavor to maintain the agreed price. The result in any event has been a failure to maintain the October price basis determined upon at the September conference and undertaken by the packers. Another factor contributing to the break in prices during the month has been the influenza epidemic; it has sharply curtailed consumption of pork products and temporarily decreased the labor staff of the packers about 25 per cent.

The exports of 130,000,000 pounds of pork products for October compared with about 52,000,000 pounds in October a year ago, and the export orders placeable by the Food Administration for November, amount to 170,000,000 pounds as contrasted with the lesser exports of 98,000,000 for November, 1917. The increased demands of the allies are continuing, and are in themselves proof of the necessity for the large production for which the Food Administration asked. The increase in export demands appears to be amply sufficient to take up the increase in hog production, but unfavorable market conditions existing in October afford no fair index of the aggregate supply and demand.

It must be evident that the enormous shortage in fats in the Central Empires and neutral countries would immediately upon peace result in additional demands for pork products which, on top of the heavy shipments to the Allies, would tend materially to increase the American exports, inasmuch as no considerable reservoir of supplies exists outside of the United States. It seems probable that the present prospective supplies would be inadequate to meet this world demand with the return to peace. So far as it is possible to interpret this fact, it appears that there should be even a stronger demand for pork products after the war, and therefore any alarm of hog producers as to the effect of peace is unwarranted by the outlook.

In the light of these circumstances it is the conclusion of the conference that attempts to hold the price of hogs to the disadvantage of pork producers. It is the conclusion that any interpretation of the formula should be a broad gauged policy applied over a long period. It is the opinion of the conference that in substitution of the previous plans of stabilization the Live Stock Subcommittee of the Agricultural Advisory Board, together with the specially invited swine representatives, should accept the invitation of the Food Administration to join with the Administration and the packers in determining the prices at which controlled export orders are to be placed. This will be regularly done. The influence of these orders will be directed to the maintenance of the common object—namely, the stabilization of the price of live hogs so as to secure as far as it is possible fair returns to producer and the insurance of an adequate future supply.

These foreign orders are placed upon the basis of cost of hogs to the packers.

As the result of long negotiations between this body and the Packers' Committee, representing the 45 to 50 packers participating in foreign orders, together with the Allied buyers, all under the Chairmanship of the Food Administration, the following undertaking has been given by the packers:

In view of the undertakings on the part of the Food Administration with regard to the co-ordinated purchases of pork products, covered in the attached, it is agreed that the packers participating in these orders will undertake not to purchase hogs for less than the following agreed minimums for the month of November, that is a daily minimum of $17.50 per hundred pounds on average of packers' droves, excluding throw-outs.

"Throw-outs" to be defined as pigs under 130 pounds, stags, boars, thin sows and skips. Further, that no hogs of any kind shall be bought, except throw-outs, at less than $16.50 per hundred pounds. The average of packers' droves to be construed as the average of the total sales in the market of all hogs for a given day. All the above to be based on Chicago.

We agree that a committee shall be appointed by the Food Administration to check the daily operations in the various markets with a view to supervision and demonstration of the carrying out of the above.

The ability of the packers to carry out this arrangement will depend on there being a normal marketing of hogs based upon the proportionate increase over the receipts of last year. The increase in production appears to be a maximum of about 15 per cent. and we can handle such an increase.

If the producers of hogs should, as they have in the past few weeks, prematurely market hogs in such increasing numbers over the above it is entirely beyond the ability of the packers to maintain these minimums, and therefore we must have the co-operation of the producer himself to maintain these results. It is a physical impossibility for the capacity of the packing houses to handle a similar over-flood of hogs and to find a market for the output. The packers are anxious to co-operate with the producers in maintaining a stabilization of price and to see that producers receive a fair price for their products.

(Signed) THOS. E. WILSON,

Chairman Packers' Committee.

The plan embodied above was adopted by the conference.

The Food Administration has appointed a committee, comprising Mr. Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of the Packers' Committee; Mr. Everett Brown, president of the Chicago Livestock Exchange; Major Roy of the Food Administration; Mr. Louis D. Hall of the Bureau of Markets, to undertake the supervision of the execution of the plan in the various markets. Commission men are asked to co-operate in carrying out the plan embodied in the packers' agreement. It must be evident that offers by commission men to sell hogs below the minimum established above is not fair, either to the producer or the participating packers. Mr. Brown has undertaken on behalf of the commission men in the United States that they will loyally support the plan.

It is believed by the conference that this new plan, based as it is upon a positive minimum basis, will bring better results to the producer than average prices for the month. It does not limit top prices and should narrow the margins necessary to country buyers in more variable markets. It is believed that the plan should work out close to $18 average.

Swine producers of the country will contribute to their own interest by not flooding the market, for it must be evident that if an excessive over percentage of hogs is marketed in any one month price stabilization and control cannot succeed, and it is certain that producers themselves can contribute materially to the efforts of the conference if they will do their marketing in as normal a way as possible.

The whole situation as existing at present demands a frank and explicit assurance from the conferees represented—namely, that every possible effort will be made to maintain a live hog price commensurate with swine production costs and reasonable selling values in execution of the declared policy of the Food Administration to use every agency in its control to secure justice to the farmer.

The stabilization methods adopted for November represent the best efforts of the conference, concurred in by the Food Administration and the Livestock Subcommittee of the Agricultural Advisory Board, together with special swine members and the representatives of the packers, to improve the present unsatisfactory situation, which has unfortunately resulted because of the injection of uncontrollable factors.

We ask the producer to co-operate with us in a most difficult task.

The members of the Conference were:

Producers—H. C. Stuart, Elk Garden, Va., Chairman Agricultural Advisory Board; W. M. McFadden, Chicago, Ill.; A. Sykes, Ida Grove, Ia.; John M. Evvard, Ames, Ia.; J. H. Mercer, Live Stock Commission for Kansas; J. G. Brown, Monon, Ind.; E. C. Brown, President Chicago Livestock Exchange; N. H. ## U. S. MAIL TRUCK FROM BIRMINGHAM TO MONTGOMERY BEGAN MONDAY

Makes First Trip Here Without a Mishap and Party is Entertained by Mayor and Citizens of Clanton at Dinner at the Wade Hotel Here.

The motor truck on the mail route established Monday between Birmingham and Montgomery is scheduled to arrive in this city on its return trip from the capital Tuesday afternoon. Ed Norman, assistant postmaster, is with a party of local business men who rode out on the truck and they decided not to return to Birmingham Monday night in the private automobiles that conveyed the truck to Montgomery on its initial trip.

Clanton is the half-way station between Montgomery and Birmingham and the mayor and citizens there entertained the Birmingham party Monday at dinner. When the truck line gets going good a truck from Montgomery will meet a truck from Birmingham each day in Clanton at noon. The drivers will exchange seats and the Birmingham man return home, making the trip in 12 hours.

The quickness with which the business men of Clanton saw that there was business in being the half-way point was the cause of much favorable comment. The mayor invited the Birmingham party to stop there for dinner early Monday morning and after they had enjoyed Clanton's hospitality the whole party was favorable to that little town being made the half-way point. Should the business between the two larger cities grow to where other trucks are needed, the garage business at Clanton will get lots of government business. —Birmingham News.

Thanksgiving service on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.

A Sunday School Teachers rally on Thursday night at the pastorum.

Mr. J. Hance Alred has spent another pleasant furlough at home among friends. We expect him back permanently before long.

A letter has just been received by the pastor from John Plier, who is overseas in France. Among other things he says he had a short talk with his brother before, although they are in different units. John's letter came from an American Post-office in France.

Mrs. H. F. Downs has had an operation for appendicitis and at last accounts was doing well. She will be back home again in a few days.

Mrs. Ed Plier is temporarily residing out of the city. She is missed in Sunday School and every other good work.

The pastor as county comiteeman and Dr. Gragg as Medical Examiner, sent on to headquarters the application for "Y" work of Mr. Howard Roper, Postmaster at Jemison.

A communication has been received from the Food Administration to be given publicity on next Sunday. The pastor's subject will be, at 11 o'clock, "The Doctrines and Doings of the Future Church." At night the remaining one of the Ten Commandments, "Thou Shalt Not Covet."

L. & N. WANTS TO DISCONTINUE PASSENGER FROM JUNCTION TO PRATTVILLE

There is much uneasiness manifested in Autauga county owing to the fact that the Louisville and Nashville railroad company has filed a petition with the Alabama Public Service Commission praying for the privilege of discontinuing the passenger service that is now being extended on the branch road from Prattville to the main line connecting at Prattville Junction. This petition is set for December. The petition if granted will make a considerable difference in the time of departure of commuters in several towns between Montgomery and Prattville. The L. & N. people claim that, as the matter now stands, it is a losing proposition to the railroad company. It is said that the citizens of Prattville and other localities interested will appear before the commission and represent their side of this question. It is also stated that the L. & N. railroad company intend to present another petition asking that they be permitted to discontinue service on the Shelby branch road, which is a short line from Calera to Shelby, a link extending only 8 miles in length.

THE GREATEST OF THANKSGIVING DAYS.

Lincoln said at Gettysburg that there was every propriety in dedicating part of the battlefield as a memorial. But he added that the work of the dedicators had, in a sense, been anticipated.

There is every propriety in a U. S. president's Thanksgiving proclamation—just as much as there was in Lincoln's dedication address. But this year a good many of us began to be thankful about a month before Thanksgiving Day.

The weight of a great anxiety has been lifted from those whose relatives have been in war service in the field. The highest patriotism, the deepest sense of devotion have not in any way allayed their fears on behalf of kinsfolks called to face peril of death or mutilation worse than death. And even in a minor degree there is comfort in the assurance given generally by employers that positions of the fighting men have been kept for them.

Amid our rejoicing there should sound a note of deep sympathy for those who have been maimed on the battlefield and for the families of the killed. It should be heard through the years from one Thanksgiving Day to another, and find its expression in national effort to lighten the load of those to whom the fortune of war has been ungenerous. No material sacrifice that we can make will ever discharge our debt to those who have lost health or bodily faculties in the most righteous quarrel that was ever fought.

Mr. F. A. Guldge, of Verbena, came up to Clanton yesterday morning on business.

FIFTY GALLONS WHISKY CAPTURED BY OFFICERS

After watching and waiting for two days and two nights Deputies W. H. Gillespie and J. M. Grant arrested on the main road two men in a Chandler automobile with 50 gallons of moonshine whiskey which they had purchased in Shelby county, just across the line from Chilton, paying $8 per gallon for the goods and hitting the road for Birmingham, where, as one of the men stated, they were to receive $16 per gallon for the stuff. The officers brought the men to Clanton and Judge L. H. Reynolds put them under $750 bond each and they were lodged in the Clanton jail waiting for friends to come and go on their bonds.

The men, it is believed gave fictitious names, claiming that they were Italians. One claimed to be Alonzo Ricardi and the other claimed to be Mr. Ceanola. These names are assumed.

Both men were armed with pistols but when the officers halted them they came down gracefully.

The Chilton county deputies got on to the fact that frequently whiskey was carried through Chilton county in the manner stated and so they made up their minds to watch the road and make the capture.

Quite an excitement occurred at "Mutt & Jeff's Place," here early last Sunday night when the oil stove in which he makes his famous "Hot Dogs," caught on fire and had to be removed out in the street before it could be extinguished.

RESTRICTIONS REMOVED ON ALL CONSTRUCTIONS

Announcement has been made by the Alabama Council of Defense that the War Industries Board has removed all restrictions on all construction projects and that building operations may now be carried on without formal licenses from the government. From the moment the armistice was signed the rules were made flexible and the State Council was informed this week that all restrictions had been taken off.

This means that work will be started in Alabama at once on building projects involving in the aggregate more than one million dollars. These projects had been held up at the request of the Alabama Council of Defense and the War Industries Board. It also means that thousands of dollars will be spent by Alabama farmers and land owners in improving their property. Alabama farmers made money this year and desire to use much of it in adding permanent improvements.

DEATH AND BURIAL OF CLYDE MADDOX

Clyde Maddox, a worthy young man of Chilton county, died at his home near Clanton on Tuesday night and interment was made in Salem Cemetery on Wednesday. Many relatives and friends were present at the funeral services.

Miss Lula Hurtt, of Verbena, was a visitor to Clanton last Wednesday.

THE BRASSELL-LOWERY MARRIAGE LAST WEEK

A wedding of much interest to a wide circle of friends and admirers throughout the state was that of Mr. Robert Nelson Brassell and Miss Ellen Harvey Lowery, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, 410 Madison avenue, Montgomery, at eight o'clock Saturday morning November, 23rd.

The parlor was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers.

The bride and groom entered together to the strains of Lohengrin's march, played by Mrs. Frank Nolan and the impressive ceremony was pronounced by Dr. S. C. Williams, pastor of the Second Baptist church, in the presence of the immediate families and intimate friends. "Traummeri" was played softly during the ceremony.

The bride was beautifully attired in a becoming suit of midnight blue with taupe accessories.

Mrs. Brassell is a very attractive and accomplished young girl and by her charming personality has endeared herself to a large circle of friends, who regret that her marriage will take her to another city to reside.

Mr. Brassell is a prominent young attorney of Clanton and is the son of Judge and Mrs. William R. Brassell of this city and is well-known.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Brassell left for Atlanta and other points of interest, after which they will make their home in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Brassell arrived here last Tuesday evening from a short wedding tour to Atlanta and Birmingham.

CROWN PRINCE WILLIE WRITES UNIQUE LETTER TO HIS PAPA THE KAISER

He Says Since the Americans Entered the Fight His Troops Need Back Protectors Instead of Breast and Calls on His Father for Assistance.

A copy of a letter from "Crown Prince Willie to his Papa," which appeared in the Los Angeles Times July 20, but is highly appropriate even at this date. The letter is as follows:

"On the run, somewhere in France, Dear Papa: I am writing on the run as der brave and glorious soldiers under my command have not seen der Rhine for so long dat dey have started back that way, and of course I am going mit dem.

"Oh, papa, dere has been some offel dings happened here in France. First, I started in my big offensive, which was to crush de fool Americans, but they know so little about military tactics dat dey will not be crushed just like I want 'em. I sent my men in der fight in big waves and ven dey got to de Americans dey all said, 'Boo, as loud as they could holler. Vell according to vat you have always told me, de Americans have turned and run like blazes. But vat you tink? Dem fool Americans don't know anything about war, and instead of running de odder way, dey came right towards us. Some of dem was singing about 'Ve von't come back till it's over, over dere,' or some odder foolish song, and some of dem were laughing like fools. Dey are so ignorant.

"But dey are offel reckless mit der guns, and ven dey come toward us it vas den my men took a notion dey wanted to go back to de dear old Rhine. Ve don't like de little Marne river anyhow. And, oh, papa, dem Americans use such offel language. Dey know nothing of kultur and say such offel dings right before us. And dey talk blasphemy, too. Vat you tink dey said right in front of my face? One big husky from a place they call Missouri, he said—oh, papa, I hate to tell you vat an offel ting he said—but I can't deny it, he said, 'To hell mit der Kaiser!'

"Did you ever hear of anything so offel? I didn't tink anybody would say such an offel ting. It made me so mad, I wouldn't stand and hear and run first de odder way and den right? Vat? and oh, papa, dem brestplates vot you sent us—can you send some to put on our backs? You know ve are going de odder way now, and brestplates are no good, for de cowardly Americans are shooting us right in der back.

"Some of our boys took off der brestplates and put 'em behind, but de fool Americans are playing 'De Star-Spangled Banner,' mit machine guns on dem plates. Can't you help us? You remember in your speech you said nothing could stand before the brave German soldiers? Oh, papa, I don't believe dese ignorant Americans ever read your speech, for dey run after us like ve vas a lot of rabbits. Vot you tink of dot? Can't you send some of your speeches right away? Dey don't know how terrible ve are. Can't you move my army back to Belgium vere ve von all our glory? My men can vip all the vimmen and children vot dem Belgians can bring us. But dese Americans are so rough and ignorant.

"We can't make 'em understand that we are the greatest soldiers on earth, and ven ve try to sing 'Deutschland Ueber Alles,' dey laugh like a lot of monkeys. But ve are getting de best of de Americans. We can outrun dem. Papa, if ve are not de best fighters on earth ve are sure de best runners. Nobody can keep up mit us when ve tink of der dear old Rhine, and my army never did tink so much of dot dear old river. Let me know right away vot to do by return post-office.

CROWN PRINCE WILLIE, "July 20 times."

LADIES OF PRATTVILLE SHIP CHRISTMAS BOXES TO THE BOYS IN ARMY IN FRANCE

The ladies of Prattville and Autauga county know full well that the war with Germany is over so far as actual fighting is concerned, but they are cognizant of the fact that our boys are yet over there, and with this fact in view they shipped the following articles on the 19th of November:

All Christmas boxes that had been turned in, one thousand five hundred surgical dressings and one hundred and nine property bags which were made by the Juniors.

Mrs. C. E. Thomas is the chairman of the Christmas package shipment and she is constantly at the Red Cross rooms in order to assist those who desire to ship packages.

The Autauga County Camp Fire Girls under the guardianship of Miss Alice Booth, realized a good little sum at the bazaar held by them for the purpose of raising money with which to defray the expenses of the orphans made dependent by the death of a father in the trenches. These camp fire girls are engaged in a work that is surely commendable, and, as to their success there is no doubt.

Holland evidently does not care to have German gentlemen of high degree elect to reside within it.

It never occurred to the Germans that the "Watch on the Rhine" would some day be an American watch.

Reconstruction and readjustment appear to be the order of the day.
What special reconstruction do you need?

The ex-Kaiser in Holland is said to be wearing civilian dress. Another case of "addressed up and no place to go."

As the later detailed reports come in it appears that the American army held considerable of a picnic in the Argonne forest.

Our boys in France probably feel as the audience does when the curtain goes down: They want to put on their wraps and start for home.

The daily papers look strange without the war maps. It was "the only war we had," and it is natural that we should miss it a little.

When the war began the Kaiser was the Man of the Hour. But now new republics in Germany seem to be the Tendency of the Hour.

The United States appears to be receiving Mr. McAdoo's proposal for the reduction of the new tax bill with much cheerfulness and equanimity.

When our troops come marching home, among the wild acclamations with which we greet them should be the thunderous question, "Parlezvous Francais?"

We trust that the last "hymn of loving popular song of the world will hereafter be, "Peace on earth, good-will to men."

We should judge by recent appearances that many of the hobos who were obliged by war regulations to work had now gone back to their original profession.

A joyous Thanksgiving, this of 1918, yet deeply tinged with the pathos and glory of the white crosses which our nation claims upon the fields and hillsides of France.

The voices of Germany and Austria crying "Bread, Bread" must be heeded and answered. Would it not be a good plan, however, to answer them with war bread? We can spare it.

What we don't know, we are certain to sometime find out; but it is better to attain the height where we DO know than to forever be steadying the ladder on which we expect to climb. Think so?

The American boys who hoped to meet the Kaiser in Berlin must be sadly disappointed that he did not remain there for an introduction to them. Hearsay knowledge of them was probably all that he cared for.

It would be interesting to know whether a young man whose regiment is disbanded after receiving one-fourth of its training in an American cantonment would accurately be described as a soldier or as a demi-semi-soldier.

Of course when the armistice was signed President Wilson could not join the wild crowds in the street. But if on receiving the news he had relaxed his dignity by a little private song and dance of his own, who could blame him?

Food restrictions have made it necessary for many a stout woman to reduce, greatly to the benefit of her appearance and health. Now that sugar and wheat are easier to obtain, we hope that she will not begin to indulge in them as formerly. If she does she will be sure to lose what she has gained in gaining what she has lost.

The Itching and Sting of Blazing, Fiery Eczema

Seems Like the Skin Is on Fire.
There is a harassing discomfort caused by Eczema that almost becomes a torture. The itching is almost unbearable, and the skin seems on fire with the burning irritation.
A cure from local applications of salves and ointments is impossible, because such treatment can only allay the pain temporarily. The disease can only be reached by going deep down to its source.

The source of Eczema is in the

HOW ABOUT US?

The premier of Australia has made a rather pertinent observation.
He is in favor of peace. He publicly acknowledges it as a blessing.
But he remarks officially that he does not want the final terms to be signed without a provision for the pecuniary indemnification of Australia.
Canada probably feels likewise, and as both the dominion and the commonwealth have strained themselves in the struggle to the cracking point and achieved miracles of valor and sacrifices we can hardly blame them.

And no one should blame us if we followed suit. The subject is conspicuously absent from our official pronouncements just now, and also from expressions of press opinion—probably because our burden has been much lighter than that of some belligerents, and because we have borne it for less than two years. It is also our policy to be magnanimous in our international relationships, and we will no doubt follow it at the conference. But for all families who have lost breadwinners, for all individuals who have undergone serious material deprivation, even for all commercial firms that have lost cargoes, ships or anything of value there should be compensation, so far as value can be expressed in money. And it seems reasonable that some other person than Uncle Sam should foot the bill.
If Germany had been victorious the populations of the Central Empires would have been a unit in demanding that we be skinned alive.
A few months ago the journals of all their political parties declared that France must be crushed into permanent helplessness.

MAKING GOOD.

Large employers of labor throughout the country have announced that those who left their service to go to war did so with the assurance that their positions would be open on their return. They have declared that they are now ready to redeem their pledge.
It is creditable that the employers have risen above frequent commercial practice in the matter of these promises. Business usage often countenances the neglect of an obligation until the party interested brings it obtrusively to the attention of the party liable. But in this country we can rise to higher ideals when the inspiration is forthcoming. It is a pity that our inspired moments cannot be made continuous.

In this case the employers will probably get the thick end of the deal. The returning workers will in nearly all cases be more valuable now than when they went away. They have healthier bodies, a broader vision, stiffened will-power, greater self-control and a sterner sense of responsibility.

WORK CAMPAIGN

Mr. W. A. Reynolds, County Chairman,
Clanton, Ala.

To all workers:
With the success of the United War
Work Campaign now assured Chilton county may well be proud to know that another victory, by way of a victory gift, has been added to its long list of victories won since the United States entered the war. While our boys were at the front battling for Christian democracy, the folks back home have supported them in every way possible; in a manner that is a credit to every patriotic citizen; and now that the war has come to a close the citizens of this county are to be complimented for their splendid support in the campaign to help our boys until they come home.

I want to take this opportunity as District Campaign Director, to express my appreciation to the county committee, beat chairmen, directors of the Boys and Girls Earn and Give fund, colored workers, sub chairmen, all individual workers, newspapers,
the ladies and all of those who contributed, for the earnest efforts and liberality, which made our success possible. The work has been conducted under serious difficulties and with all the handicaps to overcome, those who worked so faithfully during the entire campaign are deserving of the credit due to all patriotic citizens.

My only hope now is that every dollar contributed will be the means of making some lad happy and aid in bringing him home a better man than he was before. The sole aim of the organizations doing this work is to give the home touch to these boys and every effort will be continued in this direction, now that it has been made possible by this most generous gift.

Yours very truly,
W. R. ULRICH,
Dist. Campaign Director.

It is to be hoped that the consen-tious objectors in all these months have not become too firmly fixed in the habit of conscientiously objecting.
Mother will hardly welcome a conscientious objector who feels obliged to voice an unfavorable opinion of her cooking.

IN MEMORY

On Tuesday morning, November 15th, at 12 o'clock the death angel visited the home of Mr. Jackson Culver at Helena, and took from him his loving wife, Mrs. Aubrey Culver.
She was only sick a few days with influenza followed by pneumonia. But God, in his wisdom, saw fit to call her home.

Mrs. Culver joined the Baptist church at Maple Springs at an early age and lived a faithful member until her death.

Mrs. Culver will be greatly missed by all who know her, because to know her was to love her. Mrs. Culver was a true loving and kind mother. She was reared in Chilton county, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A.
Mims. She leaves to mourn her loss two little girls, one of which is only three weeks old, seven brothers, three sisters, father and mother and many friends.

Mrs. Culver was only 22 years old last April.

Her remains were laid to rest in Maple Springs cemetery on Saturday, November 16th. Rev. W. M. Parrish conducted the funeral service.

Expectant Mothers View Event Calmly

Time Brings Knowledge That by Use of Penetrating Remedy Suffering Is Avoided.

Thousands of women have found by the application of Mother's Friend, the penetrating external remedy, prepared especially for expectant mothers, that pain and suffering at the crisis is avoided and that in addition the months preceding the crisis are free from nervousness, nausea, stretching and bearing-down pains and general discomfort.
Mother's Friend makes it possible for the expectant mother to herself actually aid nature in the glorious work to be performed, and no woman should neglect to give nature a helping hand. It will mean infinitely less pain and the hours at the crisis will be less. The period is one of calm repose and restful nights.

By the use of Mother's Friend the skin is kept soft and natural, and experienced mothers say that it is much better to keep your health and good looks during the period of expectancy than to try to regain them afterward.

gin its use at once.

ALL RECORDS SAVED IN THE PROBATE'S OFFICE

Clanton, Ala., Nov. 27, 1918.
Editor Union-Banner:

It seems that it has been reported all over Alabama that all the records in the Probate office were burned.
I was in Birmingham and Montgomery last week and in both cities several people asked me about the records in my office being burned.

Just a few days ago a prominent citizen of this county called me over the telephone and asked me if any of the records in the Probate office were saved.

Today Col. Holmes and several other citizens of Wetumpka asked me if all the records in the Probate office were burned, and they said it was generally understood that nothing was saved in my office.

I want to say through your paper that not a single record was destroyed. Every Mortgage Record, Deed Record, every paper, and every License Stub were saved; in fact, I did not lose a record of any kind.

When I reached the Court House it was falling in. My wife, daughter and son and a few others helped me and we saved everything in the way of a record that was in my office.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

ARMSTRONG-ROPER

Early Monday morning at the Methodist parsonage, Mr. John Douglas Armstrong and Miss Dovie Elna Roper were happily united in marriage. Dr. Ernest G. Maye officiated.

After the ceremony was over, and the friends present had extended their congratulations the young couple boarded the train for a brief bridal tour.

They will be at home to their friends at 113 North Goldwaite St., Montgomery, Ala., after December 10th.

Regulate the bowels when they fail to move properly. HERBINE is an admirable bowel regulator. It helps the liver and stomach and restores a fine feeling of strength and buoyancy.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Judson Strock of Verbena was a Clanton visitor on Saturday.

Hon. J. B. Atkinson of Montgomery was a visitor to Clanton this week.

Prof. R. E. Tidwell of Montgomery spent several days in Clanton during the week.

Prof. W. E. Dickson of Birmingham attended the Teachers' Institute here last week.

C. J. Davis, formerly editor of the Clanton Press came home for Thanksgiving dinner.

Prof. McDonald and Johnson rendered much valuable service during the recent teachers' institute.

Some several new cases of influenza were reported last week, among them being Dr. Crumpton and son.

Mc D. Ruffin returned from Sheffield on Monday and says he likes Clanton the best of the two places.

F. M. Wood, formerly editor of the Clanton Press, was looking after some business matters in Clanton during the week.

Rub a sore throat with BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. One or two applications will cure it completely. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Mr. J. W. Littlejohn, the grocery man, was carried to Birmingham this week to undergo an operation. His many friends wish a speedy return.

Uncle Henry Roberts returned to Clanton from Tallapoosa on Monday and is satisfied that the treatment there has been of much benefit to him.

Canvassers for mail subscriptions to THE NEWS wanted EVERYWHERE. For terms and prices write to Circulation Department, THE NEWS, Birmingham, Ala.

Dr. Ernest C. Maye, Pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church of Clanton, left on Wednesday morning for Mobile, to attend the Conference meeting.

Mrs. H. F. Downs was carried to an infirmary at Birmingham last week to undergo an operation for appendicitis. Last reports state she is resting nicely.

Bring us your poultry and eggs. We pay highest market prices. Stock peas $2.00 per bushel. Sorghum syrup 65 cents per gallon. TAYLOR BROS.

Veteran J. W. McKay, a worthy Confederate soldier, died at the Alabama Old Soldiers Home and interment was made in the Home cemetery on Tuesday. The dead soldier served during the Civil War as a member of Company G, 10th Alabama Regiment.

Watch the label on your paper and send in your renewal before the date expires in order that you may receive the paper right on as we will discontinue all papers that are not paid in advance. And too, don't forget when you send checks or money order that the subscription price advanced to $1.50 per year Nov. 15.

Mr. G. W. Edwards, who lives about five miles south of Clanton, was in town last week and while here informed us he had sold 80 acres of his farm and expects to remove to Clanton in a few weeks and with his son-in-law, Joe Culp, will go into the mercantile business in the Headley building near the depot. We welcome these gentlemen to our city, and wish them success in their new ventures.

U. S. Deputy Revenue Officer Robbins and Deputy Sheriff W. H. Gillespie, of Chilton County, made a successful whisky raid near the Shelby county steel bridge the past week and captured a plant which was making moonshine whisky, but the operators having been put on to the fact that the officers were after them, made an escape. The officers brought to Clanton one of the largest improved stills and a quantity of beer which was ready to be made into whisky.

The largest real estate deal perhaps that has been made in Clanton for some time was consummated a few days ago when J. Wash Foshee purchased the old Banner office building and residence property of Mrs. Patty Smith near the new court house, and the latter purchased the residence property of G. O. Foshee at the same time, the total amount involved being $7,500. Mr. G. O. Foshee moved to the residence of Mrs. W. P. Splawn, giving Mrs. Smith charge of her new place this week.

A splendid piece of color portraiture representing Uncle Sam welcoming a war ship as it proceeds through the narrows entering New York harbor has been executed by Mr. Marvin Marcus on the wall of his cafe. The painting is in colors applicable to the situation in every particular; the defiant attitude of the vessel is in keeping with the smile on Uncle Sam's radiant face at the pleasure of welcoming his sea and land fighters as they steam through the turbulent waves which fringe the edge of the Hudson river stream that leads the way through the bay.

D. P. Garner, the watch maker, made a business trip to the capital city last Thursday.

David Vines, former rural carrier from here and now in the navy, is at home on a furlough.

Highest prices paid for poultry and eggs. $2.00 per bushel for stock peas. TAYLOR BROS.

Mr. L. F. Gerald returned yesterday morning from Montgomery, where he had been on legal business.

Mrs. Earl Wolfe of Flint and Mrs. Jessie W. McClellan, whose husband is in the Signal Corps, are visiting Mrs. Wolfe's sister, Mrs. W. W. Fox.

Governor Henderson made a quiet trip to the old Alabama Soldiers Home for the purpose of looking over some matters that he thought needed his attention, and, with other things necessary to be done there the governor ordered a lot of necessary repairing to be done for which he will have to pay the expense incurred out of the contingent fund.

Irregular bowel movements lead to chronic constipation and a constipated habit fills the system with impurities. HERBINE is a great bowel regulator. It purifies the system, vitalizes the blood and puts the digestive organs in fine vigorous condition. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

A United States parcel post truck passed through Clanton on Monday from Birmingham en route to Montgomery. This is the first one that has been put on this route by the government for this special service, which, no doubt, will be of great convenience to the people generally. The intention is for a parcel post truck to pass through Clanton each day—one going south and one north.

James L. Collins, 167th U. S. regiment, was recently wounded in France, and, it appears from a talk his father had with him he was hurriedly sent back to the United States and is now in a hospital recovering.

Young Collins received two wounds at the same time, evidently he was in a charge on machine guns. One of the wounds is severe while the other is slight. He talked over the long distance phone encouragingly to his father, saying that he hoped to eat his Christmas dinner at home in Chilton county with his father.

The young veteran was sent across the Atlantic several months after the 167th had arrived in France, but through solicitation, probably, he was attached to the 167th regiment owing to the fact that a large number of Chilton county boys were members of that regiment.

We are working a little short-handed again, this time the trouble being the fact that "our boy," little Jimmie Lowe, who has been with The Union-Banner for the past three years, having left here to attend the flying machine exhibition in Birmingham several days ago, and forgetting to return to his work. We have learned that he has accepted a position with the Birmingham News, who have been advertising for several boys of his age recently, and suppose he is liking his new job fine. And we will be hit another hard blow at the end of this week when our machine operator, J. B. Wells, will leave us to accept a position with the Twice-a-Week Sentinel, at Yazoo City, Miss. This leaves only the editor again to hold down the whole thing, and he will do all he can to keep the "dear old Union-Banner" going to its readers regularly until the proprietors return from the training camps, who we hope will be released from service soon, since the war has ended. The trouble we have experienced in keeping help since being here, makes us believe more firmly in the adage: "There's one thing right after another."

who have met with such phenomenal success throughout the entire Southeast, will be in Clanton, Ala., on Tuesday, December 3rd, 1918, for one day only to demonstrate their new system of treatment of chronic diseases cases. These regular reputable physicians believe that the combined skill of several trained specialists in chronic disease cases can accomplish more than one doctor alone
—in other words, in unity there is strength.

The offer to treat all who call on this visit absolutely free, for their original method of getting their system of treatment before the public quicker, and no one, rich or poor, white or colored, should neglect to take advantage of their very liberal offer—ABSOLUTELY FREE (medicine excepted.) No cutting—no knife.

It makes no difference how many doctors you have consulted or how many patent medicines you have taken, you cannot afford to miss this opportunity of ascertaining your exact condition and be honestly advised
No one should require further evidence of the skill of these specialists
than the following.

TESTIMONY

Square Cheatham, Bolling, Ala.,
writes: "I had rheumatism for over
two years and walked with a stick.
After taking the first dose of your medicine I threw away my stick.
Your remedy has done the work and I am now a well man, thanks to the Associated Doctors."

Ira Craig, Greenville, Ala., writes:
"I am doing very well. My foot is healing, although I am compelled to walk on it."

J. L. Redding, Saginaw, Ala.,
writes: "I am free from rheumatic pain since commencing your treatment."

Thomas Marshall, Chapman, Ala., writes: "I can truthfully say I am a new man. I feel I don't need the full eight weeks you prescribed."

Mrs. Margaret W. Rogers, Geo-giana, Ala., writes: "I have been using your remedies prescribed near 3 weeks and am feeling much better."

Rev. R. L. Fletcher, Camalia, Ga.,
writes: "I am a new man; eat well,
sleep well and feel like a man in my prime. I want to thank you and my
dear wife also wants to thank you, for she is so proud of my improvement."

J. P. Andrews, Blakely, Ga., writes:
"My boy has been a great sufferer from skin diseases, sores and bed-wetting since childhood. He is 13 years old. Since taking your treatment he has not wet the bed a single time.
The terrible sores on his limbs and body are disappearing like magic even this short time."

Mrs. Susan Day, Albany, Ga., writes: "I am so pleased with my cure that I would not regret having paid ten times the modest sum that I gave for the remedies which have taken me out of my misery."

Mrs. S. A. Baker, Lamar, S. C., writes: "I am feeling lots stronger and better. Have good appetite. I am sure glad I am taking your remedies."

William C. Orr, Bamburgh, S. C., writes: "I have taken all the remedies you prescribed for me and am feeling much better. Will you please send me another."

Rev. S. B. Thompson, Society Hill,
S. C., writes: "I have been suffering from a deep, incomplete fistula for 17 years. Your remedies gave me more relief than all the doctors and sundry medicines that I ever took in all this time."

C. L. Therrell, Chesterfield, S. C.,
writes: "I am getting on just fine.
Feel well, eat well and sleep well."

W. T. Thurber, Waterberry, Mo., writes: "I have received great benefit from your treatment."

John Wavis, Clara, Mo., writes: "I haven't had a spell with my eyes
since I commenced your treatment."
Mrs. Davis writes: "My stomach and heart are better. I can sleep better."

Mrs. W. L. Jadwin, Jadwin, Mo., writes: "I am some better. The glands are going down and I am a great deal stronger."

Now that you know the truth you have only yourself to blame if you continue to suffer from Piles, Kidney
and Bladder Troubles, Discharges,
Bed Wetting, Blood Poison, Skin
Eruptions, Rheumatism, Epilepsy,
Uric Acid Poisoning, Paralysis, Nervous Troubles and Debility, Neuralgia, Stomach and Liver Troubles,
Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Pleu-
risy, Tumors, Indigestion, Constipation, Gall Stones, Ovarian and Female Troubles, Enlarged Glands or any reflex condition of the nervous system, and those diseases about which most people dislike to consult the general practitioner.

Bear in mind that this will likely be the last visit when the specialists extend their services FREE.

Hundreds have been restored to their perfect good health, with rosy cheeks and sparkling eyes—so may
you. The specialists are too well known throughout the State to require further mention.

LIME OFTEN GREATLY INCREASES CROP YIELDS

By M. J. Funchess, Associate Agronomist, Alabama Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
The use of lime for agricultural purposes in Alabama is steadily increasing, and a few practical suggestions regarding such use, may be of interest.

All things considered, crushed limestone is the cheapest and most satisfactory form of lime to apply. However, if only small amounts are needed —say such an amount as would serve for a trial plot, or for a few acres in some special crop—the use of burned lime will serve, provided it is not applied too heavily. If burned lime be used, it should be air slacked before using. In this form, lime is rather disagreeable to handle, and should be scattered with the wind blowing from the sower, as far as possible.

When and How to Apply.

There is no set time of the year when lime should be applied. At any time the land is flat broken for a crop lime may be scattered. In some instances lime in small amounts is scattered in the row under the line of plants, but such distribution is not likely to be very profitable.

If the need for lime be sufficient to warrant its use, then apply it broadcast, thereby sweetening the whole mass of plowed soil, rather than a small part of it, under the row of plants. If sown by hand labor, the lime should be hauled quickly from the car to the field, and sown from the wagon, by means of shovels. If machine sown, the wagon load should be transferred to the spreader and immediately sown. Lime is too cheap and too heavy to permit of much handling, if it is to be used economically. After the lime has been sown, it should be very thoroughly mixed with the soil by repeated disking and harrowing. This is an important point and failure to thoroughly incorporate the lime with the soil probably explains many instances where lime has failed to pay. It is easily possible to get greater returns from one ton of lime well mixed with the soil, than from two tons poorly mixed.

On land sufficiently sour to need lime, at least one ton of crushed lime, or one-half ton of slacked lime, should be used, and in most cases, a one-ton application is enough to give good results. However, a number of soils in Alabama have been found to be so acid as to need more than two tons of lime per acre, to sweeten the plowed soil.
If a surplus of lime be applied, no harm will result, and further applications will not be needed in a number of years. In a general way, one ton every five or six years, should be enough lime to keep the soil in good condition.

AVOID MIXING VARIE- TIES OF PEANUTS

By H. B. Tisdale, Associate Plant Breeder.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Mixed peanuts are undesirable either for planting or for commercial purposes. Spanish and Runners are two general classes of peanuts which have been recognized by the oil mills. Pure white Spanish sell for a higher price than the pure Runners. Mixed peanuts sell for a lower price than the unmixed, according to the degree of mixture. Any admixture with red Spanish peanuts is most undesirable on account of the bad quality of oil obtained from the red Spanish.

Peanuts become mixed in the field and in the thrashing and picking machines. The Spanish should not be planted on land where running peanuts grew the previous year nor vice versa.
A considerable number of nuts are left in the ground during the harvest and many of these will germinate and grow the following season. There will be more volunteers from the running peanuts than from the Spanish, but this does not justify planting running peanuts where Spanish grew the previous year.

A very important process is to select with care the peanuts for seed purposes and see that the nuts to be planted are absolutely pure and unmixed. If they are shelled before planting, they can be thoroughly examined and nuts of other varieties easily picked out. There are other advantages to be gained from planting shelled peanuts; such as better stands, ease of handling, etc.

Peanuts are easily mixed in the thrashing and picking machines. The machines should be thoroughly cleaned before changing from one variety to another.

A good method to follow in selecting 10 ears of corn for exhibition or show purposes is first to select a standard or model ear to be used as a guide in selecting the other nine ears, says P. O.
Davis of the Alabama Extension Service. This model ear should be as true to variety as can be found. The tapering from butt to tip should be gradual according to the variety. The grains should be tight, full size, and extend well over butt and tip. Rows of grain should be straight with very little opening between. As a general rule the cob should be about one-half the diameter of the entire ear.

Mr. W. H. Conway of Jemison was in Clanton last Saturday.

HARVESTING AND STORING WIN- TER APPLES.

By G. C. Starbaker, Horticulturist Alabama Extension Service and Experiment Station.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
It has been proved at Auburn that if apples of the winter varieties, such as Winesap, Ben Davis, Shockley and Yates, has been sprayed throughout the growing season and is then carefully hand-picked and sorted; then stored in a cool, dark place, it will keep in perfect condition almost the entire winter. In fact, at Auburn we removed the last fruit from storage the present season on the same day we picked our first ripe fruit from our Red Astrachan trees.

When to Harvest.

The winter apples should be allowed to fully mature on the trees. They should have good color for the variety and should be harvested before any considerable number of the fruits have ripened and fallen. The exact time each variety should be picked must be determined by the orchard owner himself, keeping in mind the above points. When the picking is being done any fruits showing signs of decay should be dropped to the ground instead of being placed in the picking bags or baskets with the sound fruit.
The sound picked fruit should never be mixed with any decayed or bruised fruit because it is practically impossible to eliminate every bruise or de-cayed specimen by sorting at a later time.

The secret of keeping apples late depends on getting the fruit into the cellar or storage room absolutely free from diseased or bruised specimens. A bruise nearly always means a rotten spot later on.

As soon as the apples have been harvested, which should be done in the early morning, as soon as the dew dries off the trees, or late in the evening, after the atmosphere has cooled somewhat, the fruit should be carried to the grading shed. The fruit is again graded because when fruit is being rapidly picked one does not often see every side of every specimen and some diseased or wormy specimens may be put into the basket. These should all be eliminated by later grading.

The apples should be graded for size as well as for quality. They may be divided into two sizes of first grade fruit. Those which measure 2-1/2 inches and greater in transverse diameter and those 2 inches to 2-1/2 inches in diameter. All fruit less than 2 inches in diameter should be classed as culls and should be disposed of as quickly as possible.

Luxury of Eating

GOOD EATING IS A LUXURY THAT MOST PEOPLE
DO NOT HAVE OR UNDERSTAND.

Firstly, it consists of what you buy and secondly,—of how you cook or serve it.

We will furnish you with the best eatables procurable and at a very fair price. We will give you the best groceries you will find in the city. Then it is up to you as to how you cook it; but even there the merit of our sales is shown by the result.

Go where you know you can find real luxury in plain simple food that is standardized and bought by the most discriminating housewives in your community.

DR. O. E. WILSON WRITES OF INTEREST FROM FRONT

He States That He Has Really and Truly Been to War and Gives An Interesting Account of Severe Combats With the Germans.

In France, Somewhere, Nov. 8, 1918. My Dear Father and Mother:

Here I come feeling good and fine. Mailed you a letter today that I wrote two or three days ago and did not have chance to mail it until today. It has been impossible here of late for me to write you often. I have been busy. And here goes the reason why. I have really and truly been to war. I have been continuously under shell fire since Sept. 14th. I have been having a great time. In one way it was a great time, then again it has been just the reverse. It was a great time because I knew that I was doing my duty and the reverse because I had to do such a duty.

On Sept. 14th I was ordered to report to a small town for duty (I am not allowed to give name of town). This town had just been taken away from the Germans. They were only a short ways away from us and you can imagine how bad they hated to give the town up for they had been there for four years and had fixed order that they might spend a peaceful winter, and one of comfort. However, they soon found out what the American soldiers can do when they once decide. We were shelled, we were sniped at, and we were gassed, but still we held to our own. A number of large stone buildings were shot down while I was in this town. I had to wear my gas mask for three hours at one time the first night there. Did not get any rest for three or four days. Of course, very little that one can rest under those conditions, but really we do sleep under similar conditions. I was attending to my work and everything went well for me. My infirmity was not hit a single time, but houses on either side and across the street were hit by shells and caused to crumble to the ground in ruins. All houses in France are made of stone or cement. I remained at this place only a few days and was glad to get back from such awful hot place, however I went only a short ways back of line then I was sent several miles to another front where no doubt the hardest fighting that has been during the war was done. The Americans had an almost impossible task put before them and they accomplished their point with high honors. They fought and they fought well. I was ordered to report in a small town one day that we had just that day chased the Huns out after a hard fight, because this was an important point. I walked eight or nine miles through the mud and rain to get there and when I got there about 2 o'clock a.m. the Huns had just been in town and tried to retake it but they found the Americans on the job. So they were sent back with a lot of their men laying on the ground dead and wounded. This was on a Sunday night. Again Tuesday morning at 6 o'clock they decided they must run us out of that place at all cost. Thanks to American boys—they stood sound as a stump and did not fall back an inch. We were greatly outnumbered on this occasion but not one time did I question the outcome of the combat. We came over here to win and I knew it would stand good on this occasion. Many Germans were killed, 400 possibly. In this fight some of us were completely surrounded by the Boche and then they could not capture us but we fought until we killed them and then the rest away. If our boys had failed to do their duty this time and had fallen back any I would have been captured by the Germans for I had no way out. I realize my position at the time, still I did my work under the very adverse circumstances and the other boys did the same and we came out victorious.

This time my infirmity was hit by a big shell. Let me say right here I have not received the slightest wound yet. This I am very proud. You were reading in paper about all of this fighting and you can readily see that we were kept busy moving. I have been in several hot places, having a shell again at another place come down through the center of my infirmity.

I feel very thankful that I am alive. I have worked hours upon hours without rest. I have slept in barns, houses, bushes, hollows, and was in mud holes and have been as healthy as a pig. Only time have I had to leave my company and that was one day my commanding officer sent me back for three days rest. I was completely exhausted. Did not have a bit of energy, but with that rest I felt like a new man and at the end of that three days I reported back to front line for duty. I begged them not to send me back. I wanted to remain at my post but they would not allow me to stay, and I guess it was best that I went.

And now I am clear out of hearing of any gun and I really think as far as I am concerned the war is over. I don't think I will ever have to go back to the front line. We are back taking a rest, having our equipment repaired and by the time we get that done the war will be over.

By the way, when I got back here to this rest place I found out that I had had special mention in orders for doing some very efficient work. There was only four men out of 1700 (our Regiment) that got special mention in orders. I have two to my credit. One of the other men that was mentioned in orders was one of the men in my company and was working under me. So you know I am really feeling good over mine as well as feeling good over the fact that one man under my training has distinguished himself.

I have a dandy room now with electric lights and a good stove in it. Have plenty to eat and to say that I am enjoying these things would be putting it mildly.

Have some work to do but not hard work.

With deepest love to all.

Your devoted son,
EPHRAIM.

SHOULTS NEWS

Health of this community is very good at present. We are glad to say that the influenza has not reached this part yet.

Our Sunday School is progressing nicely under the careful management of Mr. H. R. Oden. Rev. F. W. Bice of Thorsby preached an excellent sermon at the Baptist church Sunday and was enjoyed by a large crowd.

The literary school started last Monday with Prof. Askins Collins of Thorsby.

There were quite a large number enrolled. We are all glad to say that he is a fine teacher and is loved by all of his pupils.

Miss Eva Hall and Alice Bearden spent the night with Miss Myrtle McAfee Saturday night and reported a nice time.

Mr. Calhoun Garner and wife visited Mr. and Mrs. Williams over East of Maplesville Saturday.

Miss Eva Hall spent a few days with her sister in Montgomery last week.

ACTIVE CAMP FIRE GIRLS

The Autauga County Camp Fire Girls were very successful in their efforts to procure money with which to support the "trench orphan" that they intend to adopt. The young ladies were delighted to know that they would be sustained in their commendable efforts. These young workers are under the guardianship of Miss Alice Booth. Some of the good things were offered at auction and one cake sold for even $17.00. The orphan that these girls adopt will fare well during its dependency on these worthy young ladies.

It is now in order for the Chilton county and Clanton young ladies to get together and organize for the support of a "trench orphan." It would be a worthy action and the young ladies thus engaged would find no difficulty in securing the money necessary to support some child made an orphan during the war. It would be appropriate to adopt a foreign child if no American infant or youngster could be found.

TALKS LUMBER ALL THE TIME

W. C. Robinson was in Clanton on Thanksgiving Day, and while other people were seemingly busy, just rested easy on "Bill's mind" nothing but lumber. He would listen to no other proposition but the future price of lumber would be quoted at. Mr. Robinson is acquainted with the lumber business and for an average newspaper man to undertake to enlighten him is going up against a tough proposition. He knows trees and their value, and when he says that he would prefer to have good timber standing in the woods to owning them cut up into lengths when, as it seems now, lumber will, in a short while, climb down the ladder in price. Mr. Robinson owns immense bodies of growing timber that, like money well placed, is increasing each day in growth as money increases as an interest-bearing proposition. He is in no hurry to overstock the market with lumber.

BOX SUPPER AT FAIRVIEW

There will be a box supper at Fairview School House on Saturday night, Dec. 7th, 1918. We invite everybody and especially urge all the patrons of the school to use every effort to help make it a great success.

EVERY BOY SHOULD JOIN A CLUB SAYS J. A. WADE

Describes His Personal Experience in Achievements While Young and Advises Parents to See That Their Sons Have Same Opportunities.

Prof. L. N. Duncan, Director of the Junior Extension Department at Auburn, Alabama, has announced that the week of December 9th to 14th has been set aside for enrolling all boys in the State between the ages of 10 and 18 years in some branch of the club work of which the corn clubs and pig clubs are the most attractive for the boys. Plans have been arranged for enlisting the boys through the co-operation of the County Demonstration Agents, superintendents of schools and teachers. Prof. Duncan asked me to give the matter some publicity and official support. I know of no better and more interesting way than to tell the boys of Alabama a short true story of my own experience. I shall tell the story briefly, stripped of all egotistical intent and ask the reader to pardon the personal reference which means much to the minds of boys even though less significant to the minds of men.

THE STORY

When I was a boy of ten years, I received from my grandfather five silver dollars as a Christmas present. My father became custodian of my funds and used them in his own personal affairs, giving me a two-month-old female pig for my money. Naturally I felt a great deal of pride in my first personal property and gave the pig much attention. It was with much pride and satisfaction that I watched her grow into a beautiful sow. At the end of two and one-half years, I was the happy possessor of twenty-two fine pigs coming in three different litters. My father soon realized that he would have to increase the corn crop and build a larger barn or trade me out of the hog business. He traded me a beautiful three-year-old filly which developed into a saddle and harness animal admired by everybody in the community.

STUDENT AND FARMER

My first venture as a farmer for myself and under my own direction began at the age of twenty-one years while a student in the high school. I had realized that my education was too limited and that I had no one to whom I could turn for financial assistance. I conceived a plan of farming as a side line to produce the necessary funds. I secured the use of sixteen acres of land near the school building, the service of a horse, and a place to board. On Saturdays and holidays, I prepared the land without interfering with my school work. On April the fifteenth, I stopped school and planted the land to cotton, cultivated it with my own labor and produced twelve bales of cotton. I gathered as much of the cotton as I could and hired the remainder gathered and was back in school on the first Monday in November with my years expenses paid and a bank account amounting to three hundred dollars. This combination worked so well that I kept it up for several years as a student and farmer, as a school teacher and farmer, and finally as editor of country newspaper and farmer. It was my success with these emergency crops that attracted public attention and caused my appointment without application as special agent of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in 1906. This service taught me the value of soil improvement, intensive preparation, cultivation, larger and more profitable yields of better quality and how to obtain them. It instilled in me the value of quality and a love for natural science necessary to accomplish these things. I loved to see plants grow and to administer to their growth and development by applying the principles of how and why they could and should be aided by the genius of man.

It was this same insight that created in me a love for plant and animal life, and caused me to search for an understanding of the natural laws that determine their growth and development. It was the success of my endeavor to put such knowledge as I had acquired into practice which led me to produce large crops of superior quality and to win several fancy prizes in contests which I entered, and finally won for me the reputation upon which I was elected to my present position; all of which had its beginning by the purchase of a pig. However significant or insignificant my life's work may have been the purchase of that pig played its part.

Fathers and mothers, see to it that your sons are enrolled in some branch of the club work in order that they may be taught early in life the value of ownership and the responsibility.

PHILIP BARRETT DIES OF INFLUENZA LAST MONDAY

His Remains Were Shipped to Cooper Yesterday Morning and Interment Was Made There—He Resided in Birmingham at Time of His Death.

The sad news of the death of Mr. Philip Barrett, recently of Clanton, reached the city on Tuesday morning and caused a deep feeling of regret to many of the dead man's friends. Mr. Barrett died after a short illness of influenza in Birmingham. Our readers will remember the deceased as assistant cashier of the late Clanton Bank and the important part he had taken on the witness stand as a witness for the state. Mr. Barrett, during his connection with the Bank in Clanton was known to have pursued a straightforward business course and his every action while employed there is known to have been strictly fair and honorable.

His remains were carried to Cooper yesterday morning on the accommodation and interment was made in the cemetery there.

He leaves a young wife and many relatives to whom we give our sympathy in their bereavement.

FROM A SOLDIER BOY SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE

October 29, 1918.

Dear Father and Mother:

Will again write you all a few lines. This leaves me well as ever and I hope it will find you all the same.

Papa, how is it that you think I don't get your mail? I have received every letter that you have written me, so don't be worried for I hear from you twice nearly every week. Also I have heard from Perrie and Callie.

Papa, I sure am enjoying life over here, but would rather be at home, and I hope it won't be long before we will all be there. So, Father, I will close and will write more next time. Answer soon and give my best love to Mother, and tell her I love her very dearly and think of her each day. As ever, your son,

L. H. BUSSIE.

LETTER FROM COUNTY FOOD ADMINISTRATOR

Canton, Ala., Dec. 4, 1918.

To all Dealers, Bakers, Consumers and Public Places:

The Certificate plan governing the use of sugar is discontinued. Merchants will not have to have certificates to purchase sugar, neither will they be required to take a certificate from the consumer when selling sugar, but dealers will not be expected to have more than a thirty days supply on hand at one time. Each family is not expected to use more than four pounds per month.

Retail profits are increased to 1 1-2 cents per pound on sugar in bulk, the profit on sugar in original packages is to remain the same, one cent per pound.

Restaurants and public eating places must continue to conform to general orders No. 8 and 9 of the Hotel and Restaurant Division which limits the amount of sugar used to four pounds for each ninety seats, prescribes the manner in which the sugar is to be served.

L. H. REYNOLDS,
County Food Administrator.

CLANTON COUNCILMEN MEET

The Mayor and City Council of Clanton met in regular session Monday night and decided that in future there should be an all night electric light service, and that until after the holidays the police force should be increased by the addition of an officer on duty during the daylight hours. A new electric pump was ordered to be installed in order to increase the water supply.

The council refused to interfere with the Mayor and the County Physician in matters pertaining to influenza, assuming that the gentlemen mentioned are able to take care of the situation.

LEGAL NOTICE

By order of the Commissioners Court I will sell to the highest bidder for cash a four room frame house located on the jail lot at 12 o'clock M., December 23, 1918.

MT. PLEASANT NEWS

School is progressing nicely, although our assistant teacher, Miss Essie Hester, has the influenza. Miss Annie Reynolds is taking her place.

Mrs. J. J. Culp, who has been very sick is now improving we are glad to say.

J. A. Logan spent Sunday and Monday in Birmingham with A. A. Ayers, who has been there for treatment over two weeks. He reports Mr. Ayers as improving again.

Charlie Oden and wife and Mrs. Eula Belle Culver, of Birmingham, spent Sunday at W. H. Foshee's.

Jack Dozier and daughter, Miss Evie, of Elmore, recently visited W. A. Dozier.

Mrs. Odie Popwell spent Monday with her mother, Mrs. Lindsey.

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Melton are very much pleased over the arrival of a new daughter.

G. H. Massey made a trip to Birmingham Sunday.

John Mac Foshee has gone to Texas for a few weeks visit.

Mrs. J. C. Culp and B. H. Jones, and M. O. Culp spent most of last week with their mother, Mrs. J. J. Culp.

Our sympathy is with the family of Clyde Maddox. After a short illness of influenza and pneumonia, he passed away. He leaves a wife and three small children.

ADVICE TO INFLUENZA CONVALESCENTS

Washington, D. C.—(Special.)—According to a report made to the United States Public Health Service, the epidemic of influenza in Spain has already caused an increase in the prevalence and deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis. A similar association between influenza and tuberculosis was recently made by Sir Arthur Newholme, the chief medical officer of the English public health service, in his analysis of the tuberculosis death rate in England.

In order that the people of the United States may profit by the experience of other countries Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the United States Public Health Service has just issued a warning emphasizing the need of special precautions at the present time. "Experience seems to indicate," says the Surgeon General, "that persons whose resistance has been weakened by an attack of influenza are peculiarly susceptible to tuberculosis. With millions of its people recently affected with influenza this country now offers conditions favoring the spread of tuberculosis."

One Million Consumptives in the United States.

"Then you consider this a serious menace?" was asked. "In my opinion it is, though I hasten to add it is distinctly one against which the people can guard. So far as one can estimate there are at present about one million cases of tuberculosis in the United States. There is unfortunately no complete census available to show exactly the number of tuberculosis persons in each state despite the fact that most of the states have made the disease reportable. In New York city, where reporting has been in force for many years, over 35,000 cases of tuberculosis are registered with the Department of Health. Those familiar with the situation believe that the addition of unrecognized and unreported cases would make the number nearer 50,000. The very careful health survey conducted during the past two years in Framingham, Mass., revealed 200 cases of tuberculosis in a population of approximately 15,000. If these proportions hold true for the United States as a whole they would indicate that about one in every hundred persons is tuberculous. Each of these constitutes a source of danger to be guarded against."

What to Do.

In his statement to the public Surgeon General Blue points out how those who have had influenza should protect themselves against tuberculosis. "All who have recovered from influenza," says the Surgeon General, "should have their lungs carefully examined by a competent physician. In fact, it is desirable to have several examinations made a month apart. Such examinations cannot be made through the clothing nor can they be carried out in two or three minutes. If the lungs are found to be free from tuberculosis every effort should be made to keep them so. This can be done by right living, good food and plenty of fresh air."

Danger Signs.

The Surgeon General warned especially against certain danger signs such as "decline" and "colds which hang on."

These, he explained, were often the beginning of tuberculosis. "If you do not get well promptly, if your cold seems to hang on or your health and strength decline, remember that these are often the early signs of tuberculosis. Place yourself at once under the care of a competent physician. Tuberculosis is curable in the early stages."

Patent Medicines Dangerous in Tuberculosis.

"Above all do not trust in the misleading statements of unscrupulous patent medicine fakers. There is no specific medicine for the cure of tuberculosis. The money spent on such medicines is thrown away; it should be spent instead for good food and decent living."

COL. ROOSEVELT ATTACKS MR. WILSON'S 14 POINTS

Yanks Fought to Crush Hun, Not For Wilson Ideals—Hopes Wilson Will Be Loyal to His Country at Peace Conference—Praises Allies.

New York, Dec. 3. — Theodore Roosevelt declared today that it was "sheer nonsense" to say that the American army was fighting for President's Wilson's famous "fourteen points." He made the assertion that "there was not one American soldier in every thousand who ever heard of them."

"The British Empire imperatively needs the greatest navy in the world, and this we should instantly concede," said the Colonel. "Our need for a great navy comes next to hers and we should have the second navy in the world. Similarly France needs greater military strength than we do, but we should have all our young men trained to arms, on the general lines of the Swiss system."

"The 'freedom of the sea,' is a phrase that may mean anything or nothing. If it is to be interpreted as Germany interprets it, it is thoroughly mischievous. There must be no interpretation of the phrase that would prevent the English navy in the event of any future war from repeating the tremendous service it has rendered in this war."

"The British must of course keep the colonies they have conquered. 'As for this nation, it must keep its absolute economic independence and raise or over its economical barriers as its interests demand, for we have to look after the welfare of our own working man. Must insist on the preservation of the Monroe doctrine. We must keep the right to close the Panama canal to our enemies in war times and we must not undertake to interfere in European Asiatic, or African matters with which we ought to have properly no concern."

Declaring that "President Wilson has not given the slightest explanation of what his views are or why he is going abroad," he Colonel asserted "He is himself responsible for any division among the American people as regards the peace conference at this time."

"He has never permitted the American people to pass on his peace proposals, nor has he ever made those proposals clear and straightforward. As for the 14 points, so far as the American people have expressed any opinion upon them, it was on November fifth, when they rejected them."

he continued, adding that "the American army was fighting to smash Germany," and "the American people wanted Germany smashed."

"The Allies have never accepted the 14 points," he continued, "the United States has never accepted them. Germany and Austria enthusiastically accepted them. Here certain individuals, including President Wilson, Mr. Hearst, Mr. Vierick, and as I understand it, a number of pro-Germans and pacifists and International socialists have accepted them, but neither the American people nor the American congress has accepted them."

The Colonel declared that "Mr. Wilson himself has rejected at least one of the fourteen points outright and has interpreted another in the directly opposite sense to its plain and obvious meaning," and added that "thoroughly mischievous under any interpretation," and most of the others are vague and ambiguous.

"Inasmuch as Mr. Wilson is going over, it is earnestly to be hoped that it is his business not to try and be an umpire between our Allies and our enemies, but act loyally as one of the Allies," said the Colonel. "We have not suffered anything like as much and we have not rendered as much service as the leading Allies. It is the British navy and the French, British and Italian armies that have done the most to bring about the downfall of Germany and therefore the safety of the United States. It is our business to stand by our allies."

That country has assigned him a home in a small hamlet on the lonely island of Wieringen. He will live in a furnished house, carefully selected as having nothing in it worth taking away.

We ask our subscribers to be patient with us this week in the shortcomings in the way of news, as the editor has it by himself. A letter was received by us this week from the former editor, W. M. Wyatt, at Camp Hancock, and he states he will likely be back on the job here in a few days. We will feel a great relief when he returns.

COMING TO CLANTON

The Associated Doctors Specialists
Will Be at Wade Hotel, Monday, Dec. 9, 1918, for One Day Only.

Offer Services Free of Charge

Convincing Evidence for the Sick—
How Chronic Sufferers Are Being Restored to Health Thru ASSOCI-ATED DOCTORS System of Treatment.

The Associated Doctors, Specialists, licensed by the State of Alabama, and who have met with such phenomenal
success throughout the entire Southeast, will be in Clanton, Ala., on Monday, December 9th, 1918, for one day only to demonstrate their
new system of treatment of chronic disease cases. These regular reputable physicians believe that the combined skill of several trained specialists in chronic disease cases can accomplish more than one doctor alone
—in other words, in unity there is strength.

The offer to treat all who call on this visit absolutely free, is their original method of getting their system of treatment before the public
quicker, and no one, rich or poor,
white or colored, should neglect to take advantage of their very liberal
offer—ABSOLUTELY FREE (medicine excepted.) No cutting, no knife.
It makes no difference how many doctors you have consulted or how many patent medicines you have taken, you cannot afford to miss this opportunity of ascertaining your exact condition and be honestly advised.
No one should require further evidence of the skill of these specialists
than the following:

TESTIMONY
Square Cheatham, Bolling, Ala.,
writes: "I had rheumatism for over
two years and walked with a stick.
After taking the first dose of your
medicine I threw away my stick.
Your remedy has done the work and I am now a well man, thanks to the Associated Doctors."

Ira Craig, Greenville, Ala., writes:
"I am doing very well. My foot is healing, although I am compelled to walk on it."

J. L. Redding, Saginaw, Ala.,
writes: "I am free from rheumatic pain since commencing your treatment."

Thomas Marshall, Chapman, Ala., writes: "I can truthfully say I am a new man. I feel I don't need the full eight weeks you prescribed."

Mrs. Margaret W. Rogers, Georgiana, Ala., writes: "I have been using your remedies prescribed near three weeks and am feeling much better."

Rev. R. L. Fletcher, Camalia, Ga.,
writes: "I am a new man; eat well,
sleep well and feel like a man in my prime. I want to thank you and my

for she is so proud of my improvement."

J. P. Andrews, Blakely, Ga., writes:
"My boy has been a great sufferer from skin diseases, sores and bed wetting since childhood. He is 13 years old. Since taking your treatment he has not wet the bed a single time.
The terrible sores on his limbs and body are disappearing like magic even
this short time."

Mrs. Susan Day, Albany, Ga., writes: "I am so pleased with my cure that I would not regret having paid ten times the modest sum that I gave for the remedies which have taken me out of my misery."

Mrs. W. L. Jadwin, Jadwin, Mo.,
writes: "I am some better. The glands are going down and I am a great deal stronger."

William C. Orr, Bamburg, S. C., writes: "I have taken all the remedies you prescribed for me and am feeling much better. Will you please send me another."

Rev. S. B. Thompson, Society Hill,
S. C., writes: "I have been suffering from a deep, incomplete fistula for 17 years. Your remedies gave me more relief than all the doctors and sundry medicines that I ever took in
all this time."

C. L. Therrell, Chesterfield, S. C.,
writes: "I am getting on just fine.
Feel well, eat well and sleep well."

W. T. Thurber, Waterberry, Mo., writes: "I have received a great benefit from your treatment."

John Wavis, Clara, Mo., writes: "I haven't had a spell with my eyes
since I commenced your treatment."
Mrs. Davis writes: "My stomach and heart are better. I can sleep
better."

Now that you know the truth you have only yourself to blame if you continue to suffer from Piles, Kidney
and Bladder Troubles, Discharges,
Bed Wetting, Blood Poison, Skin
Eruptions, Rheumatism, Epilepsy,
Uric Acid Poisoning, Paralysis, Nervous Troubles and Debility, Neura-
gia, Stomach and Liver Troubles,
Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Pleu-
sies, Tumors, Indigestion, Constipation, Gall Stones, Ovarian and Female Troubles, Enlarged Glands or any reflex
condition of the nervous system, and
those diseases about which most people dislike to consult the general practitioner.

Bear in mind that this will likely be the last visit the specialists extend their services FREE.

Hundreds have been restored to their perfect good health, with rosy
cheeks and sparkling eyes—so may
you. The specialists are too well known throughout the State to require further mention.

Married women should be accompanied by their husbands and children by their parents.

Remember the hotel, day and date
—one day only.

Honeycutt, Jim Honeycutt, Earl
Honeycutt, Sarah Honeycutt, Aurika
Oaglesby, Ralph Honeycutt, Emmet Honeycutt, Ola Honeycutt, and Charles Honeycutt:

You will take notice that Mrs. J. M.
Honeycutt, Administratrix of the Estate of J. M. Honeycutt, deceased, filed her petition in writing under oath in this court, for an order to sell certain lands belonging to said estate, described in said petition for division among the joint owners on the ground that the same cannot be equitably divided among them.

It is therefore ordered that the 21st day of December, 1918, be appointed a day for the hearing of said petition, when any person interested may appear and contest if they think proper.

H. Eddy, and all the heirs of Mrs.
I. N. Eddy:

You are hereby notified that Mrs.
M. A. Marcus, one of the joint owners of the estate of Joe Marcus, has filed her petition in this Court for a sale of certain lands described therein for division among the joint owners and the 19th day of December, 1918, has been appointed a day for the hearing of said petition or application.

You are therefore and hereby commanded to appear before the court on the 19th day of December, at 10 o'clock A. M., 1918, to contest said application if you think proper.

Witness my hand this 18th day of November 1918.

Luxury of Eating

GOOD EATING IS A LUXURY THAT MOST PEOPLE
DO NOT HAVE OR UNDERSTAND.

Firstly, it consists of what you buy and secondly,—of
how you cook or serve it.

We will furnish you with the best eatables procurable
and at a very fair price. We will give you the best groceries you will find in the city. Then it is up to you as to how you cook it; but even there the merit of our sales
is shown by the result.

Go where you know you can find real luxury in plain simple food that is standardized and bought by the most discriminating housewives in your community.

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment

Do Not Neglect It.

When you use medicated sprays, atomizers and douches for your Catarrh, you may succeed in unstopping the choked-up air passages for the time being, but this annoying condition returns, and you have to do the same thing over and over again.

Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment?

Throw these makeshift remedies to the winds, and get on the right treatment. Go to your drug store to-day, get a bottle of S. S. S., and commence a treatment that has been praised by sufferers for nearly half a century.

S. S. S. gets right at the source of Catarrh, and forces from the blood
the germs which cause the disease.
You can obtain special medical advice regarding your own case without charge by writing to Medical Director, 22 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Miss Mary Lucy Dansby visited Mountain Creek friends and had an enjoyable time this week.

Mrs. Joseph Gaines, after an enjoyable visit with friends, left for her Birmingham home.

Wilber Jones came up from Camp Sheridan to visit his mother, Mrs. Lula Jones, last week.

Alvin Champion, of Camp Sevier, S. C., spent several days with his Chilton county friends here recently.

Rub a sore throat with BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. One or two applications will cure it completely. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

W. C. Robinson says that it is pleasing to see airplanes, and especially so since he knows that considerable Alabama walnut timber was used in making them.

Mrs. J. L. Foss died at her home at Thorsby on last Tuesday and interment was made on the following day. Mrs. Foss is the mother of Mr. C. R. Foss, assistant cashier of the Peoples Savings Bank.

Irregular bowel movements lead to chronic constipation and a constipated habit fills the system with impurities. HERBINE is a great bowel regulator. It purifies the system, vitalizes the blood and puts the digestive organs in fine vigorous condition. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Mr. A. P. Vinson, county commissioner, who lives 6 miles south of Clanton, was in to see us Tuesday. Mr. Vinson states he killed a couple of pigs Monday weighing 1205 pounds, each one being one year old. Some pigs!

Mr. O. B. Smith and her daughter, Helen, were recent visitors to Birmingham.

Mr. O. B. Smith went to Florida to attend the funeral of a nephew, recently.

Mr. John Leet is at home now with an honorable discharge from the army in his pocket.

A large number of pupils were absent from the schools owing to influenza this week and last. Just whether the schools will be closed or not is being considered.

We learn that Eddie Forsyth, who lives on a Rural Route from Clanton, died Nov. 3rd, 1918. He was 22 years old. He leaves many relatives and friends to mourn his demise.

Work on the new Clanton Court House building is being rapidly pushed. This work affords employment at good wages to some deserving men in this vicinity and Mr. Dolson, the contractor favors home labor.

It is safe betting that every time you find a man sitting around doing nothing, that he is right then on a "double duty" job. He is killing time for himself and interfering with the other man in his business.

A surprise marriage occurred when it was made known that Mr. George Purcell and Miss Annie May had agreed to travel down through life together. Both are residents of Prattville and have many friends here.

Some several gentlemen, and, it is said, two ladies will stand examination for the position as Postmaster at the Clanton Postoffice. These applicants will go to Montgomery on December 11th for this purpose.

The Methodist Church congregation, and in fact the people of Clanton generally, are pleased to know that Dr. Ernest C. Maye, pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church, is to remain in Clanton for another year.

There is a new Grocery Store in Clanton, and the owner, Clint Raspberry, starts on the level basis of a cash store. It seems a wise procedure; this system avoids bookkeeping, and in some instances bad debts.

The casualty list contains the name of Robert H. Brown, Mountain Creek, as being seriously wounded in France. Young Brown left the U. S. as a soldier in the 167th Regiment. He was known here as an industrious young man.

W. A. Reynolds received a cablegram from his son, Reuben Reynolds, from France this week, which reads: "I am well and feeling fine." Young Reynolds is a non-commissioned officer in the 167th Regiment, and he frequently cables his father.

We wish to announce to the public that we will open a Meat Market at the Joe Huckabee stand at West End today (Thursday) and will appreciate your trade. Watch this paper for further particulars. MAR-LAR & WARE, Clanton, Ala.

Miss Gladys Parrish, age 18 years, died of influenza in New York and her remains were brought back to Marbury and interment made on last Wednesday. Miss Parrish was a general favorite in that locality and her death is mourned by many relatives and friends.

The last casualty list published contains the names of two Chilton county soldiers: Lt. Rufus C. Callo-way, of Maplesville, died of disease, and Charles F. Martin, killed in action. The list also contains the name of Lt. James A. Boswel, Elmore, died of wounds.

J. Hance Alred returned Wednesday from Howard College, East Lake, with an honorable discharge from Uncle Sam. While in training there in the Officers Training School, Mr. Alred had the honor of being one of the first five to be selected by the College and Commanding Officer to finish his course at Camp Pike, Ark., for a commission.

Veteran G. W. Baskin, of the old Soldiers Home, age 74 years, died and interment was made in the New Harmony church cemetery at Mountain Creek this week. Veteran Baskin served during the Civil War in the First South Carolina Infantry Regiment and he was admitted as an inmate of the Alabama Soldiers Home several years since.

J. B. Wells, operator on the Union-Banner force, returned from Yazoo City, Miss., yesterday morning, where he had only been since last Saturday to take a position there on a newspaper. He did not fancy the position, and left there Monday night, coming by way of New Orleans.

U. S. Revenue Marshall J. A. Wall and Deputy Sheriff W. H. Gillespie left Clanton with, as prisoners to be arraigned for violating prohibition laws, John Upshaw, Clay Lucas and William Hatcher. These men were arrested in the first place by Deputy Gillespie and after a hearing in the Chilton County Court, they were re-arrested by Officer Wall on Federal charges.

It is evident that the influenza is again prevalent in Chilton county and Clanton, though in much milder form than on the previous time when it was so disastrous. A talk with Dr. J. P. Hayes, the county physician, he said: "There is no doubt about this second appearance of the influenza and we intend to fight it as we did before with all our power."

Dr. J. W. Stone of Mountain Creek, was in Clanton on Saturday, and spoke favorably as to the excellent conditions at the Home and the management. He said that Dr. Eiland steered the Home through all o.k. during the influenza raid in this section, and that he would give the influenza another cold reception on this, its second appearance.

To the ladies of Montgomery the old veterans at the old Alabama Soldiers Home, are indebted for an excellent Thanksgiving dinner consisting of a plentiful supply of turkey, cake, fruits, etc. The 100 old men and ladies at the home enjoyed this dinner and were reminded by it that the service rendered by them during the days of the Confederacy have not been forgotten.

Owing to sickness the Associated Doctors Specialists, who advertised in the last weeks issue of The Union-Banner that they would be here at the Wade Hotel on Tuesday, Dec. 3, was unable to come, and they advise us to announce that they will be here on next Monday, December 9th. Several came in to our office inquiring for these gentlemen on the day advertised, and we have received a letter from the Specialists stating us to announce they will positively be here on the date mentioned, Monday, Dec. 9th.

Referring to lands to be procured for the use of deserving world-war soldiers it can be stated as a fact that the Marbury Lumber Company own 37,000 acres of good cut-over timber lands, much of which is desirable for farming and stock raising. These lands will be disposed of in parcels, and it is believed that many of the soldiers who had a chance to acquaint themselves in their future prospects while they were at Camp Sheridan, will, owing to admiration of the southern climate locate in Alabama.

There is going to be a "hog-killing time" at some of the homes of quite a number of the Chilton county thrifty people, and it is with pleasure that we announce the following as a few of the places where meat enough for the family and then some, will be salted away for the year 1919: W. H. Conway, J. N. Dennis, Judge L. H. Reynolds, Prof. W. T. Bean, J. I. Bice, J. D. Collins, and some others will have more than they need. It sure is pleasant, now that the war is over, to know that there is plenty of provisions on hand.

Expectant Mothers
View Event Calmly

Time Brings Knowledge That by Use of Penetrating Remedy Suffering Is Avoided.

Thousands of women have found by the application of Mother's Friend, the penetrating external remedy, prepared especially for expectant mothers, that pain and suffering at the crisis is avoided and that in addition the months preceding the crisis are free from nervousness, nausea, stretching and bearing-down pains and general discomfort. Mother's Friend makes it possible for the expectant mother to herself actually aid nature in the glorious work to be performed, and no woman should neglect to give nature a helping hand. It will mean infinitely less pain and the hours at the crisis will be less. The period is one of calm repose and restful nights.

By the use of Mother's Friend the skin is kept soft and natural, and experienced mothers say that it is much better to keep your health and good looks during the period of expectancy than to try to regain them afterward.

Write the Bradford Regulator Company, Dept. G, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their interesting Motherhood Book, and obtain a bottle of Mother's Friend and begin its use at once.

PEACE ADDS TO U. S. FOOD TASK

Europe Needs Nearly Double Last Year's Supplies From America.

ECONOMY MUST CONTINUE.

World Survey Shows Sufficient Wheat, But Shortage of Fats—Government's Stimulative Program Justified.

With the return of peace America is confronted by a food problem even harder of solution than that with which we coped in time of war. We have an entirely new world situation in food. It will mean essential changes in our domestic program. But more important than this, it must of necessity require increased export.

Last year we shipped 11,820,000 tons of foodstuffs to the European Allies. Had the war continued we would have increased this enormous figure to 17,550,000 tons in the present year. Now, with the responsibility of feeding millions of people liberated from the German yoke, our exports must be brought up to at least 20,000,000 tons—practically the limit of loading capacity at our ports.

World Food Demand Increased.

The end of the war will create an enormously increased demand for food. Humanity demands that the starving millions freed from Prussian oppression shall have sufficient supplies to assure their return to health and prosperity. If these liberated nations are faced with starvation they cannot establish orderly governments. Hunger breeds anarchy in a people. The war to free the world for democracy will be lost after it has been won. America must continue its work to liberation and by sharing its food make democracy safe in the world.

In order to meet this new situation the Food Administration has made a careful survey of the food resources of the whole world in relation to the total demands. Computing supplies on the basis of the avoidance of waste and war consumption, it is found that wheat and rye may be obtained in sufficient quantities to meet economical world consumption; high protein feed for dairy animals will show a shortage of about 3,000,000 tons, while there will be sufficient supplies of other feeds to allow economical consumption; beans, peas and rice will also be found in sufficient quantities to maintain economy in consumption; there are sufficient supplies of beef to keep pace with the capacity of refrigerating space.

Great Fat Shortage.

The most distinct reversal of policy will come with pork and dairy products, vegetable oils, sugar and coffee. Utmost economy will be required in the use of fats and oils, in which there is a world shortage of about 3,000,000,000 pounds. There are sufficient supplies for us to return to our normal sugar consumption if other nations continue their present short rations, or even if their rations are slightly increased. If the European countries, however, are to resume their normal sugar consumption it will be through our continued conservation in order to share with them. There is a surplus of coffee.

Of the world total required to produce these results North America will furnish more than 60 per cent. The United States, including the West Indies, will be in a position to furnish a total of about 20,000,000 tons—against our pre-war exports of about 6,000,000 tons.

The bread grains situation allows the world to abandon the use of substitutes in wheat bread. Large supplies have accumulated in the Argentine, Australia and other hitherto inaccessible markets. A continued high milling percentage, economy of consumption and elimination of waste make it possible for the world to return to a white wheat loaf.

Of all our export possibilities in fats, the largest and most important item is pork. While we cannot supply the world deficiency, we will be able to help it enormously because of the past policies of stimulating production and restraining consumption. The government's policy with regard to stimulating the production of wheat and of pork, the readiest source of fats, is thus amply justified by the situation upon the return of peace.

Famine Specter Still Stalks.

The people of the United States must continue care and wise economy in the use of food in order to complete the work of liberating the world. But even with the utmost conservation and production in this country there will be in Europe for the next year or more starvation beyond all human power to allay. In North Russia there are 40,000,000 people to whom food cannot be made accessible this winter. Their transportation is demoralized in complete anarchy. And even if internal transport could be assured their ports of entry would soon be frozen. Millions more who have felt keenly the oppression of war will be beyond reach of assistance.

We must realize that upon our shoulders rests a greater responsibility than we have ever before been asked to assume. We must realize that millions of lives depend absolutely upon the continued service and sacrifice of the American people.

We must realize that the specter of famine abroad now haunts the abundance of our table at home.

WHEAT SHOWED SPIRIT OF U. S.

Sacrifice to Ensure Allied Loaf Greatest Single Food Achievement.

SUFFICIENT SUPPLY NOW.

All the Nations Will Be Able to Return to Their Normal Supply of White Bread.

Overshadowing all other accomplishments of the American people under the leadership of Food Administration is the history of wheat exports in the past sixteen months. Our wheat export program proved conclusively to the world that America was in this war from start to finish and willing to make any sacrifice that will hasten victory or maintain the health and strength of people overseas, upon whom rested the heaviest weight of our war.

Now that pressure on ocean tonnage is eased by the stopping of large movements of troops to Europe, we may relax our efforts to save wheat. The accumulated surplus in Australia, Argentina and other hitherto inaccessible markets will become available, and probably no more than our normal surplus will have to leave this country. We in America and the nations which have won the world for freedom will be enabled to eat their normal wheat loaf at the common table of the peoples of democracy.

We entered the past crop year with a wheat supply which gave us only 20,000,000 bushels available for export. When the crop year ended, we had sent 141,000,000 bushels of wheat to Europe. The American people had saved out of their normal consumption 121,000,000 bushels.

A survey of export figures shows that the conservation of flour brought about by the wheatless meals, wheatless diets, substitution in our kitchens and bakeries, enabled us to send to our armies and the allies 33,000,000 barrels of white flour—wheat figured as flour. Had we exported only our visible surplus, we would have been able to ship less than 4,500,000 barrels.

Before the 1st of December our surplus had gone overseas, and an additional 36,000,000 bushels had been taken from the stock reserved for home consumption and added to the surplus already shipped to the allies. It seemed hardly possible that we could bring our total exports above 100,000,000 bushels by July 1. But in January the late Lord Rhonda, then British Food Controller, cabled that unless we could send an additional 75,000,000 bushels he could not take responsibility for assuring his people that they would be fed. The American people responded by sending 85,000,000 bushels of wheat, saved from their home consumption, between the first of the year and the advent of the new crop.

By October 10, 1918, we had already shipped 65,960,305 bushels since July 1. Absolutely the only limitation upon our wheat exports since the latest harvest has been the scarcity of ocean tonnage. If exports continue at the present rate, by July 1 of next year we will have sent more than 237,500,000 bushels to Europe.

Thus we are making good America's pledge that the bread rations of Allied Europe shall be maintained.

A Memorable Achievement of the Titanic Struggle

America saved and sent to Europe in a year of crop failure 141,000,000 bushels of wheat, which saved Europe.

* A GERMAN FEAR CONFIRMED *

*****

A statement made by a prominent German official soon after this country was declared in a state of war with Germany shows that even in the enemy country clear thinking students did not undervalue the strength of the American republic. Only in his confidence that we could not land in Europe sufficient troops to affect the final decision was this German mistaken.

"I do not fear the American soldiers," he told a high official of our government, "because they cannot arrive in time. What I fear is the intelligence and devotion of one hundred million original minds and people trained to a faith in individual initiative. The day that these people, now so materialistic in outward appearance, are stirred spiritually, that day is the day of Germany's doom."

Peace Brings Us New Mouths to Feed

ALLIES ARE FED BY SELF DENIAL

Generous Doing Without in America Supplied Food to Europe.

Exports from this country since it entered the war have kept starvation from Allied Europe and have maintained the health and strength of those who have been bearing the brunt of our battles, so that they could hold out to victory. Now that hostilities have ceased we must assume the added burden of keeping starvation from increasing its toll upon the millions who have been liberated from the Prussian yoke. Famine would undo the work which has been accomplished in freeing the world for democracy. No stable government can be established and maintained by a nation harassed by hunger. A starving people turns to rioting and anarchy. Food has given strength and courage to the nations fighting for democracy; it must now give the nations strength and tranquility to reestablish themselves in freedom and democracy.

Without our help it would have been absolutely impossible for the Allies to maintain a living ration. Since our entry into the war we have been contributing largely to the support of one hundred and twenty million people whose normal food supplies have been cut off, whose production has fallen almost to the vanishing point, whose fields have been devastated by Germany. The food exported from the United States in the past year has been sufficient to supply the complete ration of twenty-two million people.

It is hard to grasp the magnitude and significance of the assistance which has been lent the Allies by the patriotic, voluntary service of the American people. The food we sent abroad last year would have been sufficient to feed one-fifth of our population. And this was done in spite of the fact that we entered the year with short crops. Our surplus was practically nothing. An overwhelming proportion of the food that left this country last year was saved out of the normal home consumption of our own people.

In spite of difficulties met in internal transportation and shortage of ocean tonnage our food exports last year amounted to a figure that a few years ago would have been unbelievable. Even the most optimistic element of our population faced with anxious consternation the prospect which opened before us with the beginning of the 1917 harvest year.

The American people have not been compelled to save. They have been appealed to on the basis of humanity and of patriotism. They have responded voluntarily.

Besides such incidental benefits as the improvement in figure and health that we've reaped from our meatless, wheatless days, think of the fun we've had out of them—the new crop of jokes, jibes, topical songs and cartoons to replace the mother-in-law joke and the boost to our reputation for ready humor!

* Eighty millions of men cannot be taken out of production for four years without lasting losses of yield. It will be years before their fields recuperate, farms are restored and herds restocked. Save food.

PURPOSES OF FOOD ADMINISTRATION THE DAY OF ITS BEGINNING.

The hopes of the Food Administration are threefold: So to guide the trade in fundamental food commodities as to eliminate vicious speculation, extortion and wasteful practices and to stabilize prices in essential staples.—Herbert Hoover, August 10, 1917.

SEVEN LOAVES OF BREAD FOR EVERY PERSON IN U. S. SAVED FROM WASTE

Farmers and Threshermen Patriotically Respond to Call of Food Administration.

From information received by the U. S. Food Administration from the principal grain growing states, it is now possible to announce with fair accuracy the amount of wheat saved last harvest by improved methods of handling. According to official calculations, efforts toward cleaner threshing saved fully 16,000,000 bushels of wheat with corresponding savings of other small grain harvested and threshed in a similar manner. In addition, other states, though unable to furnish figures, reported greatly reduced harvest losses.

The figure for wheat alone is equivalent to seven one-pound loaves of bread for every person in the United States and represents food that formerly was either an absolute loss or was recovered to only a slight extent by poultry and livestock. While opportunities in this branch of conservation were large, the quantity of grain recovered surpasses early expectations. It is noteworthy also that results were secured principally through voluntary co-operation.

No conservation measure of the Food Administration, it is declared, has received more wholehearted support than that pledged and rendered by farmers and threshermen toward reducing grain waste at its source.

The benefits of our food-saving campaign that was a vital factor in the winning of the war were not all to these we fed. We have at home a new appreciation of food that will prevent it ever being wasted again by those that have come to understand the religion of saving and the place that food occupies in our new, world-wide human relations.

Out of empty granaries to draw 141,000,000 bushels for export—the will of a free people accomplished that marvel.

Do you remember when food control by voluntary action was deemed a daring adventure in democracy?

MEAT INCREASE AT TIME NEEDED

Producers Responded Nobly When Demand Was Shown to Them.

CATTLE AND HOG FIGURES.

Government Justified in Pork Policy Which Now Provides Chief Supply to Meet Three Billion Pound Fat Shortage.

In line with the general plan of conservation formulated by the U. S. Food Administration immediately following the entrance of the United States into the war the contribution made by the meat producers of this country to the war program is of particular significance, as it demonstrates the hearty co-operation accorded the Food Administration by the meat producers of the country.

According to reports of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, there was an increase in cattle of 10,238,000 head and 12,441,000 hogs, these figures compiled to January 1 last. In the same period there was a decrease of 819,000 head of sheep, but indications are this decrease will show an increase following the latest reports.

Since January 1 unofficial information indicates an increase in hogs of not less than eight per cent, and not more than fifteen per cent, compared with one year ago, with an increase in average weight.

Following the request of the Food Administration for increase in hog production for the fall of 1918 and the spring of 1919 the increase may yield not less than 1,000,000,000 pounds more of pork products than were available last year. Without this increase the shipping program arranged by Mr. Hoover regarding animal food products would have been impossible.

The dressed hog products during the three months ending September 30, 1917, amounted to 903,172,000 pounds, while for the same months of 1918 the production was 1,277,589,000 pounds, an increase of over 374,000,000 pounds for the quarter.

During the same period in 1917 inspected slaughter records of dressed beef showed 1,263,000,000 pounds as against 1,454,000,000 pounds for the three month period ending September 1, this year.

We must increase our meat shipments, especially our pork products, to meet the added demands of the millions liberated from German oppression. And at the same time we must look forward to the rehabilitation of the European meat herds. The policy which guided our meat program in the past year has been fully justified, for only the heavy pork production which it has brought about will enable us even partly to satisfy the increased demands on us for the coming year. There will be a world shortage in fats, and it is to the United States that Europe must look to supply its deficiency. At the same time there will continue to be heavy demands for beef. Owing to the limited refrigerator shipping capacity European imports of beef for some time will be limited. The United States, Australia and Argentina will be able to maintain a supply that will keep all available freezer vessels operating at capacity.

America's Pledge to the Allies When Their Lines Were Breaking

America will send the food, whatever needs for victory. They believed they stood fast and with our men they carried on—to victory.

THE TEST NOW FULFILLED.

This government is nothing more than the expression of the people, and if we are to win the war it will be only because every man, woman and child charges himself daily and hourly with the test, Does this or that contribute to win the war?—Herbert Hoover April 18, 1918.

With the solemn obligation of providing that "margin" of food that would safeguard against starvation our friends in Europe the housewife and the consumer have learned hitherto to ignore and unsuspected things about food, have absorbed a whole "college education" in food values, food handling, buying and substituting that they will not want to forget.

Our voluntary food-saving not only saved the Allies and made vital contribution to the winning of the war, but saved to ourselves in administration expenses the outlay out of our own pockets that any effective system of rationing would have extracted. It would have cost us about $45,000,000 to have policed ourselves as against the 2 cents per capita for co-operating.

By saving and sharing America kept the world together during the war crisis. By saving and sharing America will help to bring the healing of nations.

SUGAR TESTED MORAL FIBER

Doubters Declared Saving Staples Would Be Easy Compared With Sacrificing Luxuries.

FIGURES SHOW RESULTS.

Americans Demonstrated Sturdy Support of War by Conserving for the Benefit of the Allies.

When figures began to show definitely that the people of the United States were actually reducing their consumption of foods needed abroad, the United States Food Administration was told that it was comparatively easy to bring about conservation of staple necessities, but that it would be far more difficult to accomplish an actual decrease in the use of luxuries. The doubters took sugar as an example, and declared that it would be practically impossible to bring our consumption of sugar down to a point that would meet only the food needs of the people.

Now that demands upon ocean tonnage will be lightened, European nations will be able to go farther afield for foodstuffs, and will no longer be entirely dependent for sugar upon North American supplies. With the stocks now in prospect, we will have sufficient sugar to place this country back upon normal consumption if the present short rations in Europe are not materially increased. If the European ration is to be materially increased over the present low amount it can be only through the American people's making it possible by continued restriction to a greater or less extent here.

The fact that the Food Administration has been able to relax the voluntary sugar ration is in itself proof that the ration of two pounds per person per month was generally observed throughout the country. This conservation allowed the Food Administration to build up a reserve, and to tide over the period of scarcity, until the new crops of Louisiana cane and beet sugar were ready for distribution.

The records of the Food Administration show that in July, August, September and October 995,000 tons were distributed. Normal consumption for that period is 1,000,000 tons. This shows a definite, concrete saving of over 500,000 tons. These figures apply to sugar consumed on the table, in the kitchen and in the various industries, and show conclusively that in the homes and public eating places of America, where 70 per cent. of all our sugar is consumed, the sugar consumption has been reduced by more than one-third.

In the four-month period beginning with July, this country normally uses 400,000 tons of sugar per month. Last July 260,000 tons entered into distribution. In August only 225,000 tons were distributed. In September the figures showed 279,000 tons, and then fell to 230,000 tons in October.

There could be no more definite proof that the American people have given their loyal co-operation and support of the war.

AN AMERICAN HABIT THAT WAS EXPANDED.

Coming to the relief of the distressed is not a new sensation to us. Having sent shiploads of food to the famine sufferers of India as offhandedly as the housewife hands out a cut of the loaf to the wayfarer, it seemed the most natural thing in the world to succor Belgium, to take on the feeding of a nation quite informally.

The test of peace is to summon for the healing of nations devotion equal to that given the tasks of war.

Save that we may share Save food

*****

METHODS OF DEMOCRACY.

The extent to which the United States Food Administrator has relied on the voluntary support of the American people is shown by a statement made by the United States Food Administrator for speaking before the Senate Agricultural Committee less than three months after this country entered the war. That he was justified in his implicit confidence in the strength of democracy has been clearly reflected by the measure of support we have lent the Allies.

"If democracy is worth anything," Mr. Hoover declared, "we can do these things by co-operation, by stimulation, by self-sacrifice, by the patriotic mobilization of the brains of this country. If it cannot be done in this manner it is better that we accept German domination and confess to failure of our political ideals, acquiesce in the superiority of the German conception and send for the Germans to instruct us in its use."

MARVIN HOLMES WRITES A LETTER FROM FRANCE

Mrs. Willie Hicks of Chilton county received the following letter from Sergeant Marvin Holmes, Ambulance Co. No. 13, A. E. F. France, telling her more about the death of her brother, Corporal Bert H. Walker, of the same company. They had been together two years and had learned to like each other very much, as they were the only Alabama boys in that company. Mr. Holmes lived at Alabama City before joining the army.

Bert Walker was wounded July 21 and died July 22nd, 1918. It is very sad indeed to give up such a noble, christian boy, and so young; he was only 23 year old. But he died that others might live.

The letter reads:

Dear Friend:

It is with the most of pleasure that I answer your letter that I received a few days ago, and would have answered sooner, but have been in a condition that I could not write at all. For the last month have been through the worst and most miserable moments that I have spent since being in France. Have been on detached service with the infantry, and the poor infantry boys earn their months salary, and a medical man earns his also if he follows them. Being away from my company is why I have had such hard times. While I was not in the trenches, was laying around in the woods like a cow or some other animal. I would not tell my mother this for she might worry. I always tell her I am having a fine time. I believe she knows better but says nothing.

Excuse my writing for I am sitting under a tree and leaning back against it. But as an unseen friend, and a dear friend of Bert's, you will perhaps be glad to hear from me. I was glad to hear from you and will answer your questions. We are not supposed to mention names of towns but I will take a chance on it this time.

You can't imagine my feelings when I received your letter and also one from my mother and sister. They, too, had received the word about Bert and regretted the loss of such a friend of mine. They said they both could not help but cry when they read my letter telling them about Bert. They had learned to love him as a friend of mine, although they had never seen him. I sent his and my picture home, I guess you received one of the same. I have always been glad we had them made together. I had to persuade Bert to have them made. I often study about him, and miss his presence, and regret the loss. But you are right, he died for a good cause, and if I ever see you I will tell you a few things I would not dare tell you now. I am living in hopes of seeing you all and my dear ones at home. But I want to say that I have come out on the safe side so far.

When Bert went out into the shell fire I told him not to go, but he said: "Yes, I must go; there are wounded men waiting for my return." I looked around and he was gone, and in a little while they came in with him on a litter and I said "oh, if his mother could see him." I know all of you were grieved and shocked, but not very much more than I. You are like my people and others. You long for the return of your loved ones, but there are many that will never return alive.

No, Bert did not suffer so awful much. He was, as far as I know, conscious at all times. He was wounded in both legs, if he had gotten well would have lost one leg, and was also wounded in the stomach. From the way he acted I knew he could not live, but he thought he could. I told him good-by and he laughed. He got as good burying as was possible. The place where he was buried is near the chateau at Perreford. If you have a may you can look it up. I am down south now; may never go up there again. I am near Verdun.

Yes, I have a mother, and I appreciate the love of a mother, and I sure appreciate what your mother said. I am living in hopes of seeing you all after this is over and I will be more than glad to see all of Bert's people.

Thanking you all for remembering me, I will have to close. Good luck to you all.

Your friend,
Sergt. MARVIN HOLMES,
Ambulance Co. No. 13, 1st. Division A. E. F.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures.
He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul.
He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness.

For His name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me; Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies.
Thou hast anointed my head with oil, my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

There are many all over the face of our broad land today who have tested and are reaping the benefits of trust such as that proclaimed in David's goodly Psalm.

What a glorious partner is our Christ. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me for I am meek and lowly in heart, and ye shall find rest to your soul.

In these days of multiplied sorrow and wide-spread panic, when the shadow of death darkens so many homes, Christ has promised to carry one end of every yoke that shall be laid upon His shoulders and shared with Him. "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden; ye shall find rest unto your souls."

Rumor tells of many families in country and in town where nearly every member is lying ill with only a neighbor's kindly hand to administer medicine and serve a drink and a bite to eat. May their sufferings be sanctified in Christ to their glory.

The doctors are busy day and night travelling afar to relieve suffering and save life. Surely noble practices are those of doctor and nurse. They shall in no wise lose their reward. Visiting the sick is one of the signs of having performed the will of God.

Out of the past eleven Sundays the Baptist church has missed having preaching on seven. Upon two of these the pastor and his four eldest children had the "flu." Some of the others were under the ban of the health officers and on others the pastor had out of town dates in behalf of the War Work Drive. We trust the prospect for the future may be better. If the Lord will on next Sunday at eleven the pastor will preach on "The Doctrines and Doings of the Future Church." At night on "The Tenth Commandment."

The hearts of the pastor and his family are full of gratitude to those who seemed determined that "we should not want" if they could prevent it, and their solicitude bore much fruit. May the blessings of Christ rest on their thoughtful hearts. And the entire community was interested in our welfare. Some are now themselves lying upon beds of suffering. May their kindly care and good wishes be returned manifold upon their own heads and fill their hearts with peace and comfort.

A TYPICAL EXAMPLE

Washington, Dec. 10—(Special correspondence)—Even if the administration has a measure of control over messages coming by cable across the ocean, it has no control over the personal statements of soldiers who have returned to this country, and it is this fact that sometimes serves to show the inefficiency of government service. An amazing illustration was recently brought forcefully to public attention.

On November 29, 1918, the Official Bulletin, published under the direction of the President, with George Creel in control, presented in a prominent place on the front page the statement that "No Time Lost in Cabling Reports of Casualties in Expeditionary Forces." Under those headlines it was announced that all deaths were being reported by cable as fast as the reports are received, and that the reporting of the wounded in addition did not interfere with this. The statement thus made was very reassuring to the readers of the Official Bulletin.

But on the next day the Washington Post had an interesting account of the delayed report of the wounding of Maj. William D. Alexander.
Alexander was wounded in battle on July 26. A few days later he was ordered to return to the United States and has been on duty in Washington since September 1, having recovered from the wound. The casualty list of November 28 contained the announcement that he had been wounded "degree undetermined."

The news of his being wounded did not reach this country until five months after he was injured, and nearly three months after he had recovered from the wound and returned to duty in this country. The wonder is that he had not been reported as missing.

It is surmised that as the boys come back home and facts gradually come out, there will be a multitude of disclosures of the same character.
Not long ago the Bureau of War Risk Insurance was insistent upon paying a mother out on the Pacific Coast the insurance money due on her son, who was alleged by the Bureau to have been killed on a specific date. As she had a letter from her son bearing a later date, she refused to accept the check but returned it with an expression of confidence that her son was still alive. The Bureau was reluctant to accept the explanation and it was only after an exchange of telegrams and letters that it was finally found that a soldier of the same name but enlisted from Massachusetts was the one who had been killed.

If you have anything to sell try W. W. Fox with it, he can tell all the people.

Dr. J. P. Crumpton, the dentist, is back on his job. The flu shook him up a bit, but he says that he is all right now.

When it is groceries you want and you want to know where to find them just try Hodges store. He has got the goods and keeps down the price.

The good housekeepers in town and country should just see the good things for the tablet hat. Gilvie McKee has for sale. Gilvie intends to keep on sale everything in the way of meats, etc.

Lee A. Wadsworth, a Chilton county soldier, is reported as having been severely wounded in France. Young Wadsworth left Clanton in June for the training camp and from there was sent to France.

The race for the postoffice job is on. There are, it is said, five candidates all running easy with C. Reese Mullins in the lead. Congressman Fred L. Blackmon occupies the position as judge in this race, and he will decide the matter.

Mr. J. P. Gore received a telegram from his wife who went to Wilton, Ala., to attend Miss Ruby Gore who was dangerously ill with influenza. The telegram stated that Miss Ruby was much better and now believed to be recovering slowly.

Harry Kanjutzky is a happy man. He met the Union-Banner man on the street and with a pitched voice and smiling face said: "Well, Joe is back, and he just escaped going to France one week." Joe has been welcomed by his old Clanton friends. He looks well in good health and says that he enjoyed his stay at Auburn.

Work on the new court house building for Chilton county is progressing well and Mr. Dobson, the contractor, says he will complete the building within the time limit. Dr. J. P. Hayes, owner of the Exchange Hotel property, which is now being used for court house purposes, says that he will, as soon as the property is vacated by the county officials, use the building for hotel purposes again.

Leslie Grant, age 19 years, son of Mr. James M. Grant, tax commissioner of Chilton county, died at the home of his father on Saturday and interment was made on Sunday. The deceased was one of the most industrious young men of this section. He had learned telegraphy and was at the time he was taken sick operator at Calera, Ala. Influenza was the cause of the death of this young man.

Just where all the turpentine and rosin shipped from Chilton county is going to is a question, but that car loads are being shipped is a fact. The large Mack trucks are used to bring the product to Clanton for shipment. The greater portion of the product is secured from an immense tract of timber on which convict labor is employed.

Some times a man has bad luck coupled with bad judgment. Just so, Joseph P. Vanderveer has a lot of land on which there is graphite, he had good offers for the land, but, like a man who has plenty, Mr. Vanderveer kept holding on for more, and now the war is over and graphite, like many other substances, is climbing down the ladder of prices. Well he can stand this.

With the coming of Christmas time the moonshine whiskey fiends and the fine-haired swamp jack rabbits are making their appearance. W. H. Gillespie says that he is on to a nest of moonshine booze makers and that he is going to turn loose the remaining rounds of justice ammunition in his ordnance department before he retires to private life on the 20th of January. He is o.k. as to illicit distillers but he cannot arrest the fine-haired rabbit who escapes from the swamp to peddle booze or shoot off his Kansas-tinged villainous vintage.

With Christmas comes the fact that the people of Chilton county are generally in better fix than they ever were before. They have provisions in plenty; meat and corn is in abundance. Cattle and hogs are, owing to the delayed cold weather, browsing on left over stuff in the fields. Necessities in the stores are a little high, but money is plentiful. The boys have, at a tremendous cost, paid the price of liberty, and some of them will soon be back home, and now, with these blessings, let the calamity howler go away back and sit down.

A recent visit to Marbury is convincing to the editor of this newspaper as to the wide-awake activity and spirit of the business men of that thriving town. They do not hesitate to grasp a business proposition. They listen, learn and act. And just a mile north of Marbury is Mountain Creek station, a town full of live wires—merchants up-to-date in dealing. And then on another mile is the old Soldiers Home where Dr. Elland and Supt. Kicker watch out for the comfort of over 100 veterans some of whom are 70 to 90 years old. It is a pleasure to walk over the grounds at the Home and visit the cottages and main buildings. A talk with some of the old men guarantees the statement that the management is doing all that the limited means allowed by the state for maintenance will permit.

With four recent deaths on account of the influenza and a number of new cases reported there is no denying the statement truthfully made that the disease is increasing. In many instances entire families are suffering from the malady. Dr. J. P. Hayes the health physician of Chilton county, has more cases than he can attend to, he is on the go day and night. He is untiring in his efforts. Dr. N. S. Johnson Dr. V. J. Gragg and Dr. O. C. Mastin are and have been doing heroic service; they do not discriminate they make visits to the people in moderate circumstances as readily as they attend the rich. Mayor John Stanfield is working in concert with the physicians. The greatest trouble is in the country where nurses cannot readily be procured and the people are afraid to get in contact with the disease. Schools and show places will be kept closed, Dr. Hayes says, until the disease is routed. The stores keep a large force of clerks so as not to permit gatherings. Customers are waited on promptly.

A look over the pages of this issue of the Union-Banner is convincing as to the fact that the live business man knows just where to place his advertising matter in order to meet the buyers. In this paper you will find announcements made by the leading merchants, and it is to them that the painstaking purchaser can apply to in order to procure the most reasonable goods and groceries and, at the same time, know that the articles purchased are just what they are advertised to be. It is during such days as we are now experiencing that time to the merchant is money, these sagacious dealers have carefully marked their goods in order that salesman and purchaser will know that no two-price principle will be practiced. And, as to the gift departments the same precaution as to exorbitant prices have been adhered to. The sales people, as a rule, are instructed to make the same price to rich and poor alike. These merchants have purchased with the double purpose in view of serving their customers and charging only a reasonable per cent profit. The newspaper is the vehicle or medium through which buyer and seller get acquainted, and in this holiday instance the Union-Banner cites its readers to the fair-dealing merchants who avail themselves of newspaper publicity as the places to go for goods of any description.

The American people resent the capitalization of great national emotions and impulses for factional advantage. Mr. Wilson's electioneering appeal struck perhaps the shabbiest note that has yet been struck in this war. Its proscriptive animus was an affront to the American spirit of fair play and tolerant common sense—New York Tribune.

Holiday Fires

It is a noticeable fact that as the holidays approach, destructive fires become more frequent.

The holiday spirit breeds carelessness, and carelessness is the parent of three-fourths of the fires that ravage our country. Death rides on every breeze and lurks in every flower.

POOR ME

Soon I shall hear the soldiers tell of mighty deeds they've done; how they have dared the shot and shell and how before them Prussians fell and I have bagged not one! I soon shall see the hero here, with port and front of Mars, the man who knew no craven fear when prodded with a lance or spear and I can show no scars. The man who sailed the vasty deep will tell strange tales to me; and I shall feel so daddled cheap I'm likely to break down and weep—I have not crossed the sea! The air-men soon will with us tread, their voices will resound; they'll tell of triumphs overhead, and I'll be filled with grief and dread—I've never left the ground! Oh, weary days are coming soon, for men too fat to fight; a melancholy lay they'll croon as they sit out beneath the moon and weep through half the night. What if I bought a green thrift stamp and did without cigars? The man from battle-field and camp will on me turn a scornful lamp, and show his honored scars. What if I lived on graham bread, and cut out pie and cake? The man who piled up ricks of dead, and lost an arm, a leg or head, will say my boasts are a fake. I've done my best; alas, alack, that it should be so small; for when the boys have journeyed back I know I'll want to hunt a crack, in which a gent may crawl.

THE PRESIDENT'S POWERS LIMITED.

Professor Edward S. Corwin of Princeton University, an authority on jurisprudence and politics, says that the President's powers under the Constitution, in foreign affairs, is limited, and that the Senate has a right to be consulted in the making of treaties. Should Mr. Wilson in agreeing to the terms of a treaty of peace with the Central Powers, fail to consult with the Senate, he may meet with serious and embarrassing opposition. It is even claimed that Mr. Wilson, as President, under the Constitution, has no right to go abroad for any length of time; and that if he remains away, he ceases to be President. All of these matters are of grave importance.—American Economist.

GOOD-WILL ADVERTISING

The following statement, prominently displayed, is contained in a page advertisement of an underwear manufacturer in the November 9 issue of one of the greatest—if not the greatest—weekly publication in the country: "For months the government has taken the entire output of our mills. Until some of our machinery is released it may be difficult for civilians to obtain this underwear." The publication of that page advertisement one time in the one paper cost the underwear manufacturer several hundred dollars—possibly more than $1,000. Why should he expend even that amount for a one-time advertisement when the government was taking the entire output of his mills? It was because he understands the real value of advertising, which might be expected since he is a very successful business man. He knew that there would come a time when the government would not need the output of his mills, and he realized that he could not afford to lose the attention and good-will of the buying public secured through advertising.—Industrial Index.

THIRTY THOUSAND DAILY

Uncle Sam is losing no time in demobilizing the great army that he drew from the ranks of agriculture, commerce and industry for the defense of civilization and our ideals. This is already having its effect in assisting in the orderly, systematic re-adjustment of business affairs to a peace basis. Within four days after peace was declared, it was announced that 200,000 troops would be released during the first two weeks, to return to civilian pursuits. This has been done. Soldiers are being mustered out at the rate of 30,000 men a day and this will continue. Thus by January 1 approximately one million men in America will have changed from military to civilian activities. The peacetime demands for production are enormous, and the returning soldiers will find work to do.

FOUR MINUTE MEN TO BE HONORABLY DISCHARGED

National Director Wm. H. Ingersoll of the Four Minute Men has written each state director and county and local chairman that with the conclusion of the Red Cross "Roll Call" campaign on December 24th, the services of the Four Minute Men to their government would come to an end and that every man who has served in this great volunteer army of fifty thousand speakers would be honorably discharged from the service.

During the closing weeks of their work, the Four Minute Men will take part in several very important campaigns, including Red Cross Home Service, "What Have We Won" and the Red Cross Roll Call, ending on Christmas Eve. The members of the organization are urged to stick to their jobs to the last minute and it is thought that each speaker will be awarded some memento that may be preserved to show the important part that he took in this period of his country's history. Just what form this will take has not yet been decided, but announcement will be made within the next few days.

While the government officials realize that the Four Minute Men have been invaluable in conveying information to the people and that many important works remain to be done, it was thought best to demobilize them now, because most of them are very busy men who can ill afford to give their time and effort, but have been glad to do so while their country was at war.

The same men and women who have composed the Four Minute Men of Alabama will continue to act as members of the Red Cross Speakers Bureau, of which Val J. Nesbit is State Chairman, until such time as the Red Cross will no longer need their services in this capacity.

THOS. J. CRITTENDEN,
State Director.

THE SOCIAL EVIL.

The State Board of Health desires to point out that according to the records ninety-eight per cent of diseases resulting from social vices found in the army are brought in by new recruits, and only two per cent develop in the camps. This is an astonishing record. It serves to emphasize the necessity of more strenuous legislation towards the regulation of this evil, and calls for more vigilance on the part of civil officers and citizens in enforcing such laws. "Alabama as Clean as a Military Camp."

The above is suggested as a slogan to be taken up and stressed by every news paper, woman's club, church, fraternal order and every citizen who loves clean manhood and the blessing it brings to a people. We must recognize the fact that our Military Camps are the cleanest places in the state.

If we make Alabama as clean as a Camp physically, we thereby largely eliminate tuberculosis, typhoid, malaria, and hookworm. If we make it as clean morally, we thereby largely eliminate the diseases that grow out of social vices. When our boys return to private life they should find things just as much improved over what they left as they found their health improved after entering the army.

We can bring this to pass if we WILL.

HYMN UNIVERSAL

When the sun hath shone on my lands alone,

Or on others refused to shine,
When the winds have blown on my sails alone

To pilot me across the brine.
When the waters of rive and sea

Flow only for mine and for me—
Then God, my Father, smite my foe,

And shield Thou Mine and Me,
For I am Thine as Thou art Mine,

So shield Thy cause in Me
God, my Father, sharp Thy sword

And in my puissant hand
O' grant Me of Thy purpose, Lord,

By sea and sky and land.
When I ask for a sign to proclaim

Thee as Mine,
Thou hast granted me famine—and yield.

And the sun and the rain which hath brought me Thy gain Hath beaten down my full-grown field.

For the suns and the tides and the snows

Hath no favor of friends or of foes.

So God, my Father, guide my foe,
For he, too, looks to Thee;

Dissolve us both from battle-oath
Aid make him friend to me.

God, our Father, purge our pride
And heed us lest we fall;

Be every self-stained prayer denied
And be Thou God of All.

—Edmund Vance Cooke.

ANOTHER BAD YEAR FOR TICKS

If the Kaiser believes that misery loves company, he should have a brotherly feeling for the cattle fever tick. This year has been a bad one for kaisers and ticks.

This is why it has been a bad one for ticks and why December 1, 1918, should be a memorial day in the Southern States:

An area greater than ever before freed in one year from Federal quarantine was released on that day.

The drive of the antitick forces have sent a broad wedge of free territory through the tick lines to the Atlantic Ocean, just as last year a wedge was driven to the Gulf.

Of the 728,565 square miles of infested area in 1906, 63 per cent has been pronounced clean.

Farmers will be free to ship their cattle to the great markets for competition on their own merits with other cattle and not under the quarantine handicap which requires sale at buyers' prices for immediate slaughter.

Cattle will increase in value, weight, milk production, appearance, health, productivity, and length of life.

Farmers in the freed areas will be able to bring to their farms better stock and thus raise the standard of their herds. The Southern States will have taken big strides toward their position as a great cattle-raising country to which their natural advantages entitle them.

ALLEN WRITES FROM FRANCE

The following letter was received a few days ago by Mr. and Mrs. J.F. Allen of near Montevallo, from their son, Fred, in France:

France, October 23, 1918.

Dear Father and Mother:

Here I am somewhere in France enjoying life as well as any soldier could. As far as I am concerned I am ready to come home, but guess I will stay over here awhile yet.

I am glad to say "no" to your "yes" and "no" proposition. You may feel sure I am safe and sound if I have my way about it. I have received several letters from Ernest and one from Willie, they are both doing well. I got two letters from you yesterday and one from my girl, the first I have received from you in answer to letters I have written since I came over. I have received numbers of letters from old school pupils which were greatly appreciated; I would be glad to answer all of them but for like of time I am compelled to let them pass.

As for pass time we have a limited amount of it. I want all the people to know that their subscriptions to the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. are not in vain, for these two organizations are really as nearly as can be, mothers to the American soldiers.

I certainly would be glad to be helping the teachers of old Shelby in their work this scholastic year. The schools here are quite different. I am 'mam' over a school room. The wooden shoes the children wear would be some sight for Rufus and children of his age.

I am glad you all have made good crops; the land I have seen have good crops.

Give my love to all, so I will close,
FRED.

Switzerland estimates that the war expenses from the beginning to the close of 1918 will be in excess of $200,000,000,000, and the cost in the year 1918 alone greater than the total estimated value of all Germany and everything in it—American Economist.

REPUBLICAN RECONSTRUCTION

The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement from its Washington Headquarters:

"Hardly less important than our preparations for war will be the work of putting the country in readiness to resume once more the activities of peace. In the recent elections the people decreed that the task shall be carried on under the direction of the Republican party. While it is possible from the point of numbers for the Democrats in the Senate and House to enact the pending bill providing for the appointment of a Reconstruction Committee by the President, it is not probable that Democratic votes can be solidified behind such a measure. There are a few Democrats in each House who do not yield subservience to the President and who have confidence in their own ability and the ability of their legislative associates to study and determine upon plans for after-war reconstruction. The Weeks Resolution providing for a Joint Congressional Committee composed of an equal number of members of each of the two political parties will more likely be adopted.

"But even if the partisans of the President should prevail and a Democratic Committee on Reconstruction should be appointed, there would be little danger of the enactment of any unwise legislation such a Committee might recommend. The Republicans will assume control of Congress on March 4th and it is not likely that much reconstruction will be enacted before that time.

"In view of the vast importance of the reconstruction problems that confront the nation, it is particularly fortunate that a majority of each House of the next Congress will be Republican. Under the shrewd management of a Reconstruction Commission made up of plant political henchmen the Administration, masquerading as industrial and economical experts, supported by a subservient Democratic Congress, Mr. Wilson would have been able to put upon the statute books legislation that, in practical effect, would have provided by law for long-continued administration of the government by Democrats. That has been the inevitable effect of much of the legislation enacted during the last two years. With the record before them of the unscrupulous political efforts of the President and his party leaders to maintain their control of Congress, the Republicans have awaited with trepidation renewed excesses in autocratic legislation, in preparation for the Democratic attempt in 1920 to continue in the White House Mr. Wilson or a man of his selection. "But the danger is now behind us. Not only will the Republicans be in a position, after March 4th, to stop further attempts at Executive usurpation of legislative prerogatives, but they will be able to put before the president for his approval bills cauculated to undo much of the carefully prepared political structure that the Democrats have built. Let Mr. Wilson veto such measures if he chooses to do so. Every sound reconstruction bill he refuses to sign will prove another nail in his political coffin.

"The people discovered that Mr. Wilson is not infallible. This in spite of the fact that every effort has been made to impress upon the public that criticism of the Executive was little short of treason. They have been told that acts of the President must be accepted without the slightest question else encouragement will be given to his enemy. Doubtless amazed at his own audacity the voter decided to express his convictions without regard to directions from Washington. He has found that many millions of the American people think alike in their estimate of the President. The result of the elections will give courage not only to the individuals to talk as he thinks, but will stimulate the press to give expression to the thoughts that have surged in the minds of editors for many months. Freedom of speech and unbridled discussion of public questions in the months to come will mark the rapid dissolution of the hold the Democrats now have upon the country and will spell an even more complete defeat for their party in 1920."

IN MEMORY

On October 12th the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Weldon at Clanton, Ala., and carried their little son, William Wallace, away from them to live with God.

Little Wallace was the pride and joy of his parents lives. He was a dear, bright, loving child and though his life here on earth was so short, only one year and ten days, he had become very dear to his parents and all who knew him.

Though it grieves our hearts sorely to give him up let us turn to our heavenly Father who never fails us in our darkest hours.

His remains were laid to rest in Liberty Hill cemetery on Sunday, October 13, Rev. A. L. Foshee conducting the funeral services.

(From the New York Herald)

Adulation is all right in its place, but it is impossible to see merit in Mr. Josephus Danel's enthusiastic assertion that Mr. Wilson's "fourteen demands" rank with the historic utterances of Mr. Lincoln at Gettysburg. Some way we have never heard that Mr. Lincoln's address required amendment, amplification or interpretation.

PA WINS

When pa went off to war I was a little bitta kid
And then I couldn't understand the things pa done and did,
But now he's won the war and put an end to all the row,
And I can 'preciate my pa, because I'm bigger now.
Hip, hurrah!
Good old pa!

Pa has won, and now he's coming back to me and ma.
Of course the French and British and the allies done a lot,
But when my pa went over, things was getting pretty hot!
But pa jumped at the Germans and just dared and double-dared 'em;
And, sir! You woulda almost died to see the way pap scared 'em.
Hip, hurrah!
Good old pa!

Pa has won, and now he's comin' home to me and ma.
Pa licked the Germans and the Austrians and Turks,
Pa has took their forts and boats and all their inside works.
Pa has licked 'em all to pieces and I bet the kaiser's mad,
But now pa's coming home again, and gee! but ain't I glad!
Hip, hurrah!
Good old pa!

Pa has won, and now he's coming back to me and ma.
Pa will tel the allies they can finish up, and then
As soon as they can spare him he'll be gettin' home again;
There's lots of things right here to keep him busy as can be,
And pa will bring a something or a anything for me!
Hip, hurrah!
Good old pa!

Pa has won, and now he's on the way to me and ma!

Free-Trade with Germany after the war! That is what we must submit to if the principles of peace as laid down by Mr. Wilson are to be followed. One of the conditions of the enduring peace the President prescribes in this language: "The removal, as far as possible, of all economic barriers, and the establishment of a neutrality of trade conditions among all the nations consenting to the peace and associating themselves for its Maintenance." Germany, of course, will "consent to the peace." It also will be associated with other nations in its maintenance. Every country signing a peace treaty is presumed to agree to the conditions and to abide by them. So, then, if Mr. Wilson is allowed to have his way the United States will be prohibited from erecting any "economic barriers" against Germany, and this country will be committed to a "neutrality of trade" with her.—Doylestown (Pa.) Intelligencer, 10.28.18.

I HEARD THE KAISER 'PHONE.

The Kaiser called the devil up, on the telephone today,
And I listened, like we often do to what they had to say.

"Hello", I heard Bill Kaiser say, "Is old man Satan home?"

Just tell him this is Kaiser Bill, who wants him on the phone."

The Devil said "hello!" to Bill, and Bill said, "how are you,"

Bill said "I'm in the hell trade too, so tell me what to do."

"What can I do", the devil said, "My dear old Kaiser Bill?"

"But if I can help you make things worse, indeed I surely will."

Bill Kaiser said, "now listen Nick while I proceed to tell

How I am running here on earth, this modern German hell.

"For forty years I've planned my schemes to rob, shoot and kill,

And do the crimes you shuddered at, and left to Kaiser Bill."

Belgium children, men and women—my armies mowed them down,

Their daughters fed the German lust, we blew up every town.

We started out for Paris, with shot and shell and gas,

Till them durned Yankees met us and wouldn't let us pass.

I was running things to suit me, till a month or two ago

When we met them heathen Yankees, and they made us travel slow.

The Eagle's madly screaming, and it's coming after me,

A-leading swarms of Yankees, from their homes across the sea,

That's why I called you Satan,—I want advice from you,

I thought perhaps you'd tell me just what I ought to do."

"My dear old Kaiser William, you've run the business well,

But the Yanks will make it hotter than I can for you in hell.

I've been Hell's boss for ages—to me all crimes are due.

But now I'm beat Bill,—here's the keys, I'll give the job to you.

I'll be waiting for your coming—I'll keep the furnace hot,

For I know them bloming Yanks will start you on the trot

My horns and tail and pitchfork, you'll find upon the gate,

So that when you land on Brimstone Street you won't have long to wait

Now that you've beat me on the job, I've nothing more to tell,

So change your helmet for my horns And meet me here in hell."

It is estimated that there are 160,000 hairs on the head of the average fair woman, and that each of these could bear a weight of four ounces without breaking.

U. S. SERVICE TO AID FARMERS GET HELP.

Will be Clearing House for Tillers of Soil Next Year.

"It is true we have reached the point where fighting has ceased, but we need not expect world peace while so many thousands of people are hungry", was the way B. E. Samuels, of the local United States Employment Service approached a discussion of agricultural problems and the responsibility of farmers in the present crisis. "It will be unpatriotic in any landowner of Alabama not to see that every effort is made to have all his land under cultivation next year."

As to practical solutions of this proposition in this territory, Mr. Samuels said: "Now when a man applies for farm land to rent, or for farm work as a hand, he naturally wants to know details about what we have to offer him. For that reason I have made out a blank for the man who has land to rent, or who wants to hire, to fill out. We want all farmers with land that they have not force enough to cultivate to apply to us for one of these blanks and return it to us filled out, so that we will be in a position to supply his needs. And just because farm labor was scarce last spring and some of the farmers did not get help they asked for then is no reason why they should fail to ask for the help now, for farm labor is more available now than it was then. Then too, now is the time to plan for the next crop and the wise and patriotic farmer will list his needs at once.

The high prices for farm products is proving a great inducement to many to go to the farms, and it is easier to provide farm labor now than it has been in the past. Only last week the farm department of the Employment Service here placed eight white men with their families on farms.

It is the desire of the farm work division of the United States Employment Service in Birmingham to make its office the clearing house for farm labor in this territory, to make it a distributing point for the agricultural needs of the section, and to that end we appeal to all farmers and those interested in farm work to co-operate with us. We must do our part to help meet the present need of food."

NEWSPAPERS CHAMPIONS OF PEOPLE'S RIGHTS

From the Montgomery Journal.

What is a newspaper? Everybody reads them, but very few people have ever taken the thought to analyze what a real newspaper is. Have you ever taken up your favorite newspaper and asked yourself the question: What is a newspaper?

The reason a newspaper exists is because there is a demand for it. If there was not there would not be no sheet like the one you are holding in your hand while you are asking this question.

The newspaper, first of all, was started to give the news of the world, the local happenings, the news of the territory it covers, the movements of people, anything, in fact, that will be of interest to its readers.

A newspaper should be a champion of the rights of the people. When any great crisis arises in the affairs of the nation, the state, the county, the city in which it is published, it should be the champion of the masses. It is the mouthpiece through which the people make known their wants, tell the officials they have elected, the reforms needed, the progressive steps to be taken.

It should stand for free speech, not the kind of speech that leads to disorder, stirring up strife in a community, but speech that is wholesome, that is for the uplift of the people as a whole. You frequently see a person who wants to get something in the press that will pull down, instead of build up, which he thinks will be for the good of the nation, the state or the municipality. Sometimes a man gets angry when such stuff is refused publication.

It takes more judgment to tell what to leave out of a paper than it does to select what ought to go in. The news that is left out rarely ever does damage; it is what goes in that makes or mars. To command respect a newspaper should be fair, not vent personal spleen in the discussion of the issues that arise. Above all they should be free from all corrupt influences. No corporate controlled newspaper will have the influence it would have, if the public knows its every utterance is actuated for the good of the masses.

A newspaper should be clean. If you know a paper that is to go into your family is always free of anything that savors of the vulgar, the unclean, you do not have to censor it before turning it over to your daughter to read. Many people like to read sensational stories in a newspaper. A high class paper will not pander to the depraved tastes of those who like to see scandal aired.

It takes a newspaper years of hard work on the part of its owners to build up a reputation such as has been described above. The good will of the public is its stock in trade. If the masses have confidence in it they take it. When people take a paper they read it and then it is that advertisers want to buy space in its columns, in order to present what they have for sale to the public.

WADE'S WEEKLY LETTER

Why Price of Cotton will be Higher

The reasons why we are so positive in our convictions that cotton will sell at higher prices within a very few weeks are based entirely upon the known supply and the almost inevitable demand that will spring into existence when the world affairs assume a definitely settled condition. The market has held around present levels with all kinds of governmental restrictions, political meddling, bear speculative pressure and almost absence of demand from foreign countries. This being the case, what will the market do when all restrictions are removed and foreign countries come into the market for an abnormal supply which they will ultimately do?

The national cotton crop for this year will not be more than eleven and a half million bales. It will be short of the world's actual needs. Governmental restrictions are being lifted just as fast as is expedient and will all be lifted just as soon as the peace treaty is signed. Foreign countries will get into the market just as soon as their peace status is known and their buying capacity and privileges are established. Stocks of cotton are lower in all foreign countries than ever before and entirely exhausted in some of them to whom the privilege of buying has been for years and is now prohibited. It is freely predicted by government officials that when these restrictions are removed, foreign countries will be in the market for at least two million bales more than they purchased last year. When this demand comes out of the small supply it would sound unreasonable at this time to predict what effect it will have on the market and just how high the price will go, if left unrestricted by governmental interference. We want every man to back his own judgment, but give it as our opinion that the fortunate man will be the one who holds tenaciously to his cotton and awaits the time which, in our opinion, will surely come within from two to four months. The unexpected is possible but not probable.

Probable Effect on next Crop

If cotton should go to thirty-five or forty cents per pound or higher this winter, it might be the cause of Southern farmers breaking their necks producing cotton next year. There is grave danger. Farmers do just such foolish things every two or three years. No matter how high the price of cotton goes, prosperity in the South can be better maintained by holding cotton production around eleven million bales per year. Farmers would have broken their necks this year, if the dry hot weather had not stepped in, reduced the crop and saved them.

People cannot be induced to directly reduce their cotton crop. It must be done indirectly by loading them heavily with other necessary crops. Every farmer should continue to diversify not to win the war, for it has already been won. He should continue to grow hogs, cattle, corn and hay for his own protection, to protect the price of cotton, to make prosperity permanent in the South. Business men and professional agriculturists should not overlook these facts and should put on campaigns one after another to keep up the diversification spirit.

If the South will produce all the meat, corn and hay that it consumes and a few nice fat hogs and cattle extra to put on the markets of the world in competition with the North and West, the cotton crop would be automatically reduced in the right proportion to maintain a good price and the money would stay at home to build up the South. The Middle West would be deprived of its old time market for corn and meat. In the South and find instead a new competitor in the markets of the world. With these advantages and the cotton crop extra, the South has the opportunity for bringing the nation to its knees before her politically and industrially, if she only had the will power and the organization.

Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries.

A LAST LETTER FROM THE BATTLE FRONT

Was Expecting "Something Important" to Happen in a Few Days

CANNON FIRE EVERY SECOND

The following letter was received last Friday and will be one of the last from the battle front in the great war:

The Battle Front in France. October 30, 1918.

Dear Uncle:

A letter was received from you two days ago, also the issue of the Progress containing one of my letters to mother. I suppose that after you have read some of my late letters you will know why I have not written more often. It is my desire to keep in as close touch with home as possible.

For the last few days my duties have been lighter than usual, although even with this I have been working at least twelve hours a day. Before you read this letter something of great importance will have happened. For the past few days we have been conserving ammunition and storing it into forward dumps. There are many circumstances that I know of that would make most interesting reading, but I will have to wait quite a long time before I can tell them on account of the censorship rules.

I cannot tell what sector we are in but we are in one of the most active and blood spilling sectors on the entire front. Never a second passes that we do not hear one of our own cannon fire. We are firing at least five shells to the German's one. The town that we now occupy was taken and retaken five different times at an awful cost of life, the evidence of which is shown on all sides by the crosses that dot every field. Many of my friends who were in the infantry have been killed. I feel, however, that I live in comparative safety. Just as present we are very lucky as we occupy a large dugout which is a part of a German club dedicated in person by the Crown Prince. Our kitchen is located in the courtyard of a large and once beautiful old chateau, but which is now in ruin.

When we first came to this town a large number of the buildings were standing, but each night Fritz let loose several hundred shells on the town and now there are very few walls standing. Several nights ago one of the walls fell on some of the sleeping soldiers and eight of them were killed. Other soldiers are now hunting some other shelter after this lesson. The first few nights when I started to look after some lost convoy ammunition trucks and the German shells were bursting on all sides and I had an awful sensation. It had been raining continuously but I did not delay an instant in throwing myself flat on the ground in the knee deep mud—only wishing it was just a little bit deeper. A person has somewhat the nature of an ostrich under shell fire. He feels much better if his head is hidden.

When I would come back to regimental headquarters during this rainy weather after an all night chase of ammunition trucks the Colonel would laughingly ask "Well, where has my tramp been?" and my appearance was enough to inspire such a question.

With it all, however, I am glad that I came and glad to be one of those fighting for world freedom.

If I had had the power to foresee events as they are now I would have taken the same course for I now feel as if I am doing a greater service than ever before.

Austria is now toppling and it seems as if she will take the same course as Bulgaria. Germany seeks an armistice but I believe that unconditional surrender will be the only thing satisfactory to the Allies. Only with this can a lasting world peace be assured. It will mean the sacrifice of thousands of lives but better thousands now than hundreds of thousands a few years later.

Any literature in the way of magazines and papers will be most highly appreciated.

CECIL E. ALEXANDER.

For luxuries in the eating line J. W. Littlejohn can make your Christmas table look inviting.

There were 9,554 bales of cotton ginned in Autauga county up to November 30th of the 1918 crop.

J. W. Ross has received word that his brother, Calvin Ross, was seriously injured in France recently.

Dr. Maye, pastor of the Methodist church, will entertain, at the church, on "the coming of Christmas."

Insurance, why, C. Reese Mullins is one of the best insurance writers in Chilton county. He will pay your losses if you only have ashes left as proof.

J. N. Dennis killed a lot of fine porkers, and he says he made some excellent sausage meat. Well, he says so, but that cannot be substantiated by the writer of this paragraph—he never tasted it.

Seymour Hayes, age 16 years, died at his home on Saturday and interment was made on Monday. This young man is the second high school boy to die of influenza within twelve hours. There are now about 40 high school pupils down with the influenza.

The banks in Prattville show larger deposits than ever before; it is said that a great quantity of this money is deposited by persons who are drawing allotments made soldiers. A number of negroes are making deposits owing to this government money.

Yes, come to think the matter over, you'll find just the article you want for "her" at Upchurch Drug Co.

Prof. W. T. Bean had a tussle with old influenza, and, after a wrestle of eight days, the Prof. is himself again.

Mr. Thomas Easterling, age 40, died at his home and interment was made in the Walnut Creek cemetery.

Kemp brothers—both stores—are doing a "land office business." They have got the goods and want to sell.

Oh, well, then since its hardware, then go to the Clanton Hardware Company, they will fix you all right.

Information has been received here that Sergeant Marshy Smith of Chilton County has been wounded in France.

Captain G. W. Bogan, one of the thrifty old veterans at the Old Soldiers Home, was in Clanton on a business trip.

Veteran J. D. Askins, age 82 years, died at the Old Soldiers Home Sunday and interment was made in the Home cemetery. Veteran Askins was admitted to the Home from Clay county, Alabama, recently.

Mrs. James D. Roy died at her home near Deatsville and interment was made in the Pine Level cemetery. The deceased was the mother of ten children, all of whom and her husband survive her.

Information has been received at Jemison that John C. Varden, a Chilton county soldier who resided near this place was wounded in France the day before the surrender. Young Varden registered at Clanton and left there for camp in June from which place he was sent over to France.

Dr. J. P. Hayes says that he will keep the lid on in Chilton county this time until he is sure the influenza has been overpowered. Additional cases are reported, physicians are busy, nurses scarce and indications are that schools and show places will be kept closed until after the holidays. Mayor John Stanfield is acting in concert with the county physician.

That Autauga county is experiencing its share of the influenza is a matter most convincing to all who have had occasion to learn the situation as it exists not only in Prattville, but all over the county. There are now more cases in this section than has been since the malady made its first appearance, but the health officers are doing all in their power to check the further spread of the disease. Several deaths, both colored and white, have recently occurred.

Sure, Mrs. Lida Jones is at Elmore's store, can't you see by the windows that some one of good taste has done the work.

Onnie Snell, of Deatsville, is reported in the last casualty list as having died from wounds received in battle in France.

Sidney Gibson entertained a number of friends when he celebrated his birthday. Refreshments were served and games played.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Jenkins are wearing smiles and being congratulated by their many friends owing to twins making their appearance.

If you can't buy a new Christmas suit of clothes, then do the next best thing, take your old suit to the Clanton Dry Cleaning Company, they'll do the rest.

Dr. J. D. Eiland, Commandant at the Soldiers Home, says in a letter: "I keep the influenza out of the Home by not letting it in."

Mrs. W. P. Thompson, Miss Lillie Thompson and Mrs. H. E. Brummell, of Sylacauga are spending the winter in Jacksonville, Fla.

S. M. Adams of Clanton is taking orders for the worlds greatest war history, with introduction by General March, which is a guarantee of reliability of the book.

Come to think of it, Prof. Johnson is the sadest man in Clanton now. He has to keep his school closed on account of the influenza, and then to think of having to make the time up this spring.

"Old man Thompson" made a quick trip to Anniston and back. Wonder what he wanted to see Blackmon for; he is too old for the post office job. However there are five candidates and it seems that one of the five will get the plum for which no Republican need apply during this strictly democratic-office holding element.

A recent letter received from Lieutenant Judson Deramus, now in France, states that he is now in a hospital recovering from a wound received during a charge on a machine gun nest. His friends here are elated to know that he is recovering. Lieutenant DeRamus directly after receiving his diploma at the University of Alabama volunteered and was given a commission at the officers training camp and on reporting at Camp Gordon he was attached to the 82nd Division and has been in France since the 1st of April. He is now wearing the gold service stripe. There will be much rejoicing here in Chilton county when he comes home.

In this edition of the Union-Banner will be found the announcement of the J. M. Potts Grocery Company. Read what they have to say and then go and see them, all the goods you purchase from this concern will be, as always, first class.

It is with much pleasure that we announce the expected arrival of the former editor, W. M. Wyatt, any day. A letter received from him Monday states that the discharges have been received for his company and that they are stacking guns and he expects to be home in a short time.

That the influenza is raging in this city and section there is no doubt. There has been no less than seven deaths and funerals since Saturday night, with influenza in most cases the direct cause. The names of those now dead are:

J. M. Eiland, age 43.

Harvey Dennis, age 16.

Mrs. James Nelson, age 35.

Wm. Smitherman, residence near Clanton, remains brought to Clanton for interment on Monday.

Seymour Hayes, age 16.

J. A. Speer, age 15.

Thomas Easterlig, age 40.

The remains of Mrs. W. L. Sampey who died at Gadsden were interred at Clanton beside her husband, a former Mayor of Clanton.

Prof. H. C. McDonald contributes to this issue a good article on schools, especially referring to the Chilton County High School.

Prof. S. H. Herbert knows how to educate, and he also knows when and where to advertise, that is why he engaged space in this paper.

Clint Raspberry has got a big line of choice groceries and he wants to sell to Christmas buyers and in fact all who need things to eat.

Eugene Gore returned from the University this week where he has been in training for several months, having received his discharge from the service.

FOR RENT—The Mrs. Baxley place, one good one-horse farm, located 1 1/2 miles west of Lomar. Apply to R. E. L. Ward, Clanton, Ala., Route 4. 12-12-2t.

J. W. Littlejohn, the groceryman, returned from a Birmingham hospital last Monday evening where he went several days ago to undergo an operation. He is very much improved it seems.

Mrs. W. T. Callen and "Uncle Billy" are happy again. Frank arrived Tuesday with an honorable discharge and now Mrs. Callen says that should the other boy arrive in time for Christmas, then, as sure as there is a turkey in Chilton county it had better "take to the woods."

Yes, referring to the return of the boys who were drafted all over the country and went to the front and in training to fight for their country and their homes, we have to say that they will all be welcomed back; especially is it true that they should be taken care of; employment should be given to them in preference to "slackers" and profiteers. And, then, while considering this matter, suppose we remember the men who remained at home and held their purse-strings tightly tied when they were approached and requested to buy Bonds, War Stamps or aid the Red Cross workers. Pay little attention to remarks of a political nature when allusion is made as to who won the war. Republican boys fought shoulder to shoulder with Democrats on the war question when chasing the Huns; thoughts uppermost in their minds were of civilization, religious privileges and the dear mothers, sisters, wives and kindred at home. So, let us, now, that the war is over, think of just how we will treat the brave boys who survived the hardships. They are entitled to the best the country can furnish them.

MEMORIAL WALNUT TREES ALONG THE HIGHWAYS

In order that a permanent living memorial may be erected to Alabama men who died on the battle fields for democracy a state-wide campaign has been started for the planting of memorial walnut trees along the highways in each county. The suggestion came from the State Forestry Commission, John H. Wallace, Jr., Secretary, and all patriotic and civic organizations have been asked to join in the work.

A well known citizen of each county has been asked to become chairman of the workers and all organizations have been asked to work with him. Among those who have promised assistance are the Alabama Council of Defense, United Daughters of the Confederacy, Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs and educational forces.

Black walnut trees have been suggested in order that they might be available for gun stocks and airplane propellers if they are ever needed. It is remembered that the government had much trouble in obtaining supplies of black walnut to meet the demand for gun stocks and airplanes. If black walnut cannot be obtained, the suggestion is that pecans, scaly-bark, hickory elm, beech, hackberry, linden, sycamore, sweetgum, sugar maple and yellow poplar be used. These trees will furnish shade for travelers and will protect the roads.

"Let the people living in close proximity to their respective thoroughfares proceed to plant memorial trees to our soldier dead which as they grow and flourish will constitute a more beautiful and lasting monument than any that could be devised by human mind or executed by human hands," said the appeal.

FRED H. GROMLEY,
Publicity Director,
Alabama Council of Defense.

Thanksgiving Day was fittingly enjoyed in Clanton—one noticeable feature was that there was a "horse-trading convention" on in which Judge L. H. Reynolds and Mr. James Roberts figured some. "Uncle" Henry Roberts talked as to the qualities of some of the mules, and pointing to a stubborn four-footed Missouri-bred animal, said that mule reminded him of an all-round newspaper correspondent who continually kicked at his own existence; meaning, of course the man he was talking to at the time.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE MEETING

The Directors of the several telephone lines composing the Peoples Telephone Company and operating the Central at Clanton, Ala., met in regular Annual Session at the courthouse at Clanton on Monday, December 9th, and elected W. W. Fox as president, W. L. Popwell as vice-president, J. N. Dennis as treasury and secretary and the following five central directors for the year 1919: G. W. Melton, W. S. Cox, D. B. Lowe, J. Q. Wade and J. B. Farley.

It was moved, seconded and carried by vote that the central or membership dues be fixed at two and one half dollars per year instead of two dollars as in the past and that the post dues be two dollars and forty cents per line (the same as for 1918.)

It was further agreed that the Central operator be required to give service, only to those who pay their membership dues.

SAVE THE DOCTOR!

Dear editor:

Please permit me to make an appeal to the people of the county and especially in the vicinity of Clanton, to spare, as much as possible, our physicians. They are being subjected to a terrible strain, and if they are completely exhausted we will be in much worse circumstances than at present. If you have someone sick don't wait until night to call the doctor.

Call as early in the day as possible; spare the doctor every night trip you can, and don't call at all unless it is absolutely necessary. It takes time and trouble to answer the calls he receives; their wives and families are likely to be sick and tired. Don't detain them or him with long conversations, asking unnecessary questions. Inquire of others how the sick are. The doctor is needed for the treatment of patients, not for general conversation. Any way you may be sure the patients are sick or he would dismiss them. Don't complain if he is late coming to your home. Remember he is tired and nervous. A smile and cheery word is much better tonic for him than a frown.

Spare the Doctor!

W. J. ARMSTRONG.

BUSINESS TO BOOM SINCE WE HAVE PEACE

Are you preparing to secure your portion of the immense volume of new business that will be created? You will find the advertising columns of The Union-Banner a great aid to you in this particular.

How many times, during the long four-year war period,
did you say to yourself:

"When this nightmare is over I'll push my business as never before.

"When normal times come, I'll show my appreciation of the opportunities and business blessings that they bring, when bans are lifted and embargoes are nil, when my money can buy coal and machinery and raw materials, and when the railroads ask me for my business, instead of my being on my knees to them, begging them to haul my materials or goods.

"When peace comes—peace, with the magnificent opportunities that this particular peace means—I'll make up for all this marking-time in my line of business while the war raged.
I'll show 'em a thing or two, and I'll show myself, too."

Well, peace is here—the peace that follows complete victory.

You must now let the world know that YOU are still here, too, ready to serve in your particular line; that you fought the good fight, that you stuck it out; that by pluck, ingenuity and endurance you kept your business going. The business that has lived through the long war period has demonstrated its right to live and its capacity to keep going. During the next year and the next, and for many years to come, the victors will be "cashing in"—getting the business rewards to which they are justly entitled.

The business world is looking around now and taking stock. It is re-establishing its connections.

Erect your sign-post—high—where your prospective customers can see it. If you wish to reach the people of Chilton County, your sign should be erected and maintained in the columns of The Union-Banner—a respected advertising medium that solicits the business of reliable business concerns and individuals.

Clanton Hardware Company

Money spent for a Christmas present that cannot be used to the advantage and benefit of the person to whom given is a waste of cash, and money should at all times be spent wisely and economically, not foolishly, having in mind that the return for the money should be full value in useful and substantial merchandise.

A visit to our store will convince you that our entire line is made up of just such items, and you can find here many things that will please both you and your friend.

Our "YOU'REX" Silver Ware, that is guaranteed not to wear black, is beautiful in design, and lasting in quality.

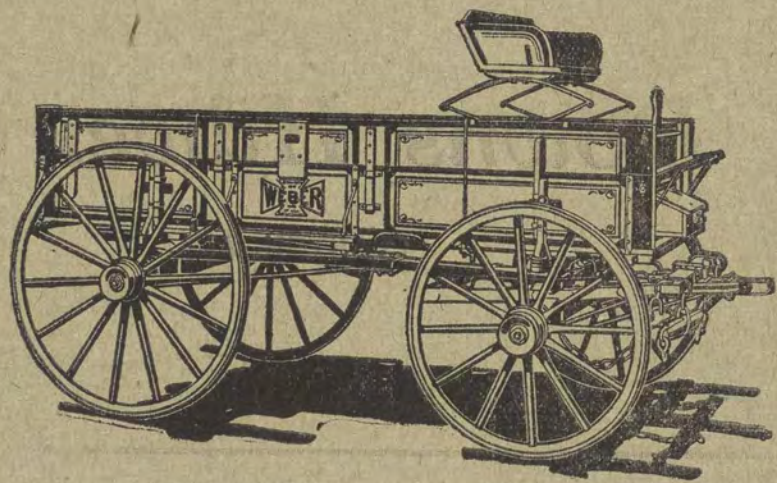

There are many nice pieces of ALUMINUM in our stock that would be an excellent and suitable present at this time.

The various cuts shown in this advertisement are an index to what our stock is composed of.

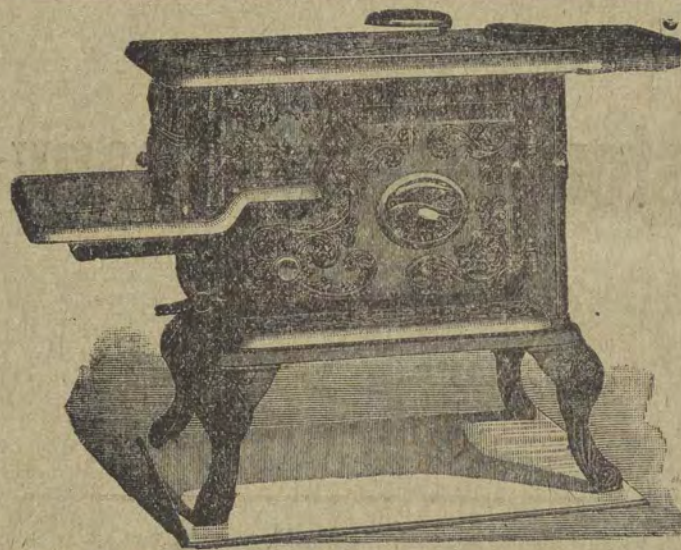

We can supply you with anything you need for your home, or your farm, and will be pleased to have you call to see us.

Yours very truly,

CLANTON HARDWARE COMPANY

The factory has promised to ship us a car of Weber Wagons during the month of December. Do not buy a cheap wagon—wait and get a good one, the Weber. We will let you know when they arrive.

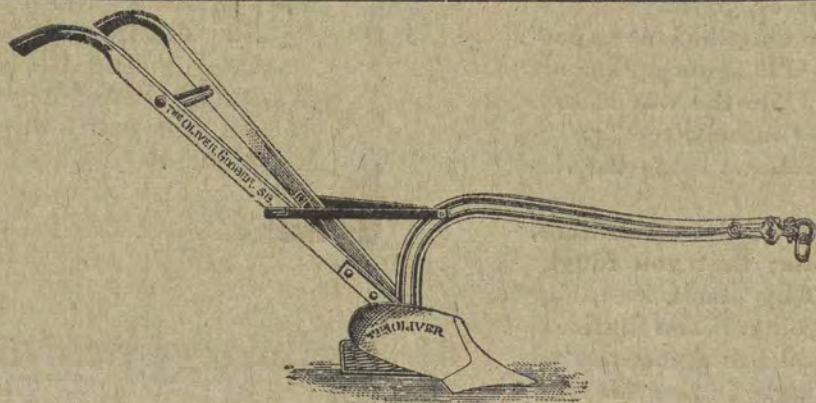

The ARIZONA Stoves and Ranges have proven to be among the best, and having sold them for more than ten years, we have confidence in their superior quality, and do not hesitate to recommend and guarantee them.

Due to conditions caused by the war, our Furniture Department is not quite so complete as usual, but we have a fair stock of Dressers, Iron Beds, Chiffonobes, Trunks, Linoleum, Window Shades and Suit Cases.

We carry a good grade of Double and Single Guns, Rifles, Shells, Cartridges and Pistols.

The old reliable James Oliver Chilled Plow. It does not need any praise by us. Just be certain when you buy to get the Genuine James Oliver. There is an imitation on the market, and you should look for the trade mark as shown here, which is on each Genuine James Oliver Plow, Points, and all repairs.

Not so generally used now, but a farm is not complete without a Saddle. We have the McClellan and others that will please you. If your harness needs repairing we can furnish you any piece or part you want.

WILL DEVELOP SLATE DEPOSIT IN COUNTY

Mr. J. P. VanDerveer Takes Over 320 Acres Which Has Ore and Will Begin Operations as Soon as Sufficient Labor Can Be Secured.

For over 20 years Mr. J. P. VanDerveer, of Clanton, has waited to purchase an interest in 320 acres which was owned in partnership with other parties, and which was brought to a conclusion a few weeks ago. On this land, which is in a mountainous country there are large quantities of slate that has been tested and prepared for needful purposes. These tests were brought about by shipping large blocks of the slate which was queried just a few feet below the surface, and the blocks of rough appearance were shipped to Messrs. Clark and Fanagin, Fair Haven, Vt., and by them dressed and shipped back to Mr. VanDerveer. In the same shipment these gentlemen send samples of their slate with the Alabama product and say in their letter "your slate is equal to that we work here in Vermont."

These 320 acres are traversed thru by the old standard gauge railroad used by the Alabama Power Company in hauling their machinery and material on when the Coosa River dam was being constructed, and, though the railroad has been abandoned, Mr. VanDerveer says that it will be an easy matter to put it in shape again for the purpose of transporting the finished product of these quarries to the main line of the L. & N. railroad at Ocampo.

A gentleman connected with the Manufacturers Record has examined the property and says that the cropings are as good as he has, as yet ever examined.

Mr. VanDerveer intends to rush the development of this property which will necessitate the employment of a great force of men, both mechanical and as laborers.

WADE'S WEEKLY LETTER

Agricultural Policy Unchanged

Food production with which to win the war has been the slogan for two years. American farmers rallied to the call for greater food crops and held the bread line as patriotically and strongly as did the soldiers rally to the colors and hold the battle line. It was America's supply of food and money that kept the Allies fighting until the American army got there. The central powers were outdistanced in supplies at home and overwhelmed by superior numbers on the battle front until they were forced to acknowledge defeat. The American soldiers fought heroically and covered themselves with glory, but the war was really won on the home front and the man behind the plow is as justly entitled to his share of the glory as the man behind the gun.

Food Production Still the Slogan

The slogan still is food production in the time of reconstruction. The closing of the war has not made available any more food nor reduced the world's consumption. Food is probably scarcer today than it was this date a year ago. Half the world is on short or starvation rations and looking to America for relief. There can be no increase in the world's food supply until another harvest, which will still be insufficient, due to slow progress of reconstruction in Europe. The crops most needed and which paid the producer best for the past two years were food crops. Conditions have not changed in this respect and the food production slogan should be continued.

First Crops to Produce Normal Supply

Europe will turn first attention to producing her bread supply, which with the increased American wheat crop will probably be sufficient to meet all demands within one year. The American farmer in the South through unwise enthusiasm and misguided judgment will probably launch out to produce a bumper cotton crop, which will give the world an easy supply and put himself in the hole on expenses and get disappointed in the price. A normal supply of wheat and cotton can be grown in one favorable year, but a normal supply of livestock products can not be produced in less than four years.

Your Opportunity

It is the Southern farmer's opportunity to produce food and feed crops and market them through livestock to a greater extent than has been done during the past two or three years.

The acreage planted to cotton should not be increased and the national crop should be held around 11 million bales. If the South were to produce fifteen or sixteen million bales of cotton next year, it would be at a tremendously advanced cost and the price would fall to fifteen cents per pound or less and produce a state of bankruptcy. I fear that farmers are going to do this very thing, if the seasons and boll weevils will allow them to do it. Indications already point that way to some extent.

Boll Weevils Will Be Worse

So far as Alabama and the South-eastern States are concerned, the boll weevils will in all probability be worse next year than they have been during the two years just past. In the first place, frost occurred a month late

WORK OF A 70-YEAR OLD ALABAMA FARMER

What He Accomplished After Quitting the One-Crop, Cotton, for 40 Years

By an arrangement with the Montgomery Advertiser The Union-Banner is enabled to furnish its readers figures and facts as to the success of a 70-year old Alabama farmer, who after wrestling over 40 years, finally was induced to change and try the varied crop system. The photographs show Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Miley, some of the stock on the farm and several attractive farm scenes, buildings, etc. Ten years ago this farmer decided to beat the weevil and he has accomplished the undertaking by practicing diversified farming. The farm consists of 100 well tilled acres on which corn, wheat, oats, are cultivated, while 10 to 15 acres are used for cotton. Mr. Miley grows also velvet beans, etc. His receipts for one year amounted to over $6,000.00.

this fall. The cotton stalks remained green and fruiting right up to December. A heavy crop of boll weevils have been produced and fed right up to the present date. Ordinarily the crop of weevils to go into winter quarters is much smaller than the present crop and the weevils are generally forced on starvation by frost a month earlier. If next spring or summer should be a little wetter than usual, the result will be disastrous. Be careful, Mr. Cotton Farmer!

J. A. WADE,
Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries.

BIG WHISKY STILL DESTROYED

W. H. Gillespie and James Mahan run down a big whisky plant fifteen miles southwest of Clanton, and then went through the place, destroying over a thousand gallons of beer which was almost ready to be made into white mountain influence. The officers also wrecked the plant. The "promoters" of the enterprise were put onto the appearance of the officers in the neighborhood by a woman and they took to the woods in time to hide out. Gillespie claims that he knows the guilty men but that he has to catch them whole on the job before he can make an arrest that will hold good. However, he has about 20 more days to serve before he will retire to private life again and during the twenty days he has good business in hand. It seems that it is the delight of Gillespie to destroy whisky plants; he does not stop to think that it is near Christmas time and that the war is over and the boys returning home; or even does he realize that corn shuckings and country dances are sometimes made enjoyable at the use of a little stimulating corn juice. Well, there is just this about the matter, law is law, and to make, buy or sell whiskey is a violation, and Gillespie will not tolerate the law being trampled upon. So, now, there it is, celebrate in keeping within the law and be happy.

DEATH OF A CHILTON SOLDIER

The casualty list contains the name of another good Chilton county boy who has died in France from wounds received in battle. This time the grim reaper has claimed young Enoch E. Smith, who formerly resided near Jemison.

FOR SALE—One 1917 model Ford car in excellent condition, two extra 3 1-2 inch tires, never been used. A. G. ERWIN, Cooper, Ala.

The accompanying picture is of James Collins, a worthy young man of Chilton county in the hospital at Atlanta, Ga. This soldier is the one who was slightly wounded in action in France some time ago and who was mentioned in the daily papers as being wounded seriously. In a recent letter to his father, who lives in this county, he sends the above picture, and states that he was only wounded slightly in his left arm. In his letter

Mr. Jack Dennis, one of the foremen on the Flaketown Graphite plant, was in Clanton on Saturday, and in conversation Mr. Dennis said the closing of the war had in no manner diminished or in any way hindered the graphite company. He also said that the mines were being operated day and night by a full force of men and that the return of men—colored—from the army camps has been of much benefit to the Graphite people, as the question of securing labor was now an easy proposition.

John M. Robinson, a farmer who resides a few miles from Clanton, brought to town on December 14th some well developed cotton blooms which he gathered in a picked over field. These blooms are unusual; in fact cotton blooming in December is a new occurrence in Chilton county and the fact is explained that as this has been an unusual mild winter season the left over top cotton is asserting its claim for recognition.

COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY MET HERE LAST TUESDAY

The Chilton County Medical Society met here last Tuesday in regular annual session, with Dr. V. J. Gragg presiding. The following officers were elected to serve for the coming year:

Dr. V. G. Gragg, President.
Dr. J. P. Hayes, Vice-President.
Dr. T. J. Marcus, Sec-Treas.
Dr. V. J. Gragg, Censor for 5 yrs.
Dr. J. P. Hayes, County Health Officer for term of 3 years.
Dr. J. P. Hayes, County and Jail Physician.
Dr. J. P. Hayes, City Health Officer for 1 year, Clanton.
Dr. J. P. Hayes, City Health Officer, 1 year, Thorsby.
Dr. R. B. McNeil, City Health Officer, 1 year, Jemison.
Dr. C. N. Parnell, City Health Officer, 1 year, Maplesville.

A vote of thanks to Dr. J. P. Hayes as County Health Officer, for his efficient work in the epidemic of influenza, was given by the Society. On motion, thanks were voted W. J. Armstrong for his message in the county papers.

CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. E. C. Maye, pastor of the Clanton Methodist Church, asks us to announce that there will not be any services at his church next Sunday. A consultation was had with Dr. J. P. Hayes, County Health Officer, yesterday, and he states it will be unwise for the churches to open yet. Anyone wishing to unite with the church will be received at the parsonage and will be united as members just the same as if the church was open. There are many, no doubt, who will wish to start out right for the new year, and as the church is closed on account of influenza, Dr. Maye wishes to state that they will be received in this manner.

FIFTH SUNDAY MEETING

The Fifth Sunday Meeting will be held with Bethsalem Baptist Church, on December 28, 1918. Programs will be made later.

WM. J. BILLINGSLEY.

The Union-Banner acknowledges, with thanks, kindly notices printed in The Advertiser, Ledger and News, recently as to the excellence of the Christmas edition of last week, and in this connection, also thanks the liberal merchants who made the printing of the paper a success.

THE FUTURE OF CLANTON AND CHILTON COUNTY

Movement to Pull Clanton and Chilton County Out of the Mud Has the Approval of The Union-Banner—Everybody Should Get Behind It.

The movement on foot in Clanton and Chilton county looking to the betterment of affairs in this county meets the approval and endorsement of The Union-Banner. This proposition is one of no political significance; it is solely for the purpose of unity in action when the question of general interest is concerned.

It has been suggested that a meeting of the business men and leading representatives of the several localities get together and talk over matters that have for the betterment of the people in efforts to reach upward and onward the purpose and most feasible means of accomplishing this end.

With the ending of the war more money is in general circulation; men with money are seeking places to invest where profit and safety invites them. Clanton is on the verge of a real boom; it remains, as yet, a question, whether active men will move or remain still and let the opportunity pass with no action taken to place this locality on the map as a safe place for enterprises and new industries to consider.

Without dwelling on minor matters it can be said that as to cattle, hogs, lumber, graphite, turpentine, rosin, wheat, corn, oats, poultry and dairy products, this section is already known all over the State as ranking in the lead with other thrifty sections; but, to stop now and let pass this present opportunity is suicidal in a financial measure.

By all that is fair, then, let us get together and march not in the rear rank but well up in the front with the intention of placing Chilton county and Clanton where they rightly belong.

There is no politics in this—the matter is one that should be considered by the thrifty farmer, the merchant and the professional men of the entire county.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

How Pleasant is Thy Meeting Place
O Lord of Hosts.

My Soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the Courts of the Lord,
My heart and my flesh cry out unto the living God.

Blessed is the man whose strength is in Thee;

In whose heart are the highways to Zion.

They go from strength to strength,
Every one of them worshippeth before God in Zion.

The Lord God is a sun and a shield,
He will give grace and glory;

No good thing will be withheld from them that walk uprightly.

O Lord of Sabaoth!

Blessed is the man that trusteth in Thee.

There are rumors heard about the streets now that our city authorities will permit the opening of churches and schools about the 29th, the last Sunday of the month. May the "flu" by that time have flown.

Mr. J. W. Littlejohn, upon his return from a successful operation in Birmingham, was immediately taken down with influenza in company with his family, and for two weeks the entire household were about helpless. This is a sample of several families who have had the same trying experience.

Mrs. Nan Crichton and her mother, Aunt Patty Smith, have sold their old home place just back of the Court House to Mr. J. W. Foshee, and have moved around to the G. O. Foshee place. Mr. J. W. Foshee has also sold his home and moved into the Smith place.

W. K. (Bill) Mullins is heard from occasionally from literally "Somewhere in France," or "Anywhere in France." He has been transferred from the Aeronautic to the transport department. No one knows just when anybody is coming home from overseas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Downs and family, including daughter and daughter-in-law, have had a serious time with influenza, but are all now recovering.

Mr. A. N. Minor's family have also had a severe siege, with many others almost too numerous to mention.

Misses Kathleen Mullins and Roberta Curry are at home, their school having closed. They will not return until after the holidays.

AN EXPLANATION

We have been asked by a number of people, who read the Xmas edition of The Union-Banner, why we did not make "15 Ford Cars" with the parts we had in stock.

In this regard, we will say that The Union-Banner's advertising man was speaking of an average. We have some parts by the hundred and just one of a kind of others, and we have been known to be without a part or two entirely at times.

If we had the material and labor customers may rest assured we would not be slow in "getting on the job."

A merry Christmas and Happy New Year to you all!

Now that the war is over what will the American destroyers find to destroy?

Mr. Sugar-Bowl, a friend long withdrawn from the public eye, is with us again.

President Wilson did well to test the freedom of the seas before he spoke for them.

Our Americans can now certainly be called seasoned troops. Their fighting showed no lack of pepper.

We shall be surprised if your conscience lets you buy that new car until Europe is fed and clothed again.

Mr. Hoover's absence abroad places the American people in a dilemma. Until his return none of us knows what not to eat.

Dutch Cleanser is wonderful for black stains. During his sojourn in Holland it would be well for Wilhelm to try it on his conscience.

When the collector calls with England's forty-billion-dollar bill, he will probably find Germany "not at home."

Christmas extravagance is inevitably followed by New Year's repentance. But Christmas joy and generosity have no unwelcome attendants.

Don't forget to renew your subscription to the Red Cross. She will continue to be "The Greatest Mother in the World" to the suffering people who need her.

We shall be glad to get back out two-cent postage rate next July. But it would be mistaken economy to hold back our Christmas cards so as to take advantage of it.

Tin soldiers for the children and real live khaki-clad soldiers for the fathers and mothers would be a nice Christmas selection for Miss Columbia to make.

William Hohenzollern should adopt a Dutch uncle. In the first place it might help his position in Holland, and in the second place he needs a Dutch uncle to talk to him.

War is like an enchanter in a fairy tale. It waves its great wand, and "tinker, tailor" becomes "soldier, sailor." Then it reverses the spell, and "soldier, sailor" becomes "tinker, tailor" again.

And will knitting again be one of the lost arts? Our friend who absentmindedly knit two heels at right angles to each other upon one soldier's sock will certainly claim that knitting is at present an art.

When a man's neighbors call him a "gentleman farmer," it generally means that he is not much of a farmer. But when they speak of him as "a farmer and a gentleman," it generally means that he is excellent in both respects.

Reasons!

Why you should use Cardui, the woman's tonic, for your troubles, have been shown in thousands of letters from actual users of this medicine, who speak from personal experience. If the results obtained by other women for so many years have been so uniformly good, why not give Cardui a trial?

Mrs. Mary J. Irvin, of Cullen, Va., writes: "About 11 years ago, I suffered untold misery with female trouble, bearing-down pains, headache, numbness... I would go for three weeks almost bent double... My husband went to Dr. for Cardui... After taking about two bottles I began going around and when I took three bottles I could do all my work." E-80

IS REAL SERVICE

By FRANK MORRISON,
Secretary American Federation of Labor.

The work of the Red Cross is not confined to our boys on battlefield or in hospital nor amidst the ruins of Belgium and other portions of devastated Europe. One of its great activities is any necessary aid to the dependents of members of America's military forces.

On the battlefield the Red Cross presents an heroic figure. In America removed from destruction and death, the Red Cross steps silently to the side of the father and mother whose boy is "over there" and who need counsel and aid.

No service is too small for the Red Cross. If aidmen from the government or from their son are delayed, or information on the government's war risk insurance is wanted, the Red Cross is both counselor and friend. It enters into the home in the true spirit of charity—service.

But first and foremost our soldiers in field and hospital must be given the most attentive care possible. Nothing we can do will equal their share in this movement for world democracy, and the Red Cross presents an opportunity for us to play our part in this great drama by contributing to the extent of our ability.

The Red Cross appeals to organized workers because of its one quality—service.

Behind Red Cross service is an ennobling charity that is not defaced by cost marks, a democracy that personifies Jefferson's great principle of equality and a religion that is beyond sectarianism.

MAKE SOLDIER FEEL HE IS AS GOOD AS EVER

Men disabled in the service who are returning from the front and who find it hard at first to see their way toward earning a livelihood are a special problem for the Red Cross. Under the Smith-Sears law a fund is appropriated to reeducate every disabled man who will take the opportunity to make a living. It is felt that such men are likely to be weakened in their resolution to keep their self-respect and find real work by the mistaken charity of hero worshippers, who will forget them once the first flush of war enthusiasm is over. Here the support of the disabled man's family must be enlisted, for in the last analysis it is the man's family who will be the determining influence in his rehabilitation. The relatives must be braced to meet the situation—to make of themselves for the man a bulwark against discouragement and weakness.

SMILES AND TEARS GET MIXED.

Two little stories came to the Red Cross headquarters from over the seas a short time ago. One was a story of bravery that brought the tears, and one a tale of tears that brought smiles.

The first story was of a soldier who asked for a light. He was in bed, and a cigarette was between his lips, placed there by the nurse after she had finished spreading his blanket up smoothly. At his question, she turned and gave him a box of matches and hurried on, then remembered that the arms beneath the blankets were without hands.

Nurses have to be without tears, but there were tears in her eyes as she turned to strike the match, and light the cigarette for him.

"Quit that," he said, "they were good mits, and they helped get three or four Germans before I lost them, but they ain't worth crying about, so there!"

And the tears story that brought smiles? Well, that was the story of a big, husky, colored man, who sat reading, and the Red Cross worker at the canteen saw that he had tears running down his cheeks. She was curious to know what he might be reading and was astonished when she looked over his shoulder to see that it was the canteen cook book.

He smiled through his tears as he saw that she was watching, and said, sheepishly, "You sure must excuse me, ma'am, but this here book done make me blamed homesick. I'm 'shamed to make a baby outen mahself, but this makes me think o' home."

RED CROSS WOMEN
CITED FOR BRAVERY

American women at Epernay, south of Rheims, have been cited in an order of the day for remaining at their posts in an American Red Cross canteen under bombardment for six days. Throughout this battle they continued to feed and care for wounded.

WHAT RED CROSS MEANS.

Your membership in the great American Red Cross means the mothering of those little children made desolate by the invasion of the Hun. Mrs. Lars Anderson, in her recent book on conditions over there says: "It is the poor, homeless, motherless kiddies that somehow make all the other horrors of war fade away into distance. These frightened, crying, dying, innocent children, who do not know what it is all about—they wring your heart dry."

FOR SALE—Nice pig, just right to kill for Christmas. A. G. ERWIN, Cooper, Ala.

"THE TIME HAS COME", THE WALRUS SAID "TO TALK OF MANY THINGS"

And the "many things must include a subject that up to the present time has been ignored by America in general and, judging from results obtained, stupidly ignored by United States manufacturers in particular. It would seem that America, the home of "big business" would be the bright particular star in leadership for mercantile honors and to secure them would at least use tact in addition to following the rule, a beautiful basic one, of course, of "good goods made good and sold cheap." Even Europe, up to the time America proved her ability to make the world safe for Democracy, gave us the unstinted, if sometimes contemptuous, praise of being super-dollar chasers, while we, complacently viewing our roaring mills and thundering factories, burnt incense to the gratification of our own noses and said: "We are the kings of production."

And that long paragraph is only to open the way for the statement that American manufacturers, regardless of the cause, ignorance, stupidity, carelessness, vanity, stubbornness, what you will, have been blindly shutting their eyes while Europe, thousands of miles away, with inferior machinery and inferior labor, has been importing from the United States raw material, making it up into manufactured products shipping it back across the roll of the Atlantic ocean and selling millions of dollars worth in a territory harboring scores of millions of purchasers, with untold wealth, with uneducated tastes but hot with the desire to spend. Worse yet, America not only has sat and allowed the fleecing of her just trade territory but in the few feeble efforts she has made to obtain a few crumbs has tried to force her ideas of trade relationship on a people whose mercantile habits are the habits of centuries, has sought to create a demand for goods foreign to the taste or desire of the prospective customer and lastly has attempted to treat under the methods of chewing tobacco drummers with a class who—strange as it may seem to American commercialism—has actually woven into business the delicacy of a courtly courtesy and holds a promise in close juxtaposition to a note of hand.

And by this time it has dawned upon you that South and Central America and her trade possibilities are under discussion. It is needless to go into the long history of the trade relationship existing between Latin America's nearest neighbor, ourselves, may it please you, the domination of Germany, the distrust of American methods, and the mistakes of our manufacturers. Let it only be said that one shoe king shipped to a blazing tropic city 50,000 pairs of patent leather shoes and cannot this day understand why they did not sell, that a manufacturer of pumps demanded a cash deposit covering the entire order before shipping to a firm that had been established 150 years and whose holdings would total $3,000,000 in cash values, that a clothing king—but the list is long.

Today America's opportunity awaits, as every thinking manufacturer knows, and this particular article is timely only in that the first well thought out, detailed, specialized, embracing campaign for real trade reciprocity has been put under way by the Allied America Association, an association of 1,000 American newspapers and 1,000 Motion Picture houses.

The association with general offices in Chicago, headed by Ward D. Williams, its president, has gone into South America, formed a chain of salons or motion picture theatres and representative Latin America newspapers for the education of the Latin American public into the use and excellence of "U. S. A. made goods," has arranged at the same time for display of American made goods, the sending of educational reels to show the actual manufacture of American made goods, sent samples, secured space in South American newspapers for the exploitation of the goods, engaged South American men to analyze the needs of their countrymen and to carry that need to the American manufacturer so that his product can be remade to suit local conditions, or whims, if you will, has established clearing houses and made banking arrangements to facilitate the shipping and handling of goods and the attendant papers, has established translators into Spanish of catalogs, and lastly has arranged for the exchange of film and newspaper publicity so that America may see the production of raw material.

The campaign is to be conducted in cycles comprising ten units, all related to a central object, to wit, in the automobile cycle ten firms join, non-competitive but with a direct connection with the motor industry, tires, lamps, wind-shields, horns, etc., by picture, by newspaper and personal education the Association brings to South America the unit and by a continual follow-up of the sort of publicity that appeals to the particular country under commercial fire obtains results that the sort of campaign heretofore conducted could never get.

The Allied America Association, up to this time, has been perfecting its service and is now ready to inaugurate same. Its domestic or State, City and County campaign devoted to the introduction to the domestic consumer of the manufacture of the production, will be inaugurated early in 1919 and hundreds of thousands of agents lines of publicity will be used in the Association's 1,000 American Newspapers in placing the advantages, resources and opportunities offered by our states and counties before Home-seekers and Investors. The campaign to make South Am-

Dr. C. S. Duncan has been visiting Clanton friends during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Headley buried their infant baby on Monday.

FOR SALE—One 22 Stevens single shot rifle. A. G. ERWIN, Cooper, Ala.

Mr. F. A. Gullidge is ill with influenza this week.

C. B. White, the banker, is leaving Clanton for his old home in Birmingham.

Mr. J. C. Brown, of Maplesville, was in Clanton on business during the week.

Mr. D. F. Calfee, of Ensley, has been here visiting Clanton relatives and friends this week.

Hon. J. O. Middleton and wife are expected to be in Clanton to spend the Christmas holidays.

Prof. H. C. McDonald is elated over the fact that his family is free of the influenza.

With eggs at 70 cents per, what show has a low salaried man for ham and —?

Misses Kate Elizabeth and Ruth DeRamus spent Friday in Montgomery shopping.

Mrs. Enoch Hayes and family, who have been ill with the influenza, are reported to be improving rapidly.

The Chilton County High School has closed for the holidays. The school will begin on Monday, Dec. 30.

Rub a sore throat with BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. One or two applications will cure it completely. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Herbert C. Smitherman, a Clanton soldier, has arrived at Camp Sheridan and will soon receive his regular discharge from the U. S. A. service.

FOR SALE—One double barrel LaFever Shot Gun, 12 gauge, in good shooting condition. A. G. ERWIN, Cooper, Ala.

Clanton and Chilton county is enjoying a free for all contest as to the man who will handle the county money next year. Several are out for the privilege of serving the dear people, but just which will win is up to the county commissioners—they will decide.

Mrs. A. S. Richards, daughter of Mr. J. P. VanDerveer, Sr., will visit Clanton friends and remain during the holidays.

Mrs. Henry Moats, who resided near Collins Chapel, died of influenza, and her sister, Mrs. Tracey, died on the following day.

Mr. J. Wiley Foshee has purchased the home formerly owned by Mr. J. C. Jones and will reside there in the future.

Another Red Cross Drive is on now and we will just push it over the top as we have former worthy undertakings in Clanton.

County Treasurer, J. I. Bice, is a happy man. He received letters from each of his five sons who are soldiers in France and the boys say that they are all well and in good health.

The last casualty list contains the name of Thomas M. Boswell as one of the men seriously wounded in France recently. Young Boswell formerly resided at Cooper station.

Jim Jones, age 23, son of Mr. Walter Jones, died of influenza and interment was made on Monday in the Highland cemetery. The death of the young man occurred at Birmingham.

FOR SALE—I have some good young mules and mares for sale for cash or on time or will exchange. If interested call at Probate office.—L. H. REYNOLDS.

Misses Cynthia Smith, Elizabeth Smith and Charles Russell, of Marbury, and Miss Idelle Otterman, of Nashville, Tenn., are the guests of the Misses DeRamus.

The last casualty list contains the name of William E. Jacks, Clanton, as being wounded in the recent engagements in France before the surrender of the Huns.

If you could name the winner in the post office race you might be regarded as a wise one. There is but one man in the whole U. S. who can do this, and his name is Fred L. Blackmon.

Henry Horton, age 35 years, a thrifty farmer, died at his home near Jamison on Monday night of influenza, and interment was made on Tuesday morning. It is believed that the disease is slowly being abated in this locality. Only a few new are reported for the past several days.

Burnie Thompson, who has been attached to the Aviation Corps in California and Texas, has received his honorable discharge from the service, and returned to his home here the first of the week.

There are now 21 cases of influenza at the turpentine camp twelve miles east of Clanton. At present there are close to 80 convicts employed at the camps and of this 80, one-fourth are down with the influenza.

Stop coughing! You rack the lungs and worry the body. BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP checks irritation, heals the lungs and restores comfortable breathing. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

A big bunch of Chilton county colored soldiers have returned from the training camps, and this will have a tendency to relieve the labor market. Quite a large number of white boys have returned, this also helps the situation here.

Mr. W. H. Conway says that the acreage for wheat has been greatly increased in this section. The mild weather had much to do with the farmers and stock men "sparing" the life of porkers, but now, with the return of cold weather many a porker is butchered.

Regulate the bowels when they fail to move properly. HERBINE is an admirable bowel regulator. It helps the liver and stomach and restores a fine feeling of strength and buoyancy. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

It is proposed, and in fact, arranged to give the old veterans at the Soldiers Home, Mountain Creek, a real enjoyable Christmas dinner. Some ladies of Montgomery have the matter in charge, and no doubt many of the old men will enjoy the good things to be set before them on this occasion.

W. H. Gillespie and J. M. Mahan kept watch on the crossing of Coosa River, near Adams Ferry on Saturday night until 4 a.m. Sunday morning, and then landed four whisky men as they attempted to reach Chilton county with 36 gallons of moonshine-kill-'em-quick Coosa manufactured-happiness-producer. The men were brought to Clanton. Two furnished bail and Mr. Mims went on the inside, where he could look out until some kind friend would come across and rescue him. The two men who furnished bond give in their names as Robert Golsen and Williams Wilson. This whiskey raiding looks as if Gillespie does not intend to leave anything in the whiskey line left for the new-elected Sheriff to do.

It is believed now that the lid so far as churches is concerned, will be lifted on Sunday and that the influenza will be nearing an end in this section. Dr. Mage, pastor of the Methodist Church, will preach on Sunday.

Irregular bowel movements lead to chronic constipation and a constipated habit fills the system with impurities. HERBINE is a great bowel regulator. It purifies the system, vitalizes the blood and puts the digestive organs in fine vigorous condition. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

Mrs. W. M. Wyatt returned from Augusta, Ga., last Sunday, where she has been for the past several months with her husband, W. M. Wyatt, proprietor of The Union-Banner. Mr. Wyatt is expected to arrive home in a day or two, he having already received his discharge from the service, and only waiting for his examination.

Now that the boys who went to training camps and to the front in France it is almost time to organize a middle-of-the-road soldier organization and put men on jobs that are ready to fight for their country. "Sit down hard" on tight-wad non-purchasers of war stamps, bonds and Red Cross subscription dodgers.

Dr. V. J. Gragg says that the influenza is on the increase now, and that in his practice, he cannot answer one-half the calls that are made for his services. He also states that frequently he is called where there are five and more members of a family are down with the disease. There is no question as to the spreading of the disease. The Doctors are making heroic efforts to stop the trouble.

SURGEONS agree that in cases of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds, the FIRST TREATMENT is most important. When an EFFICIENT antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast, BOROZONE is the IDEAL ANTISEPTIC and HEALING AGENT. Buy it and be ready for an emergency. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

A Woman's Story With Great Meaning

Subject of Childbirth Discussed by Women of Experience.

Women everywhere tell their friends how, through the use of Mother's Friend, the wonderful penetrating external application, they avoided suffering and distress before the advent of nature's most wonderful evolution.

Mother's Friend is a remedy which spreads its influence upon the cords, nerves and ligaments involved, rendering them pliant to readily yield to nature's demand for expansion. The nerves, cords, tendons and ligaments expand without that peculiar wrenching strain, and nervousness, nausea and unrestful sensations are naturally avoided when the nerves and muscles are relaxed and thus are not tort and drawn. By regular use, the lower abdominal region expands with ease when baby is born, the hours are less at the crisis, and pain and danger is naturally less.

You can obtain Mother's Friend from any drug store. It has been used by women for over half a century, and is just as standard as anything you can think of. Write the Bradford Regulator Company, Dept. H, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, and get a bottle of Mother's Friend today, and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort.

Do You Intend to Get Your Share of Future Business?

How many times, during the long four-year war period, did you say to yourself: "When this nightmare is over I'll push my business as never before."

"When normal times come, I'll show my appreciation of the opportunities and business blessings that they bring, when bans are lifted and embargoes are nil, when my money can buy coal and machinery and raw materials, and when the railroads ask me for my business, instead of my being on my knees to them, begging them to haul my materials or goods."

"When peace comes—peace, with the magnificent opportunities that this particular peace means—I'll make up for all this marking-time in my line of business while the war raged. I'll show 'em a thing or two, and I'll show myself, too."

Well, peace is here—the peace that follows complete victory.

You must now let the world know that YOU are still here, too, ready to serve in your particular line; that you fought the good fight, that you stuck it out; that by pluck, ingenuity and endurance you kept your business going. The business that has lived through the long war period has demonstrated its right to live and its capacity to keep going. During the next year and the next, and for many years to come, the victors will be "cashing in"—getting the business rewards to which they are justly entitled.

The business world is looking around now and taking stock. It is re-establishing its connections.

Erect your sign-post—high—where your prospective customers can see it. ## DO YOU KNOW?

Red Cross Christmas Roll Call

December 16th to 23rd

Do you know the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call? Do you know when it's going to be? Do you know it's the call of our brothers, who are far away, over the sea? Do you know that if you answer "present" you'll be helping some boy over there, and you'll show that you're backing our soldiers and willing to do your full share? Do you know that to millions of children this sign of a haven, indeed, for they know it means food, clothing, shelter and love to supply every need? Do you know what the millions of members all over our well-beloved land have been able to do through the Red Cross in offering a kind, helping hand? Will you answer "I'm here" to the roll call? Will you be a member this year? If you will you'll receive the "love button"—a token of Christmas good cheer.

MAKE ROLL CALL UNANIMOUS.

The official designation, and the only proper characterization of the demonstration that will occupy the attention of the American people, under the auspices of the American Red Cross, immediately preceding the coming holiday season, is "The Red Cross Christmas Roll Call."

The object of the Christmas Roll Call is to register in terms of active participation the spirit of a nation. The spirit in question is personified in Red Cross membership. It is not to be a "campaign" to raise a war fund nor a "drive" to strengthen the material resources of the Red Cross organization. Its main objective is the extension of Red Cross membership to the uttermost limit.

See to it that no false conception of the purpose of the Roll Call finds lodgment anywhere, and, while emphasizing the grandeur of the movement under its only logical name, keep everlastingly in mind the idea to—"Make it unanimous."

NEW FACES FOR OLD.

The American Red Cross has undertaken varied tasks. These range from darning the socks of the soldiers to making new faces for those disfigured by war. Mrs. Ladd, the wife of Dr. Ladd, now doing service in Red Cross hospitals abroad, is working in her Paris studio making masks to cover disfigured faces. A photograph of the soldier showing how he looked before being wounded is obtained and then a mask of copper or silver is made to resemble it and replace the part that is gone. This is made as lifelike as possible and held on, as a rule, with bows behind the ears like spectacles. The soldier cannot eat or sleep in these masks, but he can see and breathe through them. Sometimes a nose is put on so lifelike that it cannot be detected, and sometimes it is a chin or in rare instances almost the entire face. This great humanitarian work enables the victim to mingle with people without being made conspicuous or conscious that he is being avoided.

WHAT HOME SERVICE MEANS.

So many questions are constantly coming to the Home Service Section of the Red Cross that a few words as to its objects may not come amiss. The Home Service Section aims to serve the folks at home, to bring them nearer to the man in the field, and to bring him nearer to the ones at home. Sometimes it means helping to straighten out a financial tangle, sometimes help in the training of the children, sometimes being a big brother to a young lad who needs a bit of friendly counsel, or advising a young wife who may be worried about the coming due of the mortgage and what her rights under the law may be.

Then, too, there are sometimes delays in the mails or lost letters, and sometimes delays in the allotment, or errors in the amount which should be forthcoming. These problems and many others are being straightened out by the Home Service Section, without charge to the families, and with an efficiency which is daily growing more valuable. More than 300,000 calls have been answered.

For those who are worried because of the non-arrival of letters a cable is sent inquiring about the man's welfare.

In fact the Home Service Section is living up to its name—it is really the service of those at home—it is trying to be the father, brother or husband to those left behind.

FRENCH AUTHORITIES ACCLAIM WORK OF AMERICAN RED CROSS.

Dr. Chassaigne of the French Military Sanitary Service and M. Goyon in recent addresses paid warm tribute to the work of the American Red Cross in the war, and M. Autrand, prefect of the Department of the Seine, praised the personal efforts of Red Cross workers.

"Your task is not ended," said M. Autrand. "Our friends and our benefactors now are more than ever indispensable to us. Our task is immense. Help us. We have known how to vanquish; we will know how to organize ourselves in victory."

Mr. John DeRamus has returned home with an honorable discharge from the army.

RED CROSS SANTA TO FILL SOLDIERS' SOCKS

An Old Fashioned Celebration of Yuletide for American Soldiers in France.

A Christmas tree in every ward of every American hospital and in every hospital recreation hut in France!

Every wounded or sick American fighting man to receive two socks filled to the brim with fruits, nuts, candy and smokes!

These are the most interesting features of a tentative Christmas celebration program for the American hospitals arranged by the American Red Cross in France in co-operation with the commanding officers of our fighting forces in that country. Details of the plan to make Christmas as merry as possible for the soldiers in these institutions have just been received at Red Cross headquarters. Nurses and enlisted men on duty at these places will also share in the distribution of Christmas cheer. Because of the limited amount of available shipping space the Red Cross was compelled to abandon its original plan to send special Christmas parcels from here to soldier patients in France. All the articles distributed will be obtained over there.

This is to be an old fashioned celebration in every sense of the word. Every soldier will hang his socks on the tree. The socks will be tied with red ribbon and in addition to the goods mentioned above will contain a handkerchief and a card, on which will be outlined the services the American Red Cross is prepared to render our soldiers. Each soldier will receive a sufficient number of Christmas postcards—now being designed by artists in the Red Cross service—to enable him to write to members of his family and his friends back home.

The Christmas dinner, of course, will be one of the features of the celebration. After dinner there will be musical entertainment, motion pictures and general singing.

RED CROSS FIGHTS DEADLY EPIDEMIC

Besides the special work conducted by hundreds of Red Cross Chapters throughout the country in checking the recent epidemic of Spanish Influenza, the organization through its headquarters at Washington is preparing to fight a repetition of the experience that was so disastrous this fall, regarding the epidemic and the proper care at the beginning of an attack. In addition to this, the American Red Cross is fighting tuberculosis. The recent appropriation to the National Tuberculosis Association will be used for educational as well as relief work throughout the country.

So much has been said about the aftermath of the epidemic that especial attention is being given to the work along this line. The weakness which follows influenza leaves the patient in a condition which makes him a good field for the germs of tuberculosis. A thorough physical examination, proper food and clothing, the use of mild preventives, will check the progress of the disease at once.

Tuberculosis, or consumption, as it is frequently called, is both preventable and curable, provided the treatment of the disease is begun before it is too far advanced. Medicine plays a comparatively small part. The frequently advertised "consumption cures" should be looked upon as poison. The only medicine which should be taken is a good tonic which will stimulate the appetite and build up the system generally. The main cures lie in proper food, sufficient rest, fresh air and sunlight and living, if possible, according to the plan prescribed by a good physician. This renews the patient's vitality and soon kills the disease entirely.

For several years the National Tuberculosis Association has been financing its work by the sale of Red Cross seals at Christmas time. The seals sold for a penny each and by making a concerted effort enough money was usually raised to carry the work through the year. This year there will be no seals sold because the American Red Cross has made an appropriation for the anti-tuberculosis work, and those who formerly spent their time selling seals will join in the work for the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call during the week of December 16 to 23.

SONG OF LITTLE THINGS.

By Jeanne Judson.

This is the song of little things,
A clean, white bed in a quiet place,
A cigarette and the saving grace
Of smiles that illumine the nurse's face—
These are the joys the Red Cross brings.
This is the song of little things,
An old man brought to his home again,
And children who play, forgetting pain,
A hut that shelters from mud and rain—
This is the rest the Red Cross brings.

PEOPLE WHO ARE LEFT OUT OF THE ROLL CALL

Population of the United States Asked to Stand Up and Be Counted.

By GERALD STANLEY LEE.

I had a friend once named Old Bill Spear, who was the curator and founder of the John Quincy Adams Memorial in Quincy, Mass. He conceived the idea of making the house into a memorial and, with his genius as a collector of old furniture, filled it with things to see.

People came from everywhere, and at twenty-five cents apiece they went about to see the things Bill had collected and hear Bill talk.

Bill felt very superior to most collectors. "Just collectors," Bill said, "collect anything."

Bill usually could size people up when they came in the door, but when he wasn't quite sure about people, and suspected he didn't want to bother with them very long, he used to take them up to the attic to size them up quick. He would show them a bushel basketful of something they couldn't quite see, and then he would wave his hand with a flourish and say in an impressive tone as they stooped to look closer, "This is the Largest Collection of Burnt Matches in the World!"

Hundreds of collectors didn't break a smile, Bill said, and just looked awed. Then Bill knew, of course, that he needn't bother to show them his best things.

Some of the people who are proposing to go out into the streets Red Cross Christmas Roll Call Week and gather up everybody to join the Red Cross, seem to think that the main thing there is to tell people about the Red Cross is that if they pay a dollar to belong they will belong to the Largest Collection of People Who Have Paid One Dollar in the World.

I felt a little superior to this at first and began thinking how I wouldn't do it. But when I began thinking what the biggest Collection of People in the World could do by just being the biggest and by all wanting the same thing with a different one dollar, it became impressive.

It would even be impressive if forty million people in America all wanted the same thing with the same dollar!

All wanting the same thing would be a nation praying—all the grown-up people of a nation with their little half-conscious children round them—praying! The dollar a man joined with, would not be a mere one dollar. The dollar would be a receipt to every man in America that 39,999,999 other men or women belonged to him, and that he belonged to them in getting what he wanted for three million soldier boys and for their children at home.

Forty million people—all the grown-up people in this country pick out three million men and say to the three million men they have picked out, "You go and die for us, you go and be saviors of the world and die on our crosses for us!" Then what do the forty million do?

It would be something if we would all line up—the whole forty million of us—to a man with our little pallid insipid speechless dollar bills in our hands from Maine to California Christmas Week and use our two dollar bills a year as ballots, stand up in line and be counted and cable to the men across the seas that we vote one cartridge once in two weeks to stand by them, to stand by the souls and bodies of the children of the men who have made a standing offer to die on our crosses for us!

Who wants to be left out of this line by Christmas Eve? What man would want to be stood up in a row of those who are left out while all of the children of the world file by and look at him, while the little children of nine hundred thousand dead men in England file by and look at him, or the children of the soldiers of France giving their lives to protect the skyscrapers of New York?

For that matter it need not take so many children. What man who let himself be left out would feel safe in his own house with his own children climbing up into his lap believing in him—safe with his own baby pulling on his face, jabbing his small trustful fists in his eyes—if he let himself be left out?

Of course, it seems a little like a mockery to cable over to France Christmas Eve that we give one cartridge once in two weeks to the children of the men we picked out to die for us, but it would be a start.

Nobody needs to think it would be a big thing just to belong to the Red Cross, but it is going to be a big thing to be left out.

AID GAS HEROES.

On the roof of the Pavilion Bellevue, near St. Cloud, is a most interesting hospital for soldiers who have been "gassed." The Pavilion Bellevue is the former home of Isadora Duncan and is in charge of the American Red Cross.

Lieut. Wilfred H. Day of Niagara Falls, N. Y., is in charge of this hospital, which treats only those who have been gassed, and is the first hospital of its kind to be established. Lieutenant Day has visited every country that was in the war, except Bulgaria and Turkey, and has worked in each one. During a recent visit to Worcester, England, he was received by the Lord Mayor and honored because of his work, and the Queen of Roumania conferred honor upon him, commending him for his work among the wounded and destitute of her country.

MONEY NOT THE OBJECT.

Our obligation to our own soldiers and sailors and the privilege of ministering to the sick and wounded, of feeding the hungry, housing the homeless and rebuilding the waste places of our associates in the war, call the entire American people to the support of the Red Cross spirit now as never before. The money to be raised in membership dues is secondary. It is the spiritual phase that is important, for it will show the suffering people of the world that the American people will see them through their experience to the very end.

You Can't Rub It Away; Rheumatism is in the Blood

Liniments Will Never Cure.

If you are afflicted with Rheumatism, why waste time with liniments, lotions and other local applications that never did cure Rheumatism, and never will?

Do not try to rub the pain away, for you will never succeed. Try the sensible plan of finding the cause of the pain, and go after that. Remove the cause, and there can be no pain. You will never be rid of Rheumatism until you cleanse your blood of the germs that cause the disease.

S. S. S. has never had an equal as a blood purifier and scores of sufferers say that it has cleansed their blood of Rheumatism, and removed all trace of the disease from their system.

JAMES M. DORMINY WRITES FROM FRANCE

Sunday, November 24, 1918.

Dearest Papa:

Perhaps you know to-day is the day set for us soldiers to write to our fathers, and we can write anything that we want to, so when you read this letter probably it will do you good.

Well, I am in the town called Toul, have been here for about five days, though will leave here in a day or so for Germany; that is where my Division is now.

I have been in the hospital for the past month. I was sent to the hospital from the front lines on the 19th of October, with trench feet. That is something like a sprained ankle and is caused by standing in mud and water too long without pulling off your shoes. Perhaps you know how come that. I had to do that. We were on the front lines, so we had to dig in to keep from being picked off. The hole that I was in had water in it which would rise in at the bottom and it would rain in at the top. It was fifteen days and nights that I did not sleep any or pull off my clothes. We sure did have a hard fight up there. We went into the lines with 290 men and came out with 75 men. That was just my company, so you can see how many were lost in killed and wounded together. That was the last battle I was in. I have been in four battles since I came over here, and have been over the top three times, but haven't had to retreat an inch yet. I am with the 42nd or Rainbow Division and they have the record of being the best division in France. Perhaps you have been reading about them in the papers.

Well, I started to tell you the names of the fronts on which I have fought and did not do so. Now, the first battle that I was in was on the Champagne front and believe me it was a hot one. The Germans came over the top on us, but didn't make any success. There were fourteen waves one after the other and the fourteenth wave was the only one that got in our front line of trenches and they did not stay there ten minutes. I do not know how many we lost. The next front I as on was up at Chateau Thierry on the Marne sector (Marne is a river). We went over the top and drove the enemy about five miles. The next front that I was on was the Toul front, where I am at now. We went over the top there. The big guns began bombing the enemy at 1 o'clock on the night of Sept. 11th, and we went over the top at 3 o'clock the same night. The first day we drove the enemy 18 kilometers, which is about 13 miles. We rested that night and started again the next morning and drove the enemy five kilometers which made 23 kilometers in all. We reached our object and stopped on the second day, so you can see what a success we made. We did not lose any man hardly at all on that drive. The next front I was on was Verdun front, the one from which I had to go to the hospital. We did not drive the enemy so far from there for we met heavy resistance there. The Germans had so many machine guns until we could not do much with them, and they used lots of gas on us too. My Captain and three Lieutenants got gassed. We drove the enemy 8 kilometers and did well to do that.

Well, I have told you of all my ups and downs, now I will tell you of something that sounds good to me. First, the best of all, we have won this great struggle for victory and freedom and that we will go home some time soon. I do not know when, but it will not be long. I have made it through safe and without a scratch. That is another thing that makes you and I and all feel extremely good, for I tell you I have been in some very close places. I do not know how true it is, but it was in the papers that my division will parade in Washington, D. C. when we get back, and if we do I sure would like for some of you all to be there. And another good thing is that my division will be among the first to go back.

Well, if I haven't told you all I have tried. One more thing I will tell you of is the climate. It has been raining almost ever since I came over here. It is as cold as blizzards now. They say that it snows for one or two months in winter. The summer is about like that of Alabama. The principal crops are wheat, oats, rye, barley and clover. The fruits are plums, and apples mostly, no cotton or corn at all.

This country is about two centuries behind the United States. The civilian people wear wooden shoes, and they do not have many tools to farm with, no matches to start fires with. They beat out their grain with sticks, as they have no thrashers or binders.

They work their horses one in front of the other. I saw a man plowing with three horses one in front of the other, you can imagine what a long string that made. The funniest thing is that they plow milch cows in all parts of France. That is some sight to see a woman plowing a milch cow. The way the oxen have to pull is with their head. They fasten something around their horns and make them pull with their heads.

Well, I have written until I have given out so I will have to close. Have written all I can think of anyway.

If you get this letter you will know that we can write anything that we want to.

This letter is Dad's Christmas letter. So if you get it keep it until I get home.

Well I will go. Good bye. With lots of love. I hope to be with you all soon.

As ever, your son in France.

This is my correct address:
Pvt. JAMES MONROE DORMINY
Co. I, 166th U. S. Infy., American
E. F., 42nd Division, France.

LETTER FROM NEWT ALDRIDGE

Miss Kate Aldridge permits the Union-Banner to print the following letter from her brother, who was for several years employed by the Clanton Press, and who is well known here:

Valdahorn, Nov. 24, 1918.

Dear Kate:

Today is known as Father's Day, when all the boys are supposed to write "Dad's Christmas Letter." As I can't do that, I will write mine to you and mama.

For the first time since coming over we are allowed to tell "where, when and what." My excuse for short letters in the past has been censorship. Now I shall have to acknowledge that I'm just a poor letter writer. Not that there's nothing to tell, but that I just don't know how to tell it.

However, shall try and tell you something of the places we have seen.

We sailed from Hoboken August 31st and landed at Brest, France, September 7th. There is lots I could tell of our experiences coming over but time and space forbids, (another excuse) so shall tell only the principal stops and leave lots to tell when we get home.

We came over on the "Northern Pacific" in company with the "Great Northern" and the big German transport "Vaterland." We went aboard on Thursday, August 29th, and pulled out of the harbor at 3:30 p.m., Saturday, the 31st. We had Secretary Baker, Secretary Lansing, Col. House and quite a number of other prominent men with their staff. We were piloted out beyond the submarine nets by an expert pilot; late that afternoon we lowered him to a small boat and he bade us good bye and left us. We had an escort until some time Monday, then we sailed alone, that is the three transports, until we reached the danger zone, on this side. We were then met by a large convoy. We had nine sub-chasers, two or three destroyers, one battleship and a number of observation balloons and planes. The ship was also armed with six-inch guns, manned by some of the best gunners in the service.

The trip was uneventful in so far as trouble was concerned. The last day out we sighted what was thought to be an enemy U-boat, so one of the destroyers dropped a depth bomb, high, if it were really a "sub" no doubt sent it to the bottom.

There is one little incident connected with the dropping of this bomb I want to tell. Ours was a seven-deck boat. Our battery was on "D-13"—there were a number of negro troops on board—they were used to handle kitchen supplies and other detail work. On this particular morning the negroes were passing through our department with supplies for noon chow. One of them had a big sack of beans on his shoulder; when the destroyer dropped the bomb it gave our ship a pretty good shake-up. Almost immediately followed the ringing of the gong, which meant to fall by our bunks ready to abandon ship if necessary. This negro stopped when the jar came—but when the gong sounded he proceeded to unload the sack of beans in the middle of the floor and double-timed it up the staircase. We stood by the boats and rafts for a few minutes till recall was sounded and "all clear" then went back down. The negro came back some time later for the sack of beans but his eyes were still as large as saucers and he said: "White folks, I sho' did unload dem beans, didn't I?" We had just lots of similar incidents but were I to attempt to write them all I would have to express the letter or at least send it by parcel post.

We pulled in the harbor at Brest late on Saturday afternoon of the 7th but did not go ashore till Sunday morning. Marched through the street of Brest on our way to the outskirts of the city where we pitched our "puppy" tents. We were there about ten days before going to permanent camp. From this "rest camp" we went to camp Coguedian (don't think that's spelled properly) anyway a few miles off Paris. Here we received "intensive training," awaiting orders to go to the front. We finished our course and qualified, making the highest grade of any organization which had passed through the camps. Our regiment made the highest grade in the Brigade and Battery F the highest in the Regiment.

On account of the high grade made on the field during the Brigade problem, we were selected to fire for the officers to complete their course. So the order came to report to the officers training camp at Devaldahn, near the Swiss border. So, here we are at Valdahorn and I haven't told you anything yet.

This is said to be the best camp over here. We have stone barracks which are of brown stone with dark red trimmings. The buildings are very pretty. They are two-story buildings filled with every modern convenience. It is the cleanest place I ever saw. The streets are paved with white chert or stone dust. We are about ten thousand feet above sea level—right on top of the mountain. It is only twenty miles to one section of the famous Alps mountains. Since coming here we have had four days of sight-seeing trips, using the large army trucks for conveyance.

On our way to Valdahorn we passed through some of the best parts of France. We were on the road two days and three nights.

Hope to get some views of the camp before we leave here. Officers Square is beautiful. The main building in the square has a large three-dial clock on top which can be seen and heard from any part of the camp.

One other place I forgot. We stopped at Messac several days enroute from Brest to Coguedian. We were billeted in an old chateau which had once been the home of some nobleman. It was three-story stone building with large basement. It must have been over five hundred years old. The country around there was very pretty. There are just so many things to tell I can't begin to do so here.

We are going to have a Regimental football contest on Thanksgiving day. We have professional men in almost any line of work or sport one could think of.

We have seen the greater part of France, including Paris, Rens, Dijon, LaGeorge and other large cities. Smaller towns are so close together it is almost one solid town.

The Alps Mountains are perhaps the greatest treat of all.

We feel just like school boys again now. The camp is like a large college. The air is fine up here and we had a little snow, but it doesn't seem very cold. The air is so light and pure.

Had letter yesterday from Anne but have had none from home since the one dated October 21st. Anne said she had never gotten the Christmas coupon but perhaps she has by this time. She said Mr. Wilson called on her the other day and wanted her to come back with the Western Union. Offered her a place in Memphis. She has a new manager and doesn't like him much, so think she will come back to the W. U. Said she had written mama regarding the Christmas package. Hope you all can get it fixed o.k.

We are all looking forward to the time when it will be our turn to come back to the States.

We lost the 141st, so guess I won't see Wilson and Davis again. Wilson lives at Opp, Ala., and I'm going to visit him when I get back. Roberts and Phillips are still with us.

It is amusing to hear the boys discussing their plans when we get back home. They are all tickled to death over the prospect of coming home soon.

Lieut. Camp, of our Battery, made a talk to the boys in the mess hall a few nights ago and said we were the finest bunch of men he had ever had anything to do with. Also said the Col. and Gen'l. also said the same.

Must quit now. Hope all are well and happy at home, and that you will have the very merriest of Christmas. Regards to all the Clanton people.

Love to all.

WE ARE LATE AGAIN

This issue of The Union-Banner will reach its readers two days late this week, the delay being on account of the electric current being shut off three days this week. Our whole plant is run by electricity, and without current, we can do nothing. It seems to us that we should have had current Friday since Christmas was over, but the light people insisted on taking another day off, and we had a mighty poor chance of helping ourselves.

Our neighbor, the Banner, is getting out a nice Christmas edition this week that is a credit to its manager, Mr. E. C. Powell. He secured quite a lot of live advertisements, not only at home, but from adjacent territory. He has our congratulations.—Clanton Press.

The Clanton Union-Banner blazed out last week with a sixteen page Christmas edition of which twelve and one-half pages were filled with ads from local business houses. This shows that the business men of Clanton are behind their newspaper, and while Clanton has not the advantages of many Alabama towns, you may look for its rapid growth. No town can become a metropolis without the aid of a newspaper, and no newspaper can give its town the proper support unless the business men give the paper their support. But, if you can make all the merchants and business men believe it, you have got us "skinned."

Correct, Brother Moody when you say "no town can become a metropolis without the aid of a newspaper, and no newspaper can give its town the proper support unless the business men give the paper their support." But, if you can make all the merchants and business men believe it, you have got us "skinned."

To show you that The Star can overcome difficulties we will state that while our linotype operator got sick and could not run the machine this week, two men got out the paper, running six pages and printed 17,000 page circulars, besides getting out several orders in the job department.—Andalusia Star.

Quite a small job as compared to "ours" the past week. The writer, with the assistance of a boy to feed the press, got out a Christmas edition two weeks ago with sixteen pages (twenty-five hundred copies) containing 1,470 inches of local display advertising, and 2,641 lines of straight news matter, in four days, all of which was set in this office, without the use of a single piece of plate matter, except the front page cover and a few small Xmas. plates in the ads. Our only difficulty was that our press would print only two pages at a time. We will leave it with you to guess how much sleep we lost during these four days.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday, Dec. 29th, there will be special services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Dr. Maye requests the people of Clanton, to gather in the churches, and pour out their hearts to God with thanksgiving praise, and make it a day of real heart and soul worship. Those who are not living up to their privilege in the Christian life, an opportunity will be given to renew your vows, and to those who should join in the great army of Jesus, and go to work for His cause will have the honor offered them to do so. Make this your gift to God. The New Year will bring you much happiness in your Christian work. Come at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

EUGENE WYATT WRITES FROM CAMP PIKE, ARK.

Camp Pike, Ark., Dec. 11, 1918.
Editor Union-Banner:

I guess the readers of the Union-Banner think that I have been gassed or became a victim of some of the many dangers of war as I haven't written a word since I entered the army, but neither is the case. However, I am going to try, if the kind editor will permit me, to tell the people at home kindly how I look upon army life.

In the first place I will say that it has no resemblance to a picnic or even a barbecue. Army life is designed to fit men for facing death fearlessly, if needs be, and in order to put this into a man he has got to be subject continually to things that are hard to do. Now, Uncle Sam has figured out very accurately what these things are, and he has put them into the army beautifully. It takes a very good man to carry a 15 pound Springfield on his shoulder all day, but after he does it a while he will gradually see the word "can't" vanishing from his vocabulary.

I left Clanton on September 17 and arrived at Camp Pike the next evening. I didn't drill any for six weeks—I really wasn't able. They took up most of this time giving me "shots," vaccinations, examinations, etc. However, I found time occasionally to pile rocks, dig trenches, grade roads and such like. I was then placed in a Training Regiment, and in the course of one day I received a rifle and full equipment, assigned to a permanent squad, and was ready for business. After I had drilled one day I got sick with measles, and I didn't care very much, for anyone who has ever been in the army knows how the first drilling "gets" him. The measles held me for three weeks, and just as I was sent back to my company, news came that Germany had "kicked in." I was never issued another gun and didn't drill any more; but I have been putting in full time doing police duty, (K. P.) sawing wood, etc. For the past three weeks I have been orderly for the Major.

I guess, as a whole, I have gotten through about as easy as any one, but even at that, it hasn't been a plaything at all.

Army life is tuff, but it is the greatest experience a young man can have, if he can get through it alive. It will make a real man of him or kill him one. Another thing, it causes a fellow to stand on his own feet. No one is going to take care of you in the army—that is a cinch. If you don't wake up and care for No. 1, you will just be S. O. L. And above all, it causes a fellow to appreciate the many things he has at home—a mother, a father, loving friends and kind-hearted associates, a good place to sleep and plenty of good food.

Although I haven't really enjoyed a single day I have spent in the army, yet I would not take anything for the experience I have had.

It won't be many weeks, I think, before I shall go back into civil life, and I shall again take up work with the Union-Banner. Although I have been away only a short while, yet I shall be mighty glad to get back among the good people of Chilton County.

Hoping to see you all again soon, I remain,

Yours truly,
PRY. THOS. E. WYATT,
Co. A, 1st Trn. Reg.
Camp Pike, Ark.

IMMENSE HOLIDAY TRADE

The stores of Clanton for two days the first of the week have been crowded—packed and jammed from front to back—with Christmas shoppers. Enormous crowds of people have come in from all directions, and we doubt if there has ever been a busier holiday season here, at least not for years.

Almost every establishment has been forced to put on extra sales people, some of them well nigh doubling their clerical forces. Unusually good stocks of suitable, seasonable goods have been carried by most establishments, especially those which feature this class of trade, and the difficulty has not been in finding an unemployed clerk to wait on one. All the various establishments are well decorated and present a pleasing and beautiful holiday appearance, especially of evenings when the lights are on.

While all of the stores are busy, we believe the greatest crowds have been found at those places which have, through newspaper advertising, placed the value and desirability of their wares before the public. This is only the natural result, for people are attracted to such establishments by the showing of things to be had and it is natural, moreover, for them to spend their money with the firms which appreciate their trade sufficiently to ask for it.

CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Christmas! Christmas! How much is contained within the compass of that one word! It is blessed in the event that brought it into being; happy in its annual experience among children and men; and when its recurrence brings forth mostly memories of the past it is the one occasion most likely to be redolent of kindnesses gone by and fragrant spots in the years that have made up life. The Christmases of the past are like Thomas Moore's "Evening Bells."

"How many a tale their music tells,
Of youth, and home, and that sweet time,
When first we heard their soothing chime."

The young Collegians are home for the holidays and we trust they are fitly enjoying their mid-session recess. Our experience is that three sad partings mark the session for the Collegian; when he first leaves home he becomes homesick; when his Christmas leave is ended he again mourns though it be in secret; and at the close when he tells alma mater "good-by" his heart once more is full to overflowing.

The ban on public meetings is removed and next Sunday is Sunday School and Church Worship. We shall meet to honor the author of the Christmas Spirit. Let teachers especially make it a point to be on hand. In the morning the pastor will talk about "The Church of the Future," and at night "Respect for Rights," or the "Evils Condemned by the Tenth Commandment." Let us all meet together and bury the old year—looking forward to the new.

"How happy a home this old world would be
If men, while they're here, could make shift to agree,
And each said to his neighbor, in cottage and hall,
'Come, give me your hand—we are brethren all.'"

SURGEONS agree that in cases of Cuts, Burns, Bruises and Wounds, the FIRST TREATMENT is most important. When an EFFICIENT antiseptic is applied promptly, there is no danger of infection and the wound begins to heal at once. For use on man or beast, BOROZONE is the IDEAL ANTISEPTIC and HEALING AGENT. COMPLETE HOME FURNISHERS

ESSENTIALS FOR SUCCESS WITH WHEAT IN ALABAMA

By J. F. Duggar, Director of Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.

Wheat may or may not be among the most profitable crops for a particular farm, yet war conditions make it important that every farmer in Alabama having suitable soil should grow a field of wheat at least large enough to furnish his own supply of flour. Only by so doing can we make sure that there will be an adequate supply of flour for the farmer's table for the year that follows the harvest next June. Thus the growing of a crop of wheat becomes not so much a matter of profit as of national need and personal insurance.

To succeed with wheat the following are the most important requirements:

1. Soil.—Select a rich or fairly rich upland, with as large a portion of vegetable matter and clay as practicable.

2. Source of Seed.—Give preference to seed grown in the neighborhood or in the same latitude, unless this be exceedingly shriveled or from a field where loose (black) smut occurred.

3. Varieties.—There is a long list of varieties suitable for Alabama, if the seed has been grown in this latitude, or even south of the Potomac, for several years. Among them are the beardless varieties, Alabama Bluestem, Bluestem, and Fultz; and the bearded Fulcaster, Red Wonder and Miracle or Stoner.

4. Preparation.—Thorough plowing, well in advance of sowing, and pulverizing and settling the soil by the repeated use of the harrow.

5. Sowing.—Sow about four pecks per acre through a grain drill, or four to five pecks broadcast, preferably about the time of the first frost.

6. Fertilization.—Four to eight tons of stable manure per acre, applied as a top dressing at any convenient time during the winter, may take the place of any nitrogenous commercial fertilizer.

Irregular bowel movements lead to chronic constipation and a constipated habit fills the system with impurities. HERBINE is a great bowel regulator. It purifies the system, vitalizes the blood and puts the digestive organs in fine vigorous condition. Sold by Upchurch Drug Co.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Hon. F. A. Gullledge is recovering from the influenza.

Miss Annie Gragg is in Clanton to remain the close of the holidays.

Miss Sue Pander has returned from a visit with Montgomery relatives and friends.

Mr. Frank Gullledge writes that he will arrive home for the Christmas holidays.

Miss Mary Carr Gibson went to Montgomery on a shopping trip on last Wednesday.

Miss Lurline Harper came home to spend the Christmas holidays with relatives and friends.

Rev. J. P. Patillo and family are here visiting relatives. They are en route to Mobile where they intend to reside.

Mr. Fred Jackson has returned home with an honorable discharge from Auburn, where he has been in the service.

Dr. P. I. Hopkins and family, of Dothan, are expected to arrive here next Monday to spend the day with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Nelson Brassell went down to Montgomery to spend the holidays with relatives and friends, that city being their former home.

Miss Annie Mae Harper has been seriously ill with pneumonia for some time. Her many friends are glad to know that she is recovering and will soon be well.

We are forced to leave out several good letters this week on account of not having current to run our linotype machine for three days, but will publish them in next week's issue.

Lee Maddox, formerly head automobile mechanic of U. S. Nitrate Plant, has resigned his position with Uncle Sam and has been employed by the Ford Garage.—Sheffield Standard.

Mr. Joseph Hutson, a thrifty farmer, in attempting to cross the L. & N. railroad, tracks was struck by a passing freight train and suffered the breaking of three ribs and other injuries.

Alexander Arant reported as seriously wounded in France lived at Wadsworth near Marbury. The young soldier was close to 23 years of age when he joined the army and was a volunteer.

The casualty list as printed contains the name of James F. Endress, of Marbury, as being seriously wounded in France during the last engagements with the Huns. Young Endress left for the camp of instruction in June and from there he was sent over to France.

The last casualty list contains the names of two additional Chilton county boys as having been wounded in the last drives made on the Huns. Lieut. Judson Deramus, of Verbena, is reported as severely wounded and J. T. Dorminy is said to have been wounded. Mr. Dorminy resided near Jamison, Chilton county.

A freight train on the L. & N. railroad as it approached the station at Mt. Creek last Friday, struck Mr. Joseph Hutson, and the man had presence of mind to catch hold of the pilot and cling on. He was carried a little distance and when the engineer discovered that he was hauling a man in front of his engine he stopped. When Mr. Hutson was examined it was discovered that three ribs were broken and other injuries sustained. The injured man lived only a few hours when death relieved him of his sufferings. Mr. Hutson was an industrious farmer living about a mile from the station.

Time Brings Joy And Happiness

As the Hours Pass the Coming of Baby Draws Nearer—Are You Prepared?

No woman awaiting the joy of coming motherhood should allow the days to pass without using the wonderful penetrating application, Mother's Friend. By its regular use throughout the period the system is prepared for the coming event and strain and tension is relieved. It renders the broad, flat abdominal muscles pliant and they readily yield to nature's demand for expansion. As a result the nerves are not drawn upon with that peculiar wrenching strain, and nausea, nervousness, bearing down and stretching pains are counteracted. The abdomen expands easily when baby arrives and the hours at the crisis are naturally less. Pain and danger as a consequence is avoided. Mother's Friend not only allays distress in advance, but assures a speedy recovery for the mother. The skin is kept soft and smooth and natural and free from disfigurement. Write to the Bradford Regulator Company, Dept. J, Lamar Building, Atlanta, Georgia, for their Motherhood Book, and procure a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist. It is just as standard as anything you can think of.

The nearest point to the Coosa river from Clanton, 12 miles; is reached in the vicinity of the Alabama Power Company plant, where the big dam is. That the river is increasing in volume is easily apparent. Wise water men in the vicinity say the river has not, as yet, reached the limit, but that if the streams up north continue to feed the river as liberally as at present, it is thought they will, the Coosa will assert herself near the danger line. The feeders in Chilton county are, in many places, out of banks, though, as yet, no damage of a serious character has been reported. Rural route men were annoyed more than others, though no failure to make the routes have been heard.

VERA SHIRLEY

In the year A. D. 1897 on the 15th day of December the stork visited the home of Mr. Alonzo Shirley and left them a sweet little girl. They gave her the name Vera. She blessed that home for 21 years eleven months and 26 days, and on the 11th of December the Lord said to her "it is enough, come up higher". She had suffered for some days with typhoid pneumonia. She departed for that Heavenly home at 7:45 p.m., while friends and relatives watched around her death bed. They could tell from movements of her hands and mouth that she was singing some sweet song. She was a kind neighbor and an affectionate daughter, the family and neighbors will greatly miss her. We feel that our loss is heaven's gain. We ask the dear ones not to grieve for her, may the Lord bless them and restore them to health is the prayer of France, Nov. 27th, 1918.

My Dear Father and Mother:
I am well and feeling fine tonight. Too, I am kindly tired but not much. Have been on my feet most all day but haven't had any hard work. I go to bed at regular hours and have plenty to eat now too. Think I am getting fat since I left the front line. I lost several pounds while up to the front. Gee! but that was a hot place. I did not mind it while I was there but I am mighty glad it is all over. I hardly see how I was as hearty as a pig all the time.

I do not know when I will be home. Some think we will be here only a short time, while others think we will yet be here three or four months. Well, at that rate that won't be very long still. Some are very anxious to get home. I want to get home as bad as anybody, but I am pretty well satisfied right now. I got tired of seeing so many wounded boys. I have experienced some awful sights

Hardly a Drugstore in the Land That Does Not Sell This Remedy

On the Market Half a Century.

When you are in perfect health, and are enjoying a strong and vigorous vitality, it is then that your blood is free from all impurities.

You should be very careful and give heed to the slightest indication of impure blood. A sluggish circulation is often indicated by an impaired appetite, a feeling of lassitude and a general weakening of the system. It is then that you should promptly take a few bottles of S. S. S., the great blood purifier and strengthener. It will cleanse the blood thoroughly and build up and strengthen the whole system. S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. Valuable information about the blood supply can be had free by writing to the Swift Specific Co., 24 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Sporting Goods

Hunting season is now on, and if you need a Double or Single Barrel Gun, 12, 16 or 20 Gauge, a Repeating or Single Shot Rifle or Air Rifles, Pistols, Gun Shells and Cartridges, you can find them at our place.

We are the only firm in the County who pay license to sell the above goods, and the amount we pay goes to the support of the State and County. A license is not required on Shells, but no merchant has a legal right to sell the other items mentioned without having first paid the required license. Obey the law, Brother Merchant; don't be a "Blind Tiger," or we would have to report you, and the fine you would have to pay would be heart-rending.

We do not sell Pistols or Pistol Cartridges to young boys.

Your patronage will be greatly appreciated.
